Great Britain and Belgium have already taken steps to put African mandates under trusteeship. Both circulated papers in London among delegates but did not present them to the United Nations formally. Britain said she would offer Tanganyika, British Togoland and the Cameroons, and Belgium said she would turn over Ruanda-Urundi.

Australia, New Zealand and France have also indicated willingness to put unspecified mandates under trusteeship.

"The trusteeship is one of the most ticklish aspects of the entire United Nations organizations," says Ralph Bunche, acting director of the department.

U. N. Studies Proposed Rules Permitting Secret Sessions

NEW YORK, May 14. — (AP) The United Nations announced tonight that the Security council would meet Thursday at 11 a. m. to consider rules which would tighten the secrecy of private council sessions and to take up a resolution affecting the admission of Albania to the United Nations.

Simultaneously, the five-man subcommittee investigating Franco Spain said it had received and was studying a 350-page document submitted by the Spanish Republican government-in-exile. This bulky arraignment of Generalissimo Francisco Franco on charges that he menaces world peace and encourages atomic bomb experiments by Germans was submitted to the United Nations this morning.

The agenda for Thursday's meeting contains these two points:

Proposed revision of council rules, which would have the effect of authorizing the council to hold secret sessions and to deny at its pleasure the record of those meetings to United Nations members who did not attend them.

A resolution submitted by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., U. S. delegate, which would have the effect of holding up action on the admission of Albania until a sub-committee has studied qualifications and procedures of taking in new members.

IRANIAN ARMY MOVES NORTH ON AZERBAIJAN

"We Are Not Afraid Of An Attack," Pishevari Say In Tabriz

Tehran, May 14 (AP) — Premier Jafar Pishevari of the self-proclaimed autonomous regime in Azberbaijan province declared tonight that troops of the Central Iranian Government had "moved to our borders, but we are not afraid of an attack."

As Pishevari broadcast this statement over the Tabriz radio, Iranian troops streamed northward toward the troubled province where reports said separatist forces attired in Russian uniforms were holding warlike maneuvers. Azerbaijan province is adjacent to the boundary of the Soviet Union.

The Central Iranian Government reaffirmed its determination to avoid civil war. In his broadcast Pishevari described Ahmed Qavam, the Premier of the central Government, as a "wise and patriotic man" and added: "He knows our strength."

Reports On Failure

Telling the Azerbaijan people of the failure of the Azerbaijan-Central Government negotiations, Pishevari charged that "reactionary elements" had influenced the Tehran Government's stand.

He criticized the Central Government's action in bringing the recent Iranian-Russian oil agreement into the conversations and termed this agreement a "foreign affair," while the Azerbaijan problem is "strictly internal."

Pishevari said that any attack by the Iranian Army on Azerbaijan troops would constitute a breach of the agreement Qavam reached with the Soviet Union, and added that Qavam was "aware that our army is made up of fighting men who will not be defeated."

No Reference To Return

The Azerbaijan Premier made no reference to any plan to return to Tehran for further negotiations, although Qavam had said earlier that the delegation from the province had only returned to Tabriz "for new instructions."

An observer returning from Tabriz said the Azerbaijan National Army, "smartly attired in Russian uniforms," was staging field maneuvers between Mianeh and Zenjan. Zenjan is 180 miles northwest of Tehran, and Mianeh is 85 miles farther northwest.

An Iranian Army announcement said a battalion of troops moved northward through Kazvin toward the Caspian coast and that an added 50 troop carriers, each bearing 25 men, were headed northward out of Tehran this morning. Armored gendarmerie units moved along the Caspian coast north of Pahlevi.

Support Seen Shifted

Reliable Iranian sources expressed belief that the military and some local northern tribes were shifting their support from the government of Premier Qavam to the young Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

[There was no elaboration of this portion of the dispatch. It might indicate, however, that the military was dissatisfied with the Government's handling of the Azerbaijan problem and sought firmer action from the Shah.]

The observer frim Tabriz estimated the strength of the Azerbaijan Army at about 24,000 men. Estimates of Iranian Army strength vary from 60,000 to 80,000.

In this capital the Leftist newspaper Dad (Justict), under the heading "Communiqué No. 1 from Kurdistan," reported that 130 Iranian trops, wounded 10 days ago in fighting in Kuristan, arrived here for hospitalization. The newspaper said Kurds claimed to have killed 120 Iranian troops, captured 40 more and seized rifles, machineguns, supplies and communications systems. The dispatch said Central army forces were thrown back after attacking the tribesmen.

A Kurdish chieftain here said his followers, who recently withdrew their support from the independent Kurdish republic proclaimed by Ghazi Mohammed, had recently received 5,000 rifles from the Iranian Army and that "large supplies of arms, ammunition and food" were being moved to loyal Zolfaghari and Afshar tribesmen inside the borders of Azerbaijan.

From Mashed, holy city in far northeast Iran, came reports of "growing opposition" to Leftist organizations.

Calls It "Postponement"

Despite the general atmosphere of uneasiness, Premier Qavam announced he expected that Azerbaijan would participate in Iranian general elections to be held as soon as possible and indicated strong hope that negotiations with Azerbaijan representatives would be resumed here.

In a public statement Qavam referred to the breakdown of the negotiations as a "postponement," and added he was attempting "with the best intention and peaceful attitude to solve the problems "posed by the autonomous state. He said he hoped "the good intentions and patriotism I felt among the representatives from Azerbaijan will prove sufficient to relieve the anxiety felt by the public."

Iran's Army Prepares for War

But Premier Seems Determined to Settle Azerbaijan Problem by Negotiations.

Tehran, May 14 (A. P.).—The Iranian Army hastened preparations for war today although the Central Government appeared determined to pursue its announced policy of a peaceful settlement of the Azerbaijan problem.

Persian informants expressed belief that the military and the northern tribes were swerving from government control to back the young Shah, their commander in chief.

[There was no immediate explanation from Tehran on the statement that Iran's military forces might be swerving to the Shah. This would not be surprising, however, if Army leaders and others have decided the time is ripe to show dissatisfaction with the Premier's handling of Azerbaijan and are seeking leadership for a stronger policy. The present Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, generally has adopted a more liberal and democratic policy, however, than his father, Reza Shah Pahlavi, who abdicated the Peacock Throne in 1941 after a despotic reign when the Russians and British occupied the country.]

Premier Ahmed Qavam, in a public statement on the "postponement" of the Azerbaijan negotiations, said he was attempting "with the best intention and peaceful attitude to solve the problems." He said he hoped "the good intentions and patriotism I felt among the representatives from Azerbaijan will prove sufficient to relieve the anxiety felt by the public." Azerbaijan is the northern province bordering Russia in which a semi-autonomous regime was established during the Russian occupation.

Troops On Move.

The Army announced that a battalion of troops was moving through Kazvin to Bandar Pahlevi on the Caspian Sea and that an additional fifty troop carriers bearing a total of 750 men had steamed northward from Tehran during the morning. Gorgan also has been regarrisoned. Armored gendarmerie units have moved along the Caspian coast north of Pahlevi.

A Kurdish chief here said that his followers, who recently withdrew their support from Ghazi Mohammed's "independent" Kurdish republic, had received 5,000 rifles from the army. He said "large supplies of arms, ammunition and food" were being moved to the loyal Zolfaghari and Afshar tribes within the borders of Azerbaijan.

Action in Meshed.

From Meshed, holy city in far northeastern Iran, came reports of "growing opposition to Leftist organizations."

A long-time foreign resident of Meshed, who reached Tehran today, said religious leaders were exhorting their followers to oppose moves for seizure of large estates and redistribution of lands because "they said under the Islamic laws respect of ownership of lands is sacred."

A traveler from Tabriz said the Azerbaijan Army was "smartly attired in Russian uniforms" and was staging field maneuvers between Maineh and Zenjan. Civilian military training classes were reported conducted twice a week instead of once a week, as formerly. Tabriz is the capital of Azerbaijan and was one of the chief Russian administrative posts during the occupation. The traveler estimated that 24,000 effectives were in the Azerbaijan Army. Estimates of the Central Iranian Army vary between 60,000 and 80,000.

Three Major Issues.

Qavam said recent negotiations between the central government and a delegation from Azerbaijan had foundered on three major differences.

These differences, which include an Azerbaijan demand for redistribution of large estates and public lands, were announced in a communique as:

1. The Iranian Government claimed the right to appoint a provincial governor-general of Azerbaijan. Jafar Pishevari, Azerbaijan "premier," insisted that the governor be selected by the provincial council.

2. The Iranian Government likewise claimed the right to appoint army and gendarmerie officers. Pishevari insisted that they be commissioned by the provincial council.

3. Pishevari proposed the redistribution of estates of land owners and the division of public lands among peasants. Iranian officials maintained that such a move would be unconstitutional and could be taken only if authorized by parliament.

Despite the continued uncertain status of Azerbaijan, Qavam called for general elections to be held "as soon as possible."

EGYPTIANS DELAY DEBATE ON TREATY

Cairo, May 14 (A. P.).—The Egyptian Senate defeated last night an Opposition demand for immediate debate on the British proposal to withdraw all military, naval and air forces from Egyptian territory. Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha said that a debate on the question would be held four weeks from now, explaining that he wished the current negotiations with the British for revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance to be conducted in a clear atmosphere.

The Wafdist party, which forms the Opposition, said in a manifesto that it would refuse any settlement with Britain "which does not achieve Egypt's complete independence and unity of the Nile Valley." This was the first statement of the Wafdist position on the British proposal of May 7 to withdraw all military, naval and air forces from Egypt. The manifesto also said that the party would "not accept or approve any military alliance with Britain which ties Egypt with any restrictions."

The British offer is contingent upon revision of the 1936 alliance, under which it would entrust defense of the strategic Suez Canal to the forces of King Farouk. It would also seek mutual assistance in time of war or threat of war. In return the Egyptians have asked for control of the Sudan, now administered jointly by Britain and Egypt.

Arabs Take Up Incident

Jerusalem, May 14 (Reuter)—Arrival in Palestine of about 1,800 Jewish illegal immigrants last night has been placed on the agenda of tomorrow's meeting of the Arab Higher Committee, an Arab spokesman said today.

The "Voice of Israel," the secret radio of the Jewish resistance movement, declared today in a broadcast in Hebrew that an organized body of Jewish "Scarlet Pimpernels" in Romania had outwitted British efforts to prevent the sailing of the Smyrna from Constanza.

[The "Scarlet Pimpernel" was the hero of Baroness Orczy's famous novel about rescue of aristocrats during the French Revolution.]

Soviet Decision To Back Arabs Is Reported

London, May 14 (AP)—A Reuter dispatch from Damascus said today that the Soviet Minister to Syria was reported to have told Syrian officials that Russia had decided to back the Arab cause if the Arab League brought the Palestine problem before the United Nations.

The League has objected strenuously to recommendations by a British-American inquiry committee that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine.

U.N. May Be Discussed

Cairo, May 14 (AP)—Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, said today that the League would possibly discuss presenting the Palestine question to the United Nations Security Council.

He said, however, that he had no information that any League member intended to bring up the matter at the League's forthcoming extraordinary session.

He expressed the opinion that, unless the council of the Arab League agreed upon such action, no member nation would take the case before the United Nations.

Azzam Pasha made the statement when questioned about an unconfirmed report from Damascus that the Russian Minister had told Syrian officials that Russia would back the Arabs if the Arab League took the Palestine situation to the United Nations.

EGYPTIAN CALL TO U.N. URGED

Deputy Protests British Control Over Palestine

Cairo, May 14 (AP)—Deputy Heiny el Sherif Bey, of the Wafdist opposition party, demanded in the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies today that Egypt take the Palestine question to the United Nations Security Council.

Protesting the Anglo-American committee's recommendation that 100,000 European Jews be allowed to enter Palestine, the deputy declared "England has no longer the right to keep Palestine under her protection since the League of Nations has dissolved, and I ask that the question of Palestine be raised before the Security Council."

"Lie" Hurled At Brewster

In another development on the Palestine issue, a statement by Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, said United States Senator Brewster had "fabricated a lie" by charging that King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia was a British tool. Money given to Ibn Saud, Azzam Pasha said, is the price of oil in his country.

At the Chamber of Deputies session, Ahmed Lofti el Said Pasha, Foreign Minister, speaking in behalf of the Egyptian Government, asserted that his Government "and nation denounced the Palestine report and support the Arabs in Palestine."

In a scheduled debate, the deputies heard the report of the Anglo-American committee termed a threat to international security.

Describes U.S. Dilemma

A Nationalist party deputy said the United States wa scaught between the influences of the Zionists with thei rpowerful pres sand her interest in the Arab states.

"That is why America has refused to support the recommendations of the Palestine report with offers of force," the nationalist added.

El Said Pasha spoke at the end of the debate, thus putting the official Egypti[illegible]nd on record. However, the [illegible]er of Deputies took no defi[illegible]ion.

In London And Washington

The Foreign Minister said his Government had instructed its diplomatic representatives in Washington and London to explain to the two governments that "the report has caused tension in all the Middle Eastern States an[illegible] complete rejection."

"Our Ambassador in [illegible] visited the Foreign [illegible] (Ernest Bevin) and many other British members of Parliament and high authorities," he added, "and they also agreed that the report is impractical and prejudicial."

"Our Minister in Washington met President Truman and told him our stand on the Palestine report," the Foreign Minister continued, "and the President told him he will consider the matter."

Jews In Seized Ship Landed, Placed In Palestine Camp

Aboard Jewish Refugee Ship Smyrni, May 14 (AP)—This rusty Greek cargo ship docked with its load of 1,750 countryless Jews at Haifa, Palestine, at 11.40 A.M. today and the passengers began bus trips to the Athlit Detention Camp where illegal immigrants are held.

Gittel Ginsberg, 16-year-old Romanian Jewess, was the first to step down the gangplank.

Captain And Crew Held

Two hundred heavily armed troops and a dozen tanks and armored cars cordoned off the dock area.

Three soldiers carrying tommy-guns accompanied each busload to Athlit. The captain and crew of the Smyrni were arrested and held in navy custody pending an inquiry.

Ship Likely To Be Confiscated

The Smyrni was intercepted 60 miles off Palestine yesterday by British planes and a destroyer and the vessel taken into custody when it reached territorial waters. Its passengers sailed from Constanta, Romania, a week ago without passports and without immigration certificates.

The ship probably will be confiscated by the government and sent to join four other ships which brought illegal immigrants. They now are lying less than half a mile from where Miss Ginsberg, in her torn red sweater, began the disembarkation of the first shipload to arrive since the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee recommended the admission of 100,000 Jews this year.

[A Palestine Government communiqué said the ship was flying the Star of David. Jewish Palestine newspapers said that the ship was renamed the "Max Nordau" by the refugees, that it was the first such ship to have left a port under Soviet control and that it carried the largest group of illegal immigrants yet.]

Escorted To Dock

The Smyrni was escorted to dock by the destroyer Jarvis and two gunboats.

Only the lusty singing of "Hatikvah," the Jewish national anthem, distinguishes the ship's deck from a concentration camp barracks.

Packed close together on a single deck, on the roofs of deckhouses, and peering by turns from portholes, the immigrants range in age from babies to bearded men.

Aboard the ship were 700 refugees from Poland, 450 from Yugoslavia, 120 from Czechoslovakia, some 80 from Hungary and the remainder from Romania. They were to be quarantined a week at the Athlit Camp, 15 miles south of Haifa, prior to being distributed among the Jewish settlements.

Terrified By Gunfire

The refugees cheered and waved when a launch which the Associated Press correspondent had chartered drew alongside, but an episode a few moments earlier showed their wartime strains. An officer on the escorting destroyer shouted instructions for the launch to approach. Then, when the launch pilot did not hear the instructions, the destroyer fired a burst of ack-ack to the sky to attract attention.

At the sound of gunfire, the Smyrni passengers on top the deckhouse flattened themselves or crouched in terror.

The Smyrni left Constanta a week ago. Jewish Agency reports said the British appealed to the Russian fleet to stop the ship, but the Soviets refused. Later an unseasonal Mediterranean storm buffeted the 2,000-ton vessel.

1,750 Refugees Are Intercepted Off Palestine

European Jews Are Sent to Detention Camp After British Take Over Ship

HAIFA, Palestine, May 14 (AP).—Seventeen hundred and fifty Jewish refugees attempting to enter Palestine illegally were disembarked from an intercepted Greek cargo vessel today in this heavily guarded port.

The refugees from Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania, were taken in buses, guarded by troops with machineguns, to the Athlit detention camp. After a week's quarantine, they will be distributed among Jewish settlements.

Illegal immigrants intercepted by the authorities have been allowed to stay in Palestine, but the number of such arrivals has been deducted from the monthly number of 1,500 immigrants set during the interim period of the work of the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee, which recently recommended the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

The refugees' ship, the Smyrni, was intercepted off Palestine last night and brought to port by a British destroyer and two gunboats. The Jews, bearing neither passports nor immigration certificates, sailed a week ago from Constanta, Romania.

Jewish newspapers said the Smyrni's passengers were the first to have left a port under Russian control and the largest group of illegal immigrants yet to reach Palestine.

Last night the Smyrni was reported heading for Tel Aviv. The captain and crew were arrested, and the Smyrni probably will be confiscated by the government, as other such ships have been.

The refugees' presence in Palestine will cause a juggling of the issuance of immigration certificates, although the Jewish Agency spokesman said it would not affect the scheduled landing Friday of the passengers on board the Fede and Fenice, who have been at La Spezia, Italy.

JAP DEFENSE DELAYS TRIAL

Tribunal Adjourns To Rule On Bill Of Particulars

Tokyo, Wednesday, May 15 (AP)—Abruptly breaking off defense arguments, the International War Crimes Tribunal today ordered an indefinite adjournment while it considered a motion by five defendants to ra bill of particulars.

Capt. Samuel J. Kleiman, USA, speaking for the five, asked the prosecution to specify the times, places and manner in which they allegedly conspired to wage an aggressive war and to commit other offenses with which they are charged.

Kleiman, who represents former Premier Kiichiro Hiranuma and four other former leaders of Japan, also argued that the eleven-nation tribunal lacked jurisdiction, and that some of the alleged offenses were not crimes under international law.

Objection By Briton

Arthur Comyns Carr, assistant prosecutor for Britain, objected. The defense arguments, he asserted, had ben covered previously."

Chief Justice Sir William Webb agreed that Kleiman had "not been helpful" in his argument. The court then retired to consider the motion, and subsequently sent back word of its indefinite adjournment.

Another American defense counsel yesterday argued that use of the atomic bomb against Japan was as murderous as Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Attacks Murder Charge

"If the killing of (Rear) Admiral (Isaac C.) Kidd at Pearl Harbor is murder, we know the name of the man who loosed the atomic bomb on Hiroshima," Major Bruce Blakeney told the Far East Tribunal.

"We know the chief of staff who planned that attack. Is murder on their consciences? We may well doubt it—and not because events have decided that their cause was just."

"No Apologies," Keenan Says

Joseph B. Keenan, chief prosecutor, was on his feet at once replying to the argument, which followed closely other defense contentions that the tribunal was without authority to try Japan's leaders.

"We make no apologies for the use of the atomic bomb against Japan," Keenan declared, "no more than should a decent citizen who, walking home, used force to prevent his life being taken by an outlaw."

Blakeney said the Allies were setting a precedent under which "our own leaders may be on trial after the next war." He added: "All killing on the victors' side is lawful, and on the losing side it is murder."

The defensed based much of its argument challenging the tribunal's jurisdiction on its position that there were no international laws against war—hence, "war is not a crime." In rebuttal, Keenan declared the defense was making light of the evils of war. Lack of precedent, he said, should not be used as an escape hatch for the guilty.

The court then recessed to consider a motion for dismissal entered by counsel for five of the twenty-eight defendants, who maintained that neutral nations, not the victors, should sit on the international bench.

Earlier attorneys for four Japanese generals moved to have their clients tried by court martial, saying they surrendered to military forces, not an international tribunal.

War 'Murders' By Japan Denied By U. S. Major

Defense Attorney at Trial Likens Atomic Bombing to Pearl Harbor Raid

TOKYO, May 14 (AP).—An American Army officer charged with defending Japanese war-crimes defendants argued today that America's atomic bombing of Hiroshima was no less murderous than Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

"If the killing of (Rear) Admiral (Isaac C.) Kidd at Pearl Harbor is murder, we know the name of the man who loosed the atomic bomb on Hiroshima," Major Bruce Blakeney asserted. "We know the chief of staff who planned that attack. Is murder on their consciences? We may well doubt it—and not because events have decied that their cause was just."

Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan was on his feet at once replying to the argument, which followed closely other defense conditions that the International Military Tribunal of the Far East does not have authority to try Japan's leaders.

"We make no apologies for the use of the atomic bomb against Japan," Keenan declared, "no more than should a decent citizen who, walking home, used force to prevent his life being taken by an outlaw."

Blakeney said the Allies were setting a precedent under which "our own leaders may be on trial after the next war." He added: "All killing on the victors' side is lawful, and on the losing side it is murder."

The defensed based much of its argument challenging the tribunal's jurisdiction on its position that there were no international laws against war—hence, "war is not a crime." In rebuttal, Keenan declared the defense was making light of the evils of war. Lack of precedent, he said, should not be used as an escape hatch for the guilty.

The court then recessed to consider a motion for dismissal entered by counsel for five of the twenty-eight defendants, who maintained that neutral nations, not the victors, should sit on the international bench.

Earlier attorneys for four Japanese generals moved to have their clients tried by court martial, saying they surrendered to military forces, not an international tribunal.

Keenan spoke sharply against the contention that the Allies could not conduct a fair trial of Japanese suspects. Under such a theory, he observed, they might just as well turn the whole tribunal over to judges from Argentina, Spain and Eire, or perhaps go clear to Mars for a neutral court.

Denies Murder at Pearl Harbor

Capt. W. G. Furness of Tucumcari, N. M., presented today's challenge on behalf of former Premier Kiichiro Hiranuma, former Foreign Ministers Yosuke Matsuoka, Mamoru Shigemitsu and Shigenori Togo, and Gen. Yoshijiri Uzemu, former commandant of the Kwantung Army.

Major Bruce Blakeney of Oklahoma City, counsel for Uzemu, compared the Pearl Harbor and atomic bomb attacks in his argument, pleading that killing in war is not murder. "If the killing of Admiral Kidd (Rear Admiral Isaac C. Kidd) at Pearl Harbor is murder," he said, "we know the man who loosed the atomic bomb . . . we know the Chief of Staff who planned that attack. Is murder on their conscience?"

The Allies, he told the tribunal, were attempting to impose responsibility for thousands of deaths on Japanese leaders who are innocent of any specific connection therewith."

Chief Justice Sir William interrupted the defense arguments only once. Furness described the "conditional surrender" plea of the Japanese chief defense counsel Ichiro Kiyose, as "valid . . . brilliant," and Webb remarked: "I think we can dispense with compliments."

Four defendants—Generals Sunhiro Itagaki, Heitaro Kimura, Akiro Muto and Kenryo Sato—filed a separate motion for dismissal, arguing that they had surrendered to British and American forces and therefore were subject to normal court-martial instead of trial by the international tribunal.

OBSTRUCTION SEEN IN PLAN FOR JAPAN

Allied Council Debate On U.S. Orders Held Unnecessary

Tokyo, Wednesday, May 15 (AP)—Any attempt by the four-power Allied Council for Japan to discuss or debate essential MacArthur directives before they are issued to Japan's Government would "constitute an entirely unjustifiable obstruction" to the occupation, its American chairman, George Atcheson, Jr., declared today.

He replied to a Russian proposal that the supreme commander include on the council agenda the drafts of orders he was intending to issue.

"Such procedure would convert the Allied Council into an agency for negotiations among the four Governments concerned (Russia, Great Britain, China and the United States)," Atcheson maintained.

Function "To Assist"

He contended that the Council's function is to "assist by advice and counsel" in carrying out policy decisions resulting from intergovernmental negotiations already undertaken and concluded.

Atcheson pointed out that MacArthur shows the Council his directives 48 hours before issued. But Russia's Lieut. Gen. Kuzma N. Dervyanko contended that this provided "absolutely insufficient" time for the members to consult their governments or discuss matters among themselves."

Earlier in answer to a Russian question, Major John N. Alhro, of Buffalo, N.Y., a headquarters intelligence officer, said that 226,519 Japanese Army officers and Navy officers had been demobilized.

Japs At Palace Gate Renew Food Demand

Tokyo, May 14 (AP)—A nondescript crowd of a few hundred men and women returned to the Imperial Palace gates today for the Emperor's answer to their Sunday demands for food—but no reply came from the throne.

While the crowd waited patiently, five representatives entered the palace compound and haggled several hours with officials of the imperial household.

Some Deny They're Reds

The delegation was led by Eichi Iwata, a member of the Communist party's central committee. It demanded to meet the Emperor. Shuichi Inumaru, chief of the general affairs department of the Imperial Household Ministry, adamantly refused.

The crowd carried the red flag of the Communist party and sang the party song, but some in the poorly dressed group declared "we are not Communists. We are just people who are hungry."

MacArthur Advice Issue To Be Raised

Tokyo, May 14 (AP)—How can the Allied Council for Japan best present advice to General MacArthur?

That question, by Russia, is the leading query on the council's agenda for tomorrow and, said one authoritative council source, "it might provide fireworks."

MacArthur has made it clear that he intends to administer the occupation. Under the Moscow Declaration establishing the council, the supreme commander of Allied forces—MacArthur—is the "sole executive authority" for the Allies in Japan.

Koreans Reclaim 3 Dead

Tokyo, May 14 (AP)—Officials of the Youth Organization for the Reconstruction of Korea said today that the bodies of three Koreans who attempted to assassinate Emperor Hirohito and other Japanese leaders in 1931 and 1932 were shipped to Korea last week.

Case of Cholera Stirs Tokyo

Tokyo, May 14 (A. P.).—The Metropolitan Health Bureau today intensified precautions against cholera with the discovery of one confirmed case here.

Japanese and Occupation officials plan to vaccinate 370,000 Tokyo residents this month. The occupation forces have already been vaccinated. Thousands of repatriates from China became ill of cholera aboard ship but strict quarantine measures at Uraga Harbor prevented its spread.

15,000 FACE PURGE

Tokyo, May 14 (A. P.).—The House of Peers received its 137th resignation today as three more members quit in compliance with an Allied purge directive, the Kyodo News Agency reported, and the Jiji News Agency said that the Government within a few days will purge some 15,000 public officials in compliance with Gen. MacArthur's political purge directive of January 4.

The list will include both present and retired office holders whose tenancy date[illegible] the 1931 Manchurian Incide[illegible]ji said. It is expected to [illegible]mprehensive as virtual[illegible] the final cleansing of undes[illegible] elements.

EX-WACS IN TOKYO OUTNUMBER WACS

Tokyo, May 14 (A. P.).—The fourth anniversary of the Women's Army Corps today found more ex-WACS than WACS working in Tokyo. At its peak strength last August, the WAC had 5,000 members in the Pacific area. Now there are only 80 WAC officers in Japan, eight in Korea and twelve in Manila.

In Japan alone, however, 200 former WACs are working for the occupation forces. WAC personnel has been withdrawn from all sections of the Pacific except Japan, Korea, Manila, Shanghai and Hawaii.

Yank In Hoax Gets 15 Years

Tokyo, May 14 (AP)—Marine Pfc. Earl L. Brown, who bilked a Japanese bank manager of 500,000 yen, today was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

The Navy announced that a court-martial on May 3 had convicted Brown, of Clarksburg, W.Va., of the bank hoax and discipline infractions. He was ordered to serve the sentence in the naval disciplinary barracks at San Pedro, Cal. His rank was reduced to private and he was ordered dishonorably discharged after completing the sentence.

Posed As Bank Examiner

Masquerading as an army bank examiner, Brown talked the manager of a small bank near Yokohama out of the half million yen ($33,333). He was arrested a few days later at a resort hotel, where he had been staying with a Japanese girl.

He escaped early last month from a stockade where he was waiting trial, but was arrested in about a week.

The Navy said Brown pleaded guilty of these charges: Absent without leave on two occasions; theft; breaking arrest; violation of a lawful regulation issued by the Secretary of the Navy, and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline.

CHIFLEY THANKS M'ARTHUR

Australian Praises Campaign That Led Way to Tokyo

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 15 (AP)—In a small guest house on the United States Embassy grounds, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today received the official thanks of the Australian Government for the manner in which he led Allied forces through the Southwest Pacific and up to Japan.

The formal thanks came from Australian Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley, who is visiting Australian occupation troops in Japan. He is en route home from the Prime Ministers' Conference in London, and called on General MacArthur late yesterday.

Mr. Chifley also acknowledged that General MacArthur's assistance in repatriating Japanese from the Australian zone was enabling quicker demobilization of Australian troops. The Australians, he explained, had to guard the Japanese until they were shipped to Japan.

Korean Bodies Returned.

Tokyo, May 14 (A. P.)—Officials of the Youth Organization for the Reconstruction of Korea said today that the bodies of three Koreans who attempted to assassinate Emperor Hirohito and other Japanese leaders in 1931 and 1932 were shipped to Korea last week.

PW Guard Gets 40 Years

Yokohama, May 14 (AP)—Seizo Nagakura, former guard at Fukuoka prisoner-of-war camp, was convicted of atrocities by an 8th Army tribunal today and sentenced to 40 years' imprisonment. He was the forty-eighth war-crime suspect convicted here.

First American Tried By China Is Convicted

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, May 14—A Chinese court today sentenced to two and a half years in prison the first American subjected to Chinese civil law since extraterritoriality was abolished in 1943.

The defendant, Edward P. Werda, a merchant marine seaman of Altena, Mich., was charged with the knife slaying of A. S. Spruce, a Navy steward's mate.

Werda pleaded self-defense in the scuffle that ended with the fatal wounding of the Navy man. Defense counsel announced the case would be appealed.

Under extraterritoriality, American offenders were tried under United States Law.

GI Chow 'Bum,' Ike Is Told In Japan

Nikko, Japan, Wednesday, May 15 (AP)—General Eisenhower decided today that efficiency of the army forces in Japan was high, but that troops were eating poorly prepared food. Two noncoms told him the chow was "bum" and "not so good."

Efficiency of army forces in Japan is "far above what I could possibly expect," Eisenhower reported at a press conference concluding his three-day inspection tour. And he issued prompt orders to improve the army mess.

The General and his staff left today by air from Seoul, Korea, after Eisenhower had visited many units with an informal, "how are you, soldier?" approach.

Corporal R. L. Dutton, of Griffin, Ga., was asked casually by the General today if he were getting enough to eat.

"It's A Bum Mess"

"It's a bum mess, sir," he said. "The food is all right and I'm getting enough to eat, but the cooking is no good."

Eisenhower shortly afterward met the corporal's colonel and the company commander, who both insisted that "these men had steak for dinner."

"No sir," Corporal Dutton maintained. "I had pork chops."

"Well," said Eisenhower, I'll take this man's word for it. If he had pork chops he ought to know it. Colonel, I want you to write me a letter in a week and tell me what you think of the mess."

"And," he added, to the company commander, "I don't want anything to happen to this corporal. . . ."

EISENHOWER SEES ARMY IMPROVING

Kyoto, May 14 (A. P.).—Winding up a busy three-day inspection tour of Eighth Army occupation forces in Japan, Gen. Eisenhower told a press conference today that "there is no question but that the Army is on the upgrade in efficiency."

The Chief of Staff said he had found the Eighth Army under Lieut.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger "so far above what I could possibly expect . . . I feel real warm inside." He said he had found every little griping, and what there was was only natural among drafted men who feel they are entitled to go home as soon as possible.

Eisenhower toured the dock areas of the ports of Kobe and Osaka today, driving down streets lined with Japanese. He made unscheduled stops to ask soldiers about their affairs.

Sgt. H. C. Cox of Atlanta, told Eisenhower that food "wasn't too good" and added that cooks apparently were not preparing it very well. The General told newsmen that until the Army could train new men in cooks and bakers schools there would be some complaints.

At the 120th Quartermaster Bakery at Kobe, Eisenhower asked Lieut. James W. Stevens of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., if he couldn't use more than the nineteen Japanese employed at the bakery. Stevens, in charge of a bakery turning out 30,000 loaves of bread daily, replied he felt there was a "possibility" of training more Japanese.

At the Kobe ordnance base, Eisenhower told Pfc. William Groves of Lampasas, Texas, "I'll bet you are from the cattle country." Groves said his drawl was only fourteen months removed from the ranch, to which he wished to return as soon as possible.

BREAK IS HINTED IN CHINESE CRISIS

NANKING, May 14. — (AP) A break in deadlocked negotiations over Manchuria was hinted today in a Peiping report that Chinese Government office-holders had been ordered to proceed to the area.

Since stiff Communist resistance at Szepingkai, south of Manchuria's capital of Changchun, has balked all Government efforts to move in by force, speculation arose that a truce was near.

There was no official confirmation here, where political discussions between the Government and the Communists continued without letup.

The optimism of observers coincided with reports from the north telling of mounting difficulties for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces in the huge, northeast territory.

The newspaper Hsin Min Pao reported Government troops before Szepingkai were having difficulty keeping supplied. The Communists were living off the land with the support of the Manchurian people.

Various sensational reports in some Nanking newspapers that Communist troops were threatening Tientsin and Peiping were without confirmation and were being discounted as exaggerations.

The Communists New China News agency insisted, however, that the situation still was serious in Hopeh province, which embraces Peiping and Tientsin, and in two other regions where new truce agreements were signed last week, central China and Shantung province.

Truce Move In Luzon Fails

Manila, May 14 (AP)—A semi-official source said today that the Government had been unable to organize a pacification committee in the bloody strife between rival guerrilla units in central Luzon.

Refusal of Hukbalahaps and Usaffes to delegate representatives led to a breakdown of attempts to organize the committee.

The Usaffe guerrillas are so called because they were recognized by the United States Army forces in the Far East.

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Federico G. Oboza said he would ask President Osmeña to exercise his emergency powers to enable the Filipino military police to round up all unlicensed firearms in the Philippines.

"Numerous arms in the hands of unauthorized persons is the main deterrent to peace and order on the islands," the Philippines provost marshal general said.

French Occupy Laos Capital.

Paris, May 14 (A. P.).—A French press agency dispatch from Saigon said today that French troops yesterday occupied Luangprabang, capital of the State of Laos in northern French Indo-China.

ARABS ACCUSE SENATOR OF SLANDERING KING

WASHINGTON, May 14 — (AP) The Saudi Arabian legation today protested to the United States that Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) had slandered King Ibn Saud.

Brewster said in a radio discussion Saturday he had evidence that the British "bought" the king with $20,000,000.

The legation asserted in a statement that "such irresponsible statements are part of an organized campaign being carried on by certain pressure groups to villify and misrepresent the Arabs who stand in the way of their desires."

(In Cairo, Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab league, said Brewster had "fabricated a lie" by chaging the king was a British tool. Money given to Ibn Saud, he said, is the price of oil in his country.)

U. S. MAKES NEW APPEAL TO TITO

Asks Flyers Be Heard at Mikhailovich Trial.

Washington, May 14 (A. P.).—Acting Secretary of State Acheson announced today that the United States had renewed its request to the Yugoslav Government of Marshal Tito that American flyers be permitted to testify at the forthcoming treason trial of Gen. Draja Mikhailovich.

A previous request, made on behalf of flyers who were rescued during the war by Mikhailovich forces, had been rejected by Tito. The note disclosed today was delivered at Belgrade on May 7 and asked for an urgent reply.

Mikhailovich is to go on trial soon on charges, including accusations that he collaborated with the Germans.

Makes Five Points.

Acheson also told his news conference that:

1. The United States and Great Britain have been discussing for some time the control of disputed islands in the Pacific on which the United States has developed bases and which continue to be of interest to the United States Army and Navy. Three islands have figured in London reports of the talks—Christmas, Canton and Funafuti.

2. A broad-scale economic agreement under which France will obtain a loan of several hundred million dollars and additional credits to a total of more than $1,000,000,000 will be concluded soon.

Polish Credits Held Up.

3. The United States is holding up $50,000,000 of surplus war property credits for Poland pending clarification of the Polish censorship situation and also pending indications from Poland as to whether it intends to provide the United States with information on its international economic relations. Specifically, though Acheson did not say so, that the United States would like to know the text of economic agreements made by Poland with Russia.

4. The United States has not received any notification from King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia rejecting proposed economic consultations because of this government's policies on Palestine.

5. The United States has concluded formal diplomatic and consular agreements with the Kingdom of Yemen, whose independence was recognized some time ago.

LEAHY'S MISSION MAY ARRANGE FOR ACQUIRING ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, May 14 — (AP) The United States and Britain were reported today to be making satisfactory progress toward an agreement on control of several disputed, strategically located islands in the Pacific.

Acting Secretary of State Acheson officially disclosed that talks were under way between Washington and London—evidently as part of the postwar negotiations undertaken by the government to create a permanent chain of land, sea and air bases in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Troops to Withdraw

Almost simultaneously with Acheson's disclosure the White House announced that Admiral William D. Leahy, President Truman's chief of staff, would fly to London tomorrow to arrange for final withdrawal of a "comparative few" American troops remaining in New Zealand, Australia, the Dutch East Indies, Malaya and India.

The minor nature of the mission contrasted vividly with the importance of Leahy's position as one of the foremost military men operating under direct orders from the President. Hence there was immediate speculation as to whether the real purpose of the trip had been disclosed.

Army officials said there are no American troops remaining in New Zealand, only 366 in Australia, 1,928 in New Guinea and small nearby bases, none in Malaya, and 1,500 in India and Burma.

Takes No Advisors

Neither British nor American diplomatic officials appeared to have had preliminary knowledge of the Leahy mission. Persons familiar with his plans said that he would not take any advisory staff with him. The White House announcement reported that he would consult with the British chiefs of staff, and the speculation was that he might hold high-level talks on ways of maintaining joint Anglo-American defense interests around the world.

In this connection, it seemed possible that Leahy might explore the base situation which Acheson talked about briefly at his news conference today in response to an inquiry from reporters.

Three islands only were mentioned by name—Funafuti, in the Ellice group; Canton in the Phoenix group; and Christmas in the Line group.

All are in the Central Pacific and all are important in maintaining supply lines and air transport between the United States, and Australia and southeast Asia. Acheson said that they are among a number of Pacific islands to which the United States and Britain have conflicting claims. The discussions, Acheson said, are going forward. Other informants said they were going quite well.

Previously the United States has disclosed efforts to obtain a base in Iceland and the North Atlantic, plans for developing sea and air positions in the distant Pacific, as far west as the area immediately north of Australia. Presumably there have been talks with the Australians and New Zealanders on their own defense plans for that southwest Pacific territory.

In addition, the United States has plans for developing the defenses of Latin American countries in coordination with those of North America and Canada.

BAN ON INDUCTION OF YOUTHS 18-19, FATHERS IS VOTED

President Reluctantly Accepts Measure Extending Draft to July 1.

FEW MEN AVAILABLE

Selective Service Says Pool of 59,000 Remains Eligible in Nation.

WASHINGTON, May 14 — (AP) President Truman affixed a reluctant signature tonight to a stop-gap bill extending the draft until July 1 but banning the induction of fathers and youths 18 and 19 years old.

Confronted with the alternatives of accepting the amendments or letting the whole wartime Selective Service law expire at midnight, the President chose "the lesser of two evils," as his secretary put it.

Disliked by Truman

The secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters that the President regarded it as a "bad bill." It was passed because the two houses of Congress were unable to get together in time on a longer extension.

Less than six hours before the midnight deadline, the Senate agreed to the House restrictions on inductions, and Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle sped the measure to the White House.

There Secretary Ross informed newsmen:

"The President doesn't like it at all, but feels as some of his officials do, that it will be better to sign it than have confusion that will result from failure to continue a legislative support for armed force inductions."

Selective Service announced that its present ban on the induction of men 26 and over will be continued, despite the fact that the act as renewed permits the drafting of men through age 29.

Teen Age Inductions Halted

In a telegram to state draft directors the agency also formally halted the induction of 'teen age youths. It said, however, that men 18 and 19 still will be required to register.

Only men 20 through 25 will be drafted. This reduces Selective Service to a comparatively tiny reservoir of manpower. Officials estimated that there are only 50,000 eligibles left in this age bracket, of whom perhaps 50 per cent would be found physically unfit.

The telegram said local boards should not "take any of the following actions with respect to any registrant who has not reached his twentieth birthday:

"(A) Order any such registrant to report for preinduction physical examination.

"(B) Forward any such registrant for preinduction physical examination;

"(C) Order any such registrant to report for induction;

"(D) Forward any such registrant for induction; or

"(E) Forward any such registrant to work of national importance under civilian direction." (This refers to conscientious objectors.)

Will Issue Statements

The signing took place at 8 p. m. The President planned to issue a statement on the subject tomorrow. Meantime Secretary of War Patterson issued a statement saying:

"I have just learned that the Senate has passed the extension of the Selective Service until July 1 as modified by the House of Representatives. I hope that before July 1 an extension of Selective Service for one year will be adopted by the Congress in such form as to permit the War department to carry out the tasks expected of it by the nation."

Langer Talks Four Hours

The Senate vote came after Senator Langer (R-ND) had talked for more than four hours opposing peacetime conscription.

Fearing that Congress would not act before midnight, President Truman in late afternoon signed an executive order continuing the draft organization intact, but without power to induct any more men.

However, the White House made plain that it stood ready to rescind this order after action by Congress.

The order proclaimed that conscientious objectors must remain in work camps until released by "competent authority." Officials previously had expressed doubt that there would be any legal authority to hold such men if the Selective Service act were allowed to lapse.

With regard to conscientious objectors, the order said:

"Persons who, in lieu of induction into the land or naval forces, have heretofore been assigned to work of national importance under civilian direction pursuant to Section Five (G) of such act shall remain so assigned in this program until such time they are released therefrom by competent authority."

Under the order, the Selective Service system is placed under the Office for Emergency Management of the executive office of the President.

Opposes Conscription

Langer, taking the Senate floor for what he said would be an extended speech, said he was "absolutely and completely opposed to conscription in peacetime and did not propose to have it fastened upon the American people if I can help it."

There was no way under the Senate rules by which Langer could lose the floor, as long as he kept on talking. The process of cloture—a parliamentary device for shutting off debate—takes a minimum of two days.

Langer declared the War department had given assurance that if allowed to draft 18 and 19 year olds it would "keep them at home."

"All right, let's keep them at home," Langer said. "Let's keep them at home on the farm or in schools."

The bill against which he was talking was a far cry from what the Administration actually wanted. As amended by the House, it exempts 'teen-agers and fathers from induction although extending the actual life of Selective Service to July 1.

Sees 'Weakness'

In earlier debate Senator Austin (R.-Vt.) said the House restrictions were a sign of "weakness" that would subject diplomatic representatives of this country to "utter contempt" of other nations. But he said the House provisions must be approved as a "pure matter of salvage" to "save parts of this wreck."

Majority Leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) agreed in part with Austin and put the world and nation on notice that the Senate was acting "under compulsion." The House amendments forced the Senate to accept or let the draft act expire.

Other senators announced they were reluctantly voting for the extension as the only thing that could be done to keep the draft act alive.

"No senator should vote for anying reluctantly," Langer said as he took the floor. "It's either right or wrong. If it's right, they should vote for it; if its wrong, against it."

"If we do not extend the draft May 15, we shall be just as secure on May 16," he said. "It is well that Congress and the American people understand that fact."

"Extension of the draft, as I view it, is demanded as a counter measure to Russia," the tall North Dakota senator said.

Senator Maybank (D.-S. C.) said the House restrictions "destroy everything selective service stands for, except its officers, local draft boards and records."

Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.), who was serving in the Army when appointed to the Senate, said the "forgotten men" are snigle men who already have served long overseas and "now must wait longer because the Congress was unwilling to meet a challenge."

May 31 Deadline Set On Service Merger Plan

Washington, May 14 (AP)—President Truman has instructed the War and Navy secretaries to reach an agreement on unification of the armed forces by May 31, the White House said today.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference that "much progress" toward reconciliation of differences was made in a 30-minute conference of the President with top military and naval officials yesterday.

Mr. Truman, Ross said, instructed Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Secretary of War Patterson to list their points of agreement and disagreement and get together "frequently until differences have been ironed out."

Meeting Today

Both officials, Ross asserted, expressed a willingness to co-operate "and they are meeting together today."

Ross said he could not say how many major points of difference exist or how the search for a reconciliation will affect pending legislation calling for a merger of the two services under a single department.

An armistice in the army-navy merger war, providing instead for an independent air force, began to take form on Capitol Hill meanwhile.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.), one of the original merger proponents, said he might support such a compromise by navy supporters.

"The question of whether we have one or three Cabinet members is of minor importance," Johnson said.

Suggests New Approach

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the Senate Naval Committee said he had suggested a "new approach to unification" through points of agreement rather than disagreement.

Walsh said the bill approved by the military committee calling for merger of the War and Navy departments into a single new Common Defense Department, appeared to emphasize "differences between the services rather than their many points of common agreement."

The Navy Department has been battling any merger plan that would deprive the Navy of its separate department status.

Pass Along Question

In addition to retaining Cabinet status, navy leaders told Congress they must retain their present naval air arm and assure the Marine Corps of its traditional leadership in the field of amphibious landings.

They added that a separate air force with Cabinet representation was a question for the War Department and Congress.

Johnson said the "Navy seems to be joining my plan now," adding: "I'll support any plan that does not subordinate the Army Air Forces to either branch of the old services."

HOUSE BALKS STEP TO KILL BRITISH LOAN

Knutson Resolution Holding It Revenue Bill Laid to Rest in Committee.

VINSON PRESSES FOR CREDIT

Treasury Head Says Loan Would Be Worth While if No Interest Were Paid.

Washington, May 14 (A. P.).—The House pigeonholed today a resolution by Representative Knutson (R.-Minn.) which would have nullified Senate approval of the $3,750,000,000 British loan. By a voice vote, the chamber referred the Knutson proposal to the judiciary committee—an action which, in effect, killed it.

Knutson contended that the loan bill was a revenue measure and that the Senate infringed on the constitutional prerogatives of the House in acting on it first. Adoption of his resolution would have set aside the Senate bill and permitted the House to bring out its own measure.

The action means that the House Banking Committee now can go on with its hearings on the loan, including the legislation passed by the Senate.

Secretary of the Treasury Vinson, first witness before the banking group, said that "even if no interest were paid" the proposed British loan would be worthwhile.

He said the proposed financial agreement would benefit the United States through the scrapping of British controls, which now restrict trade.

Saying that our economy has always been dependent on foreign trade, he recalled the contraction of American exports during the early thirties. He said that the decline contributed to the severe depression in industry and the collapse in agriculture.

"Our trade cannot reach the high levels necessary for American prosperity if the world again resorts to currency and trade restrictions," he said.

More Than a Loan.

The Secretary of the Treasury noted that the interest rate on the loan (2 per cent beginning in 1951) would be less than Britain would have to pay on "strictly commercial loan obtained from bankers." He described the financial agreement as "much more than a loan."

"When we take into consideration the commitments we receive from England on her currency and trade policies," he argued, "it becomes clear that the agreement would amply repay the American people, even if no interests were paid.

"And some would say we would have made a good investment if the whole sum were a gift. But, as a matter of fact, the interest is substantial."

Roxas Requests $400,000,000 Relief Funds

Washington, May 14 (AP)—President-elect Manuel Roxas told Congress today the Philippine Government would need $400,000,000 for five years of reconstruction beginning with its launching as an independent republic on July 4.

Roxas said his government would require $100,000,000 during its first year to "support the bare essentials of rehabilitation and social reconstruction."

Roxas's views were presented to Senate and House leaders informally and today he scheduled a conference with officials of the Export-Import Bank.

Expect To Pay Interest

Roxas said the Philippines would undertake to pay back the money within a reasonable period of time and would expect to pay interest. He described the projected credit as a "Government loan" needed to pay salaries, operate hospitals and schools and support essential public services.

It would be distinct, he emphasized, from any economic rehabilitation loan which might be requested later to develop the islands commercially.

Because of American Army expenditures, he said, the Philippines have experienced "enormous inflation" in which living costs have soared to a dozen times the prewar level. He estimated the islands would need eight to ten years to climb again to the prewar national income of a billion dollars a year.

ANDERSON ORDERS LIMITS CONTINUED ON USE OF WHEAT

Calls for Domestic Saving to Last Until Middle of Next Year.

Washington, May 14 (A. P.).—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson laid down today a program continuing limitations on the domestic use of wheat until the middle of 1947 in order to help hungry areas abroad.

It is designed to assure at least 250,000,0000 bushels of wheat for famine areas. It continues restrictions on the milling of wheat into flour for domestic consumption and prohibitions against using wheat to make beer and whiskey. It also continues the 80 per cent flour extraction rate and limits domestic distribution of flour and wheat products.

Bowles In Favor Of Rationing If Pinch Grows

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he will recommend restoration of food rationing if the world food situation "gets tighter."

Bowles made this statement a day after former President Herbert Hoover counseled against such action until this year's crops are harvested.

"I don't think the situation is tight enough now," Bowles told a news conference, "but if it gets tighter I think we should put it (rationing) on."

Mentions Meat, Butter, Cheese

Bowles mentioned meat, butter, cheese and possibly bread as foods it might be necessary to ration.

The stabilization chief said rationing would assure fairer distribution of food in this country if overseas commitments cut deeply into the total supply.

"We will know better in 30 to 60 days as to what should be done," Bowles said.

"Country Will Accept It"

Bowles said the possibility of returning to rationing has been discussed for some time by Government agencies.

"I am sure the country will face up to this situation by accepting rationing if it becomes necessary," he added. He said he is opposed to rationing merely for "psychological reasons."

Asked whether he agreed with Hoover's views that voluntary food conservation measures might meet the emergency, Bowles replied:

"We can do a great deal voluntarily. Whether we can do enough it is too soon to say."

Former President Hoover counseled against action on the subject until the world harvests this year's crops.

Back from a survey of hungry nations, Hoover said he thought it too early for a decision on rationing, because he had hopes that the world's food production would be better than anticipated, with a consequent lessening of the famine emergency.

$135,000,000 MORE VOTED FOR UNRRA

Washington, May 14 (A. P.).—The UNRRA was given an additional $135,000,000 and the FEPC was denied a requested $27,600 as Congress completed action today on two major appropriations bills. The Senate sent the measures to the White House by adopting compromises worked out by a Senate-House committee.

One bill withdraws $6,489,000 in wartime appropriations which Congress decided were no longer needed.

Originally, the measure called for the withdrawal of $1,080,000,000 of lend-lease funds However, Senate-House conferees wrote in a provision that $135,000,000 of this sum should be turned over to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration rather than being returned to the Treasury. The other bill provides $61,601,000 for government departments and agencies which are running out of cash and say they need the money to finish out the fiscal year ending June 30.

The Senate approved $27,600 for the Fair Employment Practices Commission, but the House declined to agree and the item was dropped from the bill as sent to President Truman.

BIKINI TASK FORCE FORMS AT HAWAII

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14—(AP) Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of joint Army-Navy Task Force No. 1 which will carry out the forthcoming atom bomb experiments, said today the force is practically all assembled at Honolulu for movement to Bikini atoll where the first bomb-drop is set for July 1, weather permitting.

Seventy-seven targets will be packed into an area smaller than that normally occupied by a 30-ship task force, he said.

Hundreds of goats, pigs and rats are being moved to the site.

More than 10,000 instruments, ranging from a simple gasoline tin to highly-secret apparatus, have been prepared to record effects of the searing blasts.

Admiral Blandy, en route to Pearl Harbor by air to board his flagship, the U. S. S. Mount McKinley, talked about the impending tests at a press conference. He is to arrive there Wednesday.

"There will be only one bomb in the first test, unless it is a dud, in which case there will be some delay," he explained.

The second bomb test, he added, would be "sub-surface"—not deeper than 30 fathoms. It will be carried out as soon as possible after wreckage of the first test is cleared.

Admiral Blandy was asked what would happen if a ship of an "unfriendly nation" should attempt to observe the tests.

"We are putting out a warning for ships to stay away from Bikini," he responded. "If any ship is foolhardy enough to come in the area I don't suppose we could fire on them to keep them out. However, we are inviting representatives of 11 members of the United Nations, so they do not have to get their information by prowling."

Washington, May 14 (AP)—An atomic bomb similar to the one dropped on Nagaski will be used in forthcoming tests of the weapon against warships because it is the most powerful type available today.

This was disclosed by Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, head of the test task force, at a final news conference yesterday just before leaving by air for Pearl Harbor to join his flagship, the Mount McKinley. From there he will leave May 22 for Bikini Atoll, scene of the experiments, where he is due May 30.

"The bomb which will be used in both of the tests . . . is the type which was used at Nagasaki," Blandy said.

Best Type Available

"It is the best type which we have available and that is the reason it is being used. There is no desire . . . to hold back a more powerful bomb. If a more powerful bomb were now available, it would be employed."

The Nagasaki bomb, second dropped on Japan, has been described as far more potent than the first one which smashed Hiroshima.

Blandy said the press representatives would be permitted to see the condition of the ships before and after the atom bombing, both from the surface and from the air.

There will be a strict censorship on photographs, however, he explained because they "produce exact and measurable records."

He listed the following details of the tests which will be kept secret:

The exact point and altitude at which the bomb is detonated; the exact distances between the ships; the special equipment and techniques used by the plane that drops the bomb; the exact pressures, temperature and other data obtained; the degree of efficiency of the explosion, and large numbers of detailed photographs showing bomb damage.

Many Pictures Banned

Pictures showing bomb damage will be released "as soon as practicable after the tests," Blandy said, but a large number of related photographs of bomb damage cannot be released.

He said it would take "many months" before an intelligent evaluation of the test could be made and cautioned against "hasty and possibly erroneous conclusions" as a result of the "headlines made by the tests" immediately after their conclusion.

Report by House Committee Proposes a Cut in Coast Guard

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP).—The House Appropriations Committee suggested today that the Coast Guard get along with fewer high-ranking officers for its peacetime operations.

Putting teeth into its suggestion, the committee cut $9,222,000 from the Budget Bureau's estimate for pay and allowances in the year beginning July 1.

The total recommended is $114,166,000—$19,734,000 below budget estimates and $244,898,318 less than the Coast Guard received a year ago when the war was still in progress. Besides the cut in pay and allowances the committee lopped $10,512,000 from estimates for general expenses.

Criticizing the number of contemplated high-ranking officers, the committee said in its report that in the peace-time year of 1940 the Coast Guard got along with three rear admirals and thirty-one captains. At that time it had 12,000 enlisted men.

In the year beginning July 1—the first full year of peace-time operations since the Coast Guard was taken over by the Navy in 1941—the report said the Coast Guard planned to operate with one four-star admiral, seventeen rear admirals, fifteen commodores and 138 captains. Yet the number of enlisted personnel, the committee asserted, will be only 7,000 more than in 1940.

The committee said it had tried "to bring the Coast Guard as nearly in line with pre-war expenditures as possible, but on account of these new and very necessary functions finds itself under the necessity of approving a budget which almost doubles the size of the organization, as compared with pre-war strength."

"These activities include loran stations, an entirely new use of radio waves to guide ships and airplanes at sea, weather stations on ships located strategically in the Atlantic and Pacific to furnish weather information necessary to air transportation, an air-sea rescue service made necessary by the great increase in trans-oceanic air travel, and other duties."

USS Tennessee Wins Navy Commendation

Philadelphia, May 14 (A. P.).—The U. S. S. Tennessee, victim o the Pearl Harbor raid and late nemesis of the Japanese in thirteen Pacific engagements, has been awarded the Navy unit commendation.

The 26-year-old battleship is the second to receive this honor. It was previously presented to the U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

The Tennessee is being placed in "mothballs" as a member o the Sixteenth (Reserve) Fleet, a the Philadelphia naval base.

Would Oppose New Rule

New York, May 14 (AP)—Senator Myers (D., Pa.) said tonight he would introduce a resolution in the Senate this week calling upon the United States to withhold recognition of the newly created state of Trans-Jordan.

In an address at a $50-a-plate dinner of the American League for a Free Palestine, Inc., he said:

"The treaty Great Britain signed with the Emir Abdullah is a violation of the agreement Great Britain has with this country and it is a violation of international law. It also violated the laws as contained in the United Nations Charter. It is illegal."

Washington, May 14 (A. P.).—Dr. Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester, N. Y., rabbi of Temple B'rith Kobesh, has been appointed special adviser on Jewish affairs to the European theater commander by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander in chief of the United States forces in the ETO, the War Department announced today.

Dr. Bernstein succeeds Judge Simon H. Rifkind, who returned to this country a month ago.

During the war Dr. Bernstein was executive director of the committee on Army and Navy religious activities of the National Jewish Welfare Board, which placed him in charge of recruiting Jewish chaplains.

SAILORS FEEL FOOD PRICE RISE

Aboard U. S. S. Franklin D. Roosevelt Off Puerto Rico, May 14 (A. P.).—The impact of rising food prices was felt aboard this aircraft carrier today when the supply officer was notified he may spend 63 cents a day to feed each crew member henceforth—a 3-cent increase.

However, recalling the menu of the battleship Nevada in 1941—when the daily allowance was 50 cents—the officer said it would cost 79 cents at present food prices to match it.

Among other economies, the crew members receive butter only once a day.

EDITORS BACK U.S. RADIO PLAN

Trio Indorses Proposed Cultural Relations Program

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Three newspaper editors today indorsed the State Department's proposed cultural relations program. They particularly urged an effort by the Government to "tell the world about America."

Those who testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee were Wilbur Forrest, assistant editor of the New York Herald Tribune; Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta, Constitution, and Mark Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier - Journal and Times.

Broadcasts, Pamphlets

The legislation asked by the State Department would provide for radio broadcasts and sending reports and publications to other nations throughout the world. It also would authorize interchange of students and of other projects carried on through the embassies for the promotion of better cultural relations between the nations.

The witnesses said that in recent trips abroad they found a great desire for news about America. They testified that particular need exists for short-wave radio broadcasts by this Government. Only in this manner, they said, can the "iron curtain" of censorship around many countries be overcome.

The three urged Congress to establish the State Department's program on a permanent basis. The House has voted $10,000,000 of the $19,000,000 the department asked for the next fiscal year for the program, but has not acted on permanent legislation. The Senate has not yet acted on either the funds or the authorization.

Points To AP And UP

McGill and Ethridge said the State Department program was threatened by the action of the Associated Press and United Press in withdrawing their news services from the department.

"The whole thing is being misunderstood and colored by a commercial fight going on between the two press services," McGill asserted.

Forrest recommended that in all State Department broadcasts of spot news the items be attributed to the agency reporting them. William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, commented he would be willing to do this, but that the AP and UP didn't like the idea, "fearing that it would identify them too closely with the Government."

McGill also said:

"This bill is very necessary to the country and its future and it is utterly ridiculous that it should be endangered by the attitude of the agencies.

Supported By Ethridge

"These two agencies are engaged in a very cut-throat competition and there is not an ounce of altruism to a ton in their effort.

"As soon as the AP and UP quit cutting each others' throats they will be amenable and we'll get somewhere."

Ethridge said "I subscribe heartily to what Mr. McGill has said, and added:

"It is absurd for the AP and UP to assume they are the sole guardian of press freedom. They are exceedingly smug in the idea that they are pure, but actually the confidence in news broadcast abroad is in the American Government and the AP and UP enjoy this confidence only by reflection."

LONDON, MAY 13-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO, CALLING FOR "GENUINE INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION" AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE IN PARIS, DECLARED TODAY THAT "ATTEMPTS TO FOIST UNILATERAL DECISIONS UPON THE SOVIET UNION ARE DOOMED TO FAILURE."

THE COMMENTATOR, BORIS ISAKOV, SAID THAT SOME OBSERVERS "INVARIABLY ASCRIBE ANY DIFFICULTIES ARISING IN THE TALKS TO SOVIET OBSTINACY.'"

"APPARENTLY," HE ADDED, "SOME PEOPLE EXPECT THE U.S.S.R. TO ACCEPT ANYTHING THE ANGLO-AMERICAN DELEGATIONS PROPOSE WITHOUT OBJECTION."

THE COMMENTATOR ADDED THAT RUSSIA WAS "SETTING AN EXAMPLE OF READINESS TO SETTLE OUTSTANDING PROBLEMS IN A SPIRIT OF GENUINE COOPERATION AND MUTUAL CONCESSIONS."

PARIS, MAY 14-(AP)-BRITISH AND FRENCH DELEGATIONS ARE WILLING TO ACCEPT THE INTERNATIONALIZATION OF THE CITY OF TRIESTE AS A COMPROMISE TO RESCUE THE STALEMATED FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE, RELIABLE SOURCES SAID TODAY.

MAY 15 1946

BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA WERE REPORTED STANDING PAT, HOWEVER, ON OPPOSITE SIDES OF THE FENCE IN REGARD TO TRIESTE, HISTORIC ADRIATIC GATEWAY TO CENTRAL EUROPE.

THE UNITED STATES, WHICH ORIGINALLY HAS BEEN SUPPORTED BY BRITAIN AND FRANCE, HAS INSISTED THAT TRIESTE REMAIN ITALIAN. RUSSIA HAS BEEN EQUALLY INSISTENT THAT THE CITY BE GIVEN TO YUGOSLAVIA. AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THE ISSUE WAS THE PRINCIPAL STUMBLING BLOCK PREVENTING THE MINISTERS FROM AGREEING ON AN ITALIAN PEACE TREATY.

THE MINISTERS, MEETING AGAIN TODAY, EXPECTED THAT THE CONFERENCE WOULD END BY SATURDAY OR SUNDAY, TURNED TODAY TO DISCUSSION OF THE FRENCH-ITALIAN FRONTIER. THE GERMAN PROBLEM, INCLUDING FRENCH DEMANDS FOR THE DETACHMENT OF THE RUHR AND RHINELAND, IS SCHEDULED TO BE CONSIDERED TOMORROW.

U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES WAS REPORTED TO HAVE USED THE MOST VIGOROUS LANGUAGE HE HAS EMPLOYED TO DATE AT THE CONFERENCE IN REITERATING YESTERDAY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT YIELD TO RUSSIAN DEMANDS ON TRIESTE.

AUTHORITATIVE INFORMANTS SAID, HOWEVER, THAT BYRNES HAD ANNOUNCED HE WAS WILLING TO ACCEPT THE ITALIAN-YUGOSLAVIA BORDER PREVIOUSLY PROPOSED BY THE FRENCH. THIS LINE, WHILE CONSIDERABLY WEST OF THE BORDER WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAS ADVOCATED, STILL WOULD ALLOW ITALY TO RETAIN TRIESTE AND A PORTION OF THE ISTRIAN PENINSULA.

THESE INFORMANTS SAID THAT V.M. MOLOTOV, RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, PROBABLY WOULD NOT AGREE TO BYRNES' PROPOSAL TO CALL A 24-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE, UNLESS RUSSIA GOT HER WAY ON TRIESTE.

BY NOLAND NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, MAY 13-(AP)-ADM. GERHARD WAGNER, FORMER CHIEF OF THE NAZI NAVAL COMMAND STAFF, TESTIFIED BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL TODAY THAT THE GERMAN NAVY DRAFTED NO PREWAR PLAN OF OPERATIONS AGAINST BRITAIN "BECAUSE SUCH A WAR APPEARED ABSOLUTELY HOPELESS."

MAY 15 1946

THE WITNESS, WHO APPEARED IN BEHALF OF GRAND ADM. KARL DOENITZ, FORMER NAVAL COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, SAID BRITAIN'S SEA MIGHT WAS SO OVERWHELMING THAT SUBMARINE WARFARE "WAS THE ONLY MEANS WE HAD TO DAMAGE ENGLAND, AND IT WAS NOT GIVEN PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT" IN PREWAR PLANNING.

AS A RESULT, HE CONTINUED, GERMANY ENTERED THE WAR WITH ONLY ABOUT 20 SUBMARINES FIT FOR ATLANTIC SERVICE, "WHEREAS BRITAIN AND FRANCE EACH HAD OVER 100."

WAGNER DECLARED THE NAZI NAVAL COMMAND DECIDED, ON THE ADVICE OF THE FOREIGN OFFICE, TO ADHERE STRICTLY TO THE 1935 LONDON AGREEMENT ON U-BOAT WARFARE UNTIL IT WAS CLEAR THAT BRITAIN WAS VIOLATING ITS TERMS, BECAUSE "WE RECOGNIZED THE POWER OF ENEMY PROPAGANDA IN THE LAST WAR AND DIDN'T PROPOSE TO GIVE THE ENEMY CAUSE TO SPEAK AGAINST US AGAIN IN THE WORST POSSIBLE WAY."

WAGNER SAID IT WAS ALMOST IMMEDIATELY APPARENT THAT THE BRITISH WERE CONVERTING MERCHANT SHIPS INTO ARMED WARSHIPS WHICH ENGAGED IN NUMEROUS ARTILLERY DUELS WITH U-BOATS.

HE SAID THE GERMAN NAVY CONSIDERED THE OLD RULES OF SUBMARINE WARFARE HAD BEEN OUTMODED BY TWO NEW FACTORS--THE USE OF PLANES AGAINST U-BOATS AND THE DEVELOPMENT OF RADAR AND OTHER ELECTRICAL DETECTION DEVICES.

PARIS, MAY 13-(AP)-GEN.CHARLES DE GAULLE, WHO RETIRED LAST JANUARY AS PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT, SAYS HE HAS NO INTENTION OF RUNNING FOR ELECTION TO THE NEW CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY WHICH FRANCE WILL CHOOSE NEXT MONTH.

DE GAULLE MADE HIS STATEMENT IN AN INTERVIEW YESTERDAY AFTER LAYING A WREATH ON THE TOMB OF GEORGES CLEMENCEAU IN COLOMBIER DURING VICTORY ANNIVERSARY CEREMONIES AT WHICH A CROWD OF 5,000 HEARD HIM GIVE A BRIEF, NON-POLITICAL SPEECH. FRANKFURT, MAY 13-(AP)-RUSSIAN SENTRIES FIRED "OVER" THE AUTOMOBILE OF MAJ. GEN. CECIL R. MOORE WHILE HE WAS EN ROUTE TO THE LEIPZIG FAIR ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF V-E DAY, MOORE SAID YESTERDAY.

THE GENERAL EXPLAINED, HOWEVER, THAT "WE WERE GOING THE WRONG WAY AND THEY WISHED TO ATTRACT OUR ATTENTION."

HE SAID THE SHOTS WERE FIRED AFTER HIS CAR HAD MISTAKEN A RUSSIAN SENTRY POST FOR A BARRIER, AND ADDED:

"WE WERE NOT DETAINED AND THE RUSSIANS WERE VERY DECENT WHEN WE EXPLAINED WE HAD BEEN CONFUSED."

ATHENS, MAY 13-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT'S DECISION TO HOLD A PLEBESCITE SEPT. 1 ON THE RETURN OF THE MONARCHY WAS EXPECTED TO DRAW STRONG OPPOSITION FROM LIBERAL PARTY LEADERS TODAY AS THE GREEK PARLIAMENT WAS CONVOKED FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 10 YEARS.

THE DATE WAS FIXED BY THE CABINET YESTERDAY AFTER IT HAD RECEIVED FROM KING GEORGE II, NOW IN EXILE IN LONDON, A FAVORABLE REPLY ON THE PLEBISCITE PROPOSAL.

THE LIBERALS, HEADED BY FORMER PREMIER THEMISTOKLES SOPHOULIS, HAVE CONTENDED THAT THE PLEBISCITE SHOULD BE DELAYED UNTIL THE ELECTIONS LISTS CAN BE REVISED AND THE PEOPLE ASSURED OF "FREE VOTING."

EXTREME LEFTWING ELEMENTS WHICH BOYCOTTED THE MARCH 31 GENERAL ELECTIONS, ALSO HAVE URGED DELAY.

PARLIAMENT, HOWEVER, IS CONTROLLED BY THE POPULIST PARTY, HEADED BY PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS, WHICH EMERGED FROM THE ELECTIONS AS THE MOST POWERFUL PARTY IN GREECE. THE POPULISTS HAVE STRONGLY FAVORED AN EARLY PLEBISCITE.

IN ADDITION TO THE PLEBISCITE ISSUE, THE NEW PARLIAMENT WILL TACKLE THE VITAL PROBLEMS OF RECONSTRUCTION, STABILIZING THE NATIONAL ECONOMY, CLARIFYING NATIONAL ASPIRATIONS AND ADOPTING A POLICY TOWARD PEACE SETTLEMENTS.

SIMLA, INDIA, MAY 13-(AP)-THE BRITISH CABINET MISSION, ADMITTING FAILURE OF AN EIGHT-DAY CONFERENCE WITH MOSLEM AND HINDU LEADERS ON INDEPENDENCE FOR INDIA, MADE IT PLAIN TODAY THAT IT STILL HAD HOPES OF SOLVING THE INDIAN PROBLEM.

THE CONFERENCE ENDED IN COMPLETE BREAKDOWN YESTERDAY, THUS DEALING A SEVERE BLOW TO THE HOPES OF THOSE WHO HAD EXPECTED A QUICK TRANSITION FROM BRITISH CONTROL TO INDIAN SELF-GOVERNMENT.

TWO COMMUNIQUES ISSUED AFTER THE BREAKDOWN--ONE JOINTLY BY THE CABINET MISSION, THE MOSLEM LEAGUE AND THE CONGRESS PARTY; THE OTHER BY THE CABINET MISSION ALONE--GAVE NO REASON FOR COLLAPSE OF THE NEGOTIATIONS.

IT SEEMED APPARENT, HOWEVER, THAT THE CONFERENCE HAD FOUNDERED ON DEMANDS OF THE MOSELM LEAGUE FOR AN INDEPENDENT MOSLEM STATE (PAKISTAN) THESE DEMANDS HAVE BEEN BITTERLY OPPOSED BY THE CONGRESS PARTY, WHICH FAVORS AN INDIA UNIFIED AT LEAST INSOFAR AS FOREIGN AFFAIRS, DEFENSE AND COMMUNICATIONS ARE CONCERNED.

THE COMMUNIQUE BY THE MISSION SAID THE CONFERENCE HAD NOT "LED TO ANY AGREED PLAN BETWEEN THE LEADERS OF THE CONGRESS AND THE MOSLEM LEAGUE."

IT ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT THE BREAKDOWN "DOES NOT IN ANY WAY BRING TO AN END THE MISSION WITH WHICH WE WERE CHARGED BY HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT AND THE BRITISH PEOPLE."

THE STATEMENT ADDED THAT THE MISSION AND THE VICEROY, LORD WAVELL, WOULD GO TO DELHI TOMORROW AND WOULD ISSUE A STATEMENT IN A FEW DAYS ON "THE NEXT STEPS TO BE TAKEN."

THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE BY THE MISSION AND THE TWO INDIAN FACTIONS SAID THAT THE CONFERENCE HAD CONCLUDED THAT "NO USE WOULD BE SERVED BY FURTHER DISCUSSIONS AND THAT THEREFORE THE CONFERENCE SHOULD BE BROUGHT TO A CONCLUSION. THE CABINET MISSION DESIRES TO EMPHASIZE THE FACT THAT NO BLAME CAN BE PLACED ON EITHER PARTY FOR THE BREAKDOWN X X X."

EVEN A FACE-TO-FACE TALK BETWEEN M.A.JINNAH, MOSELM LEAGUE PRESI-

DENT, AND JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, PRESIDENT-ELECT OF THE CONGRESS PARTY, FAILED TO SAVE THE CONFERENCE.

THE NEGOTIATORS HAD COME TO SIMLA FROM NEW DELHI TO ESCAPE THE SPRING HEAT, AND HAD BEEN MEETING IN A LODGE OF LORD WAVELL, ON A HIGH HILL OVERLOOKING THE CITY.

NEHRU WAS THE LAST OF THE CONGRESS DELEGATION TO LEAVE THE LODGE LAST NIGHT. HE PAUSED LONG ENOUGH TO TELL NEWSMEN THAT "THE NEGOTIATIONS GO ON FOREVER, BUT THIS PARTICULAR CONFERENCE IS ENDED."

APPROXIMATELY 500 PERSONS WERE WAITING FOR HIM AT HIS QUARTERS.

"IT IS NOT BY CURSING OR BLAMING THE MISSION OR THE MOSELM LEAGUE THAT YOU CAN WIN YOUR OBJECTIVE," HE TOLD THEM. "IT IS BY SILENTLY PREPARING TO SHOULDER YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES THAT YOU WILL HELP THE CAUSE OF INDIAN FREEDOM."

IN NEW DELHI, DR. N.B.KHARE, COMMONWEALTH MEMBER OF THE VICEROY'S EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, TERMED FAILURE OF THE CONFERENCE "DISHEARTENING BUT NOT UNEXPECTED."

HE PROPOSED IN A STATEMENT THAT, IF ALL FURTHER STEPS FAIL, BRITAIN IMPOSE UPON INDIA A FEDERAL CONSTITUTION ENACTED BY PARLIAMENT IN 1935 BUT HELD IN ABEYANCE SINCE THAT TIME.

MAY 15 1946

THE BRITISH PEOPLE SHOULD NOT FIGHT SHY OF IMPOSING A CONSTITUTION "PROVIDING IT IS JUST AND FAIR TO ALL COMMUNITIES WITH ADEQUATE AND REASONABLE SAFEGUARDS TO MINORITIES, BUT PROVIDED ALSO THAT RIGHTS OF MAJORITIES ARE NOT ASSAILED," KHARE SAID.

CALCUTTA, MAY 13-(AP)-THE PRO-BRITISH NEWSPAPER, STATESMAN, COMMENTING EDITORIALLY TODAY ON THE BREAK-DOWN OF THE SIMLA CONFERENCE SAID "DESPITE THE SOOTHING STATESMANLIKE WORDS ISSUED ON BEHALF OF THE PARTICIPANTS IN THE CONFERENCE... AND THE COMMENDABLE REFUSAL TO APPORTION BLAME, ANY VIEW OF WHAT HAS OCCURRED BUT A VERY GRAVE ONE WOULD BE FOLLY."

DECLARING THAT "SUNDAY'S BREAKDOWN DOES NOT IN ANY WAY BRING THE CABINET MISSION TO AN END," THE PAPER WENT ON TO SAY THAT "THE SCOPE PERHAPS REMAINS FOR POSITIVE BRITISH STATESMANSHIP TO HELP GREATLY TOWARD ENABLING THE AFFAIR OF A COUNTRY OF 400,000,000 TO BE AMICABLY CONDUCTED UNTIL ITS TWO MAJOR POLITICAL GROUPS CAN BE BROUGHT TOGETHER AGAIN."

THE HINDUSTAN PRO-CONGRESS PUBLICATION COMMENTED THAT IT WAS NOT "SORRY FOR ITS (THE CONFERENCE) FAILURE" BECAUSE "WE HAVE ALL ALONG FELT IT COULD SUCCEED ONLY AT THE COST OF CONGRESS AND COUNTRY."

THE BROADCAST WAS MONITORED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS STATION IN TOKYO.

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15-(AP)-A COMMUNIST LED GROUP OF TOKYO MEN AND WOMEN TODAY DEMANDED CONTROL OVER IMPERIAL FAMILY FOODSTUFFS. THEY HAD FAILED YESTERDAY TO OBTAIN AN IMPERIAL REPLY TO THEIR DEMAND FOR FOOD FOR THEMSELVES.

LEADERS SAID THEY WOULD RETURN TO THE PALACE GROUNDS NEXT SUNDAY SEEKING ANSWERS TO THEIR DEMANDS. THEY ALREADY HAVE STAGED TWO RED-BANNERED MARCHES INTO THE IMPERIAL COMPOUND, AND SOME OBSERVERS SAID THE INSTRUSIONS MIGHT PROVOKE REACTIONARY REPRISALS.

A COMMITTEE OF FIVE, INCLUDING COMMUNIST PARTY OFFICIAL EICHI IWATA, HAGGLED FOR FIVE HOURS YESTERDAY WITH HOUSEHOLD MINISTRY OFFICIALS. THE TOKYO PRESS SAID THAT WHEN THEY RETURNED FROM THE PALACE COMPOUND WITH A "NO PROGRESS" REPORT, THEIR WAITING FOLLOWERS PASSED A RESOLUTION DEMANDING RELEASE OF FOOD STOCKS OF THE IMPERIAL COURT, TO COMPENSATE FOR THE FAILURE OF MUNICIPAL RATIONING. CONTROL OF ALL FOOD WITHIN THE PALACE SHOULD BE SHIFTED TO THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE, THE RESOLUTION INSISTED.

IT ALSO DEMANDED PUBLICATION OF THE IMPERIAL PALACE MENUS AND--AS ITS FINAL ITEM--"ESTABLISHMENT OF A DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT."

HUNDREDS OF POLICE WERE ON HAND, BUT THERE WERE NO REPORTS OF ANY VIOLENCE. MOST OF THE BYSTANDERS SAID THEY WERE NOT COMMUNISTS BUT "JUST PEOPLE WHO ARE HUNGRY."

LEADERS, HOWEVER, ACKNOWLEDGED THEIR COMMUNIST PARTY AFFILIATION.

TOKYO, TUESDAY, MAY 13-(AP)-THE QUESTION OF WHETHER AUSTRALIANS VIEW EMPEROR HIROHITO AS A WAR CRIMINAL WAS LEFT UNANSWERED BY AUSTRALIAN PRIME MINISTER JOSEPH B. CHIFLEY.

"ANYTHING I MIGHT BE MISCHIEVOUS RATHER THAN HELPFUL," HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY.

CHIFLEY IS HERE TO THANK GENERAL MACARTHUR FOR HIS CONDUCT OF THE PACIFIC CAMPAIGN AND FOR ASSISTANCE GIVEN AUSTRALIA IN REPATRIATING JAPANESE PRISONERS OF WAR. HE PLANS TO VISIT AUSTRALIAN UNITS OF THE OCCUPATION FORCE AT KURE BEFORE LEAVING THERE THURSDAY BY PLANE FOR AUSTRALIA.

MAY 15 1946

THE PRIME MINISTER SAID HIS GOVERNMENT DESIRED THAT "THE DEFENSE OF THE PACIFIC BE CONSIDERED IN AN OVERALL MANNER AND NOT FROM THE VIEW OF ANY ONE PARTICULAR ISLAND." HE ADDED THAT AUSTRALIA HOPES THE UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE ASSOCIATIONS WITH HIS COUNTRY AND NEW ZEALAND IN A "REGIONAL SECURITY AREA," IF NECESSARY.

CHIFLEY SKIRTED A QUERY ON THE AUSTRALIAN VIEW OF THE JAPANESE FOOD SITUATION. HE REPLIED THAT HIS COUNTRY WOULD MEET ALL COMMITMENTS IT POSSIBLY COULD WITHOUT QUESTIONING THE AREAS OR COUNTRIES TO WHICH THE FOOD WAS CONSIGNED.

THE GREATER PART OF AUSTRALIAN GROWN RICE IS BEING SHIPPED OVERSEAS, CHIFLEY REPORTED, BUT AS MUCH WHEAT AS POSSIBLE IS BEING KEPT AT HOME. HOWEVER, HE ADDED THAT AUSTRALIA WAS SENDING SOME 200,000 TONS OF FLOUR TO INDIA.

NEW YORK, MAY 14-(AP)-THE SPANISH REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE SUBMITTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY A 350-PAGE ARRAIGNMENT OF GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO DECLARING THAT HE MENACED WORLD PEACE AND ENCOURAGED ATOMIC BOMB EXPERIMENTS BY GERMANS.

FIVE COPIES OF THE BULKY CHARGES WERE GIVEN TO U.N. SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE IN HIS OFFICE AT HUNTER COLLEGE BY DR. JOSE GIRAL, PREMIER OF THE SPANISH REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE. AFTER A 10-MINUTE TALK WITH THE SECRETARY-GENERAL AND ARKADY SOBOLEV, LIE'S ASSISTANT IN CHARGE OF SECURITY COUNCIL MATTERS, DR. GIRAL TOLD NEWSMEN:

"NOW THE DOCUMENTS ARE IN THE HANDS OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND IT IS UP TO THAT ORGANIZATION TO DECIDE WHAT IS GOING TO BE DONE ABOUT THE SPANISH CASE."

WITH DR. GIRAL ON HIS VISIT TO LIE WERE FERNANDO DE LOS RIOS, FORMER REPUBLICAN FOREIGN MINISTER, AND JOSE ANTONIO AGUIRRE, PRESIDENT OF THE BASQUE REPUBLIC IN EXILE. GIRAL BROUGHT THE DOCUMENTS WITH HIM FROM PARIS LAST WEEK-END.

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE CONTENTS BUT INFORMED SPANISH REPUBLICANS SAID THE HIGH POINTS WERE ALLEGATIONS THAT FRANCO WAS A MENACE TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY; THAT GERMAN SCIENTISTS WERE EXPERIMENTING ON ATOMIC FISSURE IN GRANADA AND MURCIA PROVINCES WITH THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT, AND THAT GERMAN GASTAPO AGENTS WERE OPERATING IN SPAIN.

THESE CHARGES FOLLOWED THE LINE LAID DOWN BY THE POLISH DELEGATE, DR. OSCAR LANGE, APRIL 17. HE BROUGHT UP THE FRANCO CASE IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND DEMANDED A COMPLETE BREAK WITH SPAIN BY THE UNITED NATIONS.

UNITED NATIONS OFFICIALS SAID THE DOCUMENTS PROBABLY WOULD BE MADE PUBLIC ONCE THEY ARE THOROUGHLY STUDIED BY THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL SUB-COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING SPAIN.

MEANWHILE, THE SECURITY COUNCIL COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS TOLD NEWSMEN IT HAD AGREED UPON A RULE WHICH WOULD ALLOW THE COUNCIL TO GO INTO EXECUTIVE SESSION AT ANY TIME.

MAY 15 1946

THERE HAS BEEN NO SET RULE EITHER WAY, BUT THE COUNCIL ESTABLISHED PRECEDENT BY MEETING IN SECRET ON THE RUSSIAN-IRANIAN CASE. AT THAT TIME THE AUSTRLIAN DELEGATION PROTESTED.

THE RULE MUST COME BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL. THERE ARE REPORTS IT WILL BE CALLED THURSDAY TO TAKE UP THE COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS REPORT AND A RESOLUTION BY THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION PROPOSING THAT THE COUNCIL NOT ACT ON REQUESTS FOR U.N. MEMBERSHIP UNTIL A SUB-COMMITTEE HAS STUDIED QUALIFICATIONS AND PROCEDURE.

THE UNITED STATES RESOLUTION WOULD HAVE THE EFFECT OF HOLDING UP ACTION ON ADMITTING ALBANIA. YUGOSLAVIA IS SPONSORING ALBANIA AND RUSSIA FAVORS THE APPLICATION.

THE COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS TOOK NO ACTION ON THE CONTROVERSIAL QUESTION OF THE VETO, WHICH THE AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE, PAUL HASLUCK, HAS SAID MUST BE DECIDED BY COMPETENT AUTHORITY IF THE COUNCIL IS TO FUNCTION EFFECTIVELY.

ON THE PROBLEM OF A DELEGATE ABSENTING HIMSELF FROM COUNCIL SESSIONS, DR. SABA SAID THAT, "BECAUSE OF THE DIFFICULTIES OF THE QUESTION AS TO WHAT CONSTITUTES A QUORUM, WE WILL RETURN TO IT LATER."

THE QUESTION HAS ARISEN BECAUSE OF THE ABSENCE OF THE SOVIET DELEGATE, ANDREI A. GROMYKO, FROM DISCUSSIONS OF THE RUSSIAN-IRANIAN CASE.

THE COMMITTEE ALSO DECIDED THAT AN APPLICANT FOR UNITED NATIONS MEMBERSHIP SHOULD BE REQUIRED TO SIGN A DOCUMENT AFFIRMING ITS INTENTION OF CONFORMING WITH ALL THE PRINCIPLES OF THE ORGANIZATION. THE BID THEN WOULD BE REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL FOR STUDY AND RECOMMENDATION TO THE COUNCIL WHICH WOULD DECIDE WHETHER THE APPLICANT WAS A "PEACE LOVING STATE."

(WX)-ON BOARD USS FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT IN THE CARIBBEAN, MAY 13-(AP)-NEW CARRIER TACTICS MAY BE DEVELOPED AND OLD ONES ARE LIKELY TO BE MODIFIED AS A RESULT OF EIGHTH FLEET EXPERIENCES DURING CURRENT TRAINING MANEUVERS.

CAPTAIN CHARLES D.GRIFFIN, FLEET OPERATIONS OFFICER, SAID TODAY THAT TACTICS USED IN THE PACIFIC ARE NEW IN THE ATLANTIC AND SINCE CONDITIONS VARY IN THE TWO OCEANS, THE FLEET STAFF WILL PREPARE A REPORT WITH RECOMMENDATIONS FOR MODIFICATION OF TACTICS TO FIT THEM TO THE SITUATION.

NEW METHODS OF FIGHTING WITH CARRIERS MUST WAIT "UNTIL A CHANGE IS INDICATED" BUT VARIATIONS ARE LIKELY, GRIFFIN SAID.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS ALSO WILL BE CHANGED, BUT ONLY PARTLY DUE TO EXPERIENCES DURING THIS MANEUVER.

ONE CHANGE IN THIS CLASS OF CARRIER, RATED AT 45,000 TONS, WILL BE IN THE BOW. THE SIDES OF THE FORWARD SECTION WILL BE MADE HIGHER ON THE CORAL SEA, NOW NEARING COMPLETION AT NORFOLK, TO AVOID SOME OF THE WATER DAMAGE INFLICTED ON THE MIDWAY DURING AN ARCTIC STORM ON "OPERATION FROSTBITE".

SOME LESS IMPORTANT CHANGES SUCH AS RELOCATION OF LIFE RAFT STATIONS, WILL BE MADE IN THE CORAL SEA AS A RESULT OF THE MIDWAY'S EXPERIENCE. HANGAR DECK DOORS WILL BE MODIFIED TO STRENGTHEN THEM AGAINST THE POUNDING OF HIGH SEAS.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN THIS CLASS WILL BE MODIFICATION OF THE ISLAND -- THE RAISED PORTION ON THE STARBOARD SIDE OF THE FLIGHT DECK WHICH HOUSES THE PRIMARY CONTROL CENTERS OF THE SHIP -- SO THAT THE ADMIRAL'S BRIDGE (KNOWN AS THE FLAG BRIDGE) WILL BE LOCATED AT THE FORWARD PART OF THE ISLAND JUST BELOW THE NAVIGATING BRIDGE AS IT IS ON THE ESSEX CLASS CARRIER.

THE NAVIGATING BRIDGE IS THE SHIP CAPTAIN'S HEADQUARTERS. AS THE MIDWAY CLASS IS ARRANGED, THE TACTICAL CONTROL CENTER FOR THE FLAG -- THE ADMIRAL IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ENTIRE TASK FORCE WHILE THE CAPTAIN COMMANDS THE SHIP -- IS SEPARATED FROM THE FLAG BRIDGE.

THE FORTHCOMING MODIFICATION WILL PUT THE FLAG BRIDGE AND FLAG PLOT, AS THE CONTROL CENTER IS CALLED, TOGETHER INSTEAD OF REQUIRING THEM TO DO BUSINESS THROUGH A COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM.

THE EIGHTH FLEET STEAMED EASTWARD TODAY TOWARD A RENDEZVOUS NEAR PUERTO RICO WITH ITS SUPPLY SHIPS FOR REPLENISHMENT AT SEA. DURING THE DAY, ADMIRAL MARC MITSCHER, COMMANDING THE EIGHTH FLEET, ORDERED REHEARSALS OF THE CARRIER'S ROLE IN THE AMPHIBIOUS LANDING OPERATION SCHEDULED FOR THE LAST FOUR DAYS OF THE WEEK.

DURING THE INITIAL GUNNERY PRACTICE YESTERDAY, THE FIVE-INCH BATTERIES DAMAGED A RADIO-CONTROL LED FIGHTER PLANE KNOWN AS A GHOST HELLCAT SO THAT IT SPUN INTO THE SEA OUT OF CONTROL WHILE ITS MOTHER PLANE WAS GUIDING IT BACK TO THE FIELD AT GUANTANAMO HARBOR.

THIS WAS UNUSUAL BECAUSE THE SHELLS FIRED AGAINST THE DRONES CARRY ONLY A VERY LIGHT EXPLOSIVE CHARGE TO PROTECT THE TARGET PLANE FROM DAMAGE. THE IDEA IS MERELY TO SHOW BY THE BURST HOW CLOSE THE GUNNERS ARE GETTING.

THE ROOSEVELT AND THE MIDWAY CARRY A NEW TYPE FIVE-INCH GUN WHICH FIRES A CONSIDERABLY LARGER SHELL AT GREATER RANGE AND MUCH MORE ACCURATELY THAN THE OLDER FIVE INCHES. THE NEW GUN HAS A BARREL 270 INCHES LONG COMPARED WITH 190 INCHES FOR THE OLDER TYPE.

German Peace Parley Nov. 12 Proposed By Byrnes

Paris, May 15 (AP)—United States Secretary of State Byrnes proposed to the Foreign Ministers Council today that a peace conference be called November 12 to draft peace treaty for Germany, an American informant said.

In a session completely taken up with discussion of critical German problems, Byrnes proposed that representatives of Britain, Russia, France and the United States start meeting immediately to draw up a treaty draft for Germany which the Foreign Ministers could present to the peace conference, the informant said.

Economic Report Favored

Byrnes was reported to have proposed that the Foreign Ministers' representatives first report on the economic status of Germany to the Foreign Ministers Council at its next meeting, possibly June 15.

Byrnes's three colleagues, the Foreign Ministers of Russia, France and Britain, said they wanted to study the proposal before committing themselves.

French Demand Presented

The three-hour meeting today began with French Foreign Minister Bidault presenting France's demand for complete separation of the Ruhr and Rhineland from Germany and for French control of the Saar.

Referring to the number of times France has had to fight Germany, Bidault said economic measures to control these territories were not enough, that there must be political separation.

Sources close to the Russian delegation predicted today that Foreign Minister Molotov would agree to a United States proposal for a 21-nation peace conference in July following another four-power conference in June.

These sources expressed the belief that while Molotov would accede to three of the four suggestions made by Byrnes last night he definitely would not agree to place the Austrian treaty on the agenda for a suggested June 15 session.

It appeared, meanwhile, that the present conference might end tomorrow without basic agreement on peace treaties. President Truman's personal plane was reported on its way to Paris to take the United States delegation home.

Byrnes's Proposals

Byrnes proposed, in a formal statement last night, that the Ministers frankly recognize the differences that exist in drafting peace treaties, and that they adjourn until June 15, trying in the meantime to reconcile the differences.

He also proposed that the Ministers convoke the 21-nation peace conference either for July 1 or July 15 but added that if the date is not set now, it should be fixed at the June 15 meeting. He asked for immediate signature of a liberalized armistice for Italy—already agreed to in principle—and for the addition of Austria to the agenda.

The British and French delegations immediately concurred with Byrnes's program, but the Russian delegation sought time before giving an answer.

'BIG FOUR' PARLEY TO ADJOURN TODAY

Foreign Ministers, Deadlocked Now, Will Meet Again June 15.

PARIS, May 15 — (AP) The foreign ministers of the four major Allied powers agreed tonight to meet again June 15 and probably will adjourn their current deadlocked conference tomorrow.

In deciding on the month-long adjournment, the ministers also accepted a proposal by U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to attempt in the interim to work out their present disagreements.

Byrnes Discouraged

Byrnes, reported by his associates as "very discouraged" over the results of this conference, lost in his attempt to have the foreign ministers set a definite date now for the European peace conference and to have the Austrian treaty included on the conference agenda. Russia objected to both, the America informants said.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and the others agreed, however, to revise the terms of the Italian armistice. This was agreed to in principle less than two weeks ago and Byrnes suggested last night that the four powers sign the revision.

Byrnes at a conference session this morning proposed that American, British, Russian and French representatives begin immediately to draft terms for a German treaty to be presented to a peace conference on Germany next Nov. 12, American sources said, but no action was taken on this immediately.

Will Leave Friday

His associates said Byrnes would leave Friday morning for Washington aboard a C-54 plane.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R.-Mich.) minority leader of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, told the Associated Press after tonight's session:

"I will not come back to Paris for the June 15 meeting."

Asked who would represent the Republican party at the next foreign ministers session, Vandenberg replied, "as the Russians would say, we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Vandenberg and Senator Tom Connally, (D.-Tex.), majority leader of the Foreign Relations committee, attended this conference as advisers to Byrnes.

Molotov, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Bevin were said to have asked time to study Byrnes' proposal for a German peace conference, and it was expected the matter would discussed further tomorrow.

Agree on Recess

American sources said there was immediate and complete agreement among the four powers on recessing the present meetings to June 15. The Russians, however, continued to object to setting any peace conference date as long as the major powers were not in agreement on the treaty drafts.

Byrnes said the foreign ministers would give the world a bad impression if they failed to set a date for a peace conference. According to British informants, he added:

"We didn't hesitate to ask for assistance from other nations during the war, and we shouldn't hesitate to ask their views now."

Replying to Soviet arguments that 21 nations would not be able to agree on treaties if the four foreign ministers were unable to achieve an accord, Byrnes said the other nations should be invited to contribute their opinions on treaties and not merely be asked to ratify texts.

Molotov, according to British quarters, objected that this procedure would be contrary to decisions taken at the Moscow foreign ministers' meeting last December, and said that while the Soviet Union attached importance to the views of other nations the four powers had to agree among themselves on the texts first.

Molotov Protests

The ministers clashed again on Byrnes' proposal to add Austria to the council agenda, with Molotov protesting that Austria was not included in the procedure established at the big-three meeting at Potsdam.

Bevin, disagreeing with Byrnes' proposal to have the deputies of the foreign ministers draft a proposed treaty with Austria for the June 15 session, suggested instead that the ministers exchange views on the subject through normal diplomatic channels. Byrnes and Bidault agreed, but Molotov protested that the Russian delegation did not have time to work on the Austrian draft in the month before June 15.

Bevin, according to British sources, appealed to the Russian minister to accede to world opinion. The world, the British foreign secretary said, would not understand further delays when it was important to clear the Danube area of Allied troops, return nations to normal, and reopen peacetime commercial channels. Bevin said Britain, working through diplomatic channels between now and June 15, would press to have Austria added to the agenda for the forthcoming meeting.

American informants said the conference approved British and Russian motions to add two Balkan frontier claims to the June agenda. Both were referred to the deputies for interim study. They were Greek claims to sections of Epirus along the Albanian frontier and Czechoslovak claims against Hungary. Bevin propcsed addin the Greek case and Molotc brought up the Czechoslovz claims.

Byrnes' proposal that American, Russian, British and French representatives begin immediately to draft terms for a German treaty was made in a session devoted to German problems. France repeated her demands for severance of the Ruhr and Rhineland and for French control of the Saar. The discussion also brought a clash between Bevin and Molotov on British occupation policies in the Ruhr.

PLANE FOR BYRNES TO FLY TO PARIS

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—The White House said today that a C-54 plane—not the Sacred Cow, however—will be sent to Paris today or tomorrow to bring home delegates from the four-Power conference.

Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said, however, that the dispatching of the plane "does not mean an immediate adjournment of the conference." It is to be held in readiness for Secretary Byrnes and his party whenever it is needed.

Ross said the presidential plane, commonly known as the Sacred Cow, will be used by the President himself when he travels this week end to Liberty, Mo., where he will receive a degree on Monday from William Jewell College.

Libyan Cables Protest.

Cairo, May 15 (A. P.).—Sayed Mohamed Idris-as-Senussi, leader of the Senussi tribes of Libya, cabled a protest to the Foreign Ministers' Conference in Paris today against proposals to place Tripolitania under an Italian trusteeship.

Exiled by the Italians to Egypt twenty-five years ago, he said the Italians tortured Libyans who fought for liberty, and added: "I demand for Tripolitania a free plebiscite according to the United Nations charter. Anything short of this will be considered usurpation of Libyan rights and a gross injustice."

Thus f 942 dependents of occupation soldiers and civilian workers have arrived in Germany. Nearly half the new arrivals are children.

SAYS NAZIS FACED ATTACK BY POLAND

Nuernberg, May 15 (A. P.).—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, who guided the reconstruction of the German Navy, opened his defense before the International Military Tribunal today by testifying that before the last war Germany "faced an attack by Poland on East Prussia and our efforts therefore were aimed at organizing to oppose such an invasion."

He rebuilt the navy "within the framework of the Versailles Treaty," he declared, and emphasized that all his work was subject to the approval of President von Hindenberg and, later, Adolf Hitler. He said the German navy had men "who were respected at home and abroad because they fought in an exemplary manner and participated in no atrocities."

Raeder's counsel, introducing more than 600 pages of documents, attempted to show that Raeder not only had observed the Versailles terms, but had built less ships than the treaty allowed. The documents purported to show that Germany built three armored battleships instead of eight permitted by the treaty; six of eight cruisers and 12 of 32 destroyers.

Before Hitler's accession to power, Raeder said, the Reichstag was not inclined to approve any larger program and "we had to fight for the ships we got."

The 70-year-old admiral was commander-in-chief of the German navy at the outset of World War II.

Raeder was succeedeed in command of the navy on January 30, 1943, by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, whose defense has just been concluded.

Shots Fired at German Train Carrying Wives of U. S. Troops

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 15.—(AP) Two shots were fired last night at a trainload of American women and children on their way to join U. S. occupation soldiers in Germany, the Army announced tonight. No one was injured.

The Army, which kept the incident secret for 23 hours, said the shots struck an upper compartment of the train, which was en route from Bremerhaven to Frankfurt. The names of the occupants of the compartment were not disclosed.

Army authorities began an immediate investigation.

This was the first reported attack on dependents of American soldiers. The fatal shooting last Friday of two U. S. soldiers near Nuernberg still is under investigation by military authorities.

The Army's intelligence branch said the shots were fired at 9:44 p. m., as the train was approaching Bad Nauheim, about 30 miles north of Frankfurt. The bullets came from the right side of the train, the officers said.

Bicycle tracks were found leading from a mound, behind which intelligence officers believe the attacker may have been hiding.

The dependents arrived yesterday aboard the transport ship Henry Gibbons, third vessel to arrive in Germany with American families.

MURDER OF 200 YANKS REVEALED

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—Evidence that approximately 200 American prisoners of war were murdered by Nazis in a hitherto unrecorded incident of the 1944 battle of the bulge was reported today by Army officials. Members of the Civil Affairs Division, War Crimes Branch, said the Americans were slain December 23, 1944, at Le Gleize, Belgium. This was ten miles west of Malmedy, where 115 American soldier-prisoners were massacred six days earlier.

Officials said evidence of the newly discovered war crimes was uncovered during preparations for the trial of seventy-four wehrmacht veterans at Dachau, Germany, for the Malmedy slayings. Some of the evidence resulted from work of American graves registration companies searching for the bodies of American soldiers who were killed when the Nazis smashed through the ardennes in a vain attempt to break Allied lines.

They are Frank Stanley, editor of the Louisville Defender and president of the association, Downdall Davis of the Kansas City Call and William Walker, editor of the Cleveland Call and Post.

Guests of the War Department, they toured the city then were dinner guests at the Berlin Press Club. Tomorrow they will leave for Mannheim, later visiting the war crimes trial at Nuernberg, Munich, Vienna and Rome.

Gen. Dietrich in Dock

DACHAU, Germany, May 15 (AP).—S. S. (Elite Guard) Colonel General Sepp Dietrich and seventy-three of his subordinates will go on trial here tomorrow on charges of slaughtering hundreds of American prisoners in the Battle of the Bulge.

A war crimes court of eight American generals and colonels will hear evidence of "the killing, shooting, ill treatment, abuse and torture" of unarmed Americans after their capture by Dietrich's sixth S. S. Panzer Army.

SOVIET KEEPS KALTENBACH

American Efforts to Extradite Broadcaster Are Fruitless

BERLIN, May 15 (AP)—A high intelligence officer said today that American authorities had "practically given up hope" of obtaining delivery from the Russians of Fred W. Kaltenbach, of Waterloo, Iowa, wanted for treason for broadcasting for the Germans during the war.

The officer said that repeated American requests during the last eight months for the custody of Kaltenbach were unsuccessful "and now they are just ignoring our letters." The officer said that he had been making his requests to the chief of the Russian Secret Police (NKVD) in Berlin.

Kaltenbach's wife, who still lives in Berlin, and other witnesses said the Russians arrested the broadcaster last July 14.

Three Negro Editors Touring War Sectors

JEWS CELEBRATE

Frankfurt, May 15 (A. P.).—Thousands of Jews throughout Germany today celebrated with festivals and meetings their liberation from Nazi persecution. The new "Anniversary of Liberation" was observed as a holiday by all German Jewish congregations and by Jews in displaced persons' camps.

Rahn said he had emphasized that the "legitimate requirements" of Field-Marshal Kesselring's army must be safeguarded, that senseless inflation must be stopped and that, since Mussolini had only about four divisions of his own, though he claimed 700,000 troops on paper, the Italian armament industry must be turned over completely to German control.

Mussolini, knowing that the banks in northern Italy already were occupied by German troops, agreed to place seven billion lire a month at Rahn's disposal through the Bank of Italy. For this, Rahn undertook that the Germans would keep rigorous order and help to strengthen Mussolini's hand.

Red Writer Scores U. S. in Iceland

Moscow, May 15 (A. P.).—P. Rysakov, a Red Star writer, charged today that published comment in the United States showed some Americans wanted to keep permanent military bases in Iceland as part of a program to dominate Europe. Rysakov said that newspapers in Denmark, Sweden and Norway had declared "many times that retention of American military forces in Iceland contradicts the wishes of the Icelandic people and violates their sovereignty, no matter on what motives it is based."

Says Duce Paid for Protection

Nazi Diplomat Reveals Mussolini Turned Over 7 Billion Lire a Month After Capture.

Asperg, Germany, May 15 (A. P.).—Benito Mussolini paid "protection money" at the rate of seven billion lire a month to Adolf Hitler after his rescue by Nazi paratroopers, on the word of Rudolf Hermann Rahn, who was German Ambassador in Rome at the time of Italy's armistice.

This 46-year-old, bushy-browed diplomat, a member of the party since 1933 though he now claims he always tried to use his "sobering liberal influence" against his fellow-Nazis, is interned in the moated mountain citadel of Hohen-Asperg with other Nazi diplomats from Italy and Portugal and Spain.

He told how he went to see Mussolini after the Fascist leader's rescue from atop Gran Sasso mountain in the Abruzzo, and asked him on orders from Berlin what he now proposed to do to help secure order behind the German lines.

Moscow, May 15 (AP)—Izvestia and other Russian newspapers published today a Tass dispatch headlined "Newspapers in Buenos Aires Demand Establishment of Diplomatic Relations Between Argentina and the Soviet Union."

DEMOBILIZED REDS ARRIVE IN MOSCOW

Moscow, May 15 (A. P.).—The vanguard of several million Red Army men who will be demobilized between now and September have begun to arrive in Moscow and other large cities of the Soviet Union. Special food ration bureaus, clothing stations and employment agencies have been set up to take care of the new arrivals.

Privates and non-commissioned officers in six age classes are being returned to civilian life under the demobilization decree, which was adopted March 20 last. It was the third such demobilization ordered since the end of the war in Europe, affecting in all a total of twenty-nine age groups.

Russian transportation officials announced today that extra trains would be placed tonight on all lines under a new summer schedule. All wartime travel restrictions will be lifted June 1. Before the war, Russians could travel freely within the Soviet Union. During the war, travel passes were required.

Poles Raid Peasant Party

Security Police Step Up Drive on "Fascist Elements"

WARSAW, May 15 (AP).—Security police raided district organizations of Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Peasant party today as the government stepped up its drive to rid Poland of what it described as anti-democratic Fascist elements.

Reports from Krakow said that 8,000 university students had boycoted classes in protest against the arrest of more than 1,000 classmates after demonstrations in which they shouted "Long live Mikolajczyk." The demonstrators, reports said, were dispersed by militia men and security police, aided by three armored cars.

CHURCH FREEDOM URGED

World Council Makes Appeal to Big 4 for Guarantees

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 15 (AP)—The World Council of Churches disclosed today that it had petitioned the Foreign Ministers' conference in Paris to guarantee "real spiritual freedom" to all churches in any peace treaties drawn up.

The Council statement said that leaders of the Protestant churches of Italy were found to be "greatly exercised as to the future of spiritual freedom in their country, especially in view of the situation taken up by most of the political parties in the matter of the concordat between the Church of Rome and the state."

At a recent meeting of international leaders of the World Council, the Italian delegate charged that the Protestant Church program had met interference.

FRANCO SAYS SPAIN CARES FOR ITSELF

Madrid, May 15 (A.P.).—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, defending his regime before a cheering Cortes (Parliament) last night, asserted that Spain's problems were her own and not those of other States.

"I deny that there are any political problems in Spain to be solved," Franco said. "We have solved our political problems with our blood and our effort."

"Great political problems are still being debated in many countries which took part in the great conflict and whose regimes are incapable of solving the urgent difficulties accumulated," Franco added.

"Spain solved and arranged her difficulties seven years ago and . . . is developing through successive stages with rigorous exactitude."

Franco made a veiled reference to the monarchy question when he said his Government, like a building, was erected from the foundation up and that "we will finish this building when we are not pushed from the outside."

Reign Of Terror Said To Rule In Albania

Vatican City, May 15 (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, charged today that a "reign of terror and persecution rules Albania."

The article listed numerous instances of alleged mistreatment of the Catholic clergy. It cited the execution of four seminarists March 5 and sentencing of four others to life imprisonment after what it called "the monstrous fakery" of trial on terrorist charges and the expulsion of the Papal delegate in July, 1945. It said:

"In Albania the most elementary civil and human rights are trampled upon and, under the pretext of 'political action,' the Government has proceeded to the expulsion of missionaries and nuns and breeds real hate for everything religious and especially Catholic."

Magyar Banknote Worth Billion Pengos—It Says

Budapest, May 14 [AP—Delayed]—A single banknote worth 1,000,000,000 pengös went into general circulation today as Hungary's inflation-wrecked currency plunged on in an apparently winning race to equal nothing.

Before the war, when 5 pengös were equal to one United States dollar, this new billion-pengö note—significantly displaying cheaper engraving on cheaper paper than any previous currency—would have been worth $200,000,000.

Today, with the dollar bringing 2,500,000,000 pengös, it is worth less than 50 cents.

Earnings: $1 A Month

The average worker reportedly earns about a dollar a month. The average black market dinner costs about three. But the hardest thing to find in Budapest is a man who lives on his dollar-a-month earnings. Everyone mournfully admits that the dollar-a-month figure is correct, but no one seems able to point out any man who lives on it.

There are undoubtedly suffering people in Hungary but they are not to be seen in Budapest's crowded theaters and opera house, or dining lavishly at Gundel's or quietly and expensively in the Colonial's shadows or noisily the Derby Club.

Nor are they standing lobby of the American Astoria Hotel, holding a sackful of cameras, binoculars and pistols.

No Anti-Inflation Action

The Government still has announced no anti-inflation action. Government circles once threatened to punish all those caught with foreign currency, but nothing ever came of it.

Most Government sources now say the Government does not intend to do anything about inflation until after the peace treaty has been negotiated. One Hungarian financier reiterated his prediction of two months ago that the dollar would be worth 200,000,000,00 pengös by June.

There has, however, been some progress. A new word has been announced officially. It is "milpengö" and means 1,000,000 pengös. It is intended primarily for the use of bookkeepers, who are running off the page to the right, and for the owners of adding machines, who are seeing ciphers in their dreams.

Succession Of Notes

The printing of a 100,000,000-pengö note was announced April 29, with the prediction that the billion-pengö note would be issued within 30 days if inflation was not halted. A 100,000-pengö note was withdrawn at that time because its printing cost more than the note was worth.

British to Publish India Plan Tomorrow

New Delhi, May 15 (A. P.).—The British Cabinet delegation said today that its "Plan for India" would be released tomorrow both here and in London. Prime Minister Attlee will disclose the independence plan to Parliament. Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India, and Field Marshal Lord Wavell, the Viceroy, will broadcast over the All-India radio.

The Central Government yesterday reaffirmed that it was determined to avoid civil war and Pishevari in his broadcast described Qavam as a "wise and patriotic man," adding "he knows our strength."

Pishevari blamed the breakdown of Azerbaijan-Central Government negotiations on "reactionary elements" in the Tehran Government. He made no reference to any possibility of returning to Tehran for further conversations looking toward Azerbaijan's return to the authority of the Central Government. Qavam earlier said Pishevari had returned to Tabriz only "for new instructions."

Azerbaijan 'Not Afraid'

Premier of Separatists Tells of Iranian Army on Border of Province.

Joseph Goodwin

Tehran, May 15 (A. P.).—Central Iranian Government troops were reported by the Tabriz Radio to have reached the borders of Azerbaijan today, but Premier Jafar Pishevari of the separatist regime in that northern province declared: "We are not afraid of an attack."

Broadcasting from his capital at Tabriz last night, Pishevari asserted that Premier Ahmed Qavam of the Central Government was "aware that our army is made up of fighting men who will not be defeated."

He said any attack by the Central Government troops would constitute a violation of the agreement Qavam made with Russia. Previously an observer returning from Tabriz said troops of the self-proclaimed autonomous regime in Azerbaijan were wearing Russian uniforms and holding warlike maneuvers.

ARABS TO DEMAND PALESTINE ACTION AS CURB ON JEWS

Carter Haydon

JERUSALEM, May 15. — (AP) The Arab Higher committee will demand government dissolution of the Jewish Agency on grounds that it is aiding illegal immigration of Jews into Palestine and "is a source of trouble," Dr. Izzat Tannous, committee secretary, announced tonight.

He said the committee also had decided to lodge a "very strong" protest against Jewish immigration with the high commissioner, Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham.

The committee approved constitution of a new Arab national fund calling for voluntary taxation of Palestine Arabs to raise $800,000 for a campaign against the recommendations of the British-American committee of inquiry, Tannous said.

The recommendations, particularly one urging immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine this year, have aroused violent Arab protests.

(In London, the British government announced it would defer decision on the recommendations until after conferences with the United States and with Jewish and Arab leaders. A statement said Britain took note that the United States also had promised not to act until after consultations with Arab and Jewish leaders.

[In Cairo, the powerful Arab League postponed for four days an extraordinary session originally scheduled for Saturday in Damascus to discuss the joint report. The meeting will be held Wednesday, May 22. The league's secretary general said the reasons for the delay would be announced soon, and added: "I can only say it is in the interests of Palestine."]

Tannous said the Arab Higher Committee had talked over the contemplated protest to Cunningham during a five-hour session and had decided that immigration was "a most sensitive point to Arabs and may cause trouble at any moment."

To Demand Repatriation

The committee further decided to demand repatriation of Arab political prisoners who were exiled from Palestine in the late thirties.

It announced that a committee of two Moslems and three Christians would leave for the Vatican soon to seek Pope Pius XII's support of the Arab cause.

The five are: Amin Abdul Hadi, of the Supreme Moslem Council; Ahmed Raz Abdul Rahmin, also a Moslem, and Nahli Cattan, Youssef Atalla and Dr. Hanna Atalla, all Christians.

Answering a question, Tannous said the Arabs were not planning demonstrations to protest Jewish immigration, but "there is every likelihood that demonstrations may be staged by small groups spontaneously."

"We of the higher committee are decidedly against such manifestations," he said, "because we feel they lead to clashes and set off widespread troubles."

[In a broadcast picked up at New York by NBC, the British radio quoted reports from Tel Aviv as saying that five armed Jews seriousl yinjured a British paratrooper today and escaped.]

London to Confer.

London, May 15 (A. P.).—The British Government announced today that it would defer decision on the Anglo-American Palestine Committee's report until it had conferred with leaders of both Arabs and Jews and consulted with the United States.

"This procedure is in accordance with pledges given by his Majesty's Government when the formation of the committee was announced," the Foreign Office said.

Its statement added that Britain took note that the United States also had promised to defer action until it had consulted Arab and Jewish leaders.

The committee's report, recommending among other things immediate authorization for the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine, has stirred protests throughout the Arab world.

Arabs Postpone Meeting

Cairo, May 15 (AP)—The Arab League's extraordinary session to discuss the Anglo-American Palestine Committee's report, scheduled for Saturday in Damascus, has been postponed until May 22. The reason was not disclosed.

Egypt Supports Arabs.

Cairo, May 15 (A. P.).—Egyptian Foreign Minister Lutfi El Said Pasha told the Chamber of Deputies last night that his Government "and nation denounce the Palestine report and support the Arabs in Palestine."

Speaking at the close of a debate on recommendations of the British-American Inquiry Committe, El Said Pasha said his Government had instructed its diplomatic representatives in Washington and London to explain to the two Governments that "the report has caused tension in all the Middle Eastern States and needs complete rejection." The report recommended that 100,000 European Jews be permitted to enter Palestine.

During the debate, Deputy Hefny El Sherif Bey of the Wafdist opposition party demanded that Egypt bring the Palestine question before the United Nations Security Council.

Meanwhile the Arab League's extraordinary session to discuss the Anglo-American report, scheduled for Saturday in Damascus, has been postponed to May 22. Reasons for the postponement were not disclosed.

PLEAD IN SPY CASE

Ottawa, May 14 (A. P.).—Five Canadians accused of conspiracy to violate the official secrets act in connection with the activities of a Moscow-directed spy ring in Canada have entered pleas of not guilty to the charges before the Ontario Supreme Court.

They were: Capt. Gordon Lunan, 30 years old, Edward W. Mazerall, 30, former National Research Council engineer; James Scotland Eaching, 38, and Harold Emanuel Gerson, 43, former Munitions Department officials; and Matt Simons Nightengale, 40, former R.C.A.F. communications expert.

Two others accused, Eric Adams, Industrial Development Bank official; and F. W. Poland, formerly connected with the Canadian Information Service are scheduled to be arraigned later.

Soviet Delegate Blocks Report Of Human Rights Committee

Mark S. Watson says veto issue may be discussed by Security Council.....Page 14

New York, May 15 (AP)—The Soviet delegate to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, in a clash with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, today blocked approval of the group's final report to the Economic and Social Council.

Alexander Broisov, who took his seat only two days ago, remained adamant in rejecting a recommendation for nongovernmental delegates despite an explanation of the commission's majority views by Mrs. Roosevelt, the chairman.

"This is my opinion and I will stick to it to the end," Broisov said.

After several exchanges, Mrs. Roosevelt adjourned the meeting until tomorrow.

Has Two Objections

The Soviet representative objected specifically to two points:

That all members of the commission should serve as nongovernmental representatives and that United Nations member states, which each would nominate two experts, could nominate a national of another member state if they desired.

In calling for direct governmental representation, he said:

"Under your plan we would have plenty of speeches and documents, but the commission would be unable to secure any action. This would affect implementation of any decisions taken.

"I could nominate a quisling or some such person who brought about the last war."

Regarding nations nominating other than their own citizens, he said, "why resort to such artificiality? We certainly could find two experts in the Soviet."

Mrs. Roosevelt observed that she saw "no danger that any government would nominate a quisling."

Feels Point Is Useful

She said the commission felt that the point of allowing governments to nominate outside their own borders would be useful in case several nations agreed on some outstanding expert.

Broisov retorted that he was sure the commission could always "find enough qualified members."

Before adjourning, Mrs. Roosevelt advised the Russian to "go over it more carefully."

The commission still has to approve finally the methods and details for setting up a subcommission on freedom of information and of the press but early in today's session gave final approval to a recommendation that the Economic and Social Council should consider the appointment of such a subcommission.

U.N. Studies Plan For Secrecy

New York, May 15 (AP)—Security Council members today were studying recommendations from their rules experts that would give the Council ultraprivacy in deliberations at any time and the power to withhold selected "top secret" intelligence from the 40 United Nations not represented in the Council.

The experts' proposals, and a United States resolution whose adoption would block Albania's immediate effort toward membership in the United Nations, come up for debate in the Council tomorrow.

In the new section of 34 rules for adoption by the Council, the committee of experts on procedure proposed that the United Nations' peace-keeping arm should meet privately whenever it desired and also adopt a classification of information along military intelligence lines.

Single Copy Of Record

The proposed rules provide that the Council, in meeting privately, may order the record restricted to a "single copy alone" which would be handed to the United Nations secretary general for safekeeping, but "the Security Council may at any time grant access to this record to authorized representatives of other members of the United Nations."

Council observers widely interpreted this to mean that the Council may—or may not—give information on private evidence and proceedings to any outside the eleven governments represented in the Council and the secretary general.

Earlier Private Meetings

The Council has already met in private under provisional rules.

The committee of experts, anticipating action tomorrow on the United States proposal to defer consideration of any new members for the United Nations until late summer, decided an applicant should be required to sign a document affirming its intentions of conforming with all the principles of United Nations.

Albania is the only current applicant.

PUSH BUTTON PARLEY

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP) A United Nations Security council delegate wishing to speak out in meeting now will push a button.

The U.N. has installed an electrical system on the crescent-shaped council table. A member's push will light a small bulb denoting the member on a panel in front of the chairman.

If the chairman is willing, he will push a button and a bulb in front of the member will give him the go ahead signal.

B-29 Sets Fourth Load-Altitude World Mark

Tokyo, May 15 (AP)—A B-29 piloted by Col. E. D. Reynolds, of Beaumont, Texas, set a new world load-to-altitude record Monday at Guam when it carried a payload of 2,000 kilograms (4,400 pounds) to an altitude of 44,200 feet.

The announcement was made today by headquarters of the Pacific Air Command of the United States Army.

It was the fourth load-altitude record established this month by B-29's of the PACUSA.

Russian Record Broken

The previous record in the 2,000-kilogram load category was established in September, 1936, by Vlatimir Kokkinski, of Russia, at 36,105 feet.

The three other records set at Guam in the PACUSA's marathon project, directed by Col. C. S. Irvine, are:

Capt. Arthur A. Pearson, of Tucson, Ariz., took a B-29 to 39,360 feet with 10,000 kilograms May 8.

Col. Beverly Warren, of Plainview, Texas, piloted the same ship with a 15,000-kilogram load to 37,400 feet May 11.

Two-Way Mark

Warren's flight also smashed the world record for maximum load taken to an altitude of 2,000 meters set by Major C. V. Haynes, who in 1939 took an experimental B-15 to 6,562 feet with 31,162 pounds. Warren's load was about 34,000 pounds.

Headquarters said attempts would be made soon in the 1,000 and 5,000 kilogram classes to complete the project, aimed at improving the peacetime efficiency of B-29's and obtaining for the United States a number of records previously held by other countries.

Reynolds's especially selected crew included Corporal Leonard A. Lentowski, of Baltimore, assistant crew chief.

Jap Plea Forces Court Recess

Tokyo, May 15 (AP)—The international war-crimes tribunal, which is to try ex-Premier Hideki Tojo and other high-ranking Japanese for war crimes, adjourned indefinitely today to study the extensive demands of an American defense attorney for a bill of particulars.

Capt. Samuel J. Kleiman, New York, had asked on behalf of five of the defendants that the prosecution:

Specify the times, places and manner in which the defendants conspired to wage aggressive war.

Supply a list of all witnesses and persons questioned by the prosecution, also all statements, including those of the defendants, on which the 55-count indictment was based.

The tribunal, confronted with such an exhaustive request, first recessed to talk it over privately, then decided to adjourn indefinitely.

Defense attorneys previously had countered charges of murder against defendants for such misdeeds as the sneak Pearl Harbor attack by contending the atomic bomb attacks on two Japanese cities also constituted murder.

Yoshida Approved By Allied Leader

Tokyo, Thursday, May 16 (AP)—A headquarters spokesman said today that General MacArthur has notified the Japanese government he has "no objection" to the appointment of Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida as premier.

The government formally asked MacArthur's opinion as it moved toward a right-wing coalition government, probably under Yoshida.

Diet members meanwhile prepared to meet for the first time today.

Successor To Hatoyama

Yoshida accepted the presidency of the Liberal party, strongest in the Diet—and Premier Kijuro Shidehara was expected to advise the emperor to command him to form a new government.

The previous Liberal party president, Ichiro Hatoyama, was disqualified by General MacArthur on the ground of his past pro-Axis record. Efforts of other parties to form a coalition failed.

Shidehara went to the Imperial Palace after a day-long series of conferences with political leaders, but Takeshige Ishiguro, cabinet minister without portfolio, cautioned that the visit "should not be considered as the informal recommendation of Yoshida as premier."

Ishiguro conceded that "there is no one else" in line for the premiership, but said Yoshida still needed time to consider the Liberal party conditions and also wanted to be sure of the full co-operation of the Progressives.

May Give Shidehara Post

Japanese political observers thought it possible that if Yoshida assumes the premiership he would name Shidehara as Minister of State.

The problem of finding a new premier has deadlocked governmental action for nearly four weeks, since the Shidehara cabinet resigned amid mounting protests over its failure to solve food, housing and other postwar problems. Shidehara has continued in office pending selection of a successor.

The Diet meeting was called primarily to fulfill lega requirements under the present constitution calling for a new session within five months after dissolution of the previous Diet.

It will go through the routine of organizing, and then is expected to recess until the new cabinet can develop a progrem—probably in about three weeks.

open tomorrow the ninetieth extraordinary session.

The Diet must organize tomorrow to comply with the law providing a meeting within five months of the dissolution of the previous Diet. It then is expected to recess until the new Cabinet can develop a program, probably in about three weeks.

Shidehara Reports To Throne

Shidehara was expected to recommend to Emperor Hirohito that Yoshida be commanded to form a new government. The Foreign Minister accepted the Liberal party presidency on the urging of the present Premier.

The problem of finding a Premier has deadlocked governmental action 24 days, since the Shidehara Cabinet resigned under fire for having failed to solve food, housing and other postwar problems.

The same momentous problems, plus the responsibility of approving a new constitution and developing a new budget, when they are presented by the incoming Cabinet, face the neophyte Diet.

Hirohito will not personally open the Diet session, Japanese sources said, but will reserve his appearance for the more formal inaugural ceremony when the legislature is ready to get down to business.

Yoshida, 68, is a career diplomat. He returned to political prominence last October when he was considered seriously for Premier in the postsurrender Cabinet. He declined and was instrumental in obtaining the appointment of Shidehara, his political and diplomatic mentor.

U.S. Delegate Clashes With Red On Propaganda Issue in Tokyo

Atcheson Tells Allied Council This Country Does Not Favor Communism in Japan—Bars Aid to Any Party There.

Tokyo, May 15 (A. P.).—George Atcheson Jr., Gen. MacArthur's political adviser, today told the Allied Council for Japan that a Japanese May Day message placed before it by the Russian member was an attempt to spread communistic propaganda.

The message, addressed separately to the four Council members and to MacArthur, called the Japanese Government "enemies of Democratic revolution" and asked the Allies for co-operation and assistance to achieve freedom. The message was not signed. The Russian delegate, Lieut.-Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, brought the message to the Council with a request to MacArthur for information on the statements made therein.

States U. S. Position

"According to translators, the document was not written in idiomatic Japanese, but rather gives the impression that the original had been drawn up in a foreign language and then translated into Japanese for presentation," said Atcheson, who is the American member and chairman of the Council as well as MacArthur's aid.

"I need not tell you that the United States does not favor Communism in the United States—or Japan," Atcheson continued. "It is my opinion that the efforts of the members of this council should be toward the democratization of Japan and it is not consistent with our clear duty in that respect for any member of the council to give support in public meetings of the council or otherwise to any one Japanese political party."

Atcheson's remarks were made in the course of a verbal battle with Derevyanko on the authenticity of the facts alleged in the message and whether it represented the views of an estimated

Yoshida Appears Likely Next Premier Of Japan

Tokyo, May 15 (AP)—Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who today became president of the Liberal party, appeared tonight to be on the way to the premiership of Japan.

Political leaders conferred on plans for a right-wing Cabinet to succeed that of Premier Shidehara as the new, and mostly untried members of the Diet prepared to 500,000 Japanese who took part in a May Day demonstration here. The discussion was concluded with a Russian request for information at the next meeting May 29, on the inquiry that is being made, Atcheson said, into the allegations set forth in the document. The latter charges suppression of a rice ration protest movement, control of speech on Shikoku Island, perversion of Allied purge directives, and diversion by influential groups of food and other necessities allotted by the Allies to the Japanese Government.

Defines Council's Job.

Earlier today Atcheson told the council that its sole function is to advise MacArthur on the carrying out of policies already agreed upon by the Allies. He was replying then to a Russian demand that council business be conducted in accordance with Paragraph 5 of the Moscow communique that established the council. This states that the Supreme Commander, MacArthur, will "consult and advise with the council in advance of the issuance of orders on matters of substance, exigencies of the situation permitting."

Derevyanko demanded that the advance consultation be seven days. Atcheson held firmly to MacArthur's previously stated stand that forty-eight hours' notice—the current practice—is sufficient.

W. MacMahon Ball, the British member, countered with a proposal that the council be advised when the Supreme Commander is making a study of a topic on which a directive may be forthcoming. Atcheson replied: "It is not intended that the Allied Council should become part of the Headquarters organization."

If the council were familiar with the basic policies of the occupation it could prophesy as well as the American authorities what directives were to be issued, he explained.

"Why guess at directives if headquarters can inform us?" Ball inquired with a thin smile. He was not suggesting that the council be incorporated into headquarters, he continued, but he inquired: "What is the objection to the council's being informed when a staff study is being made?"

U.S., RUSSIA IN JAP CLASH

American In Council Assails Communist Propaganda

Tokyo, May 15 (AP)—Russia and the United States clashed today in the Allied Council and the Soviet member was told "the United States does not favor communism in the United States or Japan."

George Atcheson, Jr., Council chairman and General MacArthur's adviser, took exception to a Japanese May Day message presented to the Council officially by Lieut. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko.

Derevyanko asked supreme headquarters to furnish information on statements in the unsigned message, which styled the Japanese Government "enemies of democratic revolution."

Called Propaganda Attempt

Atcheson spoke up, saying the message was "an attempt to spread communistic propaganda."

"According to translators," he continued, "the document was not written in idiomatic Japanese but rather gives the impression that the original has been drawn up in a foreign language, then translated into Japanese for presentation.

"I do not need to tell you the United States does not favor communism in the United States or Japan."

The veteran United States diplomat declared that it was inconsistent "with our clear duty" for any member of the Council to give open support "to any one Japanese political party."

Points Made In Document

The pertinent statements in the message, purporting to voice the views of 500,000 Japanese participants in a May Day demonstration, included allegations that freedom of speech was being restricted on Shikoku island and that food and other necessities allotted by the Allies to the Japanese government were being diverted by influential groups. It also alleged suppression of a movement protesting the rice ration, and perversion of Allied purge directives.

After Atcheson said an investigation of the allegations already was in progress, the Russian asked for information at the next Council meeting May 29.

Earlier, Atcheson opposed another Russian request for more advance notice of MacArthur's directives along with a compromise offered by W. MacMahon Ball, British Commonwealth member.

Declares 48 Hours Enough

Derevyanko wanted Supreme Headquarters to submit drafts of occupation directives to the Council well in advance of issuance, but Atcheson argued that the present 48 hours notice was enough.

Ball then proposed that headquarters advise the Council when its staff began making a study of the topic on which the next directive would be forthcoming.

Atcheson replied that it was "not intended that the Allied Council should become a part of headquarters," and that if it were familiar with basic policy the Council could tell what orders were coming.

"Why guess at directives?" asked Ball with a faint smile, "if headquarters can inform us."

5 GI's In Japan Hurt As Barracks Burn

Showa Airfield, Japan, May 15 (AP)—Five American soldiers were hospitalized here today for shock and burns after fire swept through their barracks last night.

Several others were treated for minor burns.

Army and Japanese firemen put out the fire after it had forced barracks residents to leap through the windows to escape and had destroyed all personal effects in the building.

National City Bank Has Funds Freed

Tokyo, May 15 (A. P.).—The Tokyo office of the National City Bank of New York was granted permission today by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters to withdraw 200,000 yen (more than $13,000) monthly for May, June and July from its accounts in the Yokohama Specie Bank to meet operating expenses. Permission was necessary due to Japanese Government emergency measures freezing bank accounts.

3 Japs Get 15 Years For Camp Crimes

Yokohama, May 15 (A. P.).—Three former Japanese employees of the Fukuoka war prison camp were convicted today of mistreating American prisoners and sentenced by an Eighth Army tribunal to fifteen years each in prison. They were Yoshiyuki Ikeda, Yoshika Nagi and Tadashi Takano.

First, Catch Your Ostrich

Yokohama, May 15 (AP)—The United States 8th Army today granted GI's permission to take ostriches home as pets. Nobody knows who asked. There aren't any ostriches here.

The army circular also said donkeys can be taken home on Government ships "if free from exposure to epizootic lymphangitis." (No use looking; the dictionary just say's it's a disease caused by Cryptococcus farciminosus.)

Also approved: Dogs, cats, monkeys, swine, some parrots and "domestic wild ruminants." (A ruminant seems to be anything with hoofs and an even number of toes that chews its cud.)

That's as far as the Army will go. Still barred are flying foxes, live insects, birds of Paradise and mongeese. (Or is it mongooses?)

French Cruiser To Japan

Yokosuka, May 15 (AP)—The cruiser Emile Bertin is expected to arrive from Manila today, the first French ship in Japanese waters since the start of the war, with Lieut. Gen. Zinovi Pechkoff and members of his French liaison mission.

Shanghai Moves Clocks Up

Shanghai, May 15 (AP)—Shanghai went on daylight-saving time today and will continue that schedule until September 30.

Jap-Mined Copper Coming to U. S.

Manila, May 15 (A. P.).—Eight thousand tons of copper concentrate mined in northern Luzon by the Japanese during their occupation are bound for San Francisco. The concentrate was prepared for shipment to Japan by the Mitsui Mining Company but never left the islands because of the shipping blockade.

Torture Of Filipino Peasants Is Claimed

Manila, May 15 (AP)—Mass roundups of Hukbalahaps in central Luzon by Filipino military police was reported today by the Manila Evening News, which charged that the peasants were being given the choice of joining the MP organization or going to jail.

Provost Marshal General Federico Oboza denied the charge and scoffed at reports from Cabanatuan that the MP's had imposed an 8 P.M. curfew on the farmers of Nueva Ecija province.

"There is plenty that Oboza doesn't know about what his men are doing in central Luzon," retorted Cipriano Cid, Evening News editor. "I will stick by my reporters. We'll have more to say later about the MP's.

Torture Is Alleged

An Evening News reporter said that the police were seizing and torturing suspected Hukbalahaps.

An old peasant at Aliaga, Nueva Ecija, scene of a clash between police and Huks yesterday, was quoted as saying that the present situation is "worse than when the Hukbalahaps" were in control.

No trace has been found of 200 suspected Huks who raided the town of Balungao, Pangasinan province, and forced officials to hand over $500 of town funds.

5 NAVAL OFFICERS ARE SUSPENDED

Manila, May 15 (A. P.).—Five naval officers, up to the rank of commander, have been suspended from duty at the Subic Bay submarine base pending completion of an investigation of suspected black market activities, Vice-Admiral J. L. Kauffman, Philippine Sea Front commander, announced today.

"Preliminary investigation indicates black market activity involving the illegal use of Government property amounting to a relatively few thousand dollars," Kauffman stated, and added that no charges have been filed against the officers, pending completion of the inquiry.

Kauffman said that earlier reports of diversion of Government property valued at $2,000,000 were a "gross exaggeration." Some erroneous stories had placed the suspected theft ring at the Olongapo naval base instead of at the Subic Bay station.

PAULEY PLANS TO ENTER RED ZONE IN KOREA

Reparations Chief Expects to Be Admitted North of 38th Parallel.

TO SURVEY EX-JAP INDUSTRY

Izvestia Accuses U. S. of Trying to Aid Reactionaries in Recent Talks.

Tokyo, May 15 (A. P.).—Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley said today that he will go to the Russian occupation boundary in Korea, "knock at the door," and expects to be admitted to the Soviet zone although Moscow has failed to answer his request.

"I shall be there physically," Pauley told a press conference. "I don't think I am going to be denied."

Reminded that Moscow never has replied to his October request to visit northern Korea to survey Japanese assets, Pauley said merely: "We expect to go north of 38." The thirty-eighth parallel is the boundary between American and Russian occupation zones. Americans freely have admitted Russian observers in southern Korea, but Russians have permitted very few Americans in their zone.

"Sees No Harm In It."

Asked what Russia could gain by permitting him and his staff to survey former Japanese industry, he remarked "I don't see any harm in it."

"My trip is an exchange of courtesy, such as we are allowing them. I assume that their desire is the same as ours—to continue these relations."

Pauley doubted that members of Lieut.-Gen. John R. Hodges's American occupation staff in southern Korea would accompany his party north "as we are not going in on the basis of wanting a military escort." The Pauley party will fly to Seoul tomorrow and proceed north by automobile or train.

He said "I will discuss the border if I get an opportunity and if it is thought that will advance a solution of the Korean problem." The Russians repeatedly have rejected American suggestions to do away with the occupation boundary.

Forerunner Of Treaty

Pauley told a Japanese questioner that reparations are a forerunner of an ultimate peace treaty and undoubtedly would become a part of treaties when written.

"But peace treaties with Germany and Japan are not on anyone's agenda now and will not be in the next two years," he said. "By that time we intend to be well done with our work."

Commenting on a Washington announcement that the Far Eastern Commission had approved certain reparations removals from Japan, he said these were in accordance with his December 7 report to the President.

He said he expected early action by the commission on the balance of his report, which dealt with machine tools, shipbuilding and certain chemical industries, all classified as war potential.

Izvestia Assails U.S. Korean Plan

Moscow, May 15 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia charged today that American representatives at the recent meeting of the joint Russian-United States Commission for Korea had tried to open a path for reactionaries to capture power over the Korean people.

The meeting broke down after six weeks, it said, because the Americans failed to show an understanding of the meaning of the Korean decisions reached at the Moscow conference of the Foreign Ministers last December.

[Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, United States commander in Korea, has offered to resume the joint commission negotiations, held at Seoul, Korea.]

First Account In Soviet Press

A 3,000-word article signed "B.K." was the first comprehensive account in the Soviet press about the meetings which started March 20.

It said the Americans had proposed calling off the meeting after a deadlock developed over their proposal for ending the Soviet-American zonal demarcation line at the thirty-eighth parallel and of unifying Korea economically.

The Soviet delegation rejected the proposal on grounds that "such a question would have to be raised first and discussed by the Koreans themselves and their provisional government after its formation, and that the joint commission lacks authority to engage in questions about the economic unification of Korea."

Points To Speech By Hodge

"The Soviet delegation looked upon the Moscow decisions as a document having limited aims, as a single document in which was expounded the program of the Allies toward Korea," it said. "For this reason, the Soviet delegation exerted all its effort toward creating conditions which would have guaranteed the exact fulfillment of the Moscow decision."

The American delegate, General Hodge, made a speech April 27 showing that he wrongly interpreted the Moscow decision about the participation of democratic elements in the formation of a provisional Korean government, Izvestia continued.

"This speech cannot be looked upon otherwise than as a stimulation and direct counsel to reactionary parties to take the path of violating the consultative conditions with the joint commission," Izvestia said.

Soviet Press Carries Blast At Hong Hong

Moscow, May 15 (AP)—Russian newspapers published a Tass dispatch from Shanghai today quoting the newspaper Sin Wan Pao as asserting that the British occupation of Hong Kong violated China's sovereignty. The newspaper said the city, a British crown colony, should be turned over to China.

Shanghai, May 15 (A. P.).—Gen. Marshall and his wife, accompanied by Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, arrived today from Nanking for a two-day visit at Mme. Chiang's home. An aid said the General was "just resting."

MARINE LANDING DENIED

NANKING, May 15 — (AP) The newspaper Hsin Min Pao said today a government source had denied a Russian Tass agency report that U. S. Marines had landed at the southern Manchurian port of Hulutao to assist Chinese army troops moving up into Manchuria.

The newspaper "Hsin Min Pao" carried a wholly unconfirmed dispatch that government troops had captured Szepingkai, bitterly contested railway center south of Changchun, the Manchurian capital. Communist sources quickly denied the report.

COMMUNIST UNITS MENACE SHANGHAI, SAYS CHINA REPORT

NANKING, May 1. — (AP) A Government dispatch asserted today that 100,000 Chinese Communist troops were massing on the eastern seaboard for a smash at Nantung, only 70 miles northwest of Shanghai.

This purported challenge to this keystone of government power in east China was reported by the Government's official organ, the Central Daily News, which said some fighting already had broken out around Nantung.

Meanwhile Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek began "demilitarizing" China's cabinet in a bid for unity.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN CHINA'S CABINET

More Liberal Line Is Achieved as Non-Party Members Are Named to Two Posts

NANKING, May 15 (AP)—The Chinese Government today reorganized and liberalized its Cabinet in an obvious bid for national solidarity in the face of an increasingly grave political and military situation.

The Government named two non-party members to two of the three Ministries filled, but neither Communists nor Democratic League members were chosen. The Cabinet continues therefore under the control of the Kuomintang.

In addition to naming three new civilian Ministers, the Government appointed Pai Chung-Hsi, assistant chief of staff, as head of the new Ministry of Defense and Chen Cheng, the Minister of War, to replace Gen. Ho Ying-chin as chief of staff.

Premier T. V. Soong announced the Cabinet appointments and said that the changes were made "to liberalize the Government and in accordance with a policy of abandoning military administration as rapidly as transitional conditions permit."

It was the first shuffle of the Cabinet in more than a year.

Mr. Soong reported these appointments to succeed three Ministers who resigned yesterday:

Yui Tai-wei, Minister of Communications, succeeding Gen. Yui Fei-peng.

Peng Hsueh-pei, Minister of Information, succeeding K. C. Wu, who was appointed Mayor of Shanghai.

Wong Yun-wu, managing director and editor of the Commercial Press of Shanghai, appointed Minister of Economics, succeeding Wong Wen-hao.

In addition to the three civilian ministers, the government appointed Pai Chung-hsi, assistant chief of staff, as head of the new Ministry of Defense, and Chen Cheng, the Minister of War, to replace General Ho Ying-chin as chief of staff.

Suspends Publication.

Seoul, May 15 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. John R. Hodge today suspended the Dai Dong Press from publication for three weeks. The American occupation commander told the daily that "in spite of repeated specific warnings over a period of several weeks" it had "signally failed to show an understanding of its responsibilities as a member of the fraternity of the press."

Meanwhile four members of the Korean Independence Promotion Society were arrested by the Korean Police and charged with permitting speakers to make derogatory statements "against a member of the United Nations," and inflammatory remarks against the Communist party.

The remarks, made at a public meeting of the society Sunday, violated instructions of the American Military Government, the police reported.

Russia, U. S. in Sharp Dispute On Right of Diplomatic Immunity

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP) The American State department and the Russian foreign office, already in numerous disagreements over policy, were disclosed today to be at loggerheads over the case of a United States embassy clerk charged with "hooliganism" in Moscow.

The rights of the clerk as a diplomatic employe of the American government already have been the subject of two emphatic exchanges between the Russians and embassy officials. The affair promises more fireworks before it is settled.

The clerk is Waldo Ruess of Hollywood, Calif., a junior employe of the embassy. The charges allegedly were brought against him on behalf of an actress of the Soviet State theater.

At the moment, according to information coming to Washington, Ruess is sticking close to embassy premises in Moscow. So long as he is on embassy property under American flag protection the Russians may not under international usage arrest him even if they desire to do so.

Meanwhile, State department officials are drafting new instructions to the embassy. These seem certain to follow a policy of stout defiance of Russian efforts to hail Ruess into the Moscow city prosecutor's office.

Essentially the issue is one of diplomatic immunity. The United States accords diplomatic immunity to the clerks and similar employes of foreign missions when people are natives of the countries they serve. This country contends that the Russians should extend a comparable right.

But this legal position is complicated with other things. Mainly, there appears to be strong belief among officials here that the Russians actually brought the charge against Ruess to counterbalance the American charge of espionage preferred against Soviet Naval Lieutenant Nicolai G. Redin.

The charge against Ruess was filed in late April with the allegation that the action occurred in February. He was summoned to appear before the Moscow city prosecutor May 4.

He did not show up. The embassy argued to the Foreign office that he was not subject to legal action of this sort. The Russians denied that he had diplomatic immunity and the embassy then demanded that the charge be dropped and that Ruess, who had been planning a trip home anyway, be given an exit visa.

That also was rejected by the Russians and the Foreign office then issued a new summons for Reuss which the embassy again rejected. The State department backed the embassy fully.

One unusual aspect of the case was that the charge was played up in the Moscow newspaper "Trud." Normally the newspaper does not print such news, officials here said.

Language experts at the State department said that the Russian word for the charge against Ruess actually is taken from the English "hooligan." Officials here said that it is a charge often brought against American sailors arrested by Russian waterfront police and may cover almost any activity from tossing a rock through a tavern window to getting too fresh with the local girls.

Ruling In Redin Case Due Today

Seattle, May 15 (AP)—Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black heard arguments today on a defense motion to dismiss conspiracy and espionage charges against Soviet Naval Lieut. Nicolai G. Redin and said he would announce his decision tomorrow.

Redin was accused in a grand jury indictment of obtaining information on the destroyer tender U. S. S. Yellowstone while he was Soviet purchasing commission representative here. He was arrested at Portland, Ore., late in March.

Inflation Seen As Danger In Sweden

Omaha, May 15 (AP)—Sweden has built up an export surplus estimated at $250,000,000 since the end of the war, and "the inflationary danger is evident," Herman Eriksson, Swedish Minister to the United States, said here.

In an address prepared for the annual dinner of the Swedish Noon-Bay Club of Omaha, Eriksson attributed this surplus to "granting credits amounting to close to $500,000,000 to several countries in Europe, thereby enabling exports to countries desperately in need of them but as yet not in a position to pay for them with goods in return."

"However, Sweden certainly does not regret the policy she has adopted, which she intends to continue to the limit of her responsibilities," Eriksson added.

2 BLOCS OR 3: VINSON ON LOAN

Soviet Economic Separatism Present Fact, He Says

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Fred H. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, conceded today that the $3,750,000,000 American loan to Britain is likely to range the two English-speaking powers against Russia in two opposing economic blocs.

He contended, however, that such a result is greatly preferable to what he pictured as the alternative—three such conflicting groups centering around the United States, the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union.

And he told the House Banking Committee he hopes that the loan agreement will help make the division temporary and generally lessen all economic conflicts for the billions in world commerce.

Called Aid To Peace

The Cabinet member was led into a discussion of possible economic conflict with Russia as he appeared on Capitol Hill to plead again for congressional approval of the loan agreement. He said it not only would aid Britain but facilitate world commerce and help maintain world peace.

Representative Crawford (R., Mich.), Banking Committee member, predicted the loan legislation would pass the House by an "overwhelming majority."

Then, turning to the world economic rivalries, Crawford asked Vinson:

"Instead of three economic blocs, aren't we in effect creating two economic blocs, with Anglo-American capitalism on one side and Russian communism on the other?"

Vinson: "As I see it we must take this situation as it is."

Two Blocs Or Three

Crawford: "There is no way we can avoid two economic blocs?"

Vinson: "At this time that is right."

Crawford: "In making the British loan, will we not be creating ground for international economic conflict?"

Vinson: "The Russians have had an opportunity for months to avail themselves of an Export-Import Bank loan, but they have not availed themselves of that opportunity."

Recalling Premier Stalin's recent speech on capitalism, Crawford commented, "It seems that Russia is taking the position that she is going to isolate herself from this Anglo-American arrangement."

Vinson observed that he thought the British loan "is in the interest of the capitalistic system, free enterprise and in the interest of the kind of country we want here."

Potential Empty Victory

He said if the loan were not approved and America and Britain engaged in an economic war, America probably would win, but it would be an empty victory.

"The great danger before us," Vinson said, "is division of the world into conflicting blocs. In the economic sphere, we are trying to meet this problem through cooperation in the World Fund and Bank (Bretton Woods). . . . If England finds it necessary to keep her wartime restrictions, it will result in a British bloc and an American bloc. And it will also act as an encouragement to a Russian bloc. . . .

"Such a development would be a menace to peace and prosperity everywhere."

House Loan Okay Now Predicted

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Weathering the first storm in the House, the $3,750,000,000 British loan showed strength today in Republican as well as Democratic ranks.

Representative Claire Boothe Luce (R., Conn.) told newsmen "I am for it," and predicted that it would pass the House by a "a narrow margin." Mrs. Luce was one of the first House Republicans to announce publicly for the legislation.

Meanwhile, Representative Sparkman (Ala.), the Democratic whip, said partial returns from a poll of House Democrats indicated that two thirds would vote for the loan, and he estimated that one third of the Republican members would also support it.

Speaker Rayburn (D., Texas) flatly predicted victory for the legislation.

Opposition Move Beaten

Loan supporters generally felt better about the outlook because of the failure of the opposition's first maneuver. This was a resolution by Representative Knutson (R., Minn.) that would have had the effect of canceling Senate approval of the credit. The House shelved his proposal by a voice vote yesterday.

The action eliminated the threat that the loan legislation might be taken out of the hands of the House Banking Committee, which is already holding hearings on the bill.

The committee thus was able to call Secretary of the Treasury Vinson today for further testimony on his contention that the credit should be approved, not only as an aid to Britain, but for the benefit of world commerce and peace.

Draft May Call On 26-To-30 Age Group

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Childless men 26 through 29 years old came back into the draft picture today as President Truman's choice of "the lesser of two evils" kept selective service legally alive but crippled.

For the moment, however, only men 20 to 25 will be inducted.

Mr. Truman chose last night to sign a 45-day stopgap extension of the draft law—but with an outright ban on inductions of either fathers or teen-age youths—rather than let the act expire at midnight.

Four Hours Before Deadline

The Chief Executive affixed his signature just four hours before the deadline. Less than two hours earlier the Senate rammed through the extender after Senator Langer (R., N.D.) abandoned his threat to talk selective service to death.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey immediately wired local boards to confine inductions to men in the under-26 group Mr. Truman designated when Japan fell last August, but army officials said this would have to be changed.

Noting that the new law specifically permits men 20 through 29 to be drafted, one official said, "Of course, that's what we'll have to do." At draft headquarters, spokesmen said any raise in the top limit was up to the Army.

Bottom Of The Barrel

These spokesmen said selective service now has a pool of only about 59,000 eligibles aged 20 through 25 from which to meet monthly calls. They estimated 50 per cent of these may be physically unfit.

Raising the limit to include men 26, 27, 28 and 29 would provide only an additional 13,000 registrants for possible induction, they added.

Mr. Truman left no doubt that he was displeased with the way the draft extension was brought about. His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said the President regarded it as a "bad bill."

Executive Order Signed

While Langer was speaking, Mr. Truman signed an executive order preserving selective service machinery but permitting no actual inductions. Final enactment of the bill, however, made this unnecessary.

Several senators complained at being forced by pressure of time to accept the House ban on drafting teen-agers. But it was Langer who carried the brunt of the fight.

Sharply critical of conscription in peacetime, the hoarse-voiced North Dakotan talked for more than four hours in an effort to block a vote. Democratic and Republican leaders appealed to him time and again to give up the floor.

Bill Rushed Through

Finally Langer sat down and at once Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), acting as presiding officer, gaveled the measure through. Then O'Mahoney and Speaker Rayburn (D., Texas) of the House affixed their signatures along with that of Senate Secretary Biffle, who hurried the bill to the White House.

There Mr. Truman signed it in his second-floor study.

Langer said later he had plenty of material prepared "to talk way past midnight."

"But when you are one of 96 senators and if three or four others are not willing to help you out, there is not much use," he added.

New Battle In Store

Langer and other senators promised that another word battle faces Administration attempts to extend selective service beyond July 1.

Secretary of War Patterson, in a statement last night, said: "I hope that before July 1 an extension of selective service for one year will be adopted by the Congress in such form as to permit the War Department to carry out the tasks expected of it by the nation."

Selective service said youths turning 18 will still be required to register.

"Footrace" Foreseen

During yesterday's debate in the Senate, Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) reminded his colleagues that under the extension bill both the draft law and OPA now will expire June 30.

"I don't want a foot race between the draft and OPA," Barkley asserted.

SENATORS VOTE OPA EXTENSION

Banking Committee Approves Continuance For One Year

Washington, May 15 (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee voted, 11 to 5, today for a year's extension of the OPA, then took a four-day recess to enable members to prepare amendments to the extension bill.

Chairman Wagner (D., N.Y.) expressed hope that all the amendments will be presented by Monday, the next meeting day, so they can be voted upon Tuesday. He hopes to get final committee action by the following Friday and call the bill up in the Senate on May 27

Not all members are convinced that Wagner's schedule can be met, in view of the wide differences of opinion on vital elements of the legislation.

Present Law Expires June 30

The present price-control law expires June 30. The House voted for an extension of only nine months, until March 31, 1947, and amended the bill in such a way that Chester Bowles, economic stabilizer, called it hardly more than a chart for "a joyride toward economic disaster."

Paul Porter, price administrator, declared it "amounts to repeal of price control."

Before approving the year's extension, the Senate committee rejected, 10 to 7, a motion by Senator Butler (R., Neb.) to hold the extension to nine months.

While the extension vote was the only one taken by the committee today, numerous proposed changes came under discussion. One of these involved the best way to assure the lifting of controls on items as they come into ample supply.

The House formula calls for "decontrol" of commodities when it is ascertained that the output rate is equivalent to that in the 1941 fiscal year.

Farmers Oppose Subsidies

Other House provisions awaiting Senate action include the so-called Wolcott amendment, which would require the OPA to fix prices that would yield cost plus a "reasonable profit" on each item produced or handled; the scrapping of food subsidies, with accompanying ceiling-price increases, and abolition of the maximum average-price order, which requires manufacturers to produce low-priced clothing.

Meanwhile, the Senate Agriculture Committee heard representatives of dairy farmers demand "a fair price instead of subsidies," and urge removal of price controls on milk, butter, cheese, cream and other dairy products.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the Co-operative Milk Producers, was one of the principal spokesmen. He declared that from 60 to 80 per cent of all butter produced is going into the black market.

Butter Output Slashed

Butter production, he declared, has dropped to about half the 1941 level. He said producers now are getting only about $4.40 per 100 pounds for milk, including subsidy payments, and estimated that the price would have to be raised to $5 or $6 a hundredweight to keep production going.

Holman said removal of price control and subsidy payments on milk would cause a rise of 3 to 4 cents a quart in the retail price.

Halt Of 6 Weeks In Flour Milling Threatened

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Fast-dwindling wheat supplies at the mills threatened today to force a six-week suspension in the output of flour for domestic consumption.

This possibility arose as the House Agriculture Committee announced a comprehensive investigation of both the domestic and world food situations, beginning tomorrow.

Chairman Flannagan (D., Va.) said that if evidence warranted, the committee would also consider the need for renewed food rationing. Most legislators, however, apparently remained unconvinced that there was need for this now.

Flour Situation

The flour situation was:

On May 1, mills were required to cut their stocks to a 21-day supply. Few, if any, have been able to obtain wheat in the meantime, because the Government is offering farmers a bonus of 30 cents a bushel above the ceiling price. And the 1946 wheat will not start moving to market until July.

Some mills have already shut down and a survey last night indicated that many others will either close or curtail operations sharply.

Two Problems

This prospect posed two problems for the Government:

1. Will flour on hand be sufficient to supply consumers until the new wheat crop becomes available?

2. Should the Government divert some of the famine-relief wheat it is buying to American mills in order to keep them operating until the new harvest?

Chester C. Davis, chairman of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee, said he believes the flour now in distribution channels will meet domestic needs until new wheat is available, if consumption is voluntarily cut 40 per cent, as his committee has urged. Davis said surveys indicate that about one-third of the people are not complying with the "eat-less-bread" program.

Would Keep Mills Running

Davis said he believes the Government should divert export wheat to the mills to keep them operating. He said, however, that all the flour milled from Government wheat should go for relief overseas. "I believe Secretary Anderson will adopt such a policy," Davis said.

Davis warmly approved a program announced by Anderson yesterday for controlling the use and distribution of the 1946 wheat crop. The program calls for continued limitations on domestic consumption of wheat products by both humans and livestock, and for Government requisitioning of 250,000,000 bushels from commercial supplies to meet overseas needs.

"Confusing Reports"

Chairman Flannagan and other members of the Agriculture Committee have complained of what they described as confusing reports on food conditions.

"First we have a report there is mass starvation," Flannagan said. "Now we have a report that Mr. Hoover sees only a threat of mass starvation.

"We hear there is plenty of grain for our own needs and to meet commitments abroad, but that it isn't getting to market. Then we hear there isn't enough grain.

"What's more, we'd like to learn what our commitments abroad are, who made them and on what information this country's promises were based."

Flannagan said the committee also is anxious to learn why the Government hasn't urged the growing of more grain instead of campaigning to cut down on feed to livestock.

Representative Wickersham (D., Okla.) suggested today that the Government halt wheat buying May 25 and raise ceiling prices on wheat 45 cents a bushel for the next 90 days, so that the increase will apply to the new crop. The 30-cent-a-bushel bonus to obtain wheat for famine relief is scheduled to end May 25.

Wickersham contended that if the ceiling on the new crop were increased 45 cents a bushel, the grain would move promptly from harvest field to elevators, terminals and mills.

STILL DARKER BREAD PLANNED

LaGuardia Would "Require" Farmers To Market Wheat

Washington, May 15 (AP) — UNRRA Director Fiorello LaGuardia proposed today still darker bread and no pastry for all Americans and suggested that farmers be "required" to market their wheat.

The international relief chief shied away from urging outright "seizure" of wheat on the farms. He told a press conference it would not be that because farmers would be paid for the grain.

LaGuardia recommended that millers be compelled to extract 90 per cent of the wheat kernel in manufacturing flour. The Government now requires 80 per cent, compared with 72 before the world food shortage became severe and 85 per cent suggested by Stabilization Director Chester Bowles.

For Cutting Out Pastry

As for no pastry, the UNRRA chief declared: "I'm for that. We could all save enough to buy ourselves smaller girdles."

As LaGuardia was advancing his ideas as a means of assuring more food for famine areas abroad, Agriculture Department officials were uneasily eying prospects of a six-week shutdown of flour mills. And they were uncertain whether flour stocks are big enough to tide the country over until the new wheat crop starts coming on the market in July.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is known to be considering the possibility of diverting to the mills some wheat bought by the Government for shipment overseas. While that would keep the mills grinding it, it would not necessarily increase flour for home consumption, since the finished products still might be exported.

Plight Of Flour Mills

The plight of the mills results from the fact that they were required on May 1 to cut wheat stocks to a 21-day supply. Many have been unable to get wheat since because they can offer only the ceiling price for it while the Government will pay farmers a bonus of 30 cents a bushel over the ceiling to obtain wheat to meet foreign commitments

Caught in the squeeze, some millers already have quit operations.

Along with this development, the House Agriculture Committee arranged to begin tomorrow a thorough investigation of both the domestic and world food conditions.

And from the Weather Bureau came reports that insects, diseases and bad weather continue to beset the winter wheat crop.

Praises Hoover Report

At his news conference, LaGuardia praised the objectives set forth in the report on world food conditions submitted to President Truman by former President Herbert Hoover.

While goals for April and May will not be met, LaGuardia was more hopeful for June. He said Hoover had estimated that UNRRA countries would require 685,000 tons of grain in that month, adding, "I'll settle for that and go down on my knees and thank God for these people if I can get it."

The UNRRA director urged that a specific percentage of crop yield be set aside for exports. He noted that Secretary Anderson had proposed a wheat program for the year beginning July 1 which would requisition for export 25 per cent of all wheat delivered by farmers to elevators or commercial buyers.

Would Require Deliveries

"A set-aside at the elevator is good and fine," LaGuardia said. "But if it doesn't come to the elevator, it doesn't do you much good. You have to go back of that and see that it is not fed to animals."

Then, answering questions, he said that could be done by "requiring deliveries."

LaGuardia said he had talked with Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council of the British Cabinet, who is in this country to discuss the international food crisis. He replied in the negative to a question to whether the British official had offered to release 300,000 tons of grain "in the pipelines." Then, to a question whether that matter came up in his conversation with Morrison, LaGuardia replied he thought "we can depend on the people of Great Britain to give us full and complete co-operation."

Morrison Gives Reason

Morrison, in a nation-wide broadcast tonight, said that if people die of starvation "it will not be because there is too little food to go around" but because "we are short of the will to get the right shares of it into the right mouths at the right time."

Morrison said it was "a grim possibility" that future historians would record that "the first full year of peace, 1946, brought more death, more disease and more suffering to humanity than all the terrible years of war."

"The real deep-down problem is not strictly a food problem at all. It is a problem of how people will behave about food as producers, as distributors, as transporters and as consumers," he said.

German Relief Limit Lifted

Supplies From Private Groups May Exceed 2,000 Tons a Month

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP).—The War Department announced today it has lifted a limitation of 2,000 tons a month imposed by the Army on the shipment of relief supplies by private organizations to the American occupied zone of Germany.

The limitation was imposed in February because of a shortage of shipping facilities.

The War Department said American Military Government authorities in Germany were currently trying to remove obstacles to handling individually addressed parcels for delivery in Germany.

Demobilization Totals Given

Washington, May 15 (AP) — The Navy announced today it has demobilized 2,327,206 men and women from V-J day through May 11. Totals for the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard for the same period were 337,383 and 132,528, respectively.

Three Tests At Bikini To Be Made As Planned

Pearl Harbor, May 15 (AP)—Vice Admiral H. P. Blandy arrived today to take command of the atomic bomb task force and announced that all three tests would be made at Bikini as originally planned.

Most of joint Army-Navy Task Force No. 1 already is assembled here. Blandy will sail aboard his flagship for Bikini next week.

DISEASE SLEUTHS TO COMB ARMY

Washington, May 15 (A. P.), —The War Department announced today that it will send a score of "disease detectives" to ferret out the causes of illness among Army men in Korea, Japan, Germany and the United States.

The detectives will be medical officers who have just completed thirty-two-week courses in preventive medicine at Harvard and Johns Hopkins. They will concentrate, the announcement said, on stamping out "venereal-breeding dens" and will serve too as "courts of inquiry in eliminating foci of disease."

Underground Plant Sites Listed

Army and Navy Also Surveying Coal Mines for Storing Vital War Material.

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—The Army and Navy reported today that coal mines are being surveyed with a view to storing underground machine tools and other equipment which would be vital in the event of war.

There is no present intention of recommending that any industry be placed underground, it was said.

An official statement added, however: "The survey may develop certain sites which, in the event of an emergency, would be particularly adaptable for housing vital industries if this step becomes necessary.

Factors Considered.

Army engineers have been assigned to do the actual cataloguing of the underground areas. Among characteristics to be recorded are floor space, ceiling, humidity, overhead cover, soil and rock conditions, access approaches and general interior conditions. Other factors to be considered include concealment from aerial observation and proximity to transportation, communication, utilities.

Widespread public speculation as to whether the United States was planning to follow the example of wartime Nazi Germany in placing industries underground prompted the statement, officials said.

The survey was described as only one phase of extensive planning for industrial mobilization to meet a possible war emergency. The plans are being carried out by the Army and Navy Munitions Board.

WAR ORPHANS ARRIVE

Detroit, May 15 (A. P.).—A group of twenty-five Polish war orphans, all girls, found haven today in Detroit after a journey that took them from Siberia to India, then to Mexico for four years before arriving in the United States.

The children, from 9 to 18 years old, are in the care of the Felician Sisters, who brought them here from Poland. None of the girls speaks English. They converse in either Polish or Spanish, acquired during a four-year stay in Mexico while awaiting Government permission to enter this country. The group is part of an original 250 orphans being cared for by Felician Sisters in New York, New Jersey, Michigan and Illinois.

WORLD WARS LAID TO FEAR

Cardinal Griffin Points Way To Tranquillity

Chicago, May 15 (AP)—Fear that has led to strikes, revolutions and two world wars "has arisen from the real lack of security in public life," Bernard Cardinal Griffin told the English Speaking Union today.

Cardinal Griffin, who holds the see of Westminster, England, and is the youngest prince of the church, said "the fear from which we want to be free is the fear of all those evils that impede the fulfillment of our duty to God and our neighbor." He aded:

"In one generation we have witnessed two world wars. We have witnessed strikes, social unrest and revolution. Much of this fear has arisen from the real lack of security in public life, and if men are to live in freedom from fear, social unrest and international strife must be eliminated.

Points Way To Tranquillity

"Only if equitable conditions of life have been secured for all social classes of the community by a system based on Christian principles of social justice; only when men have learned to live together in a spirit of true Christian brotherhood, only then shall we enjoy perfect tranquility at home."

Cardinal Griffin said "freedom from fear will beget freedom from want. Nature supplies goods in superabundance. They need only to be properly distributed. It is the duty of those countries which have a superabundance of the goods of this world to share them with those nations whose peoples are starving.

"This is a task not for one country, but for the whole world. Even at the risk of delaying our own trade at home and abroad, we should put all our efforts into solving this great human tragedy and problem."

Cites Persecution

At a news conference prior to addressing the luncheon, Cardinal Griffin said the Catholic Church's position "has deteriorated within the Russian zone of Europe because the church is persecuted in those zones. I see no hope of an accord between Russia and the Vatican as long as the Soviet persists in its anti-Vatican attitude."

He said he had noted a religious revival in the Catholic Church as a result of the war, "especially among members of the Army and air forces."

The cardinal arrived by airliner this morning and will stay in Chicago until Friday, visiting Catholic institutions in the Chicago archdiocese.

Nimitz Urges Patience With U. N.

South Bend, Ind., May 15 (A. P.).—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, told a University of Notre Dame convocation today that "peace will be only an interlude between wars unless all of us learn the art of living in global community." The Chief of Naval Operations spoke after receiving an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, Notre Dame president.

He called for patience with the United Nations "as it struggles with diverse speech and radically differing economic systems to produce an organization dedicated to the maintenance of peace—of peace by example and co-operation if possible; of peace maintained by police force if necessary."

Welles Asks U. N. Action.

Baltimore, May 15.—The United Nations should take authority over the Arab-Jewish situation in Palestine and safeguard immigration into that country, according to Sumner Welles, former Under-Secretary of State.

Welles spoke here last night as chairman of the Maryland chapter of the American Christian Committee, which concluded a two-day conference here. Other speakers included Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary of the Church Peace Union, and Prof. William E. Rappard of Geneva, Switzerland.

Welles said in part:

"To all those who, like myself, believe that Palestine must become not only the promised National Jewish Homeland, but also an independent commonwealth into which the entrance of the Jewish people who wish to make that Holy Land their permanent home must never be restricted, save in so far as economic limitations may require, the report of the committee represents inevitably a matter for deep disappointment and for even deeper concern."

ASSURE RUSSIA, BAPTISTS TOLD

Convention Warned Against Contributing To War Talk

Miami, Fla., May 15 (AP)—Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke, of London, president of the Baptist World Alliance, today warned the Southern Baptist convention against taking an anti-Russian viewpoint.

"While we mourn the anti-religious attitude prevailing in Russia, we must not contribute to the forces which would launch another world struggle," he said in an address to the one hundred and first annual meeting of the convention which opened here today.

Dr. Rushbrooke declared that "we must be understanding of the Russians . . . we must wish them well and give assurance that we would not deprive them of the fruits of their labors."

They "Came Preaching"

Tonight's program was dedicated to the one hundredth anniversary of the convention, which was celebrated last year. Wartime regulations prohibited the annual meeting scheduled for 1945 at Atlanta.

Dr. Louie D. Newton, of Atlanta, in an address prepared for delivery tonight reviewed the work of the churches during the century following the founding of the convention at Augusta, Ga., May 8, 1845.

Dr. Newton stressed that the Baptists through history "came preaching."

"Preaching," he said, "has . . . made the Baptists what they are."

World Relief Drive Suggested

He warned that "recent trends in our country indicate clearly that Baptists and other evangelists must again face frankly and courageously the sinister effort to involve our nation in political ecclesiasticism.

In business sessions today the convention refused to act on recommendations of its executive committee because one messenger, as the delegates are called, asked that they be presented in printed form. They will be printed and presented again tomorrow.

Most sweeping of the suggestions is that the convention raise $3,500,000 for world relief and rehabilitation to be administered by the foreign mission board

ON BOARD USS CARRIER FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT NORTH OF PUERTO RICO, MAY 15-(AP)-ADMIRAL MARC A. MITSCHER, COMMANDING THE EIGHTH FLEET ON TRAINING MANEUVERS, FLEW WITH TORPEDO SQUADRON 75 WHEN IT ATTACKED CULEBRA ISLAND TODAY AND ANNOUNCED LATER THAT "THE BOMBING AND THE ROCKETS WERE GOOD".

IT WAS THE FIRST TIME MITSCHER HAD WATCHED HIS BOYS IN ACTION WITH THIS FLEET. USUALLY HE OBSERVES ONLY FROM HIS LOFTY BRIDGE 118 FEET ABOVE THE SEA BUT THIS TIME HE WANTED NOT ONLY TO SEE THE FLIERS PERFORM BUT ALSO TO STUDY THE TARGET AREA.

"I THINK WE CAN BE WELL SATISFIED WITH THE WAY THE SHIPS OF THIS FLEET ARE WORKING OUT" MITSCHER SAID AFTER HE HAD CLIMBED OUT OF THE REAR SEAT OF CURTISS HELLDIVER PILOTED BY LT. (J.G.) JOHN PAPADAKIS, OF RICHMOND, CALIF, "THE PILOTS ARE GOOD, THEY WOULD BE JUST AS GOOD COMBAT PILOTS AS THOSE I HAD IN THE PACIFIC."

MITSCHER LANDED ON THE CARRIER MIDWAY FOR A CONFERENCE WITH REAR ADMIRAL JOHN H. CASSADY, COMMANDER OF CARRIER DIVISION ONE AND THEN FLEW BACK TO THE FDR. HE WAS OVER THE TARGET AREA ABOUT TWO AND ONE HALF HOURS.

THIS WAS THE FIRST DAY OF A THREE-DAY AERIAL STRIKE IN PREPARATION FOR A LANDING BY 5,000 MARINES AT MEDIO MUNDO BAY ON PUERTO RICO SATURDAY, THE ENTIRE OPERATION IS A DUPLICATE OF THOSE EXECUTED AGAINST THE JAPANESE A YEAR AGO.

ON BOARD CARRIER FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT NORTH OF PUERTO RICO, MAY 15-(AP)-CARRIERS PARTICIPATING IN THIS EIGHTH FLEET TRAINING OPERATION ARE SPACED MUCH FURTHER APART THAN IN WAR TIME PRACTICE --A STEP INTENDED TO MINIMUM DAMAGE FROM THEORETICAL ATTACKS BY ATOMIC BOMBS AND GUIDED MISSILES.

COMMODORE ARLEIGH A.BURKE, CHIEF OF STAFF TO FLEET COMMANDER ADMIRAL MITSCHER, SAID TODAY THE WIDER DISPERSAL WAS MADE POSSIBLE BY USE OF LONGER RANGE GUNS IN THE MAIN DEFENSE BATTERIES AND HEAVIER GUNS IN THE SMALLER CALIBERS.

THE THREE FAST CARRIERS IN THIS OPERATION -- FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT, MIDWAY AND PRINCETON--ARE STEAMING ABOUT TWO AND ONE HALF MILES APART. DURING THE WAR THEY SPREAD OUT ONLY ONE AND ONE HALF MILES AND SOMETIMES CRUISED ONLY A MILE FROM EACH OTHER.

THE WIDER SPACING, BURKE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW, IS DESIGNED TO AVOID DAMAGE TO OTHER SHIPS FROM AN ATOMIC BOMB WHICH MIGHT HIT ONE OF THEM. IT IS CALCULATED ALSO TO PREVENT COLLISIONS WITH A DAMAGED SHIP WHICH MIGHT BE FORCED TO STEAM IN CIRCLES.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE IN THE LOOSER FORMATION, THE COMMODORE SAID, IS THAT IT IS EASIER TO MANEUVER.

THE BATTLESHIP MISSOURI JOINED THE FLEET YESTERDAY AFTERNOON. IT HAD BEEN ON A CRUISE TO THE MEDITERRANEAN.

AIR OPERATIONS WERE BEGUN TODAY IN PREPARATION FOR A SATURDAY LANDING BY 5.000 MARINES AT MEDIO. MUNDO BAY, PUERTO RICO.

NEW YORK, MAY 15-(AP)-A PROPOSED RULE WHICH WOULD PERMIT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TO KEEP ITS PROCEEDINGS SECRET EVEN FROM FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS WILL COME BEFORE THE COUNCIL TOMORROW WITH STRONG INDICATIONS IT WILL BE APPROVED.

A REPORT BY THE COUNCIL'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS EMBODYING THIS PROPOSAL AND A RESOLUTION PROPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES ON PROCEDURE REGARDING NEW MEMBERS ARE THE ONLY TWO ITEMS ON THE COUNCIL'S AGENDA FOR THE MEETING AT 11 A.M., EASTERN DAYLIGHT TIME.

THERE WAS NO PROVISION FOR DISCUSSION TOMORROW OF THE IRANIAN SITUATION.

THUS IT IS EXPECTED THAT ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET DELEGATE WHO HAS REFUSED TO DISCUSS IRAN IN THE COUNCIL AND BOYCOTTED THE LAST COUNCIL MEETING MAY 3, WILL ATTEND.

GROMYKO'S PRESS REPRESENTATIVE SAID "I SUPPOSE THAT HE WILL BE THERE."

THE COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS REPRESENTS, AND SO SPEAKS FOR, EVERY DELEGATE ON THE COUNCIL. THE COMMITTEE WAS UNANIMOUS FOR SECRET COUNCIL SESSIONS.

RULE 45 WOULD GIVE THE COUNCIL POWER TO MEET IN SECRET.

RULE 48 WOULD PERMIT THE COUNCIL TO MAKE ONLY A SINGLE VERBATIM COPY OF SUCH PRIVATE MEETINGS.

RULE 53 PROVIDES THE SNAPPER, UNITED NATIONS OBSERVERS SAID. IT PROPOSES:

"THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS WHICH HAVE TAKEN PART IN A PRIVATE MEETING SHALL AT ALL TIMES HAVE THE RIGHT TO CONSULT THE RECORD OF THAT MEETING IN THE OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY-GENERAL. THE SECURITY COUNCIL MAY AT ANY TIME GRANT ACCESS TO THIS RECORD TO AUTHORIZED REPRESENTATIVES OF OTHER MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

INVERSELY, THESE OBSERVERS POINTED OUT, THE COUNCIL COULD DENY THE SECRET RECORD EVEN TO A MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL WHO HAD REFUSED TO SIT IN ON A PRIVATE SESSION. IT WOULD REQUIRE A VOTE OF THE COUNCIL TO PERMIT ANY MEMBER NATION NOT SITTING IN THE MEETING TO SEE THE RECORD.

THE COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATIONS ON ADMITTING NEW MEMBERS AND A RESOLUTION WHICH U.S. DELEGATE EDWARD R.STETTINIUS, JR., REQUESTED BE PUT ON THE AGENDA DOVETAIL SOMEWHAT. BUT ARE TWO SEPARATE MATTERS.

THE PROPOSED RULES WOULD HAVE AN APPLICANT APPLY TO THE COUNCIL. A COUNCIL SUB-COMMITTEE WOULD CONSIDER THE APPLICATION AND REPORT BACK. THEN THE COUNCIL WOULD DECIDE WHETHER THE APPLICANT WAS A PEACE LOVING STATE AND MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, WHICH WOULD VOTE FINALLY. AUSTRALIA RESERVED ITS RIGHTS CONCERNING THE RULES ON NEW MEMBERS. THE AUSTRALIANS HAVE INSISTED THAT APPLICATIONS SHOULD BE INITIATED WITH THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

STETTINIUS PROPOSED THAT APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP RECEIVED BY JULY 15 BE REFERRED TO A COUNCIL COMMITTEE AND CONSIDERED AT COUNCIL MEETINGS IN AUGUST. THIS WOULD PERMIT THE COUNCIL TO ACT IN TIME FOR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING SEPT. 3 IN NEW YORK.

IT ALSO WOULD HAVE THE EFFECT OF DELAYING IMMEDIATE ACTION ON ALBANIA'S APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP. YUGOSLAVIA PROPOSED ALBANIA. RUSSIA SUPPORTS THE APPLICATION, BUT THE BRITISH ARE PRESENTLY OPPOSED.

INFORMED SOURCES SAID THE PURPOSE OF THE UNITED STATES RESOLUTION WAS TO HAVE THE COUNCIL TAKE SOME POSITIVE ACTION ON THE ADMISSION OF MEMBERS SO NON-MEMBERS WOULD KNOW WHAT HAD TO BE DONE TO BE ADMITTED.

SWEDEN, THAILAND AND ICELAND ARE CONSIDERING APPLYING.

THE COUNCIL SUB-COMMITTEE ON SPAIN ANNOUNCED TODAY IRAN AND PERU HAD SAID THEY HAD NO EVIDENCE IN REPLYING TO LETTERS SENT BY THE SECRETARY-GENERAL TO EVERY MEMBER OF THE U.N. ASKING FOR INFORMATION IT POSSESSED ON FRANCO SPAIN.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE DID NOT TAKE UP THE LONG CHARGES HANDED YESTERDAY BY THE DR.JOSE GIRAL, PREMIER OF THE SPANISH REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT IN EXILE. IT WAS SAID THESE WERE BEING TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH AND PREPARED FOR FORMAL CONSIDERATION.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED IT WOULD MEET AT 3 P.M. EDT TOMORROW.

THE FIRST TREATY WOULD ESTABLISH THE PACT FOR MUTUAL DEFENSE AGAINST ANY AGGRESSOR WITHIN OR OUTSIDE THE HEMISPHERE; THE SECOND WOULD PROVIDE MECHANISM FOR PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES WITHIN THE HEMISPHERE.

THE COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN REPORTED THAT BRAZIL, HOST NATION TO THE PROPOSED RIO DE JANEIRO FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE, OPPOSED THE MEXICAN SUGGESTION.

HE SAID THAT THE UNITED STATES FAVORED A COMPROMISE BETWEEN THE TWO OPPOSING VIEWS.

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 15-(AP)-IT'S A GOOD THING THAT THE MEN OF CANADA'S RECENTLY-COMPLETED ARCTIC "MUSK OX OPERATION" HAD NO NEED FOR VITAMIN TABLETS--BECAUSE AN ESKIMO "HUSKY DOG" RAIDED AND GOBBLED UP THEIR ENTIRE SUPPLY OF 30,000 TABLETS AT ONE SITTING.

THIS WAS RELATED TODAY BY DR.F.H.L.TAYLOR OF BOSTON, MEMBER OF A HARVARD FATIGUE LABORATORY PARTY WHICH ASSISTED CANADIAN ARMY SCIENTISTS IN MAKING PHYSICAL FITNESS TESTS OF THE ARCTIC ADVENTURERS BEFORE AND AFTER THEIR 84-DAY, 3200-MILE TREK OVER THE COLD COUNTRY.

HE SAID THE MEN CAME THROUGH PHYSICALLY OKAY AND THAT SOME OF THEM HAD PHYSICAL FITNESS SCORES "EQUIVALENT TO THOSE OF HARVARD ATHLETES."

JUST RETURNED FROM CANADA, AND HERE TO ADDRESS THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS' 27TH MEETING ON ANOTHER AUBJECT, TAYLOR TOLD A REPORTER THAT THE 30,000 VITAMIN TABLETS HAD BEEN PROVIDED THE MUSK OX PARTY FOR USE "IN AN EMERGENCY." REGULAR FOOD WAS DROPPED TO THE EXPEDITION FROM AIRPLANES.

"WE LEARNED LATER," HE SAID, "THAT WHEN THE PARTY WAS AT BAKER LAKE, ABOUT EIGHT DAYS OUT OF CHURCHILL, MANITOBA, THE STARTING POINT, A HUSKY DOG OWNED BY AN ESKIMO IN THE VICINITY RAIDED THE VITAMIN TABLET SUPPLY AND ATE THE WHOLE DAMN LOT AT ONE SITTING!"

DECLARING THAT AT LAST REPORTS, THE POOCH WAS DOING ALL RIGHT, TAYLOR GRINNED:

"HE'S PROBABLY THE STRONGEST HUSKY DOG IN THE WHOLE NORTHLAND!"

TAYLOR SAID THE HARVARD WORK WAS DONE AT THE INVITATION OF THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT AND THAT HE AND DR.ROBERT E.JOHNSON OF HARVARD WORKED UNDER THE GENERAL SUPERVISION OF LIEUT.COL.ROBERT KARK OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL CORPS.

HE SAID ALL MEMBERS OF THE PARTY--INCLUDING 35 CANADIANS AND 10 AMERICAN OBSERVERS--WERE GIVEN A GENERAL HEALTH CHECKUP BEFORE LEAVING AND ALSO SUBJECTED TO PHYSICAL FITNESS TESTS WHILE CARRYING PACKS WEIGHING ONE THIRD THEIR BODY WEIGHT.

"THE MEN CAME OUT IN AT LEAST AS GOOD HEALTH AS THEY WENT IN," TAYLOR SAID, "AND, IF ANYTHING, THEIR PHYSICAL HEALTH HAD IMPROVED. THE LARGEST LOSS OF WEIGHT WAS THREE POUNDS."

Britain Proposes Union in India, Rejects Moslem League Demands

LONDON, May 16—(AP) Britain proposed today an independent union of all India and rejected Moslem league demands for separate Moslem states in the northeast and northwest.

The union would link British India and the princely states into a federation for common conduct of foreign affairs, defense and communications and give the federal government authority to levy taxes for all three purposes.

Civil War Feared

The proposals were prepared by the three-man British cabinet mission to India after fruitless efforts to bring the major Indian factions into agreement on methods of framing a constitution and achieving political independence. Failure to establish a constitution soon, the mission said, will risk the "grave danger of violence, chaos and civil war."

The mission said that India "now has the opportunity of complete independence," but added "we hope that the new independent India may choose to be a member of the British commonwealth of nations."

The mission refused Moslem demands for pakistan, creation of a separate state, because "it would not solve the communal minority problem," and the areas involved "contain the two most vulnerable frontiers in India," Prime Minister Clement Attlee told Commons.

Interim Government

While the Indian constitution is being written, the proposals call for an interim government with all offices "held by Indian leaders having full confidence of the people."

Viceroy Lord Wavell has already "started discussions to this end," said Attlee, reading from a White Paper published simultaneously in India and Britain.

The White Paper called upon the provincial Indian legislatures in British India and the leaders of the princely states to pick 385 delegates to a constitutional assembly, to meet in New Delhi as soon as possible. Of the total, 210 would be drawn from a "general" classification, 78 from the Moslems, four from the Sikh groups and 93 from the states—roughly proportionate to each class' number in the Indian population.

A "broad basis" for the constitution proposes an executive department of the government and a legislature to represent all India, but leaving all authority except for foreign affairs, defense and communications in the provincial or state assemblies.

Action on Religious Problem

It suggested that the knotty problem of religious conflicts be solved by requiring any national law raising such communal differences to be approved not only by a majority in the national legislature but by majorities of each of the two major groups—Hindus and Moslems.

The provinces would be free to join in regional groups for a common administration of whatever governmental functions they desired to pool, and the mission suggested that both provincial and national constitutions allow for reconsideration of the constitutions every 10 years.

If a constitution for India is drafted along these lines, Parliament will have to approve it as a part of a treaty transferring authority over the huge sub-continent from the King to the new Indian government.

British Propose Federal Union Of India

London, May 16 (AP)—A six-point plan for a Federal union of India was announced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Attlee.

Published as a Government white paper, the plan was drawn up by a three-man Cabinet mission to India following its unsuccessful negotiations for Indian leaders themselves to formulate a plan for Indian independence and an interim government to rule while the new constitution was being drafted and adopted.

Program Set Forth

The plan set forth these six points:

1. Establishment of a Federal union of India embracing both what is known as British India and the 600 princely states of India. The union government to have control of foreign affairs, defense and communications and the power to raise money for those purposes.

2. A central executive branch and an all-India legislature. Any major question before the legislature would have to have a majority of the whole legislature for passage and also a majority of each of the two major parties in the legislature—the predominantly Hindu Congress party and the Moslem League.

3. All other subjects of Government—the residuary power—to be vested in the provinces.

4. The princely states also to retain all powers not ceded to the union.

5. Permission for the provinces to form regional groups which likewise would have executive branches and legislatures. Each regional government would determine the subjects of its common administration.

6. Inclusion in both the union and regional constitutions provisions under which any provincial legislature could, by majority vote, call for reconsideration of the constitution after the first ten years and at intervals of ten years afterward.

Interim Rule Urged

The Cabinet mission—composed of Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India; Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, and A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty—also recommended that an interim government be set up in which all offices would be held by Indians. The government would rule while the proposed new constitution was being put into effect.

The mission proposed that a constitutional convention meet in New Delhi as soon as possible, with the delegates to be chosen by the recently elected provincial legislatures. One delegate would be chosen for each 1,000,000 people, each province rationing the delegates among Moslems, Sikhs and general population in proportion to the number of people of those classifications.

When Attlee dispatched the mission to India he said if the Indians chose independence "they have the full right to do so," but he expressed the hope they would remain a part of the British commonwealth of nations, a status similar to that of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Details Not Known

The mission's efforts to have Indians themselves propose a solution of constitutional and interim government questions was wrecked at a round-table conference at Simla on differences between the Moslems and the Congress party. The inside details of that conference have not yet been published, but it was believed Moslem insistence upon a fully independent Moslem state of Pakistan, separate from the rest of India, made a solution by Indians themselves impossible at that meeting.

The mission's plan rejected the Moslem League's idea. The evidence submitted, the Cabinet ministers said, showed an almost universal desire outside supporters of the League for the unity of India. The ministers said they did not feel a separate state of Pakistan would solve the communal minority problems of India.

The two sections that Pakistan would include contain the most vulnerable frontiers in India and would be difficult to defend, the mission added.

Concessions Made

The interim government envisaged would deal with the country's threatened famine and negotiate with Britain a treaty providing for the transfer of power after the framing of the new constitution.

Acknowledging that both the Congress party and the Moslem League leaders had been prepared to make considerable concessions, the mission said, however, it had been impossible to bridge the gap between the conflicting points of view.

"Since no agreement has been reached," their report said, "we feel that it is our duty to put forward what we consider are the best arrangements possible to insure a speedy setting up of the new constitution."

Explained By Attlee

Commons is not required to act on the proposed plan, although eventually it will have to pass on a plan for the Indian government in its final form by approving a British-Indian treaty for transferring power from Britain to any new Indian government.

Attlee told the House the Government had "decided immediate arrangements should be made whereby the Indians may decide the future constitution of India and an interim government may be set up at once to carry on administration of British India until such time as a new constitution can be brought into being."

Won't Map Details

"It is not our object," he added, "to lay out details of the constitution in this program but to set in motion machinery whereby the constitution can be settled by the Indians themselves."

"We have been forced to the conclusion that neither a larger nor a smaller sovereign state of Pakistan would provide an acceptable solution of the communal problem," Attlee said.

Winston Churchill, wartime Premier and now leader of the Conservative opposition, called the Government's Indian proposal an "able but melancholy document."

"I am bound to make clear, without delay, what is the position of the official opposition," Churchill said.

Churchill's Views

"As head of the coalition government, my colleagues of those days and I are committed to the offer made to the people of India at the time of the Cripps mission in 1942, by which we offered dominion status as expressed by the statute of Westminster, including the right of secession, subject to certain provisions.

"The first of those provisions was that there should be a broad, real and sincere agreement between the main Indian parties. It has been increasingly clear that the object sought for was not dominion status with the subsequent and consequent right of secession, but direct and immediate independence."

Called Unfortunate

Churchill continued:

"The new proposals seem at first to shift the onus of deciding the future constitution of India from the Indian parties to the Government. In so far as this shifting of the onus may prove the case, it certainly seems to have been an unfortunate step. We cannot enforce, by British arms, a British-made constitution upon India against the wishes of any of the main elements of Indian life."

Churchill said the Conservatives would "preserve our entire freedom of action as to the future course we should take."

Acceptance Doubted

New Delhi, May 16 (AP)—Moslem League quarters said tonight that the British Cabinet mission's plan for India "will not find widespread acceptance among the Moslems."

Official comment was withheld, however, pending issuance of a formal statement by Mahomed Ali Jinnah, league president.

Hindus Jubilant

Bombay, May 16 (AP)—Hindus greeted with a mixture of jubilation and amazement tonight the British Cabinet mission proposal for a united federation of independent India. One shopkeeper, in a typical comment, said, "I never thought the British would do that."

A Hindu newspaper declared "this is a most sincere attempt to give a fair and just decision to all classes and communities of India."

Mohandas K. Gandhi, Congress party leader, said:

"Whether people like the announcement or not, it is going to be a most momentous one in the history of India."

Text of British Report on India

LONDON, May 16 (UP).—The complete text of the White Paper issued at New Delhi by Viceroy Lord Wavell and the British Cabinet mission to India and read in the House of Commons here today by Prime Minister Attlee:

ITEM 1—On March 15 last, just before the dispatch of the Cabinet mission to India, Mr. Attlee, the British Prime Minister, used these words: "My colleagues are going to India with the intention of using their utmost endeavors to help her attain her freedom as speedily and fully as possible. What form of government is to replace the present regime is for India to decide; but our desire is to help her to set up forthwith machinery for making that decision. I hope that the Indian people may elect to remain within the British Commonwealth. I am certain that she will find great advantages in doing so. But if she does so elect it must be by her own free will. The British Commonwealth and Empire is not bound together by chains of external compulsion. It is a free association of free peoples. If, on the other hand, she elects for independence, in our view she has the right to do so. It will be for us to help to make the transition as smooth and easy as possible."

ITEM 2—Charged in these historic words, we, the Cabinet Ministers and the Viceroy, have done our utmost to assist the two main political parties to reach agreement upon the fundamental issue of the unity or division of India. After prolonged discussions in New Delhi, we succeeded in bringing the (All-India) Congress and the Moslem League together in a conference at Simla. There was a full exchange of views and both parties were prepared to make considerable concessions in order to try to reach a settlement, but it ultimately proved impossible to close the remainder of the gap between the parties and so no agreement could be concluded. Since no agreement has been reached, we feel it our duty to put forward what we consider are the best arrangements possible to insure a speedy setting up of a new constitution. This statement is made with the full approval of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom.

Plan Interim Government

ITEM 3—We have accordingly decided that immediate arrangements should be made whereby Indians may decide the future constitution of India and an interim government may be set up at once to carry on the administration of British India until such time as the new constitution can be brought into being. We have endeavored to be just to smaller as well as larger sections of the people; and to recommend a solution which will lead to a practicable way of governing the India of the future and will give a sound basis for defense and a good opportunity for progress in the social, political and economic field.

ITEM 4—It is not intended in this statement to review the voluminous evidence which has been submitted to the mission; but it is right that we should state it has shown an almost universal desire, outside of supporters of the Moslem League, for the unity of India.

ITEM 5—This consideration did not, however, deter us from examining closely and impartially the possibility of a partition of India, since we were greatly impressed by the very genuine and acute anxiety of Moslems lest they should find themselves subjected to perpetual Hindu-majority rule. This feeling has become so strong and widespread among Moslems that it cannot be allayed by mere paper safeguards. If there is to be internal peace in India it must be secured by measures which will assure to Moslems a control in all matters vital to their culture, religion and economic or other interests.

ITEM 6—We therefore examined in the first instance the question of a separate and full independent sovereign state of Pakistan as claimed by the Moslem League. Such a Pakistan would comprise two areas, —one in the [illegible] consisting of the provinces of the Punjab, Sind, the Northwest frontier and British Baluchistan; the other in the northeast consisting of the provinces of Bengal and Assam.

Insisted on Pakistan Principle

The League were prepared to consider adjustment of boundaries at a later stage but insisted that the principle of Pakistan should first be acknowledged. Argument for a separate state of Pakistan was based first upon the right of the Moslem majority to decide their method of government according to their wishes and secondly upon the necessity to include substantial areas in which the Moslems are in the minority in order to make Pakistan administratively and economically workable.

The size of the non-Moslem minorities in a Pakistan comprising the whole of the six provinces enumerated above would be very considerable, as the following figures (all population figures in this statement are from the most recent census, taken in 1941) show:

NORTH-WESTERN AREA	MOSLEM	NON-MOSLEM
Punjab	16,217,242	12,201,577
Northwest Frontier Province	2,788,797	249,270
Sind	3,208,325	1,326,683
British Baluchistan	438,930	62,701
TOTALS	22,653,294	13,840,231

62.07 per cent Moslem; 37.93 per cent non-Moslem.

NORTH-EASTERN AREA	MOSLEM	NON-MOSLEM
Bengal	33,005,434	27,301,091
Assam	3,442,479	6,762,254
TOTALS	36,447,913	34,063,345

51.69 per cent Moslem; 48.31 per sent non-Moslem.

Moslem minorities in the remainder of British India number some 20,000,000 dispersed amongst a total population of 188,000,000.

These figures show that setting up of a separate sovereign state of Pakistan on the lines claimed by the Moslem League would not solve the communal minority problem; nor can we see any justification for including within a sovereign Pakistan those districts of the Punjab and Bengal and Assam in which the population is predominantly non-Moslem. Every argument that can be used in favor of Pakistan can equally, in our view, be used in favor of exclusion of non-Moslem areas from Pakistan. This point would particularly affect the position of the Sikhs.

Considered Smaller Pakistan

ITEM 7—We therefore considered whether a smaller sovereign Pakistan confined to Moslem-majority areas alone might be a possible basis of compromise. Such a Pakistan is regarded by the Moslem League as quite impracticable because it would entail exclusion from Pakistan of (A) the whole of the Ambala and Jullundur division in the Punjab, (B) the whole of Assam except the district of Sylhet and (C) a large part of western Bengal, including Calcutta, in which city the percentage of Moslem population is 23.6 per cent.

We ourselves are also convinced that any solution which involves radical partition of the Punjab and Bengal, as this would do, would be contrary to the wishes and interests of a very large proportion of the inhabitants of these provinces. Bengal and the Punjab each has its own common language and long history and tradition. Moreover, any division of the Punjab would of necessity divide the Sikhs, leaving substantial bodies of Sikhs on both sides of the boundary. We have therefore been forced to the conclusion that neither a larger nor smaller sovereign state of Pakistan would provide an acceptable solution for the communal problem.

ITEM 8—Apart from the great force of the foregoing arguments, there are weighty administrative, economic and military considerations. The whole of the transportation and postal and telegraph systems of India have been established on the basis of a united India. To disintegrate them would gravely injure both parts of India. The case for a united defense is even stronger. The Indian armed forces have been built up as a whole for the defense of India as a whole, and to break them into two would inflict a deadly blow on the long traditions and high degree of efficiency of the Indian Army and would entail the gravest dangers. The Indian Navy and the Indian Air Force would become much less effective. The two sections of the suggested Pakistan contain the two most vulnerable frontiers in India and for successful defense in depth the area of Pakistan would be insufficient.

ITEM 9—A further consideration of importance is the greater difficulty which the Indian states would find in associating themselves with a divided British India.

Two Areas Separated

ITEM 10—Finally, there is the geographical fact that two halves of the proposed Pakistan state are separated by some 700 miles and communications between them both in war and peace would be dependent on the goodwill of Hindustan.

ITEM 11—We are therefore unable to advise the British government that the power which at present resides in British hands should be handed over to two entirely separate sovereign states.

ITEM 12—This decision does not, however, blind us to the very real Moslem apprehensions that their culture and political and social life might become submerged in a purely unitary India in which the Hindus, with their greatly superior numbers, must be the dominating element. To meet this the Congress have put forward a scheme under which the provinces would have full autonomy subject only to a minimum of central subjects such as foreign affairs, defense and communications.

Under this scheme, the provinces, if they wished to take part in economic and administrative planning on a large scale, could cede to the center optional subjects in addition to the compulsory ones mentioned above.

ITEM 13—Such a scheme would, in our view, present considerable constitutional disadvantages and anomalies. It would be very difficult to work a central executive and legislature in which some ministers who dealt with compulsory subjects were responsible to the whole of India while other ministers who dealt with optional subjects would be responsible only to those provinces who had elected to act together in respect of such subjects. This difficulty would be accentuated in a central legislature where it would be necessary to exclude certain members from speaking and voting when subjects with which their provinces were not concerned were under discussion. Apart from the difficulty of working such a scheme, we do not consider it would be fair to deny to other provinces which did not desire to take optional subjects to the center the right to form themselves into a group for a similar purpose. This would indeed be no more than the exercise of their autonomous powers in a particular way.

Problem of Indian States

ITEM 14—Before putting forward our recommendations, we turn to deal with the relationship of the Indian states to British India. It is quite clear that with attainment of independence by British India, whether inside or outside the British Commonwealth, the relationship which has hitherto existed between the rulers of the states and the British Crown will no longer be possible. Paramountcy can neither be retained by the British Crown nor transferred to the new government. This fact has been fully recognized by those whom we interviewed from the states. They have, at the same time, assured us that the states are ready and willing to co-operate in the new development of India. The precise form which their co-operation will take must be a matter for negotiation during the building up of the new constitutional structure, and it by no means follows that it will be identical for all states. We have not, therefore, dealt with the states in the same detail as the provinces of British India in the paragraphs which follow.

ITEM 15—We now indicate the nature of the solution which in our view would be just to the essential claims of all parties and would at the same time be most likely to bring about a stable and practicable form of constitution for all India.

We recommend that the constitution should take the following basic form:

(1) There should be a union of India embracing both British India and the states which should deal with the following subjects: Foreign affairs, defense and communications, and should have the powers necessary to raise finances required for the above subjects.

(2) The union should have an executive and a legislature constituted from British Indian and states representatives. Any question raising a major communal issue in the legislature should require for its decision a majority of the representatives present and voting of each of the two major communities as well as a majority of all members present and voting.

(3) All subjects other than union subjects and all residuary powers should be vested in the provinces.

(4) The states will retain all subjects and powers other than those ceded to the union.

(5) The provinces should be free to form groups with executives and legislatures and each group could determine the provincial subjects to be taken in common.

(6) The constitutions of the union and of the groups should contain a provision whereby any province could, by a majority vote of its legislative assembly, call for reconsideration of the terms of the constitution after an initial period of ten years and at ten yearly intervals thereafter.

By Indians for Indians

ITEM 16—It is not our object to lay out details of a constitution on the above program but to set in motion machinery whereby the constitution can be settled by Indians for Indians.

It has been necessary, however, for us to make this recommendation as to a broad basis of the future constitution because it became clear to us in the course of our negotiations that not until that had been done was there any hope of getting the two major communities to join in setting up of the constitution making machinery.

ITEM 17—We now indicate the constitution-making machinery which we propose should be brought into being forthwith in order to enable the new constitution to be worked out.

ITEM 18—In forming any assembly to decide a new constitutional structure, the first problem is to obtain as broad-based and accurate representation of the whole population as is possible. The most satisfactory method obviously would be by an election based on adult franchise, but any attempt to introduce such a step now would lead to wholly unacceptable delay in the formation of the new constitution. The only practicable course is to utilize recently elected provincial legislative assemblies as electing bodies. There are, however, two factors in their composition which make this difficult. The first is the numerical strengths of the provincial legislative assemblies do not bear the same proportion to the total population in each province.

Thus, Assam, with a population of 10,000,000, has a legislative assembly of 108 members, while Bengal, with a population six times as large, has an assembly of only 250. Secondly, owing to the weightage given minorities by communal award, strengths of the several communities in each provincial legislative assembly are not in proportion to their numbers in the province. Thus, the number of seats reserved for Moslems in the Bengal legislative assembly is only 48 per cent of the total although they form 55 per cent of the provincial population. After most careful consideration of the various methods by which these points might be corrected, we have come to the conclusion that the fairest and most practicable plan would be:

(A) To allot to each province a total number of seats proportional to its population, roughly, a ratio of one to 1,000,000, as the nearest substitute for representation by adult suffrage.

(B) To divide the provincial allocation of seats between the main communities in each province in proportion to their population.

(C) To provide that representatives allocated to each community in a province shall be elected by members of that community in its legislative assembly.

We think that for these purposes it is sufficient to recognize only three main communities in India, general, Moslem and Sikh, the "general" community including all persons who are not Moslems or Sikhs. As smaller minorities would upon a population basis have little or no representation, since they would lose the weightage which assures them seats in the provincial legislatures, we have made arrangement, set out in Paragraph 20, below to give them full representation in all matters of special interest to minorities.

Table of Representatives

ITEM 19—(1) We therefore propose that there shall be elected by each provincial legislative assembly the following numbers of representatives, each part of the legislative assembly (general, Moslem or Sikh) electing its own representatives by a method of proportional representation with a single transferable vote:

TABLE OF REPRESENTATION

SECTION A

Province	Gen.	Moslem	Tot.
Madras	45	4	49
Bombay	19	2	21
United Prov.	47	8	55
Bihar	31	5	36
Central Prov.	16	1	17
Orissa	9	0	9
Total	167	20	187

SECTION B

Province	Gen.	Moslem	Sikhs	Tot.
Punjab	8	16	4	28
Northwest Frontier	0	3	0	3
Sind	1	3	0	4
Total	9	22	4	35

SECTION C

Province	Gen.	Moslem	Tot.
Bengal	27	33	60
Assam	7	3	10
Total	34	36	70

Total for British India, 292.
Maximum for the Indian states, 93.
Grand total, 385.

Note: In order to represent the chief commissioners' provinces, there will be added to Section A the member representing Delhi in the Central Legislative Assembly, the member representing Ajmer-Merwara in the Central Legislative Assembly and a representative to be elected by the Coorg Legislative Council. To Section B will be added a representative of British Baluchistan.

(2) It is the intention that the states would be given in the final constituent assembly appropriate representation which would not, on the basis of calculation of population adopted for British India, exceed ninety-three; but the method of selection will have to be determined by consultation. The states would in the preliminary stage be represented by the negotiating committee.

(3) Representatives thus chosen shall meet in New Delhi as soon as possible.

Preliminary Meeting

(4) A preliminary meeting will be held at which the general order of business will be decided, a chairman and other officers elected and an advisory committee (see paragraph 20 below) on rights of citizens, minorities and tribal and excluded areas set up. Therefore, provincial representatives will divide up into three sections shown under A, B and C in the table of representation in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(5) These sections shall proceed to settle provincial constitutions for the provinces included in each section and shall also decide whether any group constitution shall be set up for those provinces and if so with what provincial subjects the group should deal. The provinces should have power to opt out of groups in accordance with provisions of Subclause 8 below.

(6) Representatives of section and Indian states shall reassemble for the purpose of settling the union constitution.

(7) In the union of the constituent assembly a resolution varying the provisions of paragraph 15 above or raising any major communal issue shall require a majority of representatives present and voting of each of the two major communities. The chairman of the assembly shall decide which if any resolutions raise major communal issues and shall, if so requested by a majority of the representatives of either of the major communities, consult the federal court before giving his decision.

(8) As soon as new constitutional arrangements have come into operation it shall be open to any province to elect to come out of any group in which it has been placed. Such decision shall be taken by the Legislature of the province after the first general election under the new constitution.

Rights of Citizens

ITEM 20—The advisory committee on the rights of citizens, minorities and tribal and excluded areas will contain due representation of the interest affected and their function will be to report to the union constituent assembly upon a list of the fundamental rights clauses for protection of minorities and schemes for the administration of tribal and excluded areas and to advise whether these rights should be incorporated in a provincial group or union constitutions.

ITEM 21—His Excellency the Viceroy will forthwith request the provincial legislatures to proceed with election of their representatives and states to set up a negotiating committee.

It is hoped that the process of constitution making can proceed as rapidly as the complexities of the task permit, so that the interim period may be as short as possible.

ITEM 22—It will be necessary to negotiate a treaty between the union constituent assembly and the United Kingdom to provide for certain matters arising out of the transfer of powers.

ITEM 23—While the constitution making proceeds the administration of India has to be carried on. We attach great importance therefore to the setting up at once of an interim government having the support of the major political parties. It is essential during the interim period that there should be the maximum of co-operation in carrying through difficult tasks that face the government of India. Besides the heavy tasks of day-to-day administration, there is grave danger of famine to be countered, there are decisions to be taken in many matters of post-war development which will have far-reaching effect on India's future and there are important international conferences in which India has to be represented. For all these purpose a government having popular support is necessary. The Viceroy has already started discussions to this end and hopes soon to form an interim government in which all portfolios, including that of the war member, will be held by Indian leaders having the full confidence of the people. The British government, recognizing the significance of the changes, will give the fullest measure of co-operation to the government so formed in accomplishment of its tasks of administration and in bringing about as rapid and smooth a transition as possible.

To Indian Leaders and People

ITEM 24—To the leaders and people of India who now have the opportunity of complete independence we would finally say this: We and our government and our countrymen hoped that it would be possible for the Indian people themselves to agree upon a method of framing a new constitution under which they will live. Despite the labors which we have shared with the Indian parties and exercise of much patience and good will by all, this has not been possible. We therefore now lay before you the proposals which, after listening to all sides and after much earnest thought, we trust will enable you to attain your independence in the shortest time and with the least danger of internal disturbance and conflict. These proposals may not, of course, completely satisfy all parties, but you will recognize with us that at this supreme moment in Indian history statesmanship demands mutual accommodation, and we ask you to consider the alternative to the acceptance of these proposals. After all the efforts which we and the Indian parties have made together for agreement, we must state that in our view there is small hope of peaceful settlement by agreement of the Indian parties alone. The alternative would therefore be the grave danger of violence, chaos and even civil war.

The gravity and duration of such disturbance cannot be foreseen, but it is certain it would be a terrible disaster for many millions of men, women and children. This is a possibility which must be regarded with equal abhorrence by the Indian people, our own countrymen and the world as a whole. We therefore lay these proposals before you in the profound hope they will be accepted and operated by you in the spirit of accommodation and good will in which they are offered. We appeal to all who have the future good of India at heart to extend their vision beyond their own community or interest to the interests of the whole 400,000,000 of the Indian people.

We hope the new independent India may choose to be a member of the British Commonwealth. We hope that in any event you will remain in close and friendly association with our people. But these are matters for your own free choice. Whatever that choice may be, we look forward with you to your ever-increasing prosperity among the greatest nations of the world and a future even more glorious than your past.

Big Four End Paris Conference Planning to Meet Again June 15

Ministers Initial Revised Italian Armistice Terms—Russia Said to Approve Group to Visit All Zones in Germany.

Paris, May 16 (AP) — The four-power Foreign Ministers Council spent three hours in almost fruitless discussion of Germany today and then adjourned until June 15, when they will again attack the unsettled problems of peace.

In the final session the Ministers initialed revised Italian armistice terms, American quarters said.

United States Secretary of State James F. Brynes planned to leave Paris for the United States at noon tomorrow, accompanied by Senators Tom Connally and Arthur H. Vandenberg and their wives.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed to an American proposal to send a four-power commission to all four zones of Germany to investigate the state of German disarmament, an American informant said.

But this proposal was thrown out by Byrnes several days ago to counter a Soviet objection to Byrnes's offer of a 25-year four-power mutual-assistance pact to guarantee the continued disarmament of Germany. At that time Molotov had objected that Germany's present state of disarmament should be studied before such a pact was considered, and Byrnes had proposed the commission.

Bevin Agrees On Pact

Today British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin finally registered London's approval of the pact proposal, and said Prime Minister Attlee would make a statement in the House of Commons in London on the question later in the day.

France has already accepted the proposal.

But Molotov's attitude toward the pact remained unchanged. An American source said Molotov declared there was no hurry about such a pact, since it would not take effect until after the occupying armies had withdrawn from Germany.—

Ruhr Again Brought Up

Molotov was said to have repeated his statement of yesterday that Russia wanted to know what was going on in the Ruhr. He said he had heard of a scheme to nationalize the Ruhr coal mines.

Molotov also asked Byrnes what connection there was between the proposed 25-year pact and the Secretary of State's proposal for a peace conference on Germany starting November 12. He asked if the plan for a peace conference was designed to change the Potsdam Agreement on Germany. Byrnes replied there was no question of changing the Potsdam Agreement, and he merely wanted the Allies to agree on general long-range goals in Germany.

Byrnes Discouraged

Byrnes, described by his associates as deeply discouraged by the failure of the conferees to reach any basic agreement during three weeks of negotiations, was said to be convinced there was no other course except continued effort to compromise the differences which have split the western powers and Russia.

In recessing, the foreign ministers leave unsettled the same problems which impelled their current session—the question of Austria, which the Russians flatly refused even to discuss; Trieste, which Britain and the United States insist must go to Italy while the Russians insist it must go to Yugoslavia; freedom of navigation on the Danube, which the Russians refuse to write into the Balkan peace treaties; and international freedom of commerce with Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

In the interim period from now until June 15 the foreign ministers will leave their deputies in session in Paris to work on these problems, and others, in an effort to narrow the margin of difference.

The dispatch asserted that the American delegation agreed last Saturday to the Russian and French idea on the Italian colonies, but changed later.

"Secretary Byrnes then proposed a new and very complicated method of solving the problem," the dispatch said. "It is not hard to see that the new proposal by Byrnes not only did not lead toward a solution but, on the contrary, again complicated the question."

Harriman Goes to Paris.

London, May 16 (A. P.).—United States Ambassador Harriman flew to Paris today to confer with Secretary of State Byrnes. At the Embassy, it was said that Byrnes requested the visit and that presumably Harriman would be given details of the Foreign Ministers Conference.

Byrnes Work Hit By Russ

Moscow, May 16 (AP) — Izvestia and Pravda printed a Paris dispatch today saying United States Secretary of State Byrnes had complicated the work of the Foreign Ministers Conference with his proposal for Italian colonies and a swift peace treaty for Austria.

The Tass dispatch said the Soviet delegation found that no groundwork, necessary for working out the Austrian treaty, had been done.

"The inclusion of the new peace treaty on the June session of the agenda naturally created additional hardships in preparing the peace conference," the item said.

ALLIES CHALLENGE DOCUMENTS USED IN RAEDER DEFENSE

Norgaard

NUERNBERG, May 16—(AP) Allied prosecutors objected today to defense documents for Grand Admiral Erich Raeder purporting to show that Britain and France once had considered "self-preservation" actions against neutrals and bombing of "Russia's oil basin in the Caucasus.

The arguments interrupted testimony of Raeder, former commander in chief of the German Navy, before the International Military Tribunal on war crimes charges.

His attorney, Walter Siemers, contended the documents would show that the Allied powers had the same idea of national self-preservation, even at expense of neutrals, as governed German ideas of aggression against Norway, Greece and the low countries. Most of the documents were declared captured from the French general staff in 1940.

NIGHT

One disputed document was a resolution purportedly drafted by the Anglo-French War Council March 28, 1940, for sending notes warning Norway and Sweden that "the Allied governments cannot tolerate another attack upon Finland either by the Soviet or German government."

"If such an act of aggression took place, and if the Swedish and Norwegian governments refused to grant facilities for efforts being made by the Allied governments to afford Finland help x x x and if the Swedish and Norwegian governments attempted to prevent such help, this attitude would be considered by the Allies as contrary to their vital interests and would provoke appropriate reaction," the resolution was quoted.

The document also said British and French experts would study "a project for aerial bombing of the Russian oil basin in the Caucasus," particularly the results expectable, "the probable repercussions on Russia" and "probable attitude of Turkey."

The British and French prosecutors also objected to numerous documents, especially to captured French files said to show that the French command in 1939 plotted an Allied invasion of Belgium and Luxembourg and landings in Greece.

Earlier, Raeder testified that Hitler in February, 1933, promised the German high command that he would "rid the country of the shackles of Versailles" and build armed forces for use as a political weapon.

He said Hitler's "war intentions were not mentioned" and that Hitler's speech had "a calming effect on all of us."

SAYS HITLER GAVE ARMY PLEDGE IN '33

Tom Keating

Nuernberg, May 16 (A. P.).—Adolf Hitler promised the German High Command that as soon as he took office he would "rid the country of the shackles of Versailles" and build an armed force for use as a political weapon, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder testified today.

Raeder told the International Military Tribunal that Der Fuehrer's attitude was made plain in February, 1933, at a dinner which had been arranged to permit Hitler to meet the German generals and admirals. He laid down the dictum that the entire policy of the Reich was to be his one-man show, the witness said.

"He said the Wehrmacht was not to be used in situations of domestic unrest, that he would have other forces for that," the Admiral continued. "He assured the Wehrmacht quiet development to prevent the Reich from becoming the football of other nations—that it could devote its entire time to that."

Raeder conceded that Germany evaded the Versailles Treaty ban against a German naval air force by permitting pilots to resign and assume civilian status during maneuvers. Forbidden to train pilots, the Navy inducted some men with years of civilian air training, the Admiral testified in his second day on the witness stand in his own defense. He declared yesterday that he had rebuilt the German navy "within the framework of the Versailles Treaty."

"Civilians" During Maneuvers

Some old planes, allowed as target-pullers for anti-aircraft practice, were used to train naval vessels in proper conduct under air attack and, Raeder added, "when we used young [illegible] flyers they were discharged for the period of maneuvers."

Accused of building up the Navy for aggressive war, Raeder reiterated that his conduct through the years was based entirely on a desire to create an adequate defense.

Admiral Raeder is the thirteenth of the 22 defendants on trial to present his defense.

Officers Flown To Trial Scene

London, May 16 (AP)—The British War Crimes Commission said today that German Field Marshals Karl G. von Rundstedt and Ewald von Kleist and Gen. Guenther von Blumentritt had been flown from England to Nuernberg, Germany, where the Allied war-crime trials are in progress.

A commission spokesman said trial authorities had requested that the three officers be sent to Nuernberg, but he said he did not know the reason.

BREAD RATION CUT IN GERMAN SECTOR OCCUPIED BY U. S.

McLaurin

STUTTGART, Germany, May 16.—(AP) The German zonal government today ordered a one-third slash in bread rations for 18,000,000 Germans in the U. S. occupation zone, coincident with a warning that 9,000,000 Germans in the British zone faced possible starvation rations of only 500 calories daily.

The German Council of Minister-Presidents, just given new authority to make independent decisions, announced that the food ration in the American zone would be cut seven per cent from 1,275 to 1,180 calories daily effective May 27. The ration cut will be made entirely in bread, with the present weekly allowance of 3.3 pounds reduced to 2.2 pounds.

NIGF

New Cut in British Zone

In Herford, British military food administrators declared that unless there were substantial grain imports within the next few weeks, Germans in that zone may have only 500 calories or less daily.

(The average American diet ranges from 2,400 to 3,000 calories daily.

(In London, the British government announced it would send 70,000 tons of barley and 80,000 tons of potatoes to the British zone within five weeks to help avert starvation.)

Germans in the British zone now are getting only 1,500 calories a day, a near-starvation level. The ration is about 1,000 in the French zone and 1,200 to 1,400 in the Soviet zone.

Dr. Hermann Robert Dietrich, new food and agricultural commissioner in the American zone, appealed to all farmers "to come to the aid of hungry city people."

Crisis Until September

"This is the greatest crisis in rationing we have faced since the war ended a year ago," he said. "The critical period will continue at least until the next harvest, Sept. 30."

The minister-presidents rejected a suggestion made last week by Lt.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American deputy military governor, that they maintain the caloric level by using substitutes for bread. They viewed this as endangering their reserves of other food.

Clay had left the food problem up to the council after authorizing it to make its own decisions on all except major policies.

Military experts said the new ration for a full day would provide three slices of bread, a tablespoon of fat, enough cheese to spread over one slice of bread, a medium wineglass of skimmed milk, four medium potatoes, and a medium slice of sausage, and three-fourths of a cup of ersatz coffee.

The council approved a slight upward adjustment of fat and cheese portions, but this did not compensate for the slash in bread. Less-than-promised shipments of wheat from the United States and reluctance of Bavarian farmers to skim themselves and deliver increased quotas were said to be basic reasons for the present shortages.

U.S. Cuts Reich Rations 7 P.C.; British Zone Must Have Grain

Stuttgart, Germany, May 16 (AP). Eighteen million Germans in the American occupation zone were officially notified today that their "hunger" food ration would be cut more than seven per cent to 1,180 calories daily May 27.

The German Council of Minister-Presidents, exercising its new authority to make independent decisions, announced a 95-calory reduction from the previous average scale of 1,275 calories in three states.

British military food administrators warned at Herford that 9,000,000 persons in the British occupation zone might be placed on starvation rations of 500 calories or less unless there were subtstantial grain imports in the next few weeks.

[However, the British Government announced in London today that it would send 70,000 tons of barley and 80,000 tons of potatoes to the British zone in the next five weeks. This would provide an average of seventeen and one half pounds of grain and twenty pounds of potatoes for the 9,000,000.]

Entire Cut Made In Bread

The ration slash in the United States zone was made entirely in the bread allowance, which was cut one third. The Germans will receive 2.2 pounds of bread weekly instead of 3.3 pounds.

The new zonal food commissioner, Dr. Hermann Robert Dietrich, said the decision was harsh, but commented: "This is the greatest crisis in rationing we have faced since the war ended a year ago. The critical period will continue at least until the next harvest, September 30."

He appealed to all farmers "to come to the aid of the hungry city people."

Soviet Ration Highest

The new American scale continues to be higher than the averages of 1,000 calories in the British and French zones but is less than the official Soviet zone ration of 1,200 to 1,400 calories.

The minister-presidents rejected a suggestion made last week by Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American deputy military governor, that they maintain the caloric level by using substitutes for bread. They viewed that course as likely to endanger their reserves of other foods.

Death-Rate Rise Forecast

The German food rations in the British zone are now at the near-starvation level of 1,050 per day. The administrators said the cut to 500 might be necessary unless additional food is imported between now and this year's harvest.

A military government health officer said the present ration scale was not sufficient to maintain health over a period of time. He said it was expected that the death rate, which rose in April from 12 per thousand per annum to 14, would rise further during the summer.

The majority of Germans have until now been able to avert actual starvation by drawing on stocks accumulated before the end of the war, a food official said, but "these stocks are now definitely exhausted" and Germans in urban districts will have to live entirely on rations.

One Day's Rations

To give a picture of what these rations mean in terms of food consumed daily, he said each German on normal rations eats:

Four and a half slices of bread, one square inch of meat, one tablespoon of ersatz coffee, one quarter pint of skimmed milk, one tablespoon of vegetables, one-half cubic inch of fat, a half teaspoon of jam, a half teaspoon of sugar.

The normal consumer now receives no potatoes.

"Emaciation Terrible"

"Until now the only Germans whom we knew to be living entirely on the ration of 1,050 calories were those in interment camps," the health official said, "and we found that their emaciation became so terrible that something had to be done about it." Interment camp rations accordingly were increased to 1,250 calories, but nevertheless four internees in one camp died of starvation in April.

Although there have been no reported death from starvation among the civilian population outside internment camps, the health official said "it is certain that thousands have died of diseases where malnutrition was a contributory factor."

Bread-Rationing Move

London, May 16 (AP)—E. P. Stacpoole, Press Association parliamentary correspondent, today reported that administrative arrangements were being made for bread rationing in Britain, but added that such a step would be taken only as a last resort.

Attlee Praises Byrnes Plan

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that the United States proposal for a twenty-five-year treaty to enforce the disarmament of Germany was "a most valuable and important contribution" to the German question.

"The government warmly welcomes this initiative by the United States government," Attlee replied to a question.

Europe Federation Urged By Briton

London, May 16 (AP) — Robert Boothby, Conservative member of Parliament, today proposed the establishment of a western European federation — including the British, French and American zones of Germany—as an alternative to what he called the "absorption of Europe by a Communist bloc, and of Great Britain by an American bloc."

Writing to the Times, Boothby declared that the western European nations could not survive as isolated units because they were flanked by the tremendous aggregations of political and economic strength represented by a federated Soviet Union and a federated United States.

Fears For Social Democracy

"Unless they get together in pursuit of common policies, based on social justice, individual freedom and a deliberately planned economic expansion, social democracy on the continent of Europe is doomed," Boothby wrote.

"And the inclusion of western and southern Germany is absolutely vital to the security and economic strength of any western regional bloc."

At the Potsdam, Tehran and Yalta conferences, Boothby said, "we accepted solutions of the frontier problems of eastern Europe, which had no geographical or ethnical justification."

Because of these decisions and acquiescences to a policy of "forcible mass deportations," he continued, "today the eastern zone of Germany has been for all practical purposes, incorporated in the Soviet Union."

British Labor Party Reports On Members

London, May 16 (AP)—Britain's Labor party today reported a total membership of 3,038,697 at the end of 1945, compared with 2,672,845 a year earlier.

A report prepared by the party's national executive committee for the forty-fifth annual conference in June said party rolls included a trade-union membership of 2,510,369, an individual membership of 487,047, and a Socialist and co-operative societies membership of 41,281.

BRITAIN RECRUITING

London, May 16 (A. P.).—Great Britain opened a nationwide recruiting campaign today to get 250,000 more men into regular service with the Army, Navy and R. A. F.

Prime Minister Attlee declared the campaign "is of the highest importance" because "the forces of peace must be powerful."

Backing up War Minister J. J. Lawsons appeal for 100,000 men each for the Army and Air Forces and 50,000 for the Navy, he said: "We must be in a position to carry through our commitments overseas and to give full support to the United Nations."

Lawson said Britain now had "barely half" the number of regular soldiers and sailors he believed necessary. Current figures on regularly enlisted personnel have not been made public. Britain still is conscripting men.

Britain Proposes Plan For Pacific Defense

Paris, Friday, May 17 (AP)—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, said today Britain had encountered a United States request for British commonwealth bases in the Pacific with an over-all Pacific defense plan which would open American bases to the British Empire and vice versa.

Evatt said in an interview that the conversations on the Pacific had been suspended for the time being. He added that he would take the talks up again with James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, in Washington.

It was learned elsewhere that the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand agreed at the recent Dominion talks in London to propose such a Pacific defense plan to the United States. The three countries reportedly were strongly opposed to sole American use or ownership of British Empire positions in the Pacific.

Keyes Heads 3d Army, Succeeding Truscott

Heidelberg, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, Jr. who recently suffered a heart attack, relinquished command of the United States 3d Army today and was succeeded by Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes.

Keyes was commander of the 7th Army until it was deactivated April 1 and the duties of occupying the American zone of Germany were taken over by the 3d Army.

Public-relations officers said Truscott, 51, would return to the United States within a few weeks to "rest and recuperate." Truscott was said to be "making a good recovery." Keyes will remain in command of the 3d Army "indefinitely," the public-relations officers said.

NEW PARTY IN GERMANY

AMG Licenses Free Democratic Group in Bavaria

MUNICH, Germany, May 16 (AP)—A new political party, the Free Democratic party, was licensed today by the American Military Government in Bavaria.

At the same time, Dana, German news service, said the Free Democratic party of the British zone had called a general convention of Liberal Democratic parties in all occupation zones at Bad Pyrmont on June 18 to form a single German-wide party.

The program of the new Bavarian party calls for "an independent German republic" with "free enterprise." Military Government officials described it as "a little left" of the Christian Social Union, Germany's dominant Conservative party, and said it consisted primarily of business men.

G. I. Now Awaits His Wife---and Baby

Bride Was on Her Way, but Veronica Mary Arrived Prematurely . . . at One and Three-quarter Pounds.

Helen Comp

Cheltenham, England, May 16 (A. P.).—Sergt. G. E. Blotna of Piasa, Ill., won't be seeing his G. I. bride quite as soon as he thought he would.

His 22-year-old wife, Mrs. Elsie Blotna, set out for her new home Tuesday, but there was a slight delay. She gave birth prematurely to a one and three-quarters pound baby girl, described by doctors as one of the smallest babies ever born alive in England.

The baby, which Mrs. Blotna had not expected for three months, was reported today to be "making good progress." The woman doctor who delivered the child said she now hoped to keep the baby alive.

Mrs. Blotna was en route to Lansdown station, where she was to entrain for the Tidworth reception area, when she became ill. She hurried to her sister's home, a small prefabricated aluminum house, and the child was born ten minutes after the doctor arrived.

The baby, named Veronica Mary, is kept in a small wicker basket, surrounded by hot water bottles, wrapped in cotton wool and covered with olive oil.

Sergt. Blotna, who is still in the Army, is now in a hospital with a broken leg. He met his bride when he was stationed near Cheltenham during the war.

Lichfield Trial Of Kilian Delayed

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 16 (A. P.).—The trial of Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., former commander of the Lichfield reinforcement depot where American prisoners declared they were treated brutally, was postponed today until June 17.

Kilian is the ranking officer among the fourteen United States Army men awaiting trial before courts-martial. Two enlisted men have been convicted in the trials, which have been in progress [illegible] months.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, the American commander, ordered United States forces in Europe today to give special consideration to German anti-Nazis who "contributed to Allied military operations by their active resistance to the German war effort" during hostilities.

SAY FRANCO SOLD HITLER CHEMICALS

Asperg, Germany, May 16 (A. P.).—How Spanish sailors used to make clandestine shipments to the German war machine of rare chemicals brought from South America is told by high-ranking diplomats of the former German embassy in Madrid, now undergoing interrogation here. "But Franco was a hard bargainer," they complained, "and, as Germany became weaker toward the end of the war, he steadily raised his price."

The transactions, the diplomats claimed, were made through German "business men" especially sent to Spain by Berlin and generally neither the Embassy nor Sofindus (the big holding company for German interests in Spain) were informed of their activities. The agents received the chemicals, which were always in small quantities and often packed in suitcases, and took care of forwarding them to Germany. The diplomats professed not to know how the chemicals were paid for, but they did know that Germany was able, even in the middle of the war, to continue to pour quantities of armaments (including captured Russian material) into Spain in order to get the raw materials it so urgently needed.

MOSCOW CALLS JAP PRESS UNFRIENDLY

Moscow, May 16 (A. P.).—The Government newspaper Izvestia complained today that the Japanese press had shown an unfriendly attitude toward the freedom-loving peoples of the world by failing to print anything about Russia's May 9 Victory Day celebration—one of the year's greatest holidays in the Soviet Union. The paper also declared that the Japan edition of the Stars and Stripes had likewise failed to mention Victory Day.

"The democratic world had the right to expect that this day would be properly observed in Japan, where at the present time there exists the important task of rallying democratic forces and destroying the roots of imperialistic aggression," said Izvestia. "But the information from Japan speaks otherwise.

"It comes out that the Japanese press passed by this day, which was a happy one for humanity, in complete silence. Not one word was devoted to this memorable day, either by the Japanese press, which as is known is controled by the Occupation authorities, or by the newspaper of the American occupation authorities published in Japan—the Stars and Stripes.

"In ignoring Victory Day, the Japanese press did nothing more than try to hush up the role of the Soviet Union in the defeat of Hitlerite Germany and consequently in the victorious outcome of the world war. This presents itself as an unfriendly act toward freedom loving peoples who struggled heroically against Fascism."

HOLLAND TO NAME NEW PARLIAMENT IN ELECTION TODAY

AMSTERDAM, May 16—(AP) The Netherlands will hold its first parliamentary elections in nine years tomorrow, and most observers predict it will result in a coalition of the Labor Socialist and the Catholic parties.

The election is expected to disclose the extent of any recent swing toward Socialism in Holland.

Vote to Be Heavy

Of the 5,229,927 registered men and women voters, at least 4,750,000 and possibly 5,000,000 will ballot for 100 members of the second chamber (lower house). In the last elections in 1937, 94.9 per cent of 4,462,859 eligibles voted. The increase in registration is due to the lowering of the age limit from 25 to 23.

The parliament reflects the percentage of political differences in the nation. There are no electorial districts. All of the votes are pooled and the party representation is made on a proportional basis.

It is generally forecast that Premier William Schermerhorn's Labor Socialst party will win 35 and perhaps 37 of the seats. The party's candidates are urging a program of planned economy, mobilization of the nation's resources for reconstruction, social insurance and old age pensions.

Second strength is expected to claimed by the traditionally powerful Catholic party, largely representative of middle-of-the-road working people. The Catholics are seen as winners of 30 or 31 seats.

Reds Strong in Cities

The Communists, strong in Amsterdam and Rotterdam, may win up to 10 seats, tripling their prewar representation. They are unlikely to be a factor of the government, since both the Labor and the Catholic parties refuse to join with them.

The conservative elements are represented as the anti-revolutionary, Christian-Historian, and Liberal groups, which between them may claim 23 to 25 seats. Minor parties will divide the remainder.

The Indonesian issue formed the core of considerable difference between the Labor party and the conservatives as the campaign drew to a close.

Schermerhorn, defending his administration against charges of being too lenient in dealing with the Indonesians, said in an election broadcast: "The revolutionary situation in Java is a hard fact. And the Indonesian republic is a reality which we have to look in the face."

Czechs Plan Purge Of Diplomatic Corps

PRAGUE—(AP) Czechoslovakia is undertaking a reorganization—some official circles call it a "purge"—of its diplomatic and consular services.

The reorganization was discussed by the Financial Committee of the National Assembly in connection with the budget.

Deputy Vanek told the committee there should be no place among Czechoslovakia diplomats for those who, around the time of the Munich crisis, failed to prove themselves "sufficiently courageous."

Moscow, May 16 (AP)—Izvestia said today that the Egyptian journal Shahiya had made a false statement by asserting that the "Russian mission in Cairo consists of 600 employes and has spent almost a million pounds to arouse a recent demonstration in Egypt demanding the evacuation of foreign troops." Izvestia characterized the story as "provocative and slanderous."

Arabs Plan Action

The meeting also will aim at unifying Arab states' policy. The meeting is expected to be held before the extraordinary session of the league, May 22, at Damascus.

Hears British Use Persian Gulf Radio

Moscow, May 16 (A. P.).—A Tass dispatch from Tehran today quoted the newspaper Rahbar as saying the British were continuing to operate a wartime radio station at the Persian Gulf port of Bushire and that an appeal should be made to the United Nations Security Council unless the station were turned over to the Iranian Government.

Iran Propaganda Director Blocks Visit To Premier

Tehran, May 16 (AP)—Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Director of Propaganda, apparently is attempting to prevent foreign reporters' access to Premier Ahmed Qavam. He denied Associated Press and Reuter correspondents admission to the Premier's suite today although they had been invited by Qavam's secretary in Qavam's name.

When the correspondents arrived at the Premier's outer office door, pages passed the word along to Firouz and attempted to direct the reporters to his office. Failing, they summoned the Propaganda Director, who insisted the correspondents visit his office.

There he closed the door, disappeared for a few moments and returned with the announcement, "There's been a mixup. The Premier cannot see you."

TOJO DEFENSE PLEAS DENIED

Allied Tribunal Rules Out All Motions Of 28 On Trial

Tokyo, Friday, May 17 (AP)—The legal fight by former Premier Hideki Tojo and 27 other former leaders of Japan to escape trial as accused war criminals failed completely today.

In a five-minute session, the International Military Tribunal for the Far East dismissed all defense motions attacking jurisdiction of the court and seeking dismissal of the indictment accusing prisoners of promoting war.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb announced that "all motions are dismissed for reasons to be discussed later," then adjourned proceedings. The trial is scheduled to start June 3.

It was reported that Dr. Shumei Okawa, who slapped Tojo on the head at an earlier session, had been found to be suffering from brain disease and that Yosuke Matsuoka, former Foreign Minister, was "dangerously ill." Both have been absent from the courtroom for medical examination. They may not be tried.

Jap Criminals Base Fight On Allied Law

Tokyo, May 16 (AP)—Japan's former leaders are using weapons of Allied justice in their fight to escape trial as war criminals. Out of that fight may come new precedents in international law.

The preliminary phase of the proceedings against Hideki Tojo, war-starting former Premier, and 27 others brought up several new twists in the jurisprudence between nations as the prisoners exploited existing law and the Anglo-Saxon conception of justice to try to escape prosecution.

The International Military Tribunal will reconvene tomorrow to rule on defense motions seeking dismissal of the indictment that charges the 28 with coresponsibility for Japan's policy of aggression and war.

Major Contentions

The defense challenged the legality of the trial with these major contentions:

1. Japan surrendered conditionally; therefore is entitled to protection of international law.

2. The Potsdam declaration does not grant the Allies specific authority to try the Japanese for other than conventional war crimes, such as mistreatment of prisoners.

3. There is no basis in international law for categories of "crimes against peace" and "crimes against humanity," charged in the indictment.

The prosecution termed the defendants "ordinary murderers."

Declaration Quoted

Japan surrendered unconditionally, said Arthur Comyns Carr, assistant prosecutor representing Great Britain, and quoted the Potsdam declaration.

Beyond that, he asserted, "any nation or group of nations has an inherent right to bring war criminals to justice whenever and wherever they have opportunity to do so, unless they have by treaty debarred themselves from that right."

Ichiro Kiyose, chief of defense counsel, easily was the star of the first sessions. He built his entire case on international rules that his clients obviously had violated.

Yoshida Is New Jap Premier

Conservative Swiftly Wins Test Vote in House of Representatives.

Tokyo, May 16 (A. P.).—Conservative Shigeru Yoshida, considered such a peace-monger by the Japanese militarists that they imprisoned him for a part of the war, today became Premier of Japan and quickly dominated an organizational session of the House of Representatives.

His conservative supporters mustered a narrow margin to elect, on a straight party vote, the Speaker and Vice-Speaker shortly after Yoshida had received an imperial command to form a new government.

The Liberal party—whose presidency Yoshida accepted yesterday—and the Progressives (both actually conservative) combined to elect Takekichi Miki to be Speaker and Konzaemon Kimura to be Vice-Speaker. Miki is a Liberal and Kimura a Progressive. Both are veteran politicians.

Their election came after a dramatic forty-five-minute speech by Yukio Ozaki, 87-year-old dean of Japanese legislators, urging the selection of men of high character irrespective of party. His attempt to prevent straight party politics was presented in a motion that was defeated, 228 to 217, in a test of strength. Twenty-one members refrained from voting or were absent.

Almost simultaneously, reports spread that Gen. MacArthur was planning another purge of members of the new House. Japanese, hastily making up their own speculative lists, guessed that Speaker Miki and a prospective new Cabinet minister would be included.

Yoshida, plunging into the selection of his Cabinet, was expected to retain the Foreign Minister's portfolio himself. The retiring Premier, Kijuro Shidehara, was reported slated for one of three ministries without portfolio, along with Takao Saito, veteran Progressive leader, and Takeshige Ishiguro, who was made Chief Cabinet Secretary.

The new Premier is a career diplomat, 68 years old, who returned to political prominence last October. He was seriously considered for Premier of the first post-war Cabinet, but declined.

He later sponsored the appointment of Shidehara, his diplomatic and political mentor.

Approved By Hirohito

Yoshida for days had resisted Shidehara's entreaties to accept the premiership, but indicated his willingness yesterday when he accepted the presidency of the conservative Liberal party as a step to the Government post. The outgoing Premier then conferred 90 minutes with Emperor Hirohito and presumably won the throne's approval. After that, Yoshida's name was submitted to MacArthur, who had "no objection" and the appointment followed quickly.

Despite his record of wartime confinement by the militaristic element and MacArthur's official approval, Yoshida immediately drew fire from Sanni Nozaka, Communist leader and Diet member. Nozaka said the new Premier had "black clouds" in his past, and cited the fact he was vice foreign minister in the 1927-29 Tanaka "imperialistic" Government.

Premier Wins First Test

TOKYO, May 16 (AP)—Premier Yoshida squeaked through his first Diet test by an eleven-vote margin as the House of Representatives, in an organization session, chose Takekichi Miki, a Liberal, as Speaker, and Konzaemon Kimura, a Progressive, as Vice Speaker. The thirty-eight women members participated for the first time. [Prince Kuniyuki Tokugawa was elected President of the House of Peers, The United Press reported.]

There were rumors that Allied Headquarters had prepared a new purge list of ultra-nationalists, and that Speaker Miki and at least one prospective Cabinet member were on it. Premier Yoshida is exempt from such fears, having spent part of the war in jail because the military clique considered him a dangerous "peace-monger."

Despite this record of wartime confinement and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's official approval, Premier Yoshida immediately drew the fire of Sanni Nosaka, Communist leader and Diet member. Mr. Nosaka said the new Premier had "black clouds" in his past, and cited the fact he was Vice Foreign Minister in the 1927-29 Tanaka "imperialistic" Government.

The Diet session was featured by a fervent forty-five-minute speech by Yujio Ozaki, who at 87 is the oldest man in the House. Mr. Ozaki urged that offices be given only to "men of high character," regardless of politics. His plea was presented in the form of a motion, which was voted down, 228 to 217, with twenty-one members absent or abstaining. This was regarded as a victory for the new Premier.

Feminine Lawmakers

Tokyo, May 16 (AP)—Thirty-eight women in attire ranging from trimly tailored Occidental suits to somber kimonos embarked today on careers as the first feminine lawmakers in Japan.

Their attitudes were as varied as their dress as they took their seats in the newly convened House of Representatives.

Nervous recognition of "our new responsibilities" and a willingness to shun the limelight were voiced by some. Others believe that freedom for women means just that and intend to do something about it.

Youngest of the group, and the most modern, Miss Shizue Yamaguchi, 29-year-old former stenographer in her father's bicycle factory, said she intended to campaign for a five-hour working day for women.

Mrs. Chiyo Sakakibara, member of the Social Democratic party, declared: "We are going to forget we are women. We are going to get up and assert our rights."

Dr. Shigeo Takeuchi, of the Liberal party, became the first woman mentioned for a position in the House—she got one vote for vice speaker.

MacArthur Censors Stamps

TOKYO, May 16 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur carried his Japanese democratization campaign to the postage stamp today, ordering that henceforth neither militaristic nor ultranational designs shall be used. He ordered a one-yen stamp issued last December withdrawn because it carried Shinto designs.

MacArthur Takes Up a War Mystery

Calls On Tokyo to Explain Disappearance of Woman Rescued by Jap Submarine in Indian Ocean.

Tokyo, May 16 (A. P.).—What has become of Mrs. Verna Annette Gordon Brittain, who was last seen clambering down the hatch of a Japanese submarine in the Indian Ocean in March, 1944, after the torpedoing of her ship? At the request of the State Department, Gen. MacArthur today asked that question of the Japanese Government. His Adjutant-General's Office has no record of her as a liberated prisoner of war.

Mrs. Brittain, American born writer, was said to be the wife of a British officer to whom she was married nearly twelve years ago at Penang, Malaya. Nothing is known of her except that she was evacuated from Penang in 1942 to Singapore; later made her way to Australia via Java, and in March, 1944, obtained passage on a Dutch ship sailing from Australia for Calcutta; the ship was torpedoed and survivors who reached India said that they last saw Mrs. Brittain and the Dutch ship captain hauled aboard the submarine and forced down the hatch.

Unconfirmed reports are that Mrs. Brittain was taken aboard the submarine I-8, commanded by one Capt. Arizumi, who later was transferred to command of a Tone class cruiser and who committed suicide shortly before the war's end. There also are reports that several I-8 crewmen have been questioned but deny knowing Mrs. Brittain's fate. State Department officials here said they do not know whether she retained her American citizenship or gave it up.

Baltimore Soldier Gets Life Term

Tokyo, May 16 (AP)—Private John Marchak, 26, of Baltimore, was convicted by a 5th Air Force court-martial today of the murder of Private John E. Conzer, of Republic, Pa., after a drinking party the night of April 15.

Marchak was sentenced to life imprisonment. He had been a member of the Service Command unit at Tachikawa airbase near here.

Col. Dwight B. Schannep was president of the court. Marchak pleaded innocent of murder but guilty of manslaughter.

Account Of Killing

Testimony and Marchak's statement gave the following account of the killing:

After drinking beer and liquor Marchak went to the guardhouse, armed a detail and led it to the airbase factory area to hunt Japanese prowlers. Later, regular guards and the officer of the day, Lieut. Frederick K. Ake, heard shooting.

Ake led a party, which included Conzer, to investigate. They found Marchak in a building and surrounded it. As Conzer dashed toward the protection of a concrete wall he was killed by a single shot.

Admitted Firing The Shot

Marchak gave himself up and confessed firing the shot. In a sworn statement he said he believed Conzer was a Japanese prowler.

The sentence, subject to review, must be approved by Maj. Gen. K. B. Wolfe, commander of the 5th Air Force, and the War Department before it becomes effective.

2 Yanks Feared Lost In Crash Off Japan

Toyko, May 16 (A. P.).—Two occupants of a Fifth Air Force A-26 bomber were feared lost at sea yesterday when their plane was forced down in the ocean fifty miles north of the Ashiya airbase.

Valentine Finishes Task in Japan

Tokyo, May 16 (A. P.).—Lewis J. Valentine, former New York Police Commissioner, has completed his survey of the Japanese police system and will report shortly to Gen. MacArthur, who requested his assistance.

Valentine will return to the United States soon aboard the U. S. S. Tazewell. With him will go Capt. Richard T. Brereton, Capt. Benjamin J. King and Lieut. George C. Gallagher of the New York Police Department, and Inspector Charles LaForge of the New York State police, all of whom aided in the survey.

Hubba Hubba Lesson Interesting to Tojo

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP) Hideki Tojo, Japanese wartime premier, finally has learned what "hubba hubba" means.

In letters to friends in Washington, John W. Fihelly, former assistant U. S. attorney here, who is one of the prosecutors in the war criminal trial of Tojo, said the ex-premier asked him the meaning of the American expression.

Fihelly told Tojo it meant "hurry, hurry."

"Ah so," Tojo said. "Very interesting. Often the guards here prod me in the ribs and say 'hubba, hubba.' I always thought it meant 'remember Pearl Harbor'."

MANCHURIA FREE OF SOVIET UNITS, NANKING LEARNS

NANKING, May 16 — (AP) The last Russian soldier has pulled out of Manchuria with the exception of Port Arthur naval base and possibly Dairen, the Chinese government was advised indirectly today.

Liu Chieh, vice minister of foreign affairs, said information that the Red Army had ended its nine-month occupation came in roundabout fashion from the Chinese military mission in Vladivostok, Siberian naval base.

Liu spoke of that Gen. Tung Yen-Ping, head of the Mission, had received an "informal" official notification. Moscow has yet to reply to an official Chinese government query.

"I would think this includes Dairen," Liu told a news conference, referring to the all-year port in southeastern Manchuria near Port Arthur.

Under terms of the Chinese-Russian treaty of last August, Dairen was made a free port and Port Arthur a Russian naval base.

The Government-Communist conflict in Manchuria deprived the Russians for the moment of their main treaty right—joint management of the main north-south Changchun railway.

Liu confirmed that all Russian railway officials had been withdrawn because of "lack of protection." He said that so far as he knew, there were no Soviet diplomats in Manchuria.

The long-awaited withdrawal represented an empty political victory for the Nanking government in as much as it found the Communists in firm control of three-fourths of Manchuria, including the capital of Changchun.

Furthermore, its crack First army was stalled in its drive on Changchun and its hold on the southern industrialized quarter of Manchuria was harassed by Communist troops.

Denies U. S. Builds Bases in China

Shanghai, May 16 (A. P.).—Admiral Charles M. Cooke, commanding the United States Seventh Fleet, told a press conference today "No United States Navy bases are being constructed in China." Replying to rumors that Tsingtao was being converted into a base, he said that only shore facilities for fleet units were there.

Cooke said the Seventh Fleet had not been molested by reported Communist activities near Tsingtao.

Puppets' Sentences Upheld

Nanking, May 16 (AP)—The Chinese Supreme Court upheld today the death sentences of Chen Kung-po, former president of the puppet Nanking government, and of Miao Ping, who had been vice president of Nanking's Japanese-sponsored Legislative Yuan (Council).

Pauley immediately conferred with Lieut.-Gen. John R. Hodge, American occupation commander of southern Korea, and other Military Government officers. He scheduled a press conference tomorrow.

Ex-German Official Arrested in Uruguay

Montevideo, May 16 (A. P.).—A high Government official said today that Rodolfo Hoeler, former press officer of the German legation here, had been arrested upon his return to Uruguay aboard the liner Jamaica.

U.N. Man Urges Nations To Be Considerate

New York, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, retiring president of the United Nations Security Council, declared today that the great mass of humanity was disappointed because it believed the powers were "trying to further their own interests without regard or consideration for others."

"I shudder when we hear people talk of a third World War," Dr. Afifi said in his closing remarks to the council.

Emphasizing that he spoke as a representative of a small nation, Egypt, Dr. Afifi appealed to his fellow council members to do their utmost "to make this council be a true and real instrument of an everlasting peace among the peoples, nations and races of the earth."

"Humanity Disapproved"

He said the "great mass of humanity is disappointed with the state of affairs that prevails in the world a whole year after V-E day."

"I refuse to believe that differences between nations, be they territorial, political or otherwise, cannot be settled amicably or by arbitration," he said.

Dr. Afifi urged the people everywhere not to despair of the Security Council, saying it was still in its infancy and that growing pains were inevitable.

Alexander Parodi, French delegate, who took his seat today, will become chairman of the Council tomorrow.

Secrecy Rule Adopted

Earlier today the United Nations Security Council unanimously adopted a secrecy rule permitting it to keep the records of executive sessions from every United Nations member not represented at such closed meetings.

It did not act on rules for admission of new members when the Australian delegate, Paul Hasluck, objected, declaring some members seem to have the impression that the United Nations is a private club.

The Council adjourned until tomorrow at 11 A.M. (Eastern daylight time) after meeting for two hours.

The adjournment left hanging Hasluck's request that the matter of admitting new members be deferred and that the Council arrange for consultation with the General Assembly before final action is taken.

Set For September

The General Assembly will meet in New York next September 3.

The Australian delegate maintained that the Charter makes clear the General Assembly is the only organ of the United Nations which has the power to decide on admitting new members.

The proposed rules would have applications turned over to the Security Council for consideration and recommendation to the General Assembly for final action.

Hasluck was the only member speaking on the secrecy rule, saying he wanted it agreed that Rule No. 53, in the group proposed today, should be interpreted very liberally by the Council.

Gromyko Backs Move

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, who returned to the Council session today, voted with his colleagues to pass the rule without further discussion.

The secrecy rule is part of a chapter giving the Council authority to meet in private and to make only one copy of the proceedings of that meeting.

The Council is also authorized to grant access to this record to any member of the United Nations not represented at the meeting.

30. 24-2843

But the Council also may at its pleasure deny this record to members not represented, even though they might be on the Council itself.

If Member Stayed Away

Thus if any delegate refused to attend a private meeting, and yet desired to examine the record, the Council could deny him the right to see it.

Gromyko walked into the Council chamber alone and was seated when the session began.

The new French delegate was seated. Mexico was still represented by Rafael de la Colina, sitting instead of the newly appointed permanent delegate, Luis Padilla Nervo.

Took Up Rules

The Council immediately took up the proposed rules and there was no opportunity for Hasluck to ask Gromyko how he thought his absence from the Council sessions affected his Big Five veto power and what legal effect he believed it had on meetings of a short-handed, ten-nation Council.

The Russian delegate boycotted the session last week in protest against renewed discussion of the now quiescent Russian-Iranian issue.

Londoner Protests Limitation On Bikini Test Coverage

OCT 28 1946

New York, May 16 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today she had passed on to Washington a letter from a London newspaperman protesting limited facilities given foreign writers for covering the forthcoming United States atomic-bomb tests.

Alex Faulkner, correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, wrote Mrs. Roosevelt, chairman of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, asking for United Nations action on the matter. He suggested the facts be submitted to the subcommission of freedom of information and the press, formation of which was recommended this week by the Human Rights Commission.

Put Up To The Government

"I passed the letter on to Washington," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "I believe it was the War Department, but I don't remember definitely. The United States Government is the one to handle something like that. There is nothing we could do about it in the United Nations.

Faulkner, former president of the Foreign Press Association, said only thirteen foreign correspondents were to be allowed to cover the Bikini tests. He added that in contrast 187 from the United States were accredited.

"Apart from our natural disappointment at these limitations, there arises the larger question of freedom of the press with which the commission of which you are chairman is expected to concern itself," he wrote Mrs. Roosevelt. "As you know, one of the 'freedoms' for which prominent American newspaper men are contending is freedom to access for all to all sources of news.

A Freedom Declared "Flouted"

"This, of course, is a vital freedom, and it is disappointing that the United States Government should have flouted it in making arrangements for Operations Crossroads (Bikini), for although it is an American operation, there may be other occasions on which other governments will be in a position to control access to a source of news within their own domain, and they may well cite the American precedent now being established."

In announcing the invitations, the State Department in Washington observed that "the test in its entirety is an undertaking of the United States Government and is not a combined or international operation."

ARGENTINA REPLIES TO MORGENTHAU

OCT 28 1946

Buenos Aires, May 16 (A. P.).—Foreign Minister Juan Cooke characterized today as "outside of all that's logical and real" an assertion by Henry Morgenthau Jr. that Argentina is seeking to organize an "anti-democratic, anti-American, Fascist bloc" in South America.

Cooke told a press conference that the statement of the former Secretary of the Treasury is "lamentable because in my point of view it was expressed without any responsibility."

"The only thing Argentina wishes to do," Cooke added, "is to live in harmony with all countries on the American continents and especially with the United States. Future facts will demonstrate this to be true."

Cooke said that Morgenthau's words had caused "serious damage to the aim of re-establishing cordial relations between all Western Hemisphere countries.

Cooke told his press conference he believed that President Truman's proposal for inter-American military collaboration was "a matter which merits special consideration by the Argentine Government."

Army Is On Upswing, Eisenhower Declares

Hilo, Hawaii, May 16 (AP)—General Eisenhower said today the United States Army in the Pacific and Far East is on the upswing after passing the low tide of demobilization.

Concluding a tour of army bases during which the Army Chief of Staff found the Army in "surprisingly good shape," he said:

"The new men are acquiring proficiency in their new job, easing the loss we first felt. I have heard no one complain, and no one denied the necessity of his job."

Military Staff College Plans Cited By Canada

Ottawa, Ont., May 16 (AP)—Canada announced plans today for a military staff college which for the first time will have among both students and faculty representatives of the United States and Britain as well as the Dominion itself.

In harmony with American-Canadian co-operation in hemisphere defense, the college will be instructed by a staff of eleven officers, including Lieut. Col. P. B. Stiness, of the United States Army, who will teach United States military organization. Three British officers will be on the staff.

Students, obtained on an exchange basis, will number 56, mostly Canadian. There will be two American students, Lieut. Col. Vernon G. Gilbert and Major Eric C. Orme. India and Australia will be represented. The course is for one year.

The staff college is to be located at the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., Canada's "West Point."

APPEAL TO JOIN LEPER WEIGHED

But Army Officer Faces Denial of His Plea.

San Francisco, May 16 (A. P.).—A tall, ruddy Army officer, determined to spend the remaining years of his life by the side of his wife in a Carville, La., leprosarium, was undaunted today by unofficial word from Carville that his request probably would be denied.

This possible set-back came as friends of 65-year-old Major Hans George Hornbostel, a veteran of two wars, pushed his petition in Washington. Surgeon-General Thomas Parran was among those with whom the request was taken up.

Mrs. Hornbostel, who is 52, developed skin trouble while she and her husband, an Army engineer, were prisoners of the Japanese at Santo Tomas in Manila. However, physicians at San Francisco Hospital where she is in isolation believe she contracted the disease long before, probably while doing research with her husband among Polynesian peoples. They point out that leprosy usually does not manifest itself until from five to twenty years after exposure. Although she suspected leprosy while at Santo Tomas, the confirmation was obtained here only a week ago.

Prepares to Join Wife.

Hornbostel has no doubts about his decision to join his wife at the leper colony.

"I don't consider myself any martyr by asking to be with her as long as we both shall live," he said. "I'd be unhapy without her and she'd be unhappy without me, and that's all there is to it."

"Hans is ready now to be retired from the service," his wife said in her hospital room, filled with roses brought by her husband. "He says he's had his fling in life and that he wants to be with me. I want him to come with me."

"I am so certain that I'll be well again," she declared. "There's this new drug, streptomycin. Who can tell what it will do for me?"

Daughter Hopeful.

Shanghai, May 16 (A. P.).—Mrs. Johanna Apriess expressed confidence today that her mother—Mrs. Gertrude Hornbostel—would recover from leprosy.

"I am going back to the United States in 1948," she said, "and I am confident I will not find mother in a leper colony. She has enough will power to be cured before that."

MARSHALL TO STAY AT POST IN CHINA

WASHINGTON, May 16 — (AP) President Truman announced today that Gen. George C. Marshall, his trouble-shooting ambassador, will remain in China as long as there is a chance for uniting the Communist and Central Government factions.

The tone of the President's comment, as interpreted by diplomats familiar with conditions, made it clear that the chances at present are rated as thin.

The general, who has complete control of American relations with China, including a proposed $500,000,000 loan which he has held up, has been in China since the first of the year except for a few weeks at home in March to confer with the President and State department officials. His mission is to try to merge the Chinese factions into a unified nation—a strong China being a cornerstone of American policy for stability in that part of the world.

The President touched briefly on several other foreign policy problems at his news conference.

He said that Secretary of State Byrnes will have a statement to make on the Paris foreign ministers conference when he arrives here. Byrnes is expected this weekend the conference is generally regarded here as having failed in its purpose of making European peace settlements.

The President declared that American officials are discussing the Acheson-Lilienthal plan for controlling atomic energy internationally and he denied to a questioner that anything is holding up the proper development of the plan. The discussions, he said, are preliminary to a meeting of the United Nations Atomic commission on June 14.

The President said sharply that he is not considering Byrnes at present for appointment as chief justice of the United States because, he commented, Byrnes is Secretary of State.

New Iranian Crisis Looms For U.N.

Washington, May 16 (AP)—The taut Russo-Iranian dispute may take a dramatic new turn when it comes before the United Nations Security Council again next Monday.

Diplomatic authorities said today that contrary to expectations of a dismissal, some move may be made by Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam to keep the case before the Council because of the developing threat of civil war.

If Qavam makes such a proposal through Ambassador Hussein Ala the United States will almost certainly support it. British support is likewise expected. This would produce the same split that has involved the Council ever since the Iranian case came up months ago.

Troop Activity Stressed

When Iran originally brought her charges against Russia in London, and later when the case was revised and brought up at New York as the result of Russian failure to withdraw her troops by March 2, the main question has always stressed activity of Soviet troops in the country.

On May 6 Ala advised the Council of indications that the troops were out at last, but he said he could not be absolutely certain. So the Council postponed the case to May 20.

Until the last few days it had been expected that on May 20 the issue of Iran—over which the Russian representative, Andrei Gromyko, has boycotted several sessions—would finally be dropped from the Council's business.

All through the dispute, however, there has been a political as well as military charge against the Russians—the contention that they have interfered with the internal affairs of Iran.

But because American officials at the time were concentrating on getting the Red Army out of the Middle Eastern country, this charge was largely brushed aside. The theory was that Soviet troops were the instrument of interference and that once they had withdrawn any trouble would cease.

Army Asks Men 26 To 29 Be Drafted

OCT 28 1946

Washington, May 16 (AP)—The Army has asked President Truman to order the drafting of men aged 26 through 29 years. The request was made because of a prospective replacement shortage resulting from the stopgap revision of the Selective Service Act, a War Department official said today.

He said the President might act today. Officials have estimated that the existing pool of men in the 25-29 age group totals only about 15,000.

Demobilization To Go On

The Army will continue after June 30 to discharge men with two years of service or a point score of 40, but "can make no promises" as to reducing the release requirements to 18 months, the official said. He added that the demobilization program will be continued as promised in January by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, pending further action on the draft by Congress.

The Army's manpower pinch will begin to be felt in October or November when men who volunteered for 18 months will start reaching the end of their terms.

President Truman halted the drafting of men over 25 following the surrender of Japan, and officials said another order from the White House to selective service is necessary to lift the ban.

Soviet Trade Help Still Hoped For

Washington, May 16 (AP)—Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson voiced hope today that Russia would yet join in world economic agreements to avert two contending world economic blocs.

He reiterated an assertion that with the making of the $3,750,000,000 British loan the world would be divided into such blocs for a time, with Britain and America in one area and Russia in another.

Without the loan, he told the House Banking Committee, there will be three economic blocs—British, American and Russian—with "terrific economic war."

Vinson's Comment

Vinson said that when he made his statement about two blocs in the world, he had in mind the fact that Russia has not entered the international fund and bank agreements of the Bretton Woods conference. He added.

"Certainly we all hope Russia will join the international fund and bank, and it is our hope there will be no economic warfare at all, or what there is will be lessened."

Representative Buffett (R., Neb.) told newsmen that for the United States to "take sides" in global trade conflicts would be "dangerous to the peace of the world." He argued that the loan would "sow the seeds of World War III."

This view was challenged by Chairman Spence (D., Ky.) of the Banking Committee.

"We are not organizing for economic warfare," Spence asserted. "We are organizing for economic peace. We are not dividing the world into economic blocs. We are trying to prevent blocs."

Byrnes Is Off List For Chief Justice

Truman Says He Isn't Being Considered Now

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes is not being considered by President Truman at this time for appointment as Chief Justice, the President told his news conference today.

The President made his observation in response to a request for comment on reports that Mr. Byrnes is under consideration for the post.

Not now, the President replied.

Mr. Truman then gave a no comment reply to all questions concerning the vacancy left by the death of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

As to whether Judge Phil S. Gibson of California is under consideration, the President replied no comment. The same reply was given when he was asked if he is thinking of going outside the present court membership to fill the vacancy.

He did say, however, that he is considering every name that had been suggested to him.

The President replied with a flat no when asked if he were considering Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man and now reparations representative on Japan, for Ambassador to China.

LEND LEASE BILL SETTLED BY INDIA

WASHINGTON, May 16 — (AP) The United States today settled Lend Lease accounts with India and agreed to turn over to that country between $425,000,000 and $440,000,000 in surplus Army and Navy equipment.

After several months of negotiations, the State department announced that "no dollar payments would be required in the settlement x x x in view of the approximately equal benefits received by the United States and India."

The accord wrote off approximately five to six hundred million dollars in American Lend Lease to India and gave India:

1. About $216,000,000 in military supplies left over from Lend Lease stocks.

2. About $117,000,000 in civilian Lend Lease goods.

India agreed to cancel a $45,000,000 debt owed by this country for supplies made available to American forces in India since V-J day, and also agreed to return about $160,000,000 in silver which the U. S. lent her during the war.

Government officials said the Indian government will turn over to the U. S. half of all funds over $50,000,000 received for the Army surplus equipment.

TRUMAN APPROVES HERO BURIAL PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP) Legislation directing the War department to return for burial in this country the bodies of approximately 300,000 Americans who died abroad since September, 1939, was signed today by President Truman.

The bodies, mostly service men but including some civilian government workers, now are buried in military cemeteries throughout the world.

When returned, they will be interred either in national cemeteries or in private burial grounds, according to the wishes of relatives.

The War department estimated it will cost an average of $700 each to return the bodies.

War department plans had called for return of the first bodies by next September, but casket makers have reported that inability to obtain steel has left them unable to meet the scheduled requirements. The casket industry does not expect to get the steel before late fall, so that the first bodies may not come home until near the end of the year.

In the meantime next of kin are being asked to say whether they want bodies returned and where they shall be laid to rest.

The cost of return and final burial is estimated between $195,000,000 and $215,000,000. Congress requires the task to be completed in five years but Major General T. B. Larkin, the quartermaster general, believes that it can be completed in much less time.

All costs of burial overseas in American military cemetery or in a National cemetery in United States will be paid by the government. If burial is in a private cemetery in the United States, the government will pay up to $50 of the interment expense.

PLEA TO STALIN ON FOOD HINTED

Truman In Touch With Soviet Premier On Famine Problem

Washington, May 16 (AP)—President Truman said today he has been in touch with Generalissimo Stalin on the world food crisis, and diplomats said later that he had made a direct appeal for Soviet co-operation.

Mr. Truman himself would not go beyond his news-conference statement that he had been in communication with Moscow. He said he hoped to have something on the subject later.

Washington diplomats, who cannot be named, said they understood that the President based his appeal on the idea that the nations which co-operated so successfully in the war should now attempt to work together equally in meeting the famine problem.

Cites U S. Efforts

There was nothing to indicate that any reply had been received from the Russian Premier so far.

The President said the United States is doing more than any other country to meet the food crisis. And he said he does not think the real facts would show conditions as bad as they have been pictured.

He was asked whether there are any plans to accelerate shipments of grain abroad, now that the UNRRA director, Fiorello LaGuardia, has indicated that UNRRA information shows this country will fall about 40 per cent short of the million-ton goal for May.

Certainly, there are plans, Mr. Truman said. That is what we are trying to do, through such agencies at the Combined Food Board, he added.

Criticism On Food Assailed

The President's comment on the American contribution to famine relief backed up in some degree testimony given earlier in the day to the House Agriculture Committee.

Chairman Flannagan (D., Va.) of that committee accused the State Department, the UNRRA and LaGuardia of causing unjust criticism of American efforts by issuing "misrepresentative" statements.

He seized on testimony before his committee by the Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson, as proof of his contention that the criticism of what America has done lacks backing.

Record Food Consumption Seen Despite Pleas to Aid Starving

Per Capita Eating This Year Expected to Be 14 P. C. Above Pre-war Average—Bumper Crops Forecast Generally.

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—The United States today is eating itself into a new record for per capita food consumption, despite shortages in grains and fats at home and a hungry world abroad.

That is the gist of a report from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, which bases its forecast of record-breaking domestic food consumption in 1946 on the year's statistics to date and the prospects for the coming months.

The bureau, a branch of the Agriculture Department, said that bumper quantities of most foods are expected to be available to meet the nation's unprecedented appetite. But it predicted nevertheless that consumer demands will outrun supplies. It estimated the per capita volume of food consumed will be 14 per cent greater than the average for the pre-war period of 1935-39.

Supplies during the next several months are expected, however, to drop below the yearly average level because of seasonally small quantities of some cereal products, potatoes, sweet potatoes, meats, fats, sugar, canned fruits and canned fish.

More Dairy Items.

Against relatively short spring and summer supplies in these items, the bureau said, will be record or near record per capita quantities of vegetables, poultry eggs, fresh and frozen fish, canned fruit juices, cheese, fluid milk and cream, ice cream and skim milk products.

The bureau said that 1946 production of food crops and livestock is now estimated to be about one-third above the average for 1935-39. If this estimate proves correct, 1946 food production would about equal that of 1943 and be exceeded only slightly by the record production in 1944 and 1945.

The bureau said that the nutritive value of the per capita food supply is expected to be close to the 1945 figure. It said the number of calories available per person per day will average about 3,300 compared with 3,350 in 1945 and with 3,250 in the 1935-39 period.

Government limitations on supplies of flour and other consumer wheat products will have no significant effect, the bureau said, upon per capita nutritive supplies for the year as a whole.

LaGuardia Offers Plan.

UNRRA Director LaGuardia, however, at a news conference, recommended that farmers be "required" to market their grain and not feed it to livestock.

8-Million-Bushel Aid-Grain Lack

Washington, May 16 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson estimated today that America will have fallen short of its famine-relief grain commitments by about 8,000,000 bushels on June 30.

He told the House Agriculture Committee, which began an investigation of world food conditions, that for the twelve-month period ending June 30 "the best we can look for is 392,000,000 bushels." Total commitments, he said, were 400,000,000 bushels.

Declaring that "the American farmer has done an exceptionally fine job," Anderson said the anticipated shortage was something the farmer had no control over. He blamed weather conditions, lack of new farm equipment and a shortage of parts to repair old equipment.

Ceilings To Stand Year

The Government plans no price boosts or premium payments on the 1946 grain crop, Anderson told the Agriculture Committee. "We said clearly" that the present 30-cent bonus "applies only to the 1945 crop and we intend to live with that," he asserted. "We plan to have the present grain ceiling prices continue without change at least until June 30, 1947."

Anderson made one exception to his policy statement. He said that "in response to demands of parity" slight increases might be required. Parity is a figure set to balance farmers' purchasing power with living costs.

"Chaos" Laid To Officials

Chairman Flannagan (D., Va.) opened the Agriculture Committee's inquiry into the world food situation with an assertion that "chaotic conditions" have sprung from "irresponsible statements."

His statement was made public in advance of the appearance of Secretary Anderson, the first of a number of witnesses scheduled to be heard.

"Farmers Resentful"

Flannagan contended that the "irresponsible statements" have been made by those "who, while they occupy high positions, have no connection with the production and distribution of food and, in my opinion, do not know what they are talking about.

"These irresponsible statements have resulted in resentment on the part of the farmers, confusing our people and creating the impression abroad that America is not doing its part in relieving hunger."

Another thing that has farmers "worked up," Flannagan continued, "is the frequent changes in prices, oftimes to their detriment, and the interminable orders and regulations with respect to farm products."

WHEATLESS MEALS VOTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 16 — (AP) Wheatless meals three nights a week will be inaugurated at city eating places affiliated with the New York State Restaurant Association, Inc., beginning next week, it was announced today.

The restaurants plan to provide a substitute, when requested, with evening meals on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, but it will not be bread or cereal products according to an announcement made after an association meeting.

"Famine Dinner" For Hoover

Chicago, May 16 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover is to partake of a special "famine dinner" tomorrow night before his nation-wide broadcast on the world food situation.

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Chicago Famine Emergency Committee, said Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Illinois and Chicago civic leaders will attend the dinner.

The menu for the dinner, to consist of food containing 600 calories: thin beef soup; slice of meat (1 4-5 ounces of meat, 1-3 ounce fat); slice of bread 1 4-5 ounces; beets (1 ounce); potatoes (1 ounce), and coffee substitute.

Hoover's address, his first since his return from a world tour, will be at 9 P.M., Baltimore time.

SHIPMENT OF FOOD ABROAD PERMITTED

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP) Legislation permitting the shipment of relief supplies by any person in the United States to Germany, Austria and Japan was signed into law today by President Truman.

Such shipments previously had been prohibited under the trading with the enemy act. The Treasury department already has issued general licenses for shipment of relief supplies to Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

The War department recently received a request from Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, commanding general of the office for government of Germany, urging that private relief agencies be authorized to ship packages of food in bulk. He said he would undertake their distribution to supplement the inadequate diet of the conquered Germans.

PUERTO RICAN BILL VETOED BY TRUMAN

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—President Truman today vetoed legislation by the Puerto Rican Legislature providing for a plebiscite on the permanent political status of that country. He also vetoed a companion measure providing for a poll of Puerto Rican voters for the purpose of recommending a Puerto Rican for appointment as governor in the event of a vacancy before the permanent political status of the island is decided.

In a statement, the President said that approval of the plebiscite bill might have been erroneously construed by Puerto Ricans as a commitment by the United States to accept any plan that might be selected at the proposed plebiscite. "If the plan thus selected should not be acceptable to the Congress," he added, "it could then be argued that the United States was not keeping faith with the expressed will of the people of Puerto Rico."

Ogden Reids Visiting Gen. Clark in Vienna

Vienna, May 16 (A. P.)—Ogden Reid, president of the New York Herald Tribune, and Mrs. Reid arrived here yesterday for a two-day visit as guests of Gen. Mark Clark. They will talk with John Erhardt, United States political adviser, and members of the Austrian Government.

Lehman Gets Italian Honor

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—The insignia of the Great Cross of the Order of the Crown of Italy was presented tonight to Herbert H. Lehman, former United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation head, by Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani for "outstanding service rendered to the Italian nation." In awarding the decoration, the Ambassador expressed "appreciation of the friendly and comprehensive feelings for Italy" shown byr Mr. Lehman as director of the relief organization.

TAFT ASSAILS FEDERAL RULE

Says Labor, Business Sought Too Much Of It

New York, May 16 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) said tonight that both labor and management erred in seeking too much regulation by Government.

"Totalitarianism has infected every mind," he told the thirtieth anniversary meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board.

"Labor leaders are violently opposed to the regulation of unions, but they are all in favor of price control for business and the farmer," the Ohio Senator said.

"The very business men who declaim in favor of free enterprise are indignant against the Congress because it opposes conscription of men and prohibition of strikes."

The Republican leader assailed the price-wage policy of the Truman Administration, declaring, "it is just as bad to have the price level below a proper relation with wages as it is to have it too high."

The proposal to extend the subsidy program another year will "cost the taxpayer about two billion dollars," Taft said.

Would End Subsidy

"Today we are paying a subsidy on bread to the extent of $260,000,000 a year," the Senator said. "At the same time the Government is urging the people not to eat so much bread in order that there may be more flour for other nations.

"Isn't this an ideal time to get rid of the subsidy instead of increasing consumption in this country by holding the price below the true cost of the product?"

Declaring "it can hardly be said that up to now we have achieved or are likely to achieve any of the ideals for which we have fought two world wars," Taft charged, "it it difficult to understand exactly what our foreign policy is or what the President thinks it is."

The Senator said "the vengeance principle" seems to dominate.

War Trials Criticized

"We have promoted war trials on a principle of retroactive punishment which violates every principle of justice in which the founders of our Constitution believed," Taft charged.

Henry W. Jones, Jr., president of the American Tube Bending Company, said that "Congress has created conditions, and administrative agencies have intensified them, so that the business man, and particularly the small business man, harbors feelings of apprehension, resentment, distruct and fear."

On the other side, Jones said, "too many of us go to Washington with axes to grind," and "some of the blackest eyes handed to business in Washington have been handed out by the business man witness who did not come clean" before congressional committees.

ARMY BARES M-DAY PLANS

Royall Says 4,500,000 Men Would Be Needed in Year.

Columbia, S. C., May 16 (A. P.).—Under-Secretary of War Royall said today that the Army has decided that it will be necessary to mobilize 4,500,000 men in a year, if a future war emergency occurs.

Royall estimated that expanded peacetime reserve units would supply 1,800,000 of the total, with another 767,000 coming from the National Guard. The remainder presumably would come from the Regular Army which aims at a strength of 1,070,000 by mid-1947, and from a future draft.

Refers to Criticism.

The Under-Secretary spoke of t[illegible] requirements of a possible f[illegible]are mobilization day—or M day—in the course of a speech prepared for the Reserve Officers convention in South Carolina's House of Representatives.

He used the opportunity to decry anew much of the recent criticism of the Army's present setup and methods.

"A little of the criticism is just; most of it is unjust and based on untruths," he said, adding:

"This attack is eating into the military prestige in this country. Already it has weakened that prestige abroad, so that other nations are daring to say and do what they would not have dared—and what they would not now dare—if they felt that the American people were wholeheartedly behind our Army and our Navy and were determined to preserve their strength and integrity."

Royall did not elaborate on his reference to the mobilization blueprints readied in case of another M-day. He said War Department experts had worked them out after careful study and concluded that an army of 4,500,000 "would be necessary—and possible."

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said after a White House call today, "there will be no world war III." While he would not say what he discussed with President Truman, Representative Bloom talked optimistically about prospects for peace. "We are going to get understanding," Representative Bloom told reporters. "There must be understanding between governments."

3 Prosperity Bars Seen

Los Angeles, May 16 (AP)—Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, says the greatest obstacle to freedom in this country "is the Government's sell-out to labor."

Speaking at a regional meeting of the association last night, Wason said three bars to prosperity are "the production-preventing controls of the OPA, an inflationary fiscal policy and the partisan labor program of the CIO, adopted by the Administration as its own."

Berge Sees New Economic Abundance

Boston, May 16 (AP)—United States Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said today that if industry, labor and Government "co-operate wholeheartedly in utilizing the vitality and flexibility of our economic system, the American people will go forward to levels of production and abundance we have only begun to glimpse."

In an address prepared for the National Conference of the American Marketing Association, Berge said "abuses of economic power to limit and dominate the free market can jeopardize this future."

"It is among our first concerns," he added, "to make certain that the opportunity and the promise within reach are given every aid to their realization. In this undertaking, enterprise is at stake, and with it the fate of economic freedom."

Anti-Semitism Said To Be Growing

San Francisco, May 16 (AP)—Bartley C. Crum, member of the Anglo-American Palestine Committee, said last night that anti-Semitism was worse in Europe than before the war and had gained such a foothold in the United States that many of the displaced Jews of Europe did not want to come to this country.

He urged President Truman to direct American military authorities in Germany to prepare plans to transfer 100,000 displaced Jews to Palestine. The Arabs, he said, were running a "colossal bluff."

(ADVANCE) LONDON, MAY 16-(AP)-E.F.LAYCOCK, PRESIDENT OF THE BRITISH INSTITUTION OF MINING AND METALLURGY, SUGGESTED TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SPONSOR A GLOBAL SURVEY OF THE WORLD'S RESOURCES OF BASIC METALS.

RESERVES OF SOME METALS, SUCH AS SILVER, LEAD AND COPPER, ARE LIMITED, HE TOLD THE INSTITUTION'S ANNUAL MEETING, ADDING THAT NEW METHODS OF PROSPECTING MUST BE UNDERTAKEN ON A LARGE SCALE TO KEEP SUPPLIES UP TO DEMAND.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD FOREIGN MINISTERS (600)
BY JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, MAY 16-(AP)-THE FOUR-POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE RECESSED TODAY TO JUNE 15 AFTER MORE THAN THREE WEEKS OF DISCORD BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN NATIONS OVER MAJOR ISSUES IN THE PEACE TREATIES WITH ITALY AND THE BALKANS.

DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE CONFERENCE ENDED IN A DEADLOCK, U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES SAID HE WAS NOT DISCOURAGED.

JUST BEFORE ADJOURNMENT, THE MINISTERS INITIALED A REVISED ARMISTICE FOR ITALY LIBERALIZING CONTROLS OVER THE FORMER AXIS PARTNER TO AID HER RECONSTRUCTION.

TERMS OF THE ARMISTICE WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED UNTL APPROVED BY THE SUPREME ALLIED COMMANDER FOR ITALY, AMERICAN SOURCES SAID, BUT IT WAS BELIEVED TO INCLUDE ABOLITION OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL.

THE MINISTERS FAILED, HOWEVER, TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON THE QUESTION OF A PEACE TREATY FOR GERMANY. THERE WAS NOT EVEN ANY AGREEMENT ON APPOINTMENT OF A SPECIAL COMMISSION TO STUDY GERMAN PROBLEMS IN ADVANCE OF ANY CONFERENCE ON A GERMAN TREATY, AN AMERICAN INFORMANT SAID. BYRNES HAD PROPOSED SUCH A STUDY, AND A GERMAN TREATY CONFERENCE NEXT NOV. 12.

ONE MINOR AGREEMENT WAS REACHED DURING THE DAY WHEN THE RUSSIANS ACCEPTED AN AMERICAN PROPOSAL TO INVESTIGATE THE PROGRESS OF GERMAN DISARMAMENT.

OFFICIALS IN THE AMERICAN DELEGATION STRESSED THAT THE CONFERENCE HAD PRODUCED THESE ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

1--A COMPLETE AND EXHAUSTIVE EXCHANGE OF VIEWS. EACH OF THE FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS KNOWS NOW HOW THE OTHERS STAND. THE MINISTERS HAVE TURNED THE POINTS OF DISAGREEMENT OVER TO THEIR DEPUTIES FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION BEFORE THEY REASSEMBLE IN PARIS JUNE 15.

2--TERMS OF THE ITALIAN ARMISTICE HAVE BEEN LIBERALIZED.

3--WITH THE FIXING OF THE RESSEMBLY DATE CONTACT HAS BEEN MAINTAINED BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN NATIONS.

4--THERE HAVE BEEN AGREEMENTS ON A NUMBER OF MINOR MATTERS IN THE VARIOUS TREATIES UNDER CONSIDERATION.

THESE MINOR SUCCESSES, HOWEVER, WERE OVER BALANCED BY OUTSTANDING DIFFERENCES. BYRNES WAS UNSUCCESSFUL IN HIS EFFORT TO HAVE THE MINISTERS SET A DEFINITE DATE FOR A 21-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE--PREFERABLY IN JULY--TO WRITE TREATIES FOR ITALY, THE BALKAN NATIONS AND FINLAND. HE WAS OPPOSED BY SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER VYACHESLAV M.MOLOTOV, WHO INSISTED THE FOUR POWERS MUST FIRST AGREE AMONG THEMSELVES ON SUCH TREATIES.

THE FOREIGN MINISTERS ALSO WERE DIVIDED ON SUCH MAJOR POINTS AS THE STATUS OF TRIESTE, THE ITALIAN-YUGOSLAV FRONTIER, DISPOSITION OF ITALIAN COLONIES, ITALIAN REPARATIONS, FREEDOM OF COMMERCIAL ACCESS TO THE BALKANS AND INTERNATIONALIZATION OF THE DANUBE.

OTHER QUESTIONS OUTSTANDING INCLUDE THE STATUS OF ITALY'S PRE-WAR BILATERAL TREATIES, ESTABLISHMENT OF ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSIONS ON WAR CRIMINALS IN ITALY AND OTHER NATIONS, WITHDRAWAL OF RUSSIAN TROOPS FROM BULGARIA, HUNGARIAN REPARATIONS AND THE STATUS OF THE DODECANESE ISLANDS, ALTHOUGH ALL FOUR MINISTERS AGREED IN PRINCIPLE THAT THESE ISLANDS SHOULD GO TO GREECE.

MOREOVER, THE SEVERAL ITEMS ON WHICH THE CONFERENCE AGREED CANNOT BE CONSIDERED OFFICIAL AGREEMENTS UNTIL TREATIES EMBODYING THEM ARE SIGNED. THESE POINTS OF AGREEMENT INCLUDE:

MAY 17 1946

1--ESSENTIALS OF THE FRENCH DEMANDS FOR MINOR CHANGES IN THE ITALIAN-FRENCH FRONTIER.

2--THE METHOD OF DIVIDING THE ITALIAN FLEET, ALTHOUGH DISAGREEMENT REMAINS ON THE DISPOSAL OF SPECIFIC SHIPS.

3--MAINTAINING THE SOUTH TYROL UNDER ITALIAN SOVEREIGNTY.

4--RETURNING TRANSYLVANIA TO ROMANIA AND DISSOLVING FASCIST ORGANIZATIONS IN ROMANIA.

5--BULGARIA'S FRONTIERS EXCEPT FOR THE BULGARIAN-GREEK BOUNDARY WHICH WILL BE SUBMITTED TO THE GENERAL PEACE CONFERENCE.

6--PRINCIPLES OF THE PROPOSED TREATY WITH FINLAND.

BYRNES PLANS TO FLY BACK TO THE UNITED STATES TOMORROW, ACCOMPANIED BY SENATORS TOM CONNALLY (D-TEXAS) AND ARTHUR H.VANDENBERG, (R-MICH) AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION. ERNEST BEVIN, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY, AND MOLOTOV WERE ALSO UNDERSTOOD TO BE READY TO LEAVE TOMORROW FOR THEIR RESPECTIVE CAPITALS.

DACHAU, GERMANY, MAY 16-(AP)-SEVENTY-FOUR FORMER SS MEN, ACCUSED IN CONNECTION WITH THE INFAMOUS "MALMEDY MASSACRE," WENT ON TRIAL TODAY ON CHARGES OF TORTURING AND KILLING HUNDREDS OF UNARMED AMERICAN WAR PRISONERS AND CIVILIANS DURING THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE.

THE DEFENDANTS INCLUDED GEN.SEPP DIETRICH, COMMANDER OF THE SIXTH SS PANZER ARMY AND AN ASSOCIATE OF HITLER, AND A NUMBER OF HIS HIGH-RANKING OFFICERS.

THE SEVEN-MAN AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT COURT WAS HEADED BY BRIG. GEN.JOSIAH T.DALBERY OF SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS SPENT THE DAY PRESENTING A SERIES OF ROUTINE MOTIONS, ALL OF WHICH WERE DENIED.

A BRITISH FOOD EXPERT AT A NEWS CONFERENCE IN HERFORD SAID THE PRESENT BRITISH RATION SCALE WAS NOT ENOUGH TO MAINTAIN HEALTH OVER A PERIOD OF TIME, AND THAT THE OVERALL DEATH RATE, WHICH INCREASED IN APRIL FROM A RATE OF 12,000 PER YEAR TO 14,000, MIGHT RISE SHARPLY IN SUMMER.

MOST GERMANS, HE ADDED, HAD AVOIDED STARVATION BY DRAWING ON PREVIOUSLY-ACCUMULATED STOCKS, WHICH NOW ARE DISAPPEARING.

ANOTHER BRITISH OFFICIAL WARNED THAT "YOU CANNOT TEACH DEMOCRACY ON AN EMPTY STOMACH."

THE FOOD AND HEALTH OFFICIAL SAID THAT "UNTIL NOW THE ONLY GERMANS WHOM WE KNEW TO BE LIVING ENTIRELY ON THE RATION OF 1,050 CALORIES, WERE THOSE IN INTERNMENT CAMPS, AND WE FOUND THAT THEIR EMACIATION BECAME SO TERRIBLE THAT SOMETHING HAD TO BE DONE ABOUT IT."

INTERNMENT CAMP RATIONS WERE INCREASED TO 1,250 CALORIES, BUT FOUR PERSONS IN THE PADERBORN INTERNMENT CAMP NEVERTHELESS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE DIED OF STARVATION IN APRIL.

BOOTHBY PREDICTED THAT BOTH AMERICA AND RUSSIA WOULD PROTEST THE CREATION OF SUCH A WESTERN BLOC -- THE AMERICANS BECAUSE "THEY ARE MAKING A FINAL ATTEMPT TO REVIVE THE LAISSEZ-FAIRE ECONOMIC SYSTEM" AND THE RUSSIANS BECAUSE THE FEDERATION "WOULD SET A LIMIT TO THEIR WESTWARD EXPANSION."

BUT THE AMERICANS WOULD FIND BETTER MARKETS IN A UNIFIED WESTERN EUROPE, HE CONTINUED, WHILE THE RUSSIANS WOULD REALIZE THE FEDERATION'S PURPOSES "WOULD BE ECONOMIC RATHER THAN STRATEGIC."

UNLESS SUCH A FEDERATION IS ADOPTED, BOOTHBY SAID, GREAT BRITAIN "WOULD CEASE TO BE A WORLD POWER, AND BECOME A BASTION..... OF THE AMERICAN STRATEGIC AND ECONOMIC SYSTEM."

HERFORD, GERMANY, MAY 16-(AP)-BRITISH MILITARY FOOD ADMINISTRATORS WARNED TODAY THAT 9,000,000 PERSONS IN THE BRITISH OCCUPATION ZONE IN GERMANY MAY BE PLACED ON STARVATION RATIONS OF 500 CALORIES OR LESS DAILY UNLESS THERE ARE SUBSTANTIAL GRAIN IMPORTS WITHIN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS.

GERMAN FOOD RATIONS IN THE BRITISH ZONE ARE NOW AT THE NEAR STARVATION LEVEL OF 1,050 PER DAY.

THE ADMINISTRATORS TOLD A PRESS CONFERENCE THE FURTHER REDUCTION MIGHT BE NECESSARY UNLESS ADDITIONAL FOOD IS IMPORTED BETWEEN NOW AND THIS YEAR'S HARVEST. A MILITARY GOVERNMENT HEALTH OFFICER SAID THAT THE PRESENT RATION SCALE IS NOT SUFFICIENT TO MAINTAIN HEALTH OVER A PERIOD OF TIME.

HE SAID IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THE OVERALL DEATH RATE, WHICH ROSE SHARPLY IN APRIL FROM 12 PER THOUSAND PER ANNUM TO 14 PER THOUSAND PER ANNUM, WOULD SHOW FURTHER SEVERE INCREASES DURING THE SUMMER.

THE MAJORITY OF GERMANS HAVE UNTIL NOW BEEN ABLE TO AVERT ACTUAL STARVATION BY DRAWING ON STOCKS ACCUMULATED BEFORE THE END OF THE WAR, A FOOD OFFICIAL SAID, BUT "THESE STOCKS ARE NOW DEFINITELY EXHAUSTED" AND GERMANS IN URBAN DISTRICTS WILL HAVE TO LIVE ENTIRELY ON RATIONS.

TO GIVE A PICTURE OF WHAT THESE RATIONS MEAN IN TERMS OF FOOD CONSUMED DAILY, HE SAID EACH GERMAN ON NORMAL RATIONS EATS:

FOUR AND A HALF SLICES OF BREAD, ONE SQUARE INCH OF MEAT, ONE TABLESPOON OF ERSATZ COFFEE, ONE QUARTER PINT OF SKIMMED MILK, ONE TABLE-SPOON OF VEGETABLES, ONE HALF CUBIC INCH OF FAT, A HALF TEASPOON OF JAM, A HALF TEASPOON OF SUGAR.

THE NORMAL CONSUMER NOW RECEIVES NO POTATOES.

"UNTIL NOW THE ONLY GERMANS WHOM WE KNEW TO BE LIVING ENTIRELY ON THE RATION OF 1,050 CALORIES WERE THOSE IN INTERNMENT CAMPS," THE PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIAL SAID, "AND WE FOUND THAT THEIR EMACIATION BECAME SO TERRIBLE THAT SOMETHING HAD TO BE DONE ABOUT IT."

INTERNMENT CAMP RATIONS ACCORDINGLY WERE INCREASED TO 1,250 CALORIES, BUT NEVERTHELESS FOUR INTERNEES IN THE PADERBORD INTERNMENT CAMP DIED OF STARVATION DURING APRIL.

ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN NO REPORTED DEATHS FROM STARVATION AMONG THE CIVILIAN POPULATION OUTSIDE INTERNMENT CAMPS, THE PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIAL SAID "IT IS CERTAIN THAT THOUSANDS HAVE DIED OF DISEASES WHERE MALNUTRITION WAS A CONTRIBUTORY FACTOR."

A SENIOR OFFICER OF THE BRITISH CONTROL COMMISSION EXPRESSED GREAT CONCERN THAT RE-EDUCATION OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE AND THEIR CONVERSION TO "CHRISTIAN HUMANISM" WOULD BE MADE IMPOSSIBLE BY THE FOOD SITUATION.

"YOU CANNOT TEACH DEMOCRACY ON AN EMPTY STOMACH," HE SAID.

ASKED WHETHER HE CONSIDERED THAT BRITISH CIVILIAN RATIONS SHOULD BE REDUCED TO MAINTAIN IN GERMANY THE MINIMUM FOOD SCALE ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH, HE EXPRESSED THIS PERSONAL VIEW:

"I AM QUITE CONVINCED THAT IF WE ARE GOING TO SUCCEED IN THE TASK WE HAVE IN GERMANY WE MUST DO IT."

REFERRING TO PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL HERBERT MORRISON'S CURRENT VISIT TO WASHINGTON TO DISCUSS FOOD SUPPLIES, THE OFFICIAL SAID THAT WHILE REALIZING GERMANY HAD THE LOWEST PRIORITY HE WAS CONFIDENT THAT "WE SHALL GET A LITTLE."

WARSAW, MAY 16-(AP)-THE POLISH PRESS AGENCY REPORTED TODAY THAT 136 JUNKERS LATHE MACHINES, LOADED ON 36 FREIGHT CARS, HAVE ARRIVED IN POZNAN, AS PART OF POLISH REPARATIONS FROM GERMANY. THE LATHES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED TO POLISH METAL FIRMS.

BY JAMES DEVLIN

PRAGUE, MAY 16-(AP)-CZECHOSLOVAKIA IS CONFRONTED TODAY WITH A SHORTAGE OF ALMOST 1,000,000 WORKMEN, BUT IS NOT COMPLAINING ABOUT IT.

MAY 17 1946

THE SHORTAGE STEMS ALMOST ENTIRELY FROM THE EXPULSION OF GERMAN RESIDENTS.

THE CZECHOSLOVAKS BELIEVE THIS VACUUM CAN BE FILLED TO THE EXTENT NECESSARY FOR POSTWAR RECOVERY BY THE IMPORTATION OF FOREIGN LABOR, MOSTLY ITALIAN.

AND EVEN THOUGH THE IMPORTATION PLAN WILL NOT ENTIRELY MAKE UP THE LABOR DEFICIT, THE CZECHOSLOVAKS SEE A BRIGHT SIDE TO THE PICTURE.

FIRST, THEY ARE RID OF ANY UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM. FURTHER, THEY APPEAR TO BELIEVE THAT THEIR ECONOMIC POSITION IS SOUND WHEN THERE IS MORE WORK TO DO THAN THERE IS LABOR TO DO IT.

PRESIDENT EDUARD BENES, ADDRESSING A SILESIAN INDUSTRIAL DELEGATION RECENTLY, SAID:

"AFTER THE DEPARTURE OF 3,000,000 GERMANS THERE WILL BE SUCH A SHORTAGE OF LABOR THAT FOR A CONSIDERABLE PERIOD WE NEED NOT FEAR ANY DIFFICULTIES OF AN ECONOMIC CHARACTER."

THE IMPORTED LABOR IS EXPECTED TO BE EMPLOYED LARGELY ON A SEASONAL OR TEMPORARY BASIS, UNLIKE THE GERMAN LABOR WHICH TOOK ROOT HERE OVER A PERIOD OF YEARS ONLY TO TURN IN SUPPORT OF ADOLF HITLER WHEN HE DEMANDED ANNEXATION OF THE CZECH SUDETENLAND BY THE REICH.

IN ONE OF THE FIRST MOVES IN THE IMPORTATION PLAN, THE CZECHOSLOVAKS INVITED AUGUSTO CAPOLLINI, ITALIAN EMIGRATION EXPERT, TO PRAGUE TO NEGOTIATE ON WORKING CONDITIONS AND THE PLACING OF MANY ITALIAN WORKERS IN AGRICULTURAL, INDUSTRIAL AND CONSTRUCTION JOBS.

THE DECISION TO EXPEL THE GERMANS WAS TAKEN DELIBERATELY BY CZECHOSLOVAK OFFICIALS ALTHOUGH THEY WERE WELL AWARE THAT APPROXIMATELY ONE-THIRD OF THE 3,000,000 WERE COMPETENT, EMPLOYABLE WORKMEN.

FURTHER, MANY WERE SKILLED CRAFTSMEN IN INDUSTRIES THAT CONTRIBUTED HEAVILY TO THE NATION'S VITAL EXPORT TRADE.

MAY 17 1946

BUT THE CZECHOSLOVAKS DECIDED TO ACCEPT THE LABOR SHORTAGE NOW, EVEN IF IT MEANT THAT RECOVERY WOULD PROCEED AT A SLOWER PACE, RATHER THAN RISK THE POSSIBILITY OF ANOTHER "SUDETEN ISSUE" AT SOME FUTURE DATE.

"WE ARE PASSING THROUGH A HARD BUT IN A SENSE ALSO A GREAT PERIOD," PRESIDENT BENES SAID. "WE FIND THAT IN SPITE OF ALL THE RECENT HARDSHIPS AND PERSECUTION OUR POSITION HAS NEVER BEEN SO STRONG AS IT IS NOW."

Moscow, May 16--(AP)---An ~~article in~~ Boshevik magazine said today ~~that~~ The Chinese Kuomintang and Communist parties could cooperate for China's good but that democratic public opinion of the world was alarmed at the "policy of the American military command in China."

K. Jones

MAY 17 1946

"The Chinese public is even more worried by such policy which contradicts the principles of the Atlantic Charter and other [redacted] pronouncements of the allies proclaiming the right of each nation to internal political self-determination and non-interference in of foreign powers in political rejuvenation," K. Yevdeniev wrote.

The article said various American and British publications had reported that numerous Japanese units in China still were not disarmed and repatriated and commented that "the policy of using Japanese and puppet troops is pregnant with great danger."

MAY 17 1946

The author asserted that the progressive Chinese public well knows that intrigues of reactionaries undermine the solidarity of the Chinese people with aid from the outside.

"Progressive public circles understand also that Democratic unity is possible only on a basis of sincere collaboration of the country's two main parties--the Kuomintang and Communist parties. It's no secret that between the Kuomintang and Communist parties there exist contradictions on proram and program and principles, but this cannot serve at all as an obstacle to collaboration."

INDEPENDENCE (360) Gromer

NEW DELHI, MAY 16-(AP)-THE BRITISH CABINET DELEGATION TONIGHT PROPOSED A UNION FORM OF GOVERNMENT FOR INDIA AS THE BEST METHOD FOR STARTING THAT COUNTRY ON THE PATH TOWARD INDEPENDENCE.

THE PROPOSITION HARDLY HAD BEEN DESCRIBED TO A LARGE BODY OF NEWSMEN IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY BUILDING BEFORE COMMENTS FROM MOSLEM LEAGUE QUARTERS INDICATED IT WOULD NOT FIND WIDESPREAD ACCEPTANCE AMONG MOSLEMS.

IN ADDITION TO CALLING FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, THE PL ADVISED IMMEDIATE FORMATION OF AN INTERIM CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

A STUDY OF THE PLAN, AND COMPARISON OF IT WITH CONGRESS AND MOSLEM LEAGUE VIEWPOINTS AS OUTLINED DURING THE PAST SIX WEEKS OF CONFERENCES, INDICATED THE CABINET DELEGATION TENDED TO ACCEPT THE CONGRESS' VIEWS MORE THAN THE MOSLEM LEAGUE'S.

CONGRESS SPOKESMEN DECLINED COMMENT ON THE PLAN TONIGHT BUT SA A WORKING COMMITTEE WOULD CONSIDER IT TOMORROW.

MOHANDAS K. GANDHI, CONGRESS PARTY LEADER, ADVISED THE PEOPLE TO STUDY IT WITH CARE. "WHETHER PEOPLE LIKE THE ANNOUNCEMENT OR NOT," HE SAID, "IT IS GOING TO BE A MOST MMOMENTOUS ONE IN THE HISTORY OF INDIA."

THROUGHOUT THE LATE AFTERNOON REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, CONGRESS AND PRINCELY STATES WERE CALLED TO CONFER WITH THE CABINET DELEGATION, TO GET A PREVIEW OF THE PLAN AND TO DISCUSS PHASES OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, AS PRINCIPAL SPOKESMAN AT A PRESS CONFERENCE, EMPHASIZED THAT THE PROCEDURE FOR FORMING A NEW CONSTITUTION WAS PROPOSED BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT AND BY THE CABINET MISSION, AND THAT IT WAS NOT MANDATORY SUCH A COURSE BE FOLLOWED.

HOWEVER, HE ADDED, "IF YOU ACCEPT THE METHOD WE HAVE PUT FORWARD OF GETTING ON WITH MAKING A NEW CONSTITUTION, WE COULD BETWEEN US MAKE A SMOOTH TRANSITION AND A RAPID ONE.

"BUT IF THE PLAN IS NOT ACCEPTED, NO ONE CAN SAY HOW GREAT WILL BE THE DISTURBANCES OR HOW ACUTE AND LONG THE SUFFERING THAT WILL BE SELF-INFLICTED ON THE INDIAN PEOPLE."

CRIPPS SAID IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO STATE HOW SOON THE BRITISH WOULD SEVER GOVERNMENTAL CONNECTIONS WITH INDIA SINCE "NO ONE CAN TELL HOW SOON A CONSTITUTION CAN BE HAMMERED OUT."

he expressed hope, however, that britain would remain india's "best friend."

first lord of the admiralty, a. v. alexander, said, "we tried our best to bring about a settlement between the parties themselves. we are really sorry that it could not be done. we hope this proposal of ours will be to the satisfaction of the majority of the indian people and lead to a peaceful achievement of indian fredom."

BY CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK, MAY 16-(AP)-SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO WAS EXPECTED TO REJOIN THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL WHEN IT RECONVENES AT 11 A.M. EDT TODAY WITH THE POSSIBILITY OF ENCOUNTERING AN AUSTRALIAN CHALLENGE TO EXPLAIN "WHAT HE CLAIMS IS THE EFFECT" OF HIS ABSENCES FROM COUNCIL MEETINGS.

AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE PAUL HASLUCK INDICATED AT THE LAST MEETING 10 DAYS AGO THAT HE PROPOSED TO ASK GROMYKO HOW HE THOUGHT HIS ABSENCE AFFECTED HIS BIG FIVE VETO POWER AND WHAT LEGAL EFFECT HE BELIEVED IT HAD ON MEETINGS OF A SHORT-HANDED, 10-NATION COUNCIL.

THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE BOYCOTTED THE SESSION LAST WEEK IN PROTEST AGAINST RENEWED DISCUSSION OF THE NOW QUIESCENT RUSSIAN-IRANIAN ISSUE.

AT THAT TIME HASLUCK SAID HE REGRETTED GROMYKO WAS NOT PRESENT BECAUSE HE FELT THE COUNCIL MUST "OBTAIN FROM THE ABSENT MEMBER A CLEARER IDEA OF WHAT HE CLAIMS IS THE EFFECT OF HIS ABSENCE."

IN OFFERING A NEW SECTION OF 34 RULES FOR ADOPTION TODAY, HOWEVER, THE COUNCIL'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON PROCEDURE SIDESTEPPED THE VETO QUESTION RAISED BY HASLUCK AND LEFT IT FOR LATER DETERMINATION.

THE EXPERTS LIKEWISE DEFERRED ACTION ON WHAT NUMBER MIGHT CONSTITUTE A QUORUM. THE RULES AT PRESENT PROVIDE A PROCEDURAL MOTION SHALL BE ADOPTED WITH AT LEAST SEVEN AFFIRMATIVE VOTES AND A SUBSTANTIVE MOTION BY SEVEN VOTES, INCLUDING ALL THE BIG FIVE POWERS.

THE COUNCIL AGENDA FOR TODAY LISTED TWO HIGHLIGHTS: (1) A NEW RULES SECTION PROVIDING FOR STRICT SECRECY OVER CONFIDENTIAL MEETINGS AND DOCUMENTS, AND (2) A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL TO DEFER THE ADMISSION OF NEW MEMBER NATIONS, WHICH WOULD BLOCK THE RUSSIAN-SUPPORTED APPLICATION OF ALBANIA.

ONE PROPOSED RULE SPECIFIES QUALIFICATION AND PROCEDURE FOR MEMBERSHIP IN LINE WITH A RESOLUTION OFFERED BY U.S. DELEGATE EDWARD R. STETTINIUS, JR., ASKING THAT APPLICATIONS UP TO JULY 15 BE TURNED OVER TO A COUNCIL COMMITTEE FOR EXAMINATION AND REPORT BY AUG.1, AFTER WHICH THE COUNCIL WOULD MAKE ITS RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING HERE SEPT.3.

THE RULES-MAKERS, FOLLOWING STETTINIUS' SUGGESTIONS BASED ON THE U.N. CHARTER, PROVIDED THAT AN APPLICANT MUST SWEAR ALLEGIANCE TO THE U.N. PRINCIPLES AND PASS MUSTER BEFORE THE COUNCIL AS A "PEACE-LOVING STATE."

BRITAIN WAS OPPOSED TO ALBANIA'S APPLICATION, WHICH WAS TABLED AT THE LONDON U.N. MEETINGS, AND YESTERDAY THE VATICAN CITY NEWSPAPER L'OSSERVATORE ROMANO ASSERTED THAT "A REIGN OF TERROR AND PERSECUTION RULES ALBANIA."

"IN ALBANIA THE MOST ELEMENTARY AND HUMAN RIGHTS ARE TRAMPLED UPON AND, UNDER THE PRETEXT OF 'POLITICAL ACTION,' THE GOVERNMENT HAS PROCEEDED TO THE EXPULSION OF MISSIONARIES AND NUNS AND BREEDS REAL HATE FOR EVERYTHING RELIGIOUS AND ESPECIALLY CATHOLIC," THE PAPER SAID.

THE COUNCIL'S SUBCOMMITTEE ON SPAIN, MEETING THIS AFTERNOON, WAS OFFERED A SPANISH UNDERGROUND REPORT THAT PABLO VELASCO, A LEADER IN THE SPANISH NATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF LABOR, WAS TORTURED AND SLAIN APRIL 20 FOR REFUSAL TO DIVULGE THE NAMES OF HIS COMPANIONS AT A MEETING OF THE SPANISH UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT TO WHICH HE WAS CARRYING "DOCUMENTS."

THE REPORT WAS PRESENTED BY JESUS GONZALEZ MALO OF NEW YORK, WHO DESCRIBED HIMSELF AS SECRETARY OF THE SPANISH NATIONAL CONFEDERATION

OF LABOR AND SAID HE HAD FLED SPAIN THREE YEARS AGO.
THE SUBCOMMITTEE HAS ANNOUNCED IT WOULD ACCEPT ALL PROFERRED INFORMATION CONCERNING THE FRANCO REGIME AND SAID THAT UNDERGROUND DOCUMENTS WOULD BE RECEIVED SUBJECT TO THE PROOF OF THEIR AUTHENTICITY.

NIGHT LEAD HUMAN RIGHTS (210)
BY LARRY HAUCK
NEW YORK, MAY 16-(AP)-MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT'S UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS ~~APPROVED A FINAL DRAFT OF~~ ITS REPORT TODAY, WITH SOVIET DELEGATE ALEXANDER BORISOV REFUSING TO VOTE FOR AN AGENCY TO ENFORCE AN INTERNATIONAL BILL OF RIGHTS.
THE COMMISSION CALLED FOR PRACTICAL AND EFFECTIVE MEASURES TO BE TAKEN TO PROVIDE AGAINST VIOLATION OF THOSE RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS THAT WILL BE PROCLAIMED IN THE BILL.
BORISOV ALSO OBJECTED TO A SECTION OF THE REPORT CALLING FOR A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND OF THE PRESS.
THE PASSAGE SAID: "THE COMMISSION DECIDED TO REFER TO THE SUB-COMMISSION ALL DOCUMENTS ON ANY SUBJECT PERTAINING TO FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND OF THE PRESS."
"I AM OPPOSED TO THAT," THE RUSSIAN SAID. "SOME TYPES OF THE PRESS ARE CONTRARY TO THE AIMS OF THE UNITED NATIONS."
MRS. ROOSEVELT RETORTED: "WE DO NOT FEEL THAT WE SHOULD ACT AS CENSORS FOR THE SUB-COMMISSION."
BORISOV THEN DECLARED HE WOULD NOT INSIST ON THE POINT IF IT WERE UNDERSTOOD THAT NO DOCUMENTS "AGAINST" THE PURPOSES OF THE U.N. WERE SENT.
THE INFORMATION SUB-COMMISSION WOULD BE MAID UP OF 12 MEMBERS "WHO HAVE KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE IN THE DIFFERENT FIELDS OF INFORMATION."
FINAL DECISIONS ON THIS AND ALL OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS IN THE REPORT WILL BE MADE BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, WHICH CONVENES MAY 25.

"THIS, OF COURSE, IS A VITAL FREEDOM, AND IT IS DISAPPOINTING THAT THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SHOULD HAVE FLOUTED IT IN MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR OPERATIONS CROSSROADS (BIKINI), FOR ALTHOUGH IT IS AN AMERICAN OPERATION, THERE MAY BE OTHER OCCASIONS ON WHICH OTHER GOVERNMENTS WILL BE IN A POSITION TO CONTROL ACCESS TO A SOURCE OF NEWS WITHIN THEIR OWN DOMAIN, AND THEY MAY WELL CITE THE AMERICAN PRECEDENT NOW BEING ESTABLISHED."
IN ANNOUNCING THE INVITATIONS, THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON OBSERVED THAT "THE TEST IN ITS ENTIRETY IS AN UNDERTAKING OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AND IS NOT A COMBINED OR INTERNATIONAL OPERATION."

NEW YORK, MAY 16-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, ITS FINAL REPORT TO THE ~~ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL~~ COUNCIL BLOCKED BY THE OPPOSITION OF A RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE, CONVENES TODAY FOR ANOTHER EFFORT TO WIN APPROVAL FOR ITS RECOMMENDATIONS.
THE SOVIET DELEGATE, ALEXANDER BROISOV, CLASHED WITH MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, COMMISSION CHAIRMAN, YESTERDAY WHEN HE REFUSED TO APPROVE THE REPORT BECAUSE OF HIS OBJECTION TO TWO OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS:
1. THAT ALL MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION SHOULD SERVE AS NON-GOVERNMENTAL REPRESENTATIVES.

2. THAT MEMBER STATES, EACH OF WHICH WOULD NOMINATE TWO EXPERTS, COULD NOMINATE A NATIONAL OF ANOTHER MEMBER STATE IF THEY DESIRED.
"UNDER YOUR PLAN," SAID BROISOV, "WE WOULD HAVE PLENTY OF SPEECHES AND DOCUMENTS BUT THE COMMISSION WOULD BE UNABLE TO SECURE ANY ACTION. THIS WOULD AFFECT IMPLEMENTATION OF ANY DECISIONS TAKEN. I COULD NOMINATE A QUISLING OR SOME SUCH PERSON WHO BROUGHT ABOUT THE LAST WAR."
MRS. ROOSEVELT RETORTED THAT SHE SAW "NO DANGER THAT ANY GOVERNMENT WOULD NOMINATE A QUISLING."
SHE SAID THE COMMISSION FELT THAT BY PERMITTING MEMBER NATIONS TO NOMINATE OUTSIDE THEIR OWN BORDERS A USEFUL PURPOSE WOULD BE SERVED IN THE EVENT SEVERAL NATIONS AGREED ON SOME OUTSTANDING EXPERT.
"WHY RESORT TO SUCH ARTIFICIALITY?" SAID BROISOV. "WE CERTAINLY COULD FIND TWO EXPERTS IN THE SOVIET."
MRS. ROOSEVELT ADJOURNED THE MEETING WITH THE SUGGESTION THAT THE RUSSIAN "GO OVER IT MORE CAREFULLY," AND ADDED THAT SHE FELT THE REPRESENTATIVES "SHOULD BE ABLE TO PROJECT THEMSELVES INTO THE INTERESTS OF HUMAN BEINGS RATHER THAN INTO THE INTERESTS OF NATIONALITIES ALONE."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, IN A TELEGRAM GREETING WINANT, SAID HE ATTACHED "GREAT IMPORTANCE" TO THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL AS AN AGENCY "DESIGNED, AMONG OTHER THINGS, TO PREVENT CRITICAL SITUATIONS FROM ARISING." HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT IT WAS NOT INTENDED MERELY AS A "PREVENTIVE DEVICE."

"WITH ITS RELATED AGENCIES," THE PRESIDENT SAID, "IT IS DESIGNED TO PROMOTE BETTER AND STABLER CONDITIONS OF LIFE FOR ALL THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

BRITISH LOAN (230)

WASHINGTON, MAY 16-(AP)-THE POSSIBILITY OF POSTWAR TRADE COMPETITION BETWEEN TWO HUGE ECONOMIC BLOCS--ONE ANGLO-AMERICAN, THE OTHER RUSSIAN--RAISED A NEW BRITISH LOAN FACTOR TODAY.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY VINSON ACKNOWLEDGED SUCH A PROSPECT WHEN HE TOLD THE HOUSE BANKING COMMITTEE HE CONSIDERED THIS TWO-SIDED RIVALRY LIKELY FOR A TIME. BUT HE VOICED THE LONG-RANGE HOPE THAT ALL SUCH ECONOMIC BLOCS MIGHT SOMEHOW BE ELIMINATED.

OPPONENTS OF THE LOAN IMMEDIATELY SEIZED ON VINSON'S FORECAST OF THE IMMEDIATE ECONOMIC FUTURE AS A SOURCE OF AMMUNITION.

MAY 17 1946

REP. BUFFETT (R-NEB) TOLD NEWSMEN THAT FOR THE UNITED STATES TO "TAKE SIDES" IN GLOBAL TRADE CONFLICTS WOULD BE "DANGEROUS TO THE PEACE OF THE WORLD." HE ARGUED THE LOAN WOULD "SOW THE SEEDS OF WORLD WAR III."

THIS VIEW WAS CHALLENGED BY CHAIRMAN SPENCE (D-KY) WHOSE BANKING COMMITTEE RECEIVED VINSON'S TESTIMONY AS PART OF ITS HEARINGS ON THE SENATE-APPROVED LOAN.

"WE ARE NOT ORGANIZING FOR ECONOMIC WARFARE," SPENCE ASSERTED. "WE ARE ORGANIZING FOR ECONOMIC PEACE. WE ARE NOT DIVIDING THE WORLD INTO ECONOMIC BLOCS. WE ARE TRYING TO PREVENT BLOCS."

VINSON TOLD THE COMMITTEE YESTERDAY THAT "THE GREAT DANGER BEFORE US IN DIVISION OF THE WORLD INTO CONFLICTING BLOCS. IN THE ECONOMIC SPHERE WE ARE TRYING TO MEET THIS PROBLEM THROUGH COOPERATION IN THE WORLD FUND AND BANK." RUSSIA HAS NOT JOINED THE BRETTON WOODS AGREEMENTS WHICH SET UP THE WORLD BANK AND MONETARY FUND.

WHILE CONCEDING THAT FOR THE TIME BEING BRITISH-AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN BLOCS MIGHT OPERATE, VINSON DAID "IF ENGLAND ADOPTS THE FAIR CURRENCY AND TRADE PRACTICES WE HAVE PROPOSED, IT MAY BE POSSIBLE TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF A BLOC OUTSIDE THE FUND AND BANK UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF RUSSIA."

WASHINGTON, MAY 16-(AP)-CHAIRMAN FLANNAGAN (D-VA) OPENED THE HOUSE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE'S INQUIRY INTO THE WORLD FOOD SITUATION TODAY WITH AN ASSERTION THAT "CHAOTIC CONDITIONS" HAVE SPRUNG FROM "IRRESPONSIBLE STATEMENTS."

THE LAWMAKER'S STATEMENT WAS MADE PUBLIC IN ADVANCE OF THE (10 A.M. EST) APPEARANCE BY SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE CLINTON P. ANDERSON, FIRST OF A NUMBER OF WITNESSES SCHEDULED TO BE HEARD.

FLANNAGAN CONTENDED THE "IRRESPONSIBLE STATEMENTS" HAVE BEEN MADE BY THOSE "WHO, WHILE THEY OCCUPY HIGH POSITIONS, HAVE NO CONNECTION WITH THE PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD AND, IN MY OPINION, DO NOT KNOW WHAT THEY ARE TALKING ABOUT.

"THESE IRRESPONSIBLE STATEMENTS HAVE RESULTED IN RESENTMENT ON THE PART OF THE FARMERS, CONFUSING OUR PEOPLE, AND CREATING THE IMPRESSION ABROAD THAT AMERICA IS NOT DOING ITS PART IN RELIEVING HUNGER."

ANOTHER THING THAT HAS FARMERS "WORKED UP," THE VIRGINIAN CONTINUED, "IS THE FREQUENT CHANGES IN PRICES, OFTTIMES TO THEIR DETRIMENT, AND THE INTERMINABLE ORDERS AND REGULATIONS WITH RESPECT TO FARM PRODUCTS."

IN GERMANY THREE WOMEN WORKERS TO EVERY MAN ARE DIGGING ON ESTATES AND IN SMALL PLOTS. BERLIN'S FAMOUS PARK, THE TIERGARTEN, HAS BEEN TURNED INTO A POTATO PATCH.

POLAND IS FARMING TWICE AS MUCH LAND AS A YEAR AGO BUT STILL HAS SIX MILLION ACRES IDLE FOR LACK OF MACHINES AND SEED.

RAINS HAVE BROKEN A THREE-YEAR DROUGHT IN SPAIN AND THE BEST YIELDS OF A DECADE ARE PREDICTED. RECENT RAINS ON TURKEY'S FERTILE ANATOLIA PLAINS HAVE BOLSTERED CROP EXPECTATIONS TWO PERCENT ABOVE NORMAL.

FALL SOWINGS WINTERED WELL IN SWEDEN AND FINLAND. NORWAY CAN RAISE ONLY 20 PERCENT OF HER GRAIN NEEDS BUT HER FISH HAULS HAVE BEEN SO ABUNDANT THIS SPRING THAT TONS WERE EXPORTED. WHALERS ALSO ARE HAVING A BIG SEASON, ENABLING NORWAY TO CONTRIBUTE 51,000 TONS OF ANIMAL FATS TO THE WORLD POOL.

IN SOUTHEAST ASIA, A PREWAR RICE BARREL WHICH ONCE OVERFLOWED MILLIONS OF TONS INTO THE WORLD MARKET, FOOD OFFICIALS SAY THE CROP PLANTED THIS SUMMER WILL BE DEPENDENT UPON THE COMPOSING OF LOCAL POLITICAL UNREST AND THE SUPPRESSION OF TERRORISM, THE PROVISION OF BETTER TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES, AND THE SUPPLYING OF CONSUMER GOODS TO GROWERS INDIFFERENT TO MONEY PAYMENT.

THERE ARE OTHER DIFFICULTIES. IRRIGATION SYSTEMS WERE RUINED UNDER JAPANESE OCCUPATION. FARMERS WERE INTIMIDATED AND CURTAILED PLANTINGS OR CHANGED TO OTHER CROPS. MANY WATER BUFFALO, THE STANDARD RICE PADDY WORK ANIMAL, WERE KILLED. FORCED LABOR CONSCRIPTION REMOVED MANY OF THE FARMERS.

CONSEQUENTLY, ONLY THREE COUNTRIES PRESENTLY ARE LISTED AS EXPECTED EXPORTERS OF THE CROP RECENTLY HARVESTED - SIAM, BURMA AND INDO-CHINA. THEIR SUPPLY TO THE WORLD MARKET WILL NOT EXCEED 2,500,000 TONS. BEFORE THE WAR BURMA ALONE EXPORTED THREE MILLION TONS.

WASHINGTON, MAY 16-(AP)-THE FEDERATION OF AMERICAN SCIENTISTS SAID TODAY "TEN MONTHS ARE GONE" SINCE THE FIRST ATOMIC BOMB EXPLOSION IN NEW MEXICO AND TIME IS RUNNING OUT BECAUSE "THE BOMB WILL NOT WAIT TEN YEARS."

IN A STATEMENT NOTING THAT THE ALAMOGORDO TEST BLAST TOOK PLACE EXACTLY TEN MONTHS AGO, THE FEDERATION SAID "TODAY MORE THAN EVER SCIENTISTS FEEL THE DUTY TO WARN THEIR FELLOW CITIZENS THAT WE ARE NOT MOVING NEARLY FAST ENOUGH X X X.

"NO ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION HAS BEEN SET UP WITHIN THE UNITED STATES. THE POWERS WHICH COULD MEAN SO MUCH TO ALL MEN REMAIN UNDER THE LOCK AND KEY OF THE MILITARY. NO ATOMIC ENERGY LEGISLATION HAS YET BEEN DISCUSSED IN FULL DEBATE ON THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE.

"NO DETAILED PROPOSAL FOR WORLD CONTROL OF THESE AWESOME ATOMIC FORCES HAS YET BEEN MADE BY THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES. X X X. THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION IS ABOUT TO MEET--BELATEDLY--BUT THE PEACETIME BENEFITS OF ATOMIC ENERGY--EVEN THE WORLD'S FIRST ATOMIC POWER PROJECT GETTING UNDER WAY AT OAK RIDGE, TENNESSEE--ARE STILL SHROUDED IN SECRECY.

"TEN MONTHS HAVE PASSED, AND THE BOMB TICKS AWAY WHILE MANKIND STUMBLES BLINDLY TOWARD THE TIME WHEN ALL INDUSTRIAL NATIONS WILL HAVE BOMBS ENOUGH THAT ANY ONE OF THEM MIGHT DESTROY IN ONE RAID THE CENTERS OF CIVILIZATION. ONCE AGAIN WE WARN THE AMERICAN PEOPLE THAT TIME IS RUNNING OUT, THAT THIS PROBLEM MUST BE SOLVED, THAT IT MUST BE SOLVED IN A FEW YEARS."

WASHINGTON, MAY 16-(AP)-A COOPERATIVE AMERICAN-RUSSIAN ARRANGEMENT FOR TRANSMITTING OFFICIAL MEASSAGES BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND MOSCOW HAS BEEN WOUND UP, THE WAR DEPARTMENT REPORTED TODAY.

THE RADIO-TELEGRAPH CIRCUIT SET UP IN WARTIME AND JOINTLY OPERATED BY THE U.S. ARMY AND RUSSIAN AUTHORITIES WAS REPLACED MAY 6 BY AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FACILITIES.

AN ARMY SPOKESMAN EXPLAINED THAT THE OFFICIAL CIRCUIT, WHICH OPERATED BETWEEN THE WAR DEPARTMENT AND THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY HERE AND THE AMERICAN EMBASSY AND THE KREMLIN IN MOSCOW, WAS A WARTIME EXPEDIENT TO SERVE THE COMMON ENDS OF THE ALLIES.

HE SAID IT HAD BEEN PLANNED FOR MONTHS TO REPLACE THE ARRANGEMENTS WITH COMMERCIAL FACILITIES WHEN THESE COULD BE PROVIDED BY RCA COMMUNICATIONS AND THE MACKAY RADIO AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY. THE OFFICIAL FACILITIES WILL BE MAINTAINED AS A STANDBY UNTIL THE END OF THIS MONTH.

THE WASHINGTON END OF THE OFFICIAL CIRCUIT, CENTERED AT THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S PENTAGON BUILDING, WAS AT ALL TIMES ENTIRELY UNDER U.S. ARMY CONTROL, THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

WASHINGTON, MAY 16-(AP)-ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE WILLIAM BENTON SAID TONIGHT THAT THE FAILURE OF COUNTRIES TO ABANDON POLITICAL CENSORSHIP AFTER THE WAR HAS CREATED "A DISTURBING AND A DANGEROUS CONDITION."

"A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF THE EARTH'S POPULATION--PERHAPS 80 PERCENT--IS STILL CUT OFF IN VARYING DEGREES BY CENSORSHIP OF DIFFERING TYPES, BY POVERTY, BY ILLITERACY, OR BY LACK OF MEANS OF COMMUNICATION," BENTON TOLD A FORUM OF THE AMERICAN VETERANS COMMITTEE.

THIS CONDITION, HE SAID, IMPOSES RESPONSIBILITIES ON THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER COUNTRIES WHICH CANNOT BE ESCAPED.

BENTON DECLARED THAT BECAUSE OF A SLASH IN STATE DEPARTMENT APPROPRIATIONS IN THE HOUSE, ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL AMERICAN INSTRUMENTS FOR BETTERING UNDERSTANDING--INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING--IS IN JEOPARDY.

WILLIAM L.SHIRER, RADIO COMMENTATOR, IN ANOTHER ADDRESS PREPARED FOR THE FORUM, SAID THE ACTION OF THE HOUSE IN CUTTING OF $10,000,000 OF THE SHORT WAVE APPROPRIATION HAD REDUCED THE VOICE OF AMERICA TO "A SIGH, OR A SQUEAK."

"IN THIS IDIOTIC DECISION," HE SAID, "THEY (THE CONGRESSMEN) ARE SUPPORTED BY THE AP AND UP WHO REFUSE TO SELL THEIR NEWS SERVICES TO THEIR OWN GOVERNMENT THOUGH THEY WILL SELL THEM TO AGENCIES OF OTHER GOVERNMENTS."

SHIRER SAID IT COSTS AT LEAST $10,000,000 A YEAR TO RUN A RADIO SERVICE THAT CAN COMPETE WITH THAT OF THE BRITISH, FOR INSTANCE, AND PRIVATE INTERESTS WILL NOT DO IT--"THEY ARE NOT IN BUSINESS FOR THEIR HEALTH."

IN REGARD TO THE CONTENTION OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS THAT DISSEMINATION OF THE ORGANIZATION'S NEWS BY THE GOVERNMENT WOULD CAUSE THE OBJECTIVITY OF THE REPORTS TO BE QUESTIONED, SHIRER COMMENTED, "RIDICULOUS." THE FACT THAT TASS, ORGAN OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT, GETS AP SERVICE, HE SAID, "DOES NOT MEAN THAT AP NEWS CONSISTS OF BOLSHEVIK PROPAGANDA."

JAMES P.WARBURG, AUTHOR AND FORMER DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF THE OVERSEAS BRANCH OF THE ABOLISHED OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION, ASSERTED THAT "THE FREE FLOW OF INFORMATION AMONG ALL THE PEOPLES OF THE WORLD IS A PRIME PREREQUISITE OF LASTING PEACE."

NEW YORK, MAY 16-(AP)-NAVY SECRETARY JAMES V.FORRESTAL SAID TODAY THE AMERICAN PHYSICAL STANDARD MUST BE RAISED "IF WE ARE TO JUSTIFY OUR CLAIM THAT THE AMERICAN SYSTEM IS CAPABLE OF PROVIDING THE ESSENTIALS OF SOUND MEDICAL CARE TO EVERY CITIZEN."

FORRESTAL CITED A RECORD OF 4,800,000 MEN REJECTED FOR MILITARY SERVICE DUE TO PHYSICAL OR MENTAL UNFITNESS DURING WORLD WAR II IN AN ADDRESS AT NEW YORK HOSPITAL.

(WX)-NEW YORK,MAY 16-(AP)-SENATOR PEPPER (D-FLA) SAID TONIGHT THAT A "COALITION OF THE MOST REACTIONARY ELEMENTS IN BOTH PARTIES" IS ENTRENCHED AGAINST ENACTMENT OF LEGISLATION DESIRED BY "THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

THAT IS TRUE, HE SAID, "WHEREVER WE TURN ON THE LEGISLATIVE FRONT--WHETHER IT BE MINIMUM WAGE, OR NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE, OR THE PROTECTION OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, OR VETERANS HOUSING, MONOPOLY IN INDUSTRY, POLL TAX, ANTI-INFLATION, FULL PRODUCTION AND FULL EMPLOYMENT."

PEPPER MADE THAT CONTENTION IN AN ADDRESS PREPARED FOR A MADISON SQUARE GARDEN RALLY OF THE VETERANS' COUNCIL OF THE INDEPENDENT COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS.

"THAT SAME ILLIBERAL COALITION," HE DECLARED, "IS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FAILURE BY THE UNITED STATES TO TAKE THE GREAT ROLE IN WORLD AFFAIRS, IN INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION, WHICH IS THE LEGACY OF FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT."

AROUND THE WORLD

TORREON, MEXICO--U.S. AND MEXICAN AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS WILL USE 10,000 POUNDS OF DDT IN EXPERIMENTS IN THE TORREON DISTRICT TO ERADICATE THE PINK BOLL WORM. THE WORM HAS CAUSED THE UNITED STATES FOR SEVERAL YEARS TO BAR IMPORTS OF MEXICAN COTTON.

WINNIPEG--HUDSON'S BAY WILL BE OPEN TO COMMERCIAL TRAFFIC THIS YEAR FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE 1939. IT OFFERS CANADIAN PRAIRIE GRAIN PRODUCERS THE CHEAPEST ROUTE TO EUROPE.

WARSAW--THE POLISH GOVERNMENT IS PLANNING TO RESTRICT EACH RESTAURANT CUSTOMER TO 100 GRAMS OF MEAT. THEY NOW ARE ALLOWED 200 GRAMS. RESTAURANTS CAN SELL MEAT ONLY FOUR DAYS A WEEK.

QUEBEC, MAY 17-(AP)-DELEGATES FROM THE UNITED STATES, HAWAII, CANADA AND MEXICO WILL HOLD ELECTIONS TODAY AT THE FINAL SESSION OF THE 24TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE ASSOCIATION OF JUNIOR LEAGUES.

ERNEST J. BONHN, DIRECTOR OF THE CLEVELAND METROPOLITAN HOUSING AUTHORITY, TOLD THE ASSOCIATION YESTERDAY THAT NEW CONSTRUCTION WAS NEEDED TO PROVIDE DECENT HOUSING.

DR. LEONARD W. MAYO, DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCES AT WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY, CLEVELAND, SAID "WE MUST HAVE FULL EMPLOYMENT IN ORDER TO SUSTAIN ADEQUATE PUBLIC WELFARE PROGRAMS."

MRS. J.A. HODGSON OF MONTREAL, CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE ON THE BOARD OF THE ASSOCIATION, SAID LAST NIGHT THAT THE LEAGUE MUST INTEREST ITSELF IN THE PROBLEMS OF THE COMMUNITY, BESIDES GIVING VOLUNTEER SERVICE.

Russian Accord In June Is Seen By Byrnes

Paris, May 17 (AP)—United States Secretary of State Byrnes and a party of fifteen, including Senators Connally (D., Texas) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.) left here by plane today for Washington after the deadlocked Foreign Minister Conference had adjourned until June 15.

They flew in the "Caravan Crescent," which took off at 11:12 A. M. (6:12 A. M. eastern daylight time).

Before departing, Byrnes expressed the conviction that despite the failure of this conference to draft any major treaties, the outstanding differences between Russia and the Western powers would be settled at the next meeting. A similar view had been expressed by British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Byrnes Aide Remains

James Dunn, Assistant United States Secretary of State, remained in Paris to work with deputies of the other three powers in preparation for the June 15 conference.

Pierre Schneider, French Foreign Office Under Secretary, and Jefferson Caffery, United States Ambassador to Paris, saw the Byrnes party off. W. Averell Harriman, United States Ambassador to London, was also at the airfield, but he said his visit to Paris was not official.

American sources said Byrnes's attitude was based on progress made on such questions as Italian reparations, colonies and Balkan frontiers. They said this progress should assure the calling of a 21-nation peace conference even if the next meeting of Foreign Ministers adjourns without total agreement on peace treaties.

Trieste Called Symbol

American officials said that Trieste, key to the Italian peace treaty, had become a symbol of whether the next conference would succeed or fail.

At the conference just terminated, the United States insisted that Trieste remain Italian; the Russians insisted that it be ceded to Yugoslavia. Britain and France, which originally supported the United States, were reported willing to compromise by declaring Trieste an international city.

Hoping Russia Will Yield

The American informants said that previous experience with Russia led them to hope that by next month Moscow would be willing to yield or compromise.

Britain and the United States are expected to try through diplomatic channels to swing Russia around on the Trieste question, as well as on other deadlocked matters, such as consideration of peace treaties in general and an agreement for Germany.

Soviet View Of German Plan

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today that a proposal by Secretary Byrnes for a conference in November to consider German peace terms would encourage "aggressive elements in Germany" who are waiting for the Allies to withdraw their occupation troops.

"It is not hard to see that the new American plan cannot fail to lead to the undermining of the confidence of peace-loving peoples toward that political course now being revealed by some of the great powers," the Tass dispatch said.

"Reneging On Stand?"

The Soviet press reaction to the Byrnes proposal was that it openly raised the question of the end of the occupation of Germany at the earliest possible date, the news agency said.

Tass added that the Allies had agreed at Tehran, Yalta and Berlin on measures for the long-term occupation of Germany, and "the American proposal raises the question of whether or not an attempt is being made to decline carrying out previous decisions."

Evatt Opposes Treaty Veto

Paris, May 17 (AP)—H. V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, demanded today the elimination of the veto power by the big nations in treaties at the eventual peace conference.

Evatt told a news conference that active belligerents had a right to participate in peace-treaty drafting, and that any of the "Big Four" nations should be entitled to support or oppose, independently of one another, amendments advanced by one of the middle or smaller Allied powers.

SECURITY COUNCIL TO DELAY ENTRY OF NEW MEMBERS

NEW YORK, May 17—(AP) The United Nations Security Council today adopted a proposal by U. S. delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., which in effect defers consideration of Albania's application for U. N. membership until August.

The resolution was approved unanimously at the close of a two-hour debate on rules and procedure for the admission of new members to the world organization. The Council then adjourned until an indefinite date--probably Tuesday or Wednesday of next week when the Iranian case will come up again.

Lone Application Waits

The Stettinius resolution did not mention Albania specifically, but Polish delegate Oscar Lange, one of the supporters of Albania's candidacy, pointed out that Albania was the only nation which now has an application before the United Nations.

The measure, offered as a supplement to three rules on the admission of members which the Council had adopted earlier in the session, provided for a meeting or meetings of the Security Council in August to consider all applications received by the secretary-general before July 15.

The applications first would be referred to a sub-committee and then reported to the council by Aug. 1.

Lange noted that this would have the effect of delaying consideration of the Albanian application, but agreed to support the resolution with the understanding that this was not Stettinius' purpose.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, another supporter of Albania's application, offered no objection to the resolution beyond an observation that it was "useless" and that it duplicated rules already adopted. He did not mention Albania.

Seeks to Ease Work

Stettinius, who had offered a resolution at the London session of the Council proposing postponement of action on Albania's application, said his purpose in offering today's proposal was merely to facilitate the work of the Council.

"Thus far," he said, "one application, that of Albania, has been received, and under the resolution it would, of course, be considered by the committee.

"I think we may fairly assume, and indeed hope, that other states will soon be prepared to present their applications and that the Council will be able to recommend a number of states for membership in the United Nations at the opening of the second part of the Assembly that is to meet in September."

Other action at today's session:

Rejection of an Australian effort to postpone action on three rules on admission of new members. The proposal received only one vote, that of Australian delegate Paul Hasluck.

Three Rules Approved

Approval of the three rules by 10 affirmative votes, with Australia again in the minority, although no negative vote was called for.

French delegate Alexandre Parodi, who became president of the Council under the system of monthly rotation, expressed hope for the future of the peace agency. He admitted, however, that it had a difficult task ahead.

"I think that I may express here, in the name of all the countries which have been murdered during these four years of war, the anguish of the peoples of the world in the face of the situation in which the world winds itself still today, and the hope that they place in the United Nations," he said.

"It is this anguish of the peoples, this hope that they place in us, this support in world opinion, which should be and will be, I am sure, the support that we need in order to continue, passing from one obstacle to another, the task which is ours."

Albania-Delay Step Voted By U.N.

New York, May 17 (AP)—The Security Council today adopted unanimously a United States resolution which in effect delays immediate consideration of Albania's request for admission to the United Nations.

The Council then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

The resolution, offered May 10 by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States delegate, provides that all applications for United Nations membership submitted not later than July 15 shall be considered by the Council in August.

[Albania's application is the only one on file.]

Gromyko Explains For Move

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, called the Stettinius proposal "useless" in view of the new rules on admission adopted today by the Council but went along with the other delegates when the vote was taken.

Poland's delegate, Dr. Oscar Lange, voted for the resolution after pointing out that he desired to make sure it "is not an attempt to postpone" consideration of Albania's application.

Stettinius, pointing out that the Albanian application was the only one awaiting action, said the United States would do everything in its power to see that every applicant was given the fullest consideration.

Albania is sponsored by Yugoslavia, not a member of the Security Council, and is supported by Russia and Poland. Britain has opposed the Albanian application, but the British delegate did not speak on the point today.

"For Specific Purpose"

The resolution provides that application received up to July 15 will be turned over to a Council subcommittee for a report and then will be considered by the Council "at a meeting or meetings to be held in August, 1946, for this specific purpose."

The council debated an hour on the action.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate who has opposed the section, did not vote. Hasluck began debate on the proposals yesterday.

The Council had defeated a motion by Hasluck to defer action and consult with the General Assembly on rules for admitting new members. Hasluck was alone in voting for his motion.

Meanwhile, the United States has proposed the formation of a permanent standing subcommission to study the economic effects of atomic energy in the United Nations.

Earlier today Alexander Parodi, French delegate, told the Security Council on assuming the Council presidency that "our task is to maintain and develop the spirit of co-operation."

The first Council chairman to conduct the meetings in French, Parodi said:

"I think I may express the anguish of all peoples of the world today in the face of the difficult situation and express the hope they have in us. The task of our organization can only be a difficult one."

Hasluck's Arguments

Hasluck contended yesterday that new members are the prime concern of the General Assembly and that the Security Council would overstep its authority by initiating action on applications or basing its membership recommendations to the assembly on any other than the security phases involved. He objected especially to the committee method of handling applications.

The Australian said the Council's recommendation for admission to United Nations membership "is a political decision which could very properly be made in broad daylight instead of being made in private."

The Australian delegate joined the ten other members yesterday in unanimous adoption of rules that would permit the Council to withhold the record of any private meeting from all the United Nations not represented in the Council chamber.

However, Hasluck interpolated a reservation, saying it was understood a private meeting would be a "rare exception," and the decision to meet secretly must be that of the whole Council.

Iranian Question

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala expressed belief today that the United Nations Security Council will refuse to drop Iran's case against Russia from its agenda at next week's sessions.

During a call at the State Department, Ala told reporters he believed his country's two original complaints against the Russians were still valid.

Iran originally charged that Russia was interfering in its internal affairs, and that Soviet troops had not evacuated Iranian territory as promised.

Ala said it was his opinion that Soviet forces had not entirely evacuated the province of Azerbaijan as promised on May 6.

He emphasized, however, that he had no new instructions from his Government on the course to be followed when the Council meets again next week. He said he expected to return to New York Sunday night or Monday morning.

BRITISH PROTEST POLISH CHARGES

LONDON, May 17—(AP) Britain protested to Poland today against a statement attributed to a Polish official that the UNRRA was using food for political purposes in Europe and was hostile to Polish "democracy."

The statement was labelled "peculiarly inappropriate and offensive."

Warning is Issued

The foreign office declared that, "if British efforts on Poland's behalf are to be met in this way, his Majesty's government would know in the future that their aid should be reserved for those who know how to a[illegible]

The r[illegible] Polish Vice-Premier M. Gromulka was reported to have declared in a speech April 30 that food of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Agency was being used to influence votes in the Greek and Italian elections, that thousands of tons of grain were being sent to Italy.

Ambassador Victor Cavendish Bertinck delivered the note in Warsaw to the Polish provisional government.

The ambassador cited the points that Britain had made great sacrifices at home to aid Poland and other nations and that Poland was third on the list of countries to which UNRRA supplies had been sent, the foreign office said.

Poland Gets Share

The UNRRA, the foreign office said, has sent $192,000,000 worth of food to Greece, $189,000,000 to Yugoslavia and $147,000,000 to Poland.

Also, it added, 200,000 tons of grain were diverted recently from its original destination in the United Kingdom and, of this amount 70,000 tons were redistributed to UNRRA-aided countries, with 17,000 tons rerouted to Gdynia in Poland.

Meanwhile, an Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw said about 10,000 high school and university students in Poznam had stayed away from classes yesterday in protest over the arrest of classmates by secret police and reports of imminent governmental restrictions on the autonomy of national universities.

British Rebuke Poles For Food Criticism

London, May 17 (AP)—A Polish assertion that UNRRA was using food for political purposes in Europe drew from the British Foreign Office today the rejoinder that the ramarks were "peculiarly inappropriate and offensive."

"If British efforts on Poland's behalf are to be met in this way, his Majesty's Government would know in the future that their aid should be reserved for those who know how to appreciate it," a curt note said.

The British attributed the Polish charge to that country's first vice premier, M. Gromulka, in a speech April 30.

The Foreign Office said Gromulka was reported to have said that UNRRA food was being used to influence votes in the Greek and Italian elections; that thousands of tons of grain were being sent to Germany; that 240,000 tons of food a month was being received by Italy; and that UNRRA was hostile to Polish "democracy."

The British note, one of the strongest protests lodged in a series of increasing conflicts between the new Polish provisional government and the western Allies, was delivered in Warsaw by Ambassador Victor Cavendish Bentinck.

London, May 17 (AP)—The Finnish Cabinet has ordered expropriation of all Finnish-owned foreign bonds and shares, which will be sold to build up foreign credits, it was reported today by the Helsinki radio.

Foreign investments owned by Finns abroad, the broadcast reported, must be surrendered to Finnish legations before the end of May.

The owners of the securities will receive in payment Finnish marks equivalent to the proceeds of the sale.

Miss Shvernik in London

Daughter of President of Soviet Union on Her Way to U. S.

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Ludmila Shvernik, daughter of Nikolai Shvernik, Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (President of the Soviet Union), arrived in London today en route to the United States, where she will be employed by the U. S. S. R. as a radio-industries engineer.

Miss Shvernik, who is in her early twenties, is a technical specialist attached to the Soviet trade delegation.

She will leave for the United States as soon as transportation is available, a Soviet Embassy official said. He was unable to say where she will be stationed or exactly what she will do.

4-Power Board to Study Germany's Disarmament

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 17—Adopting a United States proposal, the Allied Control Authority's coordinating committee today appointed a four-power disarmament commission to visit each of the four zones of occupation in Germany to inspect the progress of German disarmament.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes forwarded his proposal for checking on Germany's demilitarization to Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Deputy Military Governor of Germany, who, in turn, placed the proposal before the coordinating committee.

Reich Excise-Tax Rise Ordered

Berlin, May 17 (AP)—The Allied Control Council for Germany today drastically increased the taxes on tobacco, matches, beer and alcohol. Some rates were raised as much as 3,000 per cent.

The new law represents another step in overhauling the German tax structure. The process started in February when income and property taxes were raised to increase revenue and reduce the inflation potential.

The new tax increases are all on products in scant supply.

The largest increase was on alcohol for beverage use. The rate rose approximately 3,000 per cent to a new rate of 11,470 marks ($1,147) per 100 liters (26.4 gallons).

Beer Tax Rises

The beer tax was raised from 75 to 125 per cent depending upon the alcoholic content.

On tobacco, the rate was increased roughly 200 per cent, enough to increase fourfold the legal price of German cigarettes from 5 pfennings each to 20 pfennings (2 cents).

The black-market price of American cigarettes is not affected. Berliners pay $1.50 each and up for them.

RAEDER SAYS HITLER BANNED INTERFERENCE

NUREMBERG, Germany, May 17 (AP)—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder told the International Military Tribunal today that Adolf Hitler had warned his commanders soon after the outbreak of war that he would destroy any of them who stood in the way of his own military judgment.

The declaration that "I shall destroy every[illegible] who is against me," was delivered to the German military leaders by Hitler on Nov. 27, 1939, when the Army command opposed his plan for an autumn invasion of France, the defendant testified. Actually, the weather prevented the thrust until the following May.

Nearing the end of his direct defense testimony, Raeder said Hitler repeatedly had assured him that Germany would avoid war with Britain. In the face of subsequent developments, he said, Hitler betrayed "such embarrassment as I had never seen in him."

The Admiral said he never had been a member of the Nazi party but got along reasonably well with the party.

SOLDIER ADMITS AMBUSH KILLING OF 2 AMERICANS

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 17—(AP) Army authorities announced today that an American soldier had confessed he fired a bullet which killed two American sergeants in Nuernberg last Friday, but that he said he was shooting at a civilian.

Officials identified the soldier as Pfc. James C. Devone, 28, of North Carolina, and said he signed a confession after the bullet was traced to his carbine.

Admits Drinking

Officers said Devone admitted that he had been drinking heavily and had strayed away from his guard post.

His statement, they said, declared he had fired three shots "at a civilian going up the road" and that the jeep in which the sergeants were riding "got in the way" of his last bullet. Both men were killed by the same bullet, which passed completely through the body of one and then struck the other.

The civilian was not identified and no explanation of why Devone fired at him was given in the brief outline of the soldier's statement released at headquarters of the theater provost marshal.

Devone, serving in the 3,757th quartermaster truck company in the Nuernberg area, came overseas last January.

West Haven Victim

Devone said he was out alone at the time of the shooting last Friday night, and did not implicate anyone else, officials said. Sgts. William R. Timmons, 21, of West Haven, Conn., and Paul R. Skelton, 21, of McKinney, Texas, were killed while riding in the jeep with another soldier and three young women.

The bullet recovered by an autopsy was identified as having been fired from an army carbine.

and Capt. Claude Nichols, Wichita, Kans., identified the gun as one issued to Devone's unit. Several hundred carbines were seized from troops, tests were fired and the carbine was traced to Devone.

Former Federal Bureau of Investigation agents now in army service questioned the suspects before Devone confessed this morning at Erlangen, the army said. Officials said he probably would be returned to the Nuernberg prison stockade.

2 Army Slayings Laid To Negro

Frankfurt, Germany, May 17 (AP). An American Negro private signed a confession today that he fired three shots—"at a civilian going up the road"—which resulted in the deaths of two American sergeants Friday night, Army authorities announced today.

The Negro was identified as Pfc. James C. Devone, 28, of North Carolina. He came overseas to Germany to serve in the 3,757th Quartermaster Truck Company in the Nuernberg [illegible]

Officials said the Negro asserted that the jeep in which the sergeants were riding "got in the way" of the last bullet he fired.

Doesn't Implicate Anyone

The bare outline of the statement released at headquarters of the theater provost marshal did not identify the civilian or explain why Devone fired at him.

Devone probably will be sent to the Nuernberg prison stockade from Erlangen, where he had been taken for final questioning by former G-men of the criminal investigation division. He was said not to have implicated anyone else, asserting that he was alone at the time of the shooting.

Authorities said the Negro confessed after ballistics tests showed the fatal shots were fired from an army carbine which had been traced to him.

Death Weapon Traced

Four other Negroes had been detained for questioning last Tuesday when tests by Capt. Claude Nichols, of Wichita, Kan., showed that the death weapon had been issued to their outfit.

The victims were T/4 Paul R. Skelton, of McKinney, Texas, and Staff Sergeant William R. Timmons, of West Haven, Conn., both 21 years old and assigned to the fiscal department of Stars and Stripes.

They were slain from ambush while riding in a jeep with another soldier and three young Allied women, on the way home from a night club.

Both Killed By Same Bullet

Authorities said both men were killed by the same bullet, which went entirely through the body of one and penetrated six inches into the body of the other.

Three shots were fired, the agents said, and the empty shells were found behind a clump of bushes near the scene, in a bomb-shattered residential section of Nuernberg.

Although it was first believed that German resistance elements might have committed the crime, the bullet recovered by an autopsy was identified as having been fired from a United States Army carbine.

86 Carbines Examined

Several hundred carbines were seized from troops and test fired. Eighty-six were examined before the right one turned up.

The Negro who is under arrest and the four others were questioned for three days by former agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who are now in the Army, before the alleged confession was obtained, authorities said.

The young women in the machine were Miss Rose Korb of Hammond, Ind., an employé of the United States prosecutor's staff at the Nuernberg trial, and the Misses Kay Gass of London and Kathleen O'Farrell of Limerick, Eire, both employés of Stars and Stripes.

SONG OF MASSACRE AT BELGIAN BULGE

U.S. Says Nazis Sang Of Blood Before Killing Prisoners

C. Lowry

Dachau, Germany, May 17 (AP)—German SS troops sang a song of massacre on the eve of the Battle of the Bulge, the American prosecution declared today at the trial of SS officers charged with the slaughter of hundreds of captured American soldiers in the December, 1944, German counteroffensive.

Lieut. Col. Burton Ellis, of New York city, trial judge advocate, opening the prosecution charged today that the first SS Panzer Regiment, acting on direct orders from Adolf Hitler to "show no humane inhibitions," murdered between 538 and 749 American prisoners during the Battle of the Bulge in December [illegible]

Lieut.-Col. Burton Ellis of New York city, trial judge advocate, presented these figures in his opening statement to the war crimes court trying seventy-four officers and men of the Sixth SS Panzer Army for murder of unarmed prisoners.

"These figures do not represent the historical truth as to the total number of victims murdered by the First SS Panzer Regiment during this offensive, but only the number the prosecution expects to show," Ellis declared.

Tells of Hitler's Order.

He said he would prove that Hitler held a meeting of his Army commanders shortly before the German drive started and as a result, Gen. Sepp Dietrich, one of the accused, ordered his troops to avenge "terror bombing" and shoot prisoners when combat conditions required.

Following this, Ellis continued, the bodies of seventy-one Americans were found at Malmedy, where forty-three escaped death and others still are missing. At La Greize, also in Belgium, he said, between 175 and 311 prisoners were slain by the Germans.

Not Concerned With Prisoners

But Dietrich denied issuing orders for shooting prisoners of war, saying, "I didn't mention prisoners of war at all."

Brig. Gen. Fritz Kraemer, chief of staff for the 6th Panzer Army said his army was not responsible for torture and atrocities committed by an SS combat group led by Col. Joachim Peiper, onetime adjutant of Heinrich Himmler and also one of the defendants.

Kraemer testified that the army's order of the day which started the Ardennes offensive said the men should fight "in the old SS spirit," and that the troops were not to be concerned with the prisoners of war.

Ellis told the court previously that all the German troops had been warned that in case of capture the existence of orders to kill prisoners was not to be made known to the Allies.

"Song Of The Long Knives"

"That night of December 15 of the Battle of Bulge the German troops gathered around their camp fires awaiting the zero hour, singing 'The song of blood and the long knives,'" Ellis told the court. "It was the first time the song had been sung in the West."

Ellis explained outside the courtroom that the song, popular with SS troops on the Eastern front, contained these words:

"Sharpen the long knives, sharpen the long knives on the lamppost,
Blood, blood must flow as thick as a hail of clubs,
We don't give a damn for the liberty of the Soviet Republic."

Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich, commanding officer of the 6th Panzer Army, admitted to the court that he attended a meeting at Bad Nauheim with Hitler at which Dietrich was told "to act with brutality and show no humane inhibitions."

FRANCO'S REGIME HELPED GERMANY, SAYS RED REPORT

R. James

MOSCOW, May 17—(AP) Charges that the Franco regime "under a mask of neutrality actually participated in the war on the side of Germany" were made today in a statement carried by Izvestia and attributed to two captured Nazi officers who were former military attaches in Spain.

A 10,000-word statement by the two officers, addressed to the Soviet government, declared that secret plans for military collaboration on a large scale were worked out by the Spanish and German general staffs at the close of the Spanish civil war.

Seizure Planned

The officers said that a secret plan was devised for the capture of Gibraltar through joint German-Spanish assault, that the Spaniards spied on British and American ship movements for the Germans, that they made Spain's ports and airfields available for German submarine and aircraft, and relayed valuable military information to Germany gained by Spanish representatives in London.

They said that Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, now on trial at Nuernberg on war crimes charges, took leading roles in making the plans, which included a secret "Isabella Felix" operation for seizing Gibraltar and widening Spanish possessions in Africa. It was not carried out because Hitler decided to concentrate all his efforts on beating Russia, the officers added.

The two captured Nazis were named by Izvestia as Col. Hans Remer, former German military attache in Tangier, and Lt. Gen. Gunther Krappe, former German military attache in Madrid.

"Due to the nature of our service activity in the capacity of military attaches in Tangier and Madrid, facts are known to us which show that Spain under a mask of neutrality actually participated in the war on the side of Germany," their statement said.

Krappe and Remer said that the "Isabella Felix" plan was supposed to have been carried out in conjunction with a "Sea Lion" operation to capture the British Isles.

False Passports Sought

Remer said he was asked in July, 1940, to issue 50 false passports for German officers assigned to study the fitness of Spanish roads for Nazi motorized armed columns.

In August, 1940, the statement added, Spain increased her forces in Morocco from 30,000 to 100,000 men. The next month a Spanish division practicing maneuvers to storm Gibraltar performed so well their commander told the Germans his men "could take Gibraltar in 20 minutes."

The Nazis said the roads, fortifications and even rock samples from Gibraltar were studied, and that the attackers were to consist of one Spanish infantry division and one German Alpine division, supported by German artillery and aircraft.

Krappe and Remer said that the last fixed date for storming Gibraltar was Jan. 10, 1941, but the operation was never carried out because Hitler decided against trying to invade England and concentrated on defeating the Soviet Union.

"Better Than Open War"

"Due to the nature of our service activity in the capacity of military attaches in Madrid and Tangier, facts are known to us which show that Spain, under a mask of neutrality, actually participated in the war on the side of Germany," the statement said.

"The position occupied by Germany toward Spain, the use of Spain as a war economic base for accomplishing the plans of aggression and cloaking Spain under a mask of neutrality—had for Germany very much more meaning than openly bringing Spain into the war in the capacity of another ally.

"In this case the defensive ability of Germany would have been appreciably reduced and Germany would have experienced a lack of modern armaments, foodstuffs and fuel, inasmuch as Germany would have had to take upon herself to supply all of this to Spain."

Spain An Actual War Ally, 2 Nazis Quoted

R. James

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia devoted two pages today to a 10,000-word statement, attributed to two German officers who served in Spanish cities as military attaches, which charged that the Franco regime, "under a mask of neutrality, actually participated in the war on the side of Germany."

The officers, now prisoners in the Soviet Union, were described as Lieut. Gen. Gunther Krappe, former military attache in Madrid, and Col. Hans Remer, attache in Tangier.

Keitel, Jodl Named

The statement said Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl—both now on trial in Nuernberg on war-crime charges—were active in arranging Spanish collaboration.

The officers were quoted as saying that after the Spanish Civil War the German and Spanish general staffs, under the direction of Keitel and Jodl, collaborated in drawing up a secret "Isabella Felix" plan for seizing Gibraltar and widening Spanish possessions in Africa.

During the war, the German officers declared, Spain served Germany as an economic base and her military attache in London supplied Germany with military information.

"Gibraltar In 20 Minutes"

Krappe and Remer said the "Isabella Felix" plan was supposed to have been carried out in conjunction with a "Sea Lion" plan for the capture of the British Isles. The leading Spanish formulator was given as Colonel Barosso, chief of operations of the general staff of the Spanish Army.

The Franco-appointed General Asensio, who commanded a division in southern Spain, was quoted as telling Krappe's assistant that he could take the Rock of Gibraltar from the British in 20 minutes.

Chronological Account

Here is the plan of the German-Spanish relationships as told chronologically in the statement:

Germany, after helping Franco with the Spanish Civil War, set about establishing close military collaboration plans.

The "Isabella Felix" plan was worked out with considerable secrecy. Remer learned about it in July, 1940, from a German general staff officer who asked Remer to issue 50 false passports for German officers assigned to study the fitness of Spanish roads for the passage of German motorized columns.

Canaris Involved

Admiral Wilhelm Canaris, the German intelligence chief, often visited Spain to reconnoiter Gibraltar. His host on those visits was Gen. Juan Vigon, Minister of Aviation.

Gibraltar's roads, fortifications and even rock samples were stud-

led. The besiegers were to consist of one Spanish infantry division and one German alpine division, supported by German artillery and aircraft.

The last fixed date for the storming of Gibraltar was January 10, 1941, but this was never done because Hitler decided against trying to invade England and concentrated on his plans to attack Russia.

Allied Shipping Watched

Other points in the statement:

Observation posts on the Spanish coast watched British and American ship movements. Spanish scouts on the Canary Islands also watched shipping.

During October, 1942, the Germans learned from Spanish sources of the forthcoming [in November] Allied landings in North Africa.

Spanish ports were available to German submarines for repairs. German bombers were serviced in Spain.

Vandenberg Held 'Grave Digger' Of Paris Parley, by Red Writer

MOSCOW, May 17—(AP) Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg was assailed by a writer in the Communist party newspaper Pravda today as a "town crier of reaction" who tried to play the role of "grave digger" at the foreign ministers' conference in Paris.

Other Soviet newspaper articles criticized Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' proposal for a November conference on German peace terms as possibly encouraging aggression in the Reich, and quoted an American newspaper as saying United States' attempts to obtain bases in Iceland were worsening Soviet-American relations.

(A Moscow broadcast also declared that the United States was seeking bases in Iceland, Latin America, and British territories. Another charged that Britain and America had put up a "common front" at the foreign ministers conference and had blamed "Soviet intransigeance" in advance for any difficulties arising there.)

Taken to Task

Taking Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, to task for giving a transAtlantic telephone interview last week from Paris to the New York Herald-Tribune, the writer, B. Izakov, said:

"Being an official participant of the conference, Vandenberg stated he considered its outlook gloomy. Vandenberg appeared as a grave digger at the Paris conference, but at the same time he tried to unload the guilt from a sick head onto a healthy one and busied himself with insinuations against the Soviet Union."

The Pravda writer reported that Vandenberg said of the peace parley in the interview that "the outlook is rather gloomy—if only you don't want to repeat Munich daily. And I don't want to repeat Munich.'"

"The American newspaper obligingly explained what this statement had in view: it pointed out that in the senator's opinion successful negotiations are impossible because the Western powers don't want to 'appease' the Soviet Union as England appeased Hitler during the Munich meeting of 1938.'"

Outlook 'Pretty Grim'

(The New York Herald-Tribune quoted the Republican senator, who served as an advisor to Byrnes, as saying that the outlook for the conference was "pretty grim—unless you want to go to Munich every day. And I am not willing to go to Munich.")

Soviet writers, commenting on the proposed German peace conference said it "raises the question of whether or not an attempt is being made" to alter previous decisions at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam for occupying Germany until all Nazi aggression is stamped out.

A writer for Tass said the plan "may give wings of hope to aggressive elements in Germany who are watchfully waiting for the Allies to show signs of withdrawal of occupation troops."

Tass also quoted an editorial in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican as saying American-Soviet relations were worsened by U. S. efforts to obtain bases in Iceland. Izvestia quoted the Chicago Sun as saying the United States should halt bringing pressure against Iceland for bases.

(A Moscow broadcast heard in London said that American efforts to get military bases in Iceland, Latin America and British territories "have already led to friction between the United States and the other countries concerned."

("Particularly acute is the question of Iceland," the broadcast said, "and it has been claimed repeatedly in the press that America is bringing pressure to bear on Britain and looks on the cession of bases as the price for the support it is giving Britain in Europe and the Middle East.")

Vandenberg Soviet Target

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—A Pravda writer today called Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg "a town crier of reaction" and said he tried to play the role of gravedigger at the four power Foreign Ministers Conference just concluded.

Commenting upon a trans-Atlantic telephone interview Vandenberg (R., Mich.) gave the New York Herald Tribune from Paris last week, the writer, B. Izakov, said "the interview was actually a direct attempt to bury the conference prematurely.

"Tried to Unload Guilt"

"Being an official participant of the conference (as a member of Secretary Brynes's delegation), Vandenberg stated he considered its outlook gloomy," the Russian wrote. "Vandenberg appeared as the gravedigger of the Paris conference, but at the same time tried to unload guilt from a sick head onto a healthy one and busied himself with insinuations against the Soviet Union.

"He stated literally: 'The outlook is rather gloomy—if only you don't want to repeat Munich daily. And I don't want to repeat Munich.'"

Vendenberg And Munich

The Soviet publication declared that Vanderberg himself in 1938 "was engaged in close relations with the English Municl.men and established direct relations with Fascist aggressors through Hitlerite agents in the United States and personally received Hitler's personal adjutant."

The article charged that the Senator expressed the views of those United States circles who wanted the Paris conference to break down "so that they can unobstructedly take the policy of force, the policy of imperialism."

Blocking Of Russ Aims Charged

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The Russian Embassy said today that "the more vicious British and American reactionaries" are seeking to block development of international co-operation and particularly to thwart the Soviet "peace and security" policy.

In the leading article in its current information bulletin, the embassy also declared that hundreds of thousands of workers in capitalist countries are living in a state of alarm and uncertainty while millions in "America and Britain are haunted by the specter of unemployment."

Cites Reconversion Brakes

The article was entitled "The Soviet Union's Policy for Peace." It declared that "the process of postwar reconversion is not hampered in our country by the contradictions and impediments so characteristic of this process in the capitalist countries."

On foreign policy, the article said that "one cannot close one's eyes to the fact that monopoly capitalism is capable of engendering new forces of aggression. This accounts for the contradictory tendencies manifested in the foreign policy of many countries."

Charges Co-Operation Hampered

The embassy asserted that "reactionary circles" often exert "baneful influence" on the policies of their countries, "sapping the foundations of international cooperation and poisoning the international atmosphere." It added:

"Under these conditions it is but natural that the Soviet Union's consistent policy of insuring [illegible] and security, of developing good neighborly relations with adjacent countries and co-operation among democratic powers, should encounter the opposition of reactionary imperialist circles in the international arena."

Soviet Report on U. S.

It Asserts Unemployment Is Increasing Daily

MOSCOW, May 17 (AP).—"Komsomolskaya Pravda," publication of the Young Communist League, said today unemployment in the United States is growing daily. The article, written by T. Ivanov and I. Geyevsky, was accompanied by a drawing showing a demobilized American soldier sitting in a pup tent because he lacked any other [illegible]

Unemployment in the United States, the article said, "is not accidental or unexpected. It is rooted in the system of American capitalism itself, which is unable, as was shown during the years between the first and second world wars, to guarantee work under peace-time conditions for all those waiting to work.

"Joblessness is having a demoralizing effect. Employers consciously don't permit youth to become acquainted with the different production processes, and the state program and control for training are almost non-existent."

NETHERLANDS ELECTION WON BY CATHOLICS

Middle - Of - Road Party Polls 30.8 Per Cent Of Total Vote

Amsterdam, Saturday, May 18 (AP)—The middle-of-the-road Catholic party won the Netherlands first general election since 1937 yesterday by gaining 30.8 per cent of more than 4,750,000 votes cast, final returns showed today.

Prime Minister Willem Schermerhorn's Labor party finished in second place with 28.3 per cent of the total vote.

Final figures showed the Catholics won the 1,466,510 votes and 32 seats in Parliament, while the Laborites received 1,347,664 ballots for 29 seats.

Balance of Party

The Parliament seats which went to other parties were: Calvinists (Anti-Revolutionary party, 13; Communists, 10; Protestants (Christian-Historian party), 8; Conservatives (Party of Freedom), 6, and the Protestant Union, 2.

The results were a blow to the Labor party, which expected to gain between 35 and 37 Parliamentary seats.

The elections also increased the political prestige of the Communist party, which polled only 3.35 per cent of the 1937 votes. Yesterday they received 502,935 ballots, or 10.57 per cent of the total. The Communist vote was 30 per cent of the Amsterdam total and 18.3 per cent in Rotterdam.

4,760,206 Votes Cast

Right-wing parties polled a total of 1,292,570 votes for a combined percentage of 27.15, which approximated their 1937 total of 27.8 per cent. Right-wing parties included the Calvinists, Protestants, Conservatives and the Protestant Union.

Officials said 4,760,206 votes were cast.

Some districts reported voting difficulties because of incomplete records. Thousands of persons were told their names were not on the election lists.

Officials said most of the records had deliberately been destroyed or falsified by underground workers during the war in their struggle against the Germans.

MARSHALL MEETS WITH GEN. CHOU

Progress In Chinese Talks Is Hinted By U.S. Source

Nanking, May 17 (AP)—General Marshall and the Chinese Communist leader, Gen. Chou En-lai conferred privately for two and a half hours today, and there was a guarded hint that they may have made some progress in efforts to settle the civil strife.

The meeting was described officially as merely "an exchange of views," but an American source said it would be inaccurate to assert that no progress was made.

Earlier today the Chinese Government's Central Daily News said it was the American special envoy who had proposed that the Communists evacuate Changchun before discussing a settlement in Manchuria. Sources close to Marshall, however, said he had only relayed this demand to the Communists for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The Communists also said the evacuation was strictly a Government idea and that Marshall merely passed it along in his capacity as mediator.

The Chinese press predicted that a showdown battle for Szepingkai would start within a week.

CHANGCHUN ISSUE

Nanking, May 17 (A. P.).—The Chinese Government's Central Daily News today asserted that it was Gen. Marshall who proposed that the Communists vacate Changchun before discussing the Manchurian problem as a whole.

Marshall, President Truman's envoy to China, declined to comment. Informants said he merely had relayed Chiang Kai-shek's own wishes to the Communists in his role as mediator.

The Communists confirmed this report, stating that the Changchun evacuation condition was entirely a Government proposal. They also said that Chiang already had rejected one formula for peace.

Airman Reds Pursued Acquitted

SHANGHAI, May 17 (AP)—Navy Lieutenant Claude W. Adams, commander of a patrol plane which was pursued by Russian fighters in Manchuria Feb. 20, has been acquitted by a 7th Fleet general court martial of violating orders by flying over Russian territory.

Patrols Seeking Stolen China Jeeps Withdrawn

Shanghai, May 17. (AP)—The United States Army provost marshal's office said today it was withdrawing military patrols seeking stolen jeeps because of five separate shooting incidents in the outskirts of Shanghai.

No Americans were injured, but the provost marshal's statement explained that "recovery of a few jeeps is not worth risking American lives." The statement did not say who did the shooting.

Pauley Plans Check On Japs' Korea Assets

Seoul, May 17 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, expects to enter Northern Korea within a few days to check reports that Russians there have removed Japanese assets—but "I'm not going in like a policeman," he emphasized today at a news conference.

He will outline a proposed itinerary covering as much of the Soviet-occupied northern zone as possible, and then "give it to the Russians in writing."

He also expects to visit Manchuria on the same mission, "After a temporary delay due to unsettled conditions."

Pauley States Policy

Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of United States forces in Southern Korea, promised newsmen he would make a fourth request to the Russians for permission for correspondents to accompany Pauley.

Pauley assured Koreans that it was not the purpose of the American Government to remove Japanese-owned industrial equipment from Korea, and added that Korea might receive some equipment from Japan, although "that is a matter for negotiation. . . . I express the American viewpoint only."

China and the Philippines greatly need raw materials and the semi-finished products from Korea, and have some surplus products to exchange, he said.

Phonetic Alphabet To Be Tried In Korea

Seoul, May 17 (AP)—The printing of 10,000 high school textbooks in an experimental new Korean phonetic alphabet which makes possible the use of typewriters and linotype machines was ordered today by the military government.

The new methods was prepared by Choi Hyon Pai, a Korean educator who was imprisoned by the Japanese for teaching Korean, the use of which they had forbidden. The system uses 24 characters and is written horizontally, as are Occidental languages, rather than vertically in the Oriental style.

Wavell Appeals to Indians To Accept British Offer

NEW DELHI, May 17—(AP) Viceroy Lord Wavell, appealing to India's 400,000,000 people to accept the latest British proposals for independence, asserted tonight they faced the choice between "peaceful construction" and the "disorder of civil strife."

He promised the new Nationalist government of Indian leaders "as soon as possible" while a constitution is being formulated for an independent federal union of India.

Backs Wavell's Plea

Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in chief in India, joined with Wavell in appeals broadcast by radio to the Indians to accept the plan of the British cabinet mission.

The viceroy, declaring that he spoke "at the most critical hour of India's history," did not name any of the leaders he would appoint to the new government but declared:

"It will be a purely Indian government, except for its head, the governor general, and will include, if I can get the men I want, recognized leaders of the main Indian parties whose influence, ability and desire to serve India will be unquestioned."

The viceroy declared "I must emphasize the seriousness of the choice before you. It is a choice between peaceful construction or the disorder of civil strife, between cooperation or disunity, between ordered progress or confusion."

Auchinleck declared that while the discussions are going on "it is the duty of the navy, army and airforce to continue to serve the government and carry out its orders."

Proposal for Moslems

The British refused the demand of the Moslem League for Pakistan, separate Moslem states, and, mindful of the Moslem reaction, Wavell said of the mission's proposals:

"They offer to the Moslem community the right to direct their own esential interests, their religion, their education, their culture, their economic and other concerns, in their own way and to their own best advantage."

There was still no statement from either the Moslem League or the Congress party, the two chief Indian political groups, on their reaction to the cabinet mission's proposals.

At a news conference the three members of the British mission asserted repeatedly that it was the intention this time of the British definitely to leave India and surrender control of the country to the Indians at the earliest possible moment.

The members are Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British Board of Trade: A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; and Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India.

India Reaction Mixed On New British Plan

New Delhi, May 17 (AP)—The three members of the British Cabinet mission, questioned by a corps of newspaper correspondents, asserted repeatedly today that this time the British definitely intended to leave India.

The Congress party's working committee met today. It may decide whether to co-operate along the lines of the mission's recommendations yesterday that an independent federal union of India be organized and that an interim government of Indians be formed to rule until the new constitution is effective.

Moslems Displeased

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, was expected to state his views tomorrow. The question whether the Congress party and Moslem League will participate in setting up the machinery for writing the new constitution then will be answered.

Early indications were that the Moslems were displeased with the plan, but that the Congress party, India's largest, would go along with the proposals.

Flanked by Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British Board of Trade, and by A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India, insisted resolutely at the press conference that Britain wanted to surrender control of the country.

Next Task Cited

Liquidation of the India Office already has begun, Cripps said. The mission will remain in India because "our next job is to get the plan accepted by the two main bodies—Moslems and Hindus," he said.

No time limit has been set for completion of the constitution, since that is the affair of the Indians, he added.

Viceroy Lord Wavell was expected to outline in a broadcast tonight the formation of an interim central government as suggested by the mission, which proposed that a constitutional convention of 385 delegates be assembled to work out the details of an eventual federation.

Hindu Reaction Mixed

Despite unfavorable comments in Moslem quarters, the official reaction of the Moslem League was expected to come from Jinnah, who previously threatened civil war if Pakistan—separate and independent Moslem states—was not approved.

Hindu reaction, although mixed, generally was one of jubilant amazement.

"I never thought the British would do that," said a Bombay shopkeeper.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, one of the Congress party's leaders, advised Indians to study the proposal with care.

"Whether people like the announcement or not, it is going to be a most momentous one in the history of India," he said.

Praised By Paper

A Hindu newspaper in Bombay called the plan "a most sincere attempt to give a fair and just decision to all classes and communities of India. . . . A very acceptable formula."

There was, however, some criticism in leading Bombay English-language papers, including the pro-Congress Morning Standard, which commented:

"The mission's plan is a meandering maze without direction, without finality and full of pitfalls."

"Final Opportunity"

The pro-Congress Chronicle, in an editorial entitled "Good in Parts," criticized the plan for failing to set a definite date for independence, while the Times of India commented:

"India's supreme tragedy in recent years was the number of opportunities of honorable settlement which all parties missed. This is the final opportunity. To miss it would be a supreme disaster."

Sir Stafford, who acted as principal spokesman at a press conference, declared:

"If the plan is not accepted, no one can say how great will be the disturbances or how acute and long the suffering that will be self-inflicted on the Indian people. We are convinced that this statement offers an honorable and peaceful method to all parties.

Quick Action Planned

"Let no one for a moment doubt our intentions. We have not come to India and worked hard except to carry out the policy of the Labor party to transfer power quickly and smoothly and as co-operatively as the difficulties of the process admit."

He said it was impossible to say how soon Britain would pull out of India because it was impossible to predict how soon a constitution could be drafted.

"We tried our best to bring about a settlement between the parties themselves," said Alexander. "We are really sorry that it could not be done. We hope this proposal of ours will be to the satisfaction of the majority of the Indian people and lead to a peaceful achievement of Indian freedom."

The Girls Shop for Jobs in Sydney

Work So Easy to Get in Australia, They Sample Various Companies Before Deciding.

Sydney, May 17 (A. P.).—Labor shortages have become so acute in Australia's principal cities that employers are now offering bonuses that range from forty hours pay for thirty-six hours work to free dressmaking and free hairdressing.

A survey today showed that managers of many firms were doing an active "selling job" on making a particular effort to bring women into the employment market.

Jobs are so easy to find, however, that many workers are floating from one place of employment to another, sometimes for only a few days before moving. A check on hundreds of girls and women recently discharged from the armed services showed that many of them were "shopping for jobs" by sampling various positions in industry before settling down.

One large Sydney jam factory, after a series of attractively worded advertisements, managed to employ 700 women to take care of the current fruit crops. Three weeks later more than 300 had left, the firm reported.

Interviewed during their first week of employment, a score of the women admitted they were contented and enjoying the work, but the majority refused to say whether they would stay or not.

Some of the inducements employers are offering to workers are: Unprecedented high wages, a five-day working week, morning and afternoon tea "breaks," music while you work, cafeterias and tennis courts, and handsome bonuses and personnel officers "to consider any other personal requirements."

JAPAN TO SET UP ECONOMIC BOARD

New Agency Will Have Broad Powers Over Production

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Creation of a powerful Japanese economic stabilization board was authorized by Allied headquarters today as the Japanese public alternately clamored for food and criticized the conservative Government which Premier Shigeru Yoshida is attempting to form.

Yoshida will serve as president of the economic board of non-Governmental Japanese experts, with leading Cabinet members acting as a policy-making council.

In approving the program, headquarters called it "the first real attempt on the part of the Government to set up an organization capable of obtaining a degree of economic stability within the country and of reviving production."

The board will have power over raw material quotas, price ceilings, transportation priorities, labor relations, and all phases of production and consumption. It will also fix policies on wages and finances.

The cry for food, already becoming louder, added these developments:

The Kyodo news agency reported that the Railway Workers Union was offering free transportation to the Imperial Palace Plaza for anyone who would participate in a food demonstration planned for next Sunday. To board a train free, the demonstrator need only wear a ribbon inscribed "Away with the conservative government; make a democratic government."

The Tokyo paper Nippon Keizai said Tokyo alone needed 21,000 "bales" of foodstuffs daily and was getting only 12,000. The size of the "bales" was not estimated.

Japanese Cabinet Shifts Pondered

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida, faced with demands of two supporting parties for more representation, tonight revamped his prospective Cabinet lineup.

Both the Liberal and Progressive parties openly criticized the politically-inexperienced Yoshida for ignoring them in his preliminary Cabinet draft. They said his original list was "too bureaucratic" and included too few regular party men.

Pending completion of the Cabinet, the Diet remained inactive.

Some representatives voiced displeasure at reports that former Premier Kijuro Shidehara, president of the Progressives, counted on becoming a Minister without portfolio. A movement began among a small number of younger Progressives to unseat Shidehara as their party head.

Newspapers Critical

Three of Tokyo's leading newspapers also showed little faith in Yoshida's Government.

A new complaint came from Communist representatives. Yoshio Shiga said three men and two women who went to the palace this morning seeking an audience with the Emperor on the food question were brushed aside by minor officials.

Shiga said the Communists wanted to go to the Throne because the Emperor "does not realize the sufferings of the people" and is prevented by court attachés from knowing.

Demonstrations demanding the release of emergency stocks of rice were staged in half a dozen Tokyo metropolitan wards by about 1,000 Japanese. (1400)

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT TO TRY JAP WAR LORDS

11-Nation Tribunal Sets Precedent in Denying Dismissal Motion.

TOJO AND 27 OTHERS INVOLVED

Ruling Seen as Giving Victor Authority for Trial of Beaten Aggressors.

N. Landsberg

Tokyo, May 17 (A. P.).—Laying down a new concept of international law, the eleven-nation international military tribunal ruled today that Hideki Tojo and twenty-seven other Japanese must face trial as accused war criminals.

DAY

Specifically, the court dismissed all defense motions, which asked that the indictment against them be quashed and argued that the tribunal had no authority to try Japan's war-fostering former leaders.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb gave no reasons for the dismissal in a brief court session. He said that they would be discussed in court later but specified no date. The trial is scheduled for June 3.

By the ruling, the tribunal upheld its right to try the twenty-eight defendants on charges of mass murder and of inciting war. It also denied defense assertions that the accused were not liable to prosecution for activities predating the outbreak of war or for any violations of international law other than conventional war crimes.

The tribunal, in effect, also held with the prosecution that those responsible for starting "ruthless and unjustified wars threatening the existence of civilization" are not immune from prosecution under international law.

Sets a Precedent.

Attorneys said that this was the first time a court had definitely set forth the authority of victorious nations to try leaders of the defeated aggressor. Similar broad charges of "crimes against peace" and of "crimes against humanity" were made against the Nazi hierarchy at Nuernberg, but attorneys said that the Allied court's jurisdiction had not been challenged there.

Two judges and two defendants were not in the court room but Justice R. M. Pal of India attended for the first time. Justices Ju Ao Mei of China and John P. Higgins of the United States were reported China-bound on official business. (400)

New Attacks Beaten Back, Yenan Reports

Tokyo, Saturday, May 18 (AP)—Reinforced troops of the Chinese Central Government "resumed a furious offensive" against Szepingkai Tuesday and Wednesday, but both days' attacks were beaten back, the Chinese Communist radio at Yenan declared today in a broadcast heard in Tokyo.

Szepingkai is halfway between Communist-held Changchun, capital of Manchuria, and Mukden, a Government stronghold.

Two divisions of the Government's 71st Army made six attacks Thursday, supported by a 3,000-shell barrage, the broadcast said. It added that numerous Government planes were massed at Mukden and said Government troops had been reinforced by main forces of the new 6th Army and the 88th Division of the 17th Army from southern Manchuria.

PLANE SETS RECORD

TOKYO, May 17—(AP) A fifth world flight record fell to an army B-29 Wednesday when it climbed to 37,400 feet over Guam with a load of 15,000 kilograms (about 33,000 pounds).

With four other records previously set this month by Superfortresses, the performance gave America's B-29 all international marks for carrying payloads to great altitude.

All five records were established between May 8 and 15 by B-29s of the Army's Pacific Air Command (PACUSA) flying from Harmon field, Guam.

Wednesday's record, announced today by Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, PACUSA commander, was set by Col. Beverly H. Warren of Plainview, Tex.

NIGHT

B-29 SETS FIFTH ALTITUDE RECORD

Tokyo, May 17 (A. P.).—A B-29 of the Pacific Air Command of the United States Army (PACUSA) shattered a fifth world load-to-altitude record Wednesday when it carried 15,000 kilograms (about 33,000 pounds) to a height of 37,400 feet.

DAY

Lieut.-Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, PACUSA commander who announced the record today, said it gave the Superfortresses all international marks for carrying payloads to great altitudes. All five records were set between May 8 and 15 by B-29s flying from Harmon Field, Guam.

The project was termed "an additional milestone in flying history" by Charles Logsden of New York city, who certified the records for the National Aeronautics Association and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Wednesday's record was set by Col. Beverly H. Warren of Plainview, Tex. The only similar previous flight, said Logsden, was a 1939 Army airlift of 14,165 kilograms to 2,000 meters.

This Postwar World: Japan

Thanks—With A Please

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—The mayors of five major Japanese cities today thanked General MacArthur for his "understanding and sympathy" in the food crisis—but reminded him their people are still hungry.

The telegram, signed by the Nagoya and Kobe, likewise asked mayors of Osaka, Kyoto, Yokohama, that their thanks be conveyed to the American people.

To MacArthur, they extended "our heartfelt appreciation and gratitude" for his efforts to alleviate the food crisis but added that absence or delay of food deliveries in major cities has been "leading to an extremely restless state of the citizens' minds and the situation makes us feel a grave anxiety."

How To Get A Free Ride

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Free railroad rides were promised today to all Japanese who would take part Sunday in a food demonstration against Japan's conservative government.

The Railway Workers Union issued a statement that all persons wearing a green ribbon with the slogan "Away with the Conservative Government; make a Democratic Government" would be transported free on Government elevated electric lines to stations near the Palace Plaza, where the demonstration is planned.

The newspaper Nippon Keizai said Tokyo was receiving only about 12,000 bales of food daily as compared with consumption needs of 21,000 bales.

Homes For 560 Families

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Dormitories formerly used by workers of the Hitachi Aircraft Company will provide housing for 560 bombed-out Tokyo families under a deal approved by Allied headquarters today. The firm has sold 129 dormitories to the Government.

Cholera Steps Taken

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—All American personnel in Japan were prohibited today from consuming Japanese seafoods because of the danger of contracting cholera. Swimming or fishing in Tokyo Bay likewise were prohibited by an order of the United States Chief Surgeon.

Because of an outbreak of cholera aboard, the Liberty ship Gilbert M. Hitchcock was ordered to quarantine in Tokyo Bay with a shipload of repatriates bound from Formosa to the Ryukyu Islands.

Economic Board Okayed

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—General MacArthur today approved the establishment of an all-powerful Japanese economic stabilization board.

He termed it "the first real attempt of the Japanese Government to set up an organization capable of obtaining a degree of economic stability within the country and of reviving production."

The board will control the overall planning of Japanese economy and will have the power to insure that various Government ministries carry out its policies.

The program will include price ceilings, raw material quotas, allotment of transportation facilities, supervision of food distribution, supervision of labor relations, priorities and direction of finance.

Smashing flourishing black markets and convincing Japanese business that now is the time for reconversion to large-scale production for civilian consumption are two of the board's largest immediate problems.

JAP, 18, HANGED

Tokyo, May 17 (A. P.).—Katsunori Tamura, 18 years old, was hanged today at Sugamo prison for the murder of an American soldier last December. He was the first Japanese to die for a crime against the occupation forces.

An American military commission convicted Tamura on January 23 of the fatal stabbing of Pfc. Robert C. Young of Syracuse, N. Y., at Sapporo, Hokkaido Island on December 19. Young was attacked by Tamura and two accomplices when he surprised them looting a Government warehouse. The accomplices, Tatsuzo Shimizu and Sadatsugo Saito, were sentenced to thirty years each at hard labor.

Seaman Admits Ship Sabotage

Pearl Harbor, May 17 (AP)—Capt. S. B. D. Wood, legal officer for the 14th United States Naval District, said today that Fireman 2/c Robert J. Eby had pleaded guilty to sabotaging the Japanese heavy cruiser Sakawa and had been sentenced by a court-martial.

Wood said the sentence would not be disclosed until approved by both Rear Admiral E. W. Hanson, commandant of the 14th (Hawaii) Naval District, and by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal. Eby's home is Lansdowne, Pa.

Four other Navy enlisted men are under arrest and awaiting the filing of specific charges in connection with sabotage of the Japanese cruiser as it was en route from Japan to Bikini to be target for the atom-bomb test.

Two From Baltimore

They are Fireman 2/c Larry W. Lajoie, of Chicago; Fireman 1/c Stanley J. Berrent, 24 North Patterson Park avenue, and Seaman 2/c Lloyd E. Faulkner, 3212 Virginia avenue, both of Baltimore, and Seaman 2/c William M. Lambright, Jr., of East Palestine, Ohio.

The charge against Eby was "conspiracy, damaging public property of the United States, and scandalous conduct."

Lieut. David Merrill of Hartford, Conn., chief engineer of the former enemy vessel, said that "the filthy, stinking ship" was sabotaged by men who hoped the ship would have to be towed and they thus would be relieved of the unpleasant duty of manning her.

Merrill said "some members of the crew removed the pressure line to the overspeed trip valves, thus demobilizing the ship's fuel system. There was sand in the oil and water pumps; someone had smashed gauges and tachometers; a hacksaw had cut high-pressure stem lines; fuel oil manifold valves were smashed."

Fatal Accident Possible

"If we had got up steam and anyone had walked in front of the steam leak, it would have cut them in two," he added.

The Sakawa and the Japanese battleship Nagato are both at Bikini now after having run out of fuel during a nightmare voyage from Japan. They were towed part of the way. Both were damaged by American attack during the war.

"Supposedly the signal for the uprising [illegible] missions accompanied [illegible] which occurred early this morning" at the camp, he said, but the "plan to seize the camp" did not come off.

NIGHT

Confers With President

The general issued his statement after conferring with President Ramon Grau San Martin. A flood of conflicting rumors had grown throughout the morning in the absence of any official statements.

Some informants including government officials said they did not believe there had been any plot, and that the report [illegible] could serve "to arouse public opinion on the eve of the elections" June 1 for mayor and congress. These persons would not permit themselves to be quoted by name.

There were no casualties reported, and the national police chief said no arrests had been made.

Gen. Perez' statement said:

"I have received news from various commands of the organization of a revolutionary movement headed and directed by a class of the army whose identification is known by army headquarters.

"I have also been assured that this army class, violating its sworn allegiance to the nation and its command, had planned for the early hours of this morning to support and facilitate an uprising of persons not connected with the army to seize Camp Columbia and depose the heads of the army and, if necessary, kill them.

"Accordingly, I ordered Gen. Ruperto Cabrera to adopt the necessary measures to assure the safety of Camp Columbia and to guard the camp's posts.

"It seems that either because police searched and prohibited passage of all automobiles from Havana proper to Marianao (where Camp Columbia is located) or because the leaders of the group were warned that they were being awaited by the army, they desisted from their plan to seize the camp."

Residents near the camp said they heard sporadic gunfire starting shortly after 2 A.M., E.S.T., and continuing for about 30 minutes. Reporters inspected the camp area this morning, but found no unusual activity.

(In Miami, Fla., Gen. Manuel Benitez, chief of Cuban state police under former President Fulgencio Batista, said "today's outbreak was an explosion of the army without any previous planning," and that "there will be a real revolution at any moment." He said today's "uprising" was "only the forerunner of a big revolution").

Troops were reported patrolling highways and avenues leading to the camp.

Revolution Predicted

Miami, Fla., May 17 (AP)—Gen. Manuel Benitez, former chief of the Cuban state police under the regime of former President Fulgencio Batista, said today that an abortive military uprising in Havana was "only the forerunner of a big revolution" in Cuba.

Mexico-Yugoslavia Rift Ended

MEXICO CITY, May 17 (AP).—The Foreign Office said today that Mexico and Yugoslavia have agreed to re-establish diplomatic relations.

Cuba To Get Two Airbases

San Juan, Puerto Rico, May 17 (AP)—United States Army headquarters said today that two airbases, one at San Antonio de Los Banos and the other at San Julian, Cuba, would be turned over to the Cuban Government in a ceremony at Batista airport next Monday.

Several Killed In Cuban Army Camp Riot

Havana, Cuba, May 17 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Genovevo Perez, chief of the Cuban Army, said a small "revolutionary movement headed by an army group with civilian connections" was frustrated in an attempt to seize army headquarters at Camp Columbia early this morning.

Havana, Cuba, May 17 (AP)—Unofficial reports today said heavy shooting broke out early today at Camp Columbia, Cuban army headquarters near Havana, and that several persons were killed and wounded.

The newspaper Informacion described the disorder as a "seditious uprising" of military contingents in the camp which was "dealt with immediately," but no other Cuban newspapers gave it such a seditious character.

Precautions Taken

Other reliable sources said the difficulty developed when several officers and men refused to obey orders transferring them to the military base of San Antonio de los Banos. That base is to be handed over to Cuba by the United States on May 20.

Gen. Genovevo Perez, head of the Cuban Army, was reported to have visited President Grau San Martin at 4 A.M. to inform him of the events at Camp Columbia.

The President spent the early morning at the presidential mansion and gave orders to his guards to take "special precautions."

The shooting at Camp Columbia was reported to have broken out between 2 and 4 A.M.

PROMISE GIVEN VIRGIN ISLANDS DAY

Truman Greets New Governor; To Increase Self-Rule

Charlotte Amalie, Virgin Islands, May 17 (AP)—President Truman today promised the Virgin Islands "an ever increasing degree of self-government as the people demonstrate their capacity to govern themselves."

The President extended greetings in a message to William H. Hastie, who took office today as the first Negro governor of the islands.

Hastie, in a speech, appealed for close co-operation "across international boundries" in the Caribbean and said the Virgin Islands must reduce their dependence upon goods and services from the outside.

Message Of President

The text, in part, of the President's message:

"It is with much pleasure I send you my hearty congratulations and good wishes for a long and successful administration as Governor of the Virgin Islands. Your activities and the progress of the islands under your able and understanding guidance will be watched with interest all over the world. Great responsibility has been entrusted to you and I am entirely confident of your ability to shoulder it.

"The loyalty and co-operation pledged you by the people of the Virgin Islands should do much to lighten your task. I should like you to tell the people of the islands that I share their hopes for—and determination to see achieved—a great advance in the status of the islands economically, socially and politically."

Hoover Asks Food for 800,000,000 By Filling 'Gap' of 3,600,000 Tons

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 17—Herbert Hoover, reporting on his world survey of famine areas, called upon Americans tonight for greater self-denial to help save 800,000,000 persons from the "grimmest spectre of famine in all the history of the world."

Mr. Hoover departed from his prepared text to assert that "these spectres are only thirty days away in most of these famine areas, for that is the outside limit of their supplies in transit."

He warned that unless more food were shipped to hunger-ridden areas during the next several months, millions would be condemned to a diet like that of prisoners in the Nazi concentration camps at Buchenwald and Belsen.

Hoover's address was for a Famine Emergency committee meeting and a nationwide broadcast.

The former president said his 35,000-mile tour through 25 countries suffering from acute food shortages showed that "hunger hangs over the homes of more than 800,000,000 people—over one-third of the people of the earth.

"Hunger is a silent visitor who comes like a shadow. He sits beside every anxious mother three times each day. He brings not alone suffering and sorrow, but fear and terror.

"He carries disorder and paralysis of government, and even its downfall. He is more destructive than armies, not only in human life but in morals. All the values of right living melt before his invasions, and every gain of civilization crumbles.

"We can save these people from the worst, if we will."

He offered two methods:

(1) Still more intensive conservation of breadstuffs and fats in North America, and

(2) The marketing of every grain of cereal on farms.

Full Cooperation Needed

"If we can succeed in persuading every man and woman, every nation to do their utmost, we shall master this famine," he promised. "And we shall save the lives of hundreds of millions from the greatest jeopardy in all the history of mankind. We shall have saved infinite suffering."

Hoover did not touch upon suggestions that this country return to food rationing in order to save more for the hungry overseas. He pinned his faith instead upon a voluntary conservation program outlined by President Truman's Famine Emergency committee.

The committee appealed to Americans to eat 40 percent less wheat products and 20 percent less fats during the present emergency.

Hoover, in giving what he described as a "global picture" of the famine situation, said that he and his travelling colleagues had pared needs of hungry nations to a minimum and found that there is a "gap" of 3,600,000 tons between needs and exportable supplies of breadstuffs.

He said they measured the needs of each nation on a "drastic caloric basis such as would pull them through, would prevent mass starvation, would maintain order and economic life." They kept a 1,500-1,800 calory bedrock figure always in mind.

Must Feed Enemy

Noting that Americans differ as to whether enemy peoples should be fed, Hoover declared:

"Let me say that to keep 500,000 American boys in garrison among starving women and children is unthinkable. It is impossible because, being Americans, they will share their own rations with hungry children. It is impossible because hunger brings the total destruction of all morals. It is impossible because of the danger to American boys of sweeping infectious diseases, which rise with famine.

"It is unthinkable because we do not want our boys machine-gunning famished rioters. It is unthinkable because we do not want the American flag flying over nation-wide Buchenwalds."

Hoover said that if the world's estimated 800,000,000 hungry people should receive no more relief, the measure of their hunger with the caloric yardstick would be about as follows:

About 100,000,000 would be reduced to the 2,000-calory level. He said that an average of 2,200 calories per person per day is a minimum in a nation of healthy persons.

About 100,000,000 would be reduced to an 1,800-calory level about 150,000,0000 to a level of 1,500 calories about 150,000,000 to a level of 1,200 calories, and about 300,000,000 to 900 calories or less—a level which he said is "slow death."

"As we descend this scale, we move step by step from the stage of hunger to the stage of disease and epidemics, to the stage of public disorder, to the stage of starvation of all but the strongest, and, finally, at less than 900 calories we come to mass starvation," he continued. "The Nazis at Buchenwald and Belsen gave almost that amount to their prisoners. But long before a population is reduced to these lower levels, government would break down."

Hoover reported he had seen much which he could criticize as to the management of famine relief.

"I criticized such matters to many officials in the world frankly," he said. "I could criticize them bitterly. But, after every boiling of inward indignation at men and at nations, I come back again to the fact that millions are in grave danger of starvation.

"Criticism can wait for history."

The former President said the famine was "dreadfully hard on children." He deplored the absence of a program of special aid for children such as was carried on after World War I.

"Civilization marches forward upon the feet of healthy children," he declared. "It is not too late to stop this most costly retreat and its debacle of endless evil."

Food Rationing Not Contemplated

CHICAGO, May 17—(AP) Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said today "we are not now contemplating consumer rationing" and that he expected Latin American and Russian aid to prevent world famine.

Anderson told a news conference he was "not too worried" about a miller spokesman's prediction that 94 percent of the nation's flour mills would be shut down by June 4 because of lack of wheat to process.

He said "the mills are allowed to mill up to 75 per cent of normal," and instead of any consumer rationing, industry rationing probably would accomplish the equivalent.

World mass starvation "can and will be prevented," he said, adding that success of the feeding program will require cooperation of Latin America and Russia and "the prospects are we'll get it."

In Chicago with Herbert Hoover, who made a radio report on the food situation, Anderson told newsmen "the American public should be reassured that the food is being sold and not just given away."

Hoover's Address to the Nation on Food Crisis

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—The complete text of former President Herbert Hoover's address tonight follows:

This is my report to the American people upon the world famine situation. Three weeks ago I broadcast from Cairo our report upon the situation in Europe. Since then we have examined the food problems in Egypt, Iraq, India, Siam, the Philippines, China, Korea and Japan, thus compassing most of Asia.

I can therefore now consolidate our findings in twenty-five countries which we visited and upon several more upon which we have received competent information.

At the request of President Truman I have acted as a sort of food ambassador to determine needs; to discover possible further sources of supplies; and to co-ordinate the world's effort to master this danger to the lives of millions. Beyond this, it has been my duty to represent the solicitude of the American people and their desire to aid.

Grimmest In History

Along the 35,000 miles we have traveled, I have seen with my own eyes the grimmest specter of famine in all the history of the world.

Of the four horsemen of the Apocalypse, the one named war has gone—at least for a while. But famine, pestilence and death are still charging over the earth. And the modern world has added four more to this evil brigade. Their names are destruction, drought, fear and revolution. This crisis is not alone due to war destruction of agriculture. On the top of that calamity has been piled drought in the Mediterranean, drought in India, drought in China and partial drought in South Africa and the Argentine. Never have so many evil horsemen come all at one time.

Hunger hangs over the homes of more than 800,000,000 people—over one-third of the people of the earth. Hunger is a silent visitor who comes like a shadow. He sits beside every anxious mother three times each day. He brings not alone suffering and sorrow, but fear and terror. He carries disorder and the paralysis of government, and even its downfall. He is more destructive than armies, not only in human life but in morals. All of the values of right living melt before his invasions, and every gain of civilization crumbles. But we can save these people from the worst, if we will.

In our mission through Europe, I have had the devoted co-operation of my six colleagues, all of them with long experience in famines. We secured independent investigations in advance of coming; we consulted at length with the heads of state and with the food and agricultural experts of each government; we checked and cross-checked all information with American officials in those countries; we have checked it again with the relief organizations of many nationalities who are working closely with the stricken peoples. And above all, my colleagues and I have gone into the byways to see for ourselves. I am confident our conclusions are close to reality.

"Criticism Can Wait"

On this journey I have seen much which I could criticize as to the management of the famine relief. I criticized such matters to many officials in the world frankly. I could criticize them bitterly. But, after every boiling of inward indignation at men and at nations, I come back again and again to the fact that millions are in grave danger of starvation. To explode into public criticism in this crisis would only weaken the amount of support and diminish the food they will receive. Criticism can wait for history. I only want to record that all has not been perfect in the world that I have witnessed. It all adds emphasis to the fact that today the vital need is unity and co-operation now, so that we may master this crisis.

In appraising the world situation, I could give you reams of figures of rations, of calories, of tons of this and that, for every country and each district. I could give you their stocks of food on hand, in transit, and the further need of each famine area. I could give it by the month, or for the crisis. I could give the time required for ship transport with details of port, railroad and truck capacities for distribution. This sort of detailed information would convey little to you, but it is full of meaning in the lives of men, women and children to my colleagues and myself. For in these figures lurks the certainty of hunger to hundreds of millions, and even the specter of mass starvation before this crisis is passed. Rather than such details, time requires that I give you a global picture, in the hope that it will convey to you the gravity of the situation, and the need for our utmost further effort.

Yardstick of Hunger

I have said before that calories are the yardstick of hunger, of starvation, of famine, and finally death. And I may remind you that an average of 2,200 calories a person a day is the minimum in a nation for healthy human beings. And do remember that we Americans, the British, the Canadians, the Australians, the Swedes, the Argentines and most of the Western Hemisphere are consuming over 2,900 calories a day right now. If these 800,000,000 people should receive no more relief, and if we assume that their own remaining resources could be evenly distributed, which they could not, the measure of their hunger with the caloric yardstick is about as follows:

About 100,000,000 people would be reduced to the 2,000-calorie level.

About 100,000,000 more people would be reduced to an 1,800-calorie level.

About 150,000,000 more would be reduced to a 1,500-calorie level.

About 150,000,000 more would be reduced to a 1,200-calorie level; and

About 300,000,000 more would be reduced to a 900-calorie level, or below—and that is slow death.

As we descend this scale, we move step by step from the stage of hunger to the stage of disease and epidemics, to the state of public disorder, to the state of starvation of all but the strongest, and, finally, at less than 900 calories we come to mass starvation. The Nazis at Buchenwald and Belsen gave almost that amount to their prisoners. But long before a population is reduced to these lower levels, government would break down.

Life-and-Death Formula

All this sounds like an engineering formula. It is; but it is a formula which means life and hope to nations. At the best we can do, it means gnawing hunger to millions, but it is not mass starvation.

We must prevent the descent to these lower levels. Reconstruction and peace in the world would go up in the flames of chaos if we fail.

The transcendent question is the available overseas supplies with which to fulfill this formula. And I shall discuss breadstuffs only, for they are the symbols of life and hope. The problem of fats is no less urgent, but I will not burden your memories with more figures than necessary. And in breadstuffs I include all human food cereals that are available.

We have two sources of breadstuffs supply for this crisis—the residues of the 1945 harvest in the surplus countries, and the earlier part of the coming harvest of 1946. The harvest of some countries comes in June, others as late as October, and some supplies from the new harvest can be available to the countries of late harvests. If the present harvest prospects continue favorable, relief will come to the world within a few months. By September new supplies should be available and the immediate crisis will ease.

11 Million Tons Short

In March last, the combined food board in Washington made an estimate of the amount of food needed by all the deficit nations for the first six months of 1946, and of supplies available from the food-surplus nations. These estimates of need were based upon the requirements as stated by the nations who must have overseas supplies. Adding in estimates of the need between June and the fall harvest, the total requirements of cereals were listed at, roughly, 26,000,000 tons. For the same period supplies were estimated at 15,000,000 tons. Thus, there was an unbridgable gap of 11,000,000 tons, or nearly 43 per cent. And that would be a calorie level below human endurance. That gap of 11,000,000 tons spells death to millions.

During these last months shipments have been moving, and mass starvation has so far been prevented. Our mission examined the stocks now in the hands of each country and the amounts of their own production that could be expected. We measured the needs of each nation on a drastic caloric basis such as would pull them through, would prevent mass starvation, would maintain order and economic life. We kept the 1,500-1,800-calorie bedrock figure always in mind. Most of the nations we visited joined earnestly with us in working out the very minimum they could do with, as they all realize the desperation of other nations.

The net of these drastic revisions was to reduce the total world requirements of breadstuffs by about 4,000,000 tons. By developing some new sources, by substitution of other cereals, by shifting between early and late harvests, by our sacrifices in America and by spreading sacrifice into other surplus areas, we estimate supplies for the hungry will be increased by a minimum of about 3,000,000 tons. Thus, the gap has been decreased from 11,000,000 tons to 3,600,000 tons. But the gap is still there—and it is a tragic gap.

To Save 40,000,000

I can illustrate how tragic that gap still is. It equals the whole amount necessary to save 40,000,000 people. We would, of course, not concentrate the shortage on one nation but if we spread it over all, the results are about the same. There are Americans who believe it right, and a duty, to feed women and children even of a surrendered enemy. No one is the enemy of children. There are others who believe that the only hope of a peaceful world is to save the enemy peoples from starvation and thus start building them into peaceful, co-operative peoples. There are others who, remembering the immeasurable crimes the enemy has committed against all mankind, believe in "an eye for an eye," a "tooth for a tooth." To these, let me say that to keep 500,000 American boys in garrison among starving women and children is unthinkable.

It is impossible because, being Americans, they will share their own rations with hungry children; it is impossible because hunger brings the total destruction of all morals; it is impossible because of the danger to American boys of sweeping infectious diseases, which rise from famine. It is unthinkable because we do not want our boys machine-gunning famished rioters. It is unthinkable because we do not want the American flag flying over nation-wide Buchenwalds.

And what of the children in Europe?

This 1,500-calorie bottom level is dreadfully hard on children. It is hard because a larger portion of the average ration must go to heavy workers if essential services be kept going. While this diet, which is as much as 85 per cent bread and the balance a little fat, sugar and vegetables, will pull adults through, it is not adapted to children. Several nations give them priority in what little dairy supplies there are; extra food is given in some schools, and the charitable agencies are doing the best they can. But in all, they are touching only the fringe of the problem. The proof of this is an annual infant mortality rate as high as 200 for 1,000 among children under one year in many cities. The further proof is that there are somewhere from twenty to thirty million physically subnormal children on the Continent. After the war in 1919-'20, we gave a good extra meal a day, of 500 or 600 calories of restorative food, to 10,000,000 children. I deplore that this special aid for children has had no counterpart through a widespread organization set up after this war. Civilization marches forward upon the feet of healthy children. It is not too late to stop this most costly retreat and its debacle of endless evil.

Much the same could be said of tens of millions of children in Asia. There many millions of these children have been falling far short of full life since long before this famine. And they are harder to reach and help, because of age-old rooted customs.

Our mission has stimulated some action for children, both in Europe and Asia. I have already proposed not alone a systematic handling of this problem of sub-normal children, but a drastic reorganization of the world's food administration for the next harvest year. It is a primary job for the United Nations Organization if peace and good-will are to be re-established on earth.

U. N. R. R. A. Handles 20 Pct.

U. N. R. R. A., with its earnest staff, attends to about 20 per cent of the world's food needs. Their supply is by charity, of which the vast majority comes from America. But great as this work is, 80 per cent of the problem is not charity—it is the furnishing of supplies which people can buy, yet they are just as hungry as the destitute.

Before closing, I should pay tribute to my colleagues on this journey, and to the great army of men and women in every nation over the world who are working unceasingly to save these millions of lives. The volunteer organizations of the religious bodies, of the Red Cross of many nations, are in the field, unceasingly doing their best—but they can remedy only a fraction of the suffering.

There are some hopes of further decreasing this gap of 3,600,000 tons.

First: still more intensive conservation of breadstuffs and fats in North America. Before I went on this journey, we asked the American people to reduce their consumption of wheat products to two pounds a week a person and to cut their purchases of fats by 20 per cent. Hundreds of thousands of families have responded by cutting out wheat products altogether. Public eating places in many cities have co-operated. I regret to say there are too many who have not co-operated with some hungry human being. I earnestly hope that every American will remember that an invisible guest sits with him at every meal.

Second: we have need that every farmer bring every grain of cereal to market.

We are seeking for still further co-operation in other nations. The Latin-American states have responded to our appeals and to those of Pope Pius XII for co-operation. At President Truman's request, I shall visit these governments to consult with them on measures of co-ordination of our efforts.

Seek Further Co-operation

If we succeed in persuading every man and woman, every nation to do their utmost, we shall master this famine. And we shall save the lives of hundreds of millions from the greatest jeopardy in all the history of mankind. We shall have saved infinite suffering.

I was asked by the President to undertake this work in a purely advisory capacity and with the further journey to the Latin-American states, my service ends. The responsibilities of administration of the programs I have outlined lie with our officials. I bespeak for them the full support of all Americans in their efforts to meet this terrible world crisis.

In conclusion, do I need to reinforce this report with more urging to do your utmost? I may repeat again what I said three weeks ago from Cairo: "If every source of supplies will do its utmost, we can pull the world through this most dangerous crisis. The saving of these human lives is far more than an economic necessity to the recovery of the world. It is more than the only path to order, to stability and to peace. Such action marks the return of the lamp of compassion to the earth. And that is a part of the moral and spiritual reconstruction of the world."

BRITAIN-U. S. JOIN TO EXPORT CEREALS FOR HUNGRY WORLD

Agreement Fixes 10,000,000 Tons as Goal for Relief Purposes to September

RUSSIA OUT OF PROGRAM

Reported Rejection of Truman's Appeal for Aid Is Held to Increase 'Risk of Famine'

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 17—An Anglo-American agreement for distributing 10,000,000 tons of cereals among nations requiring 13,400,000 tons from now to September was reported today by Herbert Morrison, president of the British Cabinet Council.

He also told a news conference that the United States and Britain had agreed to pursue "common rationing standards at the earliest possible date" in their zones in Germany.

"I think the French will follow," he added.

The common rationing program does not extend to the Russian zone, Mr. Morrison explained, because the Russians do not participate in the Combined Food Board, a British-Canadian-American agency which allocates food supplies to needy countries.

Mr. Morrison said that the agreement had been completed after his meetings here with President Truman and other officials.

Later the United States and Britain declared jointly that "a risk of famine remains" despite the best they could do for other countries and that "even more energetic measures are needed throughout the world" to cope with it.

Early May Grain Exports

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department reported grain exports of 105,000 tons during the first ten days of May, against a quota of 1,100,000 tons for the whole month. Its statement added that the figure did not reflect "the accelerated movement" of grain from inland points in recent weeks.

Mr. Morrison disclosed that Britain had agreed to relinquish another 200,000 tons of wheat for other nations during the May-September period and called this "a hard blow." Asked whether this would mean bread rationing for Britain, he replied that "is up to the Cabinet to decide."

Britain had previously given up 200,000 tons for immediate shipment to hungry countries with the understanding that it would be replaced later from the United States. The additional 200,000 tons relinquished now, however, would not be replaced, Mr. Morrison said.

The joint communiqué said that the United States and Britain reaffirmed "their belief that common measures should be taken in all zones of Germany with respect to the collection of indigenous foodstuffs, the setting of common ration standards and the adoption of a common basis for calculating import requirements."

The American and British commanders will be directed to confer toward this end in the American, British and French zones for which the Combined Food Board makes allocations.

Rationing in United Kingdom

"The United Kingdom representatives have reported fully on the measures of consumer rationing and other economies currently in effect in the United Kingdom," the communiqué said, and added:

"Consumer rationing has been continued, and in the case of fats, bacon, dried eggs, meat and preserves, rations have been reduced below the austere low wartime levels. Rations of the British forces in the United Kingdom have twice been cut since V-E Day."

In connection with Japan, the communiqué said the American Government had reviewed the import program to insure that "no for the hungry overseas. He pinned his faith instead upon a voluntary conservation program outlined by President Truman's Famine-Emergency Committee.

In giving what he described as a "global picture" of the famine situation, Mr. Hoover said that he and his traveling colleagues had pared needs of hungry nations to a minimum and found that there is a "gap" of 3,600,000 tons between needs and exportable supplies of breadstuffs.

He said that they measured the needs of each nation on a "drastic caloric basis such as would pull them through, would prevent mass starvation, would maintain order and economic life." They kept a 1,500-1,800 calory bedrock figure always in mind.

Why Ex-Foes Must Be Fed

Noting that Americans differed as to whether enemy peoples should be fed, Mr. Hoover declared:

"Let me say that to keep 500,000 American boys in garrison among starving women and children is unthinkable.

"It is unthinkable because we do not want our boys machine-gunning famished rioters. It is unthinkable because we do not want the American flag flying over nationwide Buchenwalds."

He said that if the world's estimated 800,000,000 hungry people should receive no more relief the measure of their hunger with the caloric yardstick would be about as follows:

About 100,000,000 would be reduced to the 2,000-calory level. He explained that an average of 2,200 calories per person per day was a minimum in a nation of healthy persons.

About 100,000,000 would be reduced to an 1,800-calory level; about 150,000,000 to a level of 1,500 calories; about 150,000,000 to a level of 1,200 calories, and about 300,000,000 to 900 calories or less—a level which he said was "slow death."

"As we descend this scale, we move step by step from the stage of hunger to the stage of disease and epidemics, to the stage of public disorder, to the stage of starvation of all but the strongest, and, finally, at less than 900 calories we come to mass starvation," he continued.

"The Nazis at Buchenwald and Belsen gave almost that amount to their prisoners. But long before a population is reduced to these lower levels, Government would break down."

U. S.-British Report on Food

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—Following is the complete text of a joint British-American announcement on the world food situation:

British and American officials announced jointly today that they had reached agreement on guiding principles which their two governments should adopt in their common effort to solve the many immediate and longer-range problems arising in connection with the world food crisis.

The announcement was made on the departure of Mr. Herbert Morrison, M. P., lord president of the Council, who had flown from London early this week to discuss the wheat crisis with President Truman and other high officials of the United States government, including Mr. Anderson, the Secretary of Agriculture, and Mr. Clayton, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs. Mr. L. B. Pearson, Canadian Ambassador in Washington, and other Canadian officials weer also present at the conference. Mr. Herbert Morrison is now proceeding to Ottawa, where he will discuss with the Canadian government the matters discussed in Washington and other food problems.

The object of Mr. Morrison's visit to Washington was to review the efforts which the two governments of the United Kingdom and the United States have been making to combat world famine, to agree on general lines of future policy, and to solve certain immediate problems of common concern.

The two governments are agreed that even more energetic measures are needed throughout the world to scure effective and complete removal of all threat to world famine and that their plans in this respect must be based on the assumption that this threat will continue at least through the summer harvest of 1947. The two governments are further agreed to consult together in the future, as in the past, on the initiation or removal of any measures of major importance undertaken by them as a contribution to the world effort to prevent famine.

The two governments have reviewed the requirements and availabilities of bread grains for the period May-September, 1946. The maximum supplies presently in sight for this period amount to only 10,000,000 tons. The total stated requirements for this period were 13.4 million tons. There is an indicated deficiency, therefore, of 3.4 million tons, or about 25 per cent.

Cuts in Estimates

This deficiency makes it inevitable that severe cuts should be made in requirements previously stated. Recommendations to this end will be submitted to the Combined Food Board by the two governments. Even after severe cuts there would be a gap of something under one million tons between such requirements and available supplies. It will have to be recognized that the cuts proposed in the recommdations must inevitably cause hardship, and a risk of famine remains. This risk can be reduced in so far as other sources of supply can be found in addition to those at present in sight and the two governments are resolved to do everything in their power to secure these additional supplies.

The United Kingdom representatives have reported fully on the measures of consumer rationing and other economies currently in effect in the United Kingdom, which may be briefly summarized as follows:

Consumer rationing has been continued, and in the case of fats, bacon, dried eggs, meat and preserves, rations have been reduced below the austere low war-time levels. Rations of the British forces in the United Kingdom have twice been cut since V-E Day.

Since the beginning of 1946, the following measures have been introduced:

(A) Increase in the extraction rate of flour:

(I) From 80 per cent to 82½ per cent on Feb. 24.

(II) From 82½ per cent to 85 per cent on March 10.

(III) From 85 per cent to 90 per cent during the most critical period May-September.

(B) Reduction in supplies of grain for spirit distilling from 300,000 tons to 130,000 tons.

(C) Reduction in the size of the standard loaf from 2 pounds to 1¾ pounds.

(D) Reduction of 25 per cent in production of biscuits and similar products.

(E) Reduction of production in allocations of sugar and fats of cake and flour confectionery by reduction of 25 per cent in alocations of sugar and fats for this purpose.

(F) Reduction of beer production to 90 per cent of prewar production in terms of standard barrels.

(G) Inauguration of a campaign to secure a reduction in wastage of food.

In order to increase the output of bread grains, the United Kingdom has continued its wartime policy of land utilization, crop production and disposal with the effect of encouraging cereal production at the expense of livestock. The feeding of millable wheat to livestock continues to be prohibited.

Measures Taken in 1946

The following measures have been introduced since the beginning of 1946:

(I) Payment of a grant of £2 ($8) an acre in respect of the plowing up for the 1946 harvest of grassland which has been down for three years or longer.

(II) Increase of one shilling ninepence (0.35c) per cwt. in price of wheat from the 1947 harvest.

(III) Reintroduction of directions to grow wheat for 1947 harvest in order to secure a minimum target of 2.5 million acres. This means return to the position prevailing up to and including the 1945 harvest. Directions to grow potatoes and sugar beets have been maintained throughout.

(IV) Reduction in rations for pigs and poultry as from the 1st of May from the basis of one quarter of pre-war numbers to one-sixth of pre-war numbers and to one-twelfth as from 1st July. (It has been originally intended to increase the rations as from 1st May to the basis of one-third of pre-war numbers.)

As a part of the measures necessary to reduce the deficit in world supplies, the United Kingdom has agreed to reduce its stated requirements, already screened to the minimum necessary to maintain its lowered consumption level, by another 200,000 tons. This may involve: Either a reduction in pipe line stocks to a point at which distribution may be interrupted, with consequent disruption of the industrial economy, or still further restrictions on the austere diet maintained in the United Kingdom for the six years since the beginning of the war.

Steps Taken in U. S.

The United States representatives reported on the measures taken in the United States to achieve greater production and to switch agriculture and available supplies away from the war-time emphasis on livestock products and over to a maximum production of bread grains directed to human consumption. Among other measures the United States has taken the following steps to attain maximum exports of grain:

1. Substantial increases in the ceiling prices of grain for export, to replace earlier export premiums of 30 cents a bushel on wheat and corn.

2. Increase of the extraction rate of flour to 80 per cent.

3. Limitation on millers' inventories, including grain purchased and in transit, to a twenty-one day supply. Actual inventories are in many cases even less, averaging two weeks' supply, with some of the big mills already shut down.

4. Prohibition of the use of wheat products for alcohol beverages and severe curtailment of such use of other grains, including limitation to twenty-four hours run a month in the manufacture of alcohol and a cut in beer production to 70 per cent of the 1945 level.

5. Restriction on the purchase of grain and grain products by livestock feeders to amounts designed to limit the weight of hogs and cattle and the numbers of poultry.

6. Limitation of the use of grain by mixed-feed manufacturers to 80 per cent of the 1945 use.

7. A similar 80 per cent limitation on the use of corn or sorgum grain in syrups, etc. The United States production problem differs from the British in that it requires an extensive change from agricultural policy established to meet war-time demand, instead of a further development along war-time lines as in the case of Great Britain. The measures recently adopted for diverting grains into human consumption and for cutting down consumption by livestock are only now beginning to have their full effect.

Common Action in Germany

The two governments reaffirm their belief that common measures should be taken in all zones of Germany with respect to the collection of indigenous foodstuffs, the setting of common ration standards and the adoption of a common basis for calculating import requirements. Since the timing of these measures must be left to agreements in the field, the British and American zone commanders will be immediately requested to set in motion the necessary consultations to achieve these objectives in their respective zones and the French zone (these being the areas for which the Combined Food Board makes allocations).

It was also deemed desirable that the ration scale in the British and French zones of Germany should be adjusted upward to the level prevailing in the United States zone at the earliest feasible date and to this end full and intensified efforts should be continued in each zone to achieve maximum utilization of food resources. It is also agreed that special emphasis should be placed on miners' rations in order to secure a maximum output of coal.

The United States government has reviewed the Japanese import program in order to insure that except to the extent that the supreme commander of the Allied powers determines that imports are essential immediately for the safety of the occupation forces, no imports shall be permitted which will have the effect of giving to the Japanese a priority or preferential treatment over the requirements of the people of any Allied power or liberated area. The conclusion has been reached in the discussions that the low level of feeding contemplated by the current program may not suffice, even if fully met, to provide the minimum essential for the safety of the occupation forces.

State Dept. Backs Policy In Japan

Washington, May 17 (AP) — The State Department today indorsed a declaration by its ranking diplomat at Tokyo that this country does not favor communism in either the United States or Japan.

Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in response to a news conference inquiry, read the text of a statement made to the Allied council in Tokyo Wednesday by George Atcheson, Jr., council chairman and General MacArthur's diplomatic adviser.

Issue Raised By Russian

Lieut. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, Russian member, had demanded from MacArthur's headquarters information on charges contained in a Japanese May Day message presented to the council.

Atcheson took sharp issue with the Russian, described the statement as an attempt "to spread Communistic propaganda." He said the statement had originally been drawn up in a foreign language and then translated into Japanese.

For Political Liberties

The United States supports full political liberties for Communists and for others in Japan, Atcheson said, but "I do not need to tell you the United States does not favor Communism in the United States or Japan."

After reading the text of the Tokyo declaration, Acting Secretary Acheson said he concurred in it and that the Government supports it.

Korea Issue Hangs Fire

Acheson was asked whether the United States and Russia had been in communication to speed agreement on a provisional government for Korea.

He replied that they had not, and said that the United States representatives on the joint Soviet-American commission are ready any time to resume negotiations as soon as the Russian representative is ready to promise that freedom of expression will be safeguarded throughout Korea. Negotiations had been broken off on that point.

U.S. Favors India Proposals

Acheson also told reporters that the American Government looks favorably on British proposals for a federal union of India. The plan is regarded here, he said, as providing constructive and statesmanlike steps toward the solution of one of the world's most complex political problems.

1945

On still another aspect of foreign policy he said he would discuss with Bernard Baruch later in the day the question of what help the Government's atomic experts can give Baruch in working out plans for a United Nations approach to atomic control problems. Baruch is the American member of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

U. S. to Talk With Arabs on Palestine Plan

MAR 18 1945

Jews Also To Be Consulted BeforeDecision on Study Committee's Proposals

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—The United States tonight reassured five Arab countries that it would consult with them and the Jews before "taking any definite decision" to implement the recent recommendations of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine.

The committee called, among other things, for entry of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

The State Department released identical notes sent to the diplomatic representatives of Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria in reply to a joint Arab note of May 10.

The reply said the United States was conferring with Great Britain and made it plain that no action had yet been taken.

The Arab note protested the Anglo-American recommendation as a "serious encroachment upon the basic rights of the Arabs."

"The adoption of such a policy," it said, "would result in a state of disturbance and conflict in Palestine and in the Near and Middle East."

American support of the recommendations, it said, would be considered "hostile to the Arab people."

U. S. Opposition to Communism At Home, in Japan Is Stressed

WASHINGTON, May 17 — (AP) The State department today openly asserted its disfavor of Communism in the United States and Japan.

An informal statement by Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson at a news conference focused attention on an issue which diplomatic authorities consider a major irritant in American-Russian relations and which some believe figured in the breakdown of the Paris foreign ministers conference.

This NIGHT an apparent struggle between Russia and the United States over the influence of Communism in the domestic affairs of various countries in Europe and Asia. The policy implied in Acheson's news conference remark may be applicable to many other areas besides Japan.

Assails 'Reactionaries'

Meanwhile the Russian embassy information bulletin issued here, in an article on Soviet policy, assailed what it called American and British reactionary elements for allegedly trying to upset international cooperation. It declared that the capitalist system is failing to furnish security to its workers and to sustain employment.

Acheson's discussion of Communism arose when he was asked, "Do you subscribe to the declaration by George Atcheson in Tokyo that the United States does not want Communism in either America or Japan?"

George Atcheson is chairman and American member of the Allied Council for Japan. On May 15 he told the Council in opposing actions requested by the Russian member that "the United States does not favor Communism in the United States or Japan."

JONES MAY FIGHT LOAN TO BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP) Representative Robertson (D-Va.) said today the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan "will mean the survival in Europe of the last substantial bulwark against the spread of Communism."

Meanwhile, Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee disclosed that Jesse Jones, former commerce secretary, probably will appear in opposition to the loan with a personal appearance on Capitol Hill.

In a formal statement, Robertson, a member of the Ways and Means committee, declared what good would it be "for us to spend billions of dollars and thousands of lives to prevent the world from being engulfed by one form of totalitarianism and then refuse to contribute as much as two weeks of the cost of that war to a program to prevent the world from being engulfed by another type of totalitarianism?"

"The consequences of extending the proposed line of credit to Great Britain," he said, "may be that the loan may never be repaid, although I believe the British people are honest and will repay if they can.

"The consequences of not making the loan will be the loss of our system of private enterprise through the regimentation of our economy to domestic needs, the maintenance of a huge and costly military establishment because we will be living in one world without one friend and the ultimate possibility of a future atomic war in which there will be no victory."

Spence, after communicating with Jones' Washington office, told newsmen today "I think Mr. Jones will appear before the committee" to voice his views against the British loan.

BANKER BACKS BRITISH LOAN

Chase National Chairman Says England Will Repay

Boston, May 17 (AP)—Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank of the city of New York, said today that "given favorable conditions, the British Government will be able to repay the "credit" of $3,750,000,000 proposed in the Anglo-American financial agreement.

In an address prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Aldrich listed as conditions the "postwar volume of international trade, the willingness of the United States to receive foreign imports, and the avoidance of another world war."

"In providing England with raw materials and capital equipment," the banker said, "and in furthering the development of multilateral trade, the credit creates conditions favorable for its repayment."

No Socialistic Experiment

The agreement, recently passed by the Senate and now before the House of Representatives, "is not being granted to underwrite socialistic experiments" by the British Government, Aldrich said.

"The credit will tend to make socialistic experiments unnecessary and more obviously undesirable," he contended.

If the United States failed to grant the credit to England, Aldrich said, the result would be bilateralism in trade.

A Necessary Investment

"Bilateralism contributes to the growth of international ill-will and suspicion and creates a situation in which international trade becomes an instrument of state policy to be used for aggressive purposes of political penetration," he added.

The agreement "is a necessary investment in the ideals of political freedom and free enterprise for which we fought the war," Aldrich said.

Aldrich agreed that "the credit will, in the short run, tend to exert an upward pressure upon prices" but insisted "its inflationary effects in the whole economic complex, however, are of minor influence and of a short-run character."

BILL WOULD BAR ANY FOREIGN LOAN

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—Legislation to prohibit American loans to foreign governments under present circumstances, but allowing United States citizens to subscribe to a British bond issue "not to exceed $3,750,000,000" is proposed by Representative Campbell (R.-Pa.).

Campbell told a reporter that two bills which he had introduced were "constructive substitutes" for the Senate-passed measures authorizing the British loan.

"My bills would be in the nature of a referendum," he declared in an interview. "Those who wanted to lend their own money to Britain for the same purposes envisioned in the proposed Government loan would be allowed to do so." He said it was his understanding that the present law prevented private citizens in this country from subscribing to British loan issues.

Atom Energy In 2 Years 'Possible'

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Leonard I. Katzin, West Coast scientist, considers large commercial atomic energy plants a practical possibility in two years, and sees them curtailing industry's reliance on other sources of power.

Dr. Katzin is a research chemist with the plutonium project at the University of California. He gives his views in the current issue of Army Ordnance Magazine.

Through industrial application of atomic energy, he holds, undeveloped areas rich in minerals, like Canada, could be made highly productive, waste in general could be curtailed and life made more livable.

Uranium Vs. Other Fuels

"In its present state of development, atomic energy does not compete with common fuels, but this need not be the case in the future," said Dr. Katzin.

One pound of uranium completely consumed by fission, he said, will release as much energy as the combustion of 1,500 tons of coal, 250,000 gallons of fuel oil or gasoline, 80,000,000 cubic feet of artificial gas or 40,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

The Cost Factor

Whether atomic power can compete financially with ordinary fuels depends on the cost of production. In order to compete with bituminous coal at $5 a ton—the 1942 wholesale average in the United States—a pound of U-235 should cost not more than $7,500 to produce, Dr. Katzin said.

"Competition with 15-cent gasoline is effective at $39,000 a pound. To compete with artificial gas costing 50 cents a 1,000 cubic feet it may still cost $39,000 a pound, while natural gas at the same cost would demand a competitive price of about $20,000 a pound for U-235."

Dr. Katzan says available data indicate that a pound of U-235 would probably cost about $2,800.

Doubts Some Uses

He discounted the likelihood that atomic energy could be used to propel planes, locomotives and automobiles or heat individual homes. For one thing, he said, protection against dangerous rays makes it necessary to house the atomic energy machine, or "pile," in a steel or concrete shield weighing about 50 tons.

"We are forced to the conclusion that the use of atomic power is best restricted to stationary, high-power units," Dr. Katzin said.

MEN 26 TO 30 ORDERED UP

Senators Advance Two Plans For Early Teen-Age Draft

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Selective service today ordered local boards to call up draft-eligible childless men 26 through 29 for physical examinations.

This was the first step in carrying out President Truman's instructions to expand the draft to include these men. The President said yesterday this was necessary "in order to save what we can from the near wreckage of the Selective Service System."

He referred to legislation passed by Congress which extends the draft to July 1 but prohibits induction of teen-age youths and fathers. Previously the top draft age was 25.

Hershey Issues Orders

In a telegram to state selective service officers, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey ordered preinduction examinations for childless men 26 through 29 whom the boards "believe may qualify for military service under existing physical and occupational standards."

Hershey specifically excluded men who have been discharged from the armed forces. He said also that men with "manifest" physical disabilities should not be called for examination.

The cases of men 26 through 29 should be "reopened and reconsidered," Hershey directed, if they are found physically fit. This means they will be classified in 1-A—available for military service—unless they qualify for deferment on an occupational basis.

About 15,000 Eligible

The War Department estimated that there are about 15,000 eligible men in the 26 to 30 age group.

Meanwhile, influential senators advanced two plans to get early Senate approval of a teen-age draft under a year's extension of selective service and then come to grips quickly with the House on the hot issue.

Advocates of both agreed that the stopgap draft extension will fall short of providing men needed by the armed forces even with the draft net widened to take men up to 30 years of age.

Senator Elbert Thomas (D., Utah), chairman, said he would ask the Military Committee to try for unanimous Senate approval of its own bill in order to begin conferences with the House immediately.

Provisions Of Bill

This bill calls for a full year extension with 18 and 19 year-olds subject to induction, an increase in pay for enlisted men of all services, and release of all fathers so desiring, together with all draftees who have served eighteen months or longer.

The second plan, advanced by Senator Hill (D., Ala.), Democratic whip, with support of some Republican senators, calls for the Senate to take up the Draft Act next week even if it means temporarily putting aside pending anti-strike legislation.

He and Senator Austin, of Vermont, ranking Republican member of the Military Committee, said they are confident the Senate will approve the year's extension along with induction of 18 and 19 year-olds.

Hill told a reporter that parents and teen-agers had exerted pressure for exemption of the 18 and 19 year-olds but this action would require fathers and long-service men to remain on duty.

One Senator Could Block It

"No one has challenged the minimum manpower requirement of the Army and the Navy," Hill said. "We can't get them from the 20-30 age group and everybody knows that. That means that 125,000 inducted fathers and possibly as many as 600,000 men with long overseas service must stay on duty as long as the 18 and 19 year-olds go free."

Chairman Thomas said his plan for passage by unanimous consent would speed up conference with the House and final action.

But it could be blocked by a single senator. Senators Revercomb (R., W.Va.) and Wilson (R., Iowa) are opposing the Senate bill. They want to raise pay of low-ranking enlisted personnel and suspend all inductions in order to try out a voluntary enlistment plan.

Already Combed Over

Such a moratorium between May 15 and October 15 was included in the House-approved bill. It also exempted teen-agers from induction, and extended the draft only nine months.

President Truman lifted an earlier ban on induction of men 26 through 29 years yesterday as he criticized the stopgap measure.

Senators and selective service officials agreed that the additional group would not meet requirements because it already has been combed over.

DEVERS QUICKLY

PROVES 'COWARD' CHARGE IS FALSE

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP) It took Gen. Jacob L. Devers less than five minutes today to convince a congressional committee that he had not used the word "cowards" in referring to members of Congress.

Haled before the House Military committee to explain an interview he gave last week in Atlanta, the commander of the army ground forces said he was "quite sure I had not used the word 'coward.'"

A published account said he lambasted Congress as a group of cowardly men afraid of touching the controversial draft issue.

Meeting Ends Quickly

Before many of the inspectors who had crowded into the committee room in expectation of a lively session had found time to locate chairs, Acting Chairman Thomason (D-Tex) ended the meeting with a "thank you very much, General Devers."

Thomason, presiding in the absence of Chairman May (D-Ky), who called the meeting after irate members of Congress protested against the general's purported statements, opened the proceedings by reading a telegram to May from Josh P. Skinner, managing editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

"General Devers did not use the word cowardly in referring to Congress," Skinner explained, adding that a copyreader was responsible for the appearance of quotation marks before the word.

"The reporter who wrote the story resorted to editorial presumption in using the word in an effort to give his impression of the general's remarks," Skinner pointed out.

The story, he said, originated in the Atlanta Constitution and was picked up and carried nationally by the United Press.

Nattily attired in summer tans, four silver stars gleaming from each shoulder, Devers smilingly took the witness stand.

Ready for Questions

"Mr. chairman, I have no statement to make. I shall be glad to answer any questions," he said.

Representative J. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif) wanted to know if the general had a copy of his remarks to reporters at Atlanta.

"No sir," the general replied. "I appeared in a room with two very personable reporters who came in there, one from the Atlanta Constitution and the other one from the Journal. They made notes and I talked. I was quite sure I had not used the word 'coward,' because it is not my habit to call people names; and certainly I would not care to call a great group of senators and congressmen, who are not only my friends but the friends of the army, cowards."

"Just what did you say?" asked Representative Shafer (R-Mich).

"You have it in the (Atlanta) Constitution. I assume, Mr. Congressman," Devers answered. "I do not have a record of it."

Then acting chairman Thomason thanked the general and banged the session into adjournment.

G. I. DEAD START HOME THIS YEAR

Truman Signs Bill to Return War Slain.

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—The G. I.'s who can't be mustered out will start coming home from overseas this year to a final stateside bivouac. They are the dead—men and women whose names on casualty lists went toward paying the battle price of 328,000 lives which world war II cost the United States.

They'll make their last voyage home in funeral fleets of white ships, marked from bow to stern with the purple band of mourning.

President Truman gave the official signal for the somber movement when he signed legislation yesterday providing for the final burial of the country's world war II dead. It gives next of kin the choice of having their service dead returned to the United States for final burial in national or private cemeteries, or of having them rest in American national cemeteries abroad where they fell.

Home by Christmas.

The first of the returning dead will start reaching American shores toward Christmas time, the Army indicated, with arrivals totaling about 1,200 monthly in the beginning and gradually increasing to 18,900.

The home-coming movement would be under way sooner, the War Department said, but for the fact casket makers have been unable to meet delivery schedules due to their inability to obtain sufficient steel.

The responsibility for the last mass movement of soldiers and sailors in the second world war's final chapter has been given the War Department Quartermaster Corps. The legislation instructs that it be carried out within five years, but Major-Gen. T. B. Larkin, the quartermaster-general expects it to be finished in less.

Took Two Years Then.

The return to the United States of 46,310 hero dead of the first world war began in 1920 and was completed in 1922. It involved an expenditure of about $20,000,000, including the establishment of eight cemeteries for those permanently interred overseas. The number who lost their lives in 1917-18 was 77,901.

The present legislation, which involves a cost of between $195,000,000 and $215,000,000, provides for the return, if desired by next of kin, of the bodies of all military personnel, civilians employed by the United States Government or attached to the armed forces—Red Cross workers, war correspondents and others—who died since September 3, 1939, the date of the limited national emergency.

It includes, too, all citizens of the United States who served in are armed forces of any government at war with Germany, Italy or Japan and died while in that service.

The War Department will start canvassing next of kin regarding their wishes in the next few weeks.

Army's Influenza Vaccination Indicates Strong Protection

PHILADELPHIA, May 17—(AP) Vaccination of the entire U. S. Army with a well developed vaccine against the commonest form of influenza has indicated that protected persons have a nine-to-one chance of escaping the disease.

This was reported to the American College of Physicians at the close of their 27th meeting today by the researchers for the army's commission on influenza.

At the same time, the reporting scientists—Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., and Dr. Jonas E. Salk, both of the University of Michigan—said single injections of the vaccine have "a significant effect for as long as a year at least."

But they emphasized that while "incontrovertible evidence" is now available that the resistance of man to two viruses of influenza can be enhanced, there should be no lessening of caution and other means of protection.

"The problem of the future," they said, "are to devise means for enhancing and prolonging individual protection x x x."

They said reactions to influenza vaccine correspond in severity and character to reactions following inoculation with typhoid vaccine. They declared that the symptoms usually last no longer than one day and that these consist of swelling, redness and tenderness at the site of inoculation.

The vaccine—effective against influenza viruses "A" and "B," the two most common forms—is prepared by placing killed viruses in a fluid contained in chick embryos.

The scientists said the army surgeon general ordered the vaccination of the entire army to begin in the fall of last year, and they declared the development of a widespread epidemic of influenza "B" in November and December "provided the extraordinary opportunity for observing (the vaccine's) effect on a large scale."

"Through a combination of circumstances at two universities," they reported, "it was possible to make careful comparisons between fully vaccinated groups of army students and comparable groups of unvaccinated individuals.

"Under these conditions the ratio of cases, vaccinated versus unvaccinated, was one to nine. At one of the universities the incidence of hospital admissions for respiratory disease was 1.1 per cent among 600 vaccinated men while among the 1,100 unvaccinated men it was 9.9 per cent.

"Moreover, infections of mild degree appeared in a high proportion of the unvaccinated group and almost not at all in the vaccinated group."

They added:

"While it might be said that the vaccinated group escaped the epidemic by chance, it should be pointed out that results at both institutions were consistent and that these observations reflected the general trend in the vaccinated army as compared with other comparable groups where vaccination had not been employed."

The doctors said evidence to support the belief that vaccination may be effective for about a year was obtained as a result of vaccination of test groups during the winter of 1942-1943.

SPEED MARINE DISCHARGES

Corps Chiefs Revise Schedule to Ease Release of 40,000 Men

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Marine Corps headquarters announced today a revised demobilization schedule affecting 40,000 men, and predicted an end of the point system after July 15.

Under the new schedule, points for male personnel will drop from 30 to 28 on June 1, to 22 on July 1 and to 20 on July 15. Concurrently thirty months of active service will also establish discharge eligibility beginning July 1.

On Aug. 1, the length of service requirement will be cut to twenty-four months and simultaneously all fathers with two or more dependent children, regardless of the time spent in the corps, will qualify for discharge.

On Sept. 1, the length of service requirement will drop to eighteen months and fathers of one or more children with more than twelve months of active service will qualify.

ARMY WILL KEEP 3 JERSEY POSTS

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—The Army plans to retain possession for the time being of Camp Kilmer, Fort Monmouth and Fort Dix. The posts, all in New Jersey, had figured in speculation over their possible use for emergency housing.

A War Department statement today said:

"Current plans contemplate the retention of Camp Kilmer, Fort Monmouth and Fort Dix pending a firm decision by interested War Department agencies when congressional action has determined the size and scope of the post-war Army.

"The War Department at present is working closely with the Federal Housing Administration in order to make available all excess Army buildings for the emergency housing needs of veterans and their families."

Truman Honors Dr. Lahey

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman, and his associates were honored by President Truman at the White House today as the procurement and assignment service brought its war-time duties formally to a close. This board served during the war in obtaining and assigning doctors, dentists, nurses, veterinarians and sanitary specialists for the armed forces. Mr. Truman awarded certificates of merit to Dr. Lahey and his staff members.

Lend-Lease Function Shifted To Treasury

Washington, May 17 (AP)—President Truman today transferred Lend-Lease accounting functions from the State to the Treasury Department, effective June 1.

In an executive order, the President made it clear that the State Department will continue to administer all other Lend-Lease functions now under its jurisdiction.

Under the new arrangement the State Department will provide the Treasury with certified copies of all agreements relating to Lend-Lease settlements and all other documents affecting Lend-Lease accounting records.

3 Ports Stripped Of Soft Coal for U.N.R.R.A. Use

Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk Stocks Depleted by Shipment for Italy

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 (AP).—The steamship Lou Gehrig has taken aboard all remaining stocks of bituminous coal in the ports of Philadelphia, Norfolk (Va.) and Baltimore and will carry them to Italy for distribution by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

This was disclosed today by a spokesman for the War Shipping Administration who asked that his name not be used. He said additional supplies of soft coal are not forthcoming in the port areas because of the strike of bituminous miners.

At the same time, the W. S. A. spokesman said thirteen other ships due to sail this month are loading approximately 109,200 tons of anthracite coal at the port of Philadelphia for shipment under the U. N. R. R. A. program to other European ports.

He listed these as the Clyde Austin Dunning, Benjamin Hawkins, Jean Ribault, Roger Griswold, James W. Fannin, John P. Mitchell, Michael Anagnos, William C. Latta, William Floyd and Fridtjof Nansen, all bound for northern France; the Belgium Unity and John Cropper, sailing to Belgium, and the John L. Elliott, with a destination in Italy. The Clyde Austin Dunning and the Jean Ribault each took on five French locomotives at New York to be delivered to France, he added.

He said the Lou Gehrig cleaned up the soft coal supplies in Norfolk and Baltimore and took on a cargo of coke at Baltimore, then sailed to Philadelphia to load remaining soft coal here—about 1,000 tons. The available space left aboard the Lou Gehrig will be filled with anthracite coal, making a total cargo for the ship of about 8,000 tons.

The W. S. A. spokesman said there were 627 carloads of anthracite coal on hand in the port of Philadelphia at the beginning of operations today and another 176 carloads expected to be brought in during the day, the average influx running between 130 and 140 carloads daily. (One shipload is equal to about 160 carloads.)

The export rate on hard coal was placed at 8,500 tons a day (or one average shipload), but the spokesman said this would probably be doubled during the coming week when, it is anticipated, two shifts will be employed for work on the coal pier instead of one as at present.

Dense Water Layer In Pacific Revealed

Navy to Study Finding for Military Significance

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—A new secret of the deep—the existence of a hitherto-unknown oceanic layer suspended between the surface and floor of the Pacific—has been discovered by the Navy in the process of war research.

Discovery of the layer of water, apparently containing suspended material which renders it denser than water immediately above it and below it, has raised the possibility that similar phenomena may exist in other oceans of the world.

The significance to man of such a new feature in oceanography is not yet clear, because the characteristics of the layer have not yet been fully determined. But the Navy told a reporter today that studies are planned to determine whether there is any military significance to the finding.

That was the Navy's only comment in answer to questions whether such a layer might affect underwater navigation and communication, give faulty information to underwater range-finding instruments, or affect the course of subsurface missiles.

Existence of the layer, which is 300 miles wide and was found from 1,000 to 1,500 feet below the Pacific surface off the California coast, was detected by Navy scientists while testing special "sonar" equipment during the war.

Eisenhower and Nimitz Get Highest Scout Award

Among Nine Men to Receive the Silver Buffalo

ST. LOUIS, May 17 (AP).—Scoutdom's highest honor, the Silver Buffalo, was awarded today by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to nine men including General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff; Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, and Walt Disney, Hollywood movie cartoon producer.

The awards to General Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz were for their war-time exploits. Mr. Disney, a former Scout, was honored for contributing "to the joy of youth in every land and the elevation of their standards of good taste."

Others receiving the award include Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, for his books "which have been an inspiration to boys;" John M. Bierer, of Waban, Mass., chairman of the National Committee on Cub Scouting; Federal Judge William J. Campbell, of Chicago, chairman of the National Lay Committee on Scouting for the Catholic Church; Raymond F. Low, of Omaha, active in Scouting and Sea Scouting work since 1922; Wheeler McMillen, of Philadelphia, editor of "The Farm Journal" and chairman of the National Committee on Rural Scouting, and Frank L. Weil, of New York, president of the National Jewish Welfare Board.

OUTLAY OF $75,000 VOTED FOR HOUSE UN-AMERICAN BODY

Passage of Appropriation, by 240 to 81, Follows Sharp Debate.

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—The House voted, 240 to 81, today to give the Committee on Un-American Activities $75,000 to carry on its work. Approval of the additional funds came on roll call tally after an hour of stormy debate.

Supporters of the committee declared the money is needed to expose subversive elements which they contend are at work in the nation. Critics of the committee argued that its uses "smear" tactics and is doing no good.

The heated discussion was marked by a wave of speeches criticizing Russia and by an assertion by Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) that the committee "is going after these un-American elements in the House and elsewhere."

Representative Green (D.-Pa.) objected to Rankin's statement and sought to have it stricken from the record. Speaker Rayburn ruled, however, that it was not unparliamentary since it made no direct reference to any Congressman. Rankin is a member of the committee.

NEW YORK, MAY 17-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS SUB-COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING FRANCO SPAIN SAID TONIGHT IT HAD INVITED JOSE GIRAL, PREMIER OF THE EXILED REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT, TO APPEAR BEFORE IT AND EXPLAIN HIS CHARGES AGAINST THE FALANGIST REGIME.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE EARLIER SAID IT WAS STUDYING GIRAL DOCUMENTS CONTENDING THAT EXISTENCE OF GENERALISSIMO FRANCO'S REGIME BLOCKS FULL CONTROL OVER ATOMIC ENERGY.

GIRAL IS NOW IN MEXICO AND THE SUB-COMMITTEE SAID IT WOULD SUGGEST A TENTATIVE DATE FOR HIS APPEARANCE HERE. HE WOULD BE THE FIRST WITNESS HEARD BY THE GROUP IN ITS MONTH-LONG DELIBERATIONS.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE ALSO SAID IT HAD ASKED THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION IN BERLIN AND THE BIG FOUR POWERS TO REPORT ON "ALLEGED ACTIVITIES OF NAZI AGENTS IN SPAIN DIRECTED TOWARD CLANDESTINE REARMAMENT IN GERMANY."

"THE CONTINUATION OF THE FRANCO REGIME REPRESENTS A DANGER TO THE PEACE AND SECURITY OF THE WORLD BECAUSE," GIRAL'S REPORT, MADE PUBLIC TODAY, SAID, SPAIN "MAY BE A COUNTRY WHICH HAS THE RAW MATERIALS AND THE NECESSARY TECHNICIANS TO PRODUCE ATOMIC ENERGY AND IN WHICH THE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL SYSTEM OF THE UNITED NATIONS WILL HAVE NO JURISDICTION."

THE GIRAL DOCUMENTS ALSO SET FORTH THESE CONTENTIONS:

THAT THE FRANCO REGIME INTIMATELY BOUND UP WITH THE AGGRESSOR COUNTRIES DOMINATES ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT STRATEGIC ZONES IN THE WORLD.

THAT THE EXCLUSION OF THE FRANCO REGIME FROM THE UNITED NATIONS LEAVES SPAIN OUTSIDE ANY INTERNATIONAL LEGISLATION.

THAT THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT MAINTAINS ON A WAR FOOTING FAR GREATER ARMED FORCES THAN ARE NECESSARY FOR A PEACEFUL EXTERNAL POLICY.

THAT THE FRANCO REGIME AIMS AT CONQUERING FRENCH MOROCCO AND A PART OF ALGERIA, IN ADDITION TO GIBRALTAR, AND IT WAS DISPOSED TO ENTER THE WAR OPENLY IN ORDER TO GAIN THIS AIM.

ALSO MADE PUBLIC WAS A DOCUMENT SUBMITTED BY RUSSIA COVERING A 1943 AGREEMENT BETWEEN SPAIN AND GERMANY UNDER WHICH, RUSSIA SAID, HITLER WAS TO SUPPLY THE SPANISH ARMY WITH WAR MATERIALS IN EXCHANGE FOR A PLEDGE "TO RESIST ANY ENTRY BY ANGLO-AMERICA ARMED FORCES INTO THE IBERIAN PENINSULA, WHICH MEANS, THEREFORE, IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, THE ATLANTIC AND AFRICA."

U.N.-Johnson

By Francis W. Carpenter

NEW YORK, MAY 17--(AP)--Herschel V. Johnson, a Georgia-born lawyer who has done extremely well as a career diplomat, has a hard nut to crack this summer. He must learn all about the United Nations Security Council and its mission to preserve world peace.

MAY 18 1946

Johnson has buckled down to his new job as Deputy United States Representative on the Security Council with good spirit, realizing, as he says, that he must learn rapidly as he goes along.

In his position in the United States delegation to the Council, he must keep informed on every matter affecting the Council. He must be prepared to step into the shoes of the U.S. Delegate, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., at any time.

"I will have to know everything that Mr. Stettinius knows of Council affairs and be ready to sit in for him at any time it is necessary," Mr. Johnson said in an interview in his new office at the Delegation headquaters here.

"It will mean a lot of work," Johnson said. "The Council is having its growing pains now. We all have to learn as we go along."

The tall No. 2 man in the United States delegation to the Security Council comes to his new assignment with a long and successful career as a diplomat in peaceful Europe, Central America, Washington and [redacted] in warring Europe.

His last post was Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Sweden, where he served from 1941 to April 28, 1946.

Before going to Sweden, he was Counselor of the Embassy in London and in February 1941 was given the rank of Minister there. Johnson went to London in 1934 as First Secretary of the Embassy. In July 1937 he was made Counsellor, a post he held when the war broke out in Europe.

So he brings to the Council a rich background in knowledge of war trends and how things happen. He was at his posts in the war area for the entire time except for a brief trip home in 1942.

Johnson, of fair complexion and a quick smile, is 52 years of age. He was born in Atlanta, Georgia, and attended the University of North Carolina and the Harvard Law School. He calls Charlotte, N.C. home.

During the World War I he was a Captain overseas in the U.S. ARMY. HE ENTERED THE UNITED STATES FOREIGN SERVICE IN 1920. HE HAS SERVED AT BERN, SWITZERLAND; SOFIA, BULGARIA; TEGUCIGALPA, HONDURAS AND MEXICO CITY. IN 1930 HE BECAME CHIEF OF THE DIVISION OF MEXICAN AFFAIRS IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT, SERVING THERE UNTIL HE WENT TO LONDON.

HE IS A BACHELOR. HOBBY HORSE 10 A.M.

HE ALSO EXPRESSED THE ASSUMPTION THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD INTERPRET VERY LIBERALLY A RULE PROVIDING THE COUNCIL MAY--OR MAY NOT--PERMIT AUTHORIZED REPRESENTATIVES OF OTHER U.N. GOVERNMENTS TO INSPECT THE "SINGLE COPY ALONE" TO BE MADE OF THE RECORD IN PRIVATE MEETING.

THE COUNCIL'S SUBCOMMITTEE ON SPAIN MEETS IN PRIVATE AGAIN THIS AFTERNOON UNDER HASLUCK'S CHAIRMANSHIP. SPANISH REPUBLICAN SOURCES SAID THEY WOULD OFFER "NEW AND SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE" AGAINST THE FRANCO REGIME NEXT MONDAY AND WOULD CHARGE THAT COUNTRIES WHO "JUSTIFY AND DEFEND FRANCO ARE ESSENTIALLY VIOLATING THE CHARTER" OF THE U.N. ALA HAS BEEN ASKED BY THE COUNCIL TO REPORT NOT LATER THAN NEXT MONDAY ON THE STATUS OF RUSSIAN EVACUATIONS. HE IS EXPECTED ALSO TO REPORT ON INTERFERENCE IN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE WHICH HE SAID HAD PREVENTED IRANIAN OFFICIALS FROM DETERMINING THE SITUATION THERE AT THE MAY 6 DEADLINE FOR RUSSIAN EVACUATION.

"THE UNITED STATES IS BENT ON RETAINING AND REINFORCING ITS MILITARY POSITION IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE," THE COMMENTATOR DECLARED. "ITS WAR DEPARTMENT HAS WORKED OUT A PLAN OF PAN-AMERICAN MILITARY COLLABORATION WHICH PROVIDES FOR STANDARDIZATION OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE ENTIRE WESTERN HEMISPHERE.

"PARTICULARLY ACUTE IS THE QUESTION OF ICELAND," LEMIN DECLARED. "IT HAS BEEN CLAIMED REPEATEDLY IN THE PRESS THAT AMERICA IS BRINGING PRESSURE TO BEAR ON BRITAIN AND LOOKS ON THE CESSION OF BASES AS THE PRICE FOR THE SUPPORT IT IS GIVING BRITAIN IN EUROPE AND THE MIDDLE EAST," HE ADDED.

"THE AMERICAN DEMAND FOR BASES BRINGS UP THE QUESTION OF THE ROLE AND FUNCTION OF THE WORLD SECURITY ORGANIZATION, THE MISSION OF WHICH, AS WE ALL KNOW, IS TO ESTABLISH THE PRINCIPLES OF INTERNATIONAL ACCORD AND COOPERATION."

YOSHIDA SKETCH (330)

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG

TOKYO, MAY 17-(AP)-SHIGERU YOSHIDA ASSUMES THE PREMIERSHIP WITH A REPUTATION AS "THE FIREST CHARACTER IN JAPAN'S FOREIGN SERVICE."

THE BRUSQUE, STOCKY YOSHIDA WAS OUT OF A JOB THE PAST NINE YEARS BECAUSE THE MILITARISTS CONSIDERED HIM PRO-BRITISH. SPEAKING OUT AGAINST WAR, HE FINALLY WAS JAILED 40 DAYS BY THE SECRET POLICE SHORTLY BEFORE HIS COUNTRY SURRENDERED.

THEN THE 68-YEAR OLD CAREER DIPLOMAT ROCKETED BACK INTO PROMINENCE BY TAKING THE POST OF FOREIGN MINISTER IN THE POST-SURRENDER CABINETS OF PRINCE HIGASHI-KUNI AND KIJURO SHIDEHARA. WHEN POLITICAL NECESSITIONS POINTED INEVITABLY TO YOSHIDA AS A SUCCESSOR TO THE RESIGNING SHIDEHARA, HE BELIED HIS STRONG SELF CONFIDENCE BY STATING: "YOU ARE FREE TO DRAFT ME BUT I DON'T CARE. I'M UNFIT FOR THE JOB."

LEFT WING POLITICIANS AGREED YOSHIDA IS BOTH CONSERVATIVE AND AN IMPLACABLE FOE OF THE COMMUNISTS. OBSERVERS EXPECT FIREWORKS WHEN RADICAL DEMONSTRATORS, WHO FREQUENTLY VISITED THE OFFICIAL PREMIER'S RESIDENCE WHEN SHIDEHARA HELD THE POST, GO CALLING ON YOSHIDA.

HE IS KNOWN AS A CLUMSY SPEAKER, EXCEPT WHEN IT COMES TO SAYING "NO!"

THIS STORY IS TOLD OF ONE OF HIS FIRST DIPLOMATIC ASSIGNMENTS, MUKDEN, WHEN HE ARRIVED HE DIDN'T CALL ON THE CHINESE GENERAL; HE MADE THE GENERAL COME TO HIM.

THE SAME INDEPENDENCE PREVENTED HIM BECOMING A POPULAR PUBLIC LEADER AND ONLY THE FAILURE OF POLITICAL PARTIES TO AGREE PAVED THE WAY FOR HIS SELECTION AS PREMIER.

YOSHIDA PROBABLY WOULD HAVE GOTTEN INTO MORE SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH THE SECRET POLICE DURING THE WAR EXCEPT FOR HIS DIPLOMATIC RECORD, HIS HIGH CIVIL SERVICE RANK, AND THE FACT THAT HE IS A SON-IN-LAW OF COUNT NOBUAKI MAKINO, FORMER LORD KEEPER OF THE PRIVY SEAL.

AFTER GRADUATION FROM TOKYO IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY IN 1905, HE ENTERED THE FOREIGN SERVICE IMMEDIATELY. HIS RECORD AT TIENTSIN AND MUKDEN LED TO AN ASSIGNMENT ON THE JAPANESE DELEGATION TO THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE. AFTER THAT HE WAS MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, AMBASSADOR TO THE COURT OF ST.JAMES FROM APRIL, 1936, UNTIL MARCH, 1939.

YOSHIDA WILL NEED ALL OF HIS EXPERIENCE PLUS AN ABILITY TO WORK WITH THE LEADERS OF ALL POLITICAL FACTIONS TO FIND THE KEY TO JAPAN'S MOST PRESSING PROBLEMS--FOOD, HOUSING, EMPLOYMENT AND RECONSTRUCTION.

HE ALREADY HAS SHOWN AN APTITUDE FOR GETTING ALONG WITH OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES.

PEARL HARBOR, MAY 17-(AP)-REAR ADM. THORVALD SOLBERG, SHIP DESIGN EXPERT, FORESEES A POSSIBILITY THAT TREMENDOUS ATOMIC-BOMB BLAST PRESSURE MAY CRUMPLE THE TARGET BATTLESHIP NEVADA LIKE A TIN CAN AND THRUST HER DOWN INTO THE LAGOON AT BIKINI IN THE MARSHALLS.

SOLBERG, DIRECTOR OF SHIP PREPARATIONS IN THE TEST, TOLD REPORTERS TODAY THAT SO MANY FACTORS WERE INVOLVED IT WAS DIFFICULT TO MAKE PREDICTIONS. FOR ONE THING, HE NOTED, THE ATOMIC BLAST HIGH ABOVE IS EXPECTED TO THRUST EQUALLY AGAINST ALL PARTS OF THE SHIP'S STRUCTURE, RATHER THAN IN A SINGLE SPOT LIKE A STANDARD EXPLOSION.

DISCUSSING THE AIRDROP ATOMIC BOMB, THE ADMIRAL POINTED OUT THAT THE DOWNWARD BLAST, STRIKING THE INERT OLD BATTLESHIP, MIGHT PRODUCE "A SORT OF FOLDING-UP EFFECT, LIKE PUTTING A TIN CAN IN A PRESSURE CHAMBER AND BUILDING UP THE PRESSURE UNTIL IT SUDDENLY COLLAPSES."

HE SAID THERE WOULD BE CLOSE STUDIES OF THE RELATIVE AMOUNTS OF HEAT PENETRATING THROUGH STEEL AND WOOD DECKS WHEN ULTRA-HIGH TEMPERATURES HIT THE TARGET FLEET OF WHICH THE NEVADA WILL BE THE CENTER. HEAT IS NOT EXPECTED TO BE THE PRIMARY CAUSE OF DAMAGE, HOWEVER, BECAUSE OF THE BRIEF DURATION.

OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF ALL THE TARGET SHIPS CONFERRED WITH SOLBERG ON METHODS OF PREPARING THEIR VESSELS FOR THE TEST, ON OR AFTER JULY 1.

WASHINGTON, MAY 17-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES REPORTED TONIGHT THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD PROPOSED TO CANADA A CLOSER COORDINATION OF AMERICAN-CANADIAN MILITARY DEFENSE PLANNING AND TRAINING AND OTHER DEFENSE PREPARATIONS IN THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

THE PROPOSAL, WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE PERMANENT CANADIAN-AMERICAN DEFENSE BOARD, APPARENTLY RESULTS AT LEAST PARTLY FROM THE "MUSKOX" OPERATION THIS PAST WINTER IN WHICH A CANADIAN TROOP WITH AMERICAN OBSERVERS AND SOME AMERICAN EQUIPMENT MADE A LONG EXPERIMENTAL MARCH THROUGH THE ARCTIC REGIONS OF CANADA.

CANADIAN AGREEMENT WITH THE AMERICAN PROPOSALS AT LEAST IN PRINCIPLE WAS CONSIDERED CERTAIN. CANADIAN AMBASSADOR L.B.PEARSON DECLARED IN A SPEECH AT PRINCETON, N.J., WEDNESDAY THAT THERE WAS NO REASON NOW WHY THE TWO COUNTRIES SHOULD NOT MOVE AHEAD MORE RAPIDLY, WITHIN THE REGIONAL DEFENSE PROVISIONS OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER, TO WORK OUT JOINT DEFENSE ARRANGEMENTS, PARTICULARLY BY COORDINATING THEIR MILITARY SUPPLIES AND PLANNING.

SUCH COORDINATION WAS CONTEMPLATED BY OFFICIALS OF BOTH GOVERNMENTS EARLY IN THE LAST WAR WHEN THEY CREATED THE JOINT DEFENSE BOARD ON A PERMANENT RATHER THAN A TEMPORARY BASIS. THE ARCTIC REGIONS ARE CONSIDERED BY MILITARY STRATEGISTS HERE TO BE OF POTENTIALLY GREAT IMPORTANCE IF WAR SHOULD COME IN THE ATOMIC AGE SINCE LONG-RANGE PLANES MIGHT FLY ATTACK MISSIONS ACROSS THE NORTH POLE AND LONG DISTANCE ROCKETS MIGHT BE FIRED OVER THE SAME ROUTE.

THE INITIAL REACTION OF LAWMAKERS WAS THAT THE REORGANIZATION PLANS PROBABLY WOULD KEEP CONGRESS IN SESSION UNTIL MID-JULY. THE LAW PROVIDES THAT SUCH PLANS BECOME EFFECTIVE AFTER 60 CALENDAR DAYS, PROVIDED CONGRESS REMAINS IN SESSION AND ADOPTS NO RESOLUTION DISAPPROVING THEM.

THE MOST IMPORTANT OF THE STREAMLINING MOVES PROPOSED BY MR. TRUMAN IS THE CONSOLIDATION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S NUMEROUS WELFARE ACTIVITIES IN THE FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY, WHICH HE HOPES TO RAISE TO CABINET RANK.

moisture conditions were favorable for sowing, and yield prospects were good. Wheat sowing in the Ukraine now was in the final stages, it added.

Soviet reports on the crop situation made no mention of drought, although Marshall MacDuffie, American chief of the UNRRA mission to the Ukranian Republic, had declared in Moscow yesterday that the Ukraine was experiencing a severe drought. MacDuffie said that unless rain came within a week or two, the coming wheat crop might be ruined.

Lists Various Promises

The broadcast by Peter Orlov, Soviet commentator, said Russia had promised to deliver 500,000 tons of grain to France during April, May and June; had agreed to sell 200,000 tons of grain to Poland for sowing this year's harvest; had agreed last September to deliver to Romania 150,000 tons of wheat and as much corn, and 20,000 more carloads of wheat this year. Fourth, he said, was a promise of 100,000 tons of grain to Finland.

Orlov said "these nations can see that after, playing a leading role in the defeat of Fascism and carrying out the mission of liberation, the Soviet Union marches today in the vanguard of the struggle for peaceful co-operation of nations."

1,100,000 Tons Of Grain Being Sent By Russ

London, May 18 (AP)—Soviet Commentator Peter Orlov said in a Moscow radio broadcast today that Russia had pledged more than 1,100,000 tons of grain to four hungry European nations during the first year of peace, but that her own food supplies were "still limited."

DAY

Coincident with Generalissimo Stalin's reported rejection of President Truman's appeal to work with the United States and Great Britain in meeting the world famine crisis, Orlov broadcast reports of Russian food commitments to Finland, France, Poland and Romania.

"Gratefully Received"

The largest pledge he mentioned was that of 500,000 tons of grain to France during April, May and June. "Soviet grain began to arrive in France when the country's food difficulties reached a climax," Orlov said, "and the timely aid of the Soviet Union was gratefully received."

Orlov said Russia agreed to sell Poland 200,000 tons of grain for sowing this year's harvest.

"This assistance was the more valuable because Poland's home market would provide no more than 50,000 tons to be sown and the Polish Government's hope of securing grain from UNRRA has not yet been vindicated," he said.

The Aid To Romania

Last September, the commentator went on, Russia agreed to grant Romania 150,000 tons of wheat and 150,000 tons of corn in addition to postponing until the next harvest part of the Romanian reparation grain deliveries. This year, he said, an additional grant of 20,000 carloads of wheat has been made.

Orlo also listed a recent Soviet promise of 100,000 tons of grain to Finland.

"These nations can see that after playing a leading role in the defeat of Fascism and carrying out the mission of liberation, the Soviet Union marches today in the vanguard of the struggle for peaceful co-operation of nations," Orlov concluded.

Grain 'Disaster' In Russia Seen

R. JAMES

Moscow, May 18 (AP)—World grain estimates were sharply reduced today following a report by Marshall MacDuffie, American chief of the UNRRA mission to the Ukrainian Republic, that a prolonged drought threatened disaster to the grain crop of Russia's great bread basket.

"We have reported to UNRRA that unless there is rain within two weeks the effect will be ruinous," MacDuffie disclosed at a press conference here yesterday.

DAY

He said the Ukraine's crop prospects would discourage food officials throughout the world, who have been hoping that Russia would produce enough grain to increase her exports and contributions to other countries.

May More Than Halve Crop

MacDuffie said the situation was so bad that the grain crop for the Ukraine—an area more than twice the size of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—might be less than half the 1940 total, unless there was rain within a week or two.

He said the outlook was good until two weeks ago, when it was estimated that the crop would be 75 per cent of the 1940 total. Since that time, however, the picture has entirely changed.

The drought has affected all kinds of crops, the UNRRA official said, and the live stock and poultry situation is serious.

Acute Shortage Of Seeds

One of the most alarming things, he said, is that there are no stockpiles of grain in the Ukraine and there is an acute shortage of seeds for all crops.

The diet of workers is often dangerously low, he disclosed, although the caloric count is difficult to estimate because the Russians do not figure food in terms of calories.

MacDuffie, who established the mission's headquarters in Kiev on March 20, came to Moscow for a brief visit. He was accompanied by John Fischer, a member of the mission, who said the Ukrainian drought had lasted for two months.

60,000 Tractors Short

Fischer said that another factor in Ukrainian production was that only 40,000 tractors were available, whereas 100,000 were in use before the war.

MacDuffie, commenting on the extent of war damage, said he had been "most places in Europe and have never seen, except in Warsaw, worse damage than in the Ukraine."

"What UNRRA is distributing is only a drop in the bucket," he added.

$74,000,000 In Aid Sent

A total of $74,000,000 worth of UNRRA goods has been shipped from various parts of the world to the Ukraine in the last two months, MacDuffie said, and most of it has arrived.

The mission has allocated $189,000,000 in UNRRA aid to the Ukraine—42 per cent in food; 33 per cent in clothing, shoes and textiles; 14 per cent in industrial rehabilitation; 4 per cent in medicine and the rest in agricultural rehabilitation, he announced.

Russia Recalls Pledges to Send Grain to Four European Nations

Expects to Deliver 1,100,000 Tons This Year to Finland, France, Poland and Romania Despite Shortages of Foodstuffs Inside U. S. S. R.

London, May 18 (AP)—Russia pledged more than 1,100,000 tons of grain to four European nations during a year although her own food supplies still are limited, a Soviet broadcast said today, and in Moscow the press summoned peasants to sow grain quickly and well.

NIGHT

The broadcast on Soviet food promises to France, Poland, Romania and Finland followed reports that Prime Minister Stalin had turned down President Truman's appeal to co-operate with the United States and Britain in battling world famine.

Calls Prospects Good

A Moscow dispatch said the newspaper Izvestia, in a front page editorial, had urged peasants to speed the task of sowing grain now along the Volga, in the Urals, and in western Siberia. Izvestia featured the slogan "to the fields with all horses and oxen."

Izvestia said that in most regions

World Food Parley To Open In Capital, With Soviet Absen

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Minus Russian help, an international conference starts work here Monday on long-range plans for a well-fed world.

Called by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, it will skip most problems of the current famine to concentrate on those of the four or five years beyond.

American experts plan to propose improvement of international food allocation machinery by adding Australia, Argentina and France to the Combined Food Board. The United States, Britain and Canada are the only members now.

Score Of Nations To Attend

Representatives of nearly a score of countries and of international agencies concerned with food will attend the eight-day conference. The Soviet Embassy said Russia would send no delegates, and that it would not even have observers present so far as is known now.

The meeting's objectives is to bring major food producing nations into agreement on the growing and distribution of food on a permanent basis, starting from the time this year's crops begin to alleviate the hunger in many lands.

Delegates will listen Monday to messages from President Truman and former President Herbert Hoover, who has just completed a world survey of famine condtions.

Secret Sessions To Be Held

Committees will spend the bulk of the week in secret sessions, working on plans for a permanent solution of the world food problems. These will be laid before a final business meeting, on May 27, for approval, and later before the entire FAO.

American authorities, who withheld use of their names, said they had about given up any thought that Russia might join an expanded Combined Food Board, particularly since Premier Stalin turned down a personal bid from President Truman to work more closely with the Western powers in meeting the current famine crisis.

But these officials said the idea of bringing Australia, Argentina and France into the board had been discussed with Canadian and British authorities.

UNRRA May Be Represented

Several American Government officials are known to be in favor of adding these three countries—and possibly others—as one way of silencing the growing criticism of the board's wheat and rice allocations.

The UNRRA representative also may be given a place on the board. UNRRA officials in the past have bitterly criticized the Combined Food Board for not allocating UNRRA as much food as it requested.

Food for Freedom, an organization which claims it speaks for 50,000,000 members of religious, labor, farm, women's civic and other groups, said in a statement today that another food conference will be held here next week.

Spokesmen for national organizations, it said, will urge action to stop the march of famine and send a delegation to appeal to President Truman.

Hoover Optimism Attacked

The Food for Freedom Group, headed by Mrs. Dwight Morrow, said that Herbert Hoover's "optimism" about good weather helpin world wheat prospects "has thrown confusion into a truly alarming picture of world famine.

"Mr. Hoover," the organization declared, "has given to the public the impression that the world food needs are only a third of previous estimates."

Stalin Is Reported to Have Turned Down Truman Plea for Food.

MOSCOW RADIO EXPLAINS

Broadcast Says Russia Pledged 1,100,000 Tons of Wheat to France and Poland.

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—Anglo-American hopes of enlisting Russia in a united fight on world famine received a fresh setback today from the report that Generalissimo Stalin has turned down an appeal from President Truman for Soviet participation.

The Truman-Stalin exchange was reported by a strategically placed official, who declined to be quoted by name, but asserted the Russian reply contended previous Soviet relief commitments made the American requst too late.

Mr. Truman was not content with the reply, according to unofficial reports, and apparently still hopes to get Moscow to reconsider its aloof attitude toward the world food problem.

Report Big Deficit.

However, Soviet commentator Peter Orlov declared in a Moscow radio broadcast today Russia had pledged more than 1,100,000 tons of wheat and corn to Finland, France, Poland and Romania since the surrender of Germany.

Russia's own food supplies are still limited, Orlov said.

Also in Moscow, Marshall MacDuffie, chief or the UNRRA mission to the Ukraine, said protracted drought threatened the grain crop there. Unless rain came within two weeks, he added, "the effect will be ruinous" on the growing cereals of Russia's great bread basket area.

A joint United States-British communique issued here last night reported that a 3,400,000-ton grain deficit was now likely in the May-September period efforts to meet requirements of needy nations.

"A risk of famine remains," the announcement said, despite the best Anglo-American efforts. "Even more energetic measures" were called for throughout the world to meet that risk.

Some diplomats detected a possible veiled reference to Soviet non-participation when the communique mentioned that the situtation could be improved "insofar as other sources of supply can be found in addition to those at present in sight."

Report Not Confirmed.

The report of Mr. Truman's efforts with Stalin on the food situation brought no immediate confirmation from the White House. However, it was recalled the President told his news conference Thursday that he had been in touch with Stalin on the subject.

The President added then that he hoped to have something more to say on the matter later.

Moscow in the past has been consistently cool to all suggestions, official or otherwise, that Russia put the famine relief job on a Big Three basis. While in the Far East on his inspection tour, Hoover suggested that release of food supplies in Russian-occupied zones there would help ease the urgent needs of some hungry areas of Asia. There was no Soviet reaction to the suggestion.

OUR 'PLENTY' IRKS THE LONDON PAPERS

Cartoons, Editorials and Even Verse Depict Contrast With British Sacrifice

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—London newspapers used cartoons, editorials and even front-page verse tonight to criticize "American plenty" in the face of Great Britain's decision to send an additional 200,000 tons of food to famine-threatened areas.

The Sunday Dispatch said there were "grotesque extremes" between Great Britain's food situation and the "ample diet" of Americans.

NIGHT

In a two-column wide poem about the Statue of Liberty, The Dispatch asked:

"I wonder is freedom still holding the light—or is she just calling the waiter?"

The Dispatch ran beside its poem an article headlined "3,000,000 children underweight." The story quoted Eddie Williams, chairman of the Welsh Children's Nutritional Council, as saying that 3,000,000 British schoolchildren were on an average eight pounds lighter and two inches shorter than they should be because for six years they have not been getting well-balanced school dinners.

A Daily Mirror cartoon entitled "Old Glory—or a New Shame?" depicted an American flag in which the arms of Europe's hungry, outstretched toward the flag's stars, displaced the stripes.

The Sunday Chronicle published a front-page interview by transatlantic telephone with a "typical American housewife," Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonald of Forest Hills, N. Y., in which they quoted her as saying: "The belt-tightening British have given me a guilty conscience."

282 DEATH SENTENCES LISTED BY U. N. BOARD

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—The United Nations War Crimes Commission reported tonight that 282 death sentences had been imposed on war criminals in western and southern Europe, southeast Asia and Australia. The report described the results of trials as encouraging and said "even better results" were expected the next few months.

The report said figures from the United States forces in the European theatre, the British Army of the Rhine, Allied Mediterranean forces, and from southeast Asia, Australia and France showed that of 735 defendants tried, 282 were sentenced to death, 318 were sentenced to imprisonment and 135 were acquitted.

An earlier official report of Czechoslovak war crimes trials in Bohemia and Moravia showed that of 1,291 persons tried last October and November, forty-four were sentenced to death, fifty-two to life imprisonment and 984 to varying terms of imprisonment.

United States Navy trials of forty-two persons in the Pacific area resulted in seventeen death sentences and twenty-one sentences to imprisonment.

Shortage Expected In Linseed Supply

London, May 18 (AP)—The supply situation of linseed is going to be very acute this year, the Corn Trade News said, unless Argentina and the United States can come to an agreement on the price for this year's Argentine surplus.

"Argentina has more linseed at her disposal for export than a year ago, but the shipments continue to be disappointing," the publication said.

"The simple explanation is that farmers will not sell at current prices, and the Argentine Regulating Board is therefore unable to ship in quantity. The position is now aggravated by the suspension of exports from India."

Ticking Bomb Rushed Through Crowds

Coventry, Eng., May 18 (A. P.).—"Gazworks Gussie," a ticking, 500-pound German bomb, was whisked through the city's rush-hour crowds last night and was detonated on the local common.

The bomb was dropped during the Coventry blitz early in the war.

IRAN NOTE HINTS NO DATA ON REDS

Message to U.N. Indicates Tehran Will Not Have Report Ready.

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP) Premier Ahmed Qavam of Iran tonight notified Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations Assembly, that Iranian government authorities would report to the Security council on the withdrawal of Russian troops from northern Iran "as soon as they are in a position to do so."

NIGHT

Qavam told Lie indicated his government would be unable to furnish the council with detailed information on the Red army by May 20, as proposed by a council resolution adopted on May 8.

Data on Spain

Earlier today the United States submitted to the U. N. a voluminous report which an informed sources said contained information of "great importance" to the Security council sub-committee investigating Franco Spain.

The contents of the report were not disclosed, but U. S. delegation sources said it consisted of a 62-page general document and 15 attachments, which altogether made up an exhibit between eight and 10 inches thick.

In notifying Lie of Iranian action concerning the Russian troop withdrawal, Qavam cabled:

"I have the honor to inform Your Excellency that the competent authorities of the Imperial government will take the necessary dispositions, within the limits of possibility, to follow the recommendation suggested. They will send to you the information required as soon as they are in a position to do so."

U.N. Asked Report

On May 8 the council, stating that it was not able as of May 6 to determine whether all Russian troops had been withdrawn from the whole of Iran, adopted a resolution requesting Iran to submit a complete report by May 20.

If Iran could not obtain full information by May 20, the resolution requested that Qavam's country report on such information as is available to it at that time.

A letter requesting the information was sent to the Iranian government through the Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala.

In Washington, Ala said yesterday he had no information which showed definitely that all Russian troops were out of Iran.

There was no indication as to what action the council would take if Iran's report failed to convince the delegates that Russia had fulfilled her agreement to get her troops out of Iran.

New Material Included

Much of the material on Spain submitted today previously had been published, but an informant who would not be identified said it contained more new material on the Franco regime than the sub-committee had received up to now from all other sources.

The main document was said to deal with the following subjects: German assets in Spain, Germans in Spain, Spanisch war potential, efforts of Franco Spain to penetrate the American republics and the Franco regime's reactions in relations with the United States.

A spokesman for the U. S. delegation said some points on which the sub-committee requested information still were being studied "urgently" by the State department and that other documents would be presented.

Iran Report Due To Revive Issue

New York, May 18 (AP)—Security Council delegations puzzled today over the course they may take concerning Russia in the event Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala reports on Monday that Soviet troops remain in Irian or that interference continues in Azerbaijan provi

DAY

If Ala [illegible] Russian troop evacuation is unsatisfactory or inconclusive—as he fears now it will be—then the council, in his opinion, would feel obliged to keep the Iranian issue on the agenda.

The council will reassemble some time early next week to receive the Iranian report and there were routine indications that the session would be boycotted by Russia.

Gromyko's Actions

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko has absented himself on two previous occasions in protest against the Council's refusal to drop the issue raised on two counts by Iran: (1) Interference in the internal affairs of Iran and (2) The continued presence of the Red Army in Iran beyond a March 2 treaty limit.

As he prepared to return here from Washington to comply with a request to give the Council his latest information by May 20, Ala seemed convinced that turbulent current conditions in Azerbaijan would require the further attention of the Council. He said, however, that he had received no new instructions from his Government.

Mission Reaches Tabriz

[A Tehran dispatch said a Central Government mission to investigate the withdrawal of Red Army troops arrived by plane yesterday in Tabriz, capital of the self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azebaijan province.

[The same plane carried Joseph C. Goodwin, Associated Press correspondent, the first American newspaper man to be allowed to enter Azerbaijan during the four years of Soviet occupation and six months of separatist rule.]

Moscow ignored the Council's request to Russia and Iran to report the status of evacuations as of May 6, the deadline for Russian withdrawal under a Soviet-Iranian agreement. The Council thereupon received the Iranian report of continued interference in Azerbaijan province and asked Ala—but not Gromyko or Moscow—to provide a report on or before Monday.

Invitation To Giral

Meanwhile, the Council's subcommittee investigating Spain announced last night that it had invited Jose Giral, Premier of the exiled Spanish Republican leadership, to offer oral support of his detailed charges that the Franco regime menaces peace.

In Mexico City, Giral announced he would accept the invitation gladly. He would be the first witness heard by the subcommittee.

RUSSIAN RIFT SEEN IN U.N.

Dispute With Western Powers Faces Economic Council

CARPENTER

New York, May 18 (AP)—A split between Russia and the West on two important social issues was evident tonight in the final preparations for the meeting of the United Nations Economic and Social Council here next Saturday.

An analysis of the work this month of the various commissions named by the Council at its meeting in London last February shows there is disagreement on these issues:

NIGHT

Whether representatives of governments or experts in particular fields should sit on commissions being set up to study and try to alleviate world social and economic ills.

The refugee problem.

Russia has made it clear, particularly in the Commission on Human Rights headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, that the Soviet Union feels governmental representatives, empowered to act for their states, should be named on the commissions.

Borisov Objects

This came out when Alexander Borisov, Soviet delegate, refused to go along with the majority of the commission, including Mrs. Roosevelt and Prof. René Cassin of France, in recommending that experts and not representatives of governments be named on the commission.

The divergence of opinion whether nongovernment representatives qualified in a particular field should serve on a commission or whether it should be strictly on the basis of governmental representation has extended to other groups during the month.

United Nations observers said this will be one of the problems the Council must deal with when it meets.

Commission In Disagreement

The second issue—that of the refugees—finds a special commission on refugees and displaced persons in some disagreement.

Russia was reported to be insisting on a clear definition of general refugees and those who are Quislings and traitors. In London, the Soviets wanted all war criminals disguised as refugees to be sent back to their countries immediately.

Mrs. Roosevelt contended that adequate provision had been made for the return of war criminals, and that some people who did not agree with the present governments of their countries did not want to go back.

It was said in United Nations circles that the Western view is that refugees who are not war criminals or Quislings should not be compelled to go back home.

Indian Will Preside

The delegate from India, Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, will preside over the Council.

The immediate task facing the Council will be action on reports from six groups which have met here this month and on the refugees committee which met in London.

The countries represented on the Council are: Belgium, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, France, Greece, India, Lebanon, Norway, Peru, Ukraine, Russia, Great Britain, United States and Yugoslavia.

It is expected the Council will be in session until about June 20.

Britain Wants Voice in Soviet Zone Industry

Feels Silesia Region as Well as the Ruhr Should Be Internationally Controlled

J. BYRNE

By The Associated Press

PARIS, May 18. — Authoritative informants said today that Great Britain has demanded internationalization of industries in eastern Germany, in the heart of the Soviet occupation zone, to counterbalance the projected internationalization of the Ruhr.

These sources said that British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, apparently engaged in a diplomatic struggle with Russia for greater influence in post-war Germany, voiced the British demand at the concluding sessions of the recent council of Foreign Ministers' conference.

An international council with British members would secure a foothold in Upper Silesia to offset any Soviet representation in the Ruhr, which is in the British zone of occupation.

Bevin was reported to have backed his proposal with two others—examination of all German questions as a whole, rather than on a piecemeal basis, and a review of Germany's eastern boundaries, including areas under Polish administration.

One informant said that Bevin raised all three points in the discussion of French demands for political detachment of the Saar, the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which would include provisions for international supervision of the rich Ruhr industrial region.

Bevin declared that any decision in the West would inevitably affect the rest of Germany, and the Reich should be considered as a unit. He was said to have taken the view that Upper Silesia in the Soviet zone constituted another highly important industrial region where Allied supervision was needed to insure against German rearmament. French sources said Bevin objected to having all attention centered on events in the Ruhr.

Regarding Germany's boundaries, Mr. Bevin was said to have informed the Ministers that Britain believed they should examine the question of Germany's eastern frontier as well as her western border.

At the Potsdam conference the Big Three placed the area east of the Oder river under "Polish administration pending a peace settlement," but this does not mean the area was definitely ceded to Poland, Mr. Bevin was declared to have insisted.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was said to have replied that he had no instructions from his Government on this matter and that he was not prepared

Mr. Bevin [illegible] stions [illegible]

Mr. Molotov then blocked further considerations of German issues at the time by vetoing the appointment of special deputies to begin study of problems in a German peace treaty. (AP)

Nazi Files Show Most Men Were Lost in West

A. M. G. Statistics Include 8,000,000 Taken by U.S.; Death Total Incomplete

R. EASTLAKE

BERLIN, May 18 (AP).—Statistics compiled by the Armed Forces Division of the American Military Government, with the aid of captured German records, showed today that, counting prisoners, the German armed forces lost far more men to the Western Allies during the war than to the Russians.

The figures compiled on the dead and wounded were incomplete, but reckoning the civilian bombing casualties, there was also an indication that the Western forces killed more Germans than did the Russians.

NIGHT

According to captured files of the German bureau for notifying next of kin of casualties, the Wehrmacht had 17,000,000 men under arms, including the air force, during the war. Out of this total the American armies alone captured more than 8,000,000, according to Colonel H. J. Lemley, statistician for the Armed Forces Division.

In addition to this, the British, in a recent report made to the Allied Control Council, disclosed they had bagged 2,663,000, while the French took another 35,000 German prisoners.

Thus, the Western Allies captured, or accepted the capture of, nearly 60 per cent of the German Army, Lemley pointed out, however, that many thousands of German soldiers fled westward into Allied captivity, rather than surrender to the Russians.

There is no accurate figure on the number of German soldiers killed. The Wehrmacht's known dead, according to American records, total more than 2,250,000, with another 1,500,000 missing.

Nazi Bureau Broke Down

This figure, however, is incomplete for several reasons. When the Americans captured the German registration bureau they found that it had broken down in November, 1944, and was 1,000,000 deaths behind in its task of notifying the next of kin. Furthermore, the bureau could not supply an official estimate of German losses on the Eastern front.

The bureau's file on Eastern front casualties was sketchy, gathered from scattered sources, because the Russians did not report them through the International Red Cross.

U. S. to Stay Out of War

T. REEDY

NUERNBERG, May 18 (AP).—Germany urged Japan early in 1941 to seize Singapore, in the belief that such action would frighten the United States into remaining neutral, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder testified before the International Military Tribunal today.

Adolf Hitler personally did the urging at a conference with Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka at Berlin on March 5, 1941, and immediately afterwards Hitler issued a statement to the effect that Japan would take such action, Raeder said.

NIGHT

The former German naval commander said he had concurred with Hitler's view, adding: "There were circles suggesting that Japan attack Vladivostok, but I believed that would be a grave mistake. I believed that with Singapore's fall the United States would be intimidated and stay out of war."

The great British naval base in Malaya fell to the Japanese on Feb. 15, 1942, after the United States was at war with the Axis.

Raeder denied prosecution charges he "conspired" to bring the United States into the war saying: "With my small navy fighting England, I certainly didn't want the United States on my neck."

DAY

He duplicated the testimony of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz that the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor came as a surprise to the Nazis, who had thought Japanese moves in the Pacific would be directed only against the British and Dutch.

Raeder also said that Hitler gave him permission to attack armed Brazilian vessels on June 15, 1942, more than two months before Germany and Brazil were formally at war.

"Relations with Brazil had become poor," Raeder explained. "Germans there were being persecuted. Already the Brazilians were giving their ear to the United States, had permitted wireless and intelligence stations and themselves confirmed they had destroyed a U-boat along the coast."

Raeder said Hitler apparently abandoned in the winter of 1940-'41 his plans to invade England, but ordered preparations continued at the Channel ports in an attempt to deceive the British.

He said that Hitler by that time "was completely sold on the Russian campaign" and could not have pressed the Russian attack and invade England at the same time.

Raeder Says Nazis Wanted America to Be Neutral.

T. REEDY

Nuernberg, May 18 (A. P.).—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder testified before the international military tribunal today that Germany urged Japan early in 1941 to capture Singapore, in the belief that this would frighten the United States into remaining neutral.

The German proposition was made by Adolf Hitler at a conference in Berlin on March 5, 1941, with Yosuke Matsuoka, then Japanese Foreign Minister, Raeder said. He added that Hitler issued a statement later that day to the effect that Japan would take such a step.

"There were circles suggesting that Japan attack Vladivostok, but I believed that would be a grave mistake," the former German naval chief said as he concluded his defense against charges of conspiracy. "I believed that with Singapore's fall the United States would be intimidated and stay out of the war."

Denied Plot Vs. U. S. In.

Raeder scoffed at charges by the prosecution that he conspired to bring America into the war, contending that "with my small navy fighting England I certainly didn't want the United States also on my neck."

DAY

He also ridiculed a prosecution document quoting Joachim von Ribbentrop, former Nazi Foreign Minister also on trial, as informing the Japanese that Raeder believed United States submarines inferior, and that Japan would have no reason to fear them.

Raeder duplicated the testimony of another defendant, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, that the attack on Pearl Harbor was a complete surprise to the Reich, which thought Japan's moves would be against the British and Dutch in the Pacific.

Abandoned Invasion.

He testified that Hitler apparently abandoned in the winter of 1940-41 his plans to invade England, but ordered preparations to continue at Channel ports as a pretense. Raeder said that Hitler by that time "was completely sold on the Russian campaign" and could not have pressed the Russian attack and invaded England at the same time.

He confirmed an entry in the diary of Col.-Gen. Gustav Jodl, Chief of Staff of the German Army, what he had asked for permission to attack Brazil's sea and air forces. In May, 1942, three months before Brazil and Germany formally went to war. Hitler gave permission June 15, Raeder said, and also ordered a wolfpack of ten submarines sent from France to Brazilian waters.

An opinion of the late Senator William E. Borah of Idaho became the subject of a controversy when counsel for Arthur Seyss-Inquart, former Chancellor of Austria, submitted a copy of a statement in which Borah was quoted as saying in 1938 that the Anschluss with Austria was "natural and inevitable and was none of America's business."

Assistant United States Prosecutor Thomas Dodd objected to the document as irrelevant, commenting: "This is Borah's own opinion and is not so helpful." The tribunal reserved judgment.

SS Men Testify In Trial For Massacre Of Yanks

C. Lowry

Dachau, Germany, May 18 (AP)—Four German SS men testified today that their young commander ordered them to take no prisoners and give no quarter in the desperate Nazi counteroffensive hurled at the Allies in the Ardennes just before Christmas, 1944.

Because of the order, the prosecution in the war-crimes trial of 74 SS men said, more than 500 captive American soldiers were killed in cold blood, 90 Belgian civilians were murdered and numerous other atrocities were perpetrated.

NIGHT

Order Before Battle

The four enlisted men, all members of the combat team from a SS regiment commanded by Col. Joachim Peiper, one of the defendants, said they were instructed by him on the eve of the battle to "drive on recklessly, give no quarter and take no prisoners."

The bulk of the testimony from the four men, who are not defendants, concerned the line of march of the Peiper regiment in the southwest corner of Belgium, where the Malmedy, La Gleize and Stavelot massacres of Americans occurred.

Witnesses Left For Dead

Six former American soldiers, who were left by the SS for dead at Malmedy, will appear on the witness stand perhaps on Monday.

Lieut. Col. Burton Ellis, of New York city, trial judge advocate, said that it took almost a year to construct prosecution of the case, starting with only information concerning the name of the SS regiment known to have been near Malmedy.

SS officers and men all over western Germany were investigated until the names of individuals concerned and particular actions were determined, Ellis said.

A Year To Build Case

Lieut. Col. Burton Ellis, trial judge advocate, said the prosecution devoted almost a year to construction of its case, beginning with little more than information concerning the identity of the SS regiment which was known to have been near Malmedy in the Battle of the Bulge.

SS officers and men all over western Germany were interrogated and investigated until the names of the individuals directly concerned and the particulars of the atrocities they are charged with were revealed. Much of the information came in confessions, Ellis said.

SS Bulge Order 'No Prisoners,' Court Hears

E. Lowry

Dachau, May 18 (AP)—Nazi armored troops poised for the 1944-45 winter counteroffensive into Belgium were ordered to "drive on recklessly, give no quarter, take no prisoners," prosecution witnesses in the Malmedy trial testified today.

The testimony was given by four enlisted men of a combat team of the SS regiment commanded by Col. Joachim Peiper, one of the 74 defendants. The prosecution maintains that as a result of such orders more than 500 American prisoners of war were slain in cold blood, more than 90 Belgian civilians were murdered and other atrocities were perpetrated against unarmed persons.

DAY

The third day of the trial was devoted entirely to testimony of the four SS men, who are not defendants in these proceedings. They said the order was given the night before Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt launched his counteroffensive.

Regiment's Route Retraced

The bulk of the testimony concerned the line of march of Peiper's regiment in the southwest corner of Belgium, where the Malmedy, Stavelot and La Gleize massacres of the Americans occurred. When the testimony was concluded, the court adjourned for the week end.

The prosecution expected to conclude its presentation of preliminary evidence late Monday after calling six American soldiers who were left for dead by SS men at the

FOOD TRAINS LOOTED

Germans in Daily Clashes With Police in Essen Area

HERFORD, Germany, May 18 (AP)—Wholesale looting of food trains by massed crowds in the Essen area—involving a number of clashes between German police and civilians—has taken place nearly every day this month, the British Military Government disclosed today.

Crowds in some cases numbered more than 500. More than 100 persons have been arrested in this area since the beginning of the month, it was announced.

The food trains concerned contained mainly potatoes. Normal civilian consumers in the Essen area have received no potato ration for four months and the official statement said that, "whatever counter-measures are employed by the police, the local population will seize every opportunity to loot food trains until the local food situation becomes less acute and reverts to a normal ration standard."

MYSTERY SEEN OVER BROWDER

U.S. Communist, If In Moscow, Keeps Out Of Sight

R. J. Bates

Moscow, Sunday, May 19 (AP)—Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in the United States, has done a good job of keeping out of sight if he is now in the Soviet Union.

Finnish state police reported that Browder crossed the Finnish border into Russia on May 4, but he has not appeared in Moscow at any place frequented by foreigners and no member of the foreign colony has claimed to have seen him.

No Press Mention

The Soviet press has made no mention of Browder nor any visit by him, and efforts to trace him through hotel rgeistration and other means have failed to produce a clew as to his whereabouts.

All foreign correspondents in Moscow began a search for Browder immediately after he was reported to have entered the Soviet Union.

The most frequently-interrogated source, the visa office at the American Embassy, finally devised a routine speech for all questioners, which goes:

"No. We haven't seen him. He doesn't have to come in here—for example, he might get a visa in Berlin."

One foreign correspondent discovered a Russian who said he had seen Browder in Moscow, but the Russian could not locate the former American Communist leader when asked.

Insists Russia Is Radio Inventor

Moscow, May 18 (AP)—A writer in the Soviet periodical New Times said today the Encyclopedia Brittanica should stop crediting the invention of radio to Guglielmo Marconi and a German and name as its real inventor Alexander Popov, a Russian physicist who died in 1905.

[By "a German," this writer may have meant Heinrich Hertz, who carried out experiments on electromagnetic waves.]

"Marconi invented nothing new," the article said. "He only exactly reproduced Popov's apparatus."

The article said the Brittanica editors should know Popov invented and demonstrated the world's first radio receiver May 5, 1895, at Kronstadt fortress near St. Petersburg (Leningrad) and that Popov later got Russian and English patents.

The Encyclopedia Brittanica says Marconi applied in 1896 for the first British patent for wireless telegraphy. The Encyclopedia credits Clerk Maxwell as having foreseen radio in terms of mathematical formula in 1864 and credits others with having conducted experiments along these lines, but it says Marconi was the first to devise a practical means by which electromagnetic waves provided a new method of telegraphic communication.

No Comment in Russia

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP).—The end of the Paris session of the Council of Foreign Ministers and the return to Moscow of Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov was announced to the Russian people today by the Soviet press and radio without editorial comment.

Dutch Labor Cabinet Resigns As Vote Favors Catholics

R. Wheeler

Amsterdam, May 18 (AP)—The Dutch Cabinet tendered its resignation to Queen Wilhelmina today as final returns showed Premier William Schermerhorn's Socialist Labor party ran second to the middle-of-the-road Catholic party in parliamentary elections yesterday.

Following traditions, the Queen requested the outgoing cabinet to serve until a new government was formed.

DAY

Margin Of Victory

The Catholic party scored a narrow victory over the Labor party by gaining 30.8 per cent of the more than 4,750,000 votes cast. Representatives were chosen in the election for the lower house of Parliament.

The Catholics received 1,466,510 votes and won 32 of the 100 seats in Parliament, compared with 1,347,664 votes and 29 seats for the Laborites. The Labor total of 28.3 per cent was disheartening to followers of Schermerhorn, who had expected to win between 35 and 37 seats.

Calvinists won thirteen seats. Communists ten, Protestants (Christian-Historian party) eight, Conservatives (Party of Freedom) six, and the Protestant Union two. The balloting was the first general election here since 1937.

The Communist party, which polled only 3.35 per cent of the 1937 total, received 502,935 ballots yesterday, or 10.57 per cent. Thirty per cent of the Amsterdam and 18.3 per cent of the Rotterdam votes were Communist.

It was speculated that the vote might result in a government of national unity parties, headed by Dr. Carl Romme, Catholic leader.

GREEK PAPER IS ATTACKED

100 Soldiers Destroy Communist Plant in Volos

ATHENS, May 18 (AP)—The Ministry of Public Order said today hat 100 uniformed men, described as "goaded by constant press attack on the army," have destroyed a Communist newspaper plant in Volos.

The conservative morning newspaper Embros said 3,000 shots were fired between the attackers and defenders of the plant, but there was no report of casualties.

POLES SEIZE ARMS CACHE

27 Reported Arrested in Raid on Alleged Subversive Group

WARSAW, May 18 (AP)—The Polish Government announced today that a secret police raid on National party headquarters in the Sandomierz district had turned up a new anti-Government organization.

An official statement said the organization had received direct "London" instructions to attack democratic leaders.

Twenty-seven persons were seized along with a printing plant and big stores of arms, including three anti-aircraft guns, a number of machine guns, rifles, grenades and radio sets, the statement added.

Meanwhile, political slayings continued. Two Polish workers' leaders were shot to death, one near Siedlice and the other near Bialystok.

Security police announced the liquidation of a bandit gang in a forest near Radzyn. Four bandits were killed and twelve captured.

In southeastern Poland, Ukrainian nationalists were reported to have burned several villages.

Student Strike Ended In Poland

Warsaw, May 18 (AP)—A strike of about 10,000 students in Poznan and Krakow ended last night after university heads assured them that efforts would be made to release "as quickly as possible" 500 to 700 fellow students reported jailed in Krakow during May 3 demonstrations there.

Protests over reports of impending governmental curbs on the autonomy of the national universities have been sent to the Council of Ministers by the university heads. A decree providing such curbs had been reported already drafted by the Government.

Poland, Bulgaria Sign Pact

IRANIANS IN TABRIZ TO CHECK ON REDS

Tehran, May 18 (A. P.).—An Iranian central government commission reached Tabriz, capital of the self-proclaimed autopomous government of Azerbaijan province, by plane yesterday to investigate the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

The commission also is expected to renew talks with Separatist leaders relative to return of Azerbaijan province to central government control.

The same plane carried Joseph C. Goodwin, Associated Press correspondent, the first American newspaper man to be allowed to enter Azerbaijan during the four years of Soviet occupation and six months of Separatist rule.

Lebanese Regime Is Facing Crisis

Beirut, May 18 (AP)—The Lebanese Republic's Government faced a crisis today after the resignation of two Cabinet members and the calling of a general strike for Monday.

[A Reuter dispatch from Beirut said the Government had resigned, with Premier Sami el Solh charging maneuvers against him both inside and outside Parliament.]

The general strike was called by the Federation of Trade Unions in an effort to force passage of legislation favoring labor.

Premier Solh, in accepting the resignations of Home Minister Saadi Munla and Defense Minister Ahmed el Assad, both members of the Independence party, demanded a vote of confidence from an extraordinary session of Parliament.

Official Chinese Paper Assails Communists

Nanking, May 18 (AP)—While General Marshall untiringly continued his efforts peacefully to unite China's rival factions, the Government's press organ, the Central Daily News, today intensified its campaign to widen the breach.

In an editorial that the Government tacitly approved by disseminating an English version through its Ministry of Information, the newspaper declared:

"For the sake of our country and our people we cannot help calling urgently upon the Government to poll all of its strength to put an end to the rebels of Communists and so preserve the integrity of our territory and save the people from the heat of fire and the depth of water."

Strong Language Used

In language reminiscent of the days when the Kuomintang (National party) launched annihilation campaigns against the Communists eighteen years ago, the editorial asserted:

"The Government has made all possible concessions and we do not want to hear more bargaining demands from the Communists.

"The Communists have no right to endanger the nation and bring troubles to the people. But their determination to do so cannot seemingly be changed by agreement or stipulation."

The editorial asserted that the Communists were intriguing to disunite the country and to disrupt the nation's military administrative command. It said there are 400,000 Communist troops in Manchuria, "some headed by foreign officers"—an obvious allusion to Russians. It added that the Communists, contrary to some public opinion, were an "anti-democracy, anti-humanity and anti-morality group."

The charges were almost identical with some often made by the Communists against the Kuomintang.

Communist View

Peiping, May 18 (AP)—The newspaper Shih Chien Jih Pao today reported that Communist Lieut. Gen. Jao Shu-shih told its Mukden correspondent:

"Manchurian problems cannot be solved by merely sending field (truce) teams here and there. Fundamental differences must be settled once and for all."

Jao, commander of the new 4th Army, is the Communist representative on Truce Team 27.

He was further quoted as acknowledging that Communists had removed some military installations in Manchuria, but said that "these are under our protection and will be returned to the Government once Kuomintang (National party)-Communist co-operation is realized."

Chinese Paper Calls For War

Nanking, May 18 (AP)—A call upon the Chinese Government to "pool all its strength to put an end to the Communist rebels" was issued today by the Government's own official organ, the Central Daily News.

The demand for full-scale action against Communist forces came when negotiations for a truce in Manchuria were stalled by refusal of the Communists to give up Changchun, the capital.

Objects To More Bargaining

"The Government has made all possible concessions," the Central Daily News declared in an editorial, "and we do not want to hear of more bargaining demands from the Communists."

The newspaper asserted some of the estimated 400,000 troops the Communists have deployed in gaining control of three fourths of Manchuria were headed by "foreign officers"—an apparent reiteration of charges that Russian officers were involved.

Government leaders assembled at Mukden to survey the military plight of their forces in Manchuria.

The newspaper Hsin Min Pao said the Government's 1st Army, reinforced by elements of the 71st and the new 6th Army, had been averaging five vigorous thrusts daily at Szepingkai, Communist stronghold south of Changchun.

Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, deputy chief of staff, told a Mukden news conference he hoped the Communists would cease "to obstruct the recovery of China's sovereignty" over Manchuria.

No Reply From Communists

Pai said, however, that the Communists had not replied "to a proposal by General Marshall that the Communists withdraw from Changchun."

The special United States envoy in his role of mediator was reported to have relayed to the Communists a request by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that the Communists quit Changchun as a condition for resumed negotiations.

Cabinet Shift Aids Soong's Prestige

Nanking, May 18 (AP)—The recent Chinese Cabinet shakeup is a striking sign of the speed and dexterity with which Premier T. V. Soong has re-established himself as Government leader.

A few weeks ago his position was shaky. There were widespread and generally reliable reports he would resign in the face of criticism within the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee, opposition largely stirred by the rival "clique" controlled by the brothers Chen Li-fu and Chen Kuo-fu.

More Secure Than Ever

Now Soong emerges more securely at the helm than ever.

The new Cabinet members are of his choice. So is the new Minister of Information, a party position, and consequently an indication that Soong regained ground in the party as well as in the Government.

Not only has Soong entrenched himself at home; the choice of two nonparty men for Cabinet positions is calculated to impress observers abroad, especially in the United States, where any move toward liberalism in the Chinese Government would be regarded favorably.

"Proves Nothing"

Apart from representing a personal victory for the Premier and placing minor parties in an embarrassing position, the reshuffle was not significant. It does not alter the course of the Government in the slightest.

A neutral observer summarized the situation thus: "The shakeup is a penomenon apart from and unconnected with the general trends. It just happened and proves nothing."

China Trade Pact Progress

NANKING, May 18 (AP).—The newspaper "Hsin Min Pao" said today the United States and China had reached a preliminary agreement on terms in a new commercial treaty. It also said a commercial treaty between China and Denmark likewise would be published soon.

SINGAPORE, May 18 (AP)—Drastic reductions in rice rations for the population of Singapore and the Malayan Union were announced today with the official explanation that the Government expected to receive little more than half of the 69,000-ton allocation for the current quarter from the Allied Combined Food Board.

Gandhi Calls British Plan 'Seed' Of A Happier India

New Delhi, May 18 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi told a group of his Congress party followers last night that the British Cabinet mission's proposals for a union of India contained "a seed to convert this land of suffering into one without sorrow and suffering."

Gandhi, at his usual evening prayer meeting, said the Cabinet mission had "every reason to be proud" of its proposals, which recommended a plan for a federation of Indian states under a single national government.

"There are some who said the English were incapable of doing the right thing," Gandhi said. "I do not agree with them. It is beneath our dignity as men to doubt a person before he is proved to be untrue to his word.

"Whatever the wrong done to India by British rule, if the statement of the mission is genuine—as I believe it is—it is to discharge an obligation which they have declared the British owe to India—that is, to get off India's back."

Moslems Demonstrate

CALCUTTA, May 18 (AP).—Seventeen persons were reported injured at Chittagong, Eastern Bengal, yesterday in Moslem demonstrations against the British Cabinet mission proposals for a union of India.

India

Bangkok, May 18 (AP)—Thailand (Siam) will send a delegation to Washington for food conferences expected to begin May 21, an official announcement said today.

Japs Set For 2 Food-Demand Gatherings

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—American troops in the Tokyo-Yokohama area today were placed under alert orders as organizers of a mass demonstration claimed that tens of thousands would gather at the Imperial Palace gates tomorrow, demanding more food.

A second gathering was planned for Yokohama.

Americans, as is their policy, will not interfere, but will be prepared to protect United States property and lives if trouble develops.

Meantime, Premier Shigeru Yoshida floundered through another day in a vain attempt to form a Cabinet. Several of his choices were reported to have declined positions.

Diet Still In Recess

The Diet continued in recess, awaiting completion of the Cabinet. It still was puzzled as to the status of Takekichi Miki, elected speaker of the House of Representatives, but now considered a possible purgee on the basis of his ultra-nationalistic and political record.

Senzo Higai, Liberal party member who received the second highest vote for the speakership, told newsmen he expected Miki to retire and that he would get the post.

As a result of their recent protest against lack of consideration, both the Liberal and Progressive parties seemed assured of substantial representation in the Cabinet. Previously, Yoshida had indicated a preference for experienced bureaucrats.

Want "Democratic Cabinet"

Tomorrow's demonstration will mark a new high in the growing clamor for food, if it follows plans outlined by Communist labor union leaders.

Sanzo Nozaka, Communist member of the House of Representatives, said 100,000 would answer the call and would demand elimination of a conservative government and establishment of a "democratic Cabinet," as well as more food.

A drizzling rain fell today. Unpleasant weather tomorrow might dampen the people's ardor. Further, Sunday is a traditional day for urbanites to travel into the near-by countryside to purchase food direct from farmers.

However, Government railway workers publicly promised free transportation to all persons wearing a ribbon with the slogan "Away With Conservative Government; Make a Democratic Government" to attract crowds for the demonstration.

Jap Press Snub Of Russ Denied

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—Kyodo news agency today refuted Soviet assertions that the Japanese press had ignored one of Russia's greatest holidays by pointing out that Asahi Shimbun, one of Japan's largest daily newspapers, carried the story on Page 1 May 10 under the headline "Soviet Victory Day."

Izvestia, a Moscow newspaper, had complained that "not one word was devoted to this memorable day by the Japanese press" and declared that it showed "an unfriendly attitude toward freedom-loving peoples of the world."

Asahi Quotes Moscow

The Asahi story quoted the Moscow radio as saying that Premier Stalin had issued a proclamation May 9 on the occasion of the first anniversary of Russia's victory over Germany.

It reported that Stalin, on behalf of the Soviet Government and the Communist party, sent greetings to the entire Soviet people, congratulating them on a great victory and ordered 300-gun salutes fired in Moscow and all other capitals of the Soviet republics as well as other "heroic cities" including Leningrad, Stalingrad, Lwow, Odessa and Sebastopol.

73,110,995 Japanese

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—The population of Japan is 73,110,995, on the basis of a census just completed by the Government.

[Japan's prewar population was reported as 72,875,800.]

The figures listed 38,207,730 females and 34,903,265 males.

The larger cities showed increased populations since November. Tokyo prefecture, virtually all a metropolitan area, increased almost 700,000. Similar gains were shown for Chiba and Kanagawa prefectures. Osaka gained 175,000.

Asks What Americans Joined Japs in War

Tokyo, May 18 (A. P.).—Gen. MacArthur today instructed the Japanese Government to prepare a list of American Nationals who applied for Japanese citizenship, entered the Japanese armed services or served with Japanese Government agencies in the war. Under the 1940 United States nationality act, any one in any of those categories forfeited his United States citizenship.

United States consular officials will use the list in determining the citizenship status of persons of Japanese ancestry seeking to return to the United States or asking employment with occupation forces.

Guard Drugs Better, Jap Firms Told

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—Theft of 1,130 five-gram bottles of morphine in Osaka today brought a demand from Allied headquarters that Japanese drug firms safeguard their supplies.

Lieut. Com. W. L. Speer, of Amarillo, Texas, the headquarters control officer, said Japanese had evidenced such complete disregard of previous orders as to leave morphine in wooden cabinets, open boxes and even in private homes where thieves and black market operators easily could reach it.

Jap Firms Must Pay

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese Government to pay United States telegraph and telephone companies some $350,000 collected from occupation forces for messages home. No reason why the companies had not been paid for the messages, handled the past six months, was given.

Cross for U. S. Tokyo Hospital

TOKYO, May 18 (AP).—St. Luke's International Medical Center—now the Army's 42d General Hospital—again has a golden cross overhead. But it is made of oak, painted gold. The original cross, of metal and gold leaf, went into a 1942 Japanese scrap drive.

Argentinians Injured During Political Crash

Buenos Aires, May 18 (AP)—Several persons were injured and more than 100 were arrested early today during a clash between police and Labor party demonstrators in Cordoba.

The fighting started when police sought to break up a meeting of Labor party members who had been demonstrating against Argentino Auchter, the new Governor of Cordoba province. Auchter took the oath of office yesterday before the Supreme Court after Labor members refused to attend a legislative session, making it impossible to hold the customary inauguration ceremony.

The Labor party supported Auchter, a member of the dissident Radical party, in the February election but later broke with him over the distribution of patronage.

Bolivian Tin Magnate Facing Tax Charges

La Paz, Bolivia, May 18 (AP)—Simon Patino, the Bolivian tin magnate, has been accused of tax evasion totaling 300,000,000 Bolivian pesos ($750,000).

The charges, presented before the permanent fiscal commission, allege that Patino failed to declare the value of holdings in a Swiss concern, whose capital is estimated at $600,000, and also failed to make declarations to the Bolivian Government on stocks of the Patino Mines and Enterprises, Consolidated, valued at $345,385, plus preferential stocks valued at $361,972.

CUBAN PLOT LAID TO EX-ARMY MAN

Havana, May 18 (A. P.).—An unidentified ex-Army officer was blamed by Cuban officials today for an unsuccessful plot to seize Camp Columbia, Army headquarters near Havana, early yesterday.

President Ramon Grau San Martin said last night in an interview that the plot was "completely frustrated by the vigilance of the armed forces, who remain in full control of the nation's security."

Residents near the camp reported hearing sporadic gunfire shortly after 2 A. M., Eastern standard time, and continuing for about thirty minutes. Grau said that no casualties were reported officially and that no arrests had been made.

Marines Hold Maneuvers On Isle Off Puerto Rico

40 Countries Have Observers at Amphibious Action

MEDIO MUNDO BAY, Puerto Rico, May 18 (AP).—More than seventy military observers from forty countries today watched American marines land in the first American amphibious training maneuvers since the end of the war. The operation, which took place at near-by Culebra Island, concluded a four-day program of Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's 8th Fleet.

The foreign visitors were guests of the Army and Navy. They arrived Thursday at San Juan and passed yesterday touring the city. Today they arose at 5 a. m. and boarded the destroyers Ozbourn and Corry, from which the landing was observed. Returning to San Juan this afternoon, they were to depart tomorrow morning for Fort Benning, Ga., and a two-day demonstration.

The 8th Fleet will anchor tonight in Roosevelt Roads and depart Monday for New York.

BYRNES TO REPORT ON TALKS IN PARIS

Secretary Confers with Truman, Will Broadcast Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 18. — (AP) Secretary of State Byrnes reported to President Truman for two hours today on the Paris conference of foreign ministers—which failed to settle the peace of Europe but, in Byrnes's view as reported by associates, did not fail completely to advance the prospects for a settlement.

The secretary, returning by air today, hurried to the White House to tell his chief about the Paris session which had recessed Thursday until June 15. He will report to the nation on it by radio Monday night.

Returning with him were his two advisers from Capitol Hill, Senators Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, and Vandenberg (R-Mich), leading G.O.P. spokesman on international matters.

Connally told a news conference that he would report to the Senate Wednesday on the conference. Vandenberg is expected to speak to the Senate Tuesday after Byrnes' Monday night talk.

Connally said in a formal statement that "substantial progress" had been made at Paris which, it was believed, would "help the next meeting on June 15 to agree upon treaties."

Some of Vandenberg's friends report that he considered the Paris meeting pretty largely a failure, but he declined public comment at the airport.

Talk is Secret

The White House session was entirely secret but some informants suggested that Byrnes probably told the President that things were not as bad as they might seem and that the United States, Russia, Britain and France could eventually agree on European peace settlements if they tried long enough.

Byrnes was represented as being not quite so pessimistic about this as when he left for Paris April 23. He evidently feels that the United States' bargaining position with Russia has been improved by the Paris agreement for revision of Italian armistice terms. He expects this to ease the pressure for quick peace agreements, which previously had been a primary American concern.

At the same time he is believed to feel strongly that no effort should be spared to end left-over war conditions in Europe as quickly as possible, to wind up occupation armies except in Germany, and to hold a European peace conference without undue delay.

American informants familiar with the Paris sessions put these down as positive gains: Russia's withdrawal of her claim on Tripoli, an approach to an Italian reparations agreement, and the long, detailed exchange of views which might have brought Moscow, Washington, London and Paris closer to understanding each other's positions.

Byrnes reportedly is still hopeful that his proposal for a 25-year big-four alliance against the military resurgence of Germany will be accepted by all sides, allay fears about future German aggression and clear the way for building a real peace over the whole continent of Europe.

Byrnes Returns, Sees Truman; Air Talk Set

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes returned from Paris today and immediately reported to President Truman on the failure of the Foreign Ministers' Conference so far to agree on European peace settlements.

Byrnes arrived aboard an army plane at 10.35 A.M.—and announced that he would report to the nation by radio Monday night on the conference—where on almost every major issue the split was widened between Russia and the western powers, the United States and Britain.

The secretary went directly from the airport to the State Department. Although he told newsmen that he was weary after his 24-hour trip, he went across the street in a few minutes to see President Truman.

Otherwise, the Secretary, who had left for the Paris conference with relatively small hope of success in writing European peace treaties, had nothing to say on the outcome of the meeting which many diplomats termed an almost complete failure.

Connally, Vandenberg Along

Byrnes was accompanied home by his principal advisers: Chairman Connally (D., Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.). The Secretary is slated to return to Paris by June 15 for resumption of the sessions in an attempt again to write peace treaties for Europe.

Connally said that Byrnes had played "a distinguished part" in the conference and added:

"While it did not accomplish all that we had hoped for, it made substantial achievements which I am sure will be helpful to the meeting in June."

No Reply Yet To Pravda

Vandenberg, who had been assailed by the Soviet newspaper Pravda in Moscow as the "gravedigger" of the conference because he publicly stated his doubts of its success a week ago, declared he had no comment on either the conference or the Pravda charge, at the moment.

Byrnes and his party were met by French Ambassador Bonnet, Postmaster General Hannegan, Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Assistant Secretary of State Don Russell and Bernard M. Baruch, United States member of the United Nations Atomic Commission.

Byrnes came in on a plane called the "Crescent Caravan."

In saying that he would talk to the nation Monday night by radio, Byrnes did not state the time.

The World in '46 A Counterpart Of World in '19

Secret Data on Versailles, Just Released, Underlines Similarity of Problems

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—The troubles of today's world hunger, territorial disputes and the effect of rapid demobilization of victorious armies are reflected as counterparts of its problems twenty-seven years ago in hitherto-secret official documents published today.

These documents, minutes of the Paris Peace Conference sessions during July and August, 1919, were released by the State Department.

Then, as now, Herbert Hoover was telling the world of starvation conditions in certain areas. He grimly related them: "It is impossible to depict the situation in Armenia, for up until the last sixty days the population has been eating the dead."

Territorial questions concerned the peace conference. The delegates debated the critical Italian-Yugoslav boundary dispute, and labored over peace treaty drafts for Austria, Hunngary and Bulgaria.

The Americans, British and French feared the spread of Communism in eastern Europe. Frequently, delegates observed that rapid demobilization in the United States and Britain had left the Allies with insufficient force to back up their policies.

The problems facing the 1919 conference were strikingly similar—some virtually identical—to those on which the current Big Four Foreign Ministers failed to agree in the Paris meeting which ended this week.

The minutes released today cover the period immediately following the signing of the Versailles Treaty with Germany on June 28, 1919. President Wilson had returned to Washington and Prime Minister Lloyd George to London. France's "Tiger," George Clemenceau, continued as the chief French delegate.

Russia, in the midst of revolution and with its territory under invasion by Allied forces, was not represented at the council table.

The delegates worried over how to get rid of the Communist government of Hungary, headed by Bela. They charged it with violating armistice terms and with planning aggression, and the regime soon collapsed under Allied military and economic pressure.

Difficulties arising from the rapid Allied demobilization appear throughout the 985-page document of minutes. Arthur Balfour, chief British delegate, called attention to "the inglorious situation" in which the Allied powers—which eight months earlier, with 15,000,000 men in the field, were "conquerors of the world"—could not impose their will even on a Hungarian army of 120,000.

France Seeking To Win German Steel Markets

U.S. Approves Plan as Paris Gets $650,000,000 Loan by Export-Import Bank

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—A French plan to try for Germany's former steel markets in Europe has met with American approval, officials close to the negotiations here for American financial help for France said today. The proposal is contained in an eighteen-page report of government economic experts who have been studying the French four-year industrial modernization plan.

The Export-Import Bank, it was said by these officials, this week approved a $650,000,000 loan. In addition the government is expected to award France credits of $500,000,000 or more to buy surplus American goods and bring final settlement to France's war claims and outstanding lend-lease accounts.

The French steel proposals, hinging on sufficient coal imports to more than double France's pre-war steel production, urge greater coal allocations to France from all world producing areas.

The proposal was initially indorsed some three weeks ago by Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson. Since then a report has been approved by other heads of the Administration who form President Truman's National Advisory Council on Foreign Loans.

Conditions which American officials feel will have to be met if France is to make fullest use of American credit aid, include:

Strict limitations on consumer goods and production. This probably will mean continued rationing of many items on France's industrial, agricultural and civilian consumer markets.

Restrictions on armaments production and release of man power in that industry to civilian production.

Full co-operation from French technological and industrial management groups now employed in non-nationalized industries.

Concerted disposition of French man power to produce goods in quantity and of high-standard quality.

RUSSIAN 'ATTITUDE' CONDEMNED BY AFL

Council Notes Concern Over 'Mounting Threat' Of War

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The executive council of the AFL said today that it viewed "with the gravest concern the mounting threat of another world war."

The council, asserting that "we must reach a clear understanding with Russia," said that that country had "employed the methods of aggression (rather than self-defense)."

Further delay and "appeasement" offer little hope of success and "may only widen the breach" with the Soviet Union, the governing body of the American Federation of Labor added, and went on:

"If the policy of Soviet Russia is to be 'tough,' we must show her that we can be tougher in our defense of basic principles.

Appeal To Atlantic Charter

"We call upon the Government of the United States to insist that Russia observe her wartime commitments based on the Atlantic Charter."

These views were expressed in a statement approved by the council yesterday and released today.

The statement said: "It is now more than a year since V-E day and nine months after V-J day, yet world peace has not yet been established. The failure of the Foreign Ministers' conference at Paris to reach an agreement is grievously disappointing. Continuation of hostilities in Asia appears to baffle all attempts at settlement."

1948

Soviet Attitude Condemned

But even more dangerous, the statement continued, is "the deep cleavage in policy" between the United States and Britain on one hand and Russia on the other.

"The American Federation of Labor unequivocally condemns the attitude taken by Soviet Russia since the war ended. In Europe and in Asia, she has employed main force instead of consultation with other powers. Russia has seized captured territory; she has brazenly sought to extend her influence and domain over most of Asia and eastern Europe."

"Agents Of Moscow"

The council said that it considered it "significant that the foreign agents of Moscow" were again "assailing the foreign policy of the United States and accusing us of 'imperialism.' . . . At a recent convention in Atlantic City of a union of Government employés not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, resolutions were adopted condemning the United States and Great Britain for 'aggression.'"

This obviously referred to the United Public Workers (CIO), which had passed a resolution at its Atlantic City convention criticizing the United States and Britain.

Justice Department Plans To Speed War On Criminals

Washington, May 18 (AP)—"We're going to get you."

That's Attorney General Tom Clark's notice to lawbreakers.

A major Federal counterattack against crime gets under way next week.

From May 22 to 24 the men who put force into Government law enforcement will huddle at the first national crime conference in twelve years. Ninety-three United States attorneys from throughout the nation and its possessions will meet with Justice Department and FBI officials.

Wide Range For Discussion

Their discussions will range from what the children do on the street to what some industrial giants do to evade the anti-trust laws. They'll canvass such problems as black markets, the race situation, income-tax evasion by war and black-market profiteers, war frauds and frauds against veterans.

Clark calls these the "national combat zones" of the Justice Department.

In an interview Clark outlined what he expects the conference to accomplish—and what will follow it.

Will Be First Step

"This will be the first step in mobilizing the department's 25,000 employés in a drive that will crack down on every phase of crime over which the Federal Government has jurisdiction," he said.

"From this conference may emerge recommendations to Congress for new legislation to strengthen the Federal Government's law-enforcement powers.

"We will not, in any way, however, infringe on the rights of states or municipalities."

Chief Facts Faced

The Attorney General said these are the chief facts the conference will face:

1. A crime wave is in full swing.
2. The upsurge in crimes among teen-agers is continuing.
3. "Cheats and sharpers" are preying upon veterans.
4. Income-tax evasion by black-market profiteers has reached big proportions.
5. The civil rights of minorities "were never under greater threat."

"From Legitimate Markets"

6. Black-market activities are siphoning large quantities of commodities from legitimate retail markets.

"During 1945," Clark said, "1,565,541 major crimes were committed in addition to several million lesser offenses. The crime increase was the greatest in fifteen years.

"Two thousand cities, representing a population of 65,000,000, had an actual increase in serious crimes of 12.4 per cent over 1944. Stolen property totaled over $88,000,000.

"The Federal Government would be derelict in its duty to the people if it sat idly by and permitted this alarming situation to continue without stern, remedial action."

"Concrete Approach" Planned

Clark said the conference will chart "a concrete approach to the teen-age crime situation."

He said "any good American who reads the statistics on juvenile crime cannot help but be profoundly shocked. During 1945 arrests of girls under 21 jumped 109.3 per cent over the last peacetime year of 1941.

"Persons under 21 totaled 21 per cent of all arrests. And more persons aged 17 were arrested than in any other age group. Youths under 21 constituted 39.6 per cent of those charged with crimes against property."

What will the Government do about the youth crime wave?

Clark said "we think we have found a partial answer in the so-called deferred prosecution plan, which places youthful violators of some Federal laws on probation and keeps their names off criminal records. This gives them a second chance to go right without a black mark on their record—if they have what it takes.

Where Answer Rests

"This plan is being used experimentally by some United States attorneys. At our conference we shall decide on the basis of their reports whether to adopt the plan on a nation-wide basis.

"But the answer lies primarily in the community and in the home. We intend to work out a program of co-operation with local authorities. I hope communities throughout the nation will see fit to adopt sound recreation programs and take other measures to curb juvenile crimes. Community officials can, if necessary, go into individual homes in an effort to correct this problem. We can't."

Investigations Under Way

The Attorney General said the conference will make plans to tighten liasion with local officials in exposing what he called "widespread efforts to chisel our service men." He added:

"Some are being thoroughly fleeced by professional cheats and chiselers—and by some who are not professionals but are just as slick.

"The department already is investigating reports of frauds on veterans by some real estate agents. We also are investigating reports that usurious money lenders are advancing money to veterans."

BOWLES IN DEBATE ON PRICE CONTROL

Funds Are Needed to Fight Black Market, Says Stabilizer.

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP) Price control can not be made an effective guarantee against inflation unless the OPA is given adequate funds to administer the law and fight black markets, Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today.

A National Association of Manufacturers spokesman countered by saying that price controls in peace time stood in the way of production and led inevitably to scarcities and black markets.

Both Bowles and John C. Gebhart, research director for the N. A. M., spoke over the American Broadcasting company system, the latter speaking from New York.

"Until we get through these difficult months," Bowles declared, "we'll have to restrain a natural tendency to try to catch up with every little advantage the other fellow may seem to have."

Gebhart, who spoke after Bowles, said:

"As long as OPA operates as it has been operating we are postponing the day further and further when we will have enough goods. We have twice as many workers available to make civilian goods as were used to make war goods. But they can't work in peacetime under the tight wraps of war controls on prices. x x x

"Take off the wraps and there'll be such an abundance of things to buy as America has never known."

This thumbnail outline of the expected price situation in the months to come was given by Bowles:

Food—"If we get good harvests this summer, I think our food supply and therefore food prices—can be kept roughly where they are today. That is, of course, if we get from Congress authority to continue subsidies at least through the critical period."

Clothing—"If we can keep clothing production moving up rapidly during the next six months, I think you'll see a lot more better quality garments in the stores at prices within your reach."

Rents—"I don't see any reasons why rents should go up at all. But let me emphasize that this depends on the kind of price and rent control law Congress passes within the next few weeks."

Bowles Predicts A Doubled U. S. Output by 1970

Says 400 Billion Goal Is Possible, Increasing Average Income to $5,000

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—An American economy geared by 1970 to an annual productive capacity of $400,000,000,000 in goods and services—twice the peak war-time output—is foreseen by Chester Bowles.

The Stabilization Director sets up this goal in his first book, "Tomorrow Without Fear," to be published Monday.

Saying that sharply accelerated private and government spending will be necessary to balance output with purchases, Mr. Bowles predicts that in about twenty years this will mean "an average annual income of about $5,000 for every man and woman who works for a living."

Specifically, he says the average income of the lower third of the nation's families can rise from $527 in 1940 to $1,355 by 1950, and to $3,370 by the late 1960s.

For middle-income families Mr. Bowles's prediction is a climb from $1,311 in 1940 to $6,545 in the late '60s. His forecast for the top third is from $3,722 before the war to $9,915 by 1970.

For the short range on production, Mr. Bowles fixes an objective of $200,000,000,000 in goods and services in both 1947 and 1948—about a 25 per cent increase over the current rate and 100 per cent over 1940.

The cause of the economic collapse of 1929 was, according to Mr. Bowles, "that we simply weren't distributing enough purchasing power into the pockets of our people to buy all of the goods that flowed from our increasing productive capacity."

If we are to avoid depression in the future, Mr. Bowles adds, "the Federal government must pledge itself to expand or contract its spendings to whatever extent is necessary to balance any temporary slowing down of business spending."

Mr. Bowles says he is convinced that the free-enterprise system can create the kind of increased prosperity which he writes about, but he adds:

"If our present system fails to keep our people fully employed and our production running near or close to capacity levels, our people will insist that our system be modified."

Lists Of 26-29 Culled For Draft

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Selective service boards began culling their lists of childless men 26 through 29 years old today to meet the service manpower pinch resulting from a congressional ban on teen-age inductions.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, told the boards to call up for preinduction physical examinations men in the late-20 bracket who "may qualify for military service under existing physical and occupational standards."

He directed that men who have been discharged from the armed forces and any with "manifest" physical disabilities be exempted from the call. The others may be classified 1A unless they can obtain occupational deferment.

Issued New Order

President Truman excused men in the 26-29 age bracket from the draft last August 14, but issued a new order making them eligible again after Congress excluded the 18 and 19 year olds in a stopgap bill extending selective service to July 1.

The War Department estimates that there are only about 15,000 eligibles in the older-age bracket.

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D., Utah) of the Senate Military Committee planned to try for unanimous Senate approval of a committee bill providing a one-year draft extension with 18 and 19 year olds eligible, increases in pay for enlisted men and discharge of fathers or men with 18 months or more service on request.

If Thomas could obtain passage by unanimous consent, conferences could be opened immediately to reconcile the Senate bill with one passed in the House.

Army Offers Year's Duty To Officers on Reserve

6,400 Volunteers Sought Until Post-War Status Is Set

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—The Army today offered active military duty to 6,400 National Guard and Reserve officers who volunteer to serve at home or abroad at least until mid-1947.

The quotas include 4,400 Air Forces and Service Force officers in addition to 2,000 who will be accepted for the ground forces. The Air Force quota, however, consists only of 150 non-pilot technical specialists.

The War Department explained that the officers accepted would replace those who were eligible for separation and added that it was planned to follow this policy of service until the Army attained a permanent post-war status.

Qualified former Wac officers and hospital dieticians as well as reserve and National Guard officers are eligible for recall to active duty.

Old Artillery School To Leave Fort Monroe

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The Army's 122-year-old Coast Artillery School will be moved next month from Fort Monroe, Va., to Fort Winfield Scott, Cal.

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Forces commander, today announced the transfer would be started June 1 and be completed in fifteen days.

The move will make room at Fort Monroe for headquarters of the ground forces, which will transfer there from the National Capital this summer as a part of general army reorganization.

Maj. Gen. Robert T. Frederick will continue as commandant of the school. Present classes will close not later than May 31, but no date has been set for beginning new classes at Fort Winfield Scott.

A dozen units are involved in the transfer, but officials were unable to estimate the number of men who would be moved.

Gen. Walker Off to New Post

DALLAS, May 18 (AP).—Lieutenant General Walton H. Walker left Dallas today for Chicago, where he assumes command of the 5th Army. Replacing General Walker in command of the 8th Service Command is General Jonathan M. Wainwright, head of the 4th Army at Fort Sam Houston. The 8th Service Command headquarters is to remain here until merged with the 4th Army in accordance with reorganization plans made by the War Department.

B-29 Will Test Out Cosmic Ray Effects

Flight to Seek Reaction on Components of Missiles

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—The effect of cosmic rays on metals and chemicals which might be used in long-range guided missiles will be studied on a series of B-29 flights beginning in a week or ten days.

This will be one purpose of the cosmic-ray research to be undertaken by the National Geographic Society, the Army Air Forces and the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute, at Philadelphia.

The society announced today that the plane, equipped with special scientific apparatus, was scheduled to leave Dayton, Ohio, for a round-trip flight between Wright field and the Canadian border.

Upon returning from that trip the plane will go to Eglin Field, Fla., and thence to the Canal Zone. There it will take on fuel for a flight along the West Coast of South America to a landing place not yet announced.

The pilot will be Colonel A. E. Key, of Meridian, Miss., with Captain Frank G. Shea, of Chicago and Captain R. J. Whiting, of Dayton, as navigators.

Colonel Key, with his brother, established a flying endurance record in 1935.

LOAN ADVICE TO VETERANS

Official Urges Them to Use Their Guarantees Sparingly

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—A Veterans Administration official advised ex-service men today to use their Federal loan guarantees sparingly, asserting that they were good for ten years after the end of the war.

Francis Pavesich, loan guarantee adviser, said that lenders who required veterans to use all their Federal guarantees (on real estate $4,000 and non-real estate $2,000) were "out of line." He added that 20 per cent of the purchase price was "usually the rule" in the home loan field.

Because most real estate men consider the guarantee the equivalent of a down payment, Mr. Pavesich said there was no reason, in most instances, why veterans should be made to post more than 20 per cent guarantee.

In the case of a $6,000 real estate loan, this means the veteran could obtain a Federal guarantee for 20 per cent, or $1,200, and have $2,800 remaining of his guarantee credit.

5 IN ARMY PLANE DIE IN MICHIGAN CRASH

MEMPHIS, Mich., May 18 (AP)—Five men were killed today when a twin-motored Army transport plane crashed a few minutes after taking off from Selfridge Field. Wreckage was strewn for 350 feet about a mile south and west of here.

Observers said that the plane apparently exploded either in the air or as it struck the ground. However, it did not burn.

The base adjutant's office at Selfridge Field said that the plane, a C-45, took off at 11:47 A. M. for Bolling Field, Washington, with two officers and three enlisted men aboard. The names were not disclosed. The skies were overcast at the time of take-off.

EX-PRISONERS LEAD IN TRAINING GERMANS

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Several thousand German prisoners of war who received special training in this country were reported today to be playing important roles in helping spread democracy in Germany.

In a report published by the War Department, Capt. Karl C. Teufel, Staunton, Va., a special liaison officer, said these "active cooperatives," as they are designated, were being placed by American Military Government authorities in key secondary positions. About 25,000 prisoners were classified as anti-Nazi after screening and received special training in democratic principles and practice before being returned to Germany.

Captain Teufel reported to Brig. Gen. B. M. Bryan, the provost marshal general, after a three-month investigation in the United States-occupied zone that "in the political vacuum existing in Germany today, in which the average German has no political convictions whatever, this group can do a great deal toward shaping opinion."

Navy Reports On Food Saved In Two Months

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Navy conservation measures saved 11,000,000 pounds of flour, fats, cereals and sugar during March and April, the service said today.

The total included 8,000,000 pounds of flour, 1,000,000 pounds of cereals, 760,000 pounds of fats and 700,000 pounds of sugar.

KENNEDY ASSAILS BRITISH SOCIALISM

Chicago, May 18 (A. P.)—Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to Britain, today told the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce in a prepared address that England's "experiment in state socialism" was "violently at variance with our American way of life."

He added that he saw "nothing so far revealed in the English trends worthy of imitation here," and declared that Government regimentation in England, except for the freedom of speech and worship, was "very real."

The former Ambassador asked that America defend its "private capitalistic economy," which he described as "so far superior to anything yet promised by England's democratic state socialism that I am not immediately worried about English influence upon American standards of life."

Socialism can happen in the United States, Kennedy asserted, "if our people aren't rudely awakened from their indifference and lethargy and take steps through their duly elected representatives to stop the drift toward statism."

Urges Militant Stand for Peace

Young Republicans' President Declares for More Bloodshed if Needed to Make U. N. Work.

Charleston, W. Va., May 18 (A. P.).—America must be as militant for peace as it was for war, even to the point of shedding more blood to make the world government organization work, Gordon Allott, president, told the Young Republican National Federation convention here today.

"We have got to make the United Nations work," he declared in his annual address to the two-day meeting. "If we shed a little blood trying to make it work that's all right, too. If world peace is achieved in the effort, it would be worth more than the blood spilled all over the South Pacific."

In order to work, Allott, a resident of Lamar, Col., declared that the U. N. must be equally binding upon all participants as upon any individual nation. Hitting at isolationism, Allott said he had already seen people pulling their necks in, and added: "Unless we have a United Nations organization that really functions—in a sense of super-government that is equally binding upon England, Russia and the others—then all that we fought for will have been lost."

Army Surplus Sold to Cuba

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Nearly all the American Army surplus in Cuba has been sold to the Cuban Government for $890,111, the office of the Foreign Liquidation Commissioner announced today.

AFL, CIO ARE SEEKING ATOMIC PLANTS UNIONS

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 17 (AP)—Six national unions have opened offices here and have organizers at work among workers in atomic energy plants.

During the war, through an agreement with the War Department, the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor made no attempts to organize the workers at the plant, said an official.

"The main reason for this was security," he said. He emphasized that it was an agreement and that the Government had received complete cooperation from the unions.

"Now, if they want to organize the workers, it is up to them," he stated.

The unions represented are the Chemical Workers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Firemen and Oilers Union and Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, all of the AFL; the Coke and Chemical Workers Union of the CIO, and the Machinists International, an independent union.

Officials said a National Labor Relations Board representative had recently investigated claims by the CIO and AFL chemical workers units, and had returned to Washington to complete his report.

WAC Still Holding Fort In Apartment Battle

Miami Beach, Fla., May 18 (AP)—Miami Beach's one-woman army of occupation still held the fort in the "Battle of Apartment 16" today after the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars sped reinforcements to the scene.

The row began yesterday when WAC Corporal Esther Levy returned on a furlough from her station at Greensboro, N.C., and found her apartment occupied, she said, by a stranger.

Swiftly establishing a beachhead, Corporal Levy told newsmen that the owner, Morris Sobel, rented the apartment to the stranger, Anthony Marasco, on March 25 despite the fact that she had been paying her rent promptly for five years.

Subleasing Claim

Sobel countered with the assertion that she had forfeited her rights as a tenant by subleasing the apartment during the past winter season.

Today the opposing forces both planned court action and OPA intervention to solve the dilemma, but it was a question whether either of the principals would budge.

Marasco sat tight. So did Corporal Levy . . . all through the night.

At midnight, when Marasco refused to leave and it became apparent that a deadlock had been reached, Max Goodman, chairman of the Miami Beach Tenants League, appealed to the local American Legion Post to protect Corporal Levy against any forcible removal from the apartment.

Watch Maintained

In response, Junior Vice Commander Ed Dornbush, of the Beach Legion Post, brought up his heavy artillery—a long, black-barreled cigar which he fired furiously in all directions.

Next came Jack Meyerson, of the Beach V.F.W. Post, his uniform cap perched atop his head.

Dornbush said the Legionnaires maintained a watch until 4 A.M.

At 6.30 A.M., the door of apartment 16 was closed. The din of verbal battle had finally ceased. Quiet lay along the front. The hush before the storm.

THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE HAS ATTRIBUTED THE POLISH CHARGE TO VICE-PREMIER M.GROMULKA, IN A SPEECH APRIL 30.

DRURY SAID UNRRA WAS SUPPLYING ONLY SMALL AMOUNTS OF FOOD IN GERMANY FOR DISPLACED PERSONS WHO WERE MOSTLY "POLISH CITIZENS IN GERMAN CAMPS." HE EXPLAINED THAT WORLD SHORTAGE MADE IT NECESSARY TO SLASH SHIPMENTS TO POLAND AS WELL AS OTHER COUNTRIES.

HE SAID UNRRA'S ALLOCATION OF FUNDS TO POLAND WAS THE LARGEST ASSIGNED ANY EUROPEAN COUNTRY AND THAT UNRRA WAS DOING ALL POSSIBLE TO SUPPLY POLAND'S NEEDS.

THE VICE MINISTER SAID AT A PRESS CONFERENCE THAT THE STATEMENT REGARDING POLAND'S REPORTED FAILURE TO PUBLISH THE LOAN AGREEMENT WAS UNFOUNDED BECAUSE THE "POLISH GOVERNMENT ALWAYS FULFILLS ITS OBLIGATIONS."

DAY

Evacuation of Iran Province By Soviet Army Is Reported

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

TABRIZ, Azerbaijan Province, Iran, May 18—(AP) The uniformed Russian army has competely evacuated all of Iran, including Azerbaijan province, but Tabriz is an armed camp today, with the three-month-old Azerbaijan army and the people's warriors preparing for any eventuality.

Reports reaching this capital of Azerbaijan province say the Iranian central government army is moving north along the Caspian sea-coast into southern Kurdistan. Meanwhile, uniformed units of the forces of this self-proclaimed autonomous province are moving toward the southern Azerbaijan border.

Fighting Reported

(In London a Reuters dispatch from Tehran quoted the Tabriz radio as saying Iranian armed forces had attacked Azerbaijan province from the direction of Kurdistan.)

Although there is no indication any Russian troops remain in Azerbaijan, foreign observers here are uncertain that all the equipment and armor they brought into the province have been removed. Some informants say that some armor was seen moving south several days ago and was not seen to have returned.

In Tabriz, every second man is in uniform or carrying a rifle. Troops packing tommyguns garrison the airport and patrol the streets. Regulars marched in review yesterday at a ceremony in which the statue of the former shah was replaced by one of an early Azerbaijan revolutionist. The army men were followed by warriors and Azerbaijan youths wearing bandoliers. This group included even small boys who goosestepped along carrying hand-made wooden tommyguns.

Mission Arrives

Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam's commission which will check on the Russians' departure arrived in Tabriz yesterday and was met at the airport by representatives of "Premier" Jafar Pishevari, who heads the Azerbaijan separatist government.

The Pishevari regime is following a line which appears to look for peaceful settlement of differences with the central Iranian government in Tehran. The newspapers and the Tabriz radio urge a friendly settlement, with the provision that what is called the Azerbaijan liberal program be retained and even extended to the rest of Iran.

An account has reached here of a Tehran report that Qavam has appointed Gen. Aman-Lah Jahanbani, a friend of the Soviet Union, as chief of staff of the central Iranian government's army, replacing Gen. Aghaveli, a wartime internee in a British-Soviet detention camp.

Jahanbani, a prince of the former Kajar dynasty and Russian-trained as a Cossack officer, married a Russian wife. His son now is in Moscow as a student. Jahanbani is a vice president of the Iran-Soviet Cultural society.

This report followed Qavam's recent public attack on "those persons who fish in troubled water by inciting intrigue and "ignoring the fact that no foreign government has the right to interfere in Iranian internal affairs." Qavam promised that "in order to safeguard the higher interests of the country I will exterminate without pity all malevolent elements like pestiferous insects."

Publics Works Program

Inside Tabriz a public works program by which the separatist government sets much store is under way. Pavement is being laid, replacing the old cobblestoned thoroughfares. Trees are being planted. The sewage system is being renovated.

The peasants are being given grants of lands. The Azerbaijan program calls for land distribution.

The women, almost all of them still veiled, have been given the vote and a voice in the government. Some of them are in the uniforms of an auxiliary army corps.

The few Americans and the less than a score of Europeans here enjoy respect. Azerbaijan troops salute the U. S. consular car.

The American correspondents were courteously received at the airport and at the customs station, where their luggage was unopened. Officials were friendly and polite. The man in the street, however, is hesitant about being seen too often with foreigners.

This second city of Iran, with its 200,000 population, is situated in the center of a green valley surrounded by red, yellow and blue sandstone hills. The people speak a Turkish dialect, Russian and Persian but most of the signs in the streets are in Russian.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press Correspondent Joseph C. Goodwin, one of a group of Americans permitted to visit Azerbaijan province, filed the following dispatch yesterday. It was delayed 24 hours in the telegraph office in Tehran. There was no indication that anything was deleted.)

Warning Given To U. S. Consul By Azerbaijan

He Is Told He May Tour Area but Government Won't Take Responsibility

TEHERAN, May 18 (Delayed) (AP).—The Tabriz radio said tonight that the American Consul there was told he could tour Iranian Azerbaijan if he wished but that the Azerbaijan government would "not be responsible for the consequences."

The consul asked Premier Jafar Pishevari, head of the unrecognized Azerbaijan "national government," for authority to make a tour "to determine the truth of Soviet evacutions" which were scheduled for completion May 6, the broadcast said.

The broadcast, reporting the arrival Friday of the first American newspaper correspondents to visit Azerbaijan, said that since their arrival "the correspondents have been guilty of visiting forbidden sections of the city and photographing."

The correspondents flew to Tabriz in a Soviet plane, accompanying an Iranian central government commission sent to investigate the Red Army evacuation and to resume negotiations with the "national government."

The broadcast said that Pishevari, in his reply to the American Consul's request for authorization of a tour, noted that the central government commission was expressly charged to "ascertain the facts of evacuation."

"American investigation is not necessary," he was quoted as saying. "No obstacle will be put in the way of such a journey, but if it is attempted Azerbaijan will not be responsible for the consequences."

The consul was accused in the broadcast of having attempted to bribe a guard at the Tehran telegraph office, "who threw the bribe into the street, forcing the Consul to pick it up."

New York, May 19 (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation quoted the Tabriz radio tonight as saying that clashes have taken place between troops of Azerbaijan province and the Iranian Central Government at three places along the Azerbaijan border.

In one encounter, the Tabriz radio was quoted as saying, Central Government forces suffered an unspecified number of casualties and Azerbaijan troops took 40 Government soldiers prisoners.

The Tabriz broadcasts appealed to all residents of Azerbaijan province to "resist until the last breath and to the last Azerbaijani."

1,014 Refugees Landed

Haifa, Palestine, May 19 (AP)—Jewish refugees from the motor ships Fede and Fenice set foot today on the soil of the promised land, six weeks after they dramatically brought their plight to the attention of the world by attempting an unauthorized dash to Palestine. Carter Davidson

Many of the 1,014 passengers bore tattooed numbers on their forearms indicating detention in Nazi concentration camps.

The refugees were taken to quarantine for health examinations and inoculations, and then were turned over to the Jewish Agency for transportation to three transit camps in the Haifa area.

Weary But Grinning

The refugees were not allowed to mingle with the throng at the dock, but as they passed by most were grinning broadly, despite their obvious weariness.

Among them were 86 pregnant women and 12 infants in arms. Most were in excellent health, doctors reported. Nearly all the passengers were young—in their twenties or thirties—and the majority of them came from Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Baltic countries.

The ships arrived under escort of the British destroyer Charity. The Fede, carrying 567 passengers, was towed by the Fenice for about the last 48 hours of the journey, because of motor trouble.

The immigrants had chartered the two ships in Italy in an attempt to make an unauthorized trip to Palestine. They were detained in Italy until May 5 when the British issued certificates permitting their entry. add

Polish Troops May Disband in England Soon

Recall of Anders Army in Italy Considered; Bevin Plans Early Statement

LONDON, May 19 (AP).—An authoritative source here who refused to be named said today that General Wladyslaw Anders' Polish army of more than 100,000 troops in Italy will be brought to Britain and disbanded in the immediate future.

The British war office said it had no information concerning such a proposal, and at Rome General Anders' headquarters said that, while such a step might have been decided upon at London, "the general has not been informed."

The authoritative informant here said the decision had been reached "on higher levels" as a concession to the Soviet Union during the recent four-power Foreign Ministers' conference at Paris.

[The United Press said the Foreign Office at London announced that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would make a statement in the House of Commons this week on the subject of the Polish army in Italy, which served under the no longer recognized Polish exile government at London. It was understood, The United Press added, that only about 3,000 men have accepted a Warsaw government invitation to return to Poland and that the remainder will stay in camps, probably in Scotland, until work and homes for them can be found.]

Britain Changes Defense Plan Affecting Far-Flung Empire Bases

John Carter

LONDON, May 19. — (AP) Britain's dire need for postwar trade and the realization that the atom bomb has altered military concepts are the two main factors behind the Labor government's epochal decision to quit Egypt and India.

This was made clear today as the result of conversations with advisers to Prime Minister Clement Attlee, spokesmen for the British Foreign office and dominion heads, and in statements as well from leaders of the conservative opposition to the Labor government.

Explain Changing Picture

From Attlee right down through the cabinet, the chiefs of staff and empire leaders to the ranks of the Labor party there is this explanation of the whole changing picture of British policy:

Empire defense because of atomic power is no longer a question of a huge army. The maintenance of troops in such places as Egypt and India is not worth the risk of getting involved in political warfare that might stir up economic boycott.

"It was by far the best course to negotiate a new pact with Egypt, and the chances are we will get a better pact on paper implemented by Egyptian good will," said one high-ranking British official.

"Markets should pick up in the new atmosphere, for there was the possibility if we did not get out of the country the Egyptians might boycott British goods."

Much the same considerations applied to the decision to offer India independence, although Attlee expressed the hope that the Indians will decide to remain within the British commonwealth.

Difficulty in India

Members of the government were agreed that the British could stay on in India only with difficulty. Britain, as far as India is concerned, is a debtor nation and it is of paramount importance to Britain to develop Indian trade.

One of Attlee's closest advisers said that in the case of Egypt and India the British government hopes mostly for friendly commercial treaties.

"And these," he added, "depend on Britain showing good will and wiping out the old concept of imperialism. One way of showing that our intentions are democratic is to withdraw our troops and let the countries involved be free to develop their own course."

Members of the Labor government say that Britain is determined to make a fresh attempt to get all nations living harmoniously together in mutual respect and wherever possible eradicate from British policy anything which might give cause for hostility, mistrust and suspicion.

Fear Loss of Suez

Many Conservatives, including former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, have voiced disapproval of the government's decision to leave Egypt, arguing that the Suez canal, vital link of the empire, would be unprotected.

But military leaders, pointing to the atom bomb, declare that the canal can never be protected again by land soldiers.

Officials and military strategists say Britain can still maintain strategic control of the Middle East through air bases in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

The question of establishing and developing bases in Palestine is held in abeyance because of the unsettled future of that mandate, but the British have retained the right under a mutual agreement with the Emir Abdullah to keep forces in Trans-Jordan.

From Trans-Jordan and Palestine air bases planes could reach the canal in an hour, Cairo in less than two hours and Baghdad in less than three.

Under these circumstances, British military leaders contend, this limited area can provide an adequate base for Middle East defense.

Realizing that in the event of war the Suez canal might be wiped out in the first few hours by atom bombs, empire leaders meeting here with Attlee and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin agreed that a communication route around the Cape of Good Hope and southeast Africa should be developed, with a series of defense bases.

ANNEXATION REQUESTED

SAARLAUTERN, Germany, May 19—(AP) A request for immediate annexation of this Rhineland city to France and reestablishment of 1814 boundaries was made today by Burgomaster Walther Bloch to Lt. Gen. Frauleins Held In Murder Quiz

Norstad

Nuernberg, May 19 (AP)—United States Army authorities investigating the fatal shooting of two American sergeants said today they were holding for questioning several German girls known to have been associating with Negro soldiers.

The Army announced Friday that Pfc. James Devone, 22-year-old Negro from Sampson county, North Carolina, had admitted it was his shot fired in the dark on May 10 that, accidentally killed Sergts. Williams R. Timmons, of West Haven, Conn., and Paul R. Skelton, of McKinney, Texas.

Today agents of the Army's criminal investigation division, disclosing that the German girls were being questioned, said that the fatal shot was fired from an air-raid shelter used as a rendevous by Negroes and frauleins.

Fraulein With Accused

The agents would not explain why the frauleins were being questioned, but said that one was known to have been with Devone at the air raid shelter the night of the shooting. She was not present when the shot was fired, they added.

This information was given newsmen after they had been refused a previously promised interview with Devone.

Army officials said that three Negro newspaper publishers, here on a tour of Germany, had asked to talk to Devone "to see if there were any racial angles in the case."

Publishers Fail To Appear

A news conference with Devone present was arranged for today, but when the Negro publishers failed to appear, CID agents and army public relations officials canceled the conference.

The publishers, Frank Stanley, of the Louisville Defender, D. H. Davis, of the Kansas City Call, and W. O. Walker, of the Cleveland Call, were reported to have gone to Munich.

The Army's initial announcement at Frankfurt quoted Devone as saying he was firing at a German civilian and accidentally hit the sergeants, who drove their jeep into his line of fire. CID agents said they were satisfied Devone was not aiming at the soldiers.

One agent described the shooting as an accident "that would not happen again in a thousand years."

Spanish Quest Here Reported

LONDON, May 19 (AP).—A Soviet news agency message from New York said today that a Spanish engineer named Garcia visited Milwaukee factories recently in a reported quest for machinery to increase Spain's uranium production. The dispatch, reported by the Soviet monitor here, gave no particulars. Garcia, it said, was one of "many Spanish Fascist officials" who had visited the United States and other Western Hemisphere countries.

Franco's Views Of Soviet Aim

Oviedo, Spain, May 19 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco said today that Soviet Russia, after once closing churches, was now reopening them "in an imperialist attempt to dominate the world."

Franco spoke for 40 minutes in the central square of this mining capital, in a northern Spain area which formerly was a Socialist-Communist stronghold.

Cries of "Spain yes, communism no," came from the crowd.

"Feeling Of All Spain"

"I should like your cry 'Spain, yes, communism, no' to reach every corner of the world, so it may know the feeling of all Spain," the Generalissimo said.

"It will" voices in the crowd replied.

Franco attacked Russia as having engaged in a farce of destroying private property, the army and the Church then restoring them.

He said the Russians, after abolishing military decorations, now authorized them to be worn on arms because chests had no room left.

Also Assails France

When the French were driven from Spain in the last century, Franco said, they left behind decadence, Masonry and political parties. He charged that Spanish Republicans who fled to France after the civil war "were sent to concentration camps and installed there like cattle." after which they were taken "to work like animals on farms."

Franco asserted that "many peoples" in Europe had higher standards of living than Spain's because of colonial workers earning "miserable wages."

ITALY'S NEW KING BIDS FOR SUPPORT

John McKnight

ROME, May 19—(AP) Italy's new king, Umberto II, is taking to the hustings in an effort to save his job.

In the face of many predictions that a republic will win over the monarchy at the June 2 plebiscite, the 42-year-old King flew yesterday to Sardinia. Dispatches to the Royalist press said his visits to local-ravaged areas elicited spontaneous demonstrations of support.

Today he went by plane to Naples, visited hospitals and appeared four times on a balcony in response to cheers of a throng of perhaps 50,000 gathered to honor the city's 22 winners of gold medals for war heroism.

Back in Rome by noon, he and the Queen and four princes gave a luncheon at the Quirinal palace for 50 children of commoners who celebrated their first communion. This afternoon the royal family was host to a group of Roman "women of the people."

Apparently advisers have convinced Umberto that his personal touch is needed if the voters are not to turn the House of Savoy out.

The monarchists' vigorous "home stretch drive" started with Vittorio Emanuele's abdication.

The leftist press has redoubled efforts to convince the voters that the House of Savoy was inextricably involved with Mussolini and Fascism.

Pope Pius blamed the state of the world upon "those who seek to banish religion from human determination."

Turkey To Ship Wheat And Rye To Greece

Athens, May 19 (AP)—The Government announced today that Turkey had agreed to ship 10,000 tons of wheat and 5,000 tons of rye to Greece.

Rationing officials imposed a limit of three courses of single portions on cafe meals, for which ceiling prices were fixed.

RUSSIA PLEDGES WHEAT SHIPMENT TO FOUR NATIONS

LONDON, May 19—(AP) Russia pledged more than 1,100,000 tons of grain to four European nations during a year although her own food supplies still are limited, a Soviet broadcast said today, and in Moscow the press summoned peasants to sow grain quickly and well.

The broadcast on Soviet food promises to France, Poland, Romania and Finland followed reports that Prime Minister Stalin had turned down President Truman's appeal to cooperate with the United States and Britain in battling world famine.

A Moscow dispatch said the newspaper Izvestia, in a front page editorial, had urged peasants to speed the task of sowing grain along the Volga, in the Urals, and in western Siberia. Izvestia featured the slogan "to the fields with all horses and oxen."

Izvestia said that in most regions moisture conditions were favorable for sowing, and yield prospects were good. Wheat sowing in the Ukraine now was in the final stages, it added.

Soviet reports on the crop situation made no mention of drought, although Marshall MacDuffie, American chief of the UNRRA mission to the Ukrainian republic, had declared in Moscow yesterday that the Ukraine was experiencing a severe drought. MacDuffie said that unless rain came within a week or two, the coming wheat crop might be ruined.

The broadcast by Soviet commentator Peter Orlov said Russia had promised to deliver 400,000 tons of grain to France during April, May and June; had agreed to sell 200,000 tons of grain to Poland for sowing this year's harvest; had agreed last September to deliver to Romania 150,000 tons of wheat and as much corn, and 20,000 more carloads of wheat this year. Fourth, he said, was a promise of 100,000 tons of grain to Finland.

Orlov said "these nations can see that after, playing a leading role in the defeat of fascism and carrying out the mission of liberation, the Soviet Union marches today in the vanguard of the struggle for peaceful cooperation of nations."

Poles Hear U. S. Delays Loan

WARSAW, May 19 (AP).—Polish newspapers published today a statement by Zygmunt Modzielewski, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, mentioning for the first time that the United States was withholding a $90,000,000 credit previously granted to the Polish government.

[Dean Acheson, at the time acting Secretary of State, said at Washington May 10 that the Poles had breached conditions of the credit agreement by censoring a news dispatch and by failing to publish in Poland the text of the agreement.]

Modzielewski said the news dispatch in question, "was delayed" in transmission. He added that Poland now had published the notes exchanged on the subject of the credit.

He said, at a press conference, that the statement regarding Poland's reported failure to publish the agreement was unfounded and that the "Polish government always fulfills its obligations."

Modzielewski said the entire matter had been used to exert political pressure on Poland and to play into the hands of some factions pursuing a "different purpose than sponsoring friendship and tightening relations between Poland and the United States." He added that such methods "must evoke astonishment in Polish public opinion."

POLAND TO DIVERT BREAD

Will Send Supplies to Areas Hit by Food Strikes

WARSAW, Poland, May 18 (Delayed) (AP)—Acting after a series of bread and food strikes in several Polish cities, the Food Ministry began today shifting the available bread supply into various sections of the country where the food situation is "extremely difficult."

The strikes, which were brief and sporadic in nature, broke out in several towns, including Krowelska, near Katowice, and in the textile center of Lodz, where 40,000 quit work temporarily, apparently in protest over bread shortages.

The disturbances followed a reduction in the daily bread allowance from about ten and a half to seven ounces. The Ministry said no further outbreaks had been reported.

One Communist-supported newspaper, Glod Ludu, disagreeing with most other newspapers, claimed that Poland had sufficient food to last until the next harvest, and charged that the shortages and skyrocketing prices had been caused by speculation and hoarding. In Lodz the price of beet sugar soared to $1.50 a pound.

Polish Charges Denied

WARSAW, May 18 (Delayed) (AP).—Brigadier Charles M. Drury, U. N. R. R. A. chief in Poland, tonight described as "completely incorrect" an alleged Polish assertion that U. N. R. R. A. was using food for political purposes in Europe.

The British Foreign Office has attributed the Polish charge to Vice-Premier Wyadyslaw Gomulka, in a speech April 30.

Drury said U. N. R. R. A. was supplying only small amounts of food in Germany for displaced persons who were mostly "Polish citizens in German camps." He said U. N. R. R. A.'s allocation of funds to Poland was the largest assigned to any European country.

A British note delivered yesterday to the Polish government, protesting against Gromulka's alleged remarks, has not yet been answered.

Acting after food strikes in several Polish cities, the Food Ministry today began shifting the available bread supply into various sections of the country where the food situation is "extremely difficult."

MANCHURIAN CITY REPORTED SEIZED

Government Army Announces Capture Of Rail Center

Mukden, May 20 (AP)—Headquarters of Gen. Tu Li-ming announced today that the Government's 1st Army had captured the railway city of Szepingkai, south of Changchun.

The 1st Army has been hammering at this Communist stronghold, standing 70 miles southwest of the Manchurian capital, for a month.

[Reports circulated in Nanking last week that the Government had gone over to the attack at Szepingkai on Wednesday after a long stalemate.]

The headquarters of the Government commander in Manchuria gave no details or the date on which the city was captured.

The fall of Szepingkai clears the way for a resumed Government push on Communist-held Changchun.

Northern China Clashes Spread In Three Areas

Nanking, May 19 (AP)—Chinese Government and Communist sources reported tonight that fighting in the North China provinces of Shangtung, Hopeh and Jehol was merging gradually into a large-scale general conflict.

Truce headquarters and field teams with American members were working urgently to try to halt or minimize the clashes.

Agree To Help Build Dikes

A Government Central News Agency dispatch said a supplemental agreement had been reached in Shangtung, giving hopes that the Government could save Tsinan, Communist-threatened provincial capital, but its effectiveness was still to be determined.

Another form of agreement between the bitter antagonists was reported by the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which said the Communists had promised to help repair the Yellow River dikes. This project, under way for some months, is intended to restore vast wheat lands which were flooded when the river was diverted in 1938 to try to halt the Japanese.

The rival factions were feverishly accusing each other of being aggressors and of being responsible for starting a civil war.

Government Central News Agency dispatches from Peiping and Chinhsien said the Communist 17th Brigade had opened an attack on a 200-mile front in Jehol.

Town Reported Captured

These accounts said the location was along the Peiping-Changchun railway between the cities of Pehpiao and Pingchuan and that the Communists had captured Pehpiao in a midnight assault. It is an important coal-mining center.

The aim was said to be annihilation of the Government's 13th Army, which has been occupying eastern Jehol province for some months. The area adjoins Communist-controlled portions of Manchuria, and the railway is a vital link between China proper and the Manchurian interior.

JAP GOVERNMENT SHUNS TRIAL COSTS

TOKYO, Monday, May 20—(AP) The Japanese government won't spend a single yen to help Hideki Tojo and 27 compatriots avoid the hangman, defense counsel spokesman Itsuro Hayashi said today.

He had tried without any luck, Hayashi explained, to get the government to help foot the bills for Tojo and company at their war crimes trials.

So defendants are paying for their own defense with the help of a little legal tender from their own legal staff.

Hayashi said each defendant has put up 10,000 yen (about $666 as the yen goes these days) and their lawyers 1,000 yen each.

(Hayashi didn't say whether this included U. S. Army officers assigned to the defense staff, but presumably they would have no yen to contribute.)

Hayashi also said he was put out at his countrymen who speak the English language for not volunteering to serve as interpreters, since the International Tribunal was short of them.

The attorney admitted it was a mystery to him why "the many people in diplomatic and legal circles who boast their proficiency in English do not volunteer for this important work."

YOSHIDA UNABLE TO FORM CABINET

Jap Premier-Designate to Visit Emperor, May Resign Today.

TOKYO, Monday, May 20—(AP) The Japanese press reported the collapse of premier-designate Shigeru Yoshida's efforts to form a conservative coalition government today, as Communist-led leftists demanded he resign to make way for a "popular front" government.

A delegation of 26, headed by Communists, called at Yoshida's official residence this morning with a demand for his resignation and the establishment of a liberal coalition government. Such action was called for at a huge demonstration Sunday before the Imperial palace.

Meets His Advisers

Yoshida conferred late into the night with advisers and prospective cabinet ministers. He was reported to have filled all posts but the key three—agriculture, home and state.

The newspaper Asahi said Yoshida was "determined to give up his effort to organize his cabinet," and Jiji news agency declared flatly he had abandoned his four-day effort to form a government.

There was no official confirmation however. The premier-designate refused to meet the press or the labor-Communist delegates.

Reds Attack Yoshida

The Communist party, meanwhile, published a list of 18 persons whom it considers war criminals, headed by Yoshida and a number of candidates for his cabinet. Emperor Hirohito was not named.

Communists said the list was based on study of documentary records, including campaign literature for wartime general elections.

An aide to Yoshida intimated that the premier-designate would visit the emperor today, but did not say whether he would hand in his resignation.

Jiji news agency said Yoshida had made known his decision not to try to form a cabinet to the delegation of leftist union leaders through a secretary. Yoshida himself slipped out a rear door to avoid the delegation.

It was reported Yoshida was away talking with retiring Premier Kijuro Shidehara, who has been supporting his efforts to fill the portfolios for a new government.

Demonstrators Oppose Yoshida

TOKYO, May 19 (AP)—Military police estimated that there were more than 125,000 persons in the crowd that swarmed toward the gates of the Palace grounds, shouting for more food and brandishing "Down With Yoshida" banners. Aside from the noise there was little excitement.

A sixteen-point resolution offered to the Emperor called for immediate distribution of delayed rice, renewal of food doles for school children, public control of food allocated by the United States Army and formation of a democratic front to replace the "reactionary Cabinet."

Although there was no immediate response from the Emperor, the Tokyo Metropolitan Government announced measures for the immediate release of 20,000 bags of Government-stocked rice. This action came, The Jiji Agency said, as rice imports into the capital reached a new low of 600 bags.

SHANTUNG TRUCE FAILS TO AVERT NEW CHINA CLASH

NANKING, May 19 — (AP)—Widespread fighting in the North China provinces of Shantung, Hopeh and Jehol was reported tonight by Chinese Government and Communist sources which said local attacks were gradually assuming the nature of a full-fledged general conflict, despite a new truce compact in Central Shantung.

Each side accused the other of aggression and feverishly argued that its rival was responsible for starting a civil war.

Reports on Battle Areas

The opposing accounts placed the battles in these areas:

1. Along a 200-mile stretch of important railway in Jehol;
2. In a triangular area south of Peiping and west of Tientsin; and
3. On three sides of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province.

True extent of the warfare was obscured by the familiar welter of unconfirmed charges, but Peiping truce headquarters and field teams with American members were working urgently to halt or minimize the clashes.

A Government Central News agency dispatch said a supplemental agreement had been reached in Shantung, giving hopes that the

NORTH CHINA FIGHT GRADUALLY WIDENS

General Conflict Takes Shape From Repeated Clashes In Three Provincial Areas

NANKING, May 19 (AP)—Chinese Government and Communist sources reported tonight that fighting in the North China provinces of Shantung, Hopeh and Jehol was merging gradually into a large-scale general conflict.

Truce headquarters and field teams with American members were working urgently to try to halt or minimize the clashes.

Headquarters of Gen. Tu Li-ming announced that the Government's crack First Army had captured the railway city of Szepingkai south of Changchun. The First Army has been hammering at this Communist stronghold, standing seventy miles southwest of the Manchurian capital, for a month. Presumably this clears the way for an advance.

A Government Central News Agency dispatch said that a supplemental agreement had been reached in Shantung, giving hopes that the Government could save Tsinan, Communist - threatened provincial capital, but its effectiveness was still to be determined.

Another form of agreement between the bitter antagonists was reported by the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which said the Communists had promised to help repair the Yellow River dikes. This project, under way for some months, is intended to restore to hungry China vast wheat lands which were flooded when the river was diverted in 1938 to try to halt the Japanese.

Accusations Exchanged

Against this mottled background of cooperation and open warfare, the rival factions were feverishly accusing each other of being aggressors and of being responsible for starting a civil war.

Government Central News Agency dispatches from Peiping and Chinhsien said that the Communist Seventeenth Brigade had opened an attack on a 200-mile front in Jehol.

These accounts said that the location was along the Peiping-Changchun Railway between the cities of Pehpiao and Pingchuan and that the Communists had captured Pehpiao in a midnight assault. It is an important coal-mining center.

The aim was said to be annihilation of the Government's Thirteenth Army, which has been occupying eastern Jehol Province for some months. The area adjoins Communist-controlled portions of Manchuria, and the railway is a vital link between China proper and the Manchurian interior.

In Shangtung Province, farther south, Government news agency dispatches said that 10,000 Communists were attacking the Tsinan-Tsingtao Railway and had captured Mingshui, and two other towns twenty miles east of Tsinan. Tsinan itself was described as threatened from three directions and already had been without electricity for three days and was rationing water.

Other Forces Moving

The second Communist force of 20,000 was driving from the south towards Tsinan and the third was moving in from the northwest, the dispatches related.

Government Army headquarters in Nanking expressed doubts that the Communists had anywhere near the strength reported, and hopes were expressed that the threat to Tsinan had been eliminated by the newest local truce agreement.

This agreement, also announced by the Government news agency, said hostilities in central Shantung were to cease immediately and the Communists were to release prisoners and retire to their original positions, evacuating the towns they had captured.

At the same time, however, the same agency continued to report on Communist advances which it said had begun on Thursday.

Truce executive headquarters in Peiping said it had sent a representative to Jehol Province to prod the local truce team into "immediate action" to end the fighting there.

The Communist New China News Agency dispatches meanwhile accused the Government of beginning a determined attack, "with the cooperation of tanks and aircraft," in central Hopeh Province, of which Peiping is the seat.

The Communists said that the Government was trying to drive a corridor between Paoting and the port of Tientsin and that in the triangle defined by Peiping, Paoting and Tientsin there were 95,000 Government troops and 24,000 pro-Government former Japanese puppets.

There were no fresh reports of progress on the over-all peace negotiations still being pressed by Gen. George C. Marshall, special United States envoy, after weeks of deteriorating stalemate.

Public Dancing Ban in Nanking

NANKING, May 19 (AP).—Cabaret owners here complained bitterly tonight against a new city ordinance forbidding public dancing. They contended the order would drive 10,000 dancing girls and musicians into unemployment and crime.

TRIAL OPENS TODAY FOR RED IN CANADA

MONTREAL, May 19 — (AP) Fred Rose, only Communist member of the Canadian Parliament, goes on trial tomorrow on a charge of conspiracy in the Soviet espionage case.

Specifically, the 38-year-old, Polish-born Rose is accused of collecting secret information from other Canadians and forwarding it to Soviet agents during the final years of the war.

Rose is accused also of helping to recruit a network of agents in Canada for the purpose of collecting such information, some of which dealt with atomic research, the super explosive "RDX" and other scientific matters supposed to have been highly secret.

The trial opening tomorrow will deal solely with the conspiracy charge. Rose also is charged with violation of the Official Secrets act, but will not be tried on that count until fall.

Argentine Army Retires Its Two Highest Officers

Von der Becke, Pistarini Quit; Mason Now Army's Head

BUENOS AIRES, May 19 (AP).—The two highest-ranking officers in the Argentine Army, General of the Army Carlos von der Becke, commander-in-chief of all armed forces, and General Juan Pistarini, who also is Vice-President under President Edelmiro Farrell, have been retired.

Pistarini will remain Vice-President until President-elect Juan D. Peron takes office next month. No arm ysuccessor was named for him. Pistarini served fifty-five in the army.

Von der Beck, who requested retirement after forty years of service, has been succeeded by his chief of staff, General Diego Mason, who in turn, has been succeeded by General Juan Carlos Bassi, who was a delegate to the San Francisco conference and lived in the United States from 1926 to 1929 while purchasing arms and munitions.

Both retiring generals had served in Germany. Von der Backe was a former Argentine military attache there, while Pistarini served with the German Army from 1909 to 1911 and returned to Germany as military attache in 1923. Pistarini received the Order of the German Eagle from Adolf Hitler.

SECURITY COUNCIL IS CALLED AGAIN FOR ACTION ON IRAN

New U. N. President Summons Delegates to Session Wednesday.

REPORT AWAITED

Premier Qavam Indicates He Is Unable to Give Data on Reds.

NEW YORK, May 19. — (AP) Alexandre Parodi of France, president of the United Nations Security council, tonight called a meeting of the council for Wednesday to take up anew the controversial Iranian case.

The council will meet at 11 a. m.

The meeting was called as the council awaited a report from Iran before midnight tomorrow as to whether the evacuation of Russian troops from Iran had been completed.

Unable to Report

Premier Ahmed Qavam indicated in a cable to the United Nations last night that he still was unable to say definitely that all Soviet forces had left Azerbaijan province. There was a possibility, however, that the situation might change before the council meets.

Qavam informed Secretary-General Trygve Lie that he would report on the status of Soviet troop withdrawals as soon as he was "in a position to do so." This was interpreted as meaning that the commission he sent to Azerbaijan had not yet been able to make a definite report and probably would not be able to before tomorrow, the deadline set by the council for a new Iranian statement on the situation.

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala was expected to arrive from Washington tonight, however, to stand by for any later information from Tehran which he might transmit to the council at the last minute.

Reds Remain Silent

Under terms of a Russian-Iranian agreement, all Russian troops were to have been withdrawn from Iran by May 6. Since that date Russia has remained silent on the status of the withdrawals and Iran reported to the council on May 8 that because of "interference" in Azerbaijan province no reliable information could be obtained.

The council postponed action on the case until May 20 to give the Iranian government more time to investigate the situation. Because of the confused political situation in Iran, however, it was not until last Friday that Qavam was able to send a commission to Azerbaijan.

The United States, Great Britain and other members of the council, who maintain diplomatic representation in Iran, have been trying to check on the situation themselves, but have had no success so far.

U. S. Consul Warned

A Tehran dispatch reported today that the autonomous government of Azerbaijan had given the U. S. consul at Tabriz permission to make an inspection trip but warned him it would "not be responsible for the consequences."

A broadcast by the Tabriz radio, reporting the arrival of the first American newspaper correspondents Friday, indicated that they also were having difficulty in investigating the situation.

The broadcast said that "the correspondents have been guilty of visiting forbidden sections of the city and photographing" and added:

"The Azerbaijan government considers these acts espionage and has ordered them stopped."

There was no indication what action the council would take if it fails to get word before its meeting that all Soviet forces have left Iran.

The most likely step appeared to be a further delay to give the Iranian government still more time to investigate the situation. There was some speculation, however, that the council might decide to send a commission to Iran to make its own investigation.

Syria Reports

Meanwhile, the Syrian Government informed the United Nations Security Council today that all British and French troops had been withdrawn from Syria.

The Council previously had been given similar information by the British and French Governments. The withdrawals were the result of negotiations which took place after Syria and Lebanon complained to the Council. No statement has yet been received from the Lebanese Government.

The Council's subcommittee investigating Franco Spain was expected to enter a new phase of its work this week, when it hears a personal report from Dr. José Giral, Premier of the Spanish Government in exile.

Flying From Mexico City

Giral is scheduled to fly here from Mexico City to appear before the subcommittee Thursday. So far the investigators have confined themselves to the examination of documentary evidence.

Before they hear Giral, they will have had a chance to study most of this evidence, including the voluminous report which the United States submitted yesterday.

The subcommittee has until May 31 to complete its investigation of Polish charges that Franco Spain is a threat to world peace.

SYRIA EVACUATED

NEW YORK, May 19. — (AP) The Syrian government informed the United Nations Security council today that all British and French troops had been withdrawn from Syria.

The council previously had been given similar information by the British and French governments. The withdrawals were the result of negotiations which took place after Syria and Lebanon complained to the Council. No statement has yet been received from the Lebanese government.

FOOD PARLEY BEGINS TODAY

Russia To Be Absent, But 18 Nations Will Seek Solution

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Experts from eighteen countries, trying to overlook Russia's "rather crippling" absence, meet here tomorrow to see what can be done about a world food crisis that may last another five years.

The conference will aim at an agreement among most major food-growing nations on:

Making the best use of the 1946 crop.

Attempting to get the biggest harvest in history next year.

Setting up an international organization to deal solely with the specter of continuing hunger in many lands.

The meeting was called by Sir John Orr as director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. He told a news conference that "Russia is a little difficult"; that Soviet failure to attend was "rather crippling."

Long-Range Program Needed

But the rest of the big agricultural nations, he said, must work out a long-range food program "before they cut a blade of grain" of this year's crops. He urged a five-year plan.

A message of greeting from President Truman will be read at tomorrow's opening session. Addresses are scheduled by Sir John and former President Herbert Hoover, who has just finished a world tour of famine areas. Committees will work through the week. The final business session to approve the work and pass it on FAO and the United Nations is set for May 27.

The 1946 harvest will help meet the immediate crisis, Sir John said.

But FAO is concerned, he said, about what will happen after that, when diets of many peoples still are short of prewar levels, both in quantity and quality.

Once the 1946 harvest is in, Sir John said, it must not be dissipated. There must be decisions on how to distribute it equitably, on how much to allow for animal and direct human consumption, and on how much the big producing countries are "prepared to give to the rest of the world." He went on:

"The conference will consider, I hope, what can be done to make the 1947 harvest the biggest harvest in the history of the world, so that in 1947 the world can be lifted out of hunger."

That involves difficult questions involving seed, fertilizer and farm equipment, he said.

If the conference agrees on these concrete questions, he said, it then must consider what kind of international organization should carry out the program. UNRRA and the Combined Food Board are scheduled to go out of business at the end of the year. FAO has no authority to handle such a program.

"Unless there is some authority to deal with the situation," Sir John declared, "the result is going to be chaos."

American authorities are considering the idea of adding Australia, Argentina and France to the Combined Food Board. That might open the way for even further expansion of the board on a more permanent basis.

Argentina May Not Attend

The United States, Canada and Britain are the only members of this food-allocating agency now.

It still was uncertain whether Argentina would be represented at the food conference. That was the status of Brazil and Siam also.

But acceptances had come in

from these eighteen countries and five international organizations:

Australia, Canada, Chile, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Greece, India, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Peru, Poland, United Kingdom, United States, Yugoslavia, United Nations, Emergency Economic Committee for Europe, UNRRA, Combined Food Board and International Labor Office.

All Nations Not Invited

Sir John said no attempt was made to bring in all the member nations of FAO — only nations which could make a major contribution of food to the world supply.

Asked what Poland and India could contribute, he said they could give nothing from 1946 crops. But if they get the necessary help, fertilizer and implements, he said, they would "make a great contribution to the 1947 bumper crop."

The address will be carried by the National Broadcasting and American Broadcasting networks.

Secretary Byrnes will speak from the State Department.

DEFEAT OF PLAN TO MERGE FORCES SEEN IN CONGRESS

Heads of Two Navy Committees Oppose Single Defense Department.

FIND 'DEFECTS' IN BILL

Walsh, Vinson Fear Proposed Measure Would Split Services.

WASHINGTON, May 19 — (AP) Chairmen of the powerful Senate and House Navy committees stepped squarely into the Army-Navy merger argument today with a blunt statement that "Congress will not approve" a single department plan.

In a carefully-drafted six-page letter to Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, Senator Walsh (D.-Mass.) and Rep. Vinson (D.-Ga.) advised Forrestal against entering "any compromise" with Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson in conflict with their views.

Ordered Agreement

President Truman recently directed his War and Navy cabinet members to iron out their differences over unification of the armed forces. This action came after the Senate Military committee recommended Senate passage of a bill that would abolish the present War and Navy departments and set up a single new department with land, sea and air branches.

Forrestal and all other Navy leaders have continued to blast at the plan during recent hearings by the Senate Naval Affairs committee.

After listing in great detail eight "major defects" of this bill, the congressional Navy leaders told Secretary Forrestal at three places in their joint statement that Congress would not approve.

Fear Breach Will Widen

"We believe the bill (merger) accentuates the differences between the services," the letter said. "Its enactment would not heal the breach which now exists. Instead it would widen the breach since naval officers are firmly convinced, as a result of their recent war experiences, that naval aviation and amphibious operations played a great part in winning the war. They are also convinced that in the foreseeable future naval aviation and amphibious forces will play a major role in preventing any potential enemy from bringing war to our shores."

Conceding that "some weakness in our defense organization were revealed during the war," Walsh and Vinson said these could "be corrected without completely disorganizing the defense structure which was so successful in bringing the war to a favorable conclusion."

Draft 9-Point Proposal

They said the Army and Navy are in agreement, on nine points that could be put into immediate effect by legislation, and listed these as:

"1. Organized means for the integration of foreign and military policy.

"2. Organizations in being for directing industrial mobilization and for reconciling such mobilization with natural resources.

"3. An organization to insure both sound strategic planning and unified command in operations.

"4. A more efficient organization for the translation of strategic requirements into requirements for material and personnel.

"5. Adequate means for the elimination of waste and duplication in and between the military departments in the procurement and distribution of material and personnel.

"6. An efficient coordinated intelligence organization serving all government departments and agencies.

"7. An organized means for fostering scientific research and development within the military departments and among civilian organizations.

"8. A possible closer integration of military education and training.

"9. Full opportunity of each branch of the military services to develop its specialty and at the same time facilitate inter-service training and operational unity when employed jointly."

Oppose Single Department

The Navy chairmen said Congress would not approve any legislation that included these five points on which they said the Army and Navy disagree:

"1. A single department of common defense with a single secretary at its head.

"2. The placing of a single military officer in supreme command of all the armed forces.

"3. Divesting the Marine corps of its important function of maintaining a fleet Marine force to support fleet operations.

"4. Transferring the vital functions of naval aviation to the Army Air corps or to a separate air corps.

"5. Removing from the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy the responsibility for initiating the budget of their respective departments and supporting these budgets before the Congress."

Proposals for a separate air force, including a new department with cabinet representation, were passed over with a warning that this should not touch naval or Marine aviation.

The letter was dated May 15 but was released today.

OCCUPATION NEEDS STUDIED

Army To Fix On Minimum Forces If Draft Is Ended

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Congressional action which President Truman called "near wreckage" of the draft, and uncertainty over the final fate of Selective Service in general are stirring uneasy speculation in the War Department over army ability to meet future commitments overseas.

Exemption of 'teen-agers in the current stopgap six weeks extension may cost the Army more than 100,000 replacements, responsible officials estimate, at a time when release of veterans is proceeding at an undiminished rate.

Congressmen advocating the draft cut have argued that higher army pay and more intensive recruiting would produce the needed men.

To Study Occupation Forces

To guard against the possibility that Congress might continue the exemption of 18 and 19 year olds beyond July 1 or wind up the draft altogether, a study already has started to determine whether occupation forces in Germany and Japan can be reduced below levels which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has called the minimum for national safety.

The study was described, however, as merely precautionary. Officials who asked anonymity predicted that in any trimming of estimates the last to feel the shears will be those of the Chief of Staff on occupation forces. Eisenhower has said the job can be done with no fewer than 335,000 soldiers in Europe and 375,000 in the Pacific.

Current Strength 1,730,000

The War Department's concern is for the months ahead, rather than for the immediate future. The mapower situation shapes up thus in the wake of Congress's action:

From a peak of 8,300,000 men after V-E day, the Army has dwindled steadily to a current strength of approximately 1,730,000. Further demobilization will reduce this total to 1,500,000, excluding Philippine Scouts, by June 30.

Between May 15 and the end of June, the War Department had hoped to obtain up to 100,000 from the draft, including some 80,000 youths of 18 and 19 just finishing high school.

Instead no more than 23,000 inductions are now looked for in this period, including 15,000 men from 26 to 29 years old, and possibly 8,000 in the 20-25 age group.

Enlistments Falling Off

Voluntary enlistments started falling off when the fate of the draft began to appear doubtful. Fewer than 12,000 recruits signed up the first week in May, projecting an outside maximum of 50,000 for the month. April produced 63,000 and March 73,000.

Men with two years service or 40 points will still be returned to civil life until July 1, and probably beyond. But until the uncertainty over the draft's future is settled the War Department is making no promises about carrying out an announced hope to be able to cut the service requirement to 18 months.

Officials at the War Department say the really painful manpower pinch will begin to snowball this fall, if the draft dies or continues to exempt the teen-agers.

Expect 30,000 A Month

Their estimate is that in this event the Army will get no more than 30,000 recruits a month the last half of this year, and that this rate will fall off to a maximum of 20,000 in each of the first six months of 1947.

Current one-year enlistments start expiring in October and the War Department will be required to release these volunteers at the rate of 55,000 a month, at the same time remaining draftees are being let out upon completion of two years service or less.

A big question mark then would overshadow present plans to hold the Army to 1,070,000 men, including occupation forces and the air forces, after mid-1947.

Navy Plans Fight On Budget Slash

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The Navy sails into a house fight this week to prevent a deep slash in its first postwar budget.

At issue is a cut of approximately $2,000,000,000 recommended by the Budget Bureau for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The official attitude of the Appropriations Committee won't be known until Tuesday, when it sends its recommendation to the floor. A compromise figure is expected.

Regardless of what the committee proposes, a lively fight is in prospect when debate gets under way Wednesday. Many members believe the Navy should have the entire $6,325,000,000 it requested, and many more are inclined to favor the Budget Bureau's reduction to $4,224,000,000.

So intense is the controversy that the House Naval Committee called in navy heads for their views. The committee's action was unusual, since monetary matters involving Federal agencies usually are left to the Appropriations Committee.

The Naval Committee was told that the bureau's cuts would seriously interfere with plans for operation of Pacific bases, retard the program for naval research, and force a reduction in the planned strength of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets.

Naval Committee members, headed by Chairman Vinson (D.,Ga.), have announced they will fight on the House floor to restore the entire fund if the Appropriations Committee follows the Budget Bureau recommendations.

Members of the Appropriations Committee have indicated lack of sympathy with some of the bureau's action. A figure between what the Navy requested and what the bureau recommended is expected to emerge from the committee.

Underlying the controversy is the proposed merger of the Army and the Navy advocated by President Truman.

U. S. to Send 9 Experts to Help Promote Postal Efficiency

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP).—American postal experts are going to put Japan's postal service back on an efficient basis, Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan disclosed today in announcing selection of nine men to go to Japan at the request of General Douglas MacArthur to devise means of reestablishing the war-disrupted system there.

Robert B. Dunbar, chief post-office inspector of the Denver Division, will head the group which is scheduled to leave for Japan "within a short time," Hannegan said. A similar study will be made in Korea by Lowry A. Stone, chief inspector at Atlanta, Ga.

BOILER TROUBLE SLOWS NAZI CRUISER'S VOYAGE

PEARL HARBOR, May 19—(AP) The German cruiser Prinz Eugen, which limped into Pearl Harbor two days behind schedule, was being repaired today for the trip to Bikini atoll, where it will be a target in the atomic bomb tests.

The former Nazi warship developed boiler trouble after leaving San Pedro, Calif., May 10, and speed was cut to five knots for most of the voyage. Only one of 12 boilers was operating when the ship arrived Saturday.

Cmdr. R. D. Harwood of Clinton, Tenn., executive officer, said the cruiser's power plant had not been overhauled for several years.

NAVY HEAD URGES EFFORT FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, May 19 — (AP) Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, speaking on an "I Am an American Day" program expressed his belief today that "every man and woman is obligated to assist in the maintenance of our national security."

"The primary purpose of a year of universal military training is not to militarize the nation for purposes of making war offensively but to provide additional defensive security."

The admiral said he feared Americans are too prone to think of peace as a "do nothing" state of affairs.

"Why should we not wage peace?" he asked. "Why should we not make as much effort to win the peace as we do to win the war? Why should there not be a militant peace and not for a few weeks, or for a few months or for a few years but always?"

He said Americans have responsibilities as citizens to make the United Nations work and added that their privileges of American citizenship require them to take an interest in every phase of their own government.

STALIN IS ATTACKED BY K. OF C. SPEAKER

WATERBURY, May 19 — (AP) The Rev. Edward Lodge Curran, of Brooklyn, N. Y., addressing the preconvention assembly of Knights of Columbus here tonight declared that "Josef Stalin stands guilty with Hitler and those on trial at Nurenberg as being responsible for World War II."

"There is more democracy in Madrid than there is in Moscow and Franco has more right to be in Madrid than Stalin has to be in Moscow" the Rev. Curran asserted, adding that "Stalin, not Franco seized the oil of Iran, trespassed in Manchuria and allowed Christian Poland to be ravaged by Germany."

Warning that this country must keep out of Spain and "mind our own business" he asserted that the Knights of Columbus "stood for America first," and against anything that could be construed as lend lease."

The K. of C. he said, "is pledged to the rebirth of the American patriotism that believes that all America's money should be kept at home for the economic rehabilitation of our brave American veterans."

THE MINISTRY ACTED AFTER A SERIES OF BRIEF, SPORADIC BREAD AND FOOD STRIKES IN SEVERAL TOWNS. THE DISTURBANCES FOLLOWED A REDUCTION OF THE BREAD ALLOWANCE FROM 10.58 OUNCES TO 7.05 OUNCES A DAY.

MINISTRY OFFICIALS SAID NO NEW OUTBREAKS HAD BEEN REPORTED.

SECOND LEAD JAPANESE (200)

TOKYO, MONDAY, MAY 20-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR THREATENED TODAY TO CRACK DOWN ON MASS POLITICAL DEMONSTRATIONS AS PREMIER-DESIGNATE SHIGERU YOSHIDA VIRTUALLY COMPLETED A CONSERVATIVE CABINET DESPITE COMMUNIST DEMANDS THAT HE RESIGN TO MAKE WAY FOR A "POPULAR FRONT" GOVERNMENT.

MACARTHUR OBVIOUSLY REFERRED TO SUNDAY'S MASSIVE LABOR-COMMUNIST DEMONSTRATION, DIRECTED AGAINST YOSHIDA, WHEN HE SAID "MASS VIOLENCE AND THE PHYSICAL PROCESSES OF INTIMIDATION" CONSTITUDED A MENACE TO ORDERLY GOVERNMENT AND THE OCCUPATION ITSELF.

HE WARNED THAT IF "UNDISCIPLINED ELEMENTS" WERE UNABLE TO EXERCISE SELF-RESTRAINT HE WOULD BE FORCED TOTAKE STEPS TO CONTROL THE SITUATION.

YOSHIDA'S HEADQUARTERS ADMITTED TODAY THAT HE WISHED TO GIVE UP EFFORTS TO FORM A GOVERNMENT, BUT A SPOKESMAN SAID THE PREMIER-DESIGNATE WAS COMPELLED BY CIRCUMSTANCES TO CONTINUE THE STRUGGLE. HE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE FILLED ALL CABINET POSITIONS EXCEPT THE HOME MINISTRY PORTFOLIO.

THE IMPORTANT POST OF MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY WAS REPORTED TO HAVE GONE TO DR. SHIGERU NASU. POLITICIANS QUICKLY ASSERTED THAT NASU HAD A "CONSPICUOUS" WAR RECORD AND THEREFORE MIGHT BE DISQUALIFIED UNDER MACARTHUR'S PURGE OF ULTRA-NATION-ALISTS.

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG

TOKYO, MAY 19-(AP)-COLLAPSE OF PREMIER-DESIGNATE SHIGERU YOSHIDA'S EFFORTS TO FORM A CONSERVATIVE COALITION GOVERNMENT WAS REPORTED TONIGHT AFTER A MAMMOTH BUT MILD-MANNERED MOB MILLED FOR HOURS AROUND EMPEROR HIROHITO'S PALACE, DEMANDING MORE FOOD AND A "DEMOCRATIC FRONT" REGIME.

THE JIJI NEWS AGENCY SAID FLATLY THAT YOSHIDA HAD ABANDONED HIS FOUR-DAY STRUGGLE TO BUILD A NEW CABINET AND WOULD GO TO THE PALACE FORTHWITH TO INFORM THE EMPEROR. IT ASSERTED THAT YOSHIDA'S SECRETARY HAD ANNOUNCED THE PREMIER-DESIGNATE'S DECISION TO A DELEGATION OF 30 LABOR UNION LEADERS AND OTHERS.

ANOTHER YOSHIDA AIDE, HOWEVER, TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS THAT HE HAD "NOT YET" RESIGNED AND WOULD NOT SEEK TO SEE THE EMPEROR TONIGHT. YOSHIDA HIMSELF DECLINED TO TALK TO ALLIED AND JAPANESE NEWSMEN, AND SLIPPED OUT THE BACK DOOR OF HIS OFFICIAL RESIDENCE TO EVADE THE LABOR DELEGATION WHICH CALLED ON HIM.

THE AIDE SAID YOSHIDA'S EFFORTS TO FORM A CABINET HAD BEEN COMPLICATED BY INABILITY TO PERSUADE ANYONE TO ACCEPT THE KEY MINISTRY

OF AGRICULTURE, THE "HOT POTATO" OF CABINET JOBS IN A FOOD CRISIS. HE INTIMATED YOSHIDA WOULD VISIT THE EMPEROR MONDAY BUT DID NOT SAY WHETHER HE WOULD HAND IN HIS RESIGNATION THEN.

IT WAS NOT IMMEDIATELY APPARENT WHAT, IF ANYTHING, THE MASS DEMONSTRATION AT THE PALACE HAD CONTRIBUTED TOWARD SOLUTION OF THE GOVERNMENT CRISIS.

THE HIGH POINT WAS A SCUFFLE IN WHICH A JAPANESE POLICEMAN NARROWLY ESCAPED A DOUSING IN THE IMPERIAL MOAT. AN UNIDENTIFIED AMERICAN LIEUTENANT TORE HIM FROM THE GRASP OF ASSAILANTS WHO WERE SHOUTING "DUCK HIM, THAT DOG!" AS THEY TRIED TO TOSS THE HAPLESS POLICEMAN TO THE EMPEROR'S CARP.

BANNERS AND PLACARDS CARRIED BY COMMUNISTS AND OTHER LEFT-WING GROUPS VARIED WIDELY IN DESIGN BUT ALL WERE UNFRIENDLY TOWARD YOSHIDA.

A PICTURESQUE EFFECT WAS ACHIEVED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE VAST TRANSPORT WORKERS UNION. THEIR PROCESSION WAS HEADED BY A SANDWICH MAN AND FOUR COLLEAGUES WEARING HIGH PAPER HATS. THE SANDWICH MAN'S BOARD INVITED SPECTATORS TO "READ FROM RIGHT TO LEFT" THE MESSAGE OF THE PAPER HATS, WHICH COLLECTIVELY SPELLED OUT "DOWN WITH YOSHIDA".

MAY 20 1946

IN DUE COURSE A 13-MAN DELEGATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATION UNION, HEADED BY KATSUMI KIKONAMI, WAS ALLOWED TO PASS THROUGH THE SAKASHITA GATE INTO THE INNER PALACE GROUNDS TO PRESENT A PETITION AND A 16-POINT RESOLUTION INTENDED FOR HIROHITO.

THEY DID NOT SEE THE EMPEROR. MINORU INUMARU, CHIEF OF THE GENERAL AFFAIRS SECTION OF THE IMHEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEE

GENERAL AFFAIRS SECTION OF THE IMPERIAL HOUSEHOLD, MET THEM AND ARGUED FOR TWO HOURS WITH THEM ON PROCEDURE FOR PRESENTING THE PETITI PREVIOUSLY ADOPTED AT A MASS MEETING. THE 13 DELEGATES FINALLY LEFT AFTER HE PROMISED TO DELIVER THE DOCUMENT TO HIROHITO.

"WE LABORERS HAVE NOT ENOUGH TO EAT," THE PETITION SAID. "THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT HAS NOT TAKEN DUE MEASURES: THE OFFICIALS, CAPITALISTS, LANDLORDS -- THESE PEOPLE HAVE HOARDED FOOD AND HAVE ENOUGH TO EAT. WE DO NOT TRUST A GOVERNMENT WHICH REPRESENTS THESE ELEMENTS."

THE 16-POINT RESOLUTION CALLED FOR IMMEDIATE DISTRIBUTION OF DELAYED RICE, RENEWAL OF FOOD DOLES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN, PUBLIC CONTROL OF FOOD ALLOCATED BY THE U.S. ARMY, AND FORMATION OF A DEMOCRATIC FRONT TO REPLACE THE "REACTIONARY CABINET."

ALTHOUGH THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE RESPONSE FROM THE EMPEROR, THE TOKYO METROPOLITAN GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED MEASURES FOR THE IMMEDIATE RELEASE OF 20,000 BAGS OF GOVERNMENT-STOCKED RICE. THIS ACTION CAME, THE JIJI AGENCY SAID, AS RICE IMPORTS INTO THE CAPITAL REACHED A NEW LOW OF 600 BAGS.

ANOTHER DELEGATION CALLED AT THE PREMIER'S OFFICIAL RESIDENCE AND REMAINED THERE THREE AND ONE-HALF HOURS EXPLAINING A SERIES OF RESOLUTIONS TO JOJI HAYASHI, NEW CHIEF CABINET SECRETARY.

COMMUNIST PARTY SPOKESMAN YOSHIO SHIGA MEANWHILE TOLD THE JAPANESE PRESS THAT THE FIVE COMMUNIST MEMBERS OF THE DIET WOULD SEEK AN INTERVIEWWITH EMPERORHIROHITO MONDAY TO "CALL HIM TO ACCOUNT" FOR ALLOWING FORMATION OF A CONSERVATIVE CABINET, EVEN THOUGH NONE HAS BEEN FORMED.

SHIGA DECLARED THE PROPOSED YOSHIDA GOVERNMENT WOULD HAVE BEEN MERELY A CONTINUATION OF THE "REACTIONARY" SHIDEHARA GOVERNMENT.

IRAN ARMY FIGHTS AZERBAIJAN UNITS IN BORDER CLASH

Heavy Attack with Mortars, Artillery Reported by Tabriz

U. S. CONSUL WARNED

Americans Denied Travel Permits Inside Troubled Province

LONDON, May 20—(AP) A broadcast from Tabriz, capital of separatist Azerbaijan province, declared tonight that Iranian government troops had mounted a new, heavy attack on Azerbaijan forces near the Kurdistan-Azerbaijan border.

Government troops used mortars and artillery in the new assault, the radio said, opening the attack at 10 a. m. (12:30 a.m., E.S.T.) on Sainkaleh (Shahindaj), 100 miles south of Tabriz.

Country on War Footing

Earlier an Iranian War ministry spokesman confirmed that some clashes had occurred in the border area, but said they were minor. Tabriz dispatches quoted separatist Premier Jafar Pishevari as saying "our country is on a war footing."

The Exchange Telegraph agency quoted the Tabriz radio as saying the fierce fighting continued late into the evening, and that government troops shelled Azerbaijan positions but were repelled by "Azerbaijan patriots."

The statement of the War ministry spokesman in Tehran that "some small clashes" of "no real importance" had broken out was the first official indication from the Iranian capital that fighting had erupted along the Azerbaijan border. Tabriz radio last night announced that the government troops had attacked from Kurdistan.

Reuters quoted Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam in Tehran as confirming that a clash had occurred on the border, and as saying it was not serious and he did not know how it started.

However, Prince Mozaffar Firouz, propaganda minister and spokesman for Qavam, told Iranian newsmen that "even the soul of Iran cannot tell if the reports are true.

The Iranian government has ordered an investigation of last night's Tabriz radio report, a Reuters dispatch from Tehran said.

U. S. Consul Warned

Associated Press Correspondent Joseph C. Goodwin, reporting from Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan, said that Robert Rossow, Jr., the U. S. consul there, considered that his own personal safety had been threatened by a denial from Pishevari of a request for a travel permit.

The consul declared that the premier had warned him that "any incident which might occur should I travel would be on my own responsibility." The consul said he is "again warning the American colony here to leave the district."

Goodwin said American correspondents who arrived Friday were also denied travel permits by Pishevari, who explained that travel "might be dangerous because the army and irregulars are new at their jobs" and might resent the presence of strangers, particularly "in areas where fortifications are being constructed."

Reports Border Clashes

The Tabriz radio last night said the government had launched attacks near the Kurdistan border.

Tonight the Tabriz radio, heard in Tehran, said a telegram had been received from Qavam declaring "I have no information concerning any attack by government troops against Azerbaijan."

The Tabriz announcer commented "We pity Qavam and would like to believe his innocence." He added that "our warriors have their orders. The central government forces are digging their own graves. Our motto stands, there is death but no turning back."

The Tabriz reports of warfare came two days after the arrival in the Azerbaijan capital of an Iranian central government mission assigned to reopen negotiations with Azerbaijan "Premier" Pishevari.

The Tehran radio made no mention of the fighting. It broadcast only a statement by Minister of State for Propaganda Prince Mozaffar Firouz that the Iranian government wanted "a free press to support a government working day and night for the solution of urgent problems."

British Report Denial

London, May 20 (AP)—British dispatches from Tehran today said the Iranian War Ministry had denied that any fighting was taking place in Azerbaijan and Kurdistan as reported by the Tabriz radio in the Azerbaijan capital.

No orders have been sent from the Iranian capital for Government commanders to attack the Azerbaijans, the War Ministry said.

The British Broadcasting Corporation also quoted an Iranian Government spokesman as declaring it was "unlikely" that fighting was taking place.

"Orders Not To Fight"

The London broadcast, which did not give the source of its information, added that the Iranian spokesman said the Government forces "have strict orders not to start any fighting."

"It may be possible," the broadcast quoted him as saying, "that some overeager frontier units had fired a few shots at Azerbaijanis who were provoking them."

The Tehran radio today made no mention of the reported fighting.

BBC said that martial law had been proclaimed in Tabriz, according to the Tabriz broadcast, and a "Mr. Padvam" had been appointed military governor of the city.

Reuter said the broadcast announced an 11 P.M. curfew and proclaimed the death penalty for violators.

BBC said the Tabriz station interrupted a transmission of recorded music at 6.30 P.M. London time (1.30 P.M. E.D.T.) yesterday to announce the alleged attack.

Then, according to BBC, the Tabriz announcer added:

"Azerbaijan supporters have received orders to defend themselves. We shall defend freedom and democracy.

"After the clearing of the political horizon, Iran wants to obscure it again with the blood of Azerbaijan youth.

"Shame to the treacherous hands which are dragging us into fratricide and bloody battle!

"Must Make Sacrifices"

"Each supporter must put up a stiff resistance. Everyone must make sacrifices. Let the world know in whose hands the destiny of suffering of the Iranian natic lies.

"We shall defend freedom to the last breath and the last Azerbaijani.

"Assault and savagery have begun."

[NBC in New York quoted BBC as saying that the Tabriz radio reported that casualties had been inflicted on an unspecified number of Central Government forces, and that 40 Central Government soldiers had been taken prisoner.]

There were no reports of Russian participation or direct assistance to Azerbaijan.

[The Soviet press made no mention today of Tabriz radio reports of fighting between Azerbaijan forces and troops of the Iranian Central Government.]

The reported outbreaks came on the eve of the deadline fixed by the United Nations Security Council for a report by the Iranian Central Government on whether Russian troops had been evacuated from Iran.

Premier Qavam informed the Council Saturday night that he was still unable to ascertain whether the Russians had withdrawn.

Negotiations between officials of the self-styled Azerbaijan Democratic Government and the Iranian Central Government on the possible return of Azerbaijan to the jurisdiction of Tehran broke down last week.

Joseph C. Goodwin, Associated Press correspondent in Iran, reported in a delayed dispatch from Tabriz that the city was an armed camp, with the three-month-old Azerbaijan Army preparing for any eventuality.

Russian Evacuation

Goodwin's dispatch, which was written Saturday but was delayed 24 hours in a telegraph office in Tehran, said the uniformed Russian army had completely evacuated all of Iran, including Azerbaijan.

He said that there was some doubt, however, whether all of the Russian armor had been removed from Azerbaijan.

Every second man in Tabriz is in uniform, Goodwin said. Troops with tommy guns patrol the streets and airport.

Previous dispatches had estimated the strength of the Azerbaijan Army at about 24,000 men and the Iranian Army at between 60,000 and 80,000. The Azerbaijan troops have been reported attired in Russian-type uniforms.

Tabriz Press Accounts

Goodwin said the Tabriz radio and newspapers were urging last week that the dispute with Iran be settled on a friendly basis, with the provision that what was termed the "Azerbaijan liberal program" be retained and even extended to the rest of Iran.

A delayed dispatch from Tehran quoted the Tabriz radio as saying Saturday that the American consul in Tabriz was told he could tour Iranian Azerbaijan if he wished, but that the Azerbaijan Government would "not be responsible for the consequences."

The broadcast accused the consul of having attempted to bribe a guard in the Tehran telegraph office. The guard "threw the bribe into the street, forcing the consul to pick it up," the broadcast added.

Tabriz Reports New Attacks By Iran Troops

Americans Are Barred From Traveling; Tehran Calls Clashes Unimportant

TEHRAN, May 20 (AP).—The Tabriz radio declared tonight that central government troops were renewing their attacks against the Azerbaijan garrison at Sainkaleh (Shahindaj), 100 miles south of Tabriz.

The broadcast was heard shortly after a spokesman for the central government's war ministry acknowledged that "some small clashes have occurred" along the Azerbaijan frontier, but said they were "of no real importance."

The Tabriz radio said the new attack was launched at 10 a. m. and was continuing with artillery and mortar fire.

The radio also said that a telegram had been received from Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam saying "he had no information of any attack by government troops against Azerbaijan."

The United Press in a dispatch from Tehran said Minister of War General Ahmad Ahmadi wired the Iranian army commander on the Kurdistan frontier to take defense positions and refrain from attack. The dispatch added that the government also issued a communique denying that clashes had occurred.

Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian propaganda minister and a spokesman for Premier Qavam, avoided foreign correspondents, but told Iranian newsmen that "even the soul of Iran cannot tell if the reports are true."

The Tabriz radio, which reported last night that central government forces attacked the "democratic garrison" at Sainkaleh, said in tonight's broadcast that "our warriors have their orders."

"The central government forces are digging their own graves. Our motto stands—there may be death, but no retreat," the broadcast said.

The announcer referred scornfully to Qavam's denial, saying that if the central government troops were not responsible, the incidents "must be the result of irresponsible authorities, international imperialists, British oil officials and Americans."

"We pity Qavam and would like to believe his innocence," the announcer said.

IRANIANS FIGHT ALONG FRONTIER OF AZERBAIJAN

Tehran Announces 'Small Clashes—U. S. Consul Warns Americans.

Tehran, May 20 (A. P.).—A spokesman at the War Ministry said tonight that "some small clashes have occurred" along the Azerbaijan border between Iranian Government troops and Azerbaijan forces, but declared they were of "no real importance."

Prince Firouz, Iranian director of propaganda, evaded foreign correspondents, but to Iranian reporters he said "even the soul of Iran cannot tell if the reports are true."

The Tabriz radio said last night that Iranian Central Government forces attacked the "democratic garrison" at Sainkaleh (Shahindaj) with mortars at 5 P. M. Sunday.

Sainkaleh is about 100 miles south of Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan province and only a short distance inside the Azerbaijan frontier.

"This is how Qavam (Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam) desires a peaceful settlement of the Azerbaijan differences, but we are ready," declared the broadcast announcing the attack.

"There may be death, but no retreat."

The same broadcast reported that Iranian Government troops had launched an attack three days ago against Kurdish forces at Saqiz, on the Azerbaijan-Kurdistan border sixty-four miles south of Lake Urmia. The Kurds were reported to have taken thirty-seven prisoners in the fighting.

Reds Are Silent.

Moscow, May 20 (A. P.).—The Soviet press made no mention today of Tabriz Radio reports of fighting between Azerbaijan forces and troops of the Iranian Central Government.

Tabriz Leader Claims Soviet 'Moral Support'

Tabriz, Azerbaijan Province, May 19 (AP—Delayed)—Jafar Pishevari, Azerbaijan Premier, said today "our country is on a war footing," and claimed Soviet "moral support" in "our bid for freedom." At the same time, Pishevari denied Americans permits to travel.

In an interview, he expressed the hope that negotiations with the Central Government on the province's claims to autonomy would be resumed. He said he had "confidence" in the friendly intentions of Ahmed Qavam, Iranian Premier, but added that the recent Tehran conversations had ended in deadlock "because of certain reactionaries around the Premier."

Denies Russia Gives Support

He denied that any material support to the autonomy movement was being given by the Russians, and said he was "convinced the Red Army evacuation is complete." The Iranian Central Government Commission now touring the province will report to Tehran on the evacuation, he declared.

"Russian moral support of our bid for freedom from oppression by the reactionary Central Government made it possible for the people to realize a 30-year-old hope for the democratic way of life," Pishevari said.

He asserted that the same support would aid the progress of countries throughout the Middle East.

"Will Not Give Up Freedom"

Pishevari said the problem of the Azerbaijan Government was "to improve the lot of our people."

"We want to do away with federal rule and the poverty yoked on us," he said. "We seized the opportunity to strike for freedom while the Red Army was here. Now we have it and will not give it up."

The democratic separatists in the province declared their autonomy last November when Soviet troops occupied Azerbaijan.

Pishevari said he believed the Central Government would hold elections "in the rest of Iran, since the entire country has been evacuated by foreign troops." He added, however, that any elections in Azerbaijan would be elections to an "Azerbaijan national parliament."

Hopes For American Support

He said he was sure the Central Government would not permit the seating of Azerbaijan representatives if the province took part in a general Iranian election. The separatist Premier said he was "entirely willing" for the province to return to the framework of the Iranian nation, but only if "freedom were won and a democratic government were organized and recognized."

He said he hoped for the support of the American people and that "all democratic people" should sympathize with Azerbaijan.

Earlier, Pishevari denied travel permits to Robert Rossow, Jr., the United States consul here, and two American correspondents who arrived Friday. Rossow said he considered the denial a "threat to my personal safety and the safety of United States citizens in the province," and that he again was "warning the American colony here to leave the district."

Pishevari Warns Consul

Rossow said Pishevari, denying the permit, warned him that "any incident which might occur, should I travel, would be my own responsibility."

Rejecting the correspondents' plea for permits, Pishevari assured them "the city is yours," but that travel "might be dangerous because the army and the irregulars are new at their jobs." The Premier told them the presence of strangers might be resented, "especially in areas where fortifications are being constructed. Our country is on a war footing."

"I'm sure," he added, "foreigners were not permitted where the Americans were making the atomic bomb."

Admonished By Newspaper

The American consul and the American correspondents were admonished by the newspaper Azerbaijan, official organ of Pishevari's Government, only a few hours after Pishevari had extended his welcome.

The newspaper said the consul in a private interview with Pishevari sought permission to travel with the intention of "investigating the evacuation of the Red Army" and of reporting on it to his Government.

It added that "there is no objection at all to the consul traveling into the villages, but for any incident, he himself will be responsible."

Picture Taking Questioned

The paper accused the correspondents of taking pictures in prohibited military zones without "obtaining the permission of competent authority." It informed the correspondents that "competent authorities consider such action espionage, and if any incident should arise, no responsibility will rest upon any competent Azerbaijan authority at all."

The Associated Press was told by Pishevari that pictures might be made "freely" anywhere in the city except in military zones. He declined, however, to give written permission, saying it would be "completely unnecessary."

AMERICANS TOLD TO LEAVE TABRIZ

TABRIZ, Azerbaijan, May 20.—(AP) The United States consul here said today he considered that Premier Jafar Pishevari had made a threat to his personal safety and that of American citizens and that he again was "warning the American colony here to leave the district."

The Consul said he was denied by Pishevari a permit to travel through Azerbaijan and was warned that "any incident which might occur should I travel would be my own responsibility."

He said he considered this a threat to his personal safety and the safety of United States citizens.

Two American correspondents who arrived here Friday also were denied travel permits by the Azerbaijan premier, who assured them however that "the city is yours."

The premier explained that travel "might be dangerous because the army and irregulars are new at their jobs and might resent strangers traveling about," especially in areas where fortifications are being constructed.

"Our country is on a war footing," he added. "I am sure foreigners would not be permitted where Americans are making atomic bombs."

RUSSIANS IN MUFTI REPORTED IN IRAN

Investigation by His Government Balked, Envoy Tells U. N.

NEW YORK, May 20 — (AP) Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala notified the United Nations Security council tonight that his government had been unable to investigate reports that "Soviet soldiers have been left in Azerbaijan in civilian clothes and that military equipment has been placed at the disposal" of the separatist Azerbaijan provincial government.

The Iranian government, Ala declared, has not been able to establish that "all of th.. Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the whole of Iran."

Answers Council Request

Ala's statement to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, was in answer to a request of the Security council that Iran report on the Russian troop situation by May 20. The request was made on May 8.

The Iranian situation before the Security council has been further complicated by reports from Iran that fighting has broken out between central government troops and forces of the self-declared autonomous regime of Azerbaijan province.

"I have not received from my government authentic information with respect to the reported clashes x x x." Ala said.

"If the reports of armed conflict in this strategically-critical area are true," he added, "obviously the danger to international peace and security is both serious and imminent."

Case Comes Up Tomorrow

Ala's report to the Security council killed the only chance that the council would be able to drop the controversial Iranian case when it meets Wednesday to take up the question again.

The delegates had agreed prevously that they would not strike the Iranian case on Soviet troop withdrawal from the council agenda until definite information was available, and Ala's report contained no specific data.

"I beg to state," Ala's statement read, "that there is not sufficient first-hand information available to my government as to the true state of affairs throughout Azerbaijan to make the complete report requested by the Security council."

"Such information as is available to me up to 5 o'clock (Eastern Daylight Time) this afternoon is to the effect that as a consequence of the interferences previously complained of, the Iranian government is still prevented from exercising any effective authority in the province of Azerbaijan and that Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased," Ala continued.

While an Iranian commission now is in Azerbaijan province concerned with the task of investigating conditions, Ala said, "it is doubtful that an adequate investigation can be conducted or a satisfactory report made by the government of Iran until the government is in a position to exercise its full authority throughout the province of Azerbaijan."

walked out on one Council meeting and boycotted another, said when asked whether he would attend:

"I made myself clear on that some time ago."

He was apparently referring to his statement of April 23 that he would not take part in any further Council discussions of the Iranian question.

New Deadline Near

This development came as the Council approached another deadline in the Iranian case, still without any assurances from either Russia or Iran that all Soviet troops had been withdrawn from Iranian soil.

The situation was complicated by broadcasts from Tabriz reporting that national Government troops were attacking along the frontiers of Azerbaijan province—where a self-proclaimed autonomous government was set up during the Russian occupation.

Pending receipt of further details from Tehran it was not clear what effect this development might have upon the Security Council's deliberations.

A delayed Associated Press dispatch from Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan, said all uniformed Russians had left Iran at the time the dispatch was filed Saturday. The Tehran Government, however, apparently had not yet received an official report from the commission it sent to Azerbaijan last Friday.

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala, who arrived from Washington last night, said he had received no word from his Government since Premier Ahmed Qavam told the Council Saturday night he was not yet in a position to make a conclusive statement on Russian withdrawals.

May 6 Was Date Agreed

The Council has been trying to find out the status of Soviet withdrawals since May 6, the date on which Russia had agreed to have all her troops out of Iran.

The Council will meet Wednesday at 10 A.M. to take up the case again. The delegates were generally agreed that they would have no basis for dropping the question unless Iran reported before that time that the withdrawals were completed.

New U.N. Boycott Indicated By Gromyko

New York, May 20 (AP)—Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko indicated today that he would boycott Wednesday's session of the United Nations Security Council, which has been called to take up again the Iranian controversy.

Meanwhile, the Council subcommittee investigating Franco Spain announced that it would hold its first public session Thursday, when Dr. Jose Giral, Premier of the Spanish Government in exile is scheduled to present additional evidence that the Franco regime is a threat to world peace.

British Papers Suggest U.S. Should Send More

London, May 20 (AP)—London newspapers gave front page play to the world food crisis today, echoing it with editorials suggesting that the United States and other nations could do more to combat famine.

"America, we know, has taken certain steps to make more grain available for export, but none has involved sacrifice on the part of the American consumer at all comparable with ours," said The Daily Sketch.

"It may be that both Americans and Russians will say that they must consider their own people first. The British Government, we would point out, also have a duty to their own people."

Says U.S. Is Short Of Pledge

The Daily Mail, stating the United States was 700,000 tons short of her pledged exports, said:

"Britain, a food importing country, is scraping the bottom of the barrell to make good the commitments of America, which is eating fourteen per cent more food than before the war and is feeding 9,000,000 tons of wheat a year to pigs and poultry."

Cites Comparative Abundance

The liberal News Chronicle, stating that Britons will grumble at further rationing, pointed to "comparative abundance" in America and the Dominions and said:

"There is something to be said for all these arguments—especially for the belief that America could and should do more—but beyond all doubt the governments of the world are making superhuman efforts to stave off disaster.

"The threatened communities will welcome with eager hands the smallest contribution which more fortunate countries can make."

maintaining troops in such places as Egypt and India, where the risk of becoming involved politically and stirring up an economic boycott surpasses the military benefits.

Good Will Is Goal

A high-ranking British official said it was by far the best course to negotiate a new pact with Egypt, and obtain Egyptian good will.

"Markets should pick up in the new atmosphere, for there was the possibility if we did not get out of the country the Egyptians might boycott British goods," he said.

Members of the Government were agreed that Britain could remain in India only with difficulty.

"A friendly commercial treaty with India would provide a good market for Britain which she cannot hope to have if the present antagonistic feeling persists," an official said.

Conservatives Opposed

Many Conservatives, including Winston Churchill, have criticized the decision to leave Egypt, asserting that the Suez Canal would be left unprotected.

Military leaders, however, said that because of the atom bomb the canal could never again be protected by land troops. Officials and military strategists asserted that Britain could control the Middle East, from a strategical standpoint, by maintaining air bases in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

A-Bomb, Trade Alter Britain's Empire View

London, May 20 (AP)—The principal factors which influenced Britain's Labor Government to decide to quit Egypt and India are the need for postwar trade and the realization that the atom bomb has changed the old ideas of empire defense.

Authoritative Government and opposition sources made this clear today, and gave the following explanation:

Because of atomic power, empire defense is no longer a question of

RAEDER'S FACE RED AT TRIAL

His Criticism Of Fellow-Nazi Bigwigs Read In Court

Nuernberg, May 20 (AP)—Blistering denunciations by Grand Admiral Erich Raeder of several of his fellow defendants were submitted today to the international military tribunal while the wiry little Admiral spluttered that he never expected his words "would become public."

The Soviet prosecution submitted an affidavit Raeder had written for his Russian captors in Moscow in which he unleashed the full force of his venom upon former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, who, Raeder had asserted, "had a disastrous effect on the fate of the German Reich."

Goering was not present to hear the denunciation. He was confined to his cell with what prison physicians called a sciatic condition.

Raeder's Picture Of Goering

Raeder, referring to Goering, had written:

"His main peculiarities were unimaginable vanity and immeasurable ambition, running after popularity and showing off, untruthfulness, impracticability and selfishness, which were not restrained for the sake of the state of the people."

Hitler, Raeder wrote, was aware of Goering's shortcomings, but "took advantage of him if it served his purposes, and burdened him with ever new tasks in order to avoid his becoming dangerous to the Führer."

Referring to Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who succeeded to the command of the German Navy in the latter part of the war and beside whom Raeder has been seated in the prisoners' box for the past six months, the affidavit said:

"Doenitz's strong political inclinations brought him difficulties as head of the navy. His last speech to the Hitler Youth, which was ridiculed by in all circles, gave him in the navy the nickname of 'Hitler-boy Doenitz.'"

Doenitz, Raeder wrote, was "conceited," and "made a fool of himself, and thereby harmed the navy."

As To Keitel And Ribbontrop

Raeder also had vigorously denounced Field Marshall Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German High Command, as a "man of unimaginable weakness."

The Admiral referred to former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop as among those in whom important Germans had little faith.

Raeder betrayed embarrassment when he was confronted with a charge he had made to his Russian interrogators after his capture, that Goering deliberately encouraged the late Field Marshall Werner von Blomberg to marry a carpenter's daughter. Following the marriage von Blomberg was dismissed by Hitler.

RAEDER SAYS U. S. SHIPS BROKE LAW

Nuernberg, May 20 (A. P.).—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, former commander of the German Navy, testified before the International Military Tribunal today that American ships repeatedly violated neutrality rules before America entered the war, but that the German Navy had orders from Adolf Hitler not to attack them, despite the alleged violations.

30.24-2905

Raeder's statements were made in answer to questions by counsel for Joachim von Ribbentrop, the former Nazi Foreign Minister.

The Admiral testified that the American "neutrality patrols" during the summer of 1941 operated more than 1,000 miles out from the United States, although the so-called neutrality area extended only 300 miles out. Declaring that shortly after the Nazi attack on Russia the United States declared she would help the Soviet Union, Raeder said that he had then told Hitler that Germany should "continue to leave American ships alone despite the disadvantages arising from such a course."

Raeder said that the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox had announced at a press conference on the day of the Pearl Harbor attack that American warships had been ordered to fire on German vessels. He said that Hitler in turn decreed that "on no condition could we be permitted to fire first, but we could defend ourselves."

Hermann Goering was absent from the court room with what was described as a "slight sciatic condition." Physicians said his condition was not serious. During much of the six months since the trial started, Goering has kept his legs and hips wrapped in an Army blanket as he sat in the prisoners' box.

added that the girl was not present at the moment when the shot was fired.

The Army's original announcement at Frankfurt quoted Devone as saying he was firing at a German civilian and accidentally hit the Americans when they drove their jeep into his line of fire.

The CID agents said they were satisfied Devone was not aiming at the soldiers. One described the shooting as an accident "that would not happen again in a thousand years."

Previously an interview with Devone had been arranged by the Army after three Negro publishers here on tour had asked to talk with the soldier "to see if there were any racial angles in the case." When the publishers failed to appear, however, the Army canceled the interview and refused correspondents permission to speak to Devone.

The publishers, Frank Stanley of the Louisville Defender, D. H. Davis of the Kansas City Call and W. O. Walker of the Cleveland Call, were reported to have gone to Munich.

The statement, which the prosecution said was made by Capt. Oskar Klinkelhoefer, one of the defendants, said the first panzer regiment was told:

"Ahead of us there shall be terror and horror. We should remember in this fight especially the cities that have suffered tremendously during the bombing attacks and have suffered great misery. Therefore all scruples and humane feelings shall be thrown overboard. No prisoners of war will be taken."

Planned by Specialist

The name of Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny, Hitler's sabotage wizard who engineered the rescue of Benito Mussolini and the capture of the Hungarian Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy, came into the trial today.

He is being held in the S.S. hospital of this former concentration camp, guarded constantly by American soldiers instructed to shoot if he comes within three feet of them.

Specialists of the war crimes branch of the U. S. Army who prepared the malmedy case have exposed in detail one of Skorzeny's most fantastic adventures—"operation Greif."

It was undertaken for the Ardennes offensive. Three thousand English-speaking Nazis were drawn from varied branches of the army, given American and British uniforms and U. S. equipment, and instructed by Skorzeny to cut through the American lines and capture and hold a bridge over the Maas river until reinforcements arrived.

Skorzeny maintained in recent questioning that only three jeep teams and two weapons carriers managed to get through.

Officials indicated that Skorzeny is being kept here "on ice" as a possible prosecution witness for the war crimes trials at Nuernberg.

read into the record today a statement that the Germans were ordered to ignore "all scruples and humane feelings."

The statement, allegedly made by Capt. Oskar Klinkelhoefer, one of the defendants, said that the 1st SS Panzer Regiment received these orders:

"Ahead of us there shall be terror and horror. We should remember in this fight especially the cities that have suffered tremendously during the bombing attacks and have suffered great misery. Therefore all scruples and humane feelings shall be thrown overboard. No prisoners of war will be taken."

Concur In Testimony

A number of German Elite Guard troops who participated in the battle of the bulge testified that advance troops were ordered to "pay no attention to prisoners of war."

The prosecution maintains that close to 800 American prisoners were murdered in the advance of the 1st SS Panzer Regiment.

As this largest of war-crime trials droned into its fourth day, it became evident that the names of two absent men would cast lengthening shadows over the trial.

One name was that of Lieut. Col. Otto Skorzeny, daring saboteur who worked directly under Hitler's orders and headed the "Operation Greif" which was supposed to play an important part in the German's last great offensive effort, the 1944-45 attack in the Ardennes toward Liege and Antwerp.

Skorzeny, who seized Mussolini after the Badoglio Government in Italy imprisoned him, is a war-crime prisoner under guard in the SS hospital a short distance from the trial court.

Klinkelhoefer testified that he was told that "in front of the combat unit itself, the unit Greif of Lieutenant Colonel Skorzeny in American uniforms and vehicles will march in order to destroy communications and to spread panic and terror and eliminate combat

Gets Blame For All

The other name was that of Lieutenant Colonel Poetschke, commander of the German 1st Battalion, who is accused most often of issuing the "no prisoner" order.

"Poetschke was known to be dead and soon the responsibility for all their (the defendants') misdeeds were laid at his feet," the prosecution said. "Poetschke became the stock answer to all questions."

Nazis in Battle of the Bulge Had Orders To Take No Prisoners, They Tell Court

DACHAU, Germany, May 20—(AP) Nazi S.S. troops going into the Battle of the Bulge two winters ago were promised plenty of "rabatz"—hunting humans for sport—but were cautioned against shooting at American-uniformed men who waved helmets, prosecution witnesses testified at the Malmedy trial today.

Witnesses produced to testify against members of the group of 74 Nazi enlisted men and officers on trial disclosed that the waving of helmets was a signal pre-arranged on orders of the German High command. It was to be used, they said, by Nazis disguised as Americans who filtered through American lines on special sabotage assignments.

Nazis Repeat Order

With almost deadly monotony one witness after another testified to orders given the Nazis before the big counteroffensive into Belgium was mounted—to take no prisoners. The prosecution charges that nearly 800 American prisoners of war were slaughtered in the advance of the first panzer regiment.

The prosecution read into the record a statement that the Germans were ordered to ignore "all scruples and humane feelings."

Fall Kills U. S. Woman in Germany

Staten Island Army Typist Plunges to Death From Captain's Apartment in Frankfurt.

Frankfurt, May 20 (A. P.).—A 38-year-old American woman died last night from injuries which the American Provost Marshal said were suffered when she fell from the second floor of a United States Army captain's apartment in the headquarters compound here.

Lieut.-Col. Redmond J. Connolly of New York, the Provost Marshal, said the woman was found, nude and unconscious, lying in the bockyard porch by a German charwoman.

She died twelve hours later at the Ninety-seventh General Hospital. She was identified by Connolly as Miss Dorothy Knapp of 62 Treadwell avenue, Port Richmond, Staten Island, a War Department typist. Connolly said the fall "appears to have been purely accidental."

The vivacious, dark-haired typist arrived here only six days ago from the United States.

"She and the captain came to the apartment at about 2 A. M. yesterday," Connolly said.

"There was laughter and talking, but no violent commotion," he added. "The captain said he was asleep when the charwoman screamed at about 8 A. M."

Connolly estimated the fall occurred at 7 A. M. The name of the captain was withheld.

Miss Knapp lived in Manhattan until about a month ago, when she moved to Staten Island, according to Mrs. Johanna Schroeder, of 62 Treadwell avenue, Port Richmond, in whose home she lived for about ten days before sailing for Europe about three weeks ago. Miss Knapp's brother, William Knapp, who is employed in the Bayonne plant of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, also occupies a room in Mrs. Schroeder's home. Mrs. Schroeder said no word from Miss Knapp had been received here since she left.

B-29's Used in Germany to Test New Bombs

WIESBADEN, Germany, May 20—(AP) B-29 Superfortresses, which never flew in combat over Europe, are being used with B-17 Flying Fortresses and R.A.F. Lancasters in what is described as the largest experimental air bombardment in Europe since the war's end, an official announcement said today.

The attacks [illegible] carried out with British-developed 22,000-pound bombs and other British bombs, and other British bombs, and American 4,500-pound "rocket assisted" armor piercing bombs, with the $50,000,000 German submarine pens near Bremen as the target. The U. S. air force headquarters statement said the experiment was designed to determine "the full possibilities of destroying massive targets by earth shock."

Additional Facts Needed

"The end of the war came before all the implications of the bomb versus concrete were resolved," the statement said, "and additional facts were required if the benefit of the immense amount of work which had been put into the bombs was to be gained."

The statement did not say whether Soviet observers were invited. It was known that none have witnessed the tests.

The announcement made no attempt to link the tests with changes in aerial tactics which might be necessary by the atom bomb.

A special detachment of three of the big Superfortresses, their bomb-bays remodelled to accomodate the 22,000-pound bomb, and a group of seven B-17 Flying Fortresses were transferred from the United States last March for this operation, which has been given the code name "Ruby."

Use Base in Britain

The planes are shuttling between Bremen and the R.A.F. central bomber establishment at Markham, England, for the continuing tests.

No indication of whether the experiment has advanced the search for more effective attack against heavily reinforced concrete underground structures was given in the statement. It recalled, however, that during the war the Nazis burrowing into the ground under the British-American air attack "came near to making much of their oil, aircraft and allied war industry invulnerable to air attack."

The main submarine pen at Farge, near Bremen, has walls 14 feet thick and a roof from 15 to 23 feet thick. During the war R.A.F. bombers scored two directs on the roof with 22,000-pound bombs, but succeeded only in driving two small holes in the structure.

FRAULEINS HELD IN SHOOTING CASE

Nuernberg, May 20 (A. P.).—Several Frauleins, known to have been fraternizing with Negro G. I.'s, are being held for questioning by United States Army authorities investigating the fatal shooting of Sgts. William R. Timmons of West Haven, Conn., and Paul R. Skelton of McKinney, Tex.

Agents of the Army's criminal investigation division would not explain why the girls were being questioned, but declared that on the night of the shooting one was known to have been with Pfc. James Devone, 22-year-old Negro from Sampson, N. C., who, the agents said, has admitted firing the shot in the dark which killed the two sergeants. The agents

Russia Reported Hiring Germans

Berlin, May 20 (AP)—Reliable American and German informants who declined to be named said today the Russians have been engaging certain expert army, navy and air force men of the former German armed forces for service as instructors for the Red Army and Navy.

Russian authorities here would not comment on these reports, some of which came from deep in the Russian zone of occupation.

[A London dispatch reported the Moscow radio tonight denied published reports that many former German army officers were being incorporated into the Red Army.

[The broadcast cited the report as distributed by the British news agency Reuter.

["These reports are inventions from beginning to end and can be explained only by the desire to distract public opinion from the recently discovered facts concerning German troops which have been preserved in the British zone of occupation in Germany," the broadcast said.]

An American officer who reported this Russian use of German personnel—all presumably disarmed and disbanded—observed that "German stuff is not hard to sign up."

"Why, I can show you lots of applications from Germans wanting to join the American Army," he added.

This officer said—and an informed German editor of a Russian-controlled Berlin daily newspaper concurred—that the Russians were culling specialists among captured German soldiers and putting them to work teaching Russian troops in branches where the Germans excelled.

"It will," voices in the crowd replied.

Franco asserted that the Soviet Union had engaged in a mockery of destroying private property, religions and the army, and then restoring them. The Russians, Lancasters Also Dropping 22,000-pounders to Test Defenses Near Bremen.

Wiesbaden, Germany, May 20 (A. P.).—The United States and Great Britain's heaviest bombers are striking at the $50,000,000 submarine pens near Bremen with "earth shock" bombs in the largest experimental air bombardment launched in Europe since the end of the war, it was officially disclosed today.

Superfortresses, which never flew in combat over Germany, together with B-17 Flying Fortresses and British Lancasters, are shuttling between Bremen and the R. A. F. central bomber establishment at Markham, England, for the continuing tests.

A statement by United States Air Forces Headquarters here said the purpose was to determine "the full possibilities of destroying massive targets by earth-shock." British-developed bombs ranging up to 22,000 pounds and American 4,500-pound "rocket-assisted" armor-piercing bombs are used.

INCREASE IN WHEAT ORDERED BY STALIN

MOSCOW, May 20—(AP) Prime Minister Stalin ordered today the compulsory plowing under of all non-productive winter wheat lands and their replating with spring wheat for midsummer harvest.

The decree making compliance compulsory, was announced without comment and gave no indication of the extent of the acerage affected, but the firmness of the language left no room for doubting the Soviet government's interest in the grain crops situation.

Two American UNRRA officials said here last week that the wheat crop in the great Ukraine producing region was threatened with ruin because of prolonged drought, but there has been no mention of these reports in the Soviet press.

Lack of any official forecasts handicapped efforts to assess the crop situation in the Ukraine, but it was believed that no one will be able to predict the outcome until after June 15, when weather will no longer be a prime factor.

Until that date an overnight rain can wipe out effects of long weeks of drought. With the same suddenness hot winds blowing across the Volga from Kazakh can shrivel up millions of acres of wheat and destroy the whole season's work.

A report from the plenum central committee of the Communist party in the Ukraine said that by May 10 the collective farms had planted 94 per cent of all the spring crops, with 4,276,000 more acres planted than on the same date last year. No specific figures were given on wheat acreage.

Dutch Soldiers Unload Strike-Bound Ships

Amsterdam, May 20 (AP)—One thousands Dutch soldiers began unloading strikebound ships in Amsterdam port today after an appeal by Prime Minister Willem Schermerhorn brought only 100 volunteers from the ranks of 2,500 idle dockers.

At Rotterdam volunteers unloaded ships while 500 military police with 50 armored cars patroled the dock area.

However, 897 traitors are still awaiting execution in Belgian prisons, and more than 2,254 others are under death sentences imposed in absentia.

Swiss Journalists To Tour U. S.

Berne, May 20 (A. P.).—Four Swiss journalists will leave by air on Wednesday for a six weeks tour of the United States as guests of the State Department. The party will be composed of Dr. Carl Dolla, editor of the Conservative daily Ostschweiz of St. Gallen; Hugo Kramer, correspondent of the Swiss German Social Democratic and Laborite press in the French - speaking part of Switzerland; Jean Seitz, Parliamentary editor of the Gazette de Lausanne, and Eugen Dietschi, economic editor of the National Zeitung at Basle and a member of the Swiss National Council or lower House.

They will arrive in New York on Thursday.

Arabs, Jews In Protest

Jerusalem, May 20 (AP)—The United States and British governments today requested Arabs and Jews to submit by June 20 their formal views on the British-America Inquiry Committee's report on Palestine. Leaders of both groups immediately protested they had already made their positions clear.

The step was regarded as preliminary to a decision by both governments on whether to implement recommendations in the report, including the admission of 100,000 Jews into the Holy Land.

Will Meet Today

A spokesman for the Jewish agency said there would be no official statement until after a meeting tomorrow of the Inner Zionist Council, but he added:

"The general Jewish reaction to this request for our views is decidedly negative."

Dr. Izzat Tannous, member of the Arab Higher Committee, declaring "We have already given our views," summed up his group's attitude in this way:

"There are certain things in the report itself we accept, but we refute the recommendations entirely because they are biased and unfair."

To Await Chairman

He said the committee would begin consideration of a written statement as soon as Jamal Effendi Husseini, chairman, returns from talks with other Arab leaders in Damascus.

American consular officials in Jerusalem said they had received instructions from the United States State Department to solicit the views of the Jewish agency and the Arab Higher Committee. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British High Commissioner for Palestine, transmitted the request on behalf of his Government to three members of the higher committee, and to Dr. Bernhard Joseph, acting political director of the Jewish agency.

The representatives of the Jewish agency and the higher committee were asked to state specifically their reaction to each of the ten recommendations.

As To Form Of Government

In addition to permitting 100,000 Jews to enter Palestine the committee recommended that Palestine should be neither a Jewish nor Arab state, but one in which "the form of government ultimately to be established shall, under international guarantees, fully protect and preserve the interest in the Holy Land of Christendom and of the Moslem and Jewish faiths."

The report called for continuance of the British mandate on Palestine "pending the execution of a trusteeship agreement under the United Nations."

ASK FOR JEWISH AND ARAB VIEWS

U. S. and Britain Want Both Sides to State Stand.

Jerusalem, May 20 (A. P.).—The governments of Great Britain and the United States today asked Arabs and Jews of Palestine to express their views formally on the Anglo-American inquiry commission's report which recommends the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine. The consultation with Arabs and Jews is preliminary to a decision on whether to implement the report.

The American Consulate said the State Department cabled instructions to ask the Jewish Agency and the Arab Higher Committee to give their views by June 20. Lieut.-Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British High Commissioner for Palestine, called upon the two organizations this morning to present their formal views by the same date.

Haifa, May 20 (A. P.).—More than 1,000 homeless European Jews, who had arrived here yesterday on two motorships they chartered in Italy for an unauthorized dash to Palestine, were being assigned to transit camps in the Haifa area today as fast as the authorities could complete the formalities necessary to legalize their entry.

After embarking at La Spezia, Italy, early last month, the rufugees were detained there until May 5, when the British granted them certificates permitting their entry into Palestine. In the interim they staged a four-day hunger strike in protest against their detention.

'Keep U. S. Soldiers Out Of Palestine'

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Political Action Committee for Palestine today called on President Truman to reject any effort to send American troops to Palestine to preserve order.

Apparently referring to Prime Minister Attlee's statement that Britain wanted United States assistance in carrying out the recommendation of an Anglo-American commission for admission of 100,000 Jews, the organization wrote Mr. Truman:

"We urge you to reject this dastardly and callous ruse of British foreign policy. We urge you to insist in turn on the recognition by the British of the Jewish defense forces in Palestine and the Jewish brigade still detained outside the country they helped to defend."

The "Historic Boundaries"

The letter was made public at a press conference over which Senator Walsh (D., Mass.) presided. In a statement, the organization asserted the Jews are entitled to establish their own commonwealth "within the historic boundaries of Palestine, which include Trans-Jordan."

It maintained that the Jewish "problem should have been solved long ago by the establishment of a Jewish state.

Rabbi Baruch Korff, of New York City, said the organization would take "all sanctions" possible to gain its objectives. Asked if this meant sponsoring military action in Palestine, he replied, "We have 700,000 Jews there. They constitute a force. Draw your own conclusions."

NEW DELHI, India, May 20 (AP).—Two persons were killed and five injured tonight in an outbreak of rioting between Hindus and Moslems in the old city of Delhi.

Two Killed in Burma Riot

RANGOON, Burma, May 20 (AP).—Two persons were killed and five injured when police fired on a procession of several thousand demonstrating Saturday against the arrest at Tantabin, in the Insein district, of members of the "People's Volunteer Organization."

The arrests were the subject of a discussion today between Governor Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith and General Aung San, president of the Burmese People's Anti-Fascist League and organizer of the People's Volunteer Organization.

Yoshida Selects Conservative Cabinet

Tokyo, May 20 (AP)—A heavily Conservative Cabinet was named for Japan tonight after General MacArthur demanded that "disorderly minorities" cease "mass violence and the physical process of intimidation" or he would see that they did.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Joji Hayashi announced selection by Premier-designate Shigeru Yoshida of fifteen men—six Liberals, five nonpartisans and four Progressives. Complete approval by Supreme Headquarters, however, was reported doubtful.

Nasu Believed Unacceptable

Informed Japanese commented they doubted that one Dr. Hiroshi Nasu, nominee for Agriculture Minister, would be accepted, in view of his "conspicious" war record. They pointed out that he had been associated closely with the Ultra-Nationalistic Imperial Rule Association and was former adviser to the Japanese Government in Manchuria.

Yoshida himself would retain four posts, Prime Minister, Foreign Minister, First and Second Minister of Demobilization.

Others Appointed

The other Minister listed by Hayashi:

Seichi Omura, nonpartisan, Home Minister; Tanzan Ishibashi, Liberal, Finance; Chuzo Iwata, nonpartisan, Justice; Kotaro Tanaka, nonpartisan, Education; Yoshishige Kawai, Progressive, Welfare and Education; Hiroshi Nasu, nonpartisan, Agriculture; Jiro Hoshijima, Liberal, Commerce; Tsunejiro Hiratsuka, Liberal, Transport.

Kijuro Shidehara, Progressive; Takao Saito, Progressive; Etsujiro Euhara, Liberal, and Sadakichi Hitotsumatsu, Progressive—all State Ministers.

Joji Hayashi, Liberal, chief Cabinet secretary; Toshio Irie, nonpa[illegible], director of the Legislation Board.

Almost Admitted Failure

Yoshida earlier in the day had been declared by associates ready to admit failure in his attempt to form a Cabinet because of his inability to obtain individuals to fill the various posts. He was beset by the same criticism that caused Baron Kijuro Shidehara and his Cabinet to resign four weeks ago.

Labor organizations, Communists and other leftist groups criticized Yoshida's plan for a conservative Cabinet, called for a "popular front" government and demanded more food.

Yoshida decided to continue his attempts to form a Cabinet after General MacArthur's demand for cessation of "mass violence." The statement, although not identifying the "disorderly minorities," was interpreted by officers close to MacArthur as applying to those demonstrating publicly against Yoshida.

Well-informed Japanese said the Cabinet list had been forwarded to MacArthur for consideration, but officers at Supreme Headquarters said the list had not been received tonight. Late reports indicated the Cabinet nominees would be presented to Emperor Hirohito tomorrow and, if approved by him, would be invested by him at once. It was apparent, however, that the Emperor would get MacArthur's concurrence before approving a Cabinet.

Although MacArthur's statement did not identify the "minor elements," Brig. Gen. Frayne Baker, supreme headquarters public relations officer, said MacArthur had in mind the demonstration staged Sunday by Left-wing groups which oppose Yoshida and demanded more food and establishment of a "popular front" government.

Col. L. E. Bunker, aide to MacArthur, said he believed the statement referred to a mob storming the Prime Minister's official residence two days before the April 10 election, manhandling of police at yesterday's demonstration and several recent incidents in which Labor-Communist delegations pushed their way through the Imperial Palace gates with petitions for the Emperor.

Described As Menace

MacArthur said the demonstrations constitute "a menace not only to the orderly government but to the basic purposes and security of the occupation itself."

A Communist-led delegation of 30 still camped outside the Premier's office, demanding that Yoshida step aside in favor of a liberal coalition government. But Yoshida's headquarters said he longed to give up the battle to form a Cabinet but that present circumstances compelled him to finish the job.

Tokyo, May 20 (AP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida tonight named a coalition cabinet dominated by conservatives to govern Japan.

The selections were announced by Joji Hayashi, chief Cabinet secretary, but immediately doubts arose whether Yoshida would be able to gain approval for all members of his proposed government.

It was expected he formally would present the slate to the Emperor tomorrow morning.

Agriculture Post At Stake

Prof. Hiroshi Nasu, nominated to be Minister of Agriculture, appeared to be the stumbling block. He has a "conspicuous" record of war activity, Japanese pointed out.

FOR ASSAULTING G. I.'S

Yokohama, May 20 (A. P.).—One Japanese was sentenced to life imprisonment and three others to twenty years each by an Eighth Army Military Occupation Court today, which found them guilty of assaulting two American soldiers.

The defendants did not testify but placed on the stand many character witnesses who told of the organization of an unofficial group of Japanese for the purpose of protection of their neighborhood from burglaries and robberies which witnesses declared were committed by occupation troops.

Pfc. John J. Unger of Stillwell, Okla., and Pfc. James O. Thomas of Eubank, Ky., testified that they missed their train April 28 and started to walk home when they were set upon and beate with sticks and at least one wooden rifle by a group of Japanese. No testimony connected Unger or Thomas personally with any of the reported thefts.

Eisaku Murakami received the life sentence and Chojiro Nikura, Tokutaro Kurasawa and Kihroku Kanno were given 20-year terms.

Press Wireless Gets Rights in Japan

Tokyo, May 20 (A. P.).—Press Wireless, Inc., was granted equal rights today with RCA Communications and Mackay Radio Telegraph Company in handling "victory letter telegrams" between Japan and the United States, Supreme headquarters advised the Japanese Government.

VL telegrams are messages usually handled through the Red Cross as distinguished from emergency and form messages.

Binge After 20 Years

Kyoto, Japan, May 20 (AP) — A twenty-year ride on the water wagon was ended last week by 310 Japanese farmers by a sake party which really made history in their village.

Intelligence officers heard of the "large" evening and unearthed the following yarn:

Twenty years ago the 310 farmers comprising the western Honshu village of Kawaidani couldn't produce 45,000 yen among them for the construction of a new primary school. So ashamed were they of their position that they agreed to abstain from sake, the nation's leading liquor, for twenty years.

During that period the farmers saved 1,500,000 yen, built their school and used the rest for village improvements. Last week the time was up and the twenty-year thirsts were slaked in adequate fashion.

To Distribute U. S. Flour in Japan

Tokyo, May 20 (A. P.).—The distribution of 8,705 long tons of wheat flour from the United States will be started in the Tokyo-Yokohama area this week, Capt. H. F. Smith, Allied Chief of Staple Foods announced today.

The normal ration distribution is running from eight to ten days behind schedule and the food situation is at a critical stage, Smith said.

Army Strikes At Tokyo Black Market In Pearls

Tokyo, May 20 (AP)—In an attempt to stop illegal dealing in pearls, Supreme Headquarters today suspended their retail sale except by authorized dealers.

Three months ago dealers were permitted to sell pearl stocks on hand.

A spokesman from the headquarters export-import section said, "notwithstanding that stocks should be on the verge of exhaustion in retail stores, the amount of pearls displayed reveals a plentiful supply."

Japanese were warned the ban would be enforced rigidly and spot checks taken, with punitive action imposed where violators are found.

Marshall Blasts China Rivals for Stirring Hates

Blames Both Sides, Warns of a General Conflagration and Disaster to Nation

By The Associated Press

NANKING, May 20.—General George C. Marshall charged warring Chinese factions today with fomenting hate campaigns that threaten "a general conflagration" and disaster to the nation.

Urgency was lent to the special American envoy's extraordinary statement by the announcement early today that Chinese government troops had captured the Manchurian railroad stronghold of Szepingkai from the Communists, and by press dispatches describing extensive conflicts in the North China provinces of Jehol, Hopeh and Shantung.

NIGHT

A government military headquarters spokesman said tonight that despite yesterday's newly signed truce in Shantung, 30,000 Communists still were closely threatening Tsinan, provincial capital, and that the government was rushing in air-borne reinforcements.

The Communist New China News Agency said five transport planes a day were taking troops of the government's 12th and 96th Armies to Tsinan, and that the government forces had launched an offensive south of the city—one of three directions from which government reports accused the Communists of attacking.

The government army spokesman said also that lines were being drawn for a new battle for Tsaochwang, railroad city in Kiangsu Province, immediately south of Shantung. Tsaochwang is 200 miles north of Nanking.

[The fighting, originally local, appeared to be forming a comprehensible pattern, with the government seeking to extend and protect its spearhead into Manchuria and the Communists striving to slice it off at its base.]

Marshall's statement, issued to the press, declared he was deeply concerned "over the critical situation in North China," and that he was striving "by every means" to avoid the spread of fighting.

Both sides, he said, were conducting "reckless propaganda of hate and suspicion which seriously aggravates the present grave situation and can lead to disastrous results for the people of China."

This propaganda, Marshall asserted, "naturally inflames feelings and increases the possibility of some hothead precipitating a general conflagration."

Since the Japanese surrender last September, Chinese Nationalist and Communist factions have been accusing each other of aggression and ulterior motives, and the charges have grown increasingly bitter in recent weeks.

The truce and unity program which Marshall pushed through last January has deteriorated rapidly, yet truce-inspection teams are still in the field.

American members of these teams, Marshall said pointedly, are risking their lives in a determined and impartial effort to improve the situation, and "on the success of these teams China largely depends for her efforts at least to localize if not suppress the conflicts."

Despite this, he noted, the teams' operations are made vastly more difficult by "the spreading propaganda among officers and soldiers of both sides."

General Tu Li-ming, government commander for Manchuria, 70 per cent of which is Communist-controlled, announced that his 1st Army had captured Szepingkai after thirty-two days of siege. The Communists at Szepingkai have barred the path of government forces to Changchun, Communist-held capital of Manchuria, seventy miles to the northeast.

Pro-government press dispatches said the Communist garrison of 10,000 men was routed by a five-way assault.

Communist forces totaling 26,000 were said by government dispatches to be advancing southeastward in Jehol Province toward the flank of the government salient, with less than fifty miles to go. Peiping dispatches said the government had warned them to fall back or be counter-attacked by Nationalist forces east and west of Jehol. Truce headquarters sent a special team to the area.

Other Chinese press dispatches from the northeast said government troops had recaptured the town of Chungtsienso, just north of the Great Wall on the coastal railway leading to Manchuria, and was pressing a drive in Hopeh Province south of Peiping to clear Communists off the flank of its main north-south railway.

Marshall Blasts Both Sides In China Strife

MAY 1 1948

Nanking, May 20 (AP)—General Marshall, American peace envoy to China, sharply criticized both Communist and Government factions today for their part in the Chinese civil war.

Saying he was deeply concerned over "the critical situation in North China" and was endeavoring "by every means" to prevent the spread of general fighting from Manchuria southward, Marshall censured both factions for their propaganda campaigns, which he said "naturally inflame feelings and increase the possibility of some hotheads precipitating a general conflagration."

"Reckless Propaganda"

"The reckless propaganda of hate and suspicion," Marshall said, "seriously aggravates the present situation and can lead to results which will be disastrous to the people of China."

The American General made these charges in a press release shortly after the capture of Szepingkai by Government forces had been announced at army headquarters in Mukden and confirmed by Government sources at Peiping.

The American envoy said that the operation of the Sino-Communist-American truce teams was made especially difficult by the "spreading of propaganda among officers and soldiers of both sides, and on the success of these teams China largely depends for her effort to at least localize if not to suppress the conflicts."

Risking Their Lives

He commented that the American members of the teams were coping with conditions which involved the risk of their lives in their determined efforts for impartial betterment of the situation.

Marshall himself is in daily negotiation with representatives of the factions, political parties and others concerning the restoration of peace in Manchuria.

The release was Marshall's first official cognizance of the violent campaign of words which has attended the fighting in Manchuria in recent weeks.

Recent Verbal Battles

Both the Government and the Communists have unleashed bitter propaganda assaults. The Government's Central Daily News at Nanking has been specially critical of Communist intentions and linked Marshall with the proposal that Changchun, Communist-held Manchurian capital, be returned to the Nationalists as a condition for further conversations toward ending the Manchurian conflict.

The Communists promptly denied that Marshall was concerned with the proposal, which they said came directly from the Government.

Marshall's release today was interpreted as an answer to these assertions.

Team Sent To Jehol

[Meanwhile, truce-team executive headquarters at Peiping dispatched a special cease-fire field team to southeastern Jehol province, where an estimated 26,000 Communist troops were reported by Government sources to be attacking along a 200-mile front.

[Government source said that two columns of Red soldiers, one of 16,000 and the other 10,000, were attacking the Nationalist 13th Army in the Peipiao area. The Communists were reported driving toward Chaoyang, Pingchuan, Linyuan and Chinling after having captured Peipiago.

[Nationalist spokesman issued a warning to the Communists that unless the Red advance was halted two Nationalist armies flanking Jehol province on the east and west would counterattack.]

Meanwhile, 70 miles to the northeast of Szepingkai lay Communist-held Changchun, prime objective of the 1st Army, but between it and the Manchurian capital were thousands of Communist troops, armed with artillery.

The Communists were reported lunging out 250 miles to the southwest in Jehol province, aiming to drive another Government army to the sea and cut the supply line to Manchuria.

Moves Elsewhere

The rising fury of the fighting in the north overshadowed a Government drive south of Peiping and a new truce in Shantung province that lifted a Communist threat to Tsinan, the provincial capital.

From his headquarters in Mukden, Gen. Tu Li-ming, Government commander, announced the capture of Szepingkai after a struggle into which the Government threw some of its finest troops.

[Afternoon dispatches to Peiping disagreed in almost every instance, however, on the fighting.

[The semi-official newspaper Cheng Pao said that Government troops "entered" Szepingkai, routing 10,000 Communist troops, but said the National forces were not expected actually to take over the city until later in the day. Government sources in Peiping later confirmed the capture.

[Cheng Pao likewise failed to mention the truce at Tsinan and asserted that 40,000 Red troops, in three columns, were attacking. The Communist World Daily News reported that the Communist blockade had been tightened around the city.]

General Sun Arrives

Tu's report on Szepingkai said Lieut. Gen. Sun Li-jen, who helped beat the Japanese in Burma, hurried back from a visit to the United States and reached the front yesterday in time to lead his United States-equipped army in the assault.

Communist sources, while not conceding Szepingkai, said the 1st Army brought up two fresh divisions and went over to the attack on Wednesday. They said six successive assaults were repulsed that first day.

In the new truce agreement in central Shantung province, Communists agreed to give up four towns they had captured, release prisoners and return to their original positions.

Communist dispatches asserted that between Tsinan and Peiping, in central Hopeh province, 9,000 Government troops with tanks and warplanes launched an attack Wednesday.

Appeal to U.N. Hinted by Byrnes Unless Peace Conference Is Called

WASHINGTON, May 20—(AP) Secretary of State Byrnes, aiming his words straight at Russia, declared tonight that no one of the great powers has a right to veto the making of peace in Europe.

He said that if a general peace conference is not called this summer, the United States will appeal to the United Nations assembly to make peace recommendations.

Peace Offensive Launched

In a fighting speech in which he repeatedly expressed confidence that peace, though difficult, can be built, Byrnes declared that the United States at the Paris foreign ministers conference started an "offensive for peace" and will not halt the drive until it wins its objective—"not a peace founded upon vengeance or greed, but a just peace, the only peace that can endure."

"There is no iron curtain that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate," he said in a report on the Paris conference broadcast to the nation.

He declared that the results of his negotiations with Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia, Bidault of France and Bevin of Britain at Paris had been disappointingly small in comparison with what might have been accomplished. But he said they exceeded his expectations at the time he suggested this spring that the council convene. At that time the great powers appeared hopelessly deadlocked.

In discussion of problems still in disagreement, Byrnes stressed especially his determination to put through his proposal for a 25-year German control treaty, his insistence on the prompt withdrawal of Allied armies from Austria, and his demand that a peace conference of all the nations which helped win the European war, be called either July 1 or July 15.

This demand, he declared, was blocked at Paris by the Soviet delegation which relied on the requirement for unanimous agreement among the four ministers to insist that no invitations to a peace conference be sent until all fundamental questions of the proposed peace treaties have been settled.

The purpose of the conference orously with the Austrian treaty." Molotov, he reported, declined to discuss this at Paris, but he declared it is essential to bringing about peaceful conditions in Europe.

The most important single result of the Paris conference, Byrnes said, was the final agreement of the powers to a revision of the Italian armistice terms, to give the Italian government "the largest possible freedom that can be given to it without a formal peace treaty."

"The council of foreign ministers," Byrnes said, "was formed to facilitate and not obstruct the making of peace."

He described the building of "a people's peace" as a long hard process which cannot be carried out "by flashing diplomatic triumphs."

"It requires patience and firmness, tolerance and understanding," he said. "We must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression they can impose their will on us."

Byrnes said that while the foreign ministers differed on many fundamental points they did get to know "what those fundamental points were and the varying weight the different ministers attached to those points."

He declared that "the progress toward peace at Paris was infinitely greater than I expected when I suggested that the council should meet in Paris preparatory to the prompt calling of a peace conference.

Byrnes reviewed big four differences over a peace settlement with Italy, reported prospective compromises on reparations and colony dispositions, and declared that he believed those and other questions would soon be solved "if only a solution of the Trieste problem could be found."

He made it clear that on that territorial issue, in which Russia backs Yugoslavia and the western powers back Italy, there is no compromise or other agreement in sight.

would be to make treaties with Italy, the Balkan states and Finland. The foreign ministers failed to agree on any major issue of those treaties, but Byrnes said he believes that if a solution agreeable to the western powers and Russia could be formed on the problem of Trieste, then other problems would be solved quite readily.

"If we cannot have a peace conference until the four nations agree on every subject deemed fundamental by any one of them, that will give to one member of the council the power to stop all efforts toward peace," Byrnes said.

Rather than have that happen, he added, it would be better to call a peace conference and submit treaty drafts where the great powers had agreed and where they had not, and allow world opinion to "point the way to a final settlement."

"If a peace conference is not called this summer," Byrnes emphatically stated, "the United States will feel obligated to request the General Assembly of the United Nations under Article 14 of the Charter to make recommendations with respect to the peace settlements.

"But I confidently expect a peace conference to be called this summer."

Warns Against Isolation

Byrnes warned the nation against feeling that it may be too difficult to cooperate in restoring Europe and deciding to retire into "our own hemisphere."

"We must not forget," he said, "that if we fail to cooperate in a peace which is indivisible, we may again find that we will have to cooperate in a war which is worldwide."

The peace objective can be won, the secretary continued, if the United States will display "initiative, resourcefulness, and unrelenting effort."

Byrnes returned Saturday from the Paris meeting, accompanied by his Capital hill advisers, Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, a leading Republican spokesman on foreign affairs.

Vandenberg, who had been expected to make his own full scale report on the conference in the Senate tomorrow, indicated today that he would make only a brief statement on the floor at that time. He did not foreclose the possibility, however, that he might deliver a major address on the subject later, when pending labor legislation before the Senate is disposed of.

Connally also is expected to tell the lawmakers about the Paris proceedings.

At many points, Byrnes touched upon the problem of relations with Russia though he did not always so specify them.

At one point he said that security is the concern of all nations but that "the effort of one nation to increase its security may threaten the security of other nations and cause them in turn to try to increase their own security."

The result, he said, may be "less rather than more security."

Wants 25-Year Treaty

It was in this connection that he brought up his proposal, formally made and publicly announced during the Paris meeting, for a 25 year treaty of the great powers to keep Germany disarmed and in check. He said he first discussed this last summer with President Truman when the two were going to Potsdam. He first proposed it to the foreign ministers at London last September and he discussed it informally with Generalissimo Stalin last Christmas eve in Moscow.

In February, he said, he sent a draft of the treaty to the Russian, British and French governments and when he finally brought it up at Paris, the British and French approved it in the main but the Russians immediately began to object. Byrnes expressed the hope that after Moscow had studied it more fully, it would approve the project.

He also announced that he would renew at the next session of the foreign ministers June 15 the plan he put forward in Paris for appointment of special deputy foreign ministers to draw up a German peace settlement. Russia has turned that down for the time being.

Furthermore, Byrnes announced the intention of the United States government to "press forward vigparatory to the prompt calling of a peace conference. The ministers did come to Paris seriously intending to pave the way for a peace conference. We differed considerably on a number of fundamental points; but we did come to know what those fundamental points were and the varying weight the different ministers attached to those points.

Reparations Position Simple

We found that there were three basic issues outstanding on the Italian treaty: Reparations, the colonies and the Italian-Yugoslav boundary, particularly as it concerns the Italian city of Trieste.

In summarizing the significance of these basic issues, I shall deliberately seek to avoid intensifying the conflict in viewpoints.

Our position on reparations is simple. To enable the Italian nation to live we have already advanced directly or indirectly $900,000,000. We should prefer in the interest of peace to forget about reparations. But we are willing to agree to limited reparations, provided these do not deprive Italy of resources necessary to enable her to subsist without external assistance.

If Italy requires help from others she will look to us. And we made it clear we are not going to advance millions of dollars to enable Italy to produce goods to be paid as reparations to any of our Allies.

A Question Of War Booty

The Soviet Government has insisted on reparations for itself of $100,000,000. We have pointed out certain sources from which reparations can be taken which would not seriously affect the Italian economy and which would yield substantially the amount which the Soviets claim. But the Soviet Government is unwilling to count what she will obtain from some of these sources as reparations.

For example, she insists that some of the naval ships surrendered by Italy to the navies of the United States and Britain be shared with her. She declares the ships are war booty. But war booty belongs to the nation capturing it.

The Soviet Union has never shared with Allied nations any war booty captured by her. We are willing to give to her in lieu of reparations some of the naval ships surrendered to us. She demands the ships but refuses to consider them as a substitute for reparations. She insists upon being paid out of current production. We would have to finance the production, and therefore I refused to agree to the proposal.

Differences Narrowed

Differences regarding the colonies have been narrowed but not

Byrnes Statement

Washington, May 20, (AP)—The text of Secretary of State Byrnes's report tonight on the Paris Conference of the Big Four Foreign Ministers follows:

I wish to talk with you about the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers at Paris. On that mission, I was accompanied by Senator Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Vandenberg, a Republican member of that committee. I cannot adequately express my appreciation of their wise counsel and loyal co-operation.

Senator Connally was exceedingly helpful. Senator Vandenberg, by his wholehearted co-operation, let the world know that regardless of how much he and his party may disagree with the Administration about domestic issues, in our relations with foreign governments we have but one policy, the policy of the United States.

Building the foundations of a people's peace in a war-shattered world is a long, hard process. A people's peace cannot be won by flashing diplomatic triumphs. It requires patience and firmness, tolerance and understanding. We must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression they can impose their will on us.

Peace Progress Small

The progress made toward peace at the Paris meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers was disappointingly small in light of the expectations we had when it was agreed at Moscow last December that the Council should resume the work which had been interrupted by our inability to agree at London last September.

But the progress toward peace at Paris was infinitely greater than I expected when I suggested that the Council should meet in Paris pre-resolved. The Soviet Government receded from its claim for a trusteeship of Tripolitania, first in favor of a joint Soviet-Italian trusteeship and later in favor of an Italian trusteeship as originally proposed by the French.

Our position has always been that the colonies should be placed under United Nations trusteeship, having as its objective the welfare of the inhabitants and their independence at the earliest practicable date. The Trusteeship Council should appoint a neutral administrator responsible to it, thus avoiding all possible rivalry between the powers. Libya and Eritrea should be granted independence in ten years.

It is open to question whether Italy is in an economic position to assume the responsibility of trusteeship and whether the return of the colonies to Italy as trustee takes sufficiently into account the wishes of the inhabitants. For these reasons it was with considerable reluctance that I indicated my willingness to yield to the French suggestion of an Italian trusteeship if that would bring about an agreement in the Council, and if it were agreed that a definite date would be fixed for the independence of Libya and Eritrea. But the French Government was unwilling to agree to a fixed date for independence.

U.S. Proposal Again Urged

The British felt that because of their promises during the war they could not agree to an Italian trusteeship for territory occupied by the Senussi tribes. For security reasons they also proposed a British trusteeship for Cyrenaica.

When no agreement was reached, I again urged the original American proposal for a United Nations trusteeship.

It was my impression that agreement on reparations and the colonies as well as on a host of other questions would not be long delayed if only a solution of the Trieste problem could be found. The Soviet representative finally indicated that there would be no serious question on the cession of the Dodecanese Islands to Greece but he refused to approve it until the other territorial dispositions could be agreed upon.

The experts appointed to investigate the Italian-Yugoslav frontier did not differ as to the facts. But the Soviet representative differs from the other members of the Council as to the conclusions to be drawn from the facts. It is his position that Venezia Giulia must be treated as an inseparable whole, and that so treated the claim of Yugoslavia to the area is superior to that of Italy.

Error After World War I

The other representatives believe that wise statesmanship as well as the explicit decision taken by the Council at London requires a boundary line which will in the main be an ethenic line leaving a minimum of people under alien rule.

It was wrong to give Italy the whole of Venezia Giulia after World War I. It would be equally wrong to give Yugoslavia the whole of Venezia Giulia now. It would transfer from Italy to Yugoslavia approximately 500,000 Italians.

The British and French experts proposed ethnic lines more favorable to Yugoslavia than our own. In an effort to reach agreement we stated we were willing to accept the British or French line or any other ethnic line that could be justified upon the basis of the London decision.

Plebiscite Suggested

The American delegation suggested a plebiscite for the area between the line proposed by the United States and the line proposed by the Soviet Union—but the Soviet delegation would not consider a plebiscite except for the whole Venezia Giulia area.

All of us are agreed that Yugoslavia and the countries of Central Europe which have for years used the port of Trieste shall have free access to Trieste at which there shall be a free port under international control. But we will continue to appeal to the Soviet Government and the Yugoslav Government not to press for a boundary line which will needlessly violate ethnic principles and will breed trouble in the future.

Agreement on the Balkan treaties is blocked principally by the inability of the Council to agree upon the economic clauses. Agreement on these provisions may have been delayed as part of a bargaining process, although so far the Soviet Government has stood out against the inclusion in the treaties of any provision which would promise freedom of commerce on the Danube, the gateway to Central and Eastern Europe.

Recess Expected To Help

If the Soviet Government is opposed, as the United States Government is opposed, to the formation of exclusive political and economic blocs, they will not persist in their refusal to permit the countries of Central Europe to open their gates to the commerce of all nations.

It is regrettable that our outstanding differences on the treaties could not have been adjusted at our recent meeting in Paris. A short recess to allow a calm reexamination of our respective positions should expedite agreement when we reconvene. But when a world short of goods and short of food is crying for the return of conditions of peace, we cannot indefinitely delay the making of peace and the withdrawal of troops from occupied areas. The four Allied governments cannot indefinitely delay the making of peace with countries which they have long ceased to fight, simply because they cannot agree among themselves on peace terms. The Council of Foreign Ministers was formed to facilitate and not obstruct the making of peace.

Main Issues Defined

It was for that reason that the American delegation proposed that the Council at its next meeting on June 15 should conclude as far as possible its work on the proposed drafts, but that the date for the peace conference should be definitely fixed for July 1 or July 15 and invitations should be issued at once.

It was our view that the Council had taken sufficient time to try to narrow their differences and at this stage with the principal issues defined, we should not deny to our other war partners their right to participate. The making of peace is not the exclusive prerogative of any four governments.

The Soviet delegation insisted that invitations for the conference could not be sent until we had reconvened and agreed on all fundamental questions. Unanimous agreement was necessary and we were forced, therefore, to recess without agreement for the actual calling of the peace conference.

While the American delegation will, when the Council reconvenes, make every effort to reach agreement on fundamental questions, it will renew its demand for the calling of a peace conference on July 1 or July 15.

Peace Conference Expected

If we cannot have a peace conference until the four nations agree on every subject deemed fundamental by any one of them, that will give to one member of the Council the power to stop all efforts toward peace.

It would be better for the Council to submit to the peace conference a single draft of each treaty and to set forth in the draft both the matters on which agreement had been reached and those on which agreement had not been reached. This would permit free discussion in the peace conference by all the nations that did the fighting, and world opinion will then point the way to a final settlement.

If a peace conference is not called this summer, the United States will feel obliged to request the General Assembly of the United Nations under Article 14 of the Charter to make recommendations with respect to the peace settlements. But I confidently expect a peace conference to be called this summer.

Offensive For Peace

The situation which we will face in the coming months will be a test not only of others but of ourselves. There are now and there will be in the future many occasions which might impel us to say as we did after the last war that much as we would like to co-operate in the restoration of Europe, co-operation as a practical matter is impossible without the sacrifice of our principles and that we must be content to cultivate and defend our own hemisphere.

But we must not forget that if we fail to co-operate in a peace which is indivisible we may again find that we will have to co-operate in a war which is world-wide. Whether we like it or not, we live in one world.

I am unwilling to admit that we cannot co-operate without sacrifice of our principles. If we are going to play our part we must take the offensive for peace as we took the offensive for war.

But the victories of peace like those of war require sacrifice, not of principle, but for principle. They require faith in ourselves and in our ideals. They require initiative, resourcefulness, and unrelenting effort. There is no iron curtain that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate.

Concern Of Every Nation

The American delegation at Paris did not hesitate to start the offensive for peace.

Security is the concern of every nation. But the effort of one nation to increase its security may threaten the security of other nations and cause them in turn to try to increase their own security. The quest for security may lead to less rather than more security in the world.

It is in truth extremely difficult to know to what extent the action of any nation may be ascribed to its quest for security or to its desire to expand. But some so-called security moves on the diplomatic checkerboard have not contributed to a general sense of security.

Many of these moves are said to originate in the fear of the revival of German military might.

On our way to Potsdam last summer President Truman and I discussed this situation and agreed that it should be American policy to disarm Germany and keep her disarmed and to do what we can to prevent a struggle between the powers for the control of Germany which might give Germany the chance to divide and conquer.

Not A New Thought

Those principles were stated in the Potsdam agreement. But President Truman and I thought at that time that the policy of disarming Germany and keeping Germany disarmed for a definite period of years should become a part of a solemn treaty between the principal Allied powers. Our policy should be to prevent war and not to wait until aggression gets out of hand.

It was not a new thought. It had been foreshadowed in the Moscow declaration of 1943. Others had discussed it, but no one more forcefully than Senator Vandenberg in a speech in the Senate in January, 1945.

At the London meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, when the Soviet foreign secretary seemed greatly concerned about the Soviet security requirements in the Balkans, I suggested a 25-year four-power treaty, to keep Germany disarmed as a means of preventing any real threat to Soviet security. I explained that we contemplated a similar joint guaranty of the disarmament of Japan.

Russian Objections

I again proposed such a treaty in a talk with Generalissimo Stalin on December 24 while I was in Moscow. The Generalissimo said that if the United States made such a proposal he would wholeheartedly support it.

Later, I also spoke to Mr. Bevin who advised me that he personally was most sympathetic to the suggestion.

In February, I sent a working draft of the proposed treaty for German disarmament to the Soviet, British and the French Governments and the proposed treaty for Japanese disarmament to the Soviet, British and Chinese Governments. I invited their suggestions as to the draft.

I was informed by Mr. Bevin and M. Bidault that they favored the proposal in principle but would have a few suggestions to make. I did not hear from Mr. Molotov. Just before the Paris meeting, I advised the ministers I would like to discuss the proposal at Paris. The Soviet Minister agreed to discuss it informally but stated without specification that there were serious objections to the draft.

Soviet Support Desired

At Paris the Soviet representative stated he first wanted to know if Germany was being disarmed as contemplated by the Potsdam agreement and he feared the treaty might delay immediate disarmament. I pointed out that our proposal could not fairly be so construed: that it did not lessen the obligation to disarm Germany now but provided machinery to keep Germany disarmed.

To remove any question as to our purpose I asked General Clay to request the Allied Control Council to appoint representatives with power to go into every zone and make a report as to the disarmament of Germany.

Later the Soviet representative stated that when Generalissimo Stalin agreed with me to support the treaty I did not have a draft of it. He said that as it could not become effective until after a German treaty was signed, consideration of it could be delayed.

It is our sincere hope that after the Soviet Union studies our proposal and comes to appreciate our earnest desire to see Germany disarmed, and kept disarmed, the Soviet Union will support it wholeheartedly.

Agreement Necessary

While the making of the German peace settlement may take some time, we took the initiative at Paris to propose the immediate appointment of special deputies to prepare a peace settlement which could be considered at a general Allied conference, the date of which should be fixed by the Council at its next session.

While there is no German Government yet which could accept the settlement, agreement among the Allies on the nature of the settlement is necessary to enable the Allies to know the goal toward which the Allied occupation and administration should be directed and the kind of German Government which should be created to accept the settlement.

I also asked that the special deputies on Germany be instructed to report on several pressing problems, including boundary and economic questions. We cannot, for example, continue to carry out the reparation program if Germany is not to be administered as an economic unit as agreed upon at Potsdam. Whatever boundaries are agreed upon for Germany, she must be able to subsist without external assistance. We cannot subsidize Germany to enable her to pay reparations to other nations.

Austrian Treaty Emphasized

I regret that the Soviet representative was not prepared to act upon my proposal for the appointment of special deputies without further study. I shall renew my proposal when the Council reconvenes.

Important as the German questions are and eager as we are to press for their speedy solution, we must not and cannot delay the peace settlements with other countries. At Potsdam it was agreed that the start should be made with Italy, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Finland. While Germany must remain under occupation for some time, we cannot fail to do our part to rid the rest of Europe of the burden of the forces of occupation. There can be no recovery in Europe until we do.

It is particularly important that we press forward vigorously with the Austrian treaty. The Moscow declaration on Austria contemplated that Austria should be regarded more as a liberated than as a satellite country. It was agreed at Potsdam that no reparations would be taken from her. She was one of the first countries in Central Europe to have free elections following the liberation. The continuance of foreign troops in Austria is an undue burden on her economy.

A Chance To Live And Breathe

In February we asked that the treaty be prepared along with other treaties for satellite states. At Paris I insisted upon its preparation but the Soviet representative declined to discuss the Austrian treaty or say when he would consider it.

The making of peace with Austria is essential to the restoration of anything like conditions of peace in Europe. As long as there is no peace with Austria and foreign troops remain on her soil, military communication lines will continue to be maintained in Rumania and Hungary and possibly Italy.

If peace could be made with Austria concurrently with the treaties now under consideration, there would be no necessity or excuse for a single soldier on foreign soil in Europe with the exception of Germany and a line of communication through Poland. European states would have a chance to live and breathe.

It is American policy to press unremittingly for the conclusion of peace settlements to make possible the withdrawal of troops from countries where they do not belong and where they impose unjustified economic and social difficulties upon the people. And even without waiting for the conclusion of peace treaties it is American policy to press for the reduction of occupation troops in all countries.

Offensive Only Begun

Our policy of continuing to press for the return of conditions of peace, without regard to the making of formal peace treaties, finally yielded some constructive results in the case of Italy. For months we have been urging the revision of the Italian armistice so as to restore virtually complete sovereignty to Italy except in the colonies and in the controversial Venezia Giulia area. At Paris this revision was agreed to.

While the absence of a peace treaty still handicaps Italy in her effort to rebuild her broken economic and political life, the revised armistice gives the Italian Government the largest possible freedom that can be given to it without a formal peace treaty.

Our problems are serious, but I am not discouraged. Our offensive to secure peace has only begun. We are determined to work for political and economic peace in Europe, in the Near East and in the rest of the world. We shall work for it in the peace conferences and in the councils of the United Nations. The objective of our offensive is not territory or reparations for the United States. The objective is peace—not a peace founded upon vengeance or greed, but a just peace, the only peace that can endure.

Senators Praise Speech By Byrnes

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Secretary Byrnes's report on the Paris foreign ministers' conference drew unstinted praise tonight from several senators but sharp criticism from Senator Pepper (D., Fla.).

Senator Connally (D., Texas), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, who went to Paris with Byrnes as an adviser, characterized the report "as very lucid and comprehensive," delivered "with a fine grasp of the situation."

Sees "Another Failure"

Pepper, on the other hand, said the Cabinet officer's address spelled out the conference as "another failure."

Senator McClellan (D., Ark.) said flatly "I approve of everything Mr. Byrnes said."

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Byrnes's statement "was chuck full of factual data that the American people will appreciate." He added:

"It was a very diplomatic way of telling Russia we don't like the way she is doing in this reconstruction period of the world."

Senator George (D., Ga.) said Byrnes' talk was "a frank and candid statement of the difficulties he encountered."

TRUMAN SEES CRITICAL DAYS IN FAMINE AREA

Message to Food Group Tells of Task Facing U. S. and Other Nations.

HOOVER URGES SOME CHANGES

Favors Single Administrator and New Board—Proposes Sale of Supplies After September 1.

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—President Truman informed the International Food Conference today that the remaining weeks before the 1946 grain harvest will be especially critical in famine areas. He said that the United States and other countries in a position to help must continue and heighten their efforts.

Mr. Truman's statement was made in a welcoming talk read by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson before an opening meeting of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations, called to map a broad fight on long-term famine conditions.

"In meeting at this critical period," the President's message said, "you have heavy responsibilities and great opportunities.

Mr. Truman's message said:

"What this conference accomplishes or fails to accomplish will make its mark not only in the areas where people are hungry as the aftermath of war, but in all parts of the earth and for a long time to come."

The President said that any steps toward feeding the world's families better and making the fullest use of the products of farms and fisheries is a step toward winning and securing the peace.

Sees No Early Solution.

The wide scarcity of bread grains, Mr. Truman said, cannot be completely overcome with the 1946 harvest. Deficits in livestock products, he added, will continue for a long time.

The conference named Secretary Anderson its permanent chairman.

Herbert Hoover, addressing the session, urged the creation by September 1 of a broad international food administration to spur production and guide distribution of supplies. He declared there is need for drastic reorganization of the world fight on famine

Hoover said that the food administration he suggested should take over the food and agriculture activities of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and the British-Canadian-American combined food board, as well as all other world agencies connected with food and agriculture.

Hoover said the food administration, which he suggested be named the United Nations Food Administration, be directed by a single food administrator and a small advisory committee. He said that it should be the administration's purpose to return to normal commerce the food, fertilizer and farm supply business of the world "with all speed possible."

"Moreover," he said, "the world must quit charity as a basis of widespread food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient."

Would End Charity.

Hoover said that after September 1 nations should finance their own food purchases by other means than charity.

Delay in formation of such an organization until September 1, he added, would give time to check on world food supplies to be available during the 1946-47 year.

"We can hope," he said, "for some breathing spell from the tensity of the present situation at that time."

The proposed food administration would serve only during the period of food scarcity and agriculture reconstruction from the war.

Asserting that the food problem should be directly under the auspices of the United Nations Security Council the former President said:

"The primary purpose of the United Nations is to give security and peace to the world. Effective distribution of food during scarcity and the reconstruction of agriculture, and above all, the reconstruction of human beings, are essential to order and peace of the world. The first voice of war is the guns, but the final voice in making peace is food."

URGES DRASTIC FOOD CHANGES

Hoover Calls For New U.N. Group, With Single Head

New York, May 20 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today on his return from Washington that he plans to leave Saturday for South America. He will study the food situtions there.

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Herbert Hoover today recommended a new United Nations food administration, with a single administrator at its head and with a mandate to take the world's food business out of governmental hands and into normal commercial channels as swiftly as possible.

Calling for "drastic reorganization" in international efforts to fight hunger, he said:

"Commerce will secure more economical distribution. It will serve with far more assurance and efficiency to farmers, merchants and consumers than governments."

At Opening Of Session

Hoover delivered the recommendation to the opening session of a food conference under the auspices of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

President Truman, in a message to the conference, said that the remaining weeks before the 1946 grain harvest will be especially critical and that all nations "must continue and heighten their efforts." He added that livestock deficits will continue for a long time.

The President's message was read by Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, who was named permanent chairman.

Small Advisory Board Urged

Under the Hoover proposal, the directing administrator of the new food organization would be assisted by a small advisory board. After September 1, the organization would take over the functions of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, the British-Canadian-American Combined Food Board and all other international food agencies.

Its purpose, Hoover said, should be to return the world's food, fertilizer and farming activities to normal business channels "with all speed possible."

"Moreover," he added, "the world must quit charity as a basis of widespread food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient."

"Found Much To Criticize"

The former President reported on his return from his world food survey that he had found much to criticize in the way relief is now being handled but that he would refrain from criticism in the face of the emergency.

Hoover suggested that the new international administration should begin to function following a check on world food supplies to be available in 1946-47. He proposed that it operate only during the period of scarcity and reconstruction.

"Effective distribution of food during scarcity and the reconstruction of agriculture," he said, "and above all the reconstruction of human beings is essential to order and peace of the world. The first voice of war is the guns but the final voice in making peace is food."

Mr. Truman similarly said that any step toward feeding the hungry and making the fullest use of available food and facilities for its production is "a step toward winning and securing the peace."

Truman Message, Hoover Talk

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP).—Following are the complete texts of President Truman's message today to the opening meeting of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization on world famine conditions and of former President Herbert Hoover's address before the conference:

Truman's Welcome

I am most happy to welcome to Washington the delegates to the world-wide meeting on urgent food problems that is being convened by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. I wish that it were possible for me actually to be with you to deliver my greeting.

In meeting at this critical period you have heavy responsibilities and great opportunities. What this conference accomplishes or fails to accomplish will make its mark not only in the areas where people are hungry as the aftermath of war, but in all parts of the world and for a long time to come. Any step toward feeding the world's families better and making the fullest use of the products of farms and fisheries is a step toward winning and securing the peace. Food touches every one in the world more directly and more keenly than most boundary settlements and other primarily political actions that are often local or regional in their effects.

It is not necessary in a message to this group to go into the details of the serious food situation. Every one realizes now that the world-wide scarcity of cereals cannot be completely overcome with the 1946 harvest; that deficits in livestock products will continue for a long time. The remaining weeks before the 1946 grain harvest in the Northern Hemisphere are especially critical, and the United Nations and other countries in a position to help must continue and heighten their efforts.

U. S. Doing Its Share

In this country, we have raised progressively our export program as world needs became more urgent, reducing progressively at the same time our own consumption of wheat. In this wheat-marketing year we already have shipped more than 300,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is close to 40 per cent of the total world exports of wheat. Our export program covering 400,000,000 bushels of wheat for the entire marketing year represents about a third of our total production from the 1945 crop. People of this country have shown an admirable willingness to do their share in the great humanitarian task of preventing famine in other lands.

During the war we have learned valuable lessons in cooperation with the rest of the world. What the people of this country have done is ample evidence that they recognize the necessity for progressive and effective action in achieving for the world freedom from want, that they are conscious of the world's needs and are ready to co-operate in a program to meet them. In my message to the conference at Quebec, where F. A. O. was established last fall, I said that my country's delegation came "prepared to work together with the delegations of other nations for the good of all, and to bear their full share of the responsibility for a successful outcome."

We bring the same spirit to this conference, which I view as the first great task for F. A. O. I extend to all the delegates, present, and to F. A. O.'s director general, Sir John Boyd Orr, my best wishes for success.

Hoover's Address

I have been asked to present to you my views upon world food organization for the next harvest year. There should be a drastic reorganization. A new set-up should take over on Sept. 1 next, when this immediate world crisis shall have passed. We can hope for some breathing spell from the tensity of the present situation at that time. What the final authority of such an organization should be and what methods it shall use cannot be determined until we see more clearly the food outlook for the next harvest year. We will know what the situation is for the Northern Hemisphere by Sept. 1, but the broad lines of such an organization can be determined at once.

Up to date the climatic conditions for the next harvest appear fairly favorable. If these conditions continue favorable it should be a more plentiful harvest than the harvest year through which we are now passing. We have to remember that the present crisis was not all due to the war degeneration of agriculture. It was partially due to the destruction and looting of food, and it was also due to the unprecedented combination of droughts in the Mediterranean, India, China and a partial drought in the Argentine and South Africa.

It would be fortunate, however, if those state of Europe torn by major military operations should in the coming harvest produce a 75 per cent ground crop. I need not recite the effect of shortage of fertilizers, farm machinery and farm power which will affect the coming harvest. These deficiencies will, except for some unusual climatic blessing, seriously affect the production. In animal products it will be a still slower recovery than cereals because of the war destruction of herds in many countries and a probable continued shortage of bread. But even with a 75 per cent ground crop and the absence of droughts, it will be a tight year in world totals of cereals and fats.

Reorganization Needed

For all these reasons, it is necessary now to begin some more effective world organization to take the place of present improvisations. I am not here going to criticize the world food policies of the last year. But they must have vigorous reorganizations if e would avoid another crisis like that we are now in. As I have said, how elaborate that organization must be will depend of course upon the volume of resources from this coming harvest.

But in any case, certain major suggestions are warranted for immediate consideration:

1. That a new organization be created now under the auspices of the United Nations Security Council, or better still under your committee. For convenience, I will refer to this organization as the United Nations Food Administration.

2. That a single food administrator be appointed with a small advisory committee. That the advisory committee should in majority represent the surplus food producing nations, as they will have to furnish these supplies.

3. That under the United Nations Food Administration certain regional organizations be set up, say one for Europe, including North Africa, one for the Far East, one for South America, and one for the Indian Ocean area, which should include Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

4. That this agency serve only during the period of food scarcity and agricultural reconstruction from the war.

5. That this agency should absorb from Sept. 1, the food and agriculture activities of U. N. R. R. A., which covers only 20 per cent of the present world problems. Director General La Guardia favors such a course. The new administration should incorporate the Combined Food Board and all other international agencies connected with food and agricultural reconstruction.

Urges Normal Commerce

6. That it be the purpose of the United Nations Food Administration to return to normal commerce the food, fertilizer, and farm supply business of the world, with all speed possible. Commerce will secure more economical distribution; it will serve with far more assurance and efficiency to farmers, merchants and consumers than governments. Moreover, the world must quit charity as a basis of widespread food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient. Charity should be organized separately. Nations should from Sept. 1 forward finance their own food purchases by other means than charity.

7. That the United Nations Food Administration should have by agreement among the supply nations the direction of the destination of some marginal quantities of food so that it can fill in any neglected chinks of commerce. What that percentage may be can be estimated when we know the amount of the world's food resources.

8. That this agency should be empowered to advise nations on measures of conservations, on voluntary relief activities, on stimulation of the production of fertilizers, farm machinery, and other materials of agricultural reconstruction.

9. Especial feeding and medical care of physically subnormal children should be organized systematically and should be the sole charitable contribution of governments. That is the most needed reconstruction effort in the world. It does not call for large figures.

The primary purpose of the United Nations is to give security to the world. Effective distribution of food during scarcity and the reconstruction of agriculture, and above all, the reconstruction of human beings is essential to order and peace of the world. The first voice of war is the gun—but the final voice in making peace is food.

SAYS U. S. DENIED RUSSIA 6 BILLIONS

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—Secretary of the Treasury Vinson testified today that Russia once discussed a $6,000,000,000 loan from the United States, but was told that sum was not available.

"I believe at that time she suggested $1,000,000,000," Vinson said, adding that Russia subsequently has not sought to negotiate a $1,000,000,000 loan.

In questioning before the House Banking Committee now considering a $3,750,000,000 loan to Great Britain, he denied to Representative Smith (R.-Ohio) that the United States has requested Russia to ask for a loan. The Treasury chief declined to discuss this Government's attitude if Russia contends a loan is essential to joining the World Bank and Fund under the Bretton Woods agreements. Russia thus far has not signed up.

When Smith doubted whether Britain would ever repay the loan and commented that "you seem to have great faith in the British Socialist Government," Vinson replied "I would say I have great faith in the British people."

SHIPSTEAD BLASTS SECURITY COUNCIL IN CAMPAIGN TALK

MINNEAPOLIS, May 20—(AP) Senator Hendrik Shipstead (R-Minn) tonight in a campaign talk described the Security Council of the United Nations as "an instrument of tyranny to maintain and endorse the secret commitments which are turning Europe and Asia into the breeding grounds of the third world war."

Shipstead, a candidate for renomination, in a broadcast, said he voted against the United Nation's charter, because "I refused to sign a blank check to be filled in, in secret by power politicians at a later date, and be redeemed with American blood and treasure."

"As it turns out now," he continued, "those blank checks have been filled in, at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam, which are a disgrace and outrage to the Christian conscience. Even now they threaten our own security and bring a growing threat of a third world war."

"The people who have criticized my vote on the U.N. are now confounded and repudiated," he said, "by their own international experts who are honest enough to admit where we now stand and where we are drifting.

"It is now clear that the bitter struggle which has gone on between the Big Three since the tide of battle had turned, has been uprooted bodily and set down right in the middle of the Security Council, where the United States is now helpless to move because of the veto power to which I refused to agree.

"As it is now constituted, the Security Council remains an instrument of tyranny to maintain and endorse the secret commitments which are turning Europe and Asia into the breeding grounds of the third world war."

TWO CONGRESS LEADERS BAR MERGER PLAN

Walsh and Vinson Write Forrestal Not to Make Compromise.

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—Senator Walsh (D.-Mass.) and Representative Vinson (D.-Ga.), chairman of the Senate and House Naval Committees, wrote off the pending Army-Navy merger bill today as doomed.

Congress, they said in a letter to Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, will not approve any plan calling for a single department of common defense. Hence they asked Forrestal not to enter any compromise with Secretary of War Patterson based on such a step.

Walsh, head of the Senate Naval Committee, and Vinson, chairman of the House group, long have opposed the merger plan written by the Senate Military Committee.

Forrestal, too, and his top admirals have testified against the measure, but President Truman last week called upon Army and Navy leaders to reconcile their views and agree on a unification measure.

Some Weakness Shown.

While asserting that the war revealed "some weaknesses in our defense organization," Walsh and Vinson added that these could be remedied without completely disorganizing the defense structure which was so successful in bringing the war to a favorable conclusion.

Specifically, they cautioned against any compromise on these five points which they said Congress would not accept:

"1. A single department of common defense with a single secretary at its head.

"2. The placing of a single military officer in supreme command of all the armed forces.

"3. Divesting the Marine Corps of its important function of maintaining a fleet marine force to support fleet operations.

"4. Transferring the vital functions of naval aviation to the Army Air Corps or to a separate air corps.

"5. Removing from the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy the responsibility for initiating the budget of their respective departments and supporting these budgets before the Congress."

COAST GUARD FUNDS

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $114,216,000 for the Coast Guard for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The measure cuts $9,222,000 from budget estimates for pay and allowances and $10,512,000 from estimates for general expenses.

Representative Taber (R.-N. Y.) told the House that the reduction in pay would require the Coast Guard to "get down to earth" in the number of officers.

Commenting on the proposed number of officers, the Appropriations Committee report said: "In 1940 there were three rear admirals and thirty-one captains for . . . 12,000 men. In 1947 the budget includes provision for one admiral, seventeen rear admirals, fifteen commodores and 138 captains for . . . 19,000 men. Such number should be greatly reduced."

FLOATING MINE SIGHTED

BOSTON, May 20—(AP) A round horned mine sighted off Block island, R. I., was reported to the Navy by the S.S. Fairweather tonight and two Navy fighter planes ordered out from Quonset Naval air base radioed that they had strafed the mine without sinking it. The Navy said the area would be checked tomorrow.

Towers, Ramsey Named For Permanent Rank

Washington, May 20 (AP)—President Truman sent to the Senate today the nominations of Admirals John H. Towers and Dewitt C. Ramsey to hold permanent rank of admirals in the Navy.

Ramsey is vice chief of naval operations. Towers is commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet.

Mr. Truman also asked the Senate to make permanent the rank of vice admiral now held by Arthur W. Radford, deputy chief of operations for air, and Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief for operations.

Krug Back in Capital.

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—Secretary of the Interior Krug returned last night by plane from the Virgin Islands where he attended the inauguration of William H. Hastie, first Negro Governor of the Virgin Islands.

K. OF C. HITS ATTACK ON SPAIN

WATERBURY, May 20 — (AP) Two resolutions calling upon the United States to uphold "the national integrity and right of self-government of christian Spain by refusing to join with the atheistic and materialistic forces of Red fascism in any campaign of intervention in Spanish affairs" were adopted today at the thirty-third annual Connecticut Knights of Columbus convention.

The passing of these resolutions with instruction that copies be sent to Secretary of State James Byrnes, and the reelection of Judge Thomas J. Malloy of Hartford for his sixth term as state deputy featured the session.

Some 120 delegates attended the convention, which began with a solemn high Mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Later, Judge Molloy placed a wreath on the grave of the Rev. Michael McGivney, who founded the National Catholic order, at old St. Joseph's cemetery.

Election of state officers and delegates to the Supreme convention to be held in Miami, Fla., in August, concluded the convention. In addition to Judge Molloy the delegates chose these officers: John Phillips of Hartford, secretary; Eugene W. Bellavance, Moosup, treasurer; Arthur De Michiel, Torrington, warden; Albert L. Coles, Bridgeport, advocate; and the Rev. Ernest Wilson, New Haven, chaplain.

Delegates chosen to the Supreme convention were: Judge Molloy, Thomas Bane, Waterbury; W. J. Mulligan, Hartford; Alfred La Porte, Moosup; Charles Jacobs, Willimantic; John W. Hogan, New Haven; P. Francis Hicks, Winsted; Mark Dunn, Middletown; and Judge William J. Shea of Manchester.

Cardinal Would Keep Hands Off Spain

Newton, Mass., May 20 (A. P.).—A "hands-off" policy regarding Spain was urged today by Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Archbishop of Westminster, England, youngest member of the Sacred College of Cardinals, in addressing the student body of Boston College. The Cardinal is 47 years old.

"We have no right to interfere with the internal affairs of another country such as Spain," he told his audience.

CONSCRIPTION PLEA HEARD BY D. A. R.

Atlantic City, May 20 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Ray E. Porter, special planning division director of the War Department, declared today that only compulsory peacetime military training could meet the "current and constant" demands of national security. In an address before a national defense meeting preceding the opening tonight of the fifty-fifth Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Porter said:

"All of us loathe war, but if any theory has been thoroughly tried and found wholly unsound, it is the theory that military unpreparadness on our part will prevent war. . . .

"Success in war depends on many factors but inexhaustible resources, unmatched industrial capacity and the sterling qualities of a people constitute only an attractive prize for gangsters bent on aggression unless the nation possessing those God-given advantages is willing to support a sound program for military security."

Porter said the United States should maintain a worldwide intelligence service "if we are not to be surprised by sneak attacks and newly developed weapons."

As the D. A. R. members gathered for their congress the talk mostly was about the move to erase the "white artists only" clause from commercial leases for their 4,000-seat Constitution Hall in Washington.

D.A.R. RETORT TO MRS. LUCE

Misrepresentation Charged By President General

Atlantic City, May 20 (AP)—Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, of Athens, Ga., president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, charged tonight that Representative Clare Booth Luce (R., Conn.) was the leader of a "rebellious group seeking to force a change in our rules governing Constitution Hall in Washington."

"This little band of women, who style themselves 'loyal members of the D.A.R.,' formed an unconstitutional committee calling itself a 'D.A.R. Committee Against Racial Discrimination in Constitution Hall, . . . and is, therefore, misrepresenting itself both to the general public and to the membership of the society," Mrs. Talmadge said in an address opening the D.A.R.'s fifty-fifth Continental Congress.

Group Against Color Line

The committee, composed of seventeen women, including Mrs. Luce, has submitted a recommendation to the D.A.R. resolution committee calling for elimination of the words "white artists only" in rental contracts for Constitution Hall.

Last Fall, Hazel Scott, Negro pianist, was refused permission to rent the hall for a concert, and her husband, Representative Adam C. Powell (D.R.A.L.P., N.Y.), brought the matter to the floor of the House of Representatives.

Mrs. Talmadge told the 2,000 delegates to the congress that the D.A.R. national board of management last October "reaffirmed the well-known decision regarding use of Constitution Hall—based upon conformity with the prevailing customs in the District of Columbia."

"A Daughter Of The South"

She said the D.A.R. "has been accused of being un-Christian" and that "there have been personal attacks upon me, the principal reason seemingly being that I am a daughter of the South and their purpose is to stir up sectional and racial discord."

Mrs. Talmadge said a special committee was named at a board meeting last Saturday to study the hall's leases and contracts and that the committee would make a report later.

A D.A.R. spokesman said that in view of appointment of the board committee, the resolution calling for the elimination of the "white artists only" clause probably would not be reported out for action by the congress.

Mrs. Luce Not A Delegate

"Be it stated here and now," Mrs. Talmadge said, "that pressure groups and nonactive members, who express themselves through the press, the radio and other media, are very much mistaken if they think they exert any influence whatsoever upon the members of the national board."

Of the seventeen-woman committee, one is not a D.A.R. member and only six are delegates to the congress. Mrs. Luce is not a delegate.

Before the opening of the congress, Maj. Gen. Ray E. Porter, director of the War Department's special planning division, declared the only way to have a strong standing army and adequate reserve forces would be to establish compulsory peace time military training.

Porter's Recommendations

"The same forces who opposed preparedness after 1918 are again clamoring for the destruction of our military strength," Porter declared.

Porter said demands of national security were current and constant and a sound military program required:

"Accurate knowledge of the military capabilities of all potential enemies," and the realization that "wars are fought with weapons and equipment operated by men."

He said the United States must maintain a world-wide intelligence service "if we are not to be surprised by sneak attacks and newly developed weapons."

Porter said that President Truman's recommendation to Congress last October calling for enactment of a universal military training law provided "a definite and thoroughly sound program."

The D.A.R. has gone on record in favor of compulsory military training. The society has been an advocate of preparedness for years.

Wider Hall Use Up At D.A.R. Meet

Atlantic City, N.J., May 20 (AP). As the Daughters of the American Revolution gathered in hotel lobbies before the opening of their fifty-fifth continental congress today, the talk was mostly about the move to erase the "white artists only" clause from commercial leases for Constitution Hall in Washington.

A 17-woman committee made the move to let Negro entertainers appear in commercial programs at the hall. It submitted to the resolutions committee a recommendation that the words "white artists only," instituted in 1932, be deleted from future leases.

Three Questions Asked

Most of the 2,000 delegates wondered vocally whether the resolutions committee would bring the proposal to the floor of the Congress which opens tonight. Or would it be tabled? And then, would a member of the seventeen-woman committee introduce it on the floor of the Congress? The showdown was expected tomorrow or Wednesday.

Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R., Conn.), a member of the committee that submitted the resolution, said last February that she did not believe the D.A.R. intended racial discrimination but that retention of the clause might give the organization "a black eye." Mrs. Luce is a member of the D.A.R. but not a delegate to the congress. Six of the seventeen on the committee are delegates.

Tuskegee Choir To Sing

There has been much controversy over the clause. At one time Marian Anderson, the Negro contralto, had been banned from appearing in Constitution Hall. In 1943, however, at the invitation of the D.A.R., she gave a benefit performance in the hall. An official of the congress said the Negro Tuskegee Institute choir was scheduled to sing at the hall next month.

Recently Hazel Scott, Negro pianist, was refused permission to give a recital in the hall. Shortly afterward the D.A.R.'s executive committee and national board issued this statement.

REFUGEE JEWS REACH N.Y.

Nearly 1,000 Arrive From Nazi Concentration Camps

New York, May 20 (AP) — Nearly 1,000 refugees from Nazi concentration camps—most of them Jews—reached the United States today aboard the Army transport Marine Flasher.

It was the first group brought to this country under the annual quota of 39,000 fixed by President Truman last December.

Dock guards controlled with difficulty a shouting crowd of more than 1,000 friends and relatives as the ship began to unload after a nine-day voyage from Bremerhaven.

For Some A Drab Welcome

For some, there were no friends or relatives. The United States committee for the care of European children took charge of 75 small children traveling in one group.

Some aged persons were assisted aboard busses and moved to shelters provided by relief and welfare agencies.

Jewish refugees from Russia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the Baltics were listed among the passengers, besides those from Germany and Poland.

There were 67 repatriated Americans.

One of the refugees, Miss Eva Yellin, formerly a member of a Polish opera troupe, said that after a long imprisonment as a slave laborer she and several hundred other women were marched 350 miles to be executed.

Saved By "Ave Maria"

As she walked to the wall she said she began singing the Hebrew lament, "Eli, Eli." One of the troopers stopped her and asked, "can you sing 'Ave Maria'?"

Miss Yellin sang the song and the officer in charge ordered her back to her barracks, saying, "You can thank 'Ave Marja'."

Singing ability also saved the life of another refugee, Cantor Moses Rontal, of Radow, Poland, who is en route to the home of a nephew, Kalman Aharoni, of Toledo, Ohio.

Cantor Rontal said that all but 500 of the 40,000 Jews in Radow were exterminated and he was sent to the Dachau concentration camp. There he was compelled to sing Wagnerian opera for the entertainment of guards and officials.

BAD NEWS GREETS FRENCH G.I. BRIDE

NEW YORK, May 20—(AP) Slender, blonde Mrs. Yvonne Deaton, 18, collapsed today when Red Cross workers told her upon arrival with her five-month-old daughter that her husband, Randolph, of Port Allen, La., had been injured in an auto accident.

She and her daughter Edith, were among 369 brides and 57 children arriving from Le Havre aboard the brideship Zebulon Vance. The liner Bridgeport also arrived today from Le Havre with 395 brides and 49 children of American citizens.

Red Cross workers did not inform Mrs. Deaton, who speaks no English, that her husband was in critical condition in a hospital at LaQuemine, suburb of New Orleans, and that his parents had been injured in the same accident. The Red Cross arranged for Mrs. Deaton to fly to New Orleans this afternoon.

Another arrival on the Zebulon Vance, Mrs. Paulette Atland, bride of T-5 William Atland of York, Pa., said she met her husband after they corresponded several years while she was studying English in a French school. She said she would live with his parents until he returned from overseas.

Aboard the Bridgeport, Mrs. Betty Fall, 22, French bride of former Corp. Austin M. Fall of Collinsville, Mass., was met by her husband.

Mrs. Fall, the daughter of a de Gaullist colonel, said she was arrested by the Germans in December, 1942, and eventually jailed. Later she was transferred to a concentration camp near Nuremburg. Cpl. Fall was among the American soldiers who liberated the camp in April, 1945. They were wed in Rheims cathedral the following February.

Senate Unit Gets Over 30 OPA Amendments

Washington, May 20 (AP)—More than 30 amendments to the OPA extension bill, many of them providing for gradual lifting of price controls, were proposed today to the Senate Banking Committee.

The committee made no decisions at its closed-door session, but Chairman Wagner (D., N.Y.), said he was hopeful of a vote tomorrow.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) offered one of the decontrol amendments "purely as a basis for discussion," he said. It provides for ending price controls and subsisies as soon as possible, and in no event later than June 30, 1947, at which time the OPA would be abolished.

Taft's Proposal

With heavy Republican backing, Senator Taft (R., Ohio) offered an amendment providing that after September 1 no maximum price should be established, for any product below the price which the manufacturer received during a base period October 1-15, 1941, plus the average increase in unit costs throughout the industry since then.

Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) proposed removal of price controls from agricultural products within 30 days, unless the Secretary of Agriculture certifies that specific items are in short supply.

Senator Buck (R., Del.) urged lifting of price controls in any industry when production reaches 140 per cent of 1940 production, and the limiting of subsidies to $700,000,000 next year.

Taft's Plan

As chairman of the Republican Steering Committee, Taft proposes first to work out a series of amendments acceptable to Republicans on the Banking Committee, then attempt to swing the entire Senate strength of his party behind them.

The Republicans are considering creation of a board, independent of OPA, to say when controls shall be lifted from individual items. Taft said the members of such a board ought to be subject to Senate confirmation.

The Banking Committee has already voted in favor of a year's extension of price control past next June 30, rather than the nine months voted by the House.

The general outlook in the Senate is for a year's extension, with several restrictive amendments, but not so rigorous as those adopted by the House.

Auto Price Rise Of 4 To 5 P.C. Reported

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Prices of new automobiles, already boosted because of higher wages, are going up again—this time an average of four to five per cent to offset costlier steel and parts.

Disclosing this today, a high OPA official said privately that the increase probably would go into effect within ten days.

He said OPA hopes this will be the last increase required under the Administration's liberalized wage-price policy.

Under it retail prices for most vehicles were raised from $1 to $60 in March and April to compensate for wage increases granted in the industry.

Public To Pay The Toll

Figuring an average of five per cent, the new increase will add $60 to the price of a $1,200 car. However, the increase in this price range may be less than the average.

In any case, the entire increase will be passed on to the public. OPA has said dealers' profit margins will not be trimmed any more.

One of the principal factors behind the new increase is the average boost of $5 a ton for steel which the Government allowed last February when the industry increased wages 18½ cents hourly to settle the steel strike. The automobile industry also is paying higher prices for other materials.

Parts Costs Increase

The other main reason is the higher cost of parts to car makers.

Price ceilings on most new parts were removed several months ago. OPA has stated it expected some increase and that it would have had to authorize higher prices if ceilings had been maintained.

An OPA official said the agency had to make the auto price increases required under the wage-price policy in two stages "because it takes longer for the higher costs of parts and materials to show up than it does wage costs."

1942 Level Exceeded

These two increases—for wages on the one hand, for parts and materials on the other—have blasted OPA's 1945 predictions that new automobiles would cost the public no more than in 1942.

However, even before these increases were granted, one other factor had upset OPA's forecasts.

This was price increases which manufacturers charged for "changes in design and engineering specifications" and for "improvements." These are authorized automatically by OPA on the ground that a better car is worth more money.

Some examples of these increases are from $66 to $417 for one line of cars, from $59 to $121 for another line, and from $18 to $47 for an individual make.

G.M. Cut Is Offset

Even when this type of increase is disregarded for the moment, retail price ceilings originally established for new models—prior to increases under the wage-price formula—were higher in many cases than 1942 prices for comparable models.

For weeks OPA took the position that these increases would be "offset" by a cut of 2½ per cent in prices for General Motors cars. This cut actually was made—exclusive of increases for design and engineering changes—but it was wiped out and G.M. prices also went above the 1942 level when increases were allowed last month to compensate for wage boosts.

The general climb above 1942 prices has occurred despite a cut of 4½ per cent in the prewar profit margins allowed dealers.

UAW Protests Prices

Detroit, May 20 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers today filed a formal protest with the OPA against increased automobile prices.

Walter P. Reuther, union president, asked Paul Porter, OPA administrator, to designate a board of review to hear union claims that increased auto prices are not made necessary by recent wage increases, and are in violation of the President's order on wage-price policy.

Rose Spy Trial Wednesday

Montreal, May 20 (AP)—Fred Rose, Communist member of Parliament, will go on trial Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy in the Soviet espionage case. The trial was set for today but was continued because certain documents were in use in the Ottawa trial of Edward Mazerall, another defendant.

Rose, 38-year-old Polish-born Labor-Progressive, is accused of operating as an intermediary in collecting secret information—some of which dealt with atomic research—from other Canadians and forwarding it to Russian agents during the latter part of the war.

30.24-2913

He is also accused of helping to recruit a network of agents in Canada for the purpose of collecting such information.

This trial will deal only with the conspiracy charge. Later Rose faces trial for violation of the Secrets Act.

Fred Rose Trial Adjourned

MONTREAL, May 20 (AP).—The trial of Fred Rose, Communist member of Parliament charged with conspiracy in transmitting secret information to Russia during the final years of the war, was adjourned today until Wednesday after selection of a jury panel.

U. S. Will Study Leprosy Case

Public Health Service Sympathizes With Major Who Hopes to Be With Wife.

Washington, May 20 (A. P.).—The United States Public Health Service expressed sympathy today with the wish of Major Hans Hornbostel to remain at his wife's side if she is admitted to a leper colony, but said that the case needed further study. Dr. Otis L. Anderson, chief of the hospital division of the health service, told a reporter that the first step would be to establish definitely that the 52-year-old Mrs. Hornbostel is afflicted.

For this reason, he said, he has asked Governmental health officials at San Francisco to obtain and send microscopic samples of Mrs. Hornbostel's tissues to the Carville, La., Leprosarium.

Prisoners at Manila.

Mrs. Hornbostel developed skin trouble while she and her husband, an Army engineer, were prisoners of the Japanese in Manila. Physicians at San Francisco Hospital, however, have expressed the belief that she had contracted the disease much earlier.

Hornbostel, who is 62, told reporters in San Francisco that he wanted to accompany his wife to Carville and live there because "I'd be unhappy without her, and she'd be unhappy without me." He added that he'd be willing to work in the kitchens, if necessary.

Dr. Anderson said that the health service has every desire to help the Hornbostels "reach any reasonable solution compatible with the operation of the Carville station," provided the woman is admitted there. However, he said, the service has received no direct request from Hornbostel for permission to live in the leprosarium with his wife for the rest of his life.

Civil Service Rules.

Anderson said that there is a law prohibiting the admission of any person to a leprosarium unless that person has the disease, but non-lepers can be employed at a leper colony under civil service regulations. If Major Hornbostel makes a formal request for such employment, he added, studies would be made to determine his eligibility.

At all events, Anderson said, the health service will make every effort to find living quarters for Major Hornbostel "near the station, so that he could visit his wife every day if she is admitted."

2 Air Bases Ceded to Cuba

They Were Built by United States at Cost of $25,000,000

HAVANA, May 20 (AP).—Two Unitd States Army air bases built at a cost of $25,000,000 were transferred formally to the Cuban government today as this island celebrated the forty-fourth anniversary of its independence.

The bases are at San Antonio de Los Banos, thirty miles southwest of Havana, and at San Julian, 200 miles west of Havana.

President Ramon Grau San Martin and American Ambassador R. Henry Norweb attended the ceremonies at the San Antolo base.

After the ceremonies the remaining American troops at the San Antonio base left by plane for San Juan, P. R.

ARGENTINA SEIZES ANTI-PERON GROUP

BUENOS AIRES, May 20 (AP)—The Argentine Industrial Union, a powerful manufacturers' association that bitterly opposed the election of President Juan D. Peron, was placed under Government control tonight.

The Government issued a decree appointing an interventor to supervise the union's functions for an undetermined period. The decree was based on a Government charge that the union had not unified, within its organization, the nation's industrial effort. During the intervention period, the payment of dues as a requisite for membership in the union will be eliminated.

Newspapers, commenting on reports that the Government intended to intervene in the union, have questioned the constitutionality of such action against a private group.

The Government's decree accused the union of not having "developed its action in accordance with the principles of general interest on which its creation was determined." The decree authorized the interventor to draft a new statute for the organization. Nicolas Carbone, general inspector of the Ministry of Justice, was appointed interventor.

The union contributed 300,000 pesos to the campaign fund of Dr. José Tamborini, who lost the Presidential election.

when the present requirements are reviewed and scaled down, ilsley said, the gap between bare minimum need and available supplies may be "something under 1,000,000 tons."

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG.

TOKYO, MAY 20-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR DEMANDED TODAY THAT "DISORDERLY MINORITIES" IN JAPAN CEASE "MASS VIOLENCE AND THE PHYSICAL PROCESS OF INTIMIDATION" OR HE WOULD SEE THAT THEY DID.

THE STATEMENT, APPARENTLY AIMED AT STRONG LEFTIST PRESSURE WHICH THREATENED SHIGERU YOSHIDA'S EFFORTS TO FORM A CONSERVATIVE CABINET, GAVE THE PREMIER-DESIGNATE RESPITE TO COMPLETE HIS TASK.

YOSHIDA'S HEADQUARTERS REPORTED THAT FINAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF A HEAVILY-CONSERVATIVE CABINET WAS HELD UP ONLY BY CLARIFICATION OF THE ELIGIBILITY OF DR. SHIGERU NASU FOR AGRICULTURE MINISTER. YOSHIDA WAS REPORTED AWAITING A DECISION FROM SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ON NASU'S ACCEPTABILITY.

AS YOSHIDA SOUGHT TO FILL THE SINGLE REMAINING VACANCY IN HIS NEW CABINET--THE HOME MINISTRY--MACARTHUR WARNED "DISORDERLY MINORITIES" THAT "MASS VIOLENCE AND THE PHYSICAL PROCESS OF INTIMIDATION" MUST STOP OR HE WOULD SEE THAT THEY DID.

THE STATEMENT MENTIONED NO SPECIFIC INSTANCES OF VIOLENCE AND DID NOT IDENTIFY THE "MINOR ELEMENTS," BUT BRIG. GEN. FRAYNE BAKER, SUPREME HEADQUARTERS PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER, SAID MACARTHUR HAD IN MIND THE DEMONSTRATION STAGED SUNDAY BY LEFT-WING GROUPS WHICH OPPOSE YOSHIDA AND DEMAND MORE FOOD AND ESTABLISHMENT OF A "POPULAR FRONT" GOVERNMENT. COL. L.E. BUNKER, ALDE TO MACARTHUR, SAID HE BELIEVED THE STATEMENT REFERRED TO A MOB STORMING THE PRIME MINISTERS OFFICIAL RESIDENCE TWO DAYS BEFORE THE APRIL 10 ELECTION; MANHANDLING OF POLICE AT YESTERDAY'S DEMONSTRATION AND SEVERAL RECENT INCIDENTS IN WHICH LABOR-COMMUNIST DELEGATIONS PUSHED THEIR WAY THROUGH THE IMPERIAL PALACE GATES WITH PETITIONS FOR THE EMPEROR.

MACARTHUR SAID THE DEMONSTRATIONS CONSTITUTE "A MENACE NOT ONLY TO THE ORDERLY GOVERNMENT BUT TO THE BASIC PURPOSES AND SECURITY OF THE OCCUPATION ITSELF."

A COMMUNIST LED-DELEGATION OF 30 STILL CAMPED OUTSIDE THE PREMIER'S OFFICE, DEMANDING THAT YOSHIDA STEP ASIDE IN FAVOR OF A LIBERAL COALITION GOVERNMENT. BUT YOSHIDA'S HEADQUARTERS SAID HE LONGED TO GIVE UP THE BATTLE TO FORM A CABINET BUT THAT PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES COMPELLED HIM TO FINISH THE JOB. #

CHIEF CABINET SECRETARY JOJO HAYASHI SAID THE CONSERVATIVE-MINDED CABINET AS NOW BLUE-PRINTED WOULD INCLUDE SEVEN LIBERALS, THREE PROGRESSIVES AND TWO NON-PARTY MEMBERS. EX-PREMIER SHIDEHARA HAS AGREED TO SERVE AS MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO.

REPORTS FROM YOSHIDA'S HEADQUARTERS SAID THE KEY POST OF AGRICULTURAL MINISTER WAS THE ONLY POSITION REMAINING OPEN. THESE REPORTS SAID DR. SHIGERU NASU HAD BEEN SELECTED FOR THE JOB BUT HIS APPOINTMENT WAS BEING DELAYED UNTIL SUPREME HEADQUARTERS DECIDED WHETHER HE WAS ACCEPTABLE. HE WAS A DIRECTOR OF THE ULTRANATIONALISTIC IMPERIAL RULE ASSOCIATION AND ADVISER TO THE MANCHURIAN GOVERNMENT.

ONE REPORT--NOT SUBSTANTIATED--SAID YOSHIDA HAD GONE TO CONFER WITH OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES, PRESUMABLY ON THE QUESTION OF NASU'S ELIGIBILITY UNDER THE ALLIED DIRECTIVE PURGING ULTRANATIONALISTS. ANOTHER REPORT SAID YOSHIDA HAD GONE TO THE HOME OF OUTGOING PREMIER SHIDEHARA TO SEEK ADVICE ON THE ENTIRE POLITICAL SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, MAY 20-(AP)-THE FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION TOLD CONGRESS TODAY THAT MUCH OF GERMANY'S FOREIGN ECONOMIC ACTIVITY "HAS BEEN DIRECTLY PLANNED WITH A FUTURE WAR IN CONTEMPLATION."

IT SUGGESTED THAT A "GERMAN EXTERNAL SECURITY COUNCIL" UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS BE GIVEN THE JOB OF STRIPPING GERMANY OF ALL ASSETS ABROAD TO PREVENT THEIR USE FOR "ECONOMIC PENETRATION," OR FOR DEVELOPING SECRET WEAPONS UNDER THE GUISE OF CARRYING ON PEACEFUL TRADE.

THE RECOMMENDATION WAS PART OF A MASSIVE REPORT SUBMITTED TO A SENATE MILITARY SUBCOMMITTEE ON WAR MOBILIZATION, BASED UPON A YEAR-LONG STUDY.

"EITHER THROUGH DESTRUCTION, REMOVAL, OR CONTROL, POTENTIALLY DANGEROUS GERMAN ELEMENTS IN THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL STRUCTURE WHEREVER LOCATED MUST BE DEALT WITH EFFECTIVELY IF WE ARE TO HAVE WORLD SECURITY," SAID THE REPORT.

THE REPORT ADVOCATED THE REPATRIATION OF ALL GERMANS, INCLUDING THOSE NATIONALIZED ABROAD, IF IDENTIFIED IN ANY SUBSTANTIAL WAY WITH NAZI OR PAN-GERMANIC ACTIVITIES AND POSSESSING SCIENTIFIC SKILLS, OR FITTED FOR RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS IN GOVERNMENT, JOURNALISM, EDUCATION, BANKING, INDUSTRY, COMMERCE, TRANSPORTATION, OR MILITARY PURSUITS.

"SUCH PERSONS, FLOATING LOOSE IN THE WORLD, ARE DANGEROUS TO THE WELFARE OF THE UNITED NATIONS," IT SAID. #

NEW YORK, MAY 20-(AP)-MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT SAID TONIGHT THAT FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS THE MOST POWERFUL WEAPON TO ENFORCE A WORLD BILL OF RIGHTS.

"PUBLIC KNOWLEDGE MAY BE ALL THE IMPLEMENTATION YOU NEED," SHE TOLD A UNITED PRESS CONFERENCE. "WE FEEL THAT A FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT OF HUMAN BEINGS SHOULD BE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

"THAT MIGHT EASILY BE ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL WEAPONS OF IMPLEMENTATION. TIME WILL TELL. JUST MERE WORDS ARE NOT SUFFICIENT. WE NEED SOME EVIDENCE OF CONFORMITY."

IN DISCUSSING A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND OF THE PRESS, RECOMMENDED IN THE REPORT OF HER COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, MRS. ROOSEVELT POINTED OUT TWO DIFFERENT POINTS OF VIEW ON THE SUBJECT.

"YOU WILL FIND PEOPLE WHO BELIEVE THAT FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IMPLIES FREEDOM OF ALL KINDS OF INFORMATION," SHE SAID, "AND RELY ON THE EDUCATION OF PEOPLE TO AID THEM IN MAKING THEIR DECISIONS.

"OTHER PEOPLE FEEL THAT SOME KINDS OF INFORMATION ARE DELIBERATELY FALSIFIED OR SLANTED OR WRITTEN IN ORDER TO CONFUSE OR GIVE PEOPLE WRONG IMPRESSIONS. THAT TYPE OF INFORMATION IS SO DIFFICULT FOR THE AVERAGE PERSON TO DISCOVER THAT ONE CAN'T COUNT ON THEM TO DO SO FOR THEMSELVES SO THERE MUST BE SOME WAY YOU CAN DO IT FOR THEM.

"I HAVE NO IDEA HOW THE COMMISSION WILL DECIDE. THESE ARE JUST TWO GENERAL POINTS OF VIEW."

PROF. RENE CASSIN OF FRANCE, VICE CHAIRMAN OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COMMENTED:

"FREEDOM OF THE PRESS MEANS THERE MUST BE A SENSE OF RESPONSIBILITY. I SHOULD LIKE TO SEE CONTROL OF THE PRESS AND INFORMATION BY THE PRESS ITSELF."

HE ADDED THAT THIS METHOD WOULD TEND TO KEEP IN LINE THOSE WHO DID NOT PRESENT THE FACTS AND MORE OR LESS MAKE THE PRESS ITSELF RESPONSIBLE TO THE WORLD. #

IT ALSO RECOMMENDED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A SUB-COMMISSION ON THE ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTION OF DEVASTATED AREAS.

ON THE BASIS OF NEED UNTIL SUPPLIES ARE SUFFICIENT TO MEET ALL REQUIREMENTS.

A REPORT OF THE TEMPORARY TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION NOTED A SPLIT RECOMMENDATION FOR CREATION OF A WORLD SHIPPING AGENCY. NORWAY OPPOSED THE MOVE ON THE GROUND OF INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVATE INTERESTS AND RUSSIA TOOK THE MINORITY VIEW BECAUSE IT WANTED MORE TIME TO STUDY THE QUESTION.

ISADOR LUBIN, U. S. REPRESENTATIVE ON THE ECONOMIC AND EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION, SAID AT A PRESS CONFERENCE THAT HIS COMMISSION WAS DEMANDING THAT ITS MEMBERS BE FREE OF HOME GOVERNMENT INSTRUCTIONS AND THUS SERVE AS TRULY INTERNATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES.

Qavam Orders End Of Fighting

Troops Told Not To Advance; Courts-Martial Planned

London, May 21—(AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam broadcast strict orders to Iranian troops today "not to go further from their positions" along the Azerbaijan border, where some clashes have occurred.

The broadcast said the premier had established a commission to prevent further clashes and had announced some persons accused of causing the clashes would be court-martialed.

His message on the Tehran radio came some time after the Tabriz radio, mouthpiece of the self-declared autonomous province bordering Russia, had asserted that bloody civil strife prevailed for the second day. The Azerbaijans reported that central government troops opened a heavy attack yesterday morning 100 miles south of Tabriz at Sain Qaleh (Shahindaj.) The government troops were said to be using artillery and mortars.

"Rumors about a state of war are untrue," the Tehran radio of the Qavam government said in English, and Russian language broadcasts. It asserted that Qavam was trying "to solve the conflict in a friendly manner" and said persons outside Iran were magnifying the skirmishes "in order to influence public opinion."

The Tehran radio said Premier Qavam had called the clashes "mutiny against the constitutional government and the public security of the state." He was quoted further as saying that certain unspecified "people have been arrested and will be tried by court-martial." A Russian - language transmission listed four, whose names were not heard distinctly. Their rank or offices were not given.

The Tehran radio said a commission "consisting of officers of the government army and representatives of Azerbaijan has been established to prevent any further, unpleasant incident," and that an investigation of the border clashes would be made.

One broadcast said the Iranian minister of war had instructed troops in Kurdistan, where clashes were reported, to "take up defensive positions" while the commission investigated.

Premier Jafar Pishevari of Azerbaijan indicated in an interview at Tabriz Sunday that Azerbaijan's oil, in which Soviet Russia has shown a prime interest, was one of the crucial points on which negotiations for a peaceful settlement with Tehran broke down.

"I doubt that the Azerbaijan Majlis (parliament) would approve of permitting the central government jurisdiction over oil lands located within the province," he said in expressing regret that the oil question had been brought up in the negotiations by Premier Ahmed Qavam of Iran.

The Tabriz radio was further quoted by Exchange Telegraph as saying that fierce fighting continued throughout yesterday as the battling went into its second day.

However, an Associated Press dispatch from Tehran said a spokesman for the Iranian War Ministry declared that whatever clashes had broken out were of a minor nature and of "no real importance."

ALA ACTED ON OWN, IRAN OFFICIAL SAYS

Firouz Asserts Complaint to U. N. of Soviet Interference Is Not Government View

Border Clash Reported Waning —Azerbaijan Lifts Martial Law —Truce Unit Formed

TEHERAN, Iran, May 21 (AP)—Iran's Propaganda Minister, Prince Mozaffar Firouz, declared tonight that a state investigating committee had found that all Soviet troops had left Azerbaijan Province as well as the rest of Iran by the May 6 deadline set in the recent Soviet-Iranian accord. This statement came as reports of fighting near the Azerbaijan border suddenly subsided.

Prince Firouz said a telegram was sent today to Hussein Ala, Iranian Ambassador to the United States, instructing him to communicate to the United Nations Security Council the findings of the investigating committee.

Mr. Ala's report to the Council of continuing Soviet interference in Azerbaijan, self-proclaimed autonomous province in the northwest, was "not the view of the Iranian Government," Prince Firouz said, but Mr. Ala's "own personal views."

The spokesman for Premier Ahmad Ghavam's Central Government issued his statement shortly after the "Government" of Azerbaijan had lifted its one-day-old martial law with an announcement that "peaceful methods prevail."

Border Clash Inquiry Ordered

The Central Government, reaffirming a determination to settle the Azerbaijan dispute peacefully, ordered an investigation of armed clashes on the Kurdistan frontier involving Iranian and Azerbaijanian troops.

Prince Firouz said that the investigating commission had visited all principal areas, towns formerly occupied by the Red Army, and that its findings had been given to the British, Soviet and United States Embassies in Teheran.

He declared that the Azerbaijanian question was "an internal affair" now that "the evacuation of the Red Army is confirmed" and that Mr. Ala's statement of continued Soviet interference was not justified now.

Asked whether the Iranian Government would welcome investigation by a Security Council commission, Prince Firouz replied:

"After the official notification to the Security Council that Iran is evacuated by all foreign troops, I cannot imagine any pretext existing for interference in our internal affairs. The Iranian people will abhor any interference with our sovereign rights or infringement on our independence by one or a collection of countries, by commissions or otherwise, especially when it is not asked."

In reply to a question whether elections would soon be held, the Propaganda Minister replied that they would, "as soon as the Azerbaijan question is settled."

The Azerbaijan "Government" announced in Tabriz that "conditions no longer justify" material law in the province. The Tabriz press and radio made no further mention of what had been described yesterday as heavy attacks by Iranian troops on two Azerbaijanian villages in the Sian Kaleh [Shahindaj] area, 100 miles south of Tabriz.

[The Tabriz radio, heard in London, quoted the Azerbaijan "Premier," Jaafar Pishevari, as having appealed to his army to fight for "liberty and territorial independence." The broadcast said he declared in a speech to military students that the Azerbaijanian Army "will be ready to ward off all forces. It is a powerful force in the defense of the democratic foundations of Iran."]

An Associated Press correspondent telegraphed from Tabriz that reports persisted there of movements of Azerbaijanian people's Army reinforcements toward the Kurdistan border.

In Teheran, Prince Firouz said that the Government commander in Kurdistan, Brigadier General Homayun, had "explicit orders to take no steps of an offensive nature." He said that Mr. Pishevari "also telegraphed the Azerbaijanian commander to avoid any clash."

Spokesman Discounts Strife

"Any local actions will be investigated, but the importance should not be exaggerated," the Teheran spokesman said. "They can in no way affect the determined policy of Ghavam for a peaceful settlement."

[The Teheran radio, heard in London, said Mr. Ghavam had arranged for the establishment of a joint commission of Iranian officers and Azerbaijanis "to prevent further unpleasant incidents." The broadcast added that "rumors about a state of war in Azerbaijan are untrue." It said the clashes on the Kurdistan-Azerbaijan border were brought about by "mutiny against the Constitutional Government."]

Mr. Pishevari charged in Tabriz that Ambassador Ala was a "traitor," adding that he "will be punished if he ever returns to Iran."

Answering in an interview newsmen's questions about Mr. Ala's statements to the Security Council, he said the envoy had acted "completely without instructions of his Government and contrary to the accepted policy of the Ghavam Government and the Iranian people."

Mr. Pishevari insisted that no Russian material aid had been given to his movement. He expressed certainty that all Soviet troops had left Iran. He conceded that Soviet "moral support" helped the "Azerbaijan movement for freedom."

A traveler who returned Monday from Kurdistan was quoted as having said that he had been told by an official of the city of Miyanduab that "heavy guns" were heard firing all day Saturday. Miyanduab is forty miles northwest of Sian Kaleh. The traveler reported having seen large columns of Kurdish fighters moving through the area.

In connection with rumors of civil war, Prince Firouz said that three prominent "reactionaries" were arrested under terms of a law forbidding "acts against the security and foundations of the Government." He identified those arrested as Ali Dishti, Jemal Immam and Salarsanid Sanandaji, all members of the defunct Majlis [Parliament] and all known as Anglophiles.

Tabriz Lifts Martial Law.

Tabriz, May 21 (A. P.).—The Government of self-proclaimed autonomous Azerbaijan lifted martial law after one day today with the announcement that "conditions no longer justify the measure as peaceful methods prevail."

Firouz declared earlier that "all outstanding questions between Tehran and Azerbaijan will be settled peacefully, compatible with Iranian unity and independence." Firouz said Brig.-Gen. Homayun, Iranian Army commander in Kurdistan, had been given explicit orders to take no steps of an offensive nature and that Premier Jafar Pishevari of Azerbaijan likewise had given similar orders to his commander in the area of reported clashes.

Firouz added that "rumors of civil war" had been "fomented by reactionaries desiring to make political capital of local incidents" and that steps would be taken against them. Three "outstanding reactionaries" who were pro-British members of the recent Parliament, have been arrested, he declared.

The Azerbaijan press and radio made no further mention of fighting in Kurdistan.

Yesterday the official Azerbaijan newspaper said a "heavy attack" by Iranian Government troops had commenced at Baghcheh Mesheh and Surat, two villages in the Sain Galeh area along the Jaghati River, 100 miles south of Tabriz. A general Government offensive in that direction would divide Azerbaijan from Kurdistan, where rebel Kurds also have declared a republic independent of Iran.

Premier Jafar Pishevari denied that the Russians had given "material aid" to the Azerbaijan Army. The troops, however, are well armed with Skoda type guns, new small arms, and a number of blond north European types are observed among uniformed Azerbaijan officers on the streets of Tabriz.

'Interference' In Azerbaijan By U. S. Barred

Premier Told Consul He Objected to American Check on Soviet Troops

TABRIZ, Azerbaijan Province, Iran, May 19 (Delayed).—Jaafar Pishevari, Premier of this self-declared autonomous province, commenting today on his warning to American Consul Robert Rossow against touring the Azerbaijan villages, said he told Rossow that he knew the consul's purpose was to investigate the withdrawal of Soviet troops and that he objected to "American interference in internal affairs."

The Premier said Rossow had been warned that he could travel only at his own risk and that the government would not accept responsibility for a possible "incident."

Pishevari told the United Press he delivered this warning to Rossow personally on Saturday, when Rossow asked for a permit to travel in Azerbaijan and visit American citizens.

Rossow replied that his trip had no ulterior motives, Pishevari said. Rossow confirmed the facts of this conversation.

The Democrat organ "Azerbaijan" reproduced a slanted version of the story, omitting parts of Rossow's statements and using only that part which accused him of wanting to check on Soviet troop movements.

Pishevari said the Democrats do not support the Kurdish national movement, which calls for an autonomous state of all Kurds in Turkey, Iraq and Iran. He said the Kurds in Azerbaijan would be given local autonomy on the basis of free and equal co-operation as outlined in the recent agreement reached between the Kurds and Democrats.

Azerbaijan Premier Calls Ala a 'Traitor'

TABRIZ, Azerbaijan Province, May 21 (AP).—Jafar Pishevari, Premir of Azerbaijan, charged today that Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala was a "trattor" and expressed the opinion that he 'will be punished if he ever returns to Iran."

He was answering questions about Ala's statements before the United Nations Security Council in New York. Pishevari said no Russian "material aid" had been given his movement by the Russians and "I am sure the Russians have left Iran."

Pishevari asserted that Ala acted "completely without instructions of his government and contrary to the accepted policy of the Qavam government (the Central Iranian regime of Premier Ahmed Qavam) and the Iranian people."

Soviet Army Out Of Iran By May 6, Ala Tells Council

New York, May 21 (AP)—Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala reported to the United Nations Security Council tonight he had received information from his Government that all Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iranian soil by May 6.

He transmitted a message he received from Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam, which said a Government commission had visited principal cities of Azerbaijan province and had failed to find any trace of Soviet troops or equipment.

The communications from Qavam did not mention alleged Russian interference with the internal affairs of Iran, which Ala said last night was still continuing.

Text Of Message

Qavam's message to Ala said:

"In order to obtain information on the circumstances of evacuation of all parts of Azerbaijan, I despatched a commission of investigation from Tehran, and in the course of one week it investigated carefully the regions of Azerbaijan such as the following important centers: Tabriz and its suburbs, Marand, Julfa, Khoy, Salmas, Maku, Rezacyeh and Miandaub.

"The telegraphic reports are to the effect that no trace whatever of Soviet troops, equipment or means of transport were found and that, according to trustworthy local people, who were questioned in all these places, Soviet troops evacuated Azerbaijan on May 6."

Taken By Surprise

The news took the delegates completely by surprise as they prepared to take up the case at 11 A.M. tomorrow, and, as a result, they were unable to say immediately what effect the new Iranian declaration would have on the Council's action.

The spokesman for one delegation said, however, that an unequivocal statement by the Iranian Government that all Soviet forces had left the country might open the way for at least part of the case to be dropped. The other part, dealing with Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran, might also be dropped if it were indicated definitely that such interference no longer existed, he said.

Shortly before the Tehran reports were received, both British and American circles had expressed belief that the Council would vote to keep the case on the agenda until conclusive information had been received that Russia had withdrawn all her troops.

Previous Letter Noted

Their opinion had been based on a letter submitted to the Council last night by the Iranian Ambassador saying "Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased" and that "the threat to the integrity of Iran and to international peace has grown more serious."

The delegates were reluctant to comment on the latest development until they had an opportunity to study the new Iranian report.

News from Tehran that the new instructions were en route to Ala was received with great interest at the Soviet consulate here, but Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said he would not attend tomorrow's meeting.

There was no indication that the change in the situation would cause Gromyko to alter his plans to boycott tomorrow's session. He had indicated that he would not take part in any further Council discussions of the Iranian question.

cuation of Soviet traaps from the whole of Iran and Soviet interference in the internal affairs of my country.

I referred to the commission appointed to make inquiries about conditions in Azerbaijan and now have received further information based upon telegraphic dispatches sent by the members of the commission in Azerbaijan to my government in Tehran.

The information as transmitted to me at 4 o'clock this afternoon is, in translation, as follows:

. . . "In order to obtain information on the circumstances of evacuation of all parts of Azerbaijan, I dispatched a commission of investigation from Tehran and in the course of one week, it investigated carefully the regions of Azerbaijan, such as the following important centers:

"Tabriz and its suburbs, Marano, Julfa, Khoy, Salmas, Maku, Rezacyeh and Miandaub.

"The telegraphic reports are to the effect that no trace whatever of Soviet troops, equipment or means of transport was found, and that according to trustworthy local people, who were questioned in all these places, Soviet troops evacuated Azerbaijan on 6 May.

"(Signed) Qavam-es-Saltaneh."

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

HUSSEIN ALA,
Iranian Ambassador.

Ala's Report to U. N. on Iran

Following is the text of a report by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala to Alexandre Parodi, president of the Security Council, submitted last night through Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations:

His Excellency, M. Alexandre Parodi,
President of the Security Council,
Hunter College,
The Bronx 63, New York.

Sir, 21 May, 1946.

Yesterday I reported on behalf of my government such information as was available to me up to 5 o'clock in the afternoon of 20 May, 1946, with respect to the question of the eva-

TEHRAN CLAIMS SOVIETS STILL INTERFERING

New Charge Dashes U. N. Hopes of Early End to Vexing Problem

New York, May 21—(AP)—Hopes of effecting an early settlement of the vexing problem of Iran, scheduled for consideration by the United Nations Security Council tomorrow, issued today following a new Iranian charge that "Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased."

Furthermore, Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala informed the Council in a report last night, "if the reports of armed conflict in this strategically-critical area are true, obviously the danger to the international peace and security is both serious and imminent."

He added, however, that he had received no "authentic information with respect to the reported clashes" between central government troops and forces of the self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azerbaijan Province in Northern Iran.

Ala said his government had been unable to investigate reports that "Soviet soldiers have been left in Azerbaijan in civilian clothes and that military equipment has been placed at the disposal" of the Separatist Government of Azerbaijan.

Lacks Full Data

The Ambassador, responding to a Council request for information as to the status of Russian Army withdrawals as of May 20, informed the delegates that his government had been unable to establish that "all of the Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the whole of Iran.

"Such information as is available to me . . . is to the effect that as a consequence of the interferences previously complained of, the Iranian Government is still being prevented from exercising any effective authority in the province of Azerbaijan and that Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased," Ala declared.

His report killed any hopes that the delegates might have had for dropping the whole troublesome Iranian problem from their agenda when the Council meets at 11 A. M. E. D. T., tomorrow, since the Council had agreed previously to retain jurisdiction of the matter until definite information as to Red Army withdrawals was available.

"I beg to state," Ala's statement said, "that there is not sufficient first-hand information available to my government as to the true state of affairs throughout Azerbaijan to make the complete report requested by the Security Council."

Russian delegate Andrei A. Gromyko already has indicated that he would boycott the Council for the third time tomorrow. He announced April 23 that he would take no part in any further Council discussions of the Iranian question, which has been on the Council's agenda since January 19, longer than any other matter.

Spain Spreads Axis Theories Says U. N. Report on Franco

NEW YORK, May 21 — (AP) Spain apparently is not able to wage modern war but Franco agents still are preaching Axis principles in the New World, the State department said in a lengthy report made public tonight by the United Nations security council sub-committee investigating the Madrid regime.

Furthermore, the State department said that the United States has, except for one unconfirmed report that one uranium mine may be in production, "no evidence confirming rumored activities in Spain relating to the production of atomic energy."

Argentina Has No Data

The sub-committee released the report submitted to it by the United States delegation Saturday. It also announced that Argentina had informed the subcommittee that Argentina does not have "any relevant documentary or other information as to the regime of Generalissimo Franco being a menace to the world's security."

The United States said that the present strength of the Spanish armed forces is currently estimated at slightly more than 600,000, with some 575,000 in the army. The report summed up Spain's war potential as follows:

"(A) The Spanish armed forces at present appear to lack the material and trained personnel to fight a modern war, and at present are not deployed for offensive operations, although Spain probably could defend herself against her neighbors in their present military condition.

"(B) The Spanish capacity for waging war is limited by the inadequacy of raw materials, inadequate industrial facilities and poor transportation.

"(C) Although there is interest i scientific research there has so fa been little progress in developin highly technical equipment. Conse quently the Spanish armed force must depend on fairly simple an orthodox types of military equip ment."

Spread Nazi Influence

In a chapter dealing with effort of Franquista Spaniards to advanc Axis interests in the other Amer ican republics, the report said tha "nationalist Spain from its begin ning to the present day has fo mented foci of Nazi-Fascist influ ence in the western hemisphere."

"Spanish diplomatic officials an persons in Spanish quasi-official or ganizations have for years been en couraging groups in the other Am erican republics which opposed inter-American unity against the Axis during the war and which will strive to perpetuate the principles of the Axis system in the New World," the report continued.

The State department also charged that Franco had not cooperated in sending Germans back to Germany. It said up to May 10, 1946, a total of 1,659 had been repatriated but that there now are in Spain 2,205 Germans, exclusive of families, who should be repatriated as quickly as possible.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, charged in the Security council last month that Franco Spain is a menace to world peace and is sheltering Nazi war criminals and Nazi scientists experimenting on new weapons of destruction. He demanded a complete break by the United Nations with Franco. The sub-committee was appointed to investigate the charges and report back to the council by May 31.

U.N.'s Economic Council Facing Rough Session

New York, May 21 (AP)—The United Nations Economic and Social Council, whose job is to settle economic and social troubles before they become conflicts threatening the peace, will meet here next Saturday with a number of ticklish problems already on its doorstep.

The eighteen-man Council is the paramount United Nations organ in the special fields it covers, subject to the United Nations General Assembly. It must deal in the month or so it will meet here with the recommendations and doings of seven separate bodies set up in London in February to give it advice and counsel.

There are a number of jokers in the various decks to be shuffled about the Council table.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Group

One is the split in the Commission on Human Rights, headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The majority of the commission desired that it take final form as a body of experts, with all being non-governmental representatives. But Russia insisted that the members must be representatives of governments.

The impact of this question—expert or government man—was felt among other groups. The Council must decide the issue.

The Commission on Human Rights recommended an international bill of rights, drafted as soon as possible, and a subcommission on freedom of information and of the press.

Refugee Committee

A special committee on refugees and displaced persons, meeting in London for more than two months, still lacks complete agreement on refugees—and the Council must resolve that struggle.

The Western powers have insisted that no refugee, except war criminals for whom provision has been made, should be forced to go home, especially those who oppose their present home governments.

Only last week the committee voted down a Russian proposal for a detailed census of displaced persons. Britain claimed it would give the individual nations control of "people who, rightly or wrongly, are at variance with their governments."

The Special Agencies

The part that nongovernmental, specialized agencies are to play in the United Nations will figure in the meeting.

There are some specialized agencies already operating, with distinct powers. They include the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agricultural Organization, the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The Economic and Social Council can only recommend and advise—not enforce. So the Council must seek some manner in which these agencies can be brought willingly into the United Nations scheme of things.

Other Reports

There will also be reports and recommendations from a temporary transport and communications commission, a temporary social commission, an economic and employment commission, a statistical commission, and a subcommission on the status of women.

The temporary transport and communications commission recommended a body be named "to examine the present situation with respect to inland waterways in Europe."

The temporary social commission in its report saw the gulf between the living standards of nations as a main source of discontent and a threat to peace.

The economic and employment commission proposed a subcommission to help speed reconstruction aboard.

Russian Disagreement

The statistical commission recommended a permanent commission of not more than twelve members acting as individuals. The Russian member refused to vote for that, saying commission members should be government representatives.

The subcommission on the status of women adopted a sweeping program for their improvement but members of the parent group, the commission on human rights, told the subcommission it was taking in too much territory. The commission, in passing on the report, cut it down considerably.

Sir H. Ramaswami Mudaliar, of India, is president of the Council. The United States is represented by John G. Winant, former United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

The following other countries are on the Council: Belgium, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, France, Greece, Lebanon, Norway, Peru, Ukraine, Russia, Great Britain and Yugoslavia.

Byrnes' Bid For U.N. Parley Aimed At Reds, British Say

London, May 21 (AP)—A British official said today that Secretary of State Byrnes's suggestion that peace treaties be turned over to the United Nations Assembly if the major powers cannot agree on a peace conference this summer was aimed at "putting pressure" on Russia to agree to a 21-nation meeting in July.

The Foreign Office declined official comment, but it was learned that the British felt it would be even more difficult to reach an accord in the 51-nation General Assembly of the United Nations than in a peace conference.

Dominions officials attending the commonwealth conference have expressed informal support of Byrnes's insistence that nations outside the United States, Russia, England and France be given a chance soon to voice their opinions.

Two Soldiers Fail in Jail Break

SOUTHAMPTON, England, May 21 (AP)—Two American soldier-prisoners escaped from a police station cell in the Southampton Civic Center today but were recaptured in the large building after they had hidden for nearly five hours under the floor of an unused room. The prisoners had locked their guard in the cell they had occupied.

Stalin Says Truman Grain Plea For UNRRA Was 3 Months Late

London, Wednesday, May 22 (AP). Prime Minister Stalin has expressed regret to President Truman that a request that Russia assign grain to help UNRRA meet the world food crisis did not come three months ago when the Soviet Union "could have done something in this respect."

Truman's request and Stalin's reply were broadcast today by the Moscow radio.

In his answer to the President, Stalin said the request came in the middle of May "after the Soviet Union already has assigned a certain quantity of foodstuffs to France and other countries and when the resources of the Soviet Union are already being exhausted."

Would Require "Special Study"

Truman, in his letter to the Russian leader, had expressed the hope that the Soviet Union could coordinate her actions with other grain-exporting nations to obtain better utilization of the world reserves.

The broadcast said Stalin told Truman that Russia had "no objection in principle" to the suggestion of co-ordinating the Soviet Union's grain exports, but added that the project would require "a special study."

The text of the Moscow broadcast of a Tass dispatch as recorded in London by the Soviet monitor:

"Sometime ago the chairman of the Council of Ministers of the USSR, J. V. Stalin, received from President Truman of the United States a message in which it was stated at the present time there is a food crisis and that hope was expressed the Soviet Government would assign a certain quantity of grain to UNRRA.

"In the same letter Truman expressed the hope also the Soviet Union would be in a position to coordinate her actions with other countries exporting grain for the purpose of a better use of grain reserves.

Too Late, Stalin Regrets

"Stalin in his answer to the message of President Truman expressed his regret Truman did not address the Soviet Union on the above question three months ago when the Soviet Union could have done something in this respect, but did it instead in the middle of May after the Soviet Union had already assigned a certain quantity of foodstuffs to France and other countries and when the resources of the Soviet Union are already being exhausted.

"As far as the co-ordination of the work of the Soviet Union with other countries exporting grain is concerned, Stalin informs President Truman the Soviet Government has no objection in principle to this proposal but that it will require, however, a special study."

Hunger In Europe And Asia

London, May 21 (AP)—The hungry of two vast continents have sown millions of acres to food, but floods, drought and plagues of insects in many countries already are dipping into the vital crops to which they look to avert great famine.

Europe's larder now is virtually bare and the emergency committee for Europe has said that about 140,000,000 people are living on less than 2,000 calories a day—two thirds what they need for health.

Continental husbandmen—working feverishly despite acute shortages of seed, fertilizer, manpower and machinery—have planted battle-fired land.

Most of the basic crops, however, still are in the soil. Underfed people are living meagerly on the grain that UNRRA can scrape from the world's granaries and on vegetables which only now are beginning to reach eating sizes.

Plight Of Asiatics The Worst

Any widespread crop failure, such as that caused by droughts that last year swept India, South Africa and the Balkans, likely would reduce millions to starvation. The granaries of the Western World have been drained of most of their surplus in the first year of peace.

The plight of Asiatics is the worst. Millions of Chinese in the central provinces are devouring grass, weeds, tree bark and clay to stay alive.

In India, an estimated 230,000,000 are not getting enough to eat.

For most of Asia this is a gap between seasons, with the next rice crop going into the paddies by midsummer.

Hunger Survey Of Europe

Although it is considered too early to venture accurate predictions of European crop prospects, an Associated Press survey showed:

Hungary—Experiencing what the Food Ministry termed its worst drought in a century. Wheat and rye have been damaged severely. In many areas it has been too dry to plant corn and potatoes. Food authorities already are saying that the harvests probably will be so meager that the country will require outside aid for another twelve months.

Austria, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland—Crops suffering from lack of rain.

Portugal—Some damage from spring floods.

Sardinia—Swarms of locusts, so great that masses of them crushed under trains stopped rail traffic, laid crops waste on this big island.

Better Elsewhere In Europe

Elsewhere in Europe spring rains have favored growing conditions.

Russia has taken the lead in returning battlefields to cultivation, reporting that already 11,000,000 more acres have been planted this spring than in 1945.

From the great granary of the Ukraine to Siberia, tractors have been used up to twenty hours a day in cultivating fields as soon as the snow cleared and the ground warmed.

Italy has reclaimed 200,000 of the 700,000 acres of its farmland devastated by war. France and the Low Countries have greatly expanded their tilled acreages. Holland made an especially impressive comeback by returning to use all but a few thousand acres of her extensive war-flooded areas.

Food Production In Britain

Britain has plowed up many wartime airfields and on landing grounds still in operation grain and other crops are planted between runways and in corners. Storied moors and hunting lands undisturbed since Saxon days are producing their share of food.

As always in the last six years, agricultural Britain has been short of labor. Land girls, soldiers and sailors on leave and Italian prisoners of war helped with the work, yet there still was a lack, for the demand was so great. Now some 8,000 young farmworkers, booked for induction into uniformed services, have been ordered to remain on the land.

Tiergarten Now Potato Patch

In Germany three women workers to every man are digging on estates and in small plots. Berlin's famous park, the Tiergarten, has been turned into a potato patch.

Poland is farming twice as much land as a year ago but still has six million acres idle for lack of machines and seed.

Rains have broken a three-year drought in Spain and the best yields of a decade are predicted. Recent rains on Turkey's fertile Anatolia plains have bolstered crop expectations two per cent above normal.

Fall sowings wintered well in Sweden and Finland. Norway can raise only twenty per cent of her grain needs, but her fish hauls have been so abundant this spring that tons were exported. Whalers also are having a big season, enabling Norway to contribute 51,000 tons of animal fats to the world pool.

Politics And Crops In Asia

In Southeast Asia, a prewar rice barrel which once overflowed millions of tons into the world market, food officials say the crop planted this summer will be dependent upon the composing of local political unrest and the suppression of terrorism, the provision of better transportation facilities, and the supplying of consumer goods to growers indifferent to money payment.

There are other difficulties. Irrigation systems were ruined under Japanese occupation. Farmers were intimidated and curtailed plantings or changed to other crops. Many water buffalo, the standard rice paddy work animal, were killed. Forced labor conscription removed many of the farmers.

Consequently, only three countries presently are listed as expected exporters of the crop recently harvested — Siam, Burma and Indo-China. Their supply to the world market will not exceed 2,500,000 tons. Before the war, Burma alone exported 3,000,000 tons.

GERMAN FOOD STATUS WORSE

Arrival Of Families Helps GI Morale, Says McNarney

Berlin, May 21 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney said today the food situation and industrial production were worsening in the American occupation zone of Germany and that economic conditions were acute due to failure to treat Germany as a single economic unit.

At the same time, the American commander reported that the conduct of United States troops had "definitely improved" following orders for tighter discipline and he said the arrival of American wives and children was one good influence.

McNarney Pessimistic

McNarney declared pessimistically that "unless we can reach a decision on treating Germany as an economic unit, there is no immediate prospect of checking the downward spiral in industrial production and the worsening food situation."

American policy still is directed toward fulfilling the Potsdam decision for economic unity, he said, but "we are thinking of alternate plans," one of which is that Germany remain divided along somewhat the present lines of the four occupation zones.

He said there was a "crying need" for solution of economic problems, many of which waited upon the establishment of central agencies.

Nothing Done About Pooling

"The export-import plans wait on it, so does the foreign exchange agreement," he said. "So far, there have been no actual steps for pooling food for all zones. We had hopes that, once we got through the winter, zonal boundaries might be erased, bringing alleviation of conditions.

"I see nothing on the horizon that gives such promise. We got nowhere with it in the Control Council here, and the Foreign Ministers Council took no action in Paris."

The General, asked to comment on a report that the Americans might threaten to halt reparations deliveries out of their zone unless an agreement was reached quickly on setting up central agencies, said: "If we were thinking about anything like that, we naturally would not tell it in advance."

Families Have "Good Effect"

McNarney said that, "as long as I am military governor or until a peace treaty is signed," the ban against American-German weddings would remain in force.

Arrival of American families has had a "good effect" on the conduct of United States occupation troops, he said, "and the wives seem well satisfied with the living facilities we have provided for them.

"However, they still swamp us with lots of questions about shopping, travel and other things and we are going to give them a compulsory orientation course on these things."

FOUR DESCRIBE SS MASSACRE

Survivors Of Malmedy Tell How Prisoners Died

Dachau, May 21 (AP)—Four American soldiers, giving graphic eyewitness accounts of the massacre of 71 American prisoners at Malmedy, said today SS troops, directed by laughing officers, mowed down the unarmed men with machineguns and then used pistols on survivors.

One of the witnesses, Lieut. Virgil P. Lary, Jr., of Winchester, Ky., at the close of his story stepped from the witness stand, scanned the faces of the 74 Nazi defendants facing the military tribunal, and identified George Fleps, 23, member of the 1st Waffen SS Panzer regiment, as the man whose two pistol shots touched off the slaughter December 17, 1944.

Nearly 800 Murdered

The prosecution charges the Nazis murdered nearly 800 American war prisoners during the 1944-45 Nazi winter offensive into the Ardennes.

The four American survivors testified that about 150 United States troops were caught in a severe German crossfire and surrendered. They were marched, hands clasped behind their heads, into a snow-covered field, and were mowed down by machinegun fire, they declared.

All four stared fixedly at the court of six colonels and a general as they testified. None glanced at Gen. Sepp Dietrich and his 73 SS troops, charged with the deliberate killing of war prisoners. All four wore uniforms with discharge insignia and each had rows of ribbons clustered about Purple Hearts.

120 Victims Listed

To their report the prosecution added the statistics of death at Malmedy, listing 120 victims. Only 71 bodies were recovered, the prosecution said.

Besides Lary, the witnesses were Kenneth F. Threns, Erie, Pa., a former sergeant; Kenneth E. Kingston, Allentown, Pa., and Carl R. Daub, Colebrook, Pa., both former corporals.

Lary told the court how his 285th Field Artillery Observation battalion men were herded into the field with the other prisoners.

Parked Beside Prisoners

"Two vehicles drove up and parked on our flank, and I saw a German place a machinegun over the side of one," he said. "Then another vehicle drove up and stopped between the other two. I saw a man take his pistol and aim in the direction of our group. He fired two shots from a distance of 15 yards. At the first shot I saw an American with his hands clasped over his head go down."

Lary dropped into the snow when the shots were fired. Machineguns chattered for about three minutes and he was struck in the left leg, he said.

"I heard screams and then some single shots like pistol shots in the field," he continued. "After the single shots the groaning stopped.

Only Laughter From Road

"I heard only laughter from the men in the road and from some vehicles which came by, and then some more machinegun fire. Someone walked past my head and fired. A man said, 'Have they killed you yet?', and another answered: 'No, but if they are going to kill me I hope they come back and get it over with.'"

Lary escaped after hours of lying still on the field, made his way to a Belgian village and was helped to American lines by two girls.

Kingston told how a German soldier stood by him and fired two pistol shots into his helmet. The shots missed Kingston's skull. He had been grazed three times in the machinegun fire.

Caught In German Fire

Kingston said his battery was caught in machinegun and 88mm. fire before it surrendered to a column of German half-tracks whose men lined the Americans up and mowed them down. He dropped down. After the firing stopped some ten minutes later, he looked up cautiously. Foot soldiers were shooting those still alive or clubbing them with gun butts, he testified.

German officers were "running around and laughing, and I didn't know what was going on," he said. He escaped after lying in death-like stillness for three hours.

Ahrens said he thought he was on that field for ages. He had been hit in the back. His face was buried in mud and he could not see the Germans come on the field. He said he heard them coming and heard the groans of his buddies and the shots and then stillness.

"I kept pinching myself to see if I was alive," he said.

Two more survivors will testify tomorrow.

Identifies Killer

Asked to identify the slayer, Lary walked across the court to the section seating the seventy-four SS defendants. He looked into the face of each. In the last row, his gaze fastened on Fleps.

"This is the man who fired the two shots into the field on December 17, 1944," Lary said.

He declared he was leading a small detachment from the 28th Field Artillery Observation Battalion on the road to Bastogne when they were attacked by a large enemy force and decided to surrender. Leaving their light weapons on the frozen ground, they marched with hands clasped behind their heads past the leading German tank, whose commander thumbed them toward the enemy rear. Lary testified:

"A German in the sixth or seventh armored vehicle in the column said, 'It's a long way to Tipperary, boys.' None of us responded. As we approached the crossroads, a German standing beside a parked half-track searched us and took our cigarettes and watches. We were motioned into a field where a big group of prisoners were standing, shoulder to shoulder, in ranks twenty men wide and eight deep."

Medical Men Lined Up.

Lary said the group included several American medical corps men with bright red crosses on their helmets and brassards. An American lieutenant-colonel arrived, driving his own jeep while covered by two German riflemen.

"We were standing in the field at Malmedy crossroads, 150 to 175 of us, unarmed with our hands clasped over our heads," Lary testified. "I saw no wounded men. They were all Americans.

"Two vehicles drove up and parked on our flank and I saw a German place a machine gun over the side of one. Then another vehicle drove up and stopped between the other two. I saw a man take his pistol and aim in the direction of our group. He fired two shots from a distance of fifteen yards.

"At the first, I saw an American with his hands clasped over his head go down. I did not see the effect of the second shot."

Wounded In Leg.

Lary said he dropped down in the mud when the pistol shots were fired. Machine guns started firing in about three minutes and he was wounded in the leg.

"I heard screams and then some single shots like pistol shots in the field," he testified. "After the single shots, the groaning stopped. I heard only laughter from the men in the road and from some vehicles which came by, and then some more machine-gun fire. Some walked past my head and fired.

"A man asked, 'Have they killed you yet?' And another answered, 'No, but if they are going to kill me, I hope they come back and get it over with.'"

Yank Points Out Killer of Unarmed Captives

Lieutenant Tells War Trial How SS Men Fired Into Prisoners in Battle of Bulge.

Dachau, May 21 (A. P.).—A grim Kentucky soldier pointed today at a Nazi SS trooper and accused him of starting the Malmedy massacre of seventy-one unarmed American prisoners of war by wantonly firing at them with his pistol.

Lieut. Virgil P. Lary Jr. of Winchester, testifying in the trial of seventy-four SS veterans in the Dachau war crimes court, was one of six Americans who survived the butchery at the Belgian town of Malmedy during the winter Battle of the Ardennes Bulge. That was Germany's last offensive.

Lary climaxed his dramatic story by identifying Georg Fleps, 23 years old, of the First Waffen SS Panzer Regiment, as the killer.

The prosecution charges that the Germans slaughtered nearly 800 American prisoners of war during the Ardennes offensive, allowed the First Panzer Regiment to hunt human beings for sport and issued "no prisoner" orders.

Fifteen Finally Escape.

Lary said he lay in the field about ninety minutes before he heard another American soldier say "Let's go."

"Those of us who could got up and made a break," he said. "I stepped over numerous bodies and ran. Another machine gun opened up. There were well over 100 bodies in the field. About fifteen of us made the break. I crossed a barbed wire fence and crawled into a little shed. I covered myself with sticks and stayed there until after dark. I heard more screams and shots from the field.

Lary said he then hobbled for two miles to a little town where two Belgian girls helped him to an American aid station.

BRITISH LABORITES LINKED TO HITLER

Ex-German Official, Seized By Nazis, Testifies For Raeder

Nuernberg, Germany, May 21 (AP). Karl Severing, 70-year-old former German Minister of the Interior who was arrested when the Nazis seized power, testified today that members of "the British Labor party" praised Hitler before the war and anti-Nazis looked to them in vain for support.

Severing was produced by defense counsel for Grand Admiral Erich Raeder in an attempt to refute the charge that the former German naval chief secretly rearmed his navy even under the Weimar republic.

Under defense counsel questioning he told the international military tribunal that anti-Nazis received no encouragement before the war from foreign sources "which might have been expected to be anti-Fascist."

Called Hitler's Guests

"I often noticed members of the British Labor party were Hitler's guests and returned to England to praise Chancellor Hitler as a friend of peace," he testified.

Severing's testimony concerning happenings in Germany many years ago drew a complaint from Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding over the tribunal, that the questioning was "an utter waste of time."

Later Baron Ernst von Weizaecker, who was German Ambassador to the Holy See, was summoned to the stand as a witness by Alfred Seidl, attorney for Rudolf Hess.

He testified a secret Russian-German agreement in 1939 dividing spheres of interest in eastern Europe was a "comprehensive appendage" to the nonaggression pact signed by the two nations shortly before the outbreak of war.

Russian Protest Voiced

The Soviet prosecution protested the testimony on grounds that "we are here to investigate war crimes, not foreign politics."

Details of the secret treaty, outlined from memory by Weizaecker, were identical with those published months ago when Seidl first started his fight to bring them into the trial.

Weizaecker was given safe conduct from the Vatican to testify for the defense and plans to return to sanctuary there when he finishes on the stand, the prosecution said.

Weizaecker testified that under the original draft of a treaty signed by Russia and Germany in Moscow on August 23, 1939, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and eastern Poland, along with portions of Romania, fell within the Soviet sphere, while the German zone would include the remainder of Poland and Lithuania.

He said a protocol signed the following month shifted Lithuania to the Russian sphere and widened the German area in Poland.

WEIMAR OFFICIAL DEFENDS RAEDER

Nuernberg, May 21 (A. P.).—The war crimes tribunal today took up the testimony of a former Reichs Minister of the Interior who sought to disprove that Grand Administrator Erich Raeder secretly rearmed the Navy even under the Weimar Republic. The witness, 70-year-old Karl Severing, held office from 1928 to 1930. He was arrested on orders of Hermann Goering after the Nazis took power. Both Raeder and Goering are among the twenty-three ranking Germans now on trial.

Severing said that Raeder promised when he took command of the Navy in 1928 he would not violate the Versailles Treaty limitations or attempt secret rearmament. "There was no infringement of that agreement by the Navy during my time of office," the old politician declared.

Severing's detailed accounts of the happenings in Germany so many years ago exasperated the tribunal. The presiding judge once complained that the testimony was "an utter waste of time."

BORMANN AIDE CAPTURED

Last-Stand Treasury Also Seized by U. S. in Salzburg

BERLIN, May 21 (AP)—The American military government disclosed today that Dr. Helmuth von Hummel, a personal aide of Martin Bormann, deputy to Adolf Hitler, had been captured in Salzburg by Austria.

The announcement also told of the recovery of a collection of old gold coins, valued at $5,000,000, with which, it said, the Germans intended to finance a last-stand fight in the "Bavarian redoubt." The collection was known officially as the "Treasury of Kremsmuenster" because it was looted by the Germans from the Kremsmuenster and other monasteries in Austria.

Lieut. Walter Horn, art-intelligence investigator for the military government, questioned von Hummel's wife and got her to persuade her husband to surrender. Von Hummel told how, under orders from Bormann, he had spirited the treasure to the Tyrol to finance continued German Army resistance. Von Hummel, a major in the Elite Guard, asserted that he had had no contact with Bormann since April, 1945.

M'Narney Says Yanks' Conduct Is Better

Berlin, May 21 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American commander in Europe, told a news conference today that the conduct of American troops in Germany had "definitely improved" since his order tightening up discipline.

He declared that the ban on American-German weddings would "not be lifted as long as I am military governor or until a peace treaty is signed."

On the general trend of the four-power occupation, however, the General gave one of his most pessimistic reports, declaring that the economic situation, especially in the American zone, was "acute."

"Can't Check Trend"

"Unless we can reach a decision on treating Germany as an economic unit there is no immediate prospect of checking the downward spiral in industrial production and the worsening food situation," he said.

McNarney acknowledged that "we are thinking of alternate plans" although the official American policy still is to seek implementation of the Potsdam Agreement to treat Germany as one economic unit. One of these alternate plans, he said, is that Germany might remain divided approximately along the lines of the present four occupation zones.

Mum On Report

He refused to comment on a report that the Americans might threaten to halt reparations deliveries out of their zone unless an agreement was reached soon on establishing central agencies to treat Germany as a whole.

"If we were thinking about anything like that we naturally would not tell it in advance," he said.

Wives Called Aid

McNarney said a major factor in the improvement of soldier conduct was the arrival of American wives and children in the occupation zone.

"This has had a good effect," he stated. "The wives seem well satisfied with living facilities. However, they still swamp us with lots of questions about shopping, travel and other things and we are going to give them a compulsory orientation course on these things. That course will also include an hour's talk on fraternization, in which the women will be given our official policy on fraternization with the Germans."

NAZI FOUND GUILTY IN RAZING OF LIDICE WILL BE EXECUTED

PRAGUE, May 21. — (AP) Karl Hermann Frank, ruler of Czechoslovakia under Hitler, was sentenced to public execution today by the people's court which found him chiefly responsible for the massacre of Lidice and the destruction of the villages of Lidice and Zubri.

Frank, one time protector of Bohemia and Moravia under Nazism, is the first Nazi of cabinet rank to be sentenced to death in a war crimes trial. Under the people's court practice of swift justice, the death sentence is expected to be carried out soon—possibly tomorrow.

Frank slumped listlessly in his chair as the court president, Antonin Kozak, began the reading of the legalistic basis of the decision. The reading was expected to continue into tomorrow and the execution to come soon after. The court noted that Frank was not wanted at Nuernberg or other trials.

The court had heard testimony that all of Lidice's males over 16 years of age—about 178—were shot in broad daylight on June 10, 1942. Witnesses testified that the women and children were taken to Kladno, from whence the women were sent to concentration camps and the children to scattered homes. The Nazis then put the torch to the village.

A witness had testified that Frank visited the village at the time of the execution, viewed the corpses, and expressed a desire that "corn should grow where Lidice stood."

The Nazis wiped out Lidice in revenge for the assassination of Reinhard Heydric, right hand man of Heinrich Himmler and Frank's predecessor as protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

The village, about 18 miles from Prague, had a population of 520. Witnesses testified at the trial that all males over 16 were killed, and that cattle and other animals belonging to the residents were given to German colonists.

Lichfield Trial Witness Is Reported Shot by G. I.

Clash Said To Be Over a Girl; Army Won't Release Story

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, May 21 (AP).—A shooting which sent one prosecution witness in the Lichfield trial to the hospital and another to jail was disclosed unofficially tonight, although Army officers conducting the trial attempted to suppress news of the incident. The two prisoner-witnesses, who recently were released from detention, clashed over a German girl, it was reported.

Three high officers, approached for the names of the witnesses, declared that "absolutely no information" would be revealed and that the fight had been classified as "confidential for security reasons." Recently Colonel Irwin Shindler, special trial co-ordinator sent from Washington as part of a speedup in the trial proceedings, told the court that top Army officials "want to get these trials . . . out of the newspapers."

The fight between the two soldier-witnesses, who are scheduled to testify against eight other enlisted men and six officers charged with mistreating G. I.s at the 10th Replacement Center at Lichfield, England, was reported to have taken place in their billet. It was learned that one of the witnesses was in the 97th General Hospital at Frankfurt with two bullet wounds in the left leg. The other was reported confined to the guardhouse after his arrest by military police.

At the 97th General Hospital where the victim, Miss Dorothy Knapp, 38, of 62 Treadwell avenue, Port Richmond, S. I., New York, died Sunday night, a complete autopsy report was expected to be ready tomorrow.

Neighbors of the captain were questioned in an effort to discover whether Miss Knapp, his companion during an evening of partying in Frankfurt, was seen by anyone when she plunged unclad from the second floor window, or while she lay unconscious in the backyard.

The window from which the dark haired war department typist fell was checked for fingerprints by technicians, apparently to determine whether she had stood there alone.

The original report by authorities said Miss Knapp and the captain had returned to his billet at 2 a.m. and she had been injured some five or six hours later, at which time the captain declared he was asleep.

Their acquaintance was described as struck up by chance when Miss Knapp arrived last week from the United States.

Anti-Russian German Jailed

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, May 21 (AP)—Ernst Luge, 51, business manager of the Liberal Democratic party in Greater Hesse, was sentenced to five years in prison today by an American military-government court for hostile remarks against the Soviet Union. Luge was accused of having said that Russian soldiers raped German women and of having predicted "a new war between America and Russia is coming, and Germany will fight on the western side."

Americans and Germans said that the German specialists were teaching the Red Army advanced aeronautics, especially new methods of instrument navigation and that the Russians are employing all German scientists available who could aid in research on atomic energy and rocket projectiles.

An American informant added that a report has been received from Stettin that high-ranking personnel on German submarines going to the Soviets as reparations were granted the choice by the Russians of serving as instructors at Baltic ports or of being sent to Russia as prisoners of war.

An American officer said that many Germans who had formerly served with the armed forces had made applications to join the American Army.

Both this officer and an informed German editor of a Russian-controlled Berlin daily newspaper declared that the Russians were culling out captured German soldiers to select those qualified for teaching special branches. Allied Intelligence officers reported that some Germans who have taken Russian jobs have written this information to relatives, while others have written to Allied commanders offering their services and stating they had received good offers from the Soviets.

PROBE IS PUSHED IN TYPIST'S DEATH

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 21—(AP) American Army fingerprint and medical experts worked tonight in an attempt to solve the mystery surrounding the fatal plunge of a nude woman typist from a captain's bachelor apartment here Sunday.

The Army public relations officer, apparently embarrassed by the adverse publicity from the case, declined to make known the captain's name and address.

Investigators were warned by the public relations division against divulging any information to American reporters. The investigators were unable to confirm or deny a rumor that the case had taken a sinister turn.

German Experts Training Red Army

American Officers, Germans and Allied Intelligence All Agree, but Moscow Calls Report Untrue.

Berlin, May 21 (A. P.).—Many former Germany Army, Navy and Air Force experts are being employed by the Russians as special instructors for the Red Army in certain phases of military science in which the Germans excelled, according to American and German informants.

[In a broadcast picked up in London, the Moscow radio called these reports "inventions from beginning to end," intended to distract attention from the "recently discovered facts concerning German troops which have been preserved intact in the British zone of occupation."]

CZECHS ADMIT RUSS TROOPS

Army Moves Through Country During Election

Prague, May 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Zdenko Fierlinger's office announced today that Russian troops, with Czechoslovak approval, have entered Czechslovakia from the south en route to Germany and that the movement would continue through Sunday, the date for Czechoslovakia's elections.

The transfer is in connection with "reorganization of Russian occupation forces in Germany," the statement said.

The announcement immediately raised speculation whether the presence of Soviet troops, even in transit, might have some effect upon the parliamentary elections.

Political Aspect Denied

The official statement said, however, that the troop movement was "due to the dislocation of Soviet occupation forces," which was being corrected, and that it had "no political background."

"This is said with the purpose of anticipating all combinations of untrue speculations," the statement said.

The first of the Soviet troops, it continued, already have crossed the border. It was presumed that the movement was across the Austrian and Hungarian frontiers.

Some Mechanized Forces

There was no indication of the size of the formations, but mechanized forces were mentioned. The statement said the troops were using main south-to-north highways as well as railway lines. The units will be nine days in traveling to their destinations in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany, it added.

The announcement said the step was taken with the approval of the Czechoslovak general staff, after consultations with the Russians.

Russia withdrew the main body of her forces from Czechoslovakia early this year.

Effects On Voting

Despite the Government's declaration that no political considerations were involved, the movement aroused lively discussion.

Observers said the troop movement, which may take about nine days, might aid the Communists in getting the votes of some easily-influenced electors.

That advantage, however, the observers said, might be nullified by the fact that the movement could stir up considerable resentment among other voters.

It was pointed out that only a relatively few Czechoslovakians would see the Russian troops, who will be stretched out thinly along certain highways and rail lines.

May Cut Into Food Supply

There was some concern, however, lest the Russians would cut deeply into Czechoslovakia's slim food supply and disorganize the rail system.

The Socialist newspaper Svobodne Slovo said the public could be certain that the last Russian would be out of the country by May 29, and that "the Communists won't gain an extra vote."

No Soviet troops have yet been seen in Prague.

Reds Crossing Czecho-Slovakia

Russian Troop Movement to Germany to Be Going On as Czechs Vote.

Prague, May 21 (A. P.).—An official announcement today said that Russian troops bound for Germany had begun moving across Czecho-Slovakia from the south in connection with "the reorganization of Russian occupation forces in Germany."

The announcement indicated that the movement would continue through May 26, date of the Czecho-Slovakian general elections.

The main body of Russian forces was withdrawn from Czecho-Slovakia early this year.

A statement from the office of Prime Minister Zdenko Fierlinger said the movement was planned in consultation with the Czecho-Slovak General Staff, which had approved of the plan.

There was widespread speculation whether the presence of Russian troops, even in transit, would have any effect on the forthcoming parliamentary elections. The statement from Fierlinger's office, however, said the troop movement was "due to the dislocation of Soviet occupation forces" and added that the "step has no political background. This is said with the purpose of anticipating all combinations of untrue speculations."

To Take Nine Days.

The statement said it would take the troops nine days to reach their destinations in the Russian zone of Germany. There was no indication of the number of troops involved, but mechanized forces were mentioned and the statement said main highways and railways would be used.

Informants here said they presumed the troops entered the country along the Austrian and Hungarian frontiers.

Yanks Bag Guns, Contraband In Raid On Danube Shipping

Vilshofen, Germany, May 21 (AP). Four thousand hand-picked United States constabulary troops swarmed aboard 372 vessels in the Danube River in a surprise daylight raid today, seized a huge bag of guns and contraband and apparently smashed a smuggling ring headed by remnants of the Hungarian Navy.

The boats, mostly Hungarian, were suspected of smuggling German SS fugitives out of Germany and trading in black-market supplies.

Cases of machine guns, numerous light arms, radio sets, and quantities of United States Army food, clothing, and other materials were seized. Boats containing them were impounded.

Former Navy Men Aboard

Several hundred members of the Hungarian Navy were believed to be aboard Hungarian naval craft among the river boats.

At least 30 of the vessels, including twelve gunboats, formerly were part of the Hungarian Navy and had fought with the Germans against the Russians, army officials said.

Hundreds of persons were removed for investigation, but the Army did not disclose whether any SS troopers were bagged. The heavily-armed raiders struck from the shores along a 45-mile stretch of the Danube from the Austrian border up to Deggendorf in southeastern Germany.

3,000 Taken For Questioning

The 5 A.M. raid upon ships lying at anchor near the river bank tumbled from bed nearly 3,000 men, women and children of twelve nationalities. They were rounded up for questioning by counter-intelligence agents. The seizure was accomplished in 34 minutes, spearheaded by the 11th Regiment of Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon's special zonal constabulary, which will take over the chief security role of the United States occupation forces July 1.

The Hungarian ships were believed to harbor former sailors and high-ranking officers of the Hungarian Navy who had escaped from the Black Sea up the Danube from the Russians near the close of the war.

No explanation was offered by counterintelligence agents to explain the delay in moving against such men, but one officer said possibly it had been necessary to keep the original crews on the ships to maintain them.

Present Commander Sought

The Army made on immediate announcement whether Admiral Trunkwalter, described as present commander of the remnants of the Hungarian Navy, had been discovered. Trunkwalter became commander following the failure of Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy's attempt to surrender the Hungarian fleet to the Allies.

The raiders, directed by Brig. Gen. Edwin L. Sibert, chief of the European headquarters' intelligence branch, met only one reported instance of resistance. A Hungarian armed with a shovel attacked a soldier, but was subdued quickly.

Fire At Patrol Boats

The Americans fired at three German river patrol boats, aiding in the coup, which were marked improperly and were slow in obeying commands to halt. One German patrolman was wounded.

Vilshofen is on the Danube, 12 miles northwest of the Austrian-German border town of Passau.

Authorities did not indicate whether the Soviet Army had been told in advance of the raids. Reporters were invited to watch the raid, but the Army kept some of its results secret.

97 Belgian Rexists On Trial for Slayings

Charleroi, Belgium, May 21—(AP)—The trial of a group of 97 Belgian Rexists on charges of assassinating 20 Belgian patroits on August 18, 1944, opened today.

The leader of the group, Victor Matthys, was alleged to have reported in a Rexist newspaper at the time that doctors, lawyers, priests and women were slain in reprisal for the execution by the resistance of the Rexist burgomaster of Charleroi.

The trial is expected to last two months.

ATTACK GREEK BORDER

Athens, May 21 (A. P.).—The Greek Government announced today that eighteen persons, described as members of the "well-known (Marshal) [illegible] roletarian Division," entered Greece from Yugoslavia Sunday and attacked a Greek frontier station north of Florina.

A statement issued by the Press Department described the attackers as Macedonian Slavs who had taken refuge in Yugoslavia, and said that Greek guards held off the assault until reinforcements arrived and drove the "attackers" back into Yugoslavia.

Florina is in northern Greece, near the juncture of the Greek-Yugoslav-Albanian borders. An Allied military observer who recently completed a two-and-a-half-month survey of the area described it as "Greece's next trouble spot."

Outbreak In Spain

La Coruna, Spain, May 21 (AP)—The civil Government announced today that four persons were wounded in an exchange of shots Sunday night between the civil guard and "extremist elements" who killed Arcadio Videla, newsman on the Falange daily El Ideal Gallego.

The announcement said the wounded included two "bandits," a corporal of the civil guard and a passer-by. It added that "several extremists" were arrested and two had unexploded hand grenades.

Debt Cancellation Urged In Holland

Amsterdam, May 21 (AP)—An open letter urging cancellation by the Government of 12,000,000,000 guilders (about $4,550,000,000) of the estimated 23,000,000,000-guilder public debt and drastic budget cuts as the only means of avoiding inflation was sent today to Finance Minister Pieter Lieftinck by six of the country's leading financial experts.

Among signers of the letter, which termed the present financial situation serious were Prof. G. M. Verrijn Stuart, director of the Amsterdamsche Bank and professor of economics at the University of Utrecht, Prof. J. R. M. van den Brink, member of the upper house of the states general, and Prof. F. de Vries.

Alexei Arrives At Sofia For Fete

Sofia, May 20 [AP—Delayed]—Alexei, patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church, arrived by plane today for celebrations of the one thousandth anniversary of Bulgaria's famous Rila monastery.

Zionists Study U. S. Proposal

Jerusalem, May 21 —(AP)— The Inner Zionist Council considered today a proposal by the United States and Britain that Jews and Arabs submit by June 20 their formal opinions on the British-American inquiry committee's report recommending that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine.

The Arab Higher Committee will consider the proposal as soon as Jamal Effendi Husseini, chairman, returns from Damascus, where he has been conferring with other Arab leaders.

Spokesmen for both the Jews and Arabs protested, after their formal opinions were requested yesterday, that they already had made their positions clear.

"Such a request, which means another month's delay on implementation of the report, could have been made when the report was published three weeks ago," a spokesman for the Jewish agency said. "We have made it plain from the outset that we accepted some recommendations and rejected others."

Dr. Izzat Tannous, member of the Arab Higher Committee, said "there are certain things in the report itself we accept, but we refute the recommendations entirely because they are biased and unfair."

A statement by the U. S. government urged that the formal reports from the Jews and Arabs be "of a constructive nature insofar as possible." It pointed out that the recommendations of the joint inquiry committee were merely advisory and "not binding."

"The government of the United States will give equally careful consideration to the views of governments and organizations which it is now consulting," the statement said. "Judging from preliminary reactions to the report in various quarters, criticism may be expected."

The statement said that the interest of the United States was based on a "desire to help and compassion for the victims of Fascist and Nazi persecution, whether they are Jews or not" and on the fact that "American citizens have for a number of years contributed substantial assistance to the establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine and there is every reason to believe that their interest will continue."

The United States also is interested in "maintenance and promotion of mutually beneficial and harmonious relations between the United States and Near East countries in many fields, "including political, educational, cultural, trade and economic development," the statement said.

Moslem Trade Unionist Assails India Offer

New York, May 21 (AP)—Fazal Elshi Quardan, Indian Moslem trade union leader, today termed Britain's offer of federal union status for India an "effort to perpetuate our slavery. Keep India divided and put down the rising tide of revolution."

JAP CABINET IS COMPLETED

Difficulties Overcome, Yoshida Forms New Government

Tokyo, Wednesday, May 22 (AP)—Shigeru Yoshida, who made his mark in prewar diplomacy, overcame eleventh hour complications to complete Japan's new Conservative, coalition cabinet—and proceeded to the Palace today for its formal investiture by the Emperor.

Premier Yoshida holds the posts of Foreign Ministers and head of the First and Second Demobilization Ministries (formerly Army and Navy). His aged predecessor, Baron Jijuro Shidehara, remains in service as minister without portfolio.

Yoshida last night quelled an uprising within his own party against his choice of Hirowo Wada as Minister of Agriculture and Forestry, completing the Cabinet of five Liberals, four Progressives and four non-party men.

Past Policies Protested

Liberal party chiefs protested the past policies of the 43-year-old Wada, who was arrested in 1941 as a "radical" and probably is farthest Left politically in the Cabinet.

Wada had been nominated after Yoshida's first choice, Dr. Hiroshi Nasu, was ruled out by the Allied purge, along with Justice Minister Chuzo Iwata. Tokutaro Kimura, Procurator general, was subsequently chosen for the post of Minister of Justice.

Investiture of one Cabinet member, Takao Saito, Minister without portfolio, also has been delayed pending approval by the Japanese Government of his record.

Nasu and Iwata were erased from the roster when Yoshida asked that they be exempted from Allied purge requirements and General MacArthur responded with a firm "no exceptions."

Would Have Been Holdover

Iwata would have been a holdover from the Shidehara Cabinet, where he served presumably under special dispensation. He was considered indispensable, Japanese sources explained, as a foremost legal authority in drafting Nippon's proposed new constitution.

Speedy imperial approval of the new Cabinet was desirable because the recessed extraordinary session of the Diet was scheduled to reconvene tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the Premier's residence no longer was beset by the mass demonstrations which had become a regular occurrence in recent weeks. MacArthur's warning of Monday against mass violence and intimidation by "disorderly minorities" made a "deep and significant impression" on the Japanese people, the Kyodo news agency said.

MACARTHUR BARS 2 FROM JAP CABINET

Lays Down Firm Policy of No Exception to Political Purge Order.

NEW SNAG RISES FOR YOSHIDA

Proposed Substitute for Ineligible Minister Is Opposed as Too Radical for the Liberals.

Tokyo, May 21 (A. P.).—Gen. MacArthur today laid down a firm "no exceptions" policy in respect of potential Japanese political purgees—and out went two nominees for Premier Shigeru Yoshida's new Cabinet. Yoshida, however, made quick changes to accommodate the new development, and there was reason to expect that he would seek the Emperor's final approval of the Cabinet tonight or tomorrow.

The Japanese Government formally requested MacArthur to exempt Chuzo Iwata and Hiroshi Nasu, its nominees for Minister of Justice and Minister of Agriculture. His directive bars from public office all individuals with militaristic or ultra-nationalistic records. Headquarters turned down the new request, ruling that there could be no exceptions.

The ruling was considered doubly significant. Iwata had been allowed to serve as Minister of Justice in the retiring Premier Shidehara's Cabinet, presumably under special dispensation. Japanese informants explained that he was indispensable as a foremost legal authority in drafting the country's proposed new Constitution. The Japanese Foreign Liaison Office said it regarded both Nasu and Iwata as ineligible, but hoped to win MacArthur's waiver because Yoshida especially wanted Nasu.

Others Are Named.

The Chief Cabinet Secretary, Joji Hayashi, said that Hirowo Wada, director of the Agrarian Policy Bureau in the Ministry of Agriculture, would replace Nasu on Yoshida's list and that Tokutaro Kimura, Procurator-General, would be Minister of Justice.

A new complication arose, however, when the Liberal party opposed Wada's nomination and confronted Yoshida — who heads the party—with a neat problem. The Liberals—actually a conservative group—objected to the past policies of the 43-year-old Wada, who was arrested in 1941 as a radical. Yoshida told Hayashi to see whether he could effect a compromise.

There was no official statement of why the Government had sought waivers on Nasu and Iwata. MacArthur had not ruled specifically on the eligibility of either However, their records put them within the provisions of the purge directive.

The new Cabinet represents a coalition of Japan's conservative parties—six Liberals and four Progressives—plus five non-partisan members. The metropolitan press and the political factions which are not participating in the new Cabinet wasted no time finding fault with it.

The Japan Communist party issued a statement meanwhile asserting that more than eighty members of the newly elected Diet would come under the purge directive. The recessed extraordinary session of the Diet is scheduled to resume tomorrow.

Anti-mob Law Decree.

Meanwhile, too, MacArthur's order against mob violence had an immediate effect on the Japanese people. Mass demonstrations which had become a regular occurrence were entirely lacking at the Premier's residence today. One group of thirty miners appeared at a gate and quietly acceded to a guard's announcement that only four could enter to make their request.

The Kyodo news agency noted that MacArthur's warning, which was published on the front page of every Tokyo newspaper and was one of the principal topics of conversation on the streets, had made a "deep, significant impression" on the people. The Nippon Keizai termed the statement timely since "most of the people were beginning to think that any kind of mass demonstration was justified under democracy."

Japs Obey Ban Upon Group Violence

Tokyo, May 21 (AP)—General MacArthur's order against mob violence had an immediate effect on the Japanese people. Mass demonstratjons which had become a regular occurrence were entirely lacking at the Premier's residence today.

One group of 30 miners appeared at a gate and quietly acceded to a guard's announcement that only four could enter to make their request.

Kyodo news agency noted that MacArthur's warning, which was published on the front page of every Tokyo newspaper and was one of the principal topics of conversation on the streets, had made a "deep, significant impression" on the people.

Timely, Paper Says

The Nippon Keizai termed the statement timely since "most of the people were beginning to think that any kind of a mass demonstration was justified under democracy."

The newspaper carried also a statement by the Communist party expressing fear that the warning might be used by Japanese "reactionaries" to suppress the democratic movement.

There was a minor tempest in Tokoyo's Setagaya ward concerning an apology which neighborhood leaders made to the Emperor for participation of their neighbors in Sunday's food demonstration.

Fifty representatives of the residents, backed by union and post office workers, insisted the apology was not necessary and forced the resignation of 63 neighborhood chiefs.

Jap Prison Guard Charged In GI Death

Tokyo, May 21 (AP)—Thoranoshin Akamatsu, former Osaka prison camp guard, was charged by Allied headquarters today with killing Private Robert H. Hill, of Norris City, Ill., by "striking him on the head with a hammer."

Japan Maps to Provide Paper

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Maps that would have guided American troops through an invasion of Japan are going into shredding machines to become paper pulp. This was disclosed today by the Division of Territories and Island Possessions, which reported sale of 22,000,000 Army maps of Japan to the Great Eastern Packing and Paper Stock Corporation of New York City. The lot brought $5,040. The maps were prepared for "Operation Olympic" which had been planned when Japan surrendered. The maps, now stored at Hawaii, will be returned to the United States and ground into sufficient pulp to provide an estimated 800 tons of a specially prepared paper.

BARS 2 SALES IN JAPAN

Tokyo, May 21 (A. P.).—The Allied Civil Property Custodian today refused two Japanese commercial firms with head offices in other countries permission to sell their properties in Japan on the ground that all their assets may yet be confiscated for reparations.

Capt. R. N. Ginsburgh of the Civil Property Office said that the question of whether the seizure of a Japanese plant in another country affects the owners of branch facilities in Japan remains to be settled by the Reparations Commission. The companies applying for the sale of properties in Japan were the Manchuria Synthetic Oil Company with home offices in Kitsurin-shi, Manchuria, and the Dairen Dockyard & Iron Works Company, with offices at Dairen.

Some Europeans May Stay In Japan

Tokyo, May 21 (AP)—Italian, Hungarian and Romanian nationals in Japan will be given their choice of remaining or being repatriated, Allied headquarters said today.

Those who remain must have established permanent residence in Japan before December 1, 1939, and be able to maintain themselves as well as add to the Japanese social and economic welfare.

CHINESE PUSH ON CHANGCHUN

Nanking's 1st Army Reported 35 Miles From Capital

Nanking, May 21 (AP)—The Chinese Government's 1st Army, averaging 17 miles a day, has pushed to within 35 miles of Changchun in a drive to recapture that Manchurian capital from the Chinese Communists, central news (official government) agency said today.

Fresh from seizing the Communist stronghold of Szepingkai Sunday, the United States trained and equipped army has sped 35 miles northward to the vicinity of Kungchuling, the agency said.

The Communist troops were expected to make a stand at Kungchuling.

Peace Efforts Renewed

While the reinforced 1st Army drove on toward Changchun, General Marshall renewed his efforts to restore peace to the troubled nation.

The special United States envoy conferred for two hours with Gen. Chou En-lai, chief Chinese Communist negotiator, after reviewing the situation with Peng Hsuehpei, Government Minister of Information.

It was Chou's first meeting with Marshall since last week, when the Communist's illness interrupted negotiations. Marshall's headquarters said the talks would be continued Wednesday.

Press Reacts Promptly

The nation's press meanwhile reacted promptly to the special American envoy's urgent appeal to both factions to abandon the "reckless propaganda of hate and suspicion" which, he said, threatened disaster for the people of China.

The Government's central daily news still blamed the Communists for the fighting in Manchuria, but added that "the past is past, and we hope the Communists will begin a new life."

Omits Violent Attacks

The Ministry of Information's daily bulletin did not mention Marshall's appeal directly but omitted its usual roundup of editorials violently attacking the Communists. Instead, it emphasized articles on the food shortage and the high price of foodstuffs.

The Communists denied they had indulged in hateful propaganda and said they wished they had newspapers in which they could propagandize for peace. (The Communists actually publish some newspapers in China, but only a few.)

In Manchuria the news remained predominately military.

The Government-controlled Central News Agency reported that Gen. Tu Li-ming's new 1st Army, victorious at Szepkingkai, was advancing northward along five routes toward Kungchuling.

Ta Kung Pao's field correspondent described the month-long fight for Szepingkai as the "greatest battle" of the civil war, and said 150,000 men were flung into the conflict for this heavily fortified railway junction.

The Central News also reported recapture of Pehpiao in eastern Jehol province by Government troops who lost it to the Communists last week.

SAYS RUSSIANS MAY AID CHINA

Sun Fo Sees Possibility of Economic Advice.

Nanking, May 21 (A. P.).—Dr. Sun Fo, president of China's Legislative Yuan (council), feels that Russia's recent "attitude" in Manchuria might have sprung from fear of the tightening ties between the Chinese Government and the United States. He did not define "attitude."

"China and Russia must learn to live as neighbors peacefully," the son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, China's revolutionary hero, said in an exclusive interview.

While turning away from the Russian one-party system in favor of the western political practice, Sun said China might have even more to learn economically from the U. S. S. R. than from the United States.

"We have to improve our relations with Russia," he said at the outset. "There seems to be misunderstanding and distrust."

Sun was asked whether he thought China might become a bridge between the Soviet economy and that of the United States.

"To fulfill such a promise," he replied, "China will have to build herself economically and politically."

First Army Advances.

Meanwhile the Government's Central News Agency said the new First Army, victorious at Szepingkai, drove northward with five spearheads. Its new objective was a Communist Army concentration at Kungchuling, forty miles north of Szepingkai on the Mukden-Changchun Railway. Other First Army troops, meanwhile, attacked Communist forces in the mountainous area northwest of Szepingkai.

Gen. Marshall's unprecedented scolding of the Chinese for inflammatory propaganda drew a plea for peace from a Kuomintang (Government party) organ today and a Communist wish that the party had newspapers in which to propagandize for peace. (The Communists actually do publish a few newspapers, but only a few, in China.)

Today, he received China's new Minister of Information, Peng Hsueh-Pei, and then Communist leader Chou En-lai as he continued his efforts to end the nation's civil strife.

Meantime, the Ministry of Information released a statement to the Government-controlled Central News Agency praising Marshall's statement, then recalled it without explanation.

However, Ta Kung Pao, organ of the Kuomintang's executive council, took a softer tone than usual toward the Communists and pleaded for peace rather than war. It urged the Government to take careful measures unless it was sure of quick victory.

[By the Associated Press]

Chinese Government forces pushed on to new attacks in the Manchurian civil war today while a Nanking spokesman called for peace and asked for sympathy and understanding for the Chinese from Russia and the United States.

The Government's Central News Agency said the new 1st Army, victorious at Szepingkai after being stalled for 32 days by Communist forces, drove northward with five spearheads. Its new objective was a Red troop concentration at Kungchuling, 40 miles north of Szepingkai on the Mukden-Changchun railway.

Attacking In Mountains

Other new 1st Army troops, meanwhile, attacked Communist forces in the mountainous area northwest of Szepingkai.

In Nanking, Dr. Sun Fo, chairman of the Government legislative council, asserted that China "will have to build herself up economically and politically" with the ending of civil strife as the vital step.

Sun, in an interview, pictured China as the possible bridge of understanding between the United States and Russia and by indirection sought co-operation in Chinese rehabilitation from both powers.

Looking In Two Directions

"Politically, we are committed to adopt the Western system; we are turning away from the one-party system which is Russia's," Sun told correspondents.

"But, economically, we may have to learn more from the Soviet system of great state enterprises instead of acquiring monopolistic industrial capital, which would simply turn the clock backward, as it did in Japan.

"We have to improve our relations with Russia. There seems to be misunderstanding and distrust. China and Russia must learn to live as neighbors peacefully."

He is the son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic.

Calls Manchuria The Key

China's aim, Sun insisted, was an "independent foreign policy" committing her to neither of the two great powers for "to go either way would be detrimental to the world."

The attempts to end the fighting in Manchuria—which Sun considered the key to settlement of all major problems in China—were complicated, he said, "by Soviet interest in the region, especially north Manchuria."

Are Fighting Feudalism.

Manila, May 21 (A. P.).—The Manila Bulletin today quoted Luis Taruc, Hukbalahap leader, as indirectly acknowledging that the Huks maintain a government within a government in some parts of strife-torn central Luzon, and that the wartime procedure carried into the present "because many of the present regular officials are collaborators or tools of feudal landlords." The Huks were wartime guerrillas.

Taruc denied any intention of overthrowing the Philippines Government, but told the newspaper that he would resist any attempt on its part to "restore the old order" on the rice farms and sugar fields in the rich plains country north of Manila.

A Bulletin reporter touring Pamkanga province said that he had asked peasants whether the Huks were maintaining an independent Socialist republic with its own laws, government, marriage ceremonies and tax collection "enforced by a regime of force and terrorism," and that he had "found they were mostly true, although the Huk leaders themselves denied it."

Says Church Is Neutral.

Taruc said that during the occupation the Huks, like many other guerrilla groups, had underground governments in the towns and villages, sometimes under the noses of the Japanese garrisons. Many central Luzon towns today have legally elected or appointed Hukbalahap officials. Others are run by Huk sympathizers.

The Bulletin said that marriages are solemnized by the bride and bridegroom's walking underneath crossed rifles to the Huk squadron commander who says simply: "I pronounce you married." It said that divorces are recognized if one spouse declares he does not wish to live any longer with the other. It declared that the Huks are attempting to prevent the peasants from going to church.

However, Taruc told the Associated Press recently that the Huks were not opposed to the church. He said that the Catholics, with some exceptions, "maintain neutrality toward us," while the Protestants, with the exception of the Iglesia di Cristo, "are more actively in favor of our principles."

16 JAPS FINALLY HEAR WAR IS OVER

Manila, May 21 (A. P.).—The Army announced today the surrender on southern Okinawa of sixteen armed Japanese soldiers who thought until last week that their country was still at war.

The surrender was effected by a picked team of Nisei interpreters who have been making a systematic search of the island's deep caves.

UNRRA Buying Surplus Goods In West Pacific

Manila, May 21 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, with purchases totaling $13,000,000, has been the greatest buyer of surplus United States Army materials in the Western Pacific, the Foreign Liquidation Commission reported today.

Surplus sales to May 11 totaled $65,000,000 throught the Manila office.

Other large purchasers have been the United States Commercial Company with $12,500,000 and the Philippine commonwealth, $11,500,000.

Manila, May 21—(AP)—President-elect Manuel A. Roxas and U. S. Comsr. Paul V. McNutt arrived by plane from the United States today and declared their mission to Washington seeking financial support for the Philippines was a success.

Roxas said he would make a full report to the nation on the results of his flying trip, saying "I can assure the people of the Philippines that America will not let us down."

Roxas planned to report to outgoing President Osmena. He began immediate conferences with lieutenants to complete organization of his cabinet before his inauguration May 28.

ANTI-PERON UNION SEIZ... IN ARGENTINE

Buenos Aires, May 21—(AP)—The Federal Government, by special decree, assumed control today of the Argentine Industrial Union, a powerful manufacturers' association which unsuccessfully opposed the election of Col. Juan Peron as president of Argentina.

Nicolas Carbone, inspector general of the Ministry of Justice, was named interventor to supervise the affairs of the union for an indefinite period, during which the payment of dues as a requisite for membership will be discontinued.

The union contributed 300,000 pesos (about $60,000) to the campaign fund of Dr. Jose Tamborini, who was defeated by Peron in the presidential elections last February.

The government based its action on the charge that the union had not acted "in accordance with the principles of general interest on which its creation was determined" and had failed to unify the nation's industrial effort.

2 Army Air Bases Transferred to Cuba

Havana, May 21 (AP)—Two army air bases, built by the United States early in the war at a cost of about $25,000,000, were transferred to the Cuban Government yesterday as Cuba celebrated the forty-fourth anniversary of her independence.

The bases are at San Antonio de los Banos, 30 miles southwest of Havana, and San Julian, 200 miles west of here. President Ramon Grau San Martin and United States Ambassador Henry Norweb participated in the transfer ceremonies.

Other signers included Senators James Mead, New York Democrat; David I. Walsh, Massachusetts Democrat; Milton Young, North Dakota Republican and Rep. Thomas Lane, Massachusetts Democrat.

AVIATION CONFERENCE

Montreal, May 21—(AP)—Delegates and advisors from 44 nations are expected to participate in the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization (PICAO) conference which open here today.

The conference will attempt to establish a permanent international organization to supervise air commerce between nations. A seat was being reserved for a Russian delegate, but there was no indication that the Soviet Union would participate.

VANDENBERG SAYS U. S. HAS NEW POLICY

Asserts Paris Conference Saw Birth of Positive Bipartisan Stand.

MAKES REPORT TO SENATE

Declares New Approach Demands Peace With Austria—Seeks Justice, Bars Vengeance.

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) told the Senate today that the Paris meeting of Foreign Ministers had developed "a positive, constructive, peace-seeking, bipartisan foreign policy for the United States."

Vandenberg made no specific mention of difficulties the American delegation reportedly encountered in seeking Russian agreements to conference proposals, but he said that for the time being he was "willing to let the record stand" where Secretary of State Byrnes left it in his radio report to the nation last night.

In effect, Byrnes gave Russia the choice that it could stop blocking a European peace conference this summer or the United States would carry the whole matter to the United Nations.

Proclaiming an American "offensive for peace," Byrnes left no doubt that it would be carried out even at the expense of the basic post-war ideal that the great victor nations should act in unison to fashion the future. He made it perfectly plain that he held Russia responsible for the disappointing outcome of the Foreign Ministers Conference which ecessed in Paris last Thursday until June 15.

Policy Seen Solidified.

Byrne's formal report listed a ...lozen outstanding issues Moscow on which he indi... the United States would compromise.

Vandenberg, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Conference, conceded that the Paris meeting had failed to produce agreement on many vital matters, but said it had solidified American policy to write a "peace for keeps," based on justice and not vengeance.

Vandenberg said the American delegation, headed by Secretary Byrnes with Senator Connolly (D.-Tex.) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and himself as advisers, was a "constant unit" in seeking to end "inconclusive, armistice regimes which are postponing peace beyond all limits of reason and of safety."

The new bi-partisan foreign policy, he said, "demands action in concluding peace treaties not only with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, but also with Austria which is close to the center of the total, continental problem."

"It is based, at last, upon the moralities of the Atlantic and the San Francisco charters," he said in a prepared address. "Yet it is based equally upon the practical necessities required for Europe's rehabilitation. . . .

"I will support that sort of foreign policy under any administration and I hope that any administration, whatever its political complexion, will stick to that sort of foreign policy for keeps."

Five Additional Objectives.

He listed as other objectives of the new policy:

1. Action on decisions for a unified Germany, rather than consideration of its problems "in four air-tight compartments in four zones of military occupation."

2. Maximum protections against resurgence of Axis aggression with "specific guarantees . . . of American good faith."

3. Demilitarization, with justice substituted for vengeance in peace formulas.

4. Establishment of ethnic, or population, recognitions "that no longer traffic in the lives and destinies of helpless people" and which spurn "expansionism as a plague upon tomorrow's peace and security."

5. The writing of a "peoples' peace," with all of the Allied partners of the war invited to participate, instead of "a closed corporation of big powers."

From the aggressive but confident tone of Byrnes's broadcast it was apparent, and officials confirmed this, that he is counting on Moscow conferences between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Premier Stalin during the recess to reverse or modify the Russian stand on stalemated issues.

On the issue appearing biggest in his estimate—the making of peace treaties so that the nations of Europe can begin to "live and breathe" again—Byrnes declared he was confident that there would be a peace conference of the European nations and other interested Powers this summer.

Recalling that at Paris Molotov blocked such a proposal, Byrnes said this power to stop "all efforts toward peace" must not be left to any one nation and added:

"If a peace conference is not called this summer, the United States will feel obliged to request the General Assembly of the United Nations under Article 14 of the charter to make recommendations with respect to the peace settlements."

The article he cited gives the Assembly power to intervene in any situation involving the general welfare of the world.

"There is no iron curtain," Byrnes said, "that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate."

Of the Paris meeting he said that progress toward peace settlements in Europe had been "disappointingly small" but that some progress had been made . . . chiefly in clarifying issues and letting the governments of the four Powers know where they stand with relation to each other.

Vandenberg Report to Senate on Paris Talks

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—Following is the complete text of the report by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, to the Senate today on the Paris conference of Foreign Ministers:

When I returned to Washington last Saturday from Paris I had expected to address the Senate in some detail this afternoon regarding the vitally important work of the Council of Foreign Ministers which has just temporarily recessed until June 15. But when I discovered the status of the Senate's calendar and the urgent necessity for earliest possible action upon pending legislation, I concluded that it would be unwise for me to divert the Senate's attention to another subject, regardless of its paramount concern to every citizen; and when Secretary of State James F. Byrnes made his able radio report to the nation last night it was so comprehensive and so adequate that I was confirmed in my decision to let the record stand where he left it for the time being. Therefore I content myself for the moment with this brief observation.

Secretary Byrnes requested the able chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee (Mr. Connally, of Texas), and myself to accompany him to this meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers which was summoned primarily to deal with the preparation of peace treaties with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. I am happy to say that this American delegation was a constant unit in thought and action. It had no differences. Thus I gladly associate myself with the distinguished Secretary's report; and I compliment him upon his able leadership in this critically important enterprise.

Prefers Delay to Error

The council was not a success in gaining agreement upon several key questions upon which the solution of our major problems hang. It did not achieve agreement on a number of controlling points. It is advisable to be entirely frank upon this score. Eastern Communism and western democracy were unable, for the time being, to see eye to eye in most of these considerations.

It is unfortunate that great progress cannot be immediately reported. But delay is preferable to error in such vital matters. We can "compromise" within the boundaries of a principle. We can no longer compromise principles themselves. That becomes "appeasement"; and appeasement only multiplies the hazard from which it seeks escape. History leaves no room for doubt upon that score. The wrong answers will breed wars for tomorrow.

We must earnestly persist in striving for Allied unity; for unity within the principles which serve human rights and fundamental freedoms, which will win the moral judgments of the conscience of the world, and which may promise peace-for-keeps. We must persist with patient firmness. We must try to understand each other I do not despair of the result—particularly if the unselfish voice of America is a united one.

"A Partial Success"

In other directions the Council was at least a partial success. For example, it amended the armistice terms with Italy, once our enemy, subsequently our ally, to permit larger native autonomy and to allow Italy more readily to recuperate as a self-sustaining member of the family of nations. It succeeded, indeed, in finding common ground in a large area of detailed action which are involved in the mechanics of re-established peace. Further, it succeeded in narrowing the area of dispute even in respect to the larger issues. This is progress. All these things I shall be glad to discuss in detail with the Senate at a more appropriate time.

But, in my view, the more important news is that the Council was a complete success in developing, at last, and in disclosing a positive constructive, peace-seeking, bi-partisan foreign policy for the United States. It is based at last upon the moralities of the Atlantic and the San Francisco Charters. Yet it is based equally upon the practical necessities required for Europe's rehabilitation.

It is a policy which seeks promptly to end the present, inconclusive armistice regimes which are postponing peace beyond all limits of reason and of safety. It is a policy which demands action in concluding peace treaties not only with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, but also with Austria, which is close to the center of the total, continental problem. It is a policy which demands action in arriving at decisions for a unified Germany, where the real core of Europe's recuperation resides, and where the problem must be considered as a whole rather than in four air-tight compartments in four zones of military occupation. It is a policy which is definite and specific upon these counts and which demands specific deadline dates in these regards, before it is too late.

Wants a People's Peace

It is a policy which guarantees maximum protections against resurgent Axis aggressors, and which dramatically offers specific guaranties as an earnest of American good faith. It is a demilitarization policy. It is a policy which now substitutes justice for vengeance in these formulas of peace; which now insists upon ethnic recognitions that no longer traffic in the lives and destinies of helpless peoples, and which spurns expansionism as a plague upon tomorrow's peace and security. It is a policy which invites all of our partners in the war—instead of a closed corporation of big powers—to have a proper voice in the making of the treaties and the writing of the peace which result from the common victories which we all helped win. It is a policy which wants a people's peace.

That is what I think we Americans were trying to do at Paris.

That is what I pray we may yet succeed in doing.

I will support that sort of foreign policy under any administration, and I hope that any administration, whatever its political complexion, will stick to that sort of foreign policy for keeps.

This sort of policy, plus the effective operation of the United Nations, is the way to stop World War III before it starts.

ALLIES WILL SHARE NAZI ASSETS HELD BY SWITZERLAND

WASHINGTON, May 21. — (AP) The United States, Great Britain and France tonight won a share in the hundreds of millions of dollars of German assets in Switzerland.

A general agreement, announced by the State department after several months of negotiations, disclosed that the Swiss, who at one time had refused to give up any German holdings for fear of compromising their carefully-guarded neutrality, would:

1. Turn over $58,140,000 of an estimated $130,000,000 in gold looted from other countries and sold or deposited by the Nazis in Switzerland.

2. Share with the three western powers and other allies on a 50-50 basis the proceeds to be realized from the liquidation of German properties whose value has been estimated as high as $700,000,000.

The accord while not yet final, provides "a satisfactory method of preventing the use of German assets for the financing of a new war," said the State department announcement.

While not mentioned in the announcement, a major factor which caused Switzerland to modify its original position was the $1,500,000,000 in Swiss assets which the United States had frozen.

Officials said the $58,140,000 would be divided among France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and other nations from which the Nazis had "looted" gold. Great Britain and the United States have agreed not to claim any of the gold.

However, under the Paris reparations agreement of Jan. 15, the United States and Great Britain both are entitled to 28 per cent of whatever money is realized by the allies in liquidating Nazi properties in Switzerland. France will get 16 per cent and Yugoslavia is next with 6.6 per cent.

Russia will not share in the Nazi assets in Switzerland under terms of the Paris pact to which the Soviets agreed.

World Food Pool Proposed

Washington, May 21 (AP)—A world food pool to feed famished peoples was proposed to an international conference today by UNRRA and Belgium.

The meeting also heard Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao, a delegate from India, declare that the western world could save millions "from the imminent threat of death by starvation" merely by "becoming a little less nonvegetarian."

The conference of nearly a score of nations and five international agencies, organized by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization to attack the long-range problem of recurrent famine, moved today from the talking to the working stage. After a morning of speeches, committees began preliminary meetings in closed sessions.

Would Store Up Excess

Belgian delegate Paul Kronacker suggested the conference study "an international governmental wheat pool which will serve as an ever-normal granary, absorbing excess production in years of abundance and distributing the stocks in years of deficit."

UNRRA Director Fiorello LaGuardia went further. He recommended a "world surplus-food corporation."

At about the same time, Representative Clevenger (R., Ohio) demanded before a House Agriculture Committee meeting that "we get rid of UNRRA" in order to preserve American grain for seed. He declared insufficient demands for grain were being made on the Ukraine and countries under Russian occupation.

Ukraine's Wheat Crop Less

He was told by D. A. Fitzgerald, committee witness at the time and who accompanied Herbert Hoover on his world food survey trip, that latest reports received by the Agriculture Department indicate the Ukraine's 1945 wheat crop is about 75 per cent of prewar levels.

Fitzgerald told the committee that by June 30 this country will have delivered 380,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour plus 20,000,000 bushels of other grains.

As LaGuardia outlined his plan for a world surplus food corporation it would operate this way:

Members would set up the world pool by treaty and share the cost. There would be three regional offices, for the Western Hemisphere, for Europe and Africa, and for the Far East and Indian Ocean area.

Each Would Find Needs

On the basis of past consumption, each nation would determine its food needs. A country with a surplus would sell it to a regional office. The regional office would put it in a world pool and the world agency would sell food from the pool to lands in want or trade with them for other foods.

Each country would pay its farmers some sort of "parity" price for the surplus so they would have a satisfactory purchasing power.

LaGuardia took issue with the suggestion of former President Herbert Hoover, made before the conference yesterday, to end international food distribution on a charity basis by September 1.

Would Become "Pawn Shop"

"To compel a starving nation to borrow on long terms for current food is not in keeping with the new world that we are talking about," LaGuardia said. "We would, thereby, instead of having an international agency of mercy, transform it into an international pawn shop."

Rao said India was 7,000,000 tons short of wheat this year, had asked the combined food board for 2,500,000 tons in the first half of the year, been promised 500,000 by the end of May and received 200,000.

He called for equitable distribution of food according to the needs of nations and "not according to their political power or the sphere of influence or sphere of responsibility to which they might belong."

Wallace Links Aid And Export Gain

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Commerce, said tonight that if the United States helps "prevent millions from dying of famine," American commercial exports can be expected to surpass $10,000,000,000 a year.

In a radio address over CBS, Wallace said that "such an export volume" would mean a "continuing high level of employment at home and healthy profits for American industry."

The Secretary said it was "incredible" that any American should feel we were "foolish to ship food or any other scarce commodity abroad."

FREE SUPPLIES TO NEEDY URGED BY LAGUARDIA

UNRRA Chief Against Sale of Food as Hoover Suggests.

WOULD BAR WORLD PAWNSHOP

House Member Proposes End of Giving to Save American Grain for Seed.

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—Fiorello LaGuardia urged today that better-off countries keep on giving food to hungry lands instead of transforming "an international agency of mercy into an international pawnshop." He differed with former President Herbert Hoover, who recommended yesterday that charity donations of food be brought to an end and replaced by long-term credit arrangements.

LaGuardia spoke as head of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. His audience was an international food conference.

"To compel a starving nation to borrow on long term for food," he said, "is not in keeping with the new world we are talking about."

He did agree with Hoover that UNRRA must come to an end eventually, and that a permanent international agency must take over the problem of meeting a continuing food crisis in the next few years. UNRRA will do its best to do a good job, he said, until a permanent agency is established.

Wants to End UNRRA.

Representative Clevenger (R.-Ohio) urged in a House Agriculture Committee meeting today that "we get rid of UNRRA" in order to preserve American grain for seed. He complained that insufficient demands for grain were being made on the Ukraine and countries presently under Russian occupation—the area known, he said, as "the bread basket of Europe."

The committee witness, D. A. Fitzgerald, who accompanied Hoover on his round-the-world food survey, told Clevenger that latest reports received by the Agriculture Department indicate that the 1945 grain crop of the Ukraine was about 75 per cent of its pre-war yield.

Rao Asks Cut in Meat Diet.

Speaking for India at the food conference, R. V. K. Rao said today that the world's hungry can be fed if Western nations would eat less meat. He suggested a little less non-vegetariae diet as a means of getting grain to hungry humans rather than to meat animals.

Rao, press representative of the Indian government, said that the United States, with far less population, consumes 130,000,000 tons of grain in a year while his 300,000,000 countrymen consume only 60,000,000 tons.

In the second day of its meeting, the conference heard statements from heads of delegations. Paul Kronacker of Belgium made two speecific suggestions:

1. That the combined food board, now made up of the United States, Britain and Canada, be expanded to include all major exporting and importing countries.

2. That an international wheat pool be formed to serve as a ever-normal granary." The pool, he said, would help farmers to look forward with a degree of security.

Sees Need for Stability.

Frank W. Bulcock, director-general of agriculture for Australia, likewise emphasized the need of assuring stability and security to farmers if any international food plan is to work.

Andres Fjelsteadt said that Norway would be able to export in 1946-47 750,000 tons of a fish catch expected to total 1,000,000 tons.

The conference centered much attention on how to relieve farmer fears that surplus crops and depressed prices might follow increased production.

Pepper, Byrd Clash in Senate, Floridan Gets Tag of 'Skunk'

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) Senator Pepper declared today he believed Senator Byrd (D-Va) may have advised the coal operators to stall off a settlement with the union pending Senate action on labor legislation and Byrd, in a heated denial, virtually called Pepper a "skunk."

Pepper, assailing a proposal by Byrd to outlaw payments by employers to welfare funds administred solely by unions—such as John L. Lewis has demanded for his coal miners—reported that Byrd had held a conference with some mine operators, and asserted:

Accuses Byrd

"I believed—and it has not been denied by the senator from Virginia—I believed it possible that the senator from Virginia told the mine operators:

"Do not agree with John L. Lewis until we can get this anti-labor legislation through the United States Senate because senators will bear the scorpions's lash of public condemnation if they do not enact legislation that will be considered by the public as in some way or other punitive against John L. Lewis."

Bryd, who had been in the cloakroom, came hurrying in with a protest against what he called "false innuendoes." He sought to pin Pepper down as to whether the Floridan actually was accusing him of advising the operators to stall, and Pepper reiterated that he had spoken from the best of his belief about the situation. Finally Byrd exclaimed in disgust:

"I am reminded that when I first became a member of the Senate, my distinguished colleague, the senior Senator from Virginia (Senator Glass) said to me that it never paid to get into a contest with a skunk."

Met Mine Owners

Byrd said he had conferred with some Virginia mine operators at their request and maintained that all his constituents had a right to meet with him.

Byrd and Pepper, both red-faced, exchanged further words and finally Pepper declared that if he had been at fault, he apologized.

"While I do not agree with the senator's philosophy," Pepper said, "I respect him very highly as an individual and I hope to enjoy his personal friendship whether I ever get out of his skunk class or not."

Then Senator Hawkes (R-NJ) protested what he called Pepper's "personal attacks," and Pepper turned on Hawkes with the statement that the latter was the head or the owner of a big corporation. Hawkes denied it.

"Before I became a member of the Senate," Hawkes said, "I resigned from the presidency of the Congoleum company, and I never owned it."

"You made two statements that are 100 percent wrong," Hawkes asserted, "and that's what's the matter with your argument."

Pepper disclaimed any intention of making personal attacks and proceeded with his argument, but the exchange obviously rankled. Later on, when Pepper referred to Byrd again in another connection, the Floridan expressed the hope that he would not "subject myself again to the charge of being an odious animal." Byrd, on hand this time, made no reply.

After the flareup the debate on labor control proposals droned on for the eighth day and a vote appeared as remote as ever.

Green Backs OPA

Washington, May 21 (AP)—William Green, AFL president, said tonight that the administrators of the OPA were "in headlong retreat" before the agency's enemies. He said "this must stop at once."

The chief enemy of the OPA, according to Green, is the National Association of Manufacturers, which, he said, had "opposed every progressive step ever taken by our nation to improve the condition of the American people."

The labor leader, in a broadcast, urged his hearers to write to their senators and urge that the OPA law be extended for another year without a single one of the amendments approved by the House.

URGES ECONOMIC TALK

Chicago, May 21 (A. P.).—The removal of the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Commerce and the Stabilization Director was urged today by Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, who described them as the men mainly responsible for the failure of the administration to meet the emergency problems of reconversion.

In an address to the Inland Daily Press Association, Stassen, a Republican, called on President Truman "to promptly call a major economic conference consisting of representatives of the major economic groups, of the best of the nation's economists, and of the leadership of both parties.

He asserted that the eight months following the end of the war "have been marked by the greatest need for civilian products of all history, and have been marked by the greatest stoppages of production of all history."

Mrs. Luce Challenges 'Uncle Joe' To Let Us All Go in, Look Around

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party, asserted tonight that communism is a "profound democratic movement" and Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R.-Conn.) replied that communism and American democracy are "antagonistic."

Foster declared that reactionaries are "trigger happy" to use the atomic bomb on the world.

Mrs. Luce challenged "Uncle Joe (Stalin) to let the iron curtain down and let us all go in and have one big look. x x x What's he got there (Russia) that he is afraid of a free press?"

They were two of the principals in a debate over the Mutual Broadcast system on "are communism and democracy mutually antagonistic?"

Foster said "American monopolistic forces" are the cause of "present tension among the United Nations."

Mrs. Luce asked him if since 1939 he had "ever criticized anything Stalin enunciated in Moscow." Foster replied that Soviet policy had been "correct."

The congresswoman said that imperialism charges against the United States were "shabby nonsense" and that Russia went to war because she was attacked by Germany but before that the two countries had a "blood bond."

William H. Chamberlin, lecturer and writer who sat on Mrs. Luce's side of the table, declared that "communism is out for world domination by force."

Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor emeritus of Christian ethics, Union Theological seminary, Foster's colleague, said that "American economic royalism" is a danger to world peace and described Russia as a "Socialist democracy under communistic leadership."

Mrs. Luce, who recently announced that she was retiring from politics and had adopted the Catholic faith, at one point accused Foster of not being loyal to the United States but loyal to an "anti-religious" system. She said she would "rather die than live under such a system."

NAVAL ATTACHE DID GOOD SPY JOB

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—Some United States naval attaches did valuable spy work during the war.

The Navy lifted its veil of secrecy on the subject a little to report to Congress how one attache, not identified by name, furnished information about Axis ship sailings from Japan which led to sinking seventeen out of eighteen vessels. The officer served at Vichy during a period in 1941-42.

U. S. Armada World's Greatest

Washington, May 21—(AP)— The United States Navy entered 1946 with an armada of fighting ships almost equal to the combined navies of all other world powers.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz gave Congress this picture of the nation's naval might in testimony which the House Appropriation Committee made public today as it sent the annual naval appropriation bill to the House floor.

Here's how his report rated the United States Navy with others in major ships on Jan. 1:

Battleships: United States, 23; Great Britain 14; Russia 4; Italy 5; France 4.

Heavy cruisers: United States 26; Great Britain 12; Russia, 7; Italy, 1; France 3.

Light cruisers: United States, 41; Great Britain, 50; Russia, 2; Italy, 9; France, 6.

Aircraft carriers: United States, 32; Great Britain, 12; Russia, Italy and France, none.

Escort carriers: United States, 75; Great Britain, 29; Russia, Italy and France, none.

Destroyers: United States, 353; Great Britain, 259; Russia, 51; Italy, 11, France, 15.

Submarines: United States, 206; Great Britain, 115; Russia, 140; Italy, 21; France, 18.

Total combatant ships: United States, 756; Great Britain, 491; Russia, 204; Italy, 47; France, 46.

While many United States combatant ships will be scrapped or otherwise put out of service, here's what the Navy told the committee it plans to retain:

Battleships: 4 in active status; 2 in reserve; 10 inactive but serviceable.

Cruisers: 29 active; 10 reserve; 30 inactive.

Aircraft carriers: 12 active; 3 reserve; 22 inactive.

Escort carriers: 10 active and 56 inactive. None in reserve.

Destroyers: 126 active; 22 reserve; 205 inactive.

Destroyer escorts: 30 active; 4 reserve; 204 inactive.

Submarines: 80 active and 106 inactive.

Nimitz told the committee the postwar fleet generally will be split up this way:

Pacific: An amphibious force adequate to carry one reinforced Marine division; 7 carriers, 6 escort carriers, 2 battleships, 17 cruisers, 72 destroyers, 39 submarines, 16 destroyer escort

Atlantic: An amphibious force capable of handling one reinforced Marine division; 5 carriers, 4 escort carriers, 2 battleships, 12 cruisers, 45 destroyers, 41 submarines, and 14 escort destroyers.

Augmenting each fleet will be a naval air force, the size of which will depend on available finances. In addition, reserve fleet forces will be maintained in both Atlantic and Pacific.

These active nd reserve units, Adm. Nimitz said, "constitute the minimum standard of readiness which is advisable in the light of the current international situation."

The projected postwar fleet, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal told the committee, will be "qualitatively and quantitatively . . . equal to all the forces of the world."

$4,639,659,000 FUND FOR NAVY ASKED IN HOUSE

Appropriations Committee Tops Budget Estimate by $374,260,000.

MEASURE IS A COMPROMISE

Service Asked $6,000,000,000 —Bill Would Preserve Marines' Identity.

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—The House Appropriations Committee today recommended $4,639,659,000 for the Navy next year in response to Secretary Forrestal's plea for a "truly effective sea and naval air power" to help keep the peace.

The money would finance the Navy in the fiscal period beginning July 1. The committee increased Budget Bureau estimates by $374,260,000. The Navy originally had asked the Budget Bureau for about $6,000,000,000, counting in contract - making authority and reappropriation of unspent funds.

Under the committee's plan, the Navy would have an average force of 500,000 enlisted men and 58,000 officers during the 1947 year. The Navy would have 950,000 men and 105,000 officers at the outset, gradually tapering its strength to 437,000 men and 57,800 officers at year's end.

This force would man 291 major fighting ships listed for active service and fly 3,000 fleet planes and 3,000 other planes. Forty-two ships would be kept in reserve and 632 on inactive categories. In addition, there would be 2,400 spare planes.

Pleas Made by Forrestal.

In requesting funds for the Navy's first full year of peacetime operations since the war, Forrestal told the committee at hearings:

'If the United Nations organization is to be given a reasonable opportunity of success, the present maintenance of our armed power is essential and that means the maintenance of a truly effective sea and naval air power."

Sizing up the problem before it, the committee took cognizance of the development of the atomic bomb, saying:

"If it were possible to know at this moment what effect the atomic bomb may have on future modes and methods of warfare, a line of approach could be devised that would provide the necessary men and facilities to serve the pattern of the new era. Unfortunately no standards exist for divining this future picture. Decisions must be made upon facts as they exist, plus reasonable expectancy of future needs."

Included in the $4,639,659,000 the committee approved is a transfer of $500,000,000 from the naval stock fund to the pay and subsistence account. The stock fund includes money for ship stores, uniforms and similar purposes.

Bureau Estimates too Low.

The committee said it believed that the new funds would be ample to maintain the world's largest and most modern Navy. The proposed fund is $8,118,928,879 below current year appropriations.

Original Budget Bureau estimates, the committee said, were insufficient to insure a Navy "that may be expected to meet any contingency reasonably foreseeable in the future."

To provide for a comprehensive Navy and Marine Reserve training program, the committee recommended an increase to $133,800,000 in the Budget Bureau's estimate of $78,811,000 for training.

It explained that the additional money will permit training of 55,000 additional men and 3,000 additional officers in the organized Naval Reserve; provide a volunteer reserve training program for 60,000 officers and men; training "in some form or other" for 60,000 Marine Corps reservists, and completion of the training of all cadets in the V-5 naval aviation training program.

Post-war Training Plans.

Post-war Navy training plans call for three instead of eight recruit training stations and for a post-graduate school at Newport, R. I. All recruits and most service-schools students will be trained at San Diego, Cal., Great Lakes, Ill., and Bainbridge, Md. Discontinued recruit training stations are Norfolk, Va., Sampson, N. Y., Lake Seneca, N. Y., Farragut, Idaho, and Newport, R. I. Instead of recruit training at Newport, the Navy plans for a post-graduate general line school primarily for officers who are transferring to the regular service.

The committee recommended $1,500,000 for San Diego; $2,675,000 for Great Lakes; $1,500,000 for Bainbridge, and $1,500,000 for Newport.

Tribute to Marines.

Paying tribute to the work of the Marines, the committee expressed the conviction "the American people would never look with favor upon any move designed to bring about any loss or impairment of identity" of the corps. This was the only reference to proposals for a merger of the armed forces.

The bill supplies approximately $250,000,000 for naval research and development, an increase of $40,000,000 over budget estimates. The research fund was voted after the committee heard naval experts tell of studies of powering ships with atomic energy instead of by ordinary marine engines, and of plans for installation of huge rocket-shooting guns or battleships.

Admiral Land Censured.

The committee recommended closing out the War Shipping Administration on July 1, 1946, and transfer of its funds, duties and employees to the Maritime Commission. The program contemplates winding up WSA's ship operations by the end of 1946, with private marine shippers taking over a large part of the proposed government shipping operations for 1947.

The committee censured Admiral Emory S. Land, former head of the Maritime Commission, for what it termed failure to maintain "accurate cost-accounting figures" on construction costs of ships at various shipyards. It denied funds for bookkeeping work "aimed at charging off to the various wartime construction contracts negotiated by the commission, the costs of materials furnished by the commission" to contractors.

The Government, the committee said, would receive no income from this work and the commission "need not concern itself with the problem of employing personnel to perform the task of allocating to individual ship construction contracts the $800,000,000 odd of unallocated wartime shipbuilding material costs."

For the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, the committee recommended $805,760,000; for the Bureau of Yards and Docks, $275,312,000, including $60,052,000 for public works construction outside the United States and $83,000,000 for projects in this country.

For both bureaus it denied requests for additional contract authority and recommended repeal of unobligated existing contract authority as of next July 1.

Research Work Planned.

Committee hearings on the appropriations measures supplied some clews to the way in which the Navy expects to spend its money for research, although much of the testimony was secret.

One project includes long-range tests of pilotless aircraft at the ordnance test station at Invokern, Cal. These will be conducted with 625 pilotless planes.

Another calls for research on captured German equipment, including a wind tunnel for experiments with buzz bombs and two large cranes which had been used in German harbors.

Work is also under way to perfect radar detection devices for defense against any atomic bomb attacks or naval fleets or this country. In this connection, the Navy hopes to develop electrically controlled bombs equipped with radio and radar instruments.

Seabees to be Permanent.

Some of the other highlights of the hearings:

The Seabees wartime naval construction force, will be a permanent fixture with the Navy. Training will be conducted at Port Hueneme, Cal.

The Navy entered 1946 with 756 fighting ships—almost equal to the combineed total of 788 combatant vessels in the fleets of other major naval Powers—Great Britain, Russia, Italy and France.

The proposed budget for the maintenance of the Pearl Harbor Navy Yard the next fiscal year is less than half the estimated expenditures for the twelve months ending June 30. Maintenance funds for the next twtlve months were estimated at $4,375,000, compared with anticipated expenditures of $9,156,000 for the current fiscal year and

Navy Plans Big Building Program

Washington, May 21—(AP)— Navy plans for a $35,966,300 public works construction program in the continental United States during the 12 months beginning July 1 were disclosed today.

Rear Adm. John J. Manning, chief of the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks, told the House Navy Appropriations subcommittee that the proposed building program is scaled down to high priority projects to conform to Budget Bureau recommendations.

Largest single item in the list of projects submitted to the subcommittee during hearings on the Navy appropriations bill for the fiscal year 1947 was $6,900,000 for a new 500-bed naval hospital at Austin, Texas.

Other proposed construction includes alterations to apartments at the New London, Conn., submarine base at a cost of $185,000.

U. S. Has More Ships Than Rest of World

But Whether War-built Maritime Power Will Be Kept Remains to Be Seen.

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—From Archangel to Melbourne in the war years, up the steaming Persian Gulf and through the swirling fogs of the Bering Sea went the blunt-nosed slab-sided American liberty ships.

War made America the number one shipping power. The United States had only one-seventh of the world's tonnage when the Nazis invaded Poland. Now there are more ships under the American flag than all the rest of the nations combined.

Tomorrow is Maritime Day, but whether we will keep our big league position is practically anybody's guess. The Government wants a powerful merchant marine. So do ship owners. Money, men and ships are available, but there are some tough problems too.

Since 1939 around $17,000,000,000 have been spent to put the Stars and Stripes over more than 7,000 ships. It would be nice to get some of that back, and a law has been passed setting up how and at what price the Government-owned ships will be sold.

Many Are Affected.

Apart from salvaging some of that war expense, however, thousands of people are directly and indirectly employed by American shipping. Factories and businesses a long way back from our seaports are concerned in the size of the merchant fleet.

Owning most of the world tonnage, the United States is in a position to stimulate "a high volume of international trade," Department of Commerce officials say, which "will mean employment of more laborers in the United States . . . and generally a larger volume of business."

In the days when men were cheap and tea expensive Americans skimmed the cream of world trade with the fastest ships ever built. As America expanded to the westward, interest waned in deep-water profits. There was more money to be made in development of the vast land areas between the sea coasts. Gradually United States living standards and wages went up, and cheaper-built, cheaper-manned foreign vessels were allowed to get the overseas trade. In 1830 American ships carried 90 per cent. Some of that business was regained and by 1935 American ships carried a little over 30 per cent.

Aiming at 50 Per Cent.

Now the Maritime Commission is shooting at a minimum of 50 per cent in the United States-owned ships, but it will take Yankee ingenuity to beat long-time seafaring traders like the British, the Dutch and the Norwegians on world markets.

The Japanese and the Germans, second and third on the pre-war list of foreign traders (the British were first) are out of the race. A scramble for their markets is in the making.

One Liberty ship captain gloomily predicted: "Our war-trained sailors will go back to the land and our shipping trade back to the British and other nations which can build ships cheaper and hire sailors at lower wages."

But colorful, pungent Admiral Emory S. Land, former boss of the Maritime Commission, insists: "Never again must we allow our merchant marine to become the nation's cross-eyed stepchild!"

AMERICAN NAVY WILL DRIVE SHIPS WITH ATOM POWER

Boston, May 21—(AP)—The Navy "has no time to lose in adopting atomic power for surface ships and particularly submarines," according to Rear Adm. Harold G. Bowen, Chief of the Navy Office of Research and Inventions.

He told the joint Council of International Co-operation last night that "the horror of the atomic bomb has blinded many minds to other possibilities of atomic energy and particularly atomic power."

He said that the installation of atomic energy in submarines makes "a very attractive proposition" and ships would "have a cruising radius only dictated by the amount of provisions that can be carried."

With atomic power, he added, "economy of fuel will no longer be essential. Navy turbines will be completely redesigned and marked increases in speed will be conductive to reducing the possibility of effective bombings.

He said, however, that there would be "no miraculous transformation of atomic energy into power." Heat from atomic fission, he added, would make steam "and steam will drive turbines or reciprocating engines exactly as it does now."

Truman Confers With Roberts

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—President Truman conferred briefly today with Owen J. Roberts, former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Leaving the President's office, Mr. Roberts declined to discuss their talk, telling reporters: "I can't say a word." Mr. Roberts talked with Mr. Truman a few weeks ago, presumably about the vacancy on the Supreme Court created by the death of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

GIFT FOR TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, May 21. — (AP) President Truman was presented today with a 900-year-old Korean porcelain vase. Dr. Lee Wook Chang, leader of a Korean educational mission now in this country to advocate an exchange of students between this country and Korea, made the presentation. He said the 18-inch high vase, one of five of its kind in the world, was buried in a royal tomb and excavated in 1912.

See Army Medical Blackout

Dr. Perrin Long Charges Valuable Data Are Withheld and Research Hampered.

Atlantic City, May 21 (A. P.).—Dr. Perrin H. Long of the Johns Hopkins Medical College said today that the United States Army had a policy of withholding valuable medical information.

In an address prepared for delivery before the 180th annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey, Dr. Long asserted that classification of much information as "confidential" hampered wartime research. Release of this information to accredited civilians would have aided greatly in planning of research for the armed forces, said Dr. Long, professor of preventive medicine at the Baltimore Medical School.

Extensive research into the chemical nature of penicillin by the United States Army today is "shrouded in mystery," he said. Civilian physicians therefore must prescribe "unknown mixtures of penicillin with no assurance that the mixture they employ will be the most effective."

Dr. Long, who served thirty-seven months in the Army and with the rank of colonel was medical consultant in the North African and Mediterranean theaters, continued:

"Many medical officers had little opportunity to have much professional contact with their patients. Despite age, training and length of service, many highly competent medical officers remained captains."

Failure to advance deserving officers was caused by the "stupid inflexibility of tables of organization," Dr. Long asserted.

3 Babies Dead, 16 Sick On Brideship Vance

New York, May 21 (AP)—Port-of-embarkation authorities tonight said three infants had died and sixteen were ill from an undetermined ailment that occurred in the thirteen-day voyage from Le Havre of the bride ship Zebulon Vance.

Col. John P. Schiess, chief of public relations for the port, said three of the ailing infants had been removed to the army hospital at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, in special ambulances when the ship docked Monday. Three of the children who are critically ill, he added, were taken off the ship Sunday night while the vessel lay at anchor in the North River.

Schiess said tests had been started on the food, water, milk and other supplies aboard the Vance, and that "the vessel was equipped with enough medical officers and supplies to handle any ordinary situation that might occur."

Truman-Stalin Meeting Urged In House Speech

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Representative Mundt (R., S.D.) urged in a House speech today that a conference be arranged between President Truman and Russian Premier Stalin.

Mundt praised Secretary Byrnes for his "candor" in his foreign policy statement last night.

"But it is more and more clearly indicated," Mundt said, "that a conference is needed soon between the Big Two—the leaders of the United States and Russia."

LEPROSY CASE IS CONFIRMED

Army Officer To Accompany Wife To Leprosarium

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Public Health Service tonight confirmed that the wife of Maj. Hans Hornbostel was suffering from leprosy and said the major's application for a job at the Carville (La.) Leprosarium would be given "every consideration."

The major has expressed an urgent wish to be with his wife when she goes to the leprosarium, and declared he would be willing to work in the kitchens, if necessary.

Diagnosis Correct

The health service issued the following statement:

"The United States Public Health Service has confirmed the diagnosis of leprosy for Mrs. Gertrude Hornbostel. The confirmation, required by law, has been telephoned to Dr. Walter T. Harrison, district medical officer, United States Public Health Service in San Francisco.

"Dr. Harrison is making arrangements with Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, director of public health for the State of California, to obtain the clearance necessary for moving Mrs. Hornbostel to the National Leporosarium at Carville.

Travel Arrangements

"Arrangements for the departure are being completed as quickly as possible. Mrs. Hornbostel probably will leave for Carville within two days. Isolation technique will be used en route for the comfort of the patient and to assure the safety of the traveling public. Precautions will include the use of a separate compartment, disinfection of all dishes and disinfection of the compartment after it is vacated in Louisiana.

"Mrs. Hornbostel will be accompanied by a medical officer of the Public Health Service, a nurse, and by Major Hornbostel, who will be designated, with his concurrence, as special escort by the Public Health Service so that he may accompany his wife to Carville. Dr. G. H. Faget, medical officer in charge of the Carville Leprosarium, will meet the party in New Orleans and accompany Mrs. Hornbostel to Carville.

Application To Be Considered

"Dr. Faget, of the leprosarium, has stated that in Major Hornbostel's case his application for employment at the leprosarium will be given every consideration if there is a vacancy for which he could qualify.

"The advisory committee on leprosy to the Public Health Service does not recommend nonlepers living at the leprosarium. In their opinion the provisions at Carville are liberal for leaves of absence of patients to their homes and for visits by relatives to the institution. They state that general hospitals do not usually admit well members of patients' families."

Major Hornbostel earlier in the day addressed his petition for permission to accompany his wife to the leprosarium direct to the Public Health Service.

Appeal Made By Husband

Dr. Otis L. Anderson, chief of the health service's hospital division, said he received the following telegram from Hornbostel in San Francisco:

"Highly appreciate hopeful statement attributed to you asking me to contact you (regarding) official arrangements that could be made to make possible my employment at Carville (the Government's leprosarium at Carville, La.).

"I am sure you realize I wish to be with my wife constantly."

Hornbostel apparently referred to Dr. Andreson's statement yesterday that no direct request had been received from the major regarding his desire to remain at his wife's side if she were transferred from San Francisco to Carville.

Assistance Promised

Dr. Anderson said nonlepers could be employed at Carville under civil service regulations, and that if the major made a formal request for such employment, studies would be made to determine his eligibility—provided Mrs. Hornbostel were admitted to Carville under a definite diagnosis of leprosy.

Replying to Hornbostel, Dr. Anderson wired today:

"Arrangements initiated (to) effect early transfer your wife to Carville upon confirmation (of) diagnosis (in) accordance (with) regulations.

"Upon arrival Carville, medical officer in charge will assist you in obtaining living accommodations during hospitalization your wife."

CAPT. BUS MILLER NAVY PILOT, DIES

CORONA, Calif., May 21—(AP) Capt. Norman H. (Bus) Miller, 33, bomber pilot hero of the Central and southwest Pacific campaigns, died at naval hospital here today after several months' illness.

A hospital spokesman said his death was due to tuberculosis, probably contracted during his Pacific tour of duty.

His wife and a brother were at his bedside. The widow and their five children reside at Coronado, Calif.

Miller joined the Navy as an enlisted man in 1926 but later entered Annapolis and graduated in 1931 as an ensign.

During the Pacific campaigns he became known as the Navy's one-man aerial task force. He and his B-24 crew were credited with sinking or damaging 66 Japanese vessels in the four-engined Liberator the crew christened "Thunder Mug." A commander during most of his fighting career, he won the Navy Cross, four Distinguished Flying Crosses and the Purple Heart.

A spokesman at the hospital said it was his understanding that Miller had directed that royalties from a book he had written be turned over to the American Red Cross to investigate financial conditions of his bomber crewmen and assist them if they needed aid.

The flier will be buried at Arlington cemetery after funeral services there next Monday.

Soviet Paper Attacks American Film Studios

Moscow, May 21 (AP)—Red Star, organ of the Red Army, said today that Hollywood studios were refusing Czechoslovakia's request for American films until the nationalized moving-picture business of Czechoslovakia was returned to its former owners.

P. Troyanovsky, the writer, said this was an example of "the help from abroad" given Czechoslovak reactionaries on the eve of the legislative assembly election in that country next Sunday.

BY MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, MAY 21-(AP)-IRANIAN AMBASSADOR HUSSEIN ALA RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS FROM HIS GOVERNMENT TONIGHT TO TELL THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL THAT ALL RUSSIAN TROOPS HAD BEEN OUT OF IRAN SINCE MAY 6 AND COUNCIL DELEGATES THEREUPON HURRIEDLY RECONSIDERED THEIR POSITIONS ON THE CONTROVERSIAL CASE.

ALA CONFIRMED RECEIPT OF THE INSTRUCTIONS SHORTLY AFTER THE DELEGATES LEARNED THROUGH NEWS DISPATCHES FROM TEHRAN THAT THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT HAD ANNOUNCED THE COMPLETION OF RUSSIAN WITHDRAWALS.

HE IMMEDIATELY STARTED DRAFTING A NEW REPORT FOR SUBMISSION TO U.S. SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE. MEANWHILE, HE DECLINED TO DISCLOSE THE TEXT OF THE NEW INSTRUCTIONS. HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THEY DEALT EXCLUSIVELY WITH THE QUESTION OF TROOP EVACUATION AND MADE NO MENTION OF ALLEGED SOVIET INTERFERENCE IN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE.

THE NEWS TOOK THE DELEGATES COMPLETELY BY SURPRISE AS THEY PREPARED TO TAKE UP THE CASE AT 11 A.M. (EDT) TOMORROW AND, AS A RESULT, THEY WERE UNABLE TO SAY IMMEDIATELY WHAT EFFECT THE NEW IRANIAN DECLARATION WOULD HAVE ON THE COUNCIL'S ACTION.

THE SPOKESMAN FOR ONE DELEGATION SAID, HOWEVER, THAT AN UNEQUIVOCAL STATEMENT BY THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT THAT ALL SOVIET FORCES HAD LEFT THE COUNTRY MIGHT OPEN THE WAY FOR AT LEAST PART OF THE CASE TO BE DROPPED. THE OTHER PART, DEALING WITH SOVIET INTERFERENCE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF IRAN, MIGHT ALSO BE DROPPED IF THE STATEMENT INDICATED DEFINITELY THAT SUCH INTERFERENCE NO LONGER EXISTED, HE SAID.

SHORTLY BEFORE TEHRAN REPORTS WERE RECEIVED, BOTH BRITISH AND AMERICAN CIRCLES HAD EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD VOTE TO KEEP THE CASE ON THE AGENDA UNTIL CONCLUSIVE INFORMATION HAD BEEN RECEIVED THAT RUSSIA HAS WITHDRAWN ALL HER TROOPS.

THEIR OPINION HAD BEEN BASED ON A LETTER SUBMITTED TO THE COUNCIL LAST NIGHT BY THE IRANIAN AMBASSADOR SAYING "SOVIET INTERFERENCE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF IRAN HAS NOT CEASED" AND THAT "THE THREAT TO THE INTEGRITY OF IRAN AND TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE HAS GROWN MORE SERIOUS."

THE DELEGATES WERE RELUCTANT TO COMMENT ON THE LATEST DEVELOPMENT UNTIL THEY RECEIVED THE NEW IRANIAN REPORT AND HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY IT. THEY WERE GENERALLY AGREED, HOWEVER, THAT ON THE BASIS OF ALA'S STATEMENT, THEY COULD NOT DROP THE CASE.

NEWS FROM TEHRAN THAT NEW INSTRUCTIONS WERE ENROUTE TO ALA WAS RECEIVED WITH GREAT INTEREST AT THE SOVIET CONSULATE HERE, BUT SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO SAID HE WOULD NOT ATTEND TOMORROW'S MEETING.

WASHINGTON, MAY 21-(AP)-R.V.K.RAO, SPEAKING FOR INDIA, TOLD AN INTERNATIONAL FOOD CONFERENCE TODAY THAT THE WORLD'S HUNGRY CAN BE FED IF WESTERN NATIONS WOULD EAT LESS MEAT.

"A LITTLE LESS NON-VEGETARIAN" DIET WAS SUGGESTED BY RAO AS A MEANS OF GETTING GRAIN TO HUNGRY HUMANS RATHER THAN TO MEAT ANIMALS.

RAO, PRESS REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT, SAID THE UNITED STATES, WITH FAR LESS POPULATION, CONSUMES 130,000,000 TONS OF GRAIN IN A YEAR WHILE HIS 300,000,000 COUNTRYMEN CONSUME ONLY 60,000,000 TONS.

IN THE SECOND DAY OF ITS MEETING, THE FOOD CONFERENCE HEARD STATEMENTS FROM HEADS OF DELEGATIONS. PAUL KRONACKER OF BELGIUM MADE TWO SPECIFIC SUGGESTIONS:

1. THAT THE COMBINED FOOD BOARD, NOW MADE UP OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND CANADA, BE EXPANDED TO INCLUDE ALL "MAJOR EXPORTING AND IMPORTING COUNTRIES."

2. THAT AN INTERNATIONAL WHEAT POOL BE FORMED TO SERVE AS A "EVER-NORMAL GRAINERY." THE POOL, HE SAID, WOULD HELP FARMERS TO LOOK FORWARD WITH A DEGREE OF SECURITY.

FRANK W.PULCOCK, DIRECTOR-GENERAL OF AGRICULTURE FOR AUSTRALIA, LIKEWISE EMPHASIZED THE NEED OF ASSURING STABILITY AND SECURITY TO FARMERS IF ANY INTERNATIONAL FOOD PLAN IS TO WORK.

ANDRES FJELSTEADT SAID NORWAY WOULD BE ABLE TO EXPORT IN 1946-47 750,000 TONS OF A FISH CATCH EXPECTED TO TOTAL 1,000,000 TONS.

FRANK IS HANGED FOR LIDICE CRIME

Nazi 'Protector' of Czechs Says 'Germany Will Live' as Widows Look On

By The Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 22—Eight thousand spectators, including widows of the men slaughtered at Lidice, watched without pity today as Karl Hermann Frank was hanged in Pankrac Prison courtyard for having been chiefly responsible for the massacre.

Those of Lidice's widows who were able to come—and widows of some of the 30,000 other Czechs for whose executions Frank had been adjudged indirectly responsible—occupied the second row of seats. Ahead of them were the officials.

Frank was the first Nazi of Cabinet rank to be executed for war crimes.

Not the slightest gleam of compassion could be seen in that long row of unforgiving eyes as Frank, garbed in a ragged Nazi Elite Guard uniform, walked quietly between two guards. At his own request he was not shackled.

The ruler of Czechoslovakia under nazism had to stand under the dangling hangman's noose for eight minutes, in accordance with prison formality, while a digest of the verdict was re-read by Antonin Kozak, judge of the People's Court, which convicted him yesterday. It found him responsible, among other crimes, for the destruction of Lidice and the murder of its male population.

Frank was informed there had been no reply to his telegraphed appeal to President Eduard Benes for leniency. That meant the hangman would take over.

As the noose was adjusted about his neck, Frank muttered: "Deutschland wird leben auch wenn wir nicht leben" ("Germany will live even if we do not live.")

The spectators, admitted by special cards, watched quietly in the bright sunshine. There was no demonstration.

Frank, garbed in a ragged Nazi S. S. (Elite Guard) uniform, walked quietly between two guards. At his request he was not shackled.

The ruler of Czechoslovakia under Nazism had to stand under the noose for eight minutes, in accordance with prison formality, while a digest of the verdict was read by Antonin Kozak, judge of the People's Court which convicted him yesterday. Frank was informed there was no reply to his telegraphed appeal to President Eduard Benes for leniency.

As the noose was adjusted about his neck, Frank muttered: "Deutschland wird leben auch wenn wir nicht leben" ("Germany will live even if we do not live.")

Frank died after the prosecutor announced that the judgment of the court was the judgment of the civilized world.

During the trial, witnesses said Frank ordered Lidice's destruction in June, 1942, after Gestapo men slaughtered all its male population—about 178 men—in reprisal for the assassination of his predecessor, "Hangman" Reinhard T. Heydrich.

The women and children of the village had been taken by the Nazis to Kladno, when the women were sent to concentration camps and the children scattered.

CROWDS SEE CHASE OF G. I. PRISONERS

Southampton, England, May 22 (A. P.).—English civil and American Military Policemen armed with machine-guns and tear gas recaptured two American soldier-prisoners yesterday after a five-hours' roof-top chase before hundreds of onlookers. One of the pair was shot in the back and slightly wounded.

The prisoners, listed by the Military Police as Privates Thomas Trevino and Charles Larkin overpowered their guard during an exercise period at M. P. headquarters and escaped with a carbine and fifteen rounds of ammunition. Climbing up a drain pipe to the roof they eluded the police for five hours, then dropped down from the roof and hid in a staircase cupboard. The Military Police called out to them to surrender. When their first shot hit Trevino in the back, the men gave themselves up.

Trevino, who was taken to a military hospital, had been sentenced by a court martial to twenty-five years' imprisonment for stealing a car in London, for breaking into a soft drink bar in Southampton and for larceny. Larkin faces a court martial in Paris on undisclosed charges.

The Army announced that Trevino's home was in San Antonio Tex., and Larkin himself said he was from Pennsylvania.

Barnstaple, England, May 22 (AP).—Two United States Army soldiers were arrested in a sparsely settled area of North Devon, where they had been hiding for two years, and were handed over to American military authorities today, police announced.

The men, booked as Pvt. Johnny Caudille, 23 of Melvin, Ky., and Pvt. Carl Luther Sumerly, of Lenoir City, Tenn., said they "jumped" their unit at Braunton two years ago and had been living "under barn roofs" ever since.

"We haven't had many laughs because we've worked hard most of the time," Caudille said.

BRITAIN PERMITS POLISH TROOPS TO STAY AS WORKMEN

LONDON, May 22. — (AP) Gen. Wladyslaw Anders' army of 110,000 Poles in Italy who are unwilling to return to their native Poland will be discharged in Britain and allowed to remain as workmen, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin announced to the House of Commons today.

The Polish troops, who had fought with the Allies in the Italian campaign, had been urged previously by Bevin to return to Poland to aid in the reconstruction of the country. But most were unwilling to go because their political beliefs were sharply at variance with the present Polish regime.

Bevin rejected a suggestion by opposition leader Winston Churchill that the Poles be used to relieve British occupation forces in Germany.

"In my view, nothing could do more to prevent the establishment of confidence and to accentuate suspicion, which exists already, than for me to take that course," Bevin said.

The Polish armed forces were organized under the sponsorship of the Polish government in exile in London during the war, with the British underwriting the expense.

The Soviet press frequently attacked Gen. Anders as a fomenter of discord inside Poland, and last Feb. 16 the Soviet Union complained to the United Nations Security council that the presence of the Polish troops in Italy constituted a possible menace to peace on the Yugoslav-Italian border. Britain denied the charge.

BRITISH TO HARBOR POLISH SOLDIERS

London, May 22 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Bevin announced today that Gen. Wladislaw Anders's 110,000 Polish troops in Italy will be discharged in Great Britain and allowed to remain as workmen.

Bevin told the House of Commons a special resettlement corps would be established to teach the men English and train them for work such as coal mining and farming. He rejected a suggestion by Winston Churchill that the Polish troops be used to relieve British occupation forces in Germany, declaring:

"It would be a very bad thing for British policy if we were to go in for a system of a foreign legion to undertake our responsibilities."

Bevin earlier had urged the Poles to return to Poland to help reconstruct that nation, but most of them were unwilling to go home because their political beliefs are at variance with those of the Warsaw government.

LICHFIELD WITNESS IS SHOT AT PARTY

Bad Nauheim, May 22 (A. P.).—The Army confirmed today that a Negro soldier who is a prosecution witness in the Lichfield trials was shot May 17 by a second witness in a quarrel over German girls. The Army said Pvt. Joseph Mallory of Pendleton, Va., wounded Pvt. Albert J. Rose of Dallas, Tex. The Army said the shooting took place at Rose's quarters after an evening of drinking.

The two were quarreling when Mallory suddenly produced a pistol, the statement said, and fired three shots. Rose was hit twice, one bullet fracturing a thigh. He is in the Ninety-seventh General Hospital at Frankfurt and may suffer partial permanent disability.

Mallory, the statement said, is in a stockade pending court-martial. He and Rose were released from detention as witnesses this spring when they were brought to Bad Nauheim for continuance of the trials of guards and officers accused of mistreating or conspiring to mistreat prisoners at the Tenth Replacement Depot at Lichfield, England.

The Army announced the incident twenty-one hours after three officers of the Continental base section had refused to give "any information." A senior officer said yesterday: "I have previously indicated that this type of material is not available for distribution."

Czech Election-Day Move Of Soviet Troops Canceled

Red Army to Delay Shift of Men to Germany

PRAGUE, May 22 (AP).—It was announced today that the transit of Russian troops across Czechoslovakia to Germany has been delayed until after the Czechoslovak election Sunday.

An official announcement said the Russians "generously agreed to the delay after reaction here and abroad misinterpreted the motive."

Yesterday it was stated that a nine-day movement of Soviet troops from south to north across Czechoslovakia had begun in order to carry out a readjustment of Red Army occupation forces in Germany.

"The few troops already on Czechoslovak territory will be rushed through before the election," the announcement today said.

Delay In Red Czech Move Is Reported

London, May 22 (AP)—A Reuter dispatch from Prague quoted the newspaper Lidova Demokracie today as stating that Soviet Marshal Ivan S. Konev, at the request of the Czech Government had postponed until May 27—the day after the Czech elections—a proposed movement of Soviet troops across Czechoslovakia.

An official announcement in Prague yesterday said Russian troops bound for Germany had begun moving across Czechoslovakia from the south in connection with "the reorganization of Russian occupation forces in Germany."

That announcement indicated that the movement would continue until after the Czech elections, scheduled for May 26. The main body of Russian troops was withdrawn from Czechoslovakia early this year. Yesterday's announcement caused widespread speculation as to whether the presence of Russian troops would influence the elections.

RAID ON SHIPPING MAY INDUCE REDS TO OPEN DANUBE

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 22 —(AP) A U. S. State department official said today the Danube river fleet of 372 vessels raided yesterday by American troops was a powerful bargaining point to induce Russia to open up the lower Danube to free commerce.

The vessels are on a 45-mile stretch of the river in the U. S. occupation zone in Germany.

Brig. Gen. Edwin L. Sibert, chief of the U.S. Army intelligence in Europe, said the raids had "no political motive, but were made solely to break up suspected arms running, smuggling and an underground escape route for SS troopers."

The vessels raided comprise a large part of the total craft available for Danube shipping. Most of them were said to be Hungarian-owned, although some belong to interests in other Balkan countries and in France and Holland. They sought refuge in American-occupied territory when Russian troops drove up the Danube late in the war.

Their return has long been sought by Russia and several Balkan nations, according to the State department source, who did not wish his identity disclosed. Russia complained that their detention in Germany was hindering economic reconstruction of the Balkans.

However, this source pointed out that Russia had refused to grant American and other Allied requests for free trade on the Danube. The reparations status of the craft has not been settled, he said.

He predicted that the question of their disposition and of free trade on the Danube would come up for discussion at the next meeting of Allied foreign ministers in Paris June 15.

Meanwhile, the vessels were being impounded, at least pending results of the smuggling investigations. Officials emphasized that they were not being confiscated.

Officials today were still tabulating results of the raids, in which considerable quantities of guns, jewels, furs, food and other black market supplies were reported found.

German Admiral Ends For Defense

Nuernberg, May 22 (AP)—The Defense closed the case for Grand Admiral Erich Raeder today with a contention that as late as 1935 even Winston Churchill was uncertain whether Hitler was a boon or a curse to European civilization.

Firing a parting shot at the prosecution contention that top-ranking German officials must have been aware of Hitler's warlike intentions for years, the defense introduced in evidence before the international military tribunal a quotation from Churchill's book, "Great Contemporaries." The passage said:

"We cannot tell whether Hitler will be a man who will once again let loose upon the world another war in which civilization will irretrievably succumb, or whether he will go down in history as the man who restored honor and peace of mind to the great Germanic nation and brought it back, serene, helpful and strong, to the forefront of the European family circle."

"Clean War At Sea" Claimed

["Great Contemporaries" was published in 1937. The defense reference to 1935 was not explained, but may have concerned the period in which Churchill was writing it.]

The final witness for the former German navy commander in chief, his one-time personal chief of staff, testified that "the German navy fought an exemely clean war at sea."

With this assertion by Vice Admiral Erich Schulte-Moenting, the British prosecution produced an entry from the log of the Nazi submarine U-71, recording its commander's refusal on June 21, 1941 to take aboard three exhausted survivors who spent 28 days in a lifeboat after the torpedoing of the Norwegian tanker John P. Petersen. The log showed the three survivors were given food and water and told what course to follow toward land.

In defense, Schulte-Moenting said he believed a submarine on an outbound mission would be unable to accomodate three extra persons.

Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, latest German Ambassador to the Holy See, was questioned earlier by counsel for the German High Command, which is indicated as a criminal group. He testified that history would list Pope Pius XII at the top of all persons deserving praise for their conduct during the war, and that after the Pontiff, history would bestow praise on "the German Wehrmacht under Field Marshal (Albert) Kesselring," comander in Italy.

"Perhaps it is not known here," the witness said, "that in the autumn of 1943 the Honly See published an official communique that the behavior of German soldiers in Rome was to be praised." He added that during the Nazi occupation of Roce Kesselring once told him that 'half his days were taken up with the question of feeding Rome."

The British prosecution, in cross-examination, recalled the Fosse Ardeatino (a Roman cave) massacre by S. S. (Elite Guard) police in Rome in March, 1944, when it was reported that 329 Italians and fifty-seven Jews were slain. The diplomat replied he believed that "320 prisoners were murdered in the caves," and added that he "knew the German police could do quite a bit in this connection."

PRAISES NAZI ARMY IN ITALY

Ex-Envoy Lays Killing There to SS and Gestapo.

Nuernberg, May 22 (A. P.).—Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, former German Ambassador to the Vatican declared today that history would list Pope Pius XII at the top of all those deserving praise for behavior during the war in Italy, and next to the Pope, he told the International Military Tribunal, history would bestow its praise "on the German Wehrmacht under Field Marshal Kesselring."

Weizsaecker was summoned to the witness stand yesterday by counsel for Rudolf Hess. Today, under examination by counsel for the German High Command, he said that during the Nazi occupation of Rome "Kesselring told me half his days were taken up" with the question of feeding the city. "Perhaps it is not known here," he added, "that in the autumn of 1943 the Holy See published an official communique that the behavior of German soldirs in Rome was to be praised."

Weizsaecker was obviously discomfited when the British Prosecution, or cross-examination, referred to the Ardeantine Caves massacre by SS police in Rome in March, 1944. Asked whether it was true that 329 Italians and fifty-seven Jews perished in that mass execution, the witness replied: "I believe 320 persons were murdered in the cave."

He said that he had not been consulted in the matter and emphasized that it was the work of the Nazi police and not of Kesselring's forces. "I don't know about many murders that took place," he said, "but I knew the German police could do quite a bit in this connection." He added that the SS and the Gestapo "left quite a mark on Italy."

GERMAN CLUBBING OF WOUNDED CITED

Ambulance Driver Describes Slaughter at Malmedy Before Army Court

DACHAU, Germany, May 22 —(AP) Two Americans, including an ambulance driver who had rescued wounded Germans in Normandy, declared today that Nazi troops clubbed some survivors among captured U.S. troops mowed down in the Malmedy massacre and shot others to death.

Both testified at the military court trial of 74 SS officers and men charged with murdering 71 captured Americans at Malmedy, Dec. 17, 1944, and hundreds more during the Battle of the Bulge.

Samuel Dobyns of Sandusky, Ohio, the ambulance driver, said the Germans ignored his Red Cross insignia and grouped him with other Americans marked for slaughter. He was shot four times.

Dobyns said he saw German troopers "shoot the wounded who were crying for help" after machineguns had cut down the prisoners.

Homer D. Ford, military police private of Leeton, Mo., said he heard the Germans battering the wounded with their rifle butts.

Four other survivors presented their testimony yesterday. All six, previously mustered out, were brought here to testify. They left by plane today for the United States.

Dobyns said that his ambulance, newly painted with red crosses, had been trapped by crossfire and wrecked on Dec. 17. He and his assistant surrendered to a group of Germans, and one private wanted to kill him there, he testified.

"An officer told him not to shoot me," Mr. Dobyn said. He inspected the defendants but could not indentify the officer.

Five Americans wearing Red Cross insignia were in the group of about 150 Americans herded into the Belgian field with their hands upraised, he continued. A pistol shot felled one and "I broke ranks and ran to the rear.

"Then I heard another pistol shot and others in the rear started to disperse," he said. "At least two machine guns opened up and we all hit the dirt. I was shot four times and there were eight or ten other holes in my jacket. I saw three or four Germans shoot the wounded who were crying for help. I thought I was the only one left alive."

Dachau, Germany, May 22 (AP)—An American ambulance driver who helped wounded Germans in Normandy told today how enemy troops ignored his Red Cross insigne and shot him four times after he surrendered at the Malmédy crossroads on December 17, 1944.

Glaring at 74 SS war-crime defendants, Samuel Dobyns, of Sandusky, Ohio, described to a United States military court the shooting of more than 100 soldiers as they stood with hands upraised in surrender in a field in Belgium during the Battle of the Bulge.

Dobyns was trapped by crossfire that day and his ambulance was riddled by machine-gun fire. He said he had just painted new red crosses on it.

Wanted To Kill Him

He and his helper hit the dirt and the ambulance was wrecked against a tree. He surrendered to a group of German troops, he testified, and one private wanted to kill him on the spot.

"An officer told him not to shoot me," Dobyns said.

He walked slowly before the defendants, but was unable to pick out the officer.

Dobyns said he was lined up with perhaps 150 others, including five wearing Red Cross insignia. A pistol shot rang out and a man near him fell.

"I broke ranks and ran to the "rear," he said. "Then I heard another pistol shot and others in the rear started to disperse. At least two machine guns opened up and we all hit the dirt. I was shot four times and there were eight or ten other holes in my jacket.

"I saw three or four German soldiers shoot the wounded that were crying for help. I thought I was the only one left alive."

After several hours Dobyns and fifteen or so others jumped up and ran to safety.

Dobyns said he could not identify the captors as SS men.

Struck With Rifle Butts

Homer D. Ford, a military police private from Leeton, Mo., told how he was captured that day and escaped from the bloody field also after he had been shot. As he lay feigning death, he said he heard Germans stamping around and battering the wounded with rifle butts.

This testimony concluded the prosecution's presentation of eyewitness accounts by five enlisted men and one lieutenant who survived the Malmédy shootings. All six have now been mustered out. They were brought by plane to Dachau for the trial. Seventy-one bodies were recovered from the Malmédy field.

U. S. ARMY REPORTS ON GIRL'S DEATH

Frankfurt, May 22 (A. P.).—The death of Miss Dorothy Knapp, whose nude body was found outside an American officer's apartment last Sunday, was "probably accidental," an official Army announcement said today.

The captain from whose apartment window she apparently fell is being "held for formal investigation," the statement added.

The captain, whose name previously had been withheld by the Army, was said officially to be John D. Becher, 28 years old, Darby, Pa. He is attached to United States Army Headquarters.

Miss Knapp's nearest relative was given as her brother, William Knapp, 62 Treadwell avenue, Port Richmond, Staten Island. She came here May 12 as a typist for the United States Air Forces Headquarters.

The headquarters, after "preliminary Army investigations," said:

"Medical examination indicated Miss Knapp died as a result of head injuries. It is believed she fell from the apartment. Subject to completion of a formal investigation and the report of an autopsy, facts available at this time indicate her death was probably accidental."

Previous investigations disclosed that the 38-year-old typist accompanied Capt. Beecher to his second-floor apartment late Saturday night after an evening in Frankfurt. The captain was quoted as saying he was asleep when he was found in his backyard early Sunday morning.

Army Holds Officer In Death of Woman

Darby, Pa., Captain Had Frankfurt Apartment

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, May 22 (UP).—The Provost Marshal revealed today that he is holding Captain John D. Becher, twenty-eight, of Darby, Pa., for formal investigation in the death of Gertrude Knapp, of 62 Treadwell Avenue, Port Richmond, S. I., a War Department employee, who was found nude and dying on the steps of an officers' apartment building Sunday morning.

Becher is being held, the Provost Marshal said, despite the fact that "Miss Knapp died of head injuries and her wrath was probably accidental." He was identified as the "occupant of the apartment where it was believed the accident took place."

Miss Knapp, who was ten years older than Becher, met a captain in an American night club Saturday night and at 2 a. m. Sunday went to the officers' apartment building with him. The Provost Marshal did not say specifically that the captain she left the club with was Becher.

A cleaning woman discovered her later lying on the steps, and soon after she had been taken to an Army hospital she died. Investigators believed she fell through a bathroom window, though she was unable to tell before she died what had happened.

Becher said he had been forbidden by the provost marshal to discuss the case. He came to the door of his apartment, and, seemingly ill at ease, refused to confirm or deny he was being held. There was no guard at the door.

19 Rioting D. P.s Sentenced

3-Month To 2-Year Terms for U. N. R. R. A. Camp Stoning

AUGSBURG, Germany, May 22 (AP).—Nineteen of twenty Jewish displaced persons accused of rioting April 28 outside an United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration camp at Landsberg received prison sentences today.

Six were sentensed to two years, twelve to one year, and one to three months. The twentieth was acquitted of the charges of participating in the riot, throwing stones at American military police and resisting arrest.

Before passing sentences Lieutenant Mariam Beatty, of Topeka, Kan., told the defendants while they had "undoubtedly undergone indescribable suffering under the hands of the Germans, you are not allowed to take retaliatory measures in your own hands."

BERLIN YOUTHS SEIZED IN ROUND-UP OF GANGS

BERLIN, May 22. — (AP) In two spot raids, German police and American public safety officers rounded up 375 Berlin youths among whom they found elements of five criminal or subversive gangs, military government authorities announced today.

The raids were made in the borough of Neudoelin in the American sector of the city. They were part of a continuing campaign to clean our nests of young delinquents and dissidents believed composed largely of former Hitler youths.

MAINZ UNIVERSITY REOPENED AT LAST

Mainz, Germany, May 22 (A. P.).—France, which closed the University of Mainz 148 years ago, reopened it today at ceremonies presided over by Lieut.-Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, Commander in Chief of the French forces in Germany.

Several German universities were suppressed during the political upheaval which accompanied the French Revolution and Napoleonic campaigns. Mainz was ceded to France by Austria in 1797 and the university, which then had 600 students, was suppressed a year later. It was founded in the fifteenth century.

Italy Seizes Nearly 100 As Terrorism Plotters

Rome, May 22 (AP)—Police of Rome, Milan and Florence, in an effort to guarantee orderly elections June 2, have rounded up nearly 100 men suspected of being neo-Fascists plotting terrorism.

Rome officers said they believed they had the men responsible for the raid on Rome's radio station April 30, in which a program was interrupted for broadcasting of a Fascist hymn and propaganda.

Italian Bishops Warn of Penalty To Leftist Voters

Declare Support of Marxist or Anti-Clerical Parties Might Bar Sacraments

VATICAN CITY, May 22 (AP).—An episcopal letter of the Umbrian (Central Italian Department) bishops in "L'Osservatore Romano" today told Catholics that voting for Marxist or "Laicist" parties in Italy's June 2 elections will expose them to "sanctions of canon law."

[A Catholic authority said that "Laicist," in the Italian and Continental sense, means an anti-clerical party which advocates complete separation of Church and State to the extent that the Church would not have any influence even on moral questions.]

Simultaneously, the bishops of Calabria, in southern Italy, told their communicants that there is "irreconcilable opposition between Christianity and Marxism." They instructed their members to vote only for candidates undertaking to "respect and defend all those principles which are the basis of a healthy Christian concept of the State."

The letters, the most forthright expressions yet of the Vatican's hostility to Left-wing parties in the coming elections, will be read in all Catholic churches of Umbria, where the Leftists are strong, and in Calabria.

Vatican sources explained that sanctions of canon law could include denial of public sacraments, such as marriage, to Catholics voting the Communist ticket, and the prohibition of burial of their bodies in consecrated ground. Excommunication, however, would not be a penalty, nor would extreme unction be denied.

The Umbrian bishops imposed "an absolute prohibition on adhering in any way to the ideologies and parties condemned by the Holy Church, among which are those inspired by Marxism or laicism of the State, notwithstanding their so loudly proclaimed respect for religion."

The Calabrian letter was unique among recent Catholic pronouncements, in that it touched upon the choice between the monarchy and a republic in the June referendum.

"Before deciding for the monarchy or for a republic," the Calabian letter said, "it is necessary that each examine with full knowledge which of these two forms at the present moment offers the greatest guaranties for the good of religion and of the country, taking into account all circumstances required to make a prudent decision."

Pole 'Warnings' To Larry Allen Reported

New York, May 22 (AP)—A correspondent of the North American Newspaper Alliance who recently visited Poland writes that Larry Allen, Associated Press correspondent at Warsaw, has been told anonymously at least three times that he should leave Poland.

Writing from Nuernberg May 21, Pauline Frederick, an American correspondent, said:

"I could not have cabled any true stories out of Poland. Press messages that the Government does not like are stopped dead in Warsaw. Larry Allen, of the Associated Press, who has been waging a discouraging battle to get the news out, has been told anonymously at least three times lately that he should leave the country.

Civil War Threat

"I was in Poland on two days—May 1 and 3—that came near to lighting the fuse of the civil war that even a member of the Polish Parliament admitted is threatening."

On May Day the writer witnessed a great celebration of the workers' holiday in Krakow, in which Communist and hammer-and-sickle banners were displayed. Participation was compulsory. On May 3 the Government banned celebration of the country's "Fourth of July."

Suspension Of Credit

In an informative message to his New York office recently, Allen said: "Had triple threat but situation well in hand." He did not amplify this and it is not known whether he was referring to the anonymous warnings reported by the N.A.N.A. writer.

A news dispatch from Allen yesterday, however, said that he had been under attack by Government-controlled papers in connection with the suspension, announced May 10, of a projected $90,000,000 American credit to Poland. The State Department said censorship of the Associated Press dispatch was one of the reasons for the suspension.

The Polish papers said the news sent from Poland by Allen was not conducive to improvement of Polish-American relations. They charged that his dispatches — in which he has attempted to give both sides of Poland's current political turmoil—demonstrated "ill will."

At the same time the Government press was highly critical of the credit suspension and of the American and British Embassies in Warsaw.

Telegrams May Take Month In Poland

Warsaw, May 22 (AP)—Telegrams are slow in Poland.

Messages arrive in one city from another as much as two months after their dispatch—often because the telegraph office doesn't have enough personnel.

Polish Press Raps UNRRA's Work

WARSAW, Poland—(AP) Polish newspapers, citing the nation's critical need for increased assistance through the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, have sharply criticized UNRRA aid to other European countries.

The Communist-supported newspaper GlosLudu—"Voice of the People"—said Greece had received 85 percent of promised supplies, Italy 71.6 percent but Poland only 24.7 percent.

Report Cannon Fire At British Warships

Athens, May 22 (A. P.).—Greek press dispatches from Corfu said today, without official confirmation, that the British warships Orion and Superb were fired upon but missed recently by cannon on the Albanian coast. The ships were plying through Corfu Channel to attend festivities marking the eighty-second anniversary of the union of the Ionian island and Greece.

Britain Protests Firing On Ships By Albanians

London, May 22 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that the British Government had formally protested to Albania concerning the firing on two British cruisers last week by Albanian coastal batteries.

No damage was done to the cruisers, the Superb and the Orion, which were on a "lawful mission" in the Adriatic, the spokesman said, and no one was injured.

He added that a reply to the protest was expected "very shortly."

Dr. Petiot's Appeal For Retrial Is Denied

Paris, May 22 (AP)—A French examining commission turned down today a three-count appeal for a retrial of Dr. Marcel Petiot, condemned to die for the slaying of 27 persons.

Only the possibility of presidential clemency now remains between Petiot—described by the state during his trial as "the Monster of the Rue la Sueur"—and the guillotine.

In his petition for a retrial, Petiot had alleged that two jurors told a reporter for a Paris newspaper on the second day of his trial that he was guilty and was a "demon."

Soviet Press Is Brief With Byrnes Address

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—Izvestia, the Soviet Government newspaper, devoted 150 words of indirect quotation today to Secretary of State Byrnes's radio address on Monday night on the Paris Foreign Ministers' conference. Izvestia made no editorial comment.

Browder Registers At Embassy in Soviet

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—Earl Browder, former general secretary of the Communist party in the United States, registered at the American embassy today and agreed to meet foreign correspondents at a press conference tomorrow morning.

He appeared smiling and affable and gave data about himself for the embassy files on Americans in the Soviet Union.

Franco Tells People Spain Is Happy

Gijon, Spain, May 22 (A. P.).—Generalissimo Franco completed a tour of Asturias yesterday with a speech in which he said that "they can say what they want on the outside, but they cannot take away the happiness we have here."

Speaking in this industrial port city of 100,000, Franco said that Spain was the "true symbol of modern democracy" and was "in no need of further transformation" by revolutions. With Communism, he said, there is no work and no progress.

Russians Busy Getting Toehold In Azerbaijan

Pishevari Regime Declares Amity for All, but Other Foreigners Feel Slighted

TABRIZ, Azerbaijan Province, Iran, May 22 (AP).—Russian business and cultural organizations quietly are feathering their nests in Azerbaijan Province and apparently are enjoying the friendliest relations with Premier Jafaar Pishevari's autonomy-seeking provincial regime.

The Russians operate the only railroad, an air line, the principal highway transport, a three-doctor hospital, a gasoline distributorship and two schools, one for children of Soviet citizens and the other for Azerbaijans.

Not Entirely Friendship

The number of Russian citizens in the province is not known because no census has been taken. A Soviet consular official said that a "manpower shortage was being felt by Russian-operated businesses" since the evacuation of Russian troops took Red Army technicians out of Iran. The com-

Around The World: 420 Tons Of Soap Arrives In Italy

London, May 22 (AP)—A cargo of 420 tons of Brazilian soap, the first soap to be imported to Italy in several years, has arrived in Naples, UNRRA headquarters in London announced today.

The shipment came at a time when even hospitals and schools were not able to provide soap. As a result, Italian authorities reported great numbers of children suffering from scabies.

The Brazilian shipment, UNRRA said, was enough to distribute approximately one ounce of soap to every person in Italy.

panies now are seeking to bring in new workmen from the Soviet Azerbaijan Republic.

Russian officials pointed out that business and cultural penetrations were "natural between two neighboring friendly countries." Other foreign agencies, practically frozen out since Pishevari came to power, have expressed doubt that the abrupt shift toward the Soviet Union was motivated strictly by friendship.

Officials of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, distressed by the recent expulsion of their Persian manager from the province, said they found business dropping and their agencies in small towns folding up.

The American Presbyterian Mission Hospital, here since before the first World War, has only one doctor to the new Soviet institution's three. The Tabriz radio, using a station made by an American but purchased from the Russians, broadcasts in Russian, Persian, Kurdish, Turkish and French. It has advertised for an English language announcer, but as yet has no English language program.

Americans Without Pupils

The American mission school was closed long ago, but three American teachers remained to give special instructions. Now they find themselves without pupils.

Pishevari and members of his cabinet profess friendship for all countries. Azerbaijans when able to converse unseen with Americans express a liking for Americans and America.

On the other hand, American correspondents who recently arrived here were called spies, and an interpreter politely resigned after working for one day, explaining that a friend in the police department "informally had advised him to stay away from foreigners."

Pishevari recently told Robert Rossow jr., United States Consular official, that if he traveled through the province he would do so at his own risk. A Russian Consular official said his travels were unhindered, but that he "always advised" the Azerbaijan government of his proposed route.

Azerbaijan Sees Outbreaks As Unofficial

Tabriz, Azerbaijan, May 21 (AP—Delayed)—A member of Premier Jafar Pishevari's Cabinet said today that the Azerbaijan Government was convinced that Monday's clash in the Sain Qalah area was unauthorized and began without the knowledge of Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam.

This spokesman added, however, that similar incidents had occurred in the same area a month ago and expressed the opinion that it "might have been ordered by some one in the Qavam Cabinet or in the army."

The official newspaper Azerbaijan echoed the expression of confidence that Qavam had not been advised of the recent border clashes but criticised him for not taking "effective steps to purge Tehran of filthy elements, uninvited guests and adventurous officers," whom it blamed for the Sain Qaleh incident.

Soviet Aid Denied

Cabinet Member Mohammed Berea, labor union head who holds the education portfolio and is a pioneer in the Democratic Party movement, denied in a statement meanwhile, that Soviet aid had been an influence in the Azerbaijan autonomy movement.

"The Azerbaijan program for the improvement of the lot of workers is patterned on similar labor movements in every country," his statement said.

Berea, popular as a poet in Azerbaijan and educated in Russia, also outlined Government plans for education and labor reforms. He said plans had been made for a three-college university in Tabriz—medicine, education and agriculture—and that adult training classes had already begun.

Laws To Aid Workers

Proposed legislation before the Majlis (Parliament), he said, would increase workers' pay, force employers to issue bread and clothing to workers and authorize the Government to establish free health and training centers for the workers.

Berea charged that the Tehran Government had attempted to suppress Azerbaijan literature and culture by prohibiting the use of the Turku dialect, but under the proposed education program, he said, both Turku and Persian may be taught.

The Azerbaijan capital was in mourning today for the director of the Tabriz Military College, allegedly slain by a student who failed to be graduated.

EGYPT BALKS ON TREATY

Military Clauses of Pact With Britain Held 'Too Onerous'

CAIRO, Egypt, May 22 (AP)—A series of military clauses in the new British-Egyptian alliance proposed by Britain are "too onerous for the Egyptian delegation to accept," a high Egyptian source said tonight.

The informant made this statement after talks between the two countries on revision of their 1936 Treaty of Alliance were halted temporarily pending the reference of certain points to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in London.

The Egyptian informant said the British delegation had asked guarantees which "in some respects would be worse than occupation." He did not elaborate. Recently the British promised to withdraw all their armed forces from Egypt; the question of the withdrawal date is being negotiated.

Moslems' Feelings Are Hurt By Wording Of India Program

New Delhi, May 22 (AP)—Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, declared today British proposals for a unified India were couched in "deplorable language calculated to hurt the feeling of Moslem India" and "to appease and placate" the All-India Congress party.

In a 2,000-word statement, Jinnah repeated his contention that the "only solution for the Indian constitutional problem" would be Pakistan—a sovereign Moslem state composed of six provinces in the northeast and northwest where Moslems predominate.

The British Cabinet mission proposed a federation of Indian states under a central government.

Secession Right Omitted

"Our proposal that the Pakistan group should have the right to secede from the union after the initial period of ten years—although the Congress had no serious objection to it—has been omitted," Jinnah said in the statement issued in Simla, site of the recent conferences. He added that it was "regrettable that the mission should have thought fit to advance commonplace, exploded arguments against Pakistan."

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the All-India Congress party, and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, former Congress president, were invited to confer with Viceroy Lord Wavell tomorrow to discuss with him the formation of an interim government.

The Cabinet mission, meanwhile, announced that during the interim period before India attains full independence, Britain would retain the paramount power which stems from treaties between the Crown and the individual rulers of some 570 princely states which compose about two fifths of the peninsula.

These powers, known by the general term "paramountcy," preclude relations between the states and foreign powers, and provide for varying degrees of control over the internal affairs of the states.

"When a new, fully self-governing or independent government or governments come into being in British India," said a memorandum presented to the Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes, "his Majesty's Government's influence with these governments will not be such as to enable them to carry out the obligations of paramountcy. Moreover, they cannot contemplate that British troops would be retained in India for this purpose.

Will Revert To States

"His Majesty's Government will cease to exercise the rights of paramountcy. This means that the rights of the states which flow from their relationship to the Crown will no longer exist and that all rights surrendred by states to the paramount power will be returned to the states."

However, until the time when India attains full independence, the memorandum said, "the British Government could not and will not in any circumstances transfer paramountcy to an Indian government."

Jinnah Hits British Plan For India

New Delhi, May 22 (AP)—Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, declared at Simla today that a sovereign and independent Moslem state was the "only solution for the Indian constitutional problem."

He severely criticized the British Cabinet mission's plan for an independent India which rejected Moslem demands for Pakistan.

The British Cabinet mission, meanwhile, clarified the status of the 570 princely states comprising two fifths of India under its plan for an interim all-Indian Government to rule until the new constitution is working.

The Issue Of Paramountcy

The mission said "paramountcy" would remain in effect during the interim period, but would not be transferred to a self-governing india government.

When Britain ceases to exercise the rights of paramountcy the rights of the princely states that were surrendered "to the paramount power will return to the states," the mission said.

Individual treaties between the British crown and the princely states gave Great Britain "paramount power" and the crown's position under the treaties is known as "paramountcy."

"Exploded Arguments"

Jinnah said it was "regrettable that the mission should have thought fit to advance commonplace, exploded arguments against Pakistan and resort to special pleadings couched in deplorable language calculated to hurt the feelings of Moslem India."

Jinnah said the Moslem League's working committee and council would make the final decision for Moslem Indian early in June on the Cabinet mission's plan for creating an Indian union.

Mohandas K. Gandhi told a group of his all-India Congress part followers at New Delhi Friday night that the Cabinet mission had "every reason to be proud" of its proposals. He said the British evidently intended "to get off India's back."

INDIAN VILLAGES BURNED

CALCUTTA, May 22 — (AP) Five villages were burned, three persons were killed and 50 injured in three days of fighting between Hindus and Moslems last week in the Burdwan district of Bengal, the Bengal government announced today.

Last Troopship Leaving India May 30

Calcutta, May 22 (AP)—Approximately 640 enlisted men, 135 officers and 40 soldier brides are scheduled to leave Calcutta on May 30 aboard the Marine Jumper, last troopship to evacuate United States military personnel from the China-Burma theater.

The Army has evacuated 205,490 soldiers from the theater and China since September.

Theater headquarters said the turnover of surplus United States property in the theater to the Government of India would be completed by May 25.

The only detachment to remain in India after the theater officially closes May 31—totaling 439 men—will continue to use Camp Knox as a base of operations in Calcutta, with headquarters at New Delhi.

WOULD DO AWAY WITH RICKSHAS

Calcutta, May 22 (A. P.).—The plight of India's thousands of ragged richska pullers has been placed before the Government of India in a report that recommends ultimate abolition of such conveyance.

The Government's labor investigating committee terms this type of transportation "a degradation to human personality" and "an offense against human dignity."

Reds Report Seven U. S. Planes Are Shot Down in Manchuria

Tass Says American Flyers Were Bombing Chinese Communist Forces There—Gillem Expresses Doubt.

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—Pravda, Communist party organ, said today in a dispatch from its Vladivostok correspondent that American airmen flying American planes were fighting in Manchuria on the side of the Kuomintang (Central Government) troops.

It said seven American planes had been shot down after they had bombed the People's Revolutionary (Chinese Communist) Army.

The Pravda dispatch, which was dated May 18, was headlined "American bombers and flyers in personnel of Kuomintang Army."

Pravda reported that after the withdrawal of Red Army units from Manchuria, fierce fighting broke out between the Kuomintang Army and the People's Revolutionary Army.

Communists Shocked.

"As has become known from authoritative sources," the article said, "the Kuomintang Army is armed with American guns, part of which have been captured as trophies by the People's Revolutionary Army.

"Greater shock was caused in the ranks of the People's Revolutionary Army by the fact that the seven downed bombers which were bombing troops of the People's Revalutionary Army were found to be American. The flyers were also Americans."

[There has been no indication recently from China of any American-piloted planes operating over Manchuria except as servers or peace teams of American, Chinese Government and Communist members. Both United States Army and United States Marine generals in China have denied repeatedly that American pilots were flying anything but peaceful missions.]

The Soviet press and radio reported today without comment that all Soviet troops had evacuated Manchuria by May 3.

Izvestia, Soviet Government organ, published the news in a Tass dispatch from Khabarovsk, which said:

"In accordance with reports received from the staff of Marshal (Rodion Y.) Malinovsky, the evacuation of Soviet troops from Manchuria was fully completed on May 3. Thus the evacuation plan of Soviet troops from Manchuria, which was announced at the end of March, was fulfilled completely."

SHANGHAI, May 22 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem Jr. today termed "very questionable" a Russian news agency assertion that American-piloted planes had been shot down over Manchuria while bombing Chinese Communist forces. General Gillem, commander of United States forces in China, said he had absolutely no information on the report. He recalled that an order that no American planes should fly north of Mukden had been issued after earlier Communist assertions that United States planes were active in Manchuria.

Pravda Lays Bombing of Chinese Reds To U. S. Aviators in American Warplanes

Moscow Claims 7 Shot Down In Manchurian Fight

Moscow, May 22 (AP)—A Pravda dispatch charged today that seven American bombers, piloted by Americans fighting on the side of the Chinese National Army, were shot down in Manchuria while bombing Chinese Communist troops.

The dispatch, from Vladisvostok, said the attacks took place during fierce fighting between Communist and Nationalist forces after the withdrawal of Red Army units from Manchuria.

A Tass News Agency dispatch to the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia meanwhile said all Soviet troops had left Manchuria by May 3 and that "thus the evacuation plan which was announced at the end of March was fulfilled completely."

Credited To Correspondent

The Pravda dispatch, credited to its "own correspondent," said that "as has become known from authoritative sources, the Kuomintang (Nationalist) army is armed with American guns, part of which have been captured as trophies by the People's Revolutionary Army."

"Greater shock was caused in the ranks of the People's Revolutionary Army," the dispatch continued, "by the fact that seven downed bombers which were bombing troops of the People's Revolutionary Army were found to be American. The flyers were also Americans."

[The War Department has received no report of the incident and "doesn't expect any," he added.

[About two weeks ago Communist officials said two American-piloted planes were downed near Szepingkai, but later acknowledged that both pilots were Chinese. They said similarity in the star insignia of the Chinese and American Air Forces caused the error.]

[The United States Army has no bombers in China, a War Department official declared in Washington in commenting on the "Pravda" report. The only Army Air Force planes in China, he said, are those of the Air Transport and Troop Carrier Commands. Other Army officials, quoted by The United Press, said some surplus American-built planes have been turned over to China since the war, but that the War Department "does not know of any recruiting of American pilots by Chinese forces."

U.S. ARMY DENIES RUSSIAN CHARGE

War Dept. Says No American Bombers Are Operating in China.

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) A Moscow radio report that seven American-piloted U. S. bombers had been shot down in Manchuria while attacking Chinese Communist troops was challenged today by a War department official.

This official, who would not be quoted by name, said the Army had no bombers in China. The only Army aircraft there now, he said, are units of Air Transport command and Troop Carrier command.

The Chinese obtained some American aircraft during the war and have acquired additional surplus planes since, he noted.

The War department has received no report of the incident and "doesn't expect any," he added.

The Moscow radio, quoting a Tass report from "reliable sources," said: "Great indignation has been caused in the ranks of the people's revolutionary army by the fact that seven bombers which bombed troops of the people's revolutionary army and were shot down proved to be American. The pilots also proved to be Americans."

SCORES U. S. IN KOREA

Pravda also printed a dispatch from its correspondent in Korea, describing workers there as happy over their new eight-hour day, and the peasants as pleased with the success of land reform.

This reform, it said, was achieved over the opposition of "disgruntled reactionary landlords and business men who still wield a powerful influence in American-occupied southern Korea."

The correspondent, V. Smolensky, said the people's feeling toward the Red Army's occupation troops was one of special and ardent gratitude for liberation from the Japanese.

Claims South Is Indignant

"This hatred against enslavers," he added, "also explains that indignation which the politics of the American military authorities in Korea still arouses in Koreans. In southern Korea, not only the entire Japanese administrative apparatus, but in the beginning even officials headed by Japanese Governor General (Nobo Yuki) Abe were kept."

[The Moscow radio, heard in London, commented sharply on a report it attributed to Reuter "and some British newspapers" that many former German officers were permitted to join the Red Army. The broadcast declared the report was "an out and out falsehood" and "just another example of how militant world reaction strives to hide its real intentions by slandering the Soviet Union."]

Seoul, May 22 (AP)—The first maternity center in Korea was opened today by the American Military Government. It is supervised by Capt. Mildred Lucka, Pittsburgh, Pa., chief of Government nursing affairs, and Lieut. Mary Meyers, Milton, Pa.

U.S. Ships Speed Food Up Yangtze

Shanghai, May 22 (AP) — Four United States landing craft sped emergency food up the Yangtze today toward the famine area of Hunan province where an official report said many among thousands of starving Chinese were committing suicide.

The report of death and despair in what once was the heart of China's rice bowl was received at United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation headquarters from Gov. Wang Tung-yuan of Hunan.

Nanking Forces Near Changchung

Mukden, May 22 (AP)—Unopposed Chinese Government troops were reported within 28 miles of Changchun today, and their commander expressed hope the Communists would surrender that capital of Manchuria to spare it further destruction.

Military dispatches said the Chinese 1st Army—one of the Government's finest—had sent vanguards 7 miles beyond Kungchuling, Communist citadel 35 miles southwest of Changchun.

This would indicate some units had bypassed Kungchuling, which sits among low hills forming a natural barrier for any military force pressing on Changchun from the south.

Communist troops, among the best available for the defense of the capital, had massed inside Kungchuling, bent on holding Government forces trying to recapture Changchun.

Changchun already had been battered by a four-day battle in which Chinese Communists overwhelmed a small Government force and captured the city April 18 after Russian occupation forces had withdrawn.

Chiang Driving On Changchun As Reds Mass

Nationalists Push to Within 28 Miles; Communists Ready for Decisive Fight

By The Associated Press

A decisive battle for possession of the Communist-held Manchurian capital of Changchun appeared yesterday to be imminent, as front dispatches reported advance units of the Chinese 1st Army driving northward from Kungchuling to within twenty-eight miles of the city.

Large Coommunist forces were reported massing in the area as Nationalist General Tu Li-ming hurried elements of his army into Kungchuling, halfway between captured Szepingkai and Changchun, and sent spearheads beyond.

As his American-trained and equipped troops advanced toward their goal along five routes through and around Kungchuling, General Tu issued a statemnet to the press expressing hope that "the bandit force" (Communists) would "repent" and abandon the capital to spare it from further destruction.

The Communists shelled Changchun when they captured it from Nationalist forces in a four-day battle five weeks ago, following Russian evacuation.

Send Wine to Marshall

Tu and Lieutenant General Hsiung Shih-hui sent a joint telegram to General George C. Marshall's peace committee at Nanking and to Sino-American truce headquarters at Peiping urging them to request "the bandit troops" to evacuate both Antung and Changchun.

The telegram urged that the Communists be asked to refrain from destroying communications and otherwise hindering the occupation of Manchuria by Nationalist forces. It also expressed hope the Communists would agree to stop fighting their own countrymen.

Meanwhile, Tu's troops widened their hold on the area west of Kungchuling and Szepingkai. Dispatches said his west route forces reached Chuchiatien and Liaoyuan sixty-five miles west of Kungchuling. North route troops reached Shwangshan, fifty miles west. East route forces took Yitung, thirty miles west, and southeastern route units captured Hsian, forty-five miles west of Szepingkai.

In Shanghai, efforts to promote a truce quickened with the arrival of General Chang Chun, governor of Szechwan Province and the original government member of Marshall's peace commission. "The Shanghai Evening Post" said Chang would confer with Democratic League leaders who had refused to go to Nanking "because the present stand of both the Kuomintang (Nationalist party) and the Communists makes successful peace talks impossible" there.

New Truce Proposal

A Democratic League spokesman said the league had telegraphed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Communist leader Chou En-lai to propose the following truce terms:

Communists to evatuate Changchun, but government troops to remain outside the city; the Northeast Political Council to appoint officiaus to take over and administer the capital; other disputes to be settled after a cease-fire truce has been arranged.

A Central News Agency dispatch received in aNnking reported the Communists had captured Antze, near Tientsin on the Peiping-Tientsin Railway.

In Peiping the Chinese Ministry of Information said the Communist had isolated the Nationalist garrison at Hsinlingkou, ten miles north of Chaoyang in southeastern Jehol Province.

Marshall continued his efforts to persuade both sides to sign a Manchurian truce. He conferred in aNnking for two hours Tuesday with Communist leader Chou En-lai and talked with him again yesterday.

Chou also was expected to meet with Peng Hsueh-pei, new Chinese Minister of Information, to discuss a truce in the war of propaganda which Marshall said Monday was driving the country toward distaster. The Communists continued to blame the government for the conflict in Manchuria.

Nationals Enter City On Route To Changchun

[By the Associated Press]

Chinese Government forces today claimed they had entered Kungchuling, halfway between Szepingkai and their goal, the Manchurian capital, Changchun. Communists countered by closing in on Chaoyang in southeastern Jehol province and Tsinan, capital of Shantung.

Frontline dispatches relayed from Mukden reported that elements of the Government's new 1st Army reached Kungchuling, 40 miles south of Changchun, last night and that advance units today pushed 7 miles farther north.

Although Government dispatches said National troops had "entered" Kungchuling and pushed on beyond, it was not clear whether they had captured or bypassed that strategic city. Recently, Government dispatches claimed the capture of Szepingkai but later reports showed they held only the southern part of the city. They required many days more to capture it.

Hopes Reds Will "Repent"

With Changchun almost within artillery range, Government Gen. Tu Li-ming expressed hope that "the bandit force" (Communists) would "repent" and give up the capital to the Nationals to avoid extensive destruction.

Mukden dispatches said the Government 1st Army was advancing along five routes through and around Kungchuling.

Units of the West Route Force reached Chuchiatien and Liaoyuan, 65 miles west of Kungchuling. The North Route Force reached Shwangshan, 50 miles west and slightly north of Kungchuling. The East Route group captured Yitung, 30 miles west. The Southeastern Route unit captured Hsian, 45 miles west of Szepingkai.

Some six weeks of fierce battling, chiefly for Szepingkai, and days of slow progress as Government troops plodded north afoot and with horse-drawn equipment, preceded the entry into Kungchuling. The push started as the Communists moved on Changchun in mid-April when the Russians withdrew their occupation troops.

General Tu said that three armies and fifteen brigades of "bandit troops" totaling 110,000 men originally stationed at Szepingkai were preparing to attack Kaiyuan and Changtu.

Telegram To Marshall

Tu and Gen. Hsiung Hsi-hui sent a joint telegram to General Marshall's peace committee at Nanking and to Sino-American executive (truce) headquarters at Peiping urging them to request "the bandit troops" to evacuate Antung and Changchun. He also urged them to ask the Communists to refrain from destroying communications and otherwise hindering activities of the Government forces in taking over Manchuria. He pleaded that the Communists agree to avoid fighting with their countrymen, his national troops.

Meantime, Gen. Chang Chun, governor of Szechuan province and the original Government member of Marshall's peace commission, flew to Shanghai. The Shanghai Evening Post said he would confer with Democratic League leaders unwilling to go to Nanking because, they contended, "the present stand of both the Kuomintang (People's party) and the Communists makes successful peace talks impossible."

Democratic League's Plan

A spokesman said the Democratic League had telegraphed Chiang Kai-shek and Communist leader Chou En-lai, proposing the following truce:

The Communists to evacuate Changchun but Government troops to remain outside the city while the Northeast (Manchurian) Political Council appoints officials to take over and administer the city. Other disputes to be settled after that cease-fire truce is arranged.

Further news from the war was a Central News (Government) Agency dispatch reporting Communist capture of Antze, a town near Tientsin on the Peiping-Tientsin Railway.

In Peiping the Chinese Ministry of Information said the Communists, apparently attempting to seize the Chengteh-Chinchow railroad, drove to Hsinlingkou, 10 miles north of Chaoyang. It said the Government garrison was isolated.

The ministry said the same Communist troops had captured Pehpiao, 20 miles northeast of Chaoyang.

Eight red brigades were reported concentrated around Pingchuan, 100 miles to the southwest, and besieging the village of Wutuchi.

The Government reported that the railroad linking Lingchuan, Chaoyang and Chinsien already had been cut. Lingchuan is 60 miles southwest of Chaoyang.

The Peiping Chronicle reported that Communist members of a cease-fire team suddenly departed from Tsinan when Communist forces were reported advancing from three directions.

Creating doubt as to whether Government troops had captured Kunchuling or only entered it was an earlier dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Tom Masterson in Peiping. He said reports from central Manchuria indicated the Communists were well prepared to defend the city.

Yoshida Urges Co-Operation Of People

MAY 22 1946

Tokyo, May 22 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito today invested Japan's third postwar Cabinet, and Premier Shigeru Yoshida pleaded for co-operation between the Japanese Government and people "to save the nation by their own united efforts."

Yoshida said the new Government is determined to dispose of a variety of critical problems and "will boldly proceed with the execution of policies which are already thoroughgoing in character and scope."

Opposition Acknowledged

The task may not proceed smoothly, the Premier acknowledged in a statement, explaining: "Unfortunately, so far I have not been able to obtain positive support of other parties." Left-wing factions stubbornly have opposed both Yoshida and his Cabinet appointees.

"Early solution of the food problem, which is the key to national rehabilitation, does not permit a moment's delay. . . . I paid special attention to the selection of a Minister to take charge of food administration."

The new Minister of Agriculture, who deals with food problems, is Hirowo Wada, the Premier's second choice. His first, Hiroshi Nasu, was purged by General MacArthur as ultranationalistic.

Emergency Steps Planned

Yoshida said the "multitude of problems" facing Japan include revitalization of industry, unemployment and adjustment of economic and industrial affairs. He stated that while necessary emergency measures will be taken, "the Government will consider a long-range policy for building a democratic national economy."

Discussing revision of the national constitution to outlaw war, Yoshida commented: "I scarcely need say of what urgent importance it is for us to lay as soon as possible the foundation for Japanese democracy by taking into consideration general world trends and paying due regard to the general will of our people."

The new constitution is to be presented to the Diet soon.

Japanese Royalty Denied Privileges

Tokyo, Thursday, May 23 (AP)—Fourteen royal families, including those of Emperor Hirohito's three brothers, were lopped from the public pay roll by Allied order today and denied "all special privileges including immunity from taxation."

The order did not affect Emperor Hirohito's immediate family.

Lieut. Col. D. H. Jennings, of the economic and scientific section, Allied headquarters, said the fourteen families owned property worth more than 50,000,000 yen ($3,333,333).

In addition, they deposited 8,000,000 yen in securities with the Imperial household treasury as the war ended, "obviously to protect the securities from anticipated seizure."

Securities Will Be Taxed

Jennings said the securities were ordered returned to the owners and would be taxed.

The Imperial budget included 2,000,000 yen annually to support the fourteen families—paid as salaries for honorary jobs, Jennings explained.

Hit by the drastic new provision were Princes Chichibu, Takamatsu and Mikasa, three brothers of the Emperor; Prince Higashi-Kuni, former Premier and father-in-law of Hirohito's eldest daughter, and ten other top families of Japanese royalty; Kan-Kin, Higashi-Fushimi, Fushimi, Yomoashimi, Kuni, Kitashirakawa, Nashimoto, Takeda, Asaka and Kaya.

The directive ordered the Japanese Government to bar any Imperial household employés from performing work for the listed princes or princesses and restricted the Imperial household from providing them with grants or loans, either of money or property.

"It was felt advisable," Jennings explained, "to remove the families from the public pay roll by prohibiting the Imperial household from supporting them in their 'jobs' through such grants and gratuities. Such money in the final analysis is actually paid by the common citizens of Japan."

Shortages Plague Jap Business Men

Tokyo, May 22 (AP)—Shortages of finances, labor and materials are plaguing the Japanese business man, the Tokyo Business Men's Federation reported today after a survey of 21 types of business and industry.

Other troubles, the survey said, resulted from price controls, lack of fuel, power and transportation, and Government administration.

$250,000 Hoard Seized in Japan

Tokyo, May 22 (A. P.).—The Stars and Stripes reported today that Army patrols had confiscated $250,000 worth of silver, diamonds, metals and clothing in a raid that followed an anonymous tip to headquarters about hoarded goods.

Cable Service To Japan Improved

Tokyo, May 22 (A. P.).—Under a new relay system from Tokyo to fourteen other Japanese points, cables to Japan henceforth will be delivered by telegraph rather than by mail, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The new system, the announcement said, will materially reduce the time involved in delivery to Army post office addresses in 80 per cent of Japan.

Three-Millionth Jap Is Repatriated

Tokyo, May 22 (AP)—The 3,000,000th Japanese returned to his homeland yesterday. Allied headquarters estimated that in the Far East and Pacific islands about 3,340,000 remain to be repatriated. More than 4,000,000 non-Japanese have been returned to their homes from Japan.

Public Works Fund Ordered By M'Arthur

Tokyo, May 22 (AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese Government to make a 6,000,000,000-yen ($400,000,000) 1946 budget provision for public works to give jobs to 2,000,000 unemployed as part of a long-range rehabilitation program.

Projects include land reclamation to increase wheat production by 20,000,000 bushels annually; construction of access roads, feeder power lines and low-cost housing and clearance of war-damaged areas.

Jap Thought Police Ex-Chief Is Arrested

Tokyo, May 22 (A. P.).—Col. Masayuki Oishi, former chief of the Japanese Thought Police and one-time Military Police commander at Singapore, has been imprisoned at Sugami, Allied Headquarters said today. He is charged with war crimes at Singapore.

Also incarcerated with Oishi and nineteen other suspects this month was Vice-Admiral Seisa Wakabayashi, former commander of defenses at Truk, the great Japanese naval base that was neutralized but not captured. Wakabayashi will be tried by a military tribunal in the Marianas.

550 Officers To Report

Yokohama, May 22 (AP)—Eighth Army headquarters said today that about 550 officers who will complete 43 months of service by August 31, 1946, had been ordered to report to the 4th Replacement Depot near Tokyo on May 28.

Philippine Army Loses $100,000 To Robbers

Manila, May 22 (AP)—Col. Amado Dumlao, Philippine Army intelligence chief, reported today that the Army finance officer at Iloilo City, in Central Luzon, had been held up for the second time in two weeks and robbed of 200,000 pesos ($100,000).

The robbery was the second largest in the history of the islands. There were no details.

Two weeks ago the Iloilo army office was held up by sixteen bandits, who obtained 25,000 pesos ($12,500).

The largest recorded Philippines robbery occurred several months ago when a Chinese bank messenger was robbed of 430,000 pesos ($215,000).

PROPOSAL DRAFTED ON FREEDOM OF AIR BY AVIATION GROUP

MONTREAL, May 22. — (AP) A proposal for general exchange of aviation's "five freedoms" was made public today at the first assembly of the Provisional International Air Transport organization amid indications that strong opposition to early adoption would be encountered.

The plan, known officially as multilateral agreement on commercial rights in civil air transport, was prepared by a special committee which began its work last fall. This committee, headed by Sir Frederick Bowhill of Great Britain, was charged with the job of finding answers to the problems not settled at the Chicago world air meeting in 1944.

'Five Freedoms' of Air

The "Freedoms" are the right to fly over a foreign country without stopping; to make non-traffic stops in a foreign country; to carry homeland traffic outbound and inbound, and to pick up traffic in one foreign country and carry it to another foreign country. This last is the controversial "fifth freedom". Briefly, the committee plan proposes:

1. Establishment of a special body to be known as the international civil air transport board which would interpret and administer the proposed agreement and be empowered to order corrective action by a state in the settlement of disputes.

Could Not Set Routes

2. The board would not be empowered to prescribe routes.

3. It would have no general power to regulate rates.

4. Member countries would be permitted to imposed a fare differential on fifth freedom traffic up to 10 per cent. That is, a through airline could be required to charge more to carry a passenger than would be charged by a local airline for the same service.

5. The board would be empowered to adjust such differentials in the interest of equity.

The United States and China already have expressed opposition to the fare differential for fifth freedom traffic. In addition, the United States let it be known that it will propose other "fundamental changes" in the draft plan.

Unofficial reports are that the United States is not at all eager to have a multilateral plan accepted at this meeting, feeling that it might be better to wait until world conditions have become more stabilized.

U. N. Refuses to Drop Iran Case As Envoy Questions Troop Status

NEW YORK, May 22 — (AP) The United Nations Security council refused to drop the Iranian case today after hearing Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala express doubt that all Soviet troops had left the country.

Ala, called to the council table in a move to clarify the confused situation, told the delegates he did not feel that a message received last night from Premier Ahmed Qavam was "a categorical statement" that the withdrawal had been completed.

He also declared that he believed Soviet elements continued to interfere in the interal affairs of Iran.

The council voted unanimously to adjourn the discussion but keep the case on the agenda indefinitely, with the understanding that the discussions would be re-opened upon the request of any delegate.

The official transcrpit showed that the vote was 9 to 1. However, reporters tabulating the count observed that Polish Delegate Oscar Lange, who had urged the case be dropped, raised his hand belatedly after he found himself alone in opposing the proposal of Netherlands Delegate Eelco van Kleffens.

The council then rejected a proposal by Lange that the council send the Iranian government a telegram asking "a straight yes or no answer" to the question as to whether it was satisfied with Soviet withdrawals.

Only Alexandre Parodi of France, president of the council, supported Lange in this proposal.

Then the council quickly adjourned, subject to the call of Parodi.

As the council debated the controversial question, which has been before it since Jan. 19, the seat of Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko was vacant. This was the second time Gromyko had boycotted a council meeting. He also had walked out of one meeting.

U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan made it clear from the outset that they were opposed to dropping the case on the basis of Qavam's message which was received last night. Both expressed the belief that it was not a conclusive statement that all troops were out of Iran and that it still left open the question of interference with Iran's affairs.

Qavam had said that he had received a report from a commission he sent to Azerbaijan province and that their report said "no trace whatever of Soviet troops, equipment or means of transport was found, and that according to trustworthy, local people" all Soviet troops had left Azerbaijan by May 6.

Lange told the council "this seems to close the case," but Ala said he did not believe the Tehran commission had had sufficient opportunity to determine the facts and added that he believed "it was long after May 6 when all of the Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iran—if they are actually out now."

Questioned about his previous charges of Soviet interference in Azerbaijan, Ala said Russia had created and trained an Azerbaijan army and that as a result the Tehran government "has no control over" the province.

"Does that not constitute interference?" he asked.

He also charged that the Soviet ambassador in Tehran, in the guise of mediator in the recent discussions between Qavam and officials of the separatist government of Azerbaijan, had attempted to persuade Qavam to accede to the Azerbaijan demands.

Basque Leader Joins In Fight On Franco

New York, May 22 (AP)—Jose Antonio Aguirre, exiled president of the Basque peoples of Spain, today handed Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations, a supplementary report supporting the demand of the exiled Spanish Republican Government for a complete break with Franco Spain.

Aguirre also presented to Lie documents asserting that Franco's regime had persecuted and still was persecuting the 'democratic Basque clergy." These charged that 15 priests had been executed and 500 imprisoned.

The Basque leader appeared at Lie's office wtih two members of the Basque delegation in New York.

Atom Evidence Lacking

The United States lacks concrete evidence to confirm "rumored activities in Spain relating to the production of atomic energy," the State Department has informed the United Nations Security Council, and is convinced that Spain is unable to wage modern war.

The State Department declared, however, in a report submitted last Saturday and made public last night by the Security Council's subcommittee investigating Franco's regime, that Spanish agents were still spreading Axis propaganda in the New World.

"No Information" In Argentina

The subcommittee announced at the same time that it had been informed by Argentina that Argentina has no "relevant documentary or other information as to the regime of Generalissimo Franco being a menace to the world's security."

Premier Jose Giral, of the Spanish Republican Government in exile is scheduled to appear before the subcommittee tomorrow with a 800-page document that he said would provide "additional evidence" against Franco.

Poland's Accusation

The subcommittee was appointed to investigate charges by Polish Delegate Oscar Lange that Spain was providing shelter for Nazi war criminals and German scientists experimenting on new weapons, and that she constituted a threat to world peace.

"Nationalist Spain from its beginning to the present day has fomented foci of Nazi-Fascist influence in the Western Hemisphere," the United States report said. It also said Franco had been uncooperative in repatriating Germans. It said that aside from one unconfirmed report that a uranium mine might be operating, the United States had no evidence of atomic experimentation in Spain.

served to make Iran "a perpetual football of big power politics."

Ala said he believed that "it was long after May 6 when all of the Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iran—if they are actually out now."

He submitted a report from Premier Qavam last night saying Russian troops had left Iran May 6.

Report Called Incomplete

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States delegate, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, termed the Iranian report to the Council that Soviet troops were out of the country by May 6 "incomplete" and "not the conclusive evidence th atwe felt was to be submitted to the council."

Iran Meddling Plaint 'Still On Agenda', Ala Believes

New York, May 22 (AP)—Hussein Ala, Iranian Ambassador to the United States, expressed doubt today that all Soviet troops have left Iran and told the United Nations Security Council he believed Iran's case should stay on its agenda.

New York, May 22 (AP)—Hussein Ala, Iranian Ambassador to the United States, told the United Nations Security Council today that he believed Iran's original complaint of interference by Soviet Russia "is still on the agenda."

Ala was invited to a seat at the Council table on the request of the Netherlands delegate, Dr. Eelco van Kleffens, after the United States and Great Britain had joined in a demand to keep the Iranian case on the agenda until a complete report has been made.

The Ambassador said that Premier Qacam of Iran had asked that the question of Soviet withdrawal of troops from Iran be dropped.

No Word On Other Issue

But, Ala added, the Premier in his instructions had said nothing about withdrawing Iran's other complaint, that of Soviet interference in Iranian affairs.

Russia's seat at the Council table was empty as the Council met to decide what to about Iran's case.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, charged that the Council's attitude on the whole affair has

Sir Alexander said he would like answers to these questions:

1. What proportion of Iranian territory do the centers investigated represent?

2. Is the Iranian Government satisfied with the situation?

3. Has any investigation been made of reports that Soviet forces were left behind dressed in civilian clothes?

Found Guilty In Spy Case

Ottawa, May 22 (AP)—Edward Mazerall, 30, national research council engineer, was found guilty today of conspiring to furnish secret information to representatives of the Soviet Government here.

BALKAN PACT REVISION

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—The United States has agreed "in principle" that the Allied armistice terms with Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary—like those with Italy—should be revised pending final peace treaties, the State Department disclosed today.

A department spokesman told reporters that when the United States first proposed revision of the Italian treaty, Russia agreed, but asked for similar arrangements in the three Balkan States. The United States expressed agreement with the general idea, but asked Russia to submit a detailed draft of its proposals. This draft has not yet arrived in Washington, it was stated.

Publication of the text of the armistice revision will not be made until after its signing by Italian Government officials and Gen. Sir William D. Morgan, the Allied commander in Italy.

Russia Watched For Changes In Policy

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Diplomatic authorities here look for a series of foreign-policy decisions by Moscow in the next three weeks that will affect the whole immediate course of postwar events.

They believe Premier Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov will do the deciding before June 15—the date the Foreign Ministers' conference resumes in Paris—and thereby determine the extent of future Soviet co-operation with the United States and Britain in making the peace.

The Critical Issues

These are the critical issues on which it seems the Kremlin must make decisions:

1. Do the Soviet leaders consider it more important to keep Red occupations armies throughout eastern Europe or to get eastern European countries on a peacetime basis with regular treaties concluded?

2. Are they willing to make a settlement of the Trieste despute that would fail to give Yugoslavia that entire strategic area at the head of the Adriatic? Some officials here say Trieste seems to have become a symbol of Russia's ability to deliver the goods for a friendly Communist government.

3. Will Stalin overrule Molotov's initial objections to the proposal by Secretary of State Byrnes for a 25-year four-power German control pact or will he uphold Molotov's objections?

Big Three Parley Favored

There was still some feeling on Capitol Hill that the best way to deal with such issues would be another "Big Three"—or even a "Big Two" conference.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) said he urgently advocated a meeting of President Truman, Stalin and British Prime Minister Attlee to iron out differences. Representative Mundt (R., S.D.) said he thought a conference between Mr. Truman and Stalin alone "is more and more clearly indicated." These proposals, however, aroused few seconding voices and no official encouragement.

United Nations A Factor

In the opinion of persons familiar with the recessed negotiations of the "Big Four" at Paris, the thing most likely to force Russia's hand is Byrnes's announced intention of taking the whole problem of European peace making into the United Nations General Assembly unless the big powers quickly get together.

The basic American timetable calls for a European peace conference this summer, before the General Assembly's September meeting in New York.

What Russia Faces

So it sums up to this. By announcing that he is ready to bring the United Nations into the picture if necessary, Byrnes has, in effect, told Russia that the United States intends to make only one more try at peacemaking by the big powers alone. And that kind of peace making has dominated Russia's approach to all postwar problems.

In the United Nations assembly the disagreements over peace treaty issues, such as Trieste, would be worked out in recommendations adopted by the Assembly by two thirds, rather than unanimously, vote. Russia would face the prospect of being outvoted, and there is some speculation that in such a predicament the Russians might feel compelled to withdraw from Assembly sessions concerned with peacemaking as they have withdrawn from Security Council sessions concerned with Iran.

STALIN REJECTS TRUMAN'S PLEA TO GIVE WHEAT

Asserts Appeal for UNRRA Contribution Came Too Late.

CONFIRMS WEEK END RUMOR

Kremlin Tells President Russia Has Made Own Arrangements With Certain Countries.

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Stalin said today that the Soviet Union is already doing what it can to feed the hungry world and that it cannot contribute supplies to the UNRRA at this time. The statement, published in Soviet newspapers and broadcast over the Moscow radio, was the first important announcement from the Kremlin on the world food situation, and came in reply to a letter from President Truman.

Stalin said that Truman was three months late in proposing that the Soviet Union contribute to the UNRRA's supplies and join in a co-ordinated world grain distribution plan. Ninety days ago the Soviet Union could have done something in that direction, but since then, he said, the Soviet Union has made its own arrangements, allotting a quantity of grain to France and supplies to some other countries, and now the resources of the Soviet Union are about to run out.

Says Critical Days Are Here.

World grain distribution co-ordination, Stalin said, appeared to be a good idea, although it would require special discussion before the Soviet Union could be counted on as a participant.

Also today Pravda quoted a prominent agricultural expert as saying that this week was a critical period for crops. "Our task," he said, "is to finish sowing spring wheat in Siberia and elsewhere, speed up oat sowing and finish planting potatoes. The critical days have arrived."

Text of Broadcast.

London, May 22 (A. P.).—In a broadcast picked up by the Soviet monitor here today the Moscow radio said:

"Some time ago the chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U. S. S. R., J. V. Stalin, received from President Truman of the United States a message in which it was stated that at the present time there is a food crisis and in which the hope was expressed that the Soviet Government would assign a certain quantity of grain to the UNRRA. In the same letter Mr. Truman expressed the hope also that the Soviet Union would be in a position to co-ordinate her actions with other countries exporting grain for the purpose of a better use of grain reserves.

"Stalin, in his answer to the message of President Truman, expressed his regret that Mr. Truman did not address the soviet Union on the above question three months ago when the Soviet Union could have done something in this respect, but did it instead in the middle of May after the Soviet Union had already assigned a certain quantity of foodstuffs to France and other countries and when the resources of the Soviet Union already are being exhausted.

"As far as the co-ordination of the work of the Soviet Union with other countries exporting grain is concerned, Stalin informed President Truman that the Soviet Government has no objection in principle to this proposal but that it will require, however, special study."

Confirms Week-end Rumor.

Rumors that Russia had turned down the President's appeal came from Washington last Saturday, but there had been no official word prior to the Moscow broadcast last night. Unofficial Washington reports over the week end were that Mr. Truman apparently still had hope of getting Russia to reconsider her position on the world food problem.

Last Saturday the Moscow radio said that Russia had pledged to deliver more than 1,100,000 tons of grain to Finland, France, Poland and Romania during the first year of peace. Eleven American ships loaded with Russian wheat were reported to have reached Marseille last month as a first installment on a total of 500,000 tons of wheat the Soviet Union had promised to deliver to France in April, May and June. Russia is reported to have also agreed to sell Poland 200,000 tons of grain for sowing this year's harvest and has promised another 100,000 tons to Finland. In addition, Moscow announced that Russia agreed last September to deliver 150,000 tons of wheat and 150,000 tons of corn to Romania, and is making an additional grant of 20,000 carloads of wheat this year.

Truman May Comment.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—The White House press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters today that there may be a statement later concerning communications on the subject between Mr. Truman and Stalin.

PROPOSES U. N. FOOD COUNCIL

French Delegate Suggests Plan to Conference.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—France's Minister of Food, Henri Longchambon, proposed to an international food conference today that the United Nations set up a world food supply council.

In an address to all delegates, Longchambon said that the council "would enable the United Nations to solve the immediate problems which are the consequences of famine and to prepare the solution of problems which will come with abundance."

France's suggestion was somewhat like recommendations made yesterday by the UNRRA and Belgium for a world food pool to feed hungry lands.

Longchambon spoke after the conference received a contrasting picture of food to spare in Brazil, starvation stalking China and belt-tightening in South Africa.

D. A. Fizgerald, deputy United States member of the Combined Food Board, told the House Agriculture Committee that the United States will meet its promise to deliver 400,000,000 bushels of grain by June 30.

He estimated that this commitment will be met by exporting 380,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour and 20,000,000 bushels of corn and other grains.

Fitzgerald, who heads the Agriculture Department's Office of Requirements and Allocations and who accompanied former President Herbert Hoover on his round-the-world food survey, drew a sharp distinction between this country's commitments and the demands made upon it.

He said that demands totaled 506,500,000 bushels but that the requesting countries were told time and again that the United States would not be able to furnish such an amount.

Speaking for China at the international food conference, Thomas S. T. Yang declared that 30,000,000 people are threatened with starvation and the combined food board's allocations are totally inadequate.

"We cannot expect to save lives by feeding them with paper allocation," Yang said, "nor can they be saved by the blueprints of an edifice to be erected in some distant future."

Creation of an international food organization to handle long-range shortage threats is a major aim of the conference.

An encouraging note in the immediate crisis was sounded by Brazil's spokesman, Edmunco de Maceda Soares E. Silva. Brazil, he said, will be able to export rice far above the expected quota. In addition, he went on, she has a sizable tonnage of beans for export, the largest surplus of maize in history and can put cocoa and coffee and some other products on the export list. Transportation is the key, he said, to continuing heavy shipments in the next two or three years. He said that Brazil must move food long distances to ports for shipping and needs rolling equipment.

Dr. P. R. Viljoen, chief South African delegate, said that his country had hoped to help to feed Europe's famished millions but is now in difficulty itself chiefly because of a severe drought. Bread rationing, avoided during the war, he said, now is in effect in larger cities.

contrary to fundamental rights, he asked, "who gave them that power?"

"In my view, the primary power of making peace treaty rests with all the nations which bore arms against the enemy States," he said.

At another point, he told his colleagues:

"I'm protesting against the four ministers writing the peace treaty and submitting it to a peace conference and when it comes back to them permitting one of the ministers to veto it if he doesn't like its terms. I don't subscribe to that sort of doctrine at all."

As Connally spoke, he grasped a pointer and turned the Senate into a classroom to explain the diplomatic problems of Europe with the aid of a large wall map.

DELEGATE READY TO ENTER TALKS NOW IN PROGRESS

Connally Bars Big-Four Peace

Tells Senate All Allies Who Fought Axis Powers Should Draft Treaty.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) told the Senate today that it is his fundamental view that all the nations which fought on the Allied side should write the peace treaty, not the Foreign Ministers of the four big Powers.

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee made the statement in a report on the Paris Foreign Ministers conference which he attended as an adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes.

Explaining the hitches which developed over a peace conference, he said the Big Four Foreign Ministers agreed at their Moscow conference in December, 1945, that they should draft a settlement and then call a peace conference.

The Soviets now contend, he went on, that treaties cannot be signed or submitted until the Big Four — Russia, Britain, France and the United States—reach an agreement. Calling that contrary to fundamental rights, he asked, "who gave them that power?"

"In my view, the primary power of making peace treaty rests with all the nations which bore arms against the enemy States," he said.

At another point, he told his colleagues:

"I'm protesting against the four ministers writing the peace treaty and submitting it to a peace conference and when it comes back to them permitting one of the ministers to veto it if he doesn't like its terms. I don't subscribe to that sort of doctrine at all."

As Connally spoke, he grasped a pointer and turned the Senate into a classroom to explain the diplomatic problems of Europe with the aid of a large wall map.

WASHINGTON, May 22. — (AP) Argentina belatedly joined today an international food conference which began leaning toward the idea of an expanded food allocating board to combat famine for the next year or two.

The United States, Britain and Canada have proposed that famine relief for the emergency period be handled through the Combined Food Board of which they are the only members now. But they are suggesting that some 15 other countries be added to it, especially those which now work with its commodity committees.

Russia to be Invited

A high conference official said Russia also undoubtedly would be invited to take out a membership. She is not represented at the conference.

Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Cooke advised the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization, sponsor of the conference, that a delegate and two advisers have been named. All three are in the United States already.

Under plans now beginning to jell the FAO might take over all food problems for the United Nations in 18 months or two years, upon the demise of the proposed expanded allocating board which itself would work with FAO.

Praises U. S. Effort

D. A. Fitzgerald, deputy U. S. member of the Combined Food Board, told Congress today that "this country need not feel ashamed of the job that has been done" in feeding famished peoples.

Asked by Rep. Granger (D-Utah) whether United States commitments have been met, Fitzgerald replied yes, explaining the government had promised to "make every effort to export 400,000,000 bushels (of grain)" during the year ending June 30 and he expected it to do so by shipping 380,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour and the rest in corn and other grains.

Appearing before the House Agriculture committee, Fitzgerald supplied these figures:

At the end of this crop season the United States will have about eight-tenths of a bushel of wheat per person, Canada about three bushels, Argentina about two, and Australia one to one and one-half. Further, he said, the United States has supplied 72 per cent of UNRRA's money and 83 per cent of the wheat UNRRA has bought.

"Yet," snorted Chairman Flannagan (D-Va), "we start out as a Good Samaritan and end up a villain."

Flannagan has contended that "irresponsible statements" have created the impression abroad that America is not doing its job. But when he asked about this, Fitzgerald said he found the majority of countries he visited on a world tour with former President Herbert Hoover "appreciative" of wheat the U. S. has had done.

Brazil Reports Surplus Food Available

Washington, May 2 (AP)—A contrasting picture of food to spare in Brazil, starvation in China and belt tightening in South Africa was drawn for an international food conference today as delegates went through a final round of speeches.

Speaking for China, Thomas S. T. Yang declared that 30,000,000 people are threatened with starvation and the Combined Food Board's allocations are "totally inadequate."

"We can not expect to save lives by feeding them with paper allocation," Yang said, "nor can they be saved by the blueprints of an edifice to be erected in some distant future."

Creation of an international food organization to handle long-range shortage threats is a major aim of the conference.

Brazil's Surpluses

An encouraging note in the immediate crisis was sounded by Brazil's spokesman, Edmunco de Maceda Soares E. Silva. Brazil, he said, will be able to export rice far above the expected quota. In addition, he went on, she has a sizable tonnage of beans for export, the largest surplus of maize in history and can export cocoa and coffee and some other products.

Transportation is the key, he said, to continuing heavy shipments in the next two or three years.

Maceda Soares said Brazil must move food long distances to ports for shipping and needs rolling equipment.

Drought Hits Africa

Dr. P. R. Viljoen, chief South African delegate, said his country had hoped to help to feed Europe's famished millions but is now in difficulty itself, chiefly because of a severe drought.

Bread rationing, avoided during the war, he said, now is in effect in larger cities.

With available cereal supplies still running far short of United States promises to famine areas, the Government is expected to extend its 30-cent-a-bushel wheat bonus beyond the May 25 expiration date.

The Wheat Situation

Top Agriculture Department officials decline to comment on this possibility, but they conceded that the bonus has not brought in the amount of wheat needed to meet export schedules for the remainder of May and June.

The Government had hoped to obtain at least 100,000,000 bushels from farmers by means of this bonus over the ceiling price. However, on the basis of wheat sales up to May 17, it appeared that not more than 70,000,000 bushels would be obtained by May 25. Sales to May 17 were 43,397,000 bushels.

Railroad Car Shortage

Officials said some grain elevators are unable to buy wheat for the Government because they have no more room for it. These elevators were said to be located principally on branch railroad lines and to be unable to get railroad cars for shipment of grain already on hand. Extension of the bonus would give farmers affected by this car shortage additional time to take advantage of the offer.

Some officials fear that withdrawal of the bonus before the new wheat crop is harvested might virtually halt the movement of wheat off farms. They believe farmers would be inclined to hold remaining grain in the hope of higher prices later.

But some grain must be obtained from farms in June—the month before the new crop of winter wheat starts moving to market in volume—if a shutdown of domestic flour mills is to be avoided. Many mills are expected to run out of grain before the end of May.

VOTE IS DELAYED ON SEAWAY PLAN BY SENATE GROUP

WASHINGTON, May 22. — (AP) The Senate Foreign Relations committee deferred action today on legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The committee's decision not to act today, an aide said, was due to the filing of a dissenting report by Senator White (R-Me). The Maine senator is a member of a sub-committee which by a vote of 3-1 several weeks ago recommended the legislation be approved by the full committee. The lone negative vote was White's.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) notified the committee today that he intended to introduce an amendment to the seaway measure to prohibit a joint Canadian-United States tribunal from controlling the diversion of water from the Great Lakes system.

Such a provision is contained in an agreement between the two nations, negotiated by the late President Roosevelt, on which the seaways legislation is based.

Lucas told the committee that the section to which he objected gave the tribunal power to veto any diversion above that of Jan. 1, 1940.

The section, if approved, would permanently limit the flow of water through the Chicago river at 1,500 cubic feet per second. This condition, Lucas asserted, would not permit "continued equitable distribution and disposition of the Illinois-Michigan drainage problems."

He said that his proposed amendment had "no intention of interfering with the main object of the St. Lawrence agreement," an agreement which he could "wholeheartedly support" if this section were eliminated."

A committee aide said that copies of White's minority report were expected to be available by next week at which time, he said, it was "likely" the committee would vote on the legislation.

Little hope is held by seaway supporters that the legislation will be voted upon by either the Senate or House before the expected mid-summer adjournment of Congress.

Approval by both bodies is necessary for passage.

ECCLES BACKS BRITISH LOAN

Says Drift Toward New War Is Alternative.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Marriner S. Eccles asserted today that further totalitarian development and a drift of world affairs toward the catastrophe of a third world war may result if Congress fails to vote the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

The Federal Reserve chairman appeared before the House Banking Committee in behalf of the loan bill passed by the Senate.

"Without effective British participation, which is possible only if we lend our aid," Eccles said. "The Bretton Woods institutions and International Trade Organization cannot fulfill the hopes which we have placed in them.

"Without the fulfillment of these hopes for a stable and productive economic order in the world, there is little prospect of success for the United Nations organization in its search for political stability and security.

"Without economic or political stability, we can expect only a continued drift of world affairs toward the catastrophe of a third world war."

Without the loan, Eccles said, Britain would be forced "to intensify the restrictive and belligerent currency and trading practices born during the years of war and depression."

"Along this road lies further totalitarian development," Eccles said.

PLAN TO KILL FOOD SUBSIDIES IS VOTED DOWN

The Senate Banking Group Defeats a Proposal by Capehart.

OPA REVIEW BOARD SCANNED

Suggestion of Three-man Body to Act on Appeals Is Due for Committee Report.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—A motion to end all consumer price subsidies of food next July 1 was defeated, 11 to 7, by the Senate Banking Committee today. Offered by Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.), it would have exempted other subsidies now paid on copper, lead, zinc and rubber.

Government subsidies to keep down retail food prices now run in the neighborhood of $1,600,000,000 a year, say members of the committee which is drafting a price control extension bill.

The committee decided to meet again this afternoon in an effort to reach decision on other proposals for reducing and eventually eliminating the subsidy payments.

BLUM PAYS LAST CALL ON TRUMAN

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Leon Blum, former Premier of France, paid a farewell call on President Truman today.

He declined to discuss his conference on a loan to France, telling reporters the negotiations were so near an end he didn't consider it advisable.

He was accompanied to the White House by the French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet. He said that he was returning to France, leaving Washington tonight with plans to depart from New York on Friday.

Chatting with reporters, Blum, who headed a special mission which arrived about the middle of March to work on the loan negotiations, said he hoped to pay another visit to this country soon.

GREETS 4 BELGIANS

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—President Truman greeted four Belgian educators who came on a mission of good will.

The visitors were Mgr. Van Waeyenbergh of the University of Louvain; J. Cox of the University of Brussels; E. Blancquaert of the University of Ghent and J. Duesberg of the University of Liege.

They were accompanied to the White House by Baron Silvercruys, the Belgian Ambassador, who said:

"These men represent the four Belgian universities. They bring appreciation to American universities and foundations for the friendly spirit and cooperation shown over a long period of years. They conveyed that message to the President. They also reaffirmed their desire and resolve that nothing be spared to strengthen the spiritual and very firm friendship existing between Belgium and the United States."

Democrats in House Block Action on FEPC

WASHINGTON May 22—(AP) Southern Democrats blocked House action today on legislation to make permanent the Fair Employment Practices committee.

After forcing six separate roll-calls in a delaying move to keep the legislation from coming up, the southern group won an overnight recess shortly after 3 p. m.

The legislation, approved by the Labor committee but shelved by the Rules committee, can come before the House only on Wednesdays when the roll of committees is called for considering of bills which they have approved.

Labor committee members have been trying for months to bring up the FEPC bill under "calendar Wednesday" procedure.

ROBERTS NOT ON LIST

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Charles Ross, White House press secretary, said today a report that President Truman had asked former Justice Owen J. Roberts to head the Supreme Court was untrue. Ross made the statement in a news conference when he was told that a radio commentator had reported such a request.

He added that Roberts had not been considered for the vacancy created by the death of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone. Nothing has developed on the Supreme Court vacancy, Ross said, in response to another question.

Asked if Judge Manley O. Hudson, Missouri-born member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at the Hague, was under consideration, Ross replied that the name of virtually every prominent jurist in the country had been suggested to the President.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—American, British and French negotiators got set today to dicker for German holdings in Sweden after getting roughly half a loaf from Switzerland.

While some details of the Swiss agreement have not yet been worked out, an announcement last night showed the issue will be resolved this way:

1. All German assets in Switzerland except gold money will be split into two equal shares, one going to the Swiss, the other to the three Allies. American officials estimate the value of these assets at upward of $750,000,000.

2. Switzerland will keep about $88,000,000 in German gold money, which the Allies contend was looted from conquered countries, but will pay the Allies $58,140,000 in Swiss money in lieu of it.

3. The Swiss, with advice from the Allies, will decide what are—and what are not—German assets. Cases deemed "doubtful or controversial" will be referred to arbitration.

When the negotiations started March 18, the Americans, British and French insisted Switzerland should turn over all its German assets to provide reparations for Allied nations which suffered from German aggression. But the Swiss held they could not turn over any German assets to the Allies because such action would compromise their neutrality.

U. S. PLANE CAN HAUL A-BOMB 10,000 MILES

WASHINGTON, May 22. — (AP) General Carl Spaatz said today that postwar bombers with a range of thousands of miles and 600-miles-an hour fighter planes made it imperative in the atomic age for the United States to maintain ready and efficient air defenses.

Spaatz, Army Air forces commanding general, told a group of air reservists at the War department that the Army's new B-36 bomber could carry an atom bomb 10,000 miles.

TRUMAN SIGNS BILL PROVIDING 2,700,000 HOMES

Wyatt Says Building Plan for Veterans Will Now Go Into High Gear.

PRICE CEILINGS ARE APPROVED

Law Increases by Billion Federal Authority to Insure Loans on New Housing.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—President Truman signed today legislation designed to facilitate the private construction of 2,700,000 new homes within the next two years.

Housing Administrator Wilson W. Wyatt said: "This throws the veterans' housing program into high gear."

The legislation was sent to the President after a long and bitter battle in Congress, during which the House once emphatically rejected the proposed use of $600,000,000 in subsidies to stimulate the production of scarce building materials. However, the House later reversed itself and agreed to $400,000,000 for subsidies.

What New Law Means.

In addition to subsidies, here's what the new law does:

1. Increases by $1,000,000,000 the Government authority to insure home mortgage loans, meaning the Government would take that big a risk in the construction of homes for veterans. Thus, a veteran or other person could purchase a home with a small down payment and the Government would protect the mortgagor for the remainder;

2. Continues to December 31, 1947 the war granted priorities and allocation authority for channeling scarce building materials into construction of law and medium priced homes, in city or country;

3. Gives veterans preference in the purchase or rental of new houses;

Price Ceilings on New Homes.

4. Puts price ceilings on new houses;

5. Grants broad authority to the housing expediter to issue directives to other Government agencies, including OPA, on prices of building materials;

6. Authorizes the expediter to stop or curb export of lumber as long as scarcities exist in this country.

Congress rejected all proposals to put ceiling prices on existing dwellings.

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) has announced that he will be ready with a report on the Pearl Harbor investigation by June 1 even if no other member of the Senate-House inquiry is prepared to give his findings by that date.

"I don't intend to vote for any more extension of the committee's authority beyond that time," Lucas said. "I'll have a report, even if no one else does."

Lucas said that so far as he knows no progress has been made on drafting a committee report. The committee held two days of hearings recently and Republican members said they wanted to address additional questions to former Secretary of State Hull and former Secretary of War Stimson.

'Big Navy' Group Scowls At 965 Combat Ships

Washington, May 22 (AP)—House "big navy" advocates scowled today at an Appropriations Committee decision to trim 114 fighting ships from the proposed postwar fleet.

They pointed to navy figures showing that the $4,639,859,000 recommended by the committee would provide for the operation of 965 combatant vessels compared with the 1,079 the House voted unanimously late last year at its suggestion.

The Navy's original request for $6,325,000,000, which the Budget Bureau trimmed to $4,224,000,000, was designed to provide and back up the 1,079 figure.

May Try To Boost Fund

Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.) of the Naval Committee and Representative Sterling Cole (N.Y.), top Republican member, told reporters they had not yet decided what to do about the Appropriations Committee action.

But there were indications that either Vinson—who wrote last year's postwar fleet bill—or other Naval Commitee members would seek to restore at least part of the Navy's original request when the House starts debate tomorrow.

Representative Sheppard (D., Cal.), chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that wrote the bill, told reporters he believed the measure would skim through the House without change. He said he knew of no organized opposition and said that the committee action provided for large increases in funds for Naval Reserve training and scientific research.

DE Total Cut Most

The biggest reduction in naval strength ordered by the committee is in the destroyer escort category.

The plan approved last year by the House and contemplated by the Navy when it submitted its budget request called for 298 DE's. The Appropriations Committee plan provides for 238.

Other important differences include:

Battleships, navy plan, 18; committee proposal, 16; heavy cruisers, 31 and 23; light cruisers, 48 and 43; small carriers, 10 and 9; escort carriers, 79 and 66; destroyers, 366 and 353; submarines, 199 and 186.

In only one category, big carriers, does the committee plan provide for more than the navy proposal. The committee recommended 25, the Navy, 24. The difference of 114 ships in the two plans includes a cut of 28 in the active fleet, 31 in the reserve fleet and 55 in the inactive fleet.

MRS. LUCE GIBES AT IRON SCREEN

Challenges Stalin in Radio Debate With Foster.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party, asserted last night that Communism is a "profound democratic movement" and Representative Clare Booth Luce (R.-Conn.) replied that Communism and American democracy are antagonistic.

Foster declared that reactionaries are trigger happy to use the atomic bomb on the world. Mrs. Luce challenged "Uncle Joe (Stalin) to let the iron curtain down and let us all go in and have one big look. . . . What's he got there (Russia) that he is afraid of a free press?"

They were two of the principals in a radio debate on "Are Communism and Democracy Mutually Antagonistic?" Foster said that "American monopolistic forces" are the cause of "present tension among the United Nations." Mrs. Luce asked him if since 1939 he had "ever criticized anything Stalin enunciated in Moscow." Foster replied that Soviet policy had been correct.

'Shabby Nonsense.'

The Congresswoman said that imperialism charges against the United States were "shabby nonsense" and that Russia went to war because she was attacked by Germany, but before that the two countries had a "blood bond."

William H. Chamberlin, lecturer and writer, who sat on Mrs. Luce's side of the table, declared that "Communism is out for world domination by force."

Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor emeritus of Christian ethics, Union Theological Seminary, Foster's colleague, said that "American economic royalism" is a danger to world peace and described Russia as a "socialist democracy under communistic leadership."

Mrs. Luce, who recently announced that she was retiring from politics and had adopted the Catholic faith, at one point accused Foster of not being loyal to the United States but loyal to an "anti-religious" system. She said she would "rather die than live under such a system."

Battlefield Vow Brings A German Waif To Flatbush

New York, May 22 (AP)—A vow taken on the battlefield more than a year ago brought a 3-year-old German orphan girl to America today to greet her new mother.

Clad in blue overalls and a paratrooper's overseas cap, little Bela Raphael—now Bela Raphael Simons—arrived at LaGuardia airport on an American overseas airlines plane from Berlin.

As soon as she cleared customs and immigration inspections, Bela was embraced by her new mother, Mrs. Jeane Simons, wife of Sergt. Bertrand Simons, of Brooklyn.

It was during the Battle of the Bulge that Sergeant Simons swore that if his life was spared he would do something to help some victim of Hitler's persecution.

Four months ago, the 36-year-old sergeant found Bela in a German orphanage, and adopted her. Her mother and father reportedly were murdered by the Gestapo.

In her new home, Bela had a roomful of toys awaiting her, as well as a cocker spaniel to romp with and a toy telephone for her to call "Daddy" in Berlin.

STASSEN HITS OUTPUT DELAY

Truman Asked To Call Major Economic Conference

St. Paul, May 22 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, tonight urged President Truman to call a major economic conference to find a way out of "the confusion and delay" Stassen said have characterized the eight months since the end of the war.

Stassen spoke at a dinner meeting of the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

"These eight months," he said, "have been characterized by the greatest need of a demonstration of efficiency of government of free men in all history. And they have been characterized by the greatest amount of confusion and delay and executive and congressional drifting in all history.

30.24-2945

"Plain Truth Of Matter"

"The facts," he said, "have not been fully recognized, primarily because of the growth of a tendency for inaccurate and distorted official information."

Referring to the sixth report of the war mobilization and reconversion director, dated April 1, 1946, which stated "total civilian production now stands at the highest level ever reached by the nation," Stassen said:

"The plain truth of the matter is that in the first quarter of 1946 the real production of goods vitally needed by the people of the country was below the level of even the depressed prewar period."

He said such "comparatively frivolous items" as alcoholic beverages, cigarettes and glass containers showed a very high dollar index, but that iron and steel, lumber, electrical equipment and heavy capital goods were down "compared even to the repressed years of 1935-39."

Favoritism Politics Charged

Major causes of the present situation, he said, "have been failure of the administration of laws and the politics of favoritism in government," and continued:

"Specifically underlying to a great degree the industrial strife in America today has been a major struggle for position between the powerful labor organizations of the country, with the Administration playing favorites on a political basis. . . .

"Coupled with these events on the labor production front has been an unbelievable clumsiness in the administration of OPA which has driven vital production, processing and trade out of its normal channels into abnormal channels which are wasteful, unsound and demoralizing."

Appeals for German Unions

Green Asks That They Get Surplus and Confiscated Property

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP).—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, appealed to President Truman today to help make available to members of the trade-union movement in Germany surplus goods held by American authorities.

Mr. Green, who said he acted at the request of "our friends in Germany," said they also asked Presidential aid in restoring to "free democratic trade unions" property confiscated by Hitler and not yet released to them in the American zone. He said the President promised to look into the matter.

Mr. Green said free democratic trade unions in the American zone are anxious to buy surplus automobiles, typewriters and other equipment. He added that relatives in this country of members of the trade unions are desirous of having a better system for sending packages to their families.

Properties the unions want restored, he said, include hospitals, co-operatives, stores and credit-union buildings.

Mrs. Hornbostel's Trip Is Arranged

San Francisco, May 22 (AP)—Special train accommodations were being arranged today to take Mrs. Gertrude Hornbostel to the Carville (La.) leprosarium, where she and her husband, Major Hans Hornbostel, were hopeful they could eventually live together.

Mrs. Hornbostel, 55, believes she contracted leprosy in a Japanese prison camp. Her 65-year-old husband, a veteran of Bataan and Corregidor, gained wide public sympathy last week when he requested that he be permitted to accompany her to the isolation of a leper colony.

Hornbostel received the assurance of Dr. G. H. Faget, medical officer in charge at Carville, that "every consideration" would be given his application for work there.

"Good! Good!" he declared. "I'll take any kind of work at all, and surely I can qualify for something."

It is against the rules for families of lepers to live within the grounds of the leprosarium, although they may visit daily. Surgeon General Thomas Parran turned down the major's request to live at the leprosarium. Hornbostel plans to apply for a civil service rating for any vacancy he can fill—"even kitchen police."

700,000 VETS NOW TAKING G. I. COURSES

Two Million Others Plan Training and Education, Gen. Bradley Says.

ADDRESSES SOCIAL WORKERS

Conference Hears Miners' Health Fund Termed Necessary by Mary van Kleeck.

Buffalo, May 22 (A. P.).—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said today that 700,000 veterans are taking training courses under the G. I. Bill of Rights and nearly 2,000,000 others have indicated that they may be planning additional training and education. The Administrator of Veterans Affairs said 80 per cent of those already taking courses were in educational institutions with the others in training-on-the-job.

"This tidal wave has, in places, engulfed our universities," he said in an address prepared for delivery at the National Conference of Social Work.

"Veteran students already have challenged our educational institutions to see to it that their education or training shall not be denied by lack of planning and expansion to care for these swollen loads."

"When you examine the benefits of our G. I. bill," he said, "it becomes perfectly apparent that veterans' readjustment—medical-wise, education-wise, or in any other manner—is as much a responsibility of the community as of any one else.

Warns of Home-town Default.

"Our program is predicated upon the ability of the American people to make it meaningful in the place where the veteran lives. Unless we learn to lean less heavily on the Federal Government and unless we learn to look on legislative benefits more as a forerunner in readjustment, we shall make the error of defaulting in a home-town task of helping the veteran that no one else is equipped to do."

Bradley said: "There is no war-wounded veteran today, acutely in need of hospital care, for whom there is no bed."

Asserting that "we are not interested in making lifelong boarding houses of our veterans hospitals," he continued: "Instead, we are primarily interested in healing these patients and then in training them with compensating skills that will enable them to earn a normal living."

Sympathy for Miners' Fund.

"Social workers cannot fail to understand and sympathize with the present demand of the United Mine Workers for a health and welfare fund," Mary van Kleeck, director of the Department of Industrial Studies, Russell Sage Foundation, New York City, declared in an address prepared for delivery at a sectional meeting of the social work conference. She said:

"By the very nature of their industry, the miners live and work in communities which are not served by voluntary community welfare agencies. Their homes, the store where they trade, and even the school and the church are usually the property of the company, or at least controlled by the employer.

"For many years," said Miss van Kleeck, "it has been the custom for miners to have deducted from their pay envelopes monthly charges for hospital and doctor, but they have had no choice of their physician, and no control over the administration of the money. The fact that the doctor is thus virtually in the employ of the company even deprives the miner of adequate protection under workmen's compensation laws.

For Union Administration.

"In a community where the company is either sole owner or the predominate influence, certainly health and welfare is justly chargeable to the industry; but its administration, if it is to be fully in accord with the principles of social welfare, must be directed wholly toward the interests of the individual."

"Under such circumstances," she continued, "the union is certainly the logical administrator, though it is of course to be expected that, in order to secure the best results, a union will employ experts both in health and social work.

"As a matter of fact, the miners' proposal, which is being discussed as though it were quite new in the world, is directly in line with developments in a number of unions in the United States. Moreover, such funds for miners' health and welfare are already in effect in five foreign countries, where they are established by a tax on coal production. Great Britain, Spain, the Netherlands, New Zealand and British India all have such funds."

Hero Appeals to Truman Over Dam

Says He Might Hand President His Medal of Honor If Help in Saving His Farm Is Not Forthcoming.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—A Pacific war hero turned to President Truman today for help in a fight against a flood-control project which would inundate his Ohio farm.

Senator Huffman (D.-Ohio) arranged an appointment with the President for 27-year-old Melvin Mayfield, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor for action against the Japanese.

"My eight-acre farm and the 179 acres I run for my dad will be flooded if this dam is built," Mayfield told a reporter. "The Army engineers can change their plans if they want to. They don't want to."

The former soldier proudly displayed his Congressional Medal, "but," he remarked wryly, "you can't buy anything with it."

"I want to know," he added, "what I'm going to do if I'm forced to leave my farm. I'm hoping the President will help. Otherwise, I might hand him my medal."

The project, on the Licking River, has been authorized by Congress and $2,000,000 has been provided to start work. The ultimate cost is estimated at $10,000,000.

Mayfield and some other residents of the area want the engineers to build several smaller dams rather than the single large one. They disagree with the contentions of the engineers that the big project is needed to provide adequate flood protection.

Atom Town Called Great Social Success

Philadelphia, May 22 (AP)—The war-born community of Oak Ridge, Tenn., not only built the atomic bomb but has served as major social experiment in the United States, says Samuel S. Baxter, who helped plan the town.

Baxter, during the war, was an army major in charge of Oak Ridge planning. He is now projects engineer in Philadelphia's Department of Public Works.

Baxter told the Engineers Club yesterday that Oak Ridge "was closer to being a perfectly planned community than any other city in the United States."

"Every adult was a worker; there were no indigents. Here we had a community of 75,000 persons living under military rule, and with no voice in their city's management or in operation of its local government. . . . Everybody was happy. From a social standpoint, Oak Ridge was a complete success."

LEWIS SUGGESTED AS ENVOY TO REDS

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—A suggestion that John L. Lewis be named Ambassador to Russia was made in the House today. The proposal was advanced by Representative Hebert (D.-La.), who declared:

"We ought to send Lewis to Russia, where his peculiar talents for co-operation, understanding, and eagerness to assist humanity could work to the best interests of our country. He would fit in well in a country where they follow his rules of 'I won't play if you won't play with my marbles.'"

Taft To Ask Food Subsidies' End

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee turned to food subsidies today after voting to give the Secretary of Agriculture full say over food and farm commodity price ceilings.

The committee is at work on a bill to extend the OPA's life a year after June 30.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) had ready an amendment to end the subsidies by January 1 and to cut their amount for the last six months of this year to about half what the OPA says is needed.

The OPA figures that their removal would necessitate a rise of 5 to 6 cents a pound in the price of meat, for instance, and 1 cent for a loaf of bread.

The subsidies are running at the rate of about $1,600,000,000 a year and the OPA asks $1,700,000,000 to continue them for twelve months after next June 30.

The committee's vote to let the Agriculture Secretary control food-price ceilings came yesterday on an amendment by Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) specifying that:

1. No price ceiling shall be maintained on any farm commodity unless the Secretary of Agriculture certifies that it is scarce.

2. If the Secretary determines that a price ceiling is impeding necessary production, he may recommend an increase and the OPA administrator must put it into effect within ten days.

Bankhead's amendment declares that the Secretary, when acting on farm-price controls, shall not be subject to the "direction or control" of any other officer of the Government.

In a tentative decision on how price ceiling shall be lifted as the need for them decreases, the committee agreed on:

1. Creation of an independent three-member board to which industries could appeal OPA decisions.

2. Adoption of a formula, proposed by Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), directing decontrol by year's end of all commodities not important to business costs or living costs, and removal of other controls when supply and demand reach a point where lifting of ceilings would not cause price increases.

Lumber Black Mart Attacked Anew

Washington, May 22 (AP)—An OPA official said today a new staff of special investigators had been organized to crack a lumber black market which Government officials say threatens to cripple the veterans housing program.

H. R. Northrup, executive director of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, has estimated that 80 per cent of southern lumber is going into the black market.

Sidney S. Feinberg, chief of OPA's lumber price enforcement program, said the agency has assigned 173 special agents to 20 areas from coast to coast which together produce more than 30 per cent of the nation's lumber.

The new program is part of a nation-wide drive against the lumber black market last month by the OPA and the Department of Justice.

At that time Attorney General Tom Clark said that "complaints indicate that black-market conditions are threatening to hamstring the veterans' housing program.

OPA Administrator Paul Porter declared that the black market "threatens to defeat" plans for 2,700,000 new homes by 1948 "by diverting highly essential lumber in large quantities to illegal uses."

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Frieda S. Miller of the Department of Labor will represent this country on the governing body of the International Labor Office, which opens its conference in Montreal tomorrow, President Truman said today. The organization has worked for twenty-five years for world-wide improvement in labor conditions.

St. John's Plan Opposed By House Unit

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The House Naval Committee approved, 11 to 7, today a resolution expressing disapproval of the proposed acquisition of St. John's College at Annapolis by the Naval Academy.

The Navy proposed a year ago that the 32-acre college tract be taken over as part of an expansion program.

The Navy Committee has held extensive hearings on the proposal.

Vinson Offers Resolution

Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.) offered the resolution, which read:

"Whereas, a proposal has been made that the expanding program of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., requires the acquisition of the adjoining site of St. John's College, and,

"Whereas, the Naval Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives has held long and exhaustive hearings thereon, and,

"Whereas, upon careful consideration it is the sense of this committee that the national emergency neither justifies nor warrants the proposed acquisition of St. John's campus.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved,

"That said proposed acquisition, officially known as project No. 460-C of the REA estate division, Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, is hereby disapproved."

Representative Sasscer (D., Md.) opposed the motion, urging that the proposal be left open for further consideration.

Sasscer Plan Defeated

He offered a substitute to defer action but it was defeated by a similar 11-to-7 vote.

After final vote, Mr. Sasscer proposed that the committee direct the Navy to make an immediate study and offer alternative plans for expansion of the academy.

No vote was taken on this motion, but Vinson ordered the committee clerk to write the Navy requesting such action and none objected.

Representatives Izac (D., Cal.) and Drewry (D., Va.) opposed the motion. Izac said it would be "the first one to start sinking the Navy." He argued that unless St. John's was acquired, the Naval Academy would not be able to provide its share of future officers.

Agree Expansion Needed

"To get 50 per cent of our officers from the Naval Academy we must have St. John's," he asserted.

Vinson replied that "we are agreed that the Naval Academy must expand, but there is nothing to prevent it from doing so in other ways."

Vinson said he believed the Academy could be enlarged by building up the Dorsey Creek area, through elimination of an athletic field, by acquiring some city blocks in Annapolis and by moving the War College to the West Coast.

Representative Grant (R., Ind.) told the committee "we would be doing the Navy a disservice if we didn't vote against acquiring St. John's, because the House never would agree to provide funds for such an action."

Fifth Dies in Illinois

A fifth child, Robert Ball, nine-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball, died at Paris, Ill., last night of what the attending physician diagnosed as "malnutrition developing into pneumonia."

The child's mother said he refused a food formula prescribed shortly before sailing on the Vance and that he ate nothing after the ship left Le Havre May 7.

A Federal investigation into cause of the deaths and illnesses was launched immediately by Dr. Roy E. Bodet, chief quarantine officer of the United States Public Health service for the New York Port of Embarkation.

One former GI father, Dr. John Battenfield, director of health services for the University of Oklahoma and a former Army doctor, who rushed to the side of his wife and child, said he found the baby "in terrible condition. I had her removed to New York hospital, where she is now in critical condition."

Criticized Sanitary Conditions

Dr. Battenfield said he believed the illnesses "were caused by poor sanitary conditions aboard the Vance."

Col. John U. Schiess, chief of public relations for the port, said tests had been started on the food, water, milk formula and other supplies aboard ship.

"The vessel was equipped with enough medical officers and supplies to handle any ordinary situation that might occur," Col. Schiess said.

Meanwhile, the City Health commission said it was conducting its own investigation of the wave of infant illness on the ship.

Acting Health Commissioner Israel Weinstein said he believed the outbreak resembled "summer diarrhea."

Madrid, May 22-(AP)-Military attaches of the United States, Great Britain, Argentina, Chile and Italy have completed a week's inspection of the frontier from the Bay of Biscay to Barcelona at the invitation of the Spanish government. The trip was believed designed to show the attaches that Spanish concentrations and preparations in the Pyrenees did not threaten France. Col. Wendell Johnson was the United States representative.

Bucharest, Romania, May 22-(AP)-The freedom of correspondency has been withdrawn from Reuben Markham, Christian Science monitor correspondent here, following an attack upon him by the Red Army and Romanian newspapers.

MAY 23 1946

Markham attempted to file a cable during the night. It was returned with the note that the cable office had received orders from the Russian censor that his cables should be halted and must pass through Soviet censorship. The Russians lifted censorship on American and British correspondents last Oct. 15. That was the first case of reimposition.

The Russian army publication accused Markham of making speeches at meeting of the party opposed to the Romanian government, a charge that the Boston writer denied. Romanian newspapers reprinted the story in which Markham was quoted as saying "war between the United States and Russia is inevitable."

MOSCOW, MAY 22-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER STALIN SAID TODAY THE SOVIET UNION ALREADY WAS DOING WHAT IT COULD TO FEED THE HUNGRY WORLD OUT OF A CUPBOARD THAT WAS GETTING BARE AND COULD NOT ADD TO UNRRA'S SUPPLIES AT THIS TIME.

THE SOVIET LEADER'S STATEMENT, PUBLISHED IN SOVIET NEWSPAPERS AND BROADCAST ON THE RADIO, WAS THE FIRST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THE KREMLIN ON THE WORLD FOOD SITUATION, AND CAME IN REPLY TO A LETTER FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

STALIN SAID TRUMAN WAS THREE MONTHS LATE IN PROPOSING THAT THE SOVIET UNION SWELL UNRRA'S SUPPLIES AND JOIN IN A COORDINATED WORLD GRAIN DISTRIBUTION PLAN.

NINETY DAYS AGO, STALIN SAID, THE SOVIET UNION HAD MADE ITS OWN ARRANGEMENTS, ALLOTTING A QUANTITY OF GRAIN TO FRANCE AND SUPPLIES TO SOME OTHER COUNTRIES AND NOW RESOURCES OF THE SOVIET UNION ARE ABOUT TO RUN OUT.

WORLD GRAIN DISTRIBUTION COORDINATION, STALIN SAID, APPEARED TO BE A GOOD IDEA, ALTHOUGH IT REQUIRED SPECIAL DISCUSSION BEFORE THE SOVIET UNION COULD BE COUNTED ON AS A PARTICIPANT.

STALIN'S REPLY TO TRUMAN WAS PUBLISHED AS MILLIONS OF SOVIET FARMERS TOILED TO GET MAXIMUM CROPS IN 1946.

STALIN ONLY A FEW DAYS AGO APPROVED A SPECIAL DECREE OF THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS ORDERING THE PLOWING UP OF LAND WHERE WINTER WHEAT CROPS PERISHED AND ITS IMMEDIATE RESOWING WITH SPRING WHEAT.

THE UKRAINIAN COMMUNIST PARTY AT THE SAME TIME OFFICIALLY RECOGNIZED STALIN'S PERSONAL INTEREST IN PUSHING WORK ON THIS YEAR'S UKRAINIAN BREAD CROPS.

MAY 23 1946

THE SAME ISSUE OF PRAVDA WHICH PUBLISHED STALIN'S STATEMENT TODAY QUOTED A PROMINENT AGRICULTURAL EXPERT AS SAYING THAT THIS WEEK WAS A CRITICAL PERIOD FOR CROPS.

"OUR TASK," HE SAID, "IS TO FINISH SOWING SPRING WHEAT IN SIBERIA AND ELSEWHERE, SPEED UP OAT SOWING AND FINISH PLANTING POTATOES. THE CRITICAL DAYS HAVE ARRIVED."

A MOSCOW BROADCAST LAST SATURDAY SAID RUSSIA HAD PLEDGED TO DELIVER MORE THAN 1,100,000 TONS OF GRAIN TO FINLAND, FRANCE, POLAND AND ROMANIA DURING THE FIRST YEAR OF PEACE.

ELEVEN AMERICAN SHIPS LOADED WITH RUSSIAN WHEAT WERE REPORTED TO HAVE REACHED MARSEILLES LAST MONTH AS THE FIRST INSTALLMENT ON A TOTAL OF 500,000 TONS OF WHEAT WHICH THE SOVIET UNION HAD PROMISED TO DELIVER TO FRANCE IN APRIL, MAY AND JUNE.

RUSSIA ALSO AGREED TO SELL POLAND 200,000 TONS OF GRAIN FOR SOWING THIS YEAR'S HARVEST AND HAS PROMISED ANOTHER 100,000 TONS TO FINLAND. IN ADDITION, MOSCOW ANNOUNCED, RUSSIA LAST SEPTEMBER AGREED TO DELIVER 150,000 TONS OF WHEAT AND 150,000 TONS OF CORN TO ROMANIA, AND IS MAKING AN ADDITIONAL GRANT OF 20,000 CARLOADS OF WHEAT THIS YEAR.

THE MOSCOW BROADCAST DISCLOSING STALIN'S REPLY TO THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS, AS RECORDED BY THE SOVIET MONITOR HERE, SAID:

MAY 23 1946

"SOME TIME AGO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS OF THE U.S.S.R., J.V.STALIN, RECEIVED FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN OF THE UNITED STATES A MESSAGE IN WHICH IT WAS STATED THAT AT THE PRESENT TIME THERE IS A FOOD CRISIS AND IN WHICH THE HOPE WAS EXPRESSED THAT THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT WOULD ASSIGN A CERTAIN QUANTITY OF GRAIN TO THE UNRRA.

"IN THE SAME LETTER MR.TRUMAN EXPRESSED THE HOPE ALSO THAT THE SOVIET UNION WOULD BE IN A POSITION TO COORDINATE HER ACTIONS WITH OTHER COUNTRIES EXPORTING GRAIN FOR THE PURPOSE OF A BETTER USE OF GRAIN RESERVES.

"STALIN, IN HIS ANSWER TO THE MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN, EXPRESSED HIS REGRET THAT MR.TRUMAN DID NOT ADDRESS THE SOVIET UNION ON THE ABOVE QUESTION THREE MONTHS AGO WHEN THE SOVIET UNION COULD HAVE DONE SOMETHING IN THIS RESPECT, BUT DID IT INSTEAD IN THE MIDDLE OF MAY AFTER THE SOVIET UNION HAD ALREADY ASSIGNED A CERTAIN QUANTITY OF FOODSTUFFS TO FRANCE AND OTHER COUNTRIES AND WHEN THE RESOURCES OF THE SOVIET UNION ALREADY ARE BEING EXHAUSTED.

"AS FAR AS THE COORDINATION OF THE WORK OF THE SOVIET UNION WITH OTHER COUNTRIES EXPORTING GRAIN IS CONCERNED, STALIN INFORMED PRESIDENT TRUMAN THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT HAS NO OBJECTION IN PRINCIPLE TO THIS PROPOSAL BUT THAT IT WILL REQUIRE, HOWEVER, A SPECIAL STUDY."

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, MAY 22-(AP)-THE BIGGEST GROUP OF TEST SHIPS YET TO LEAVE PEARL HARBOR SAILED TODAY FOR BIKINI LAGOON--SOON TO BE SWEPT BY ATOMIC-BOMB FIRE, BLAST AND "VERY HIGH WAVES."

TEN TARGET AND SUPPORT VESSELS HEADED BY THIS FLAGSHIP OF THE TASK FORCE COMMANDER, VICE ADM. WILLIAM H.P. BLANDY, WERE ORDERED ON THEIR WAY TODAY.

ONLY A HANDFUL OF THE LARGER TARGET SHIPS WERE LEFT IN PEARL HARBOR, INCLUDING THE VETERAN CARRIER SARATOGA AND THE FORMER GERMAN HEAVY CRUISER PRINZ EUGEN.

BLANDY TOLD NEWSMEN BEFORE BOARDING HIS FLAGSHIP THAT SCALE-MODEL EXPERIMENTS "INDICATED THAT VERY HIGH WAVES" COULD BE EXPECTED IN THE SECOND TEST AT BIKINI WHEN AN ATOMIC BOMB IS EXPLODED BY RADIO IMPULSE SOME 18 TO 180 (CQ) FEET BENEATH THE SURFACE

MAY 23 1946

THE FIRST TEST, AN AIR-DROPPED BOMB, IS SCHEDULED JULY 1; THE SECOND, AS SOON THEREAFTER AS POSSIBLE.

THE SUB-SURFACE BOMB WILL BE SUSPENDED IN A BATHYSPHERE-LIKE CONTAINER HUNG BENEATH A BARGE, AND WILL BE DETONATED BY RADIO IMPULSE FROM A SHIP 20 MILES AWAY. THE BOMB WILL BE AT LEAET 18 FEET BELOW THE SURFACE, HE SAID. GREATEST DEPTH OF THE LAGOON IS 180 FEET.

REAR ADM. W.S. PARSONS, BLANDY'S TECHNICAL DEPUTY, SAID THE NAVY'S SCALE-MODEL TEST AT THE CARDER ROCK, MD., TESTING BASIN, DEMONSTRATED THAT AN UNDERWATER BLAST WOULD PROVE MUCH MORE EFFECTIVE AGAINST SHIPS THAN AN AIR-DROP.

BLANDY SAID THAT ALL 77 TARGET SHIPS WOULD BE IN BIKINI FOR THE FIRST, AIR-DROP TEST; THAT ALL SURVIVORS WOULD REMAIN FOR THE SECOND BLAST; AND THAT ANY WORTH REPAIRING, AFTER THAT, WOULD BE TOWED BACK TO PEARL HARBOR.

INCLUDED IN TODAY'S DEPARTING FORCE WERE THE BATTLE-TESTED CARRIER INDEPENDENCE; FOUR SUBMARINES, THE DENTUDA, PARCHE, APAGON AND PILOTFISH; THE DESTROYERS C.P. CECIL AND FURSE; AND THE TRANSPORTS WHARTON AND KENNETH WHITING.

ALREADY ENROUTE WERE FOUR FAMED BATTLEWAGONS--THE ORANGE-PAINTED TARGET BULLSEYE, THE NEVADA; AND THE PENNSYLVANIA, ARKANSAS, AND NEW YORK.

THE TESTS MUST BE CONCLUDED BY SEPTEMBER, SO THAT CIVILIAN SCIENTISTS OBSERVING THE RESULTS CAN RETURN TO THEIR WORK IN THE UNITED STATES.

WEATHER ALONE WILL DETERMINE THE EXACT DATE OF THE FIRST TEST, SET FOR JULY 1 OR SOON THEREAFTER.

THE COUNCIL THEN TOOK THIS ACTION:

1. VOTED UNANIMOUSLY TO KEEP THE CASE ON ITS BOOKS BUT TO ADJOURN DISCUSSION OF IT INDEFINITELY TO MEET DEMANDS OF SOME DELEGATES FOR CLARIFICATION OF THE SITUATION. THIS WOULD PERMIT THE CASE TO BE BROUGHT UP ANYTIME A MEMBER DESIRES.

2. REJECTED BY AN 8 TO 2 (CORRECT) VOTE A POLISH PROPOSAL TO SEND A TELEGRAM TO PREMIER QAVAM OF IRAN ASKING A STRAIGHT "YES OR NO" ANSWER TO WHETHER HE WAS SATISFIED WITH THE SOVIET EVACUATION. FRANCE AND POLAND WERE THE ONLY DELEGATIONS VOTING FOR THAT MOTION.

3. ADJOURNED SUBJECT TO THE CALL OF THE CHAIRMAN.

BY MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, MAY 22-(AP)-HUSSEIN ALA, THE SLIGHT, SOFT-SPOKEN IRANIAN AMBASSADOR, DEMONSTRATED BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL AGAIN TODAY THAT HE IS A MAN WHO DOESN'T MIND STICKING HIS NECK OUT.

HE HAS BECOME KNOWN IN U.N. CIRCLES AS THE MAN MOST LIKELY TO CONTRADICT HIS GOVERNMENT, OR TO BE CONTRADICTED BY IT. BUT HIS SUPERIORS SEEM WILLING TO RETAIN HIS SERVICES AND HE DOESN'T SEEM TO BE WORRIED ABOUT HIS JOB. ALA IS 62 YEARS OLD AND HAS BEEN AMBASSADOR IN WASHINGTON SINCE LAST NOVEMBER.

HIS AUTHORITY TO SPEAK FOR HIS GOVERNMENT WAS QUESTIONED BY SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO IN MARCH, WHEN THE IRANIAN CASE FIRST CAME UP IN NEW YORK, BUT THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT CONFIRMED HIS CREDENTIALS.

SINCE THEN HE HAS BEEN CALLED A "TRAITOR" BY THE PREMIER OF THE SEPARATIST GOVERNMENT OF AZERBAIJAN, DENOUNCED SEVERAL TIMES BY THE IRANIAN DIRECTOR OF PROPAGANDA AS EXPRESSING VIEWS CONTRARY TO GOVERNMENT POLICIES AND CALLED TO TASK BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL FOR GIVING THE COUNCIL AN UNAUTHORIZED REPORT.

ALEXANDRE PARODI, PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, DECLARED AT TODAY'S SESSION THAT ALA'S LETTER TO THE COUNCIL MONDAY "CAME WITHOUT SPECIFIC ORDERS OF THE GOVERNMENT AND WAS SHORTLY AFTERWARDS CONTRADICTED BY THAT GOVERNMENT."

ALA RETORTED THAT HIS ACTION HAD BEEN "CORRECT," ADDED HE HAD "PUT FORWARD THE REAL FACTS WITH ALL MY RESPECT" BEFORE THE COUNCIL.

MAY 23 1946

"I HAVE ALWAYS SOUGHT TO TELL THE TRUTH AND WE HAVE BASED MY STATEMENTS ON OFFICIAL INFORMATION WHICH I RECEIVED FROM MY GOVERNMENT AT THE TIME WHEN I RECEIVED IT," HE DECLARED. "THE NEXT DAY, IF I RECEIVE ANOTHER COMMUNICATION, I AM BOUND TO COMMUNICATE IT TO THE COUNCIL, AND THAT IS WHAT I DID."

ALA APPEARS TO BE QUITE UNPERTURBED BY THE REPEATED DIFFERENCES BETWEEN WHAT HE SAYS AND WHAT THE GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN IN TEHRAN SAYS. HE MERELY SMILES WHEN HE IS INFORMED THAT ONE OF HIS STATEMENTS HAS BEEN DENIED.

30.24-2951

AT THE COUNCIL TABLE, ALA IS A HIGHLY ACCOMPLISHED PERFORMER, WHO SPEAKS A VERY PRECISE ENGLISH. HE ALSO IS HARD TO REPRESS WHEN HE HAS SOMETHING HE WANTS TO SAY, AS HE HAD DEMONSTRATED SEVERAL TIMES.

TODAY HE WAS ASKED BY POLISH DELEGATE OSCAR LANGE TO ANSWER A QUESTION "YES" OR "NO". HIS REPLY WAS MORE THAN 750 WORDS.

DR. LANGE ALSO DREW A SHARP RETORT FROM ALA IN TODAY'S SESSION. NEEDLING ALA ON THE LATTER'S DOUBTS CONCERNING SOVIET EVACUATION OF IRAN, LANGE PLIED HIM WITH QUESTIONS ABOUT THE IRANIAN INVESTIGATION COMMISSION, WHICH REPORTED ALL RUSSIAN TROOPS HAD LEFT.

"DID THE COMMISSION MAKE ITS INVESTIGATIONS FROM AN AIRPLANE, BY TELESCOPE?" LANGE ASKED.

"AS REGARDS A TELESCOPE OR A MICROSCOPE," ALA RETORTED, "I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THAT. BUT I KNOW THEY WENT BY AIR AND THEY WENT BY SOVIET AIRPLANE."

WM630PED

MAY 23 1946

LISTING THE PRESENT STRENGTH OF THE SPANISH ARMY AT ABOUT 575,000 MEN, THE REPORT SAID THAT WHILE SPAIN PROBABLY COULD DEFEND HERSELF AGAINST HER NEIGHBORS, THE SPANISH ARMED FORCES WERE NOT DEPLOYED FOR OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS AND "AT PRESENT APPEAR TO LACK THE MATERIAL AND TRAINED PERSONNEL TO FIGHT A MODERN WAR."

IT SAID THE SPANISH WAR POTENTIAL WAS LIMITED BY INADEQUATE RAW MATERIALS, INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES AND POOR TRANSPORT, AND THAT LITTLE PROGRESS HAD BEEN MADE IN DEVELOPING HIGHLY TECHNICAL EQUIPMENT.

"CONSEQUENTLY, THE SPANIAH ARMED FORCES MUST DEPEND ON FAIRLY SIMPLE AND ORTHODOX TYPES OF MILITARY EQUIPMENT," THE REPORT CONCLUDED.

JP348AED

NEW YORK, MAY 22-(AP)-DR. OSCAR LANGE, POLISH DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, POKED FUN TODAY AT IRANIAN AMBASSADOR HUSSEIN ALA'S SKEPTICISM AND DREW A SHARP RETORT.

LANGE, NEEDLING ALA ON THE LATTER'S DOUBTS CONCERNING SOVIET EVACUATION OF IRAN, REPLIED HI WITH QUESTIONS ABOUT THE IRANIAN INVESTIGATION COMMISSION, WHICH REPORTED ALL RUSSIAN TROOPS HAD LEFT.

"DID THE COMMISSION MAKE ITS INVESTIGATIONS FROM AN AIRPLANE, BY TE-ESC LANGE ASKED.

"AS REGARDS A TELESCOPE OR A MICROSCOPE," ALA RETORTED, "I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THAT. BUT I KNOW THEY WENT BY AIR AND THEY WENT BY SOVIET AIRPLANE."

All-Spain Arms Move Against Russ Told

L. HAUCK

New York, May 23 (AP)—José Giral, Premier of the exiled Spanish Republican Government, told a United Nations subcommittee investigating Franco Spain today that the Franco regime has told every Spaniard he could arm himself to defend Spain "against an attack by Russia."

DAY

Giral, appearing before the United Nations Security Council subcommittee in its first public hearing in the month-long inquiry, said:

"Two months ago the Franco regime decreed that every citizen could arm himself to defend the fatherland against an attack by Russia." He did not explain his reference to "an attack by Russia."

Answering committee questions concerning the armed forces of Spain, Giral said: "It is difficult to set the armed strength since the whole population is entitled under law to be armed."

840,000 Estimate

Paul Hasluck, chairman of the subcommittee, had called attention to a voluminous report on Franco Spain submitted by Giral in which the armed forces of Franco were set at 840,000.

Giral said the 840,000 figure included colonial troops.

The five committee members and Giral sat at the translators' table in the Security Council conference room instead of at the horseshoe-shaped Council table. Giral spoke in Spanish, one of the five official languages of the United Nations. English and French are the working languages.

The subcommittee is inquiring into Poland's charges against Franco's regime, which include the contention that refugee Nazi scientists are conducting atomic research inside Spain.

MAY 23 1946

Atom-Research Charges

Giral, who has submitted almost 1,000 pages of written testimony against the Falangist Government, said he would present more evidence to back up the atomic-research report and to support charges that the Franco regime threatens world peace.

"It is an established and indisputable fact," he said in his first report, "that the Franco military forces are far in excess of the requirements of a peaceful foreign policy and of a healthy structure for a state."

Both these charges were somewhat at variance with a memorandum submitted by the United States Government, which set the present strength of the armed forces at over 600,000 and said the forces "at present appear to lack the material and trained personnel to fight a modern war." Regarding research, the United States Government said it "has no evidence confirming rumored activities in Spain relating to the production of atomic energy."

Report On Basques

The subcommittee, consisting of representatives of Australia, Poland, France, China and Brazil, also has before it a report from Jose Antonio Aguirre, exiled president of the Basque people of Spain, containing statements purporting to show the Franco regime is persecuting the "democratic Basque clergy." The report contended that fifteen priests had been executed and 500 imprisoned.

Andrei A. Gromyko, who again boycotted yesterday's Security Council meeting on the Iranian question, submitted documents to the committee setting forth that 47,000 Spaniards had fought on the Eastern front in the last war with the Blue Division with casualties totaling 41,500. Gromyko also reported that a Spanish air squadron of nine planes fought the Red Army.

Norwegian Message

Another communication to the committee from Oslo said the Norwegian people want to see a democratic regime established in Spain and that the Government was "prepared to take part in or support a new initiative in this respect, it being understood that an international action will be made, preferably through the United Nations, that can bring real results."

House Supports UN Educational Setup

By Associated Press

The House passed by a 264-to-41 roll call vote yesterday a bill providing for American participation in the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Plans for UNESCO were drawn up at a United Nations conference in London in November, 1945. Its purpose is to promote world peace and harmony by encouraging interest in educational and cultural matters.

British Radio Station In Iran Protested

London, May 23 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that the Iranian Minister of Posts and Telegraph had confirmed reports that the British have not yet evacuated a wartime radio station which they established near the Iranian port of Bushire on the Persian Gulf.

The broadcast said the minister had informed the Iranian newspaper Rasbar that negotiations were under way with the British with respect to the station.

Moscow cited Rasbar as saying the British were violating the three-power treaty for evacuation of Iran and that the matter should be referred to the United Nations Security Council.

An authoritative source in London, commenting on the Moscow broadcast, declared that there are no British military personnel at Bushire "or anywhere else in Iran" and added that the Bushire radio station was not being operated as a military installation.

Second Protest Quoted

It was the second time in recent days that the Moscow radio had quoted the Iranian press as protesting against Britain's alleged failure to turn the station over to the Iranian Government.

The Russian broadcast also quoted Rasbar as re-emphasizing the Iranian claim to Bahrein Island in the Persian Gulf, which is under British protection, and demanding that telegraph tariffs between Bahrein and Bushire be returned to prewar domestic rates.

The paper was quoted as saying that during the war the British had set these tariffs at differing international tolls.

Commercial Cable Station

An official of Cable and Wireless, Ltd., the world-wide British communications system, said the company operates a commercial radio station at Bushire, which is also a terminus for three submarine cables to India and Iraq.

Richardson Protests UN Broadcast Ban

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP). Stanley Richardson, chairman of the standing committee of radio broadcasters accredited to the United Nations, today protested a decision by the security council subcommittee investigating Spain which prohibited radio broadcast coverage of the subcommittee's first open meeting.

Christopher Cross, United States radio liaison officer with the United Nations, to whom Richardson telegraphed his protest, said the only prohibition was against broadcast of the actual proceedings.

He said that radio reporters were in the committee chamber, they could take notes and then go on the air. He added they had the same access to the meeting that newspapermen had.

The official said he believed the staff was composed of Iranians, but "you may be sure" it is managed by a Briton.

The radio station there is the point through which news correspondents' copy is transmitted to the outside world, the official explained, saying that their dispatches come by land lines to Bushire and then are relayed by radio to Aden, Iraq, for further relay.

SAYS U. S. WILL AID BRITISH IN REICH

London, May 23 (A. P.).—The United States and Canada have guaranteed "substantial" shipments of wheat to Germany and exports to India at "a very much higher rate than in any previous year," Herbert Morrison reported today to the House of Commons.

When he refused to divulge specific figures on the grounds that "it might be embarrassing to our interests," Opposition Leader Winston Churchill retorted that Morrison's report was "a rigamarole" and "officialese, which is not meant to give any information at all."

Morrison said also that the United States had agreed to keep rations in the British zone of occupied Germany up to the same standard as in the United States zone and that it was "understood" the French zone would be similarly treated.

In Oslo, meanwhile, the Norwegian Government announced plans to contribute $2,000,000 worth of food to UNRRA above Norway's commitments and said it would also propose offering interest-free ten-year credits totaling $3,000,000 to hungry nations.

Anders' Troops in Italy Accept British Plan Disappointedly

A mimeographed statement of the bureau said Poles abroad had desired to retain a military status under Polish colors until final settlement of state problems in Poland "after the holding of genuinely free elections and the removal of Soviet influence there."

Petiot Denied New Trial

Paris, May 23 (AP)—An appeal for retrial of Dr. Marcel Petiot, condemned to the guillotine for the slaying of 27 persons, was denied yesterday by a French examining commission, leaving only the possibility of presidential clemency to save the 55-year-old physician.

Caffery Protests Cuts in Allowances

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery prepared today a "final protest" to the State Department against cuts in living allowances of embassy personnel, a highly-placed American source said. This source, who declined to be quoted by name, said the protest was contained in a four-page telegram, the third sent on the matter since the department's announcement of the cuts in a telegram which was received in Paris May 8.

Berlin May 23 (AP)—United States authorities, stepping up their campaign to stamp out Hitler Youth elements here, revealed that American public safety officers and German police yesterday rounded up 375 youths in the borough of Neudoelin. Elements of five subversive gangs were found among those detained, authorities said.

Nazi Says Book Ford Denies Influenced Him Against Jews

Nuernberg, May 23 (AP)—Baldur von Schirach, 39-year-old former führer of Hitler Youth, informed increasingly impatient members of the International Military Tribunal today that a book he said had been written by Henry Ford was influential in converting him to anti-Semitism.

"We regarded Henry Ford as a symbol, as a successful man and a person whose views should be taken seriously," Schirach said as he opened his defense against war-crime charges. He said the book was entitled "The International Jew."

[On January 6, 1937, the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League to Champion Human Rights announced in New York that it had received a letter authorized by Henry Ford stating that steps would be taken to "prevent the continued misuse of Mr. Ford's name" on the book, "The International Jew."

Samuel Untermyer, president of the league, said the book was printed in Germany and the auto magnate's name was carried as its author because it was largely a collection of articles once printed in Ford's Dearborn Independent.

[E. G. Liebold, general secretary for Ford, informed the league in his letter that "this publication contains material which was neither collected, compiled nor ever published by Mr. Ford and consequently he cannot be credited with its authorship without misrepresentation of the facts. Accordingly, steps will be taken to prevent the continued misuse of Mr. Ford's name in this manner."]

Sir Geofrey Lawrence, the presiding justice, interrupted the witness with the tart observation that he was not interested in how Schirach became anti-Semitic.

Brings Up Hoover

Schirach was halted again by the restless tribunal in the middle of a sentence in which he asserted that Herbert Hoover, "as a great benefactor," was another American influence on his own younger years.

Schirach, natty in a tan gabardine suit and a blue tie, talked out of the side of his mouth as he told the tribunal he was the father of four children and described his 21 years in the Nazi party and his rise from prodigy to Gauleiter of Vienna. He attributed his love of military discipline for youth to the fact that he was the son of a professional officer.

He said he borrowed from Goethe, French humanitarians and the British-sponsored Boy Scouts ideas on how to educate young Germans.

"My principles came not from Hitler and the party," he said, "but from the results of experiences in my youth."

Schirach defended the Hitler Jugend uniform as the "symbol of a community without classes."

He flatly denied he ever conspired for the Nazis to seize power or wage aggressive war, adding:

"I don't believe a conspiracy existed because it is contrary to the ideal of dictatorship. A dictator does not conspire, he demands."

He boasted that 97 per cent of German youth had volunteered for the Hitler Jugend by 1933, when legal compulsion was announced, and minimized discrimination by Nazi officials against boys who failed to volunteer.

Deposition By Nimitz

Meanwhile, Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz, American war-time commander in the Pacific, stated in a deposition introduced at the trial that the United States ordered unrestricted submarine and air warfare against Japan on December 7, 1941.

His answers were sought by counsel for Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who sought to show parallels between American undersea warfare in the Pacific and that of Germany in the Atlantic, where Doenitz issued "sink on sight" directives.

Nimitz said the American order "was justified by Japanese attacks on that date on United States bases and on both armed and unarmed ships and nationals without warning or declaration of war." The order was issued on the day of the Pearl Harbor attack.

"On general principles the United States submarines did not rescue enemy survivors if undue additional hazard to the submarine resulted or if the submarine would thereby be prevented from accomplishing its further mission," Nimitz replied to another query.

"United States submarines were limited in rescue measures by small passenger-carrying facilities, combined with the known desperate and suicidal character of the enemy. Therefore it was unsafe to pick up many survivors. Frequently survivors were given rubber boats and/or provisions. Almost invariably survivors did not come aboard the submarine voluntarily and it was necessary to take them prisoner by force."

Nimitz said no further orders to American submarines were based on reprisal after December 7, 1941, "although specific instances of Japanese submarines committing atrocities toward United States merchant marine survivors became known and would have justified such a course."

Haughtily, Schirach challenged the accuracy of extracts from the book "Education for Death," by Gregor Ziemer, Michigan-born headmaster of the American colony school in Berlin until 1939. The book accused him of devising militaristic slogans for Hitler youth and erasing Heidelberg students for destroying a synagogue.

NIMITZ REPLIES TO NAZI QUERY

Says U. S. Submarine War on Japs Was Unrestricted.

Nuernberg, May 23 (A. P.).—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, American war-time commander in the Pacific, stated in a deposition introduced before the International Military Tribunal today that the United States ordered unrestricted submarine and air warfare against Japan on December 7, 1941, the day of the Pearl Harbor attack.

His answers were sought by counsel for Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz of the German Navy, who sought to show there were many parallels between American undersea warfare in the Pacific and that of Germany in the Atlantic, where Doenitz issued "sink-on-sight" orders to his U-boat pack[illegible]

Nimitz said that the American order "was justified by Japanese attacks on that date on United States bases and on both armed and unarmed ships and nationals without warning or declaration of war."

No Perilous Rescues.

"On general principles the United States submarines did not rescue enemy survivors if undue additional hazard to the submarine resulted or if the submarine would thereby be prevented from accomplishing its further mission," Nimitz replied to another query. "United States submarines were limited to rescue measures by small passenger-carrying facilities, combined with the known desperate and suicidal character of the enemy. Therefore it was unsafe to pick up many survivors. Frequently survivors were given rubber boats and/or provisions. Almost invariably survivors did not come aboard the submarine voluntarily and it was necessary to take them prisoner by force."

S. S. Man Says Nazis Practiced On G. I. Targets

German Also Tells of Being Told to Kill 2 Americans on an Errand of Mercy

C. Lowry

DACHAU, Germany, May 23 (AP).—Gustav A. Sprenger, a twenty-year-old private in the S. S. (Elite Guard), said in a statement today he had shot two Americans who helped a wounded German and that Nazi troops used captured American soldiers for target practice during the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

Sprenger's statement, read to a United States Army court trying seventy-four S. S. officers and men on charges of massacring captured Americans, declared he was ordered to shoot men "still turning and twisting in their own blood" at the Malmedy slaughter of at least seventy-one prisoners.

He said he fired thirty-two rounds at five Americans. "All of them showed signs of life before I fired, but when I finished they showed no signs whatever," he said.

Two days later, on Dec. 19, 1944, at Stoumont, Sprenger said he was ordered by two men, now on trial with him, to "knock off" two Americans who had brought a wounded German in for treatment.

"They were walking ahead of me. They were unarmed and had their arms upraised. As one of the two American prisoners was half turned toward me, I shot him in the chest with a burst of three or four shots from my machine pistol," he said. "Thereupon the other prisoner turned toward me and I shot him in the chest with a similar burst."

Sprenger said that American prisoners were used for target shooting as they walked toward the rear of an armored column thrusting west to the Meuse River.

Nazi Details Bulge Murders

C. Lowry

DACHAU, Germany, May 23 (AP)—George Fleps, identified as the SS private who fired the first shots in the Malmedy massacre of American prisoners of war, said in a statement today that he raised his pistol after "we received orders from up ahead to bump off the Americans."

In the document read to the seven-man court trying 74 former SS men and officers for wanton murder of unarmed American prisoners and Belgian civilians, Fleps asserted:

"I fired one shot at one of the Americans and saw him fall over. As far as I know, I fired the first shot into the field."

Then, Fleps said, machine guns in the surrounding tanks of the column started spraying the Americans who had been herded into the field at the Malmedy crossroads during the early stages of the Battle of the Ardennes Bulge.

Throughout the reading of the document, Fleps, a Romanian, stared expressionless in front of him. He had been identified in court Tuesday by Virgil P. Lary, of Winchester Ky., former first lieutenant who escaped from the field from which 71 bodies were recovered a month later.

Sgt. Hans Siptrott, another of the accused, said he was in the tank with Fleps and saw that Fleps was eager to shoot. He said he gave the order to Fleps because he had been ordered by his company commander before the start of the offensive to shoot prisoners.

Five Army Prisoners Flee

Break Regensburg Jail, Take Jeep and Escape

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, May 23 (AP).—Five American soldiers, armed with submachine guns and pistols, broke out of a United States Army prison stockade at Regensburg last night and fled in a stolen jeep, the Army provost marshal's office here announced today.

Road blocks were set up and military police were alerted throughout the Munich area.

The Army named the fugitives as Eugene McMasters and Williams J. Pearce, serving court-martial sentences, and Robert J. Bone, Raymond Riley and Alfred Marino, held on unspecified charges. Their home towns were not given.

232 Seized By GI's In Danube Raids

Frankfurt, Germany, May 23 (AP). The United States Army Intelligence Division said today that 232 persons, including "Admiral Trunkwalter, commander of the Hungarian Navy on the Danube River," were arrested in dawn raids Tuesday.

A total of 297 boats were searched in the campaign by American troops to break a smuggling and gun-running ring suspected of providing an underground escape route for SS fugitives.

The announcement said quantities of arms and other contraband were found on the boats, plus "counterfeiting equipment capable of forging various documents and producing specially processed paper."

Noyes Chief Surgeon in Europe

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, May 23 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Edward A. Noyes, a veteran Army medical officer, has been appointed chief surgeon of the United States Army forces in Europe. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Albert W. Kenner, now on the staff of the Secretary of War.

Britain Arming Newsmen In Germany

Herford, Germany, May 23 (AP)—Correspondents in the British zone of Germany are receiving army pistols, mainly as protection against lawless gangs of displaced persons roaming the countryside.

An official announcement last February said it was "advisable" for correspondents to carry arms and the Army's public relations service has now received a consignment of army pistols which are issued to correspondents on request.

U.S. Sees No Danger

Frankfurt, Germany, May 23 (AP). Brig. Gen. George S. Eyster, United States Army public relations chief in Europe, said today he could "see no reason whatsoever why American correspondents should carry pistols."

Informed that newsmen in the British zone were being armed, he said American correspondents faced no physical danger "that I know of—and certainly no more than I do."

Standing army instructions forbid all American personnel—except those specifically authorized—to carry weapons.

Sees Publishers.

"While here I have been conferring with Soviet publishers," Browder continued. "It has been agreed in principle that I will take up the task of representation of Soviet publishers in New York. My first job will be to arrange through various American publishers for publication of Soviet general popular literature.

"The most important problem in the world is the future relations between the Soviet Union and America. I think all basic long-term factors demand and will produce friendship and cooperative working conditions between our countries. Great leaders have declared there is no reason why a socialist country and capitalistic countries cannot exist side by side."

"I make my approach entirely as an individual to try to strengthen the agencies of contact. An American citizen, I have been well received by the Russians whose friendship has been warmed by the wartime common struggle against the enemy and who have always had admiration for American technical achievements.

Browder Bares Purpose of Trip

Says He Is in Russia to Arrange Details for U. S. Agency for Soviet Publishers.

Moscow, May 23 (A. P.).—Earl Browder, describing Soviet-American relations as the most important thing in the world, told correspondents today he was in Moscow to arrange details for opening a New York office as the American representative for Soviet book publishers.

"The trip was entirely my own idea—a perfect example of private enterprise," said the former leader of the American Communist party. "I am out of political life and I came here as a writer. They seemed to know me. I had no trouble with the visa."

Browder said Foreign Minister Molotov had received him and that Deputy Foreign Minister S. A. Lozovsky was helping him see the book publishers he wished to meet.

"My visit with Mr. Molotov was just a brief courtesy call," Browder said. "Mr. Lozovsky has been very kind in facilitating my contacts, but he is a very busy man and has not too much time for me."

"I have been received as an old and trusted friend of the Soviet Union. I expect to maintain my contacts with the Soviet Union in an active form."

Doubts If He'll See Stalin.

Asked if he expected to see Prime Minister Stalin, Browder said:

"I rather doubt it. I am not making any attempts on my own initiative to see prominent people here."

He said Molotov received him at his office outside the Kremlin and that in the interview Browder passed a few incidental remarks on current American comment and opinion, but did not know if they interested Molotov.

"I saw Moscow first twenty-five years ago," he said in explaining his visit here. "My last visit was more than seven years ago. I decided it was time to renew my old habits and visit the Soviet Union and renew my contacts. I always have been a worker in the cause of friendly American and Soviet relations. I wanted to see what it is possible for an individual writer to do.

Bought Own Ticket.

"I bought my own ticket—through Thomas Cook—and had no trouble of any kind except the usual transportation waits en route. I arrived in Moscow May 6."

Browder is living in a suite in the Hotel Moscow, best hotel in the Soviet capital. He said he expected to remain two or three weeks more, but that the exact time of his departure and route of travel were not decided.

Asked about his writing status, he said it was that of a free lancer interested in the social aspects of economics.

"Any American who has been in the Soviet Union for two weeks practically has to write a book," he added smilingly. "I guess I will have to do it too."

Byrnes Talk As Reported By Russians

Moscow, May 23 (AP)—The text of Izvestia's account yesterday of United States Secretary of State Byrnes's address:

New York, May 20 (Tass)—Late this evening, Secretary of the United States Brynes made a speech over the radio regarding the results of the Paris Foreign Ministers' Conference. In the words of Byrnes, the progress achieved at the Paris meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council was insignificant in comparison with the expectations put in it last December when it was decided that the Council would renew its work after the failure of the London meeting in September, 1945.

"Byrnes added that the progress achieved in Paris was, however, appreciably greater than expected at the time when it was proposed to hold the meeting of the Council in Paris.

"In his further interpretation, Byrnes gave the reasons for and justified the position taken by the American delegation at the Paris Council of Foreign Ministers."

POOR GOODS FOUND IN RUSSIAN SHOPS

Moscow, May 23 (A. P.).—Two Izvestia correspondents reported today from Frunze, the capital of the Kirgizian republic, that they had discovered 2,000,000 rubles worth of defective consumers goods in shops there.

There were bed springs which came apart the first time they were used, iron stools which crumbled the first time anybody sat on them and expensive handbags which fell apart the first time they were exposed to the rain, the writers said.

The correspondents, P. Annenkov and I. Novikov, reported that they found new pots, pans and spoons made from the lowest quality of rusty metal.

OCCUPIED HUNGARY BARS U.S. AIR LINES

Budapest, May 21 (Delayed) (A. P.).—United States Legation officials said today that the Hungarian Government had refused an American request for commercial aircraft privileges in Hungary, thereby giving a recently formed Russo-Hungarian company a complete monoply. As a result, it was said, the Civil Air Division of the State Department is planning to recommend that American air line companies contemplating international flights from New York to India ignore Hungary in plotting their routes.

Foreign Minister Janos Gyoengyoesi conveyed Hungary's formal refusal in a note to H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, the American Minister. The note said that no commerciak air operations could be permitted while Hungary was under occupation. (Russian troops now occupy Hungary).

Once 'Executed' Greek Monarchist Seized

Athens, May 23 (AP)—Evanghelos Manganas, leader of a Monarchist band, on whose head the Gree Government has placed a price of $2,000, was captured yesterday near Navarino and is being brought to Athens, it was announced today.

The announcement said Manganas was seized by chance when he made the mistake of hailing a bus loaded with gendarmes.

He is accused of being the leader of a band which staged an armed insurrection on the Peloponnesus last January.

In 1944, a people's tribunal of the ELAS — recently outlawed armed forces of the left-wing parties—convicted Manganas of joining a German occupation battalion and sentenced him to death. He was shot and—apparently dead—thrown into a large well with a heap of bodies.

Although wounded in the chest and stomach, Manganas survived and escaped.

U. S. S. Houston at Norway.

Bergen, Norway, May 23 (A. P.).—The United States light cruiser Houston arrived here today for a good will visit of a week. She was preceded into the harbor by the escorting destroyers Cone and Glennon.

Egypt Rejects Guarantees Request

Cairo, May 23 (AP)—A high Egyptian source says the British have asked guarantees of Egypt in talks on revision of the 1936 treaty of alliance which "in some respects would be worse than occupation."

This source, commenting following an announcement last night that the revision talks had been suspended temporarily for reference of certain points to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in London, said a series of military clauses in the new alliance proposed by Britain were "too onerous for the Egyptian delegation to accept."

The British have promised to withdraw all their forces from Egypt by a date to be determined in the current negotiations.

Prior to the announcement that the talks had been recessed temporarily, a member of the Egyptian delegation, Makram Ebade Pasha, leader of the Wafdist bloc, said the negotiations had nearly been disrupted.

"We cannot accept incomplete independence," he said.

'Army' Reported Poised To Aid Palestine Arabs

Jerusalem, May 23 (AP)—Jamal Husseini, chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, said today that an "underground army" was being organized throughout Syria and Lebanon to help Palestine Arabs.

"Considerable forces are ready to cross the borden into Palestine," he said. "They will go into Palestine even against the wishes of their own governments."

Husseini said the reaffirmation by the United States of the proposed immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine was "one good reason why the Arabs will refuse to participate in any further consultations."

CHANGCHUN TAKEN FROM CHINESE REDS IN AN EASY VICTORY

Communists Are Fleeing From Central Government Forces Eastward Toward Kirin

PUSH AT HARBIN INDICATED

Nationalist Position Stronger Following Repair of Railway and Arrival of Supplies

By The Associated Press.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, May 23—A Chinese Government communiqué announced today the recapture of Changchun, Manchurian capital. Defending Communist forces withdrew eastward after putting up only weak and scattered resistance within the city.

The Nationalists took Changchun on April 18 after a four-day battle. This was strikingly contrasted by today's Government announcement of easy reconquest at 11 A. M., four hours after the first Goverament troops entered.

No Communist report on the situation had been received here, and there was no immediate indication what the Government success would mean to the pacification efforts of Gen. George C. Marshall, special United States envoy in Nanking.

As if to remove any suspicion that Changchun might have changed hands in a "deal," the communiqué from the Government military headquarters in Mukden said that Communists seized within the city bore orders from their commander, Gen. Lin Piao, to defend the capital "by all means."

The communiqué, issued by Gen. Tu Li-ming, Government commander for the northeast, added that the populace lined the streets to cheer the entry of the Government forces. The Communists similarly had claimed public support when they took the city.

Reds on Way to Kirin

Government dispatches reported the Communists were retreating toward Kirin, sixty miles eastward. This is in the swampy headwaters of the Sungari River, with rugged country still farther eastward, terrain that is much more easily defended than the plains around Changchun.

The principal battle for Changchun was fought seventy miles southeast of the capital, at Szepingkai, which Government forces seized Sunday after a thirty-two-day siege.

On the Jehol Province front, according to Chinese papers in Peiping, large Communist forces are besieging Chaoyang, on the Peiping-Changchun railway. They said the Government commander there had urgently asked reinforcements. Government reports also said Communists were within fifteen miles of Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital.

In response to General Marshall's sharp attack Monday on hate propaganda put out by both factions, the Nanking paper Ta Kang Pao, organ of the extreme right wing, said it "unconditionally" supported General Marshall's views and that on him alone depended China's hope for peace, "no matter how slight." Ta Kang Pao—not to be confused with the independent daily, Ta Kung Pao—admitted that propaganda warfare had "undermined efforts exerted for peace."

Nationals Announce Taking Of Changchun

Mukden, May 23 (AP)—The Government today announced that National troops formally recaptured Changchun at 11 A.M. after having engaged "Communist remnants remaining in the city in sporadic fighting."

"The resistance soon was overcome," said the communiqué, from the headquarters of Gen. Tu Li-ming, Government commander for Northeast China (Manchuria).

It reported that advancing elements of Gen. Cheng Tung-kuo's new 1st Army entered Changchun, capital of Manchuria, at 7 A.M.

Reported Leaving

Earlier Government dispatches said Communists were seen withdrawing from Changchun yesterday, presumably headed for Yungki (Kirin), 60 miles to the east.

There was no immediate indication what effect the capture of Changchun might have on Sino-American negotiations for peace in Manchuria. Possession of Changchun had given the Communists an advantage at the truce conferences.

Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang party had refused to negotiate while the Communists held Changchun. The Democratic League, a minor party, yesterday suggested that the Communists withdraw from the city and the Government refrain from entering until a truce had been agreed upon.

Six Of Nine Provinces

[Loss of Changchun was a severe blow to the Communists, but they claim they still control, directly or indirectly, six of Manchuria's nine provinces and more than half its population.]

In contrast to the mild skirmishing which preceded Cheng's entry into Changchun today, the Communists were forced to wage a stubborn four-day battle to seize the city in mid-April from a far inferior Government force, made up chiefly of ill-equipped volunteers.

Although Tu on Tuesday had appealed to the Communists, through General Marshall's truce commission at Nanking, to evacuate Changchun to prevent further destruction of the city, there was no immediate indication why the Reds had left.

Previously, the Communists had reported they were well prepared to defend both Kungchuling, 35 miles to the south, and Changchun. But Goernment forces easily took both places—Kungchuling fell Tuesday—after having overcome Communist forces at Szepingkai, 70 miles south of Changchun, in a 32-day battle.

People Line Streets

Tu's communiqué today reported that, despite the fighting in the city, the people of Changchun lined the streets to welcome Cheng's troops.

It further reported that an order of Gen. Lin Piao, commander of the Communists' Northeast Democratic Union Army, found on captured Red soldiers, demanded that the Reds hold both Kuochiatien, 20 miles north of Szepingkai, and Kungchuling at any cost. The order said it was vital that those cities be held to prevent Government troops from reaching Changchun.

Cheng's army made a surprisingly fast advance to Changchun once it had overcome the Communists' stubborn resistance at Szepingkai. Front-line dispatches said the troops averaged more than 20 miles a day to reach the capital from Szepingkai since Sunday. Although they were American-trained and American-equipped, they had to travel much of the way over rough mountain roads. Lacking motorized equipment, they advanced afoot, with horses drawing their supply and ammunition vehicles.

In Outskirts Yesterday

They captured Fankiatun, 16 miles south of Changchun, shortly after noon yesterday and reached the outskirts of the capital a few hours later.

Meanwhile, other elements, advancing from the east and west, pushed within 17 miles of Changchun to complete a semi-circle around it.

Tu said in Szepingkai last night that Government casualties there were only 300—one tenth the number the Communists had claimed they inflicted.

Nationalist Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, meantime, flew from Mukden to Peiping, en route to Nanking for conferences. It was reported unofficially that he may head the new Ministry of National Defense.

Red Attack In Jehol

[Meantime, the independent Peiping newspaper, Shih Chieh Jih Pao, reported that in southeastern Jehol province reinforced Communist troops were attacking the suburbs of Chaoyang. It said the commander of National troops there had asked reinforcements.

A Central News (Government) Agency dispatch received in Peiping said Communist troops which had captured Pehpiao, 20 miles northeast of Chaoyang, had withdrawn after a special cease-fire team arrived yesterday. A Government representaive on the team accused the Communist member of having delayed mediation by refusing to attend meeting because he had no interpreter or any radio for communications. The dispatch said the Communist refused an offer of the American member, Lieut. Col. Robert Drake, of Greenburg, Pa., to use his interpreter and radio.

Shih Chieh Jih Pao, in a Tsinan dispatch, reported heavy fighting 15 miles north of that city as Communists continued a three-pronged drive toward it. Tsinan is the capital of Shantung province.

U.S. GENERALS DENY RAID IN MANCHURIA

Peiping, May 23 (A. P.).—United States Army and Marine Corps leaders today firmly denied a Moscow report that seven American planes piloted by Americans had been shot down in Manchuria while bombing Chinese Communist forces.

"The United States Army has no tactical air force in China," Brig.-Gen. Henry A. Byroade, director of the Army Executive Headquarters here, asserted.

"The only planes the United States Army has here are unarmed transports which are used for logistic support of Executive Headquarters. No American planes have been reported missing, either in China or Manchuria.

Major-Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commander of United States Marines in China, declared in a telephone interview that "the Marines have no planes in Manchuria."

Chinese News Agency To Be Private Firm

Nanking, May 23 (AP)—The Information Ministry announced today that the Government-controlled Central News Agency would soon be reorganized as a privately capitalized corporation, completely divorced from the Government or Kuomintang (National party).

Peng Hsueh-pei, Minister of Information, said there was no reason for the transfer except that the Government preferred it. He said he did not believe the Government would organize another agency to replace it.

There was no indication how long the transfer had been contemplated. Only three days ago General Marshall demanded that all factions ceased their "reckless propaganda of hate and suspicion." Central News Agency frequently carried editorials bitterly condemning the Communists.

China's Largest News Agency

The agency is China's largest and most powerful. It has 80,000 employes throughout China and the world. It was founded in 1924.

Peng said it would be owned primarily by Chinese publishers, who would control its stock and buy its services.

Ta Kung Pao, an independent Nanking daily newspaper, meantime announced it would support Marshall's demand for an end of the propaganda war. Stating that "all party-affiliated magazines and newspapers have been tinged deeply with enmity and hostility during recent months" and "the intensity of war is in proportion to the depth of hatred," it said:

"Hope for peace, no matter how slight, is pinned to General Marshall. It is no exaggeration that if General Marshall fails to mediate the conflict, nobody else in the world can succeed."

Propaganda Decreases

Other Nanking newspapers urged a peaceful approach to the nation's problems. Propaganda already appears to have lessened in intensity.

Meanwhile, drawing on lessons of the American Civil War, Marshall counseled patience and generosity among China's rival factions and promised to continue his efforts to settle civil strife in Manchuria.

His statement was made yesterday to five Kuomintang (Government party) delegates to the constitutional convention who called at his home for an hour-and-a-half conference.

One of the delegates said the special United States envoy talked frankly of China's internal strife, comparing it with that of his own land in another century and emphasizing that unity could be reached despite all difficulties.

U.S. Constitution Not Easy

When delegates expressed impatience over delay in calling the National Assembly to consider a new constitution, Marshall reminded them that the United States Constitution had to be revised repeatedly before it was accepted by all the people.

Gen. Chou En-lai, chief Communist negotiator, conferred earlier with Marshall for more than two hours, but there was no mention of any progress toward a settlement.

SLIGHT GAIN IN RICE SEEN

Killearn Reports on Prospects of Supply From Southeast Asia

SINGAPORE, May 23 (AP)—Southeast Asia will supply the world food pool with 220,000 tons of rice—65,000 tons less than anticipated, but a gain over recent low prospects—for the three-month period ending June 30, Lord Killearn, Britain's special food commissioner for the area, said today.

During the three months ending Sept. 30, the rice growers of southeast Asia are expected to put 330,000 tons into the pool.

Back To Normal, Says Kashmir Regime

Bombay, May 23 (AP)—The Kashmir government reported today that the country is "returning to normal" after an obortive attempt to overthrow the rule of the Hindu Prince which ended in the death of six persons.

A Government statement said four were killed by pickets protecting communication lines and two others by police, who opened fire on a mob which attacked a police station in an effort to free some of their confederates.

Renewal Of Korea Talks Predicted

Seoul, May 23 (AP)—Col. M. Preston Goodfellow, political adviser to the United States Command in Southern Korea, declared today "it's my guess" that Russians will ask resumption of American-Soviet negotiations aimed at a self-governed, unified Korea.

Goodfellow, ending a five-month mission as adviser to Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, said the Russians "can't afford not to, in the eyes of the world."

Negotiations ended May 6 after the Soviet delegation refused to consult with Koreans of the Democratic Council of South Korea. Only alternative to resumption of the joint conferences here, he added, would be "a new Moscow decision."

Country Now Divided

[Allied foreign ministers in Moscow last December agreed on a trusteeship over Korea for up to five years, with a provisional Korean government to be set up.]

"If the Russians don't come back," Goodfellow declared, "all we can do is set up a separate government in South Korea."

Americans now govern the southern zone; Russians North Korea.

Goodfellow spent his first seventeen nights in Korea in consecutive nightly conferences with Korean political leaders—at frigid, secret mountain rendezvous.

Out of such conferences grew the representative Democratic Council, embracing all groups except the Communists, who formed their own front.

Members Begin Tour

Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold, chief of the American delegation to the Russo-American Commission, reiterated his willingness to resume the conferences as the delegation began a tour of southern Korea to acquaint the members with conditions.

Arnold said the delegation would return to Seoul at once if notified the Russians were ready to resume negotiations.

Pauley Will Confer With Gen. Marshall

SEOUL, Korea, May 23 (AP). U. S. Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley will fly tomorrow to Nanking to confer with Gen. Marshall concerning a reparations inspection mission into Manchuria.

Pauley expects to return to Korea Tuesday, he told a press conference.

14 Jap Princes Lose Rights

MacArthur Decree Strips Them of Pay, Tax Exemption and All Special Privileges.

Tokyo, May 23 (A. P.).—Japan's top royalty—save only the Emperor himself and his immediate family—lost by Allied decree today its [illegible] munity, its special privileges and its customary 2,000,000 yen ($133,333) a year from public funds.

Fourteen families were hit by the new order, including those of Hirohito's three brothers, the princes Chichibu, Takamatsu and Mikasa; and Prince Higashi-Kuni, the former Premier whose son married Hirohito's eldest daughter.

Gen. MacArthur's decree barred the Imperial Household from providing any further grants or loans of money or property to the fourteen princes and princesses or their households, and prohibited Imperial Household employees from working for them. Hence forth, the order specified, their property—valued at more than 50,000,000 yen ($3,333,333) will be taxed the same as that of commoners.

Get Back Cash—Taxed.

Lieut.-Col. D. H. Jennings of the economic section at headquarters revealed also that 8,000,000 yen in securities owned by the fourteen families but deposited in the Imperial Household Treasury will be returned to them—and taxed. Jennings said that the affected families had deposited these securities in the Imperial Treasury obviously to protect them from seizure as the Allied forces moved into Japan last September. The Imperial Household budgeted 2,000,000 yen a year for them, Jennings said, and it was paid as salaries for honorary jobs the princes held.

"It was felt advisable to remove them from the public pay roll," he added.

Hirohito On Air Tomorrow For Second Time

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito, perhaps moved by a growing clamor for food, will broadcast tomorrow for the second time in his reign.

Japan heard his voice the first time last August 15 when a recording carried the reading of his imperial rescript announcing the empire's capitulation.

The imperial household ministry declined to say in advance what the Emperor would say, but the message's importance was indicated by arrangements for three broadcasts.

DAY

Possible Plea

There was reason to believe that he would call upon Japan to tighten its belt, cast aside partisan disputes and work together for reconstruction.

Recently, huge Labor-Communist groups have gone to the Palace grounds to demand increased rations. Their leaders sought, futilely, to see the Emperor himself.

Tomorrow's broadcast will reach the Japanese at a time they are restless politically also, and a newly installed Cabinet is preparing to meet food, housing, unemployment and other critical problems.

Held A Coincidence

Tomorrow is British Empire Day, but the fact the Emperor chose it for his broadcast is considered coincidental.

That he decided to speak showed clearly his concern over conditions. General MacArthur's recent admonition to "undisciplined elements" against "mass violence and intimidation under organized leadership" is reported to have been the final determining factor.

2 JAPS DECLARED TOO ILL FOR TRIAL

Tokyo, May 23 (A. P.).—Shumei Okawa, war crimes defendant who was rushed out of the court room because he gleefully slapped ex-Premier Tojo's bald head, is too ill to be tried.

A medical board reported today that both Okawa and Yosuke Matsuoka, former Foreign Minister, are sick and unable to stand trial. Okawa was reported suffering from a brain disease. The tribunal ordered continued treatment for both men at an Army hospital "until further ruling."

Meanwhile, Allied headquarters announced Seihin Ikeda and Ginjiro Fujiwara, Japanese industrialists, have been released from house arrest, after investigators said their trial on war crimes charges was not warranted.

Ikeda, 79 years old, was governor of the Bank of Japan in 1937 and was made chairman of the great Mitsui holding company in 1944. Fujiwara, 77 years old, formerly was president of the Oji Paper Company and other commercial enterprises. He likewise was connected with Mitsui. Both had held several Cabinet posts in the last decade.

SPEAKER OF DIET QUITS

Withdraws Without Taking Office as Japan Spurs Purge

TOKYO, May 23 (AP)—Spurred by recent purges of its political leaders, the Government tightened today its investigation of newly elected representatives.

Kunikichi Miki, elected last week to be Speaker of the House of Representatives, withdrew without having taken office because of widespread speculation that he might not be acceptable to General Douglas MacArthur.

The House thereupon seated Senzo Higai, Liberal party member who had received the second highest vote, as Speaker. Kozaemon Kimura, elected Vice Speaker, was cleared by General MacArthur.

With its officers installed, the Diet recessed until June 10. The House of Peers chose its officers last week. (10D)

Jap Officials, Industry Blamed In Coal Lack

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—The Japanese Government and the coal industry were blamed by an occupation official today for an "economic crisis which threatens to grind rehabilitation to a standstill."

Miners, mine owners and government officials were all taken to task by R. C. Becker, occupation fuel expert, who said hardly more than six days' supply was on hand and production was decreasing steadily.

Becker accused miners of work slowdowns, rioting and seizure of colliery control. He blamed mine owners for an "unsympathetic attitude." He charged Japanese officials concerned with production had shown "lack of courage" in assisting the industry.

JAP POWDER BLAST

Tokyo, May 23 (A. P.).—Nine persons were killed, thirteen were injured and fifty are missing as the result of a powder magazine explosion near Fukuoka, Kyushu Island, Kyodo News Agency reported today. There was no indication that any Americans were involved. The news agency said the blast was believed to have been set off by a cigarette dropped by a workman.

War-Crimes Aide Killed in Crash

TOKYO, May 23 (AP)—Theodore Halabach, secretary to the legal adviser of the international war-crimes tribunal, was fatally injured when thrown from a jeep that collided with a motorcycle on Monday, the tribunal announced today. He was buried in the Yokohoma military cemetery.

THESE HOMES ARE SUPERCHARGED

Manila, May 23 (A. P.).—There are 159 happy ex-house-hunters here whose homes rock gently at moorings in Manila Bay.

At a bargain price of $1,000 and with a stipulation against commercial use or resale within a year, the Foreign Liquidation Commission sold them high-powered P. T. boats to live in.

Yanks Beheaded for Jap Festival

So Testifies Witness at Guam Trial—Death of Nine Marines Was to Honor Heroes.

Guam, May 23 (A. P.).—Nine United States Marines—all of the famed "Carlson's Raiders"—were beheaded to celebrate a Japanese holiday, a war crimes trial witness has testified here.

The witness gave his testimony yesterday at proceedings against three Japanese naval officers charged with the beheadings. He said the date of October 16, 1942, was selected for the executions because it was Yasukuni Shrine Festival Day "which honors departed heroes."

The victims were among fourteen United States Marines stranded on Makin during the sortie of August 17 and 18, 1942, on that island in the northern Gilberts. The raid was led by Lieut.-Col. Evans F. Carlson and Major James Roosevelt, both later promoted, and occurred about fifteen months before the American invasion of the Gilberts.

The witness, Capt. Joichi Hiashi, former chief of staff to Vice-Admiral Koso Abe, said October 16 was chosen "to honor the American prisoners in the same way they honor departed heroes in Japan.

He testified that Abe and his two aids, Capt. Yoshi Obara and Lieut.-Commander Hisakichi Naiki, remained to bury the bodies, plant flowers, and pray for the souls of the executed men.

The men were executed on Kwajalein Island, in the Marshalls. Abe and the two aids are charged jointly with the beheadings.

Another Convicted In Canada

Rio de Janeiro Police Fire on Red Meeting

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 23 (AP)—Mounted police today fired into a crowd of several thousand persons assembled for a Communist mass meeting in Largo Carioca Plaza. Whether there were any casualties was not immediately learned.

U.S. Has Weapon Far More Deadly Than Atomic Bomb, House Is Told

Thomas of Texas Is Corroborated by Sheppard of California—Navy Bureau of Medicine Linked to Development

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A new American weapon described by a Representative as "far more deadly than the atomic bomb" played a brief and guarded part in House debate on naval appropriations today, then was snatched back behind secrecy curtains faster than it came out.

Representative Albert Thomas, Democrat, of Texas, told the House about it with no detail.

Chairman Sheppard, Democrat, of California, of the Appropriations Subcommittee which wrote the bill under discussion, corroborated him but gave even less detail.

The Navy said nothing.

Mr. Thomas, a member of the subcommittee which heard testimony from high Naval officers in secret for weeks before it turned out the bill, wouldn't even answer the questions of reporters who suggested that something like a death ray or germ warfare might be involved.

The newspaper men took their cue from one tip which Mr. Thomas did let out—an indication that the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, headed by Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, had much to do with the development.

Funds for Navy scientific research were under discussion when Mr. Thomas startled the House with the declaration:

"We have something far more deadly than the atomic bomb today—not tomorrow—and, furthermore, it's in usable shape." Asked by reporters later if the weapon is in the nature of a death ray, Mr. Thomas' only reply was, "I guess I've said too much already."

Mr. Sheppard, even more close-mouthed, at first would tell reporters only that "this nation is in possession of scientific factors which place it in an enviable position."

Asked directly about the deadliness of the new weapon, Mr. Sheppard said its devastating effects were equal, if not superior, to those of the atomic bomb. He would not hint at the nature of those effects.

A "combination of interests" developed the weapon, Mr. Sheppard said, and Admiral McIntire "contributed his scientific knowledge."

The Navy is known to be conducting germ warfare research at the University of California, but has said practically nothing beyond revelation of the fact itself.

The principal disease under study was not identified when the existence of the program was reported, but it was described as "centuries old and one of the greatest of killers."

The announcement said the study was a cooperative one involving Army, Navy and civilians. It was originally undertaken as a measure for defense against possible enemy use of the disease.

More orthodox but still secret weapons and developments just ready for use when the war ended were discussed tonight by Rear Admiral Schoeffel, assistant chief of the Bureau of Ordnance.

In an address prepared for the Maryland Academy of Science, Admiral Schoeffel described a new automatic eight-inch triple-turret for heavy cruisers; a three-inch 70-caliber twin automatic anti-aircraft gun and a new bomb-loading method which concentrates the explosive effect of a bomb in one direction.

"The so-called push-button warfare that seems to be the inevitable form of some phases of future conflicts is a job that requires the active help of our top-ranking civilian scientists," the admiral said.

"It will never again be possible for us to depend upon dusting off the weapons of a previous conflict when war breaks out. We must have the knowledge and facilities to produce the newest and best weapons."

PEARL HARBOR END MARKED BY DISPUTE

Formal Closing of the Inquiry Draws Objections on Facts From Ferguson, Brewster

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, May 23—The Congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee formally closed its record today, six months and eight days after beginning the inquiry.

Although Chairman Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, declared that the decision to seal the transcript today had been taken in an executive meeting last week and was "well understood," Senators Ferguson of Michigan and Brewster of Maine, the only Republicans present, asserted in effect that the Republican minority was being foreclosed.

Attacking as inadequate the final written reports of Cordell Hull and Henry L. Stimson, the Secretaries of State and War in the Roosevelt Administration, Senator Ferguson argued that the committee was "not getting all the facts." Mr. Hull and Mr. Stimson, because of poor health, had submitted in writing answers to supplemental questions submitted to them by Senator Ferguson, 237 in the case of the latter and 169 in the case of Mr. Hull.

Not all of these were answered. Mr. Stimson in particular frequently replied by referring to a statement previously given to the committee. At some points he declared himself without recollection of the fact at issue. As did Mr. Hull, he often answered a series of questions en bloc.

Senator Brewster, contending that the Democratic majority were "making clear their desire to keep certain dark places unexplored," demanded a separate vote on three motions, either of which would have had the effect of keeping the inquiry open. By this time, Senator Ferguson had left the room and Senator Brewster alone voted "aye" on each of the three as Chairman Barkley and Representatives Cooper of Tennessee and Murphy of Pennsylvania, Democrats, voted "no."

Answering Mr. Brewster, Mr. Barkley asserted that the committee had made an "exhaustive, meticulous, careful investigation," and had "discharged its duty to the full extent." Much matter not relevant to Pearl Harbor had in fact been admitted, he contended, lest there be no question of thoroughness. He was willing, he said, to stand on the committee's record.

Mr. Brewster successively made defeated motions as follows:

That the committee "further explore the occurrences" in the Philippines at the outset of the Pacific war.

That it demand the presentation of the thirteen volumes of the diary of Joseph Grew, which the former Ambassador to Tokyo had declined to present during his testimony on the dual grounds that much of it was "wholly personal" and that to give it up would endanger the confidential contacts of American diplomatic agents with their colleagues abroad.

That it demand the presentation of Mr. Stimson's diary, from which the former Secretary had drawn in his written statements to the committee, but which he declared, Senator Barkley announced, contained "nothing relevant that had not been already disclosed."

MAY 24 1946

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—The Pearl Harbor committee rejected today, 3 to 1, a demand by Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) that it look into State Department files which he contended might contain information on 1,200 to 1,500 pre-war messages exchanged by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Voting down a series of proposals by Brewster for further inquiries, the committee closed at 12:18 P. M., Eastern standard time, the voluminous record it began compiling November 15 last on the Pearl Harbor attack.

Committee attaches said the record, including 181 exhibits, will fill thirty-six printed volumes of 800 pages each, totaling approximately 8, 500,000 words.

The windup came after Brewster and Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) had made repeated demands that further investigation be undertaken to fill in what they described as "gaps" in the inquiry.

Vote Is on Party Lines.

Brewster charged that by its action, taken on a strict party vote, the committee had left dark recesses in which he said some of the actions of the higher echelons of Government officials were not disclosed.

He demanded that committee counsel be permitted to examine the State Department files of the case of Tyler Kent, code clerk in the London embassy, who was convicted of violation of the British official secrets act in the theft of documents.

Brewster told the committee he had reason to believe these documents included 1,200 to 1,500 messages exchanged between the late President Roosevelt and Churchill, which he said might have a bearing on "the preliminaries to our becoming involved in the war."

Stimson's Statement Read.

Before the congressional investigation ended former Secretary of War Stimson said in a statement that President Roosevelt "was undoubtedly considering" an attack on Japanese forces threatening southern Asia late in 1941.

But to his recollection, Stimson advised the committee in written rdesponses to a series of questions submitted by Ferguson the late President never formally announced any decision of this kind to top military advisers. Nor would he have acted without the consent of Congress, the former Cabinet member added.

Stimson's answers went into the committee's record along with replies by former Secretary of State Hull to 169 additional questions, mostly about reputed agreements with the British for parallel action before the December 7, 1941, attack. Hull denied knowledge of any such agreements.

Also included in the record, now closed to further evidence, was a copy of the memoirs of Prince Konoye, Japanese Premier whose Cabinet fell in October, 1941.

By Konoye's account, he pressed peace negotiations with the United States in good faith. However, the Prince quoted Foreign Minister Matsuoka of his second Cabinet as expressing conviction in May, 1941, that Mr. Roosevelt "was apparently determined to enter" the European war.

Chairman Barkley (D.-Ky.) called the committee together today to receive these documents formally and to act on a suggestion that it request an additional thirty days to complete its report. The current deadline set by Congress is June ... The investigation began last November 15.

The committee last March received a 20,000-word statement from Stimson covering his recollection of events preceding Pearl Harbor. In it, Stimson said that the President's "War Cabinet" reached the conclusion at a meeting on November 28—ten days before Pearl Harbor—that the United States should intervene with force if Japan moved against British or Dutch territory in South Asia. The so-called War Cabinet was composed of Hull, Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Knox, Gen. George C. Marshall, and Admiral Harold R. Stark.

Drafted Sixty-one Questions.

Stimson, in ill health, did not appear before the committee in person, so Ferguson drafted sixty-one questions in the nature of a cross-examination. On the point of the November 28 meeting, the Michigan Senator asked whether the War Cabinet's advice was "accepted and did it become our Government policy prior to the Pearl Harbor attack?"

Stimson wrote in reply that "it has always been the fixed and permanent policy of the United States Government to defend itself and its possessions." (The military view was that a southward Japanese movement would flank the Philippine Islands.)

Saying that Congress had affirmed that view through passage of the draft and lend-lease acts, he added that the President was preparing a "further warning" to Japan after the November 28 War Cabinet meeting and was considering a special telegram to the Emperor of Japan. Stimson continued:

"I do not recollect that the President, prior to December 7, formally announced any decision on his part to fight if the Japanese passed the point in question, but he was undoubtedly considering such a decision most seriously because it was the advice of his best qualified advisers.

Stimson said, too, that in his opinion Mr. Roosevelt intended to go to Congress before ordering any attack on the Japanese.

SOVIET REVIVES SUGGESTION OF BILLION LOAN

Washington Reports New Note Looking Toward Negotiatory Talks.

ANSWER IS IN PREPARATION

However, the two Governments have yet to reach an understanding on the topics to be embraced in the conversations, as well as an actual date for beginning discussions. As a result, it is expected there will be considerable delay before negotiations will be possible. Any hope, as expressed some time ago, of having the talks begin this month has been abandoned.

A reply now is being prepared in the State Department to the latest Russian note, which was received over the last week-end in the form of a response to one the United States sent to Moscow in late April.

Our April note is understood to have required that, in so far as possible under the system of State trading, the Soviet Government subscribe to our principles of nondiscrimination in international commerce and that the Bretton Woods principles or their basic trade principles be accepted.

It has been indicated that the United States also would like to examine economic conditions in eastern Europe, especially in Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, where the Soviet Union has special trade relations, as a condition of the negotiations with Moscow for the proposed credit.

The fact that the exchanges are to be continued is regarded as indicating that Moscow has found our conditions inacceptable in their present form. The further fact that months are expected to pass before negotiations will be possible is taken as signifying that the State Department's forthcoming reply is not expected to bridge the gap.

Soviet Renews Bid for U.S. Loan; Hitch on Terms Presages Delay

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, May 23 — The Soviet Government has expressed renewed interest, through a note received by the State Department, in beginning negotiations for a credit of $1,000,000,000 from the United States, it was learned today.

Topics to Be Discussed Still Not Agreed On—U. S. Wants Economic Studies.

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—Government officials reported today that Russia has informed the United States that it still is interested in beginning negotiations looking toward a $1,000,000,000 American loan.

These officials told reporters a new Russian note was received over the weekend. The United States is preparing an answer, they said, the third to be sent to Russia on the subject.

Although they declined to disclose the contents of the Russian note, officials made known that the United States and the Soviet still have not been able to agree on topics to be included in loan conversations.

American officials previously had disclosed that the United States had indicated a desire to examine economic conditions in eastern Europe, especially in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

In its last note, sent about six weeks ago, the United States Government had suggested that actual negotiations could begin in Washington about mid-May.

Russia's failure to reply until the past week end aroused speculation that Moscow had abandoned hope of getting American financial assistance.

Preparation of a third American note eliminated any hope of starting talks this month. Russia will be expected to reply first in order to determine whether both sides can agree on topics and a suitable date to begin talking. This exchange may take several additional months.

'Lost' Note Recalled.

The first American note to the Russians went out last December when the State Department announced it had "discovered" a lost Russian application submitted to the Foreign Economic Administration about four months earlier.

Moscow replied about six weeks later, saying it still was interested and suggesting a list of topics for discussion which did not quite meet American desires. The last American note outlined the subjects it thought should be discussed, including the trade tieup Russia has with the former enemy Balkan States.

American Government officials then told a reporter that Russia would be asked to revamp its "treaties of economic collaboration," ith Romania and Hungary. These are five-year agreements whereby Russia is allowed to develop and operate jointly with each country certain major basic industries like shipping aviation and oil.

The Export-Import Bank once had earmarked about a billion dollars of its funds for a loan to Russia. But because Moscow and Washington have not been able to agree on the beginning of any negotiations, most of these funds are now being used to grant loans to France and to China. This will make it necessary for Congress to replenish the Export-Import Banks treasury prior to any sizable advance to the Soviet Union.

British Loan Aid To Free Trade, Banker Says

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Charles S. Dewey, of New York, vice president of the Chase National Bank and former congressman, today advocated passage of the British loan bill to "arrest the world-wide movement toward state-controlled trading."

He said the $3,750,000,000 credit would help shift Britain and affiliated trading nations back toward the free enterprise system which the United States pursues. Denial of the loan, he added, would incline them toward state-control systems like Russia.

"There are three business ideologies existent in the world today, the Soviet system, our own free enterprise system, and a third which is neither one nor the other," Dewey said in a statement prepared for a House Banking Committee hearing.

"A Smart Gamble"

"This third system of bilateral agreements between England and her colonies and dominions and a number of independent states is a defense mechanism due almost entirely to the distressing economic condition they are facing as a result of the war. . . .

"Are we going to let this third group abandon the policy of free enterprise and open competition and become state trading nations or are we going to make a smart gamble and back our own future by advancing funds that may tide them over their difficult period and permit them to play the game under the rules we adhere to?

"Don't Become Hermit Nation"

"If we don't we may become a hermit nation, trying to keep at peace and maintain full employment on our farms and in our factories in a world made unfriendly by obstacles to the free flow of trade. . . .

"I do not believe that this country can live alone, a free enterprise state, in a world of state-controlled economies. I feel sure that no matter what may be the political color of the Administration, it would be forced to make, foreign treaty arrangements in contradiction to our concept of free competitive enterprise."

On Governmental Controls

Dewey, who as a Republican representative from Illinois was an adviser to the United State delegation at the 1944 Bretton Woods monetary conference, referred to the current domestic "desire to get rid of governmental controls" manifested in pending price control legislation. Then he added:

"How deluded we would be if, while believing we will shortly be released from domestic controls, we one day awaken to the realization that, due to our short-sightedness, we have slipped into a position of requiring controls on our foreign business.

"If these new controls were applied, it follows that the Government would necessarily take a hand in selection, price and allocation among domestic producers of the items to be exported, which is a direct step back to domestic control and leads to a state-controlled economy."

FAO HEAD PROPOSES WORLD FOOD BODY

Sir John Boyd Orr Would Give Permanent Council Power to Fix Flow of Surpluses

PLAN IS TOLD COMMITTEE

1943

Strong Opposition Is Forecast —Nations Failing to Conserve Food May Be Punished

By WALTER H. WAGGONER

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, May 23 — Sir John Boyd Orr, Director General of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, today proposed the formation of a permanent international food council equipped with the executive authority to put into effect such actions as the FAO might recommend for a world food program.

The proposal was set forth in general terms before a committee of the special emergency conference called by the FAO for determining ways of meeting the present food crisis. Sir John was reported to have made it plain that the food council which he suggested would in no way interfere with the committee's effort to set up an international emergency food council for coordinating the activities of the Combined Food Board and other agencies dealing with the current severe shortages.

The FAO is not empowered by the constitution which its members ratified in Quebec in October to take action in regard to its recommendations. Its charter limits it to collecting and disseminating information and recommending actions which could be set into motion either by individual governments or some other executive agency of the United Nations.

Proposal May Bring Fight

It is generally felt that Sir John's proposal for a food council with power to issue as directives certain FAO recommendations will run into strong opposition. His project would also include, it is understood, commodity boards for dealing with surplus foods moving in world trade, which is substantially the recommendation made by F. H. La Guardia, Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, on Tuesday.

A memorandum outlining Sir John's proposal stated that the food council "would be able to contribute toward the stabilization of prices in periods of scarcity or in the handling of surpluses so that farmers would be assured of adequate returns."

Such an organization, which is popular in general with consuming countries, has been opposed by producers, and by governments representing commodity traders, such as the United Kingdom and the United States.

Herbert Broadley, delegate from the United Kingdom, said on Tuesday that his Government could not support a food agency with executive power, and members of the United States representation have taken a similar stand, both here and at Quebec.

Meanwhile the possibility of economic sanctions against uncooperative countries receiving foods through allocation arose suddenly today as members of another committee discussed ways of conserving and expanding food supplies during the present emergency. A high official revealed that the group considered imposing some form of sanction, perhaps the reduction of food shipments, against governments which did not act upon recommendations of the International Food Authority to the fullest extent possible.

By Monday this committee is expected to have prepared a list of recommendations for conserving and expanding food supplies.

Hoover Heads South Saturday

Two announcements by the White House today had a direct bearing on the international food situation. At the request of President Truman, Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman of the United States Famine Emergency Committee, and five assistants will leave Saturday for a tour of about a month through the Central and South American republics.

With Mr. Hoover will be Hugh Gibson, formerly Ambassador to Brazil, Belgium and Poland; Dr Julius Klein, formerly Assistant Secretary of Commerce; Dr. D. A Fitzgerald of the Department of Agriculture, Maurice Pate of the International Red Cross, and Frank Mason, press assistant.

In each of the countries he visits Mr. Hoover will discuss ways in which they can participate "in alleviating the critical famine conditions prevalent in large areas of the world," the announcement stated.

The second announcement reported that the President had asked Secretary of State Byrnes and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to appoint a committee on voluntary foreign aid "to recommend measures to promote the efficiency of American voluntary aid to people in foreign countries." Charles P. Taft has been asked to serve as chairman.

The committee will attempt to coordinate voluntary relief programs with those officially sponsored by the Government, and will be available to advise on new projects as well as help existing private relief agencies.

On behalf of 114 labor, consumer, women's and other organizations, Mrs. Dwight Morrow called at the White House and urged President Truman to do "everything that humanly can be done" to relieve hunger abroad. In a letter she outlined a six-point program which proposed that food shipments be increased; that an international food commission be set up under the FAO; that the UNRRA or a similar agency be utilized until the emergency is over; that measures to increase production be taken during the emergency; that price and other controls be retained, and that rationing be restored as soon as possible.

Food Board May Be Enlarged, Extended

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The international food conference veered today in the direction of enlarging the Combined Food Board and then keeping it alive an extra year to battle hunger throughout the world.

That has been proposed by America, Britain and Canada—the countries that founded the board and are its only members. The plan is only in the discussion stage in a conference committee, and is still subject to change, but many delegates have said they liked it.

Would Have FAO Take Over

The United States, Britain and Canada propose that the board operate only as long as the present famine emergency exists. After that the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization would provide the long-range machinery for handling the world's food problem. To make the changeover smooth, the FAO would work closely with the food board.

France and Czechoslovakia have suggested an even longer life for whatever new food agency the present conference recommends. France has proposed that this agency be created by the United Nations.

Board Plan Seen Faster

But that would require legislative sanction by prospective member nations—possibly a lengthy process. Consequently some delegates believe it would be more feasible to use the Combined Food Board as the basis for the new organization.

This board is already operating, trying to line up surplus food and parcel it out among famished peoples. It could easily be enlarged. All that would be needed would be invitations and acceptances.

The Combined Food Board was a wartime agency and was not created to tackle postwar famine. Since it fell heir to that task, the three parent nations agreed to keep it going to next December 31. Now they feel that the worst of the emergency should be over by the end of next year and that the FAO could take over.

The Board's Powers

The plan to extend the size and life of the food board contemplates no broad expansion of its powers. It could recommend to individual countries methods for the "most effective use of food resources"—which could cover rationing and other control measures—but it would have no power to enforce its suggestions.

About fifteen nations have worked with the food board. These might be invited to become members. Russia is not among them, but a conference official said Russia "would certainly be invited to join any enlarged board."

Zionists Protest Delay in Entry Of 100,000 Jews

U. S. Leaders Critical of State Department for Approving Consultations

From the Herald Tribune Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 23.—American Zionists are "outraged" that immediate admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine is to be delayed, an emergency meeting of Zionist leaders declared here tonight.

The group objected vigorously to such delay "while another time-consuming series of consultations is launched" by the British government and the State Department. It suggested that the Zionist Emergency Council and the Jewish Agency for Palestine refuse to "become involved in procedures which will spell further unconscionable delay" in admitting the 100,000.

Meanwhile, a State Department spokesman, when asked to clarify a statement issued by the department on the subject last night, said that Arab protests against proposed admission of the Jews had not been rejected. He said that no decision would be made until pending consultations with both Arabs and Jews have been completed. On May 21 the department announced it had asked comment from both Jews and Arabs within thirty days.

The Zionist leaders, who met at the Hotel Statler under the auspices of the American Zionist Emergency Council, represented 400 communities, the council said. They heard reports from Dr. Abba Hilli Silver, joint chairman of the council and president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Emmanuel Neumann, vice-president of the organization.

Their declaration noted that President Truman had urged admission of 100,000 Jews last summer, that the joint Anglo-American committee of inquiry had unanimously urged this move, that the President had indorsed this part of the report, and that the State Department last night said the President's statement was controlling on all departments.

"Therefore, the President's position on the immediate transfer of 100,000 Jews to Palestine is now the fixed policy of our government," the declaration said. "However, while accepting this position, the Department of State is nevertheless continuing in practice a procedure of consultations, which may delay indefinitely the attainment of the immediate objective to which our government is already fully committed."

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, had announced previously that recommendations of the committee cannot be put into effect until views of both Arabs and Jews are obtained under commitments of both the United States and British governments.

DENIES PRESIDENT IS TO SEE STALIN

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said today there was no truth to a report that President Truman might meet Prime Minister Stalin in Vienna early in June.

Ross gave this response when asked about an article in the Paris newspaper Samedi Soir that the meeting might be held about June 10 for the purpose of signing a twenty-year treaty of friendship between Russia and the United States.

HOOVER TO LEAVE ON TRIP SATURDAY

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—Herbert Hoover plans to leave on Saturday for Mexico City on the first stage of his South American tour as President Truman's special food emissary.

The White House announced today that the former President expects to arrive in the Mexican capital on Sunday and remain there several days before going to Panama, where he is due May 29.

From there, a White House statement said, Hoover's itinerary in quest of food to help alleviate the critical conditions prevalent in large areas of the world will depend on weather conditions, the progress of his discussions, and other factors.

The party tentatively plans to proceed by plane down the west coast of South America and return along the east coast. It will include Hugh Gibson, former Ambassador to Brazil, Belgium and Poland; Dr. Julius Klein, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce; Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, Agriculture Department food expert; Maurice Pate, Red Cross executive,and Frank Mason, press assistant. They expect to return to Washington about June 22.

The group will review import requirements of each country visited and where surpluses are found available, "Mr. Hoover will offer each nation an opportunity to make its full contribution to the relief of world distress."

"The program that Mr. Hoover will discuss is a broad one," the statement said, "and he is confident that each of the other American republics will want to share in all ways that are available to them."

Swiss Right To Nazi Gold Disputed

Washington, May 23 (AP)—French officials registered sharp dissatisfaction today over an Allied agreement that will let neutral Switzerland keep about $88,000,000 in German gold.

France was a party to the agreement, along with the United States and Britain, but the French emphasized that they concurred only for the sake of harmony and because the American and British negotiators desired a quick settlement.

Under the agreement, Switzerland will turn over about $58,140,000 in Swiss money to the Allies, who in return waive claims to the remainder of Switzerland-cached gold which the Germans allegedly looted from conquered nations during the war.

Switzerland also will keep half of all other German assets there, valued by Allied experts at upward of $750,000,000. In addition, a Swiss agency, with advice from the Allies, will determine what is—and what is not—a German asset.

"No Right," French Say

The French express resentment at the arrangement on the gold.

"We tried right to the end of the negotiations to insist that Switzerland had no right to this gold which the Nazis looted from Allied countries," said one official. "It was just that we couldn't hold out indefinitely when the Americans and British wanted to settle."

American officials, who had demanded at the start of the negotiations that Switzerland turn over all the German assets to the Allies, acknowledged today that they had never expected to achieve that goal. "We got more than we expected to get," said one official.

He added, however, that France had a good case on the gold question because it had reimbursed Belgium for about $130,000,000 in Belgian gold deposited in French banks, and later taken by Germany.

The official said he believed the Allies might have got all the German assets if the United States had used "frozen" Swiss assets in this country as an outright bargaining weapon.

The United States, however, was reluctant to do this, he said, because that would amount to virtual economic warfare against Switzerland.

"We all want good relations with the Swiss," he explained. "Several European countries whose economies were wrecked by the war need Swiss goods to help them get back on their feet."

U. S. to Help War Refugees

"Nansen Passports" Approved by State Department

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP).—Representative Clare Boothe Luce, Republican, of Connecticut, disclosed today that the State Department has approved a resolution to air war refugees unable to return to their homes because of political or other difficulties.

30. 14-2961

A letter from Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, advised Mrs. Luce and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, who joined in introducing the resolution, that the State Department has instructed its representative on the Inter-Governmental Committee on Refugees to favor issuance of papers similar to the "Nansen passport" used after the first World War.

These "Nansen passports" served as identification papers for displaced persons, legitimatized their civil status and their right to become self-sustaining persons.

Both Mrs. Luce and Mr. Vandenberg say such passoptrs are more necessary now than after the last war.

'Most Better' U.S. Answers Plea Of Lonely Oriental

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Government today completed a deal with a fellow over in India who thinks the Secretary of Interior is a pretty wonderful guy in a pretty wonderful country.

This fellow, M. P. Sharma, wrote the Secretary a letter with this snappy introduction:

Dear Sir: Kind-hearted and philanthropic, gentle - minded, great, honourable and big, respectable Secretary of the United States Department of Interior, an immence helper friend of mine and past and coming future.

With this off his chest, Sharma reached into his copious supply of adjectives, and really went to work.

"My Lonesome Living"

He pointed out that he was a poor man who lived in Harral, a village in the Narsinghpur district.

Apparetnly Harral is no Shangri La, for Sharmar complained of "this badly rural surroundings where I passing the days of my life in this solitary place of my lonesome living."

Now he had heard of the United States, "where heaven had bestowed the blessings of health, wealth, prosperity, wisdom and of happy living on the persons of your nation."

And he had heard of its "most better" government, which turned out "useful literature, reading material and magazines." These, he had been informed, could be had "free of charges."

Longs For Maps, Pictures

That's why he was writing, he shyly admitted at last.

He yearned for literature which would "give all about different parts and countries." Also, how about a "big colored map of each country and pictures of all interesting places and wonderlands of great wonders?"

"I have in me," Sharma confessed, "immense longings to get such kind of useful literature and books."

And so pamphlets and maps were bundled up today and sent to the persuasive correspondent in far off India, who really can make with the language.

P.S.—Sahis Sharma: Yes, they were sent free of charges.

First G. I. Families to Japan

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP).—The first group of 1,000 wives and children to join soldiers stationed in Japan will leave about the second week in June, the War Department announced today. Others will be transported later to the Philippines, Korea and to the Ryukyus.

SPAATZ WARNS U. S.

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—Gen. Carl Spaatz said yesterday that post-war bombers with a range of thousands of miles and 600-miles-an-hour fighter planes made it imperative in the atomic age for the United States to maintain ready and efficient air defenses.

Spaatz, Army Air Forces Commanding General, told a group of air reservists at the War Department that the Army's new B-36 bomber could carry an atom bomb 10,000 miles.

Detailing plans for a 500,000-man regular Air Force supported by National Guard and air reservists, Spaatz said "the degree of efficiency of this organization will determine the American security."

1,079-Ship Navy 'Nice' But 965 'Practical'

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The House cleared its decks today for a battle over the size of the postwar Navy.

Members chose sides over these issues:

1. A Naval Committee recommendation that the fleet contain 1,079 ships—319 in active operation, 73 in a ready reserve, and 687 in an inactive reserve. The House last year unanimously passed a bill favoring such a Navy, and the Navy Department asked the Budget Bureau for $6,375,000,000 to finance it. The Budget Bureau reduced the figure to $4,224,000,000.

2. An Appropriations Committee recommendation that the fleet contain 965 ships—291 active, 42 reserve, and 632 inactive. The committee added $374,260,000 in cash to the Budget Bureau's figure but lopped approximately $422,000,000 from the Navy's contractual authority. The new cash was earmarked largely for increased naval reserve training and for research.

Says "Stay Within Reason"

Representative Sheppard (D., Cal)., chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee that wrote the bill, commented:

"While it would be a nice thing to have a much bigger navy, we have got to stay within reason and keep national finance in mind. Our plan is practical and economical."

Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) of the Naval Committee has announced that he will seek to restore approximately $122,000,000 in cash and $275,000,000 in contractual authority. His committee directed him to do that at a closed session yesterday, he told reporters.

No Compromise In Sight

The extra cash, Vinson said, will permit retention in the fleet of the 114 ships the appropriations committee proposes to knock out. Unless this is done, he claimed, the ships will be scrapped.

All the ships involved are either in operation now or under construction.

Both the naval and appropriations committees were unanimous in their recommendations. Thus, with no compromise in sight, the House itself must settle the fight during debate today and tomorrow.

"We'll fight this out on the floor," Sheppard declared.

"This is a fight the House itself must settle," Vinson agreed.

Navy Shows New Firepower

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Navy took the wraps off its newest shooting irons today in a demonstration of terrific firepower directed by electronic brains.

The array of guns and rocket launchers put through their paces at the Navy Ordnance Proving Ground in near-by Dahlgren, Va., ranged from weapons that saw their first action toward the end of the war to newly developed models still largely in the hush-hush stage.

Other Impressive Weapons

Pride of the proving ground appeared to be a 3-inch automatic-loading anti-aircraft gun that threw a shell every second, or twice as fast as a hand-loaded gun. Officers said it will be used in both twin and single mounts on shipboard, with radar supplying its firing directions. No photographs of this gun were permitted.

An even more impressive gun, still in the experimental stage and discussed only guardedly by the ordnance officers, was the three-inch 70-caliber anti-aircraft gun. It was not fired.

"Its accuracy, rate of fire, effective range and damage effect will be many times greater than that of any anti-aircraft machine gun now known to be in existence," the Bureau of Ordnance said.

Automatic Turret Included

Only ships designed for this gun can mount it, as it will be fed automatically from below decks and have a radar fire-control system which will spot enemy planes or missiles, track them, compute corrections and open fire, also automatically.

Discussed but not demonstrated was a new rapid-fire turret, claimed to make all present turrets obsolete. It houses three 8-inch guns which are automatically loaded, directed and fired, without a man in the turret.

Walsh-Vinson Merger Note Assailed By Hill, Sparkman

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Democratic House and Senate whips said today that it was "presumptuous" of the two naval committee chairmen to advise Secretary of the Navy Forrestal against a merger "compromise."

Senator Hill and Representative Sparkman, the party deputies from Alabama, declared that in effect Senator Walsh (D., Mass.) and Representative Vinson (D., Ga.) were telling Forrestal to disregard President Truman's views on army-navy unification.

And they added that the two chairmen were presumptuous, too, in their assertion that Congress would pass no merger bill.

Enactment Predicted

Both Hill and Sparkman expressed emphatic belief that unification legislation would be enacted this year. They are members of the military committees of their respective chambers.

The congressional tempest was touched off by the letter, made public last Sunday, which Walsh and Vinson sent Forrestal on the merger issue. The letter asserted that no such legislation would be passed by Congress and advised Forrestal to avoid "any compromise" on the subject with Secretary of War Robert Patterson.

President Truman has directed the two Secretaries to compromise their differences and agree on merger legislation.

Hill is coauthor of the merger bill now on the Senate calendar, calling for an overall defense secretary and a separate under secretary for each of the three services. It won approval of the Senate Military Committee, 13-2, and Hill predicted it could be passed.

"I think they (Walsh and Vinson) were presumptuous," Sparkman said. "I don't think they or any other two members can speak for the whole Congress.

"It seems to me, too, that the President's orders should take precedent over those of congressional committee chairmen. After all, the President is commander-in-chief of the armed forces."

Hill's Reaction

Hill chided Walsh and Vinson in similar words.

"It was presumptuous of them to attempt to speak for Congress, when they are only two out of 531 (members)," he said.

"I also think it was presumptuous of them to tell a member of the President's official family he should not comply with the President's directions as Secretary of the Navy to get together with the Secretary of War and compromise differences.

"I think legislation for the unification of the armed forces will very definitely pass this Congress."

Despite this flare-up, there was no assurance just when the Senate might reach the merger bill.

The chamber must first dispose of such controversial items as labor disputes legislation, extension of the draft and continuation of the OPA.

Forrestal Comments

Denver, May 23 (AP)—Navy Secretary Forrestal, here today to pin ten medals on a Denver naval air hero and address the Rotary Club, expressed confidence in an early solution of the Army-Navy merger question.

The Secretary was asked to comment on the Navy Department's present attitude on the proposed merger.

"The Army," he said, "is a wonderful organization and I'm sure the question will be settled soon to the satisfaction of all concerned."

135,000 Loans Made to Veterans

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—About one per cent of the veterans of the second World War have obtained loans under the G. I. bill for homes, farms and business purposes. The Veterans Administration reported today that 121,000 loans had been made for homes, more than 4,000 for farms, and nearly 10,000 for businesses. So far 12,000,000 have been discharged from the services.

Lenders advanced more than $613,000,000 for veterans' loans, of which VA guaranteed $271,000,000.

TRUMAN APPEALS TO SENATE ON OPA

He Repeats Demand for Full Year Extension of Controls—Assails House Amendments

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, May 23—President Truman appealed to the Senate today for prompt renewal of price-control legislation for another year without amendments "that would jeopardize economic stability."

The letter, which was read to the Senate, arrived just before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee went into executive session to frame a price-control bill.

The committee has thirty-two amendments, which range from immediate abolition of the price agency to a proposal by Senator Taft setting a formula for price increases after Sept. 1.

The members reacted to the President's letter along party lines. Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa said he did not believe the letter would have any effect upon the committee's action.

Senator Wagner, committee chairman, said he believed the President's message would be effective while Senators Taft and Milliken expressed doubt that it would carry any influence.

Warns Against 'Disaster'

In his letter addressed to Senator Wagner, the President said that the most important issue now before Congress is whether to protect the country from the imminent danger of inflation.

All the gains made so far in production and trade, he added, "could be swept away by inflation in a few short months." Prompt renewal of the stabilization laws in effective form for one year he said is essential to avoid such a disaster. The letter continued:

"For fifteen weeks, the Congress has been considering the extension of the stabilization laws. The House of Representatives has passed a bill which I would not be able to approve because, although purporting to extend price control, it would actually mean a quick end to price control.

"I am disturbed by reports of proposals in your committee of many amendments that would impair effective price control. As a result of spreading uncertainty about prices and growing fear of inflation the country is already experiencing a creeping economic paralysis from speculation and withholding of goods.

Wants Amendments Dropped

"I earnestly repeat my earlier request that the Congress quickly re-enact the stabilization laws without amendments that would jeopardize economic stability.

"I ask, too, that as President I do not be handicapped by amendments destroying my authority to vast responsibility for effective coordinated administration of the laws in those departments and agencies of the Government which I believe can best carry out the stabilization policies."

Chester Bowles, Director of Economic Stabilization, also wrote Senator Wagner and renewed his plea that controls be imposed on comercial rents to combat "increases which in many sections of the country were already soaring to dangerous levels."

The stabilization director asked the committee to add an amendment to the pending bill enabling the OPA to control comercial rents in particularly serious areas. He contended that such controls would offer business men the protection of stable costs and aid the whole stabilization program.

P.-T.A. Urges Rationing

Denver, May 23 (AP)—The National Congress of Parents and Teachers came out today in favor of requisitioning and rationing of foodstuffs.

A resolution adopted at the closing session of the congress' annual meeting—addressed to "President Truman and other officials concerned"—urged:

1. Requisitioning of foodstuffs by the Government if necessary to make available "a much larger proportion of our abundant food supply" for purchase by other Governments and UNRRA.

2. Rationing to American consumers to assure "fair distribution at home of any food made scarce by this action."

The resolution, declaring the United States has not sent abroad food shipments "proportionate to needs or to what we could have provided," urged the Government to double its famine emergency program and to act to increase production.

EXTEND GRAIN BONUS PLAN

Additional Time Permitted Where Elevators Are Filled

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that farmers in areas where country grain elevators are filled will be permitted additional time beyond May 25 to collect the 30 cent a bushel bonus being offered for wheat for export.

The bonus offer will expire May 25 but in areas where local elevators are blocked farmers will be permitted to sign contracts through that date for sale of their grain to the Government, with delivery deferred until elevators are open. Local elevators are acting as buying agencies for the Government. No specific terminal date for the time extension was announced by the department.

Control Of Price Margins Is Due Senate Airing

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee, in agreement on three major provisions of the price-control extension bill, pointed today toward a decision on the fourth and last.

Thus far, the committee has decided to:

1. Extend the life of the OPA to June 30, 1947.

2. Provide for systematic removal of price controls in the interval.

3. End subsidy payments May 1, 1947, with $1,100,000,000 provided for the payments until that time. These are designed to hold down retail prices.

The remaining big question is that of price margins.

More Lenient Attitude

The committee in general has shown a more lenient attitude toward the OPA than did the House which wrote in a provision that ceiling prices must reflect cost plus "a reasonable profit" to producers, processors and distributors, including retailers.

Several suggestions for handling the margin problem are before the committee. Senator Taft (R., Ohio), calling signals for a Republican group, has proposed that after September 1 no maximum price shall be established or maintained which does not give the manufacturer his 1941 cost plus the average unit cost increase within the industry since that time.

For wholesalers and retailers, he has proposed that the base period markups and discounts be made mandatory in figuring ceilings.

Proposals Being Written

The committee reached its decision on subsidies late yesterday, then recessed until this afternoon to give subcommittees time to put the subsidy and decontrol proposals into legal language.

The subsidy amendment, adopted 14 to 2, provides $900,000,000 for food subsidies, with the balance going for similar payments on lead, zinc, copper, rubber and petroleum.

Senator Murdock (D., Utah) said there was "a distinct understanding" in the committee that the copper, lead and zinc subsidies are to be continued until June 30, 1947, even though the cutoff date on the food payments was set for next May 1.

OPA INCREASES PRICES ON CARS BY 4 TO 8 P. C.

Action Seen Routing Chance of Ceiling Cuts as the Output Rises.

Washington, May 23 (A. P.).—OPA, slapping 4 to 8 per cent price hikes on top of previous increases for new automobiles, kept the door open today for a possible further boost. At the same time chances virtually disappeared for any OPA-ordered cut in ceiling prices when the industry achieves full scale production.

A high OPA official said that the agency "does not plan to try to reduce prices" after cars begin to roll from assembly lines at the pre-war rate. Manufacturing costs usually decline as production goes up.

Asserting that car makers "have had a pretty tough time of it" and that a price cut by OPA would be out of the question, the official said that there could be another increase. Three already have been piled on 1942 auto prices.

Present ceilings will stand, the official said, until the industry has been operating at the 1941 production rate for three months. It may take some time to hit that stride. The Civilian Production Administration reported last week that, due mainly to strikes, only 433,766 passenger cars were produced in the ten months through April. It said this was just about a normal pre-war figure for one month.

Average Rise $75.

When the 1941 rate is achieved and maintained for three months OPA will take another look at prices and grant additional increases for which manufacturers may qualify under the agency's peacetime pricing standards.

The increases announced yesterday range from $33 to $167, averaging about $75 for sixteen makes of cars built by Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Hudson, Nash, Packard and Studebaker.

For the latter two companies the increases compensate for both wage boosts and higher prices for materials, principally steel, and parts. The other five firms received increases for parts and materials. Their wage boosts were offset earlier by price hikes of from $1 to $60 a car.

The full amount of the fresh increases will be paid by the public. Dealers were required to absorb part of the previous two, but OPA has announced that their pre-war profit margins will be cut no more. The retail increase is effective on cars shipped beginning yesterday. Previous ceilings were continued on all other cars.

Far From 1942 Ceilings.

Last night's announcement took OPA further away from its 1945 goal of 1942 ceilings on new cars. With part of the increase due to "improvements" and "design changes" in virtually every case, here are a few examples of how present ceilings stack up against 1942 OPA prices on four-door sedans:

Plymouth Deluxe, $1,069 now as compared with $882 in 1942, up $187; Ford Deluxe Eight, $995 and $931, up $64; Chevrolet Stylemaster Sport Sedan, $936 and $833, up $103; Chrysler Royal, $1,353 and $1,264, up $89; Mercury Town Sedan, $1,241 and $1,162, up $79; Pontiac Series 6 La Torpedo 6, $1,127 and $978, up $149; Oldsmobile Series 66, $1,163 and $998, up $165; Buick Series 40, $1,250 and $1,110, up $140; Cadillac Series 61, $1,794 and $1,520, up $274; Hudson Series 51 Super 6, $1,240 and $1,147, up $93; Nash Series 600, $1,119 and $1,041, up $78; Packard Six, $1,510 and $1,408, up $102; Dodge Deluxe, $1,176 and $991, up $185; De Soto Deluxe, $1,251 and $1,168, up $83.

Here is the range of increases granted yesterday over previous ceilings for the various makes of cars:

Plymouth from $64 to $81; Dodge, $83 to $89; De Soto, $76 to $86; Chrysler Six, $82 to $96; Ford, $42 to $62; Mercury, $49 to $72; Lincoln, $92 to $167; Chevrolet, $33 to $52; Pontiac, $38 to $63; Oldsmobile, $39 to $72; Buick, $51 to $83; Cadillac, $68 to $148; Hudson, $73 to $94; Packard, $98 to $162; Nash $66 to $74.

OPA also set prices for 1947 model Studebakers but did not compare them with previous ceilings. The agency said the design and engineering of these cars had been changed entensively. Ceilings for the new Studebaker models are: Champion Deluxe, $1,158; Regal Deluxe, $1,221; Commander Deluxe, $1,370; Commander Regal Deluxe, $1,477.

Presbyterians Told U. S. Has Vital World Role

Dr. F. W. Evans, of Troy, Is Elected as Moderator to Succeed Dr. Lampe

Special to the Herald Tribune

ATLANTIC CITY, May 23.—American democracy must provide leadership and example to the rootless millions of Europe and Asia "who will go in one of two directions," Dr. William Blakeman Lampe, retiring moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, told the 158th General Assembly here today. "Russia," he added, "is bidding for them."

Elected to succeed Dr. Lampe was Dr. Frederick W. Evans, minister of the Second Presbyterian Church of Troy, N. Y., who defeated Dr. Raymon M. Kistler, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pa., and minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Haddonfield, N. J. Dr. Lampe is minister of the West Presbyterian Church of St. Louis.

Describing the unsettled plight of 300,000,000 people in Europe and 500,000,000 in Asia, Dr. Lampe said: "All these people look with longing for the secret of that which is the greatness of America and they wonder if in that secret they might find the answer to their hopes."

Dr. Lampe said that as leader of the Presbyterian Church in the United States he had been asked frequently if there were any danger that the church would become controlled by the spirit of isolationism.

"We better face it frankly," he said. "There is a danger that we will yield to such a spirit. We must make sure that as an assembly we take actions that cannot be misunderstood or misinterpreted."

The moderator told the 880 commissioners, both clergy and laymen, to advance the church's plans for evangelism if they hoped to achieve the goal of 1,000,000 new members to be added to the present roster of 2,160,000.

The ministers of the church were challenged tonight to make their pulpits "a sounding board for applying the principles of Christianity to vital problems of the day," in an address by Wilbur La Roe jr., Washington attorney and lay member of the Assembly's General Council.

"If I were a minister," he said, "I could not remain silent on the situation in Spain or in Argentina. . . . I would not remain silent about such social evils as the liquor traffic and gambling." . . .

He told the convention that "such charging of the metals could only be to the extent of creating therapeutic dentifrice without harming the tissues."

Dr. W. I. L. McGonigle of Freehold, chairman of the society's Committee on Dental Science and Literature, said in his annual report that much of women's denture trouble was mental. "Women are shopping around for the best fashions in teeth," he said. Nowadays dentists must not only fit their mouths but also their minds."

GI Baby Death Toll On 2 Ships Reaches 6

New York, May 23 (AP)—The death toll of babies stricken aboard GI brideships mounted to six today when a 5-year-old girl, in this country only four days, died in Pittsburgh.

The child, Vivian Smith, arrived here with her mother, Mrs. Howard Smith, whose husband lives in Burbank, Cal., on the S.S. Brazil last Sunday.

Five On Other Ship Die

Five infants who traveled on the brideship Zebulon Vance have died from a mysterious ailment which struck them as they crossed the Atlantic.

A Federal investigation was begun after mothers complained of overcrowding and unsanitary conditions aboard the Vance.

The ship docked here Monday after a thirteen-day voyage from Le Havre. Four deaths occurred at the Fort Hamilton Hospital—where fifteen other babies originally were taken—and one at Paris, Ill. Several ailing infants have been transferred from the army hospital to other hospitals or their homes.

Latest reported death was that of Robert Ball, 9-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball, who died Tuesday night at Paris of what a physician diagnosed as "malnutrition developing into pneumonia."

The child's mother said he had refused a food formula prescribed shortly before sailing and took no nourishment after the ship sailed.

One of the GI wives, Mrs. John Aliberti, formerly of Keerbergen, Belgium, said that "in the cabin in which I came over there were eighteen women and ten babies."

"Skin And Bones"

Her 2-month-old son, Anthony, is seriously ill.

"The baby is skin and bones, like the victims of the horror camps at Dachau," said the infant's father, a former staff sergeant, of Portland, Maine.

Mrs. Aliberti said the baby was healthy when she boarded the ship and added that although the baby became ill there was no medical examination except a perfunctory scrutiny of the child's hair.

Another GI bride, Mrs. Jeannie Battenfield, 20, said sanitary conditions aboard the vessel were "deplorable." Her child, Myriam, 6 months, is ill.

Sees Atom as Guard for the Teeth

Dr. Ribble Tells New Jersey Dentists' Group of Possible Use Against Mouth Infection.

Atlantic City, May 23 (A. P.).—Possible future use of atomic energy to control tooth decay and mouth infection was described today by Dr. Roy D. Ribble, secreary of the New York Academy of Dentistry.

Addressing the 76th annual meeting of the New Jersey State Dental Society, he said:

"It may be possible to charge metal inlays and fillings within the mouth with atomic energy with the resulting radioactivity tending to make the mouth germ free and infection free."

Stating that 60 per cent of diseases of the body came from germs entering through the mouth, he said "If we sterilize this entry way for germs, the body will be protected against disease through making radioactive the metals in the mouth."

The death, which physicians diagnosed as acute diarrhea and malnutrition, was the first reported among the Brazil's passengers.

One Improving

Another baby on the Brazil hospitalized here, 7-months-old Jacques Pierre Herter, was reported slightly improved. His father, George Herter, of Wasega, Minn., was expected to arrive here soon from the west.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Herter, who sailed from France, said army doctors had switched their babies' feeding to a prepared milk formula.

The mothers protested that the babies were kept in a large nursery during the crossing. They said they were allowed to see them "only one hour a day."

A-Bomb Radioactivity Spreads Over Huge Areas After Blasts

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP). The Times says research by Eastman Kodak Co. scientists has revealed that radioactive effects of atom bomb explosions spread in the course of a few days over an area about the size of Australia.

The findings, disclosed yesterday, were based on several months of investigation into the source of radioactivity detected last fall in strawboard stiffeners used between photographic films.

A routine test of strawboard in the fall of 1945 showed that material made three to eight weeks after the bomb blast in New Mexico showed radioactivity sufficient to fog film. The two plants making the strawboard were in the Middle West, 400 to 500 miles apart.

The scientists concluded that radioactive particles from the New Mexico explosion probably were spread by stratospheric winds and precipitated into the Middle West by rain.

The two plants making strawboard are supplied by different watersheds, but sediment taken from the river water used in both plants showed contamination, while the straw, fresh from the fields, did not.

Atom scientists believe that one bomb apparently doubles radioactivity over a wide area. Scientists of the International Protection Commission have said that radiations equal to about 10,000 times those of normal air are the maximum daily safe load for the human body.

PRECEDE LONDON IRANIAN

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK MAY 23-(AP)-RUSSIA ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT THE RED ARMY EVACUATION OF IRAN WAS COMPLETED MAY 9, THREE DAYS AFTER THE DEADLINE SET BY THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.

THE BRIEF SOVIET ANNOUNCEMENT LEFT UP IN THE AIR REITERATED CHARGES BY IRAN'S AMBASSADOR, HUSSEIN ALA, THAT RUSSIA STILL IS INTERFERING IN THE AFFAIRS OF HIS COUNTRY.

BOTH THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AND THE OFFICIAL SOVIET MONITOR IN LONDON RECORDED THE FOLLOWING BRIEF ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE MOSCOW RADIO:

"THE FULL EVACUATION OF SOVIET TROOPS FROM IRAN WAS COMPLETED ON MAY 9, ACCORDING TO INFORMATION IN POSSESSION OF THE GENERAL STAFF OF THE TRANS-CAUCASIAN MILITARY DISTRICT.

"THE CONCLUSION OF THE EVACUATION BY THIS DATE CORRESPONDS TO THE EVACUATION PLAN OF THE TRANS-CAUCASIAN MILITARY DISTRICT ANNOUNCED AT THE END OF MARCH."

THOSE TWO PARAGRAPHS CONSTITUTED THE FIRST WORD ON THE IRANIAN EVACUATION FROM RUSSIA SINCE MAY 6, WHEN THE SOVIETS IGNORED THE SECURITY COUNCIL'S REQUEST FOR A REPORT WHETHER THE WITHDRAWAL HAD BEEN COMPLETED.

THE BROADCAST CAME A DAY AFTER THE COUNCIL IN SPIRITED DEBATE DECIDED TO KEEP THE IRANIAN CASE ON ITS AGENDA FOR A COMPLETE REPORT. A REPORT FROM PREMIER AHMED QAVAM, OF IRAN, TUESDAY THAT HIS INFORMATION SHOWED THE SOVIETS HAD LEFT MAY 6 WAS TERMED "INCONCLUSIVE" BY THE UNITED STATES AND BRITISH DELEGATES.

IT WAS PROBABLE THAT THE BROADCAST WOULD CONSTITUTE THE ONLY WORD RUSSIA WOULD HAVE ON THE EVACUATION. SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO HAS CONSISTENTLY BOYCOTTED ALL IRANIAN MATTERS IN THE COUNCIL SINCE HE FAILED LAST MONTH TO GET THE COUNCIL TO DROP THE ENTIRE MATTER ON THE GROUNDS THAT AN AGREEMENT HAD BEEN REACHED BETWEEN IRAN AND RUSSIA.

UNITED NATIONS OBSERVERS POINTED OUT THAT THE MAY 9 DATE COULD BE WELL WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT SET BY THE RUSSIANS IN MARCH WHEN THE CASE WAS BROUGHT UP AS SOON AS THE SECURITY COUNCIL MET IN NEW YORK.

ON MARCH 27, GROMYKO TOLD THE COUNCIL THAT THE EVACUATION HAD BEGUN MARCH 24 AND WOULD PROBABLY END "WITHIN FIVE OR SIX WEEKS UNLESS UNFORESEEN CIRCUMSTANCES ARISE."

ON APRIL 5, THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED THE RUSSIAN-IRANIAN AGREEMENT WHICH SAID THAT RED ARMY TROOPS WOULD EVACUATE ALL IRANIAN TERRITORY WITHIN ONE AND ONE-HALF MONTHS FROM MARCH 24.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN CALCULATING THE TIME FOR ITS REQUESTED REPORT APPARENTLY NOTED THAT SIX WEEKS FROM MARCH 24 WOULD BE UP ON THE WEEK-END OF MAY 5. HOWEVER, IT WAS NOTED TODAY THAT A MONTH AND A HALF, COUNTING A 31-DAY MONTH AND 15 DAYS FOR A HALF-MONTH, WOULD MAKE THE PERIOD EXPIRE MAY 9--WHICH IS THE DATE THE RUSSIANS SAY THEY CLEARED ALL OF IRAN.

IT WAS RECALLED ALSO THAT MOSCOW NEVER HAD FORMALLY PROMISED TO HAVE RUSSIAN TROOPS OUT BY MAY 6--THE RUSSIANS HAD CONSISTENTLY SAID "FIVE OR SIX WEEKS" AND FINALLY "A MONTH AND A HALF."

IN WASHINGTON, AMBASSADOR ALA SAID HE DID NOT DESIRE TO COMMENT ON THE RUSSIAN BROADCAST SINCE HE HAD NO FURTHER INFORMATION BEFORE HIS STATEMENT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL WEDNESDAY.

LONDON—MAY 23—(AP)—THE MOSCOW NIGHT LEAD RADIO NEWSPAPER PRAVDA TODAY QUOTED THE IRANIAN FOREIGN NEWS DISPATCHES FROM TEHRAN THAT THE BRITISH WERE VIOLATING THE THREE-POWER TREATY FOR EVACUATION OF IRAN BY CONTINUING TO OPERATE A MILITARY RADIO STATION NEAR BUSHIRE ON THE NORTH COAST OF THE PERSIAN GULF.

AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH SOURCES DENIED THAT THE STATION WAS A MILITARY INSTALLATION. AN OFFICIAL OF CABLE AND WIRELESS, WORLDWIDE BRITISH COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM, SAID IT OPERATED A STATION AT BUSHIRE THAT WAS SERVING AS THE KEY POINT THROUGH WHICH FOREIGN NEWS DISPATCHES FLOWED FROM IRAN TO THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

THE MOSCOW BROADCAST SAID THAT THE IRANIAN MINISTER OF POSTS AND TELEGRAPH HAD CONFIRMED A REPORT IN BASRA THAT THE BRITISH HAD NOT YET EVACUATED THE STATION, AND QUOTED THE NEWSPAPER AS SAYING THAT THE MATTER SHOULD BE BROUGHT BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.

THE CABLE AND WIRELESS OFFICIAL SAID THAT THE COMPANY RECEIVES FOREIGN NEWS DISPATCHES FROM TEHRAN AT BUSHIRE OVER LAND LINES, THEN TRANSMITS THEM BY RADIO TO ADEN, IRAQ, FOR ADDITIONAL RELAY. BUSHIRE IS ALSO A TERMINUS FOR THREE SUBMARINE CABLES TO INDIA AND IRAQ.

MAY 24 1946

THE OFFICIAL SAID HE BELIEVED THAT THE BUSHIRE STAFF WAS MADE UP OF IRANIANS BUT ADDED "YOU MAY BE SURE" THAT THE STATION WAS MANAGED BY AN ENGLISHMAN.

THE SOVIET BROADCAST ALSO QUOTED THE NEWSPAPER RASBAR AS REEMPHASIZING IRAN'S CLAIM TO BRITISH-PROTECTED BAHREIN ISLAND ACROSS THE PERSIAN GULF OFF THE COAST OF SAUDI ARABIA. THE NEWSPAPER DEMANDED THAT TELEGRAPH TARIFFS BETWEEN BUSHIRE AND BAHREIN BE RETURNED TO PREWAR DOMESTIC RATES, EXPLAINING THAT DURING THE WAR THE BRITISH SET THE TARIFFS AT DIFFERING INTERNATIONAL TOLLS, THE BROADCAST SAID.

THE NEWSPAPER SAID THAT SIMILAR LETTERS FROM STEINHARDT, SEEKING TO IMPRESS CONSERVATIVE CIRCLES IN PARIS, WERE CIRCULATING IN THE CITY AND ACCUSED HIM OF TRYING TO REALIZE THE HOPE "OF WHICH HE HAS DREAMED A LONG TIME, TO BECOME THE UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO PARIS."

IN NEW YORK, SHEETS SAID HE HAD RECEIVED NO LETTER FROM STEINHARDT INDICATING HE WAS SUPPORTING ANY FACTION IN THE CZECHOSLOVAK ELECTIONS.

"I KNOW MR. STEINHARDT WELL AND I WOULD BE VERY MUCH SURPRISED IF HE WERE TO WRITE SUCH A LETTER," SHEETS SAID. "HE HAS OFTEN TOLD ME THAT HE NEVER INTERFERES IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF COUNTRIES WHERE HE GOES."

ATTEMPT TO INFLUENCE VOTERS.

NO SIGNS OF INTIMIDATION HAVE BEEN REPORTED IN THE CAMPAIGN THUS FAR.

THE COMMUNIST PRESS CHARGES THE NATIONAL SOCIALISTS HARBORED REACTIONARIES AND COLLABORATORS AND THE NATIONAL SOCIALISTS ASSERT A COMMUNIST VICTORY WOULD MEAN A TOTALITARIAN REGIME.

THE NATIONALIST SOCIALISTS PURSUE A RATHER MODERATE SOCIALIST COURSE, WHILE THE COMMUNISTS WOULD BROADEN CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S PRESENT NATIONALIZATION OF INDUSTRY.

THE MOST CONSERVATIVE PARTY IN THE CZECH LANDS OF BOHEMIA AND MORAVIA IS THE PEOPLE'S DEMOCRATIC PARTY, SOMETIMES CALLED THE CATHOLIC PARTY, WHICH ALSO SUPPORTS NATIONALIZATION OF LARGE INDUSTRY. NEUTRAL OBSERVERS SAY THEY EXPECT THE PEOPLE'S PARTY TO MAKE A STRONG SHOWING, CORRALLING A LARGE SHARE OF THE CONSERVATIVE VOLE.

THE FOURTH CZECH PARTY CONTENDER IS THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY, WHOSE LEFTIST LEANINGS ARE CLOSE TO THOSE OF THE COMMUNISTS.

IN SLOVAKIA, WHICH HAS ITS OWN FOUR PARTIES, THE LINE-UP IS SIMILAR---THE COMMUNISTS, SIMILAR TO BUT INDEPENDENT OF THE CZECH COMMUNISTS; THE LABOR PARTY, AKIN TO THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS; THE DEMOCRATS, AND THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS. SLOVAKIA WILL CAST ABOUT ONE-FOURTH OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S TOTAL VOTE.

NIGHT LEAD WAR CRIMES

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, MAY 23-(AP)-BALDUR VON SCHIRACH, FORMER NAZI BOY WONDER, ADMITTED SULKILY TO THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL TODAY THAT HITLER APPOINTED HIM GAULEITER OF VIENNA TO GERMANIZE THE CITY BY DRIVING OUT JEWS AND CZECHS.

VON SCHIRACH TRIED TO PICTURE HIMSELF AS A CHRISTIAN PATRIOT WHOSE IDEAS HAD BEEN INFLUENCED BY SUCH FIGURES AS HENRY FORD, HERBERT HOOVER AND GOETHE. HE SAID THAT, AS HITLER YOUTH LEADER, HE TRIED TO "INCULCATE THE PRINCIPLE OF 'LOVE THEY NEIGHBOR'" IN 8,000,000 GERMAN YOUTHS.

TESTIFYING IN HIS OWN DEFENSE AGAINST WAR CRIMES CHARGES, VON SCHIRACH SAID HITLER TOLD HIM IN 1940 THAT "VIENNA HAD TO BECOME A GERMAN CITY BY REMOVAL OF JEWS."

"HE EVEN SPOKE OF EVICTION OF THE CZECH POPULATION," THE DEFENDANT SAID.

DURING HIS FIVE-HOUR RECITAL, VON SCHIRACH SAID THAT, AFTER HE GAVE UP THE LEADERSHIP OF GERMAN YOUTH TO GOVERN VIENNA, HE NEVER WAS AWARE OF GESTAPO PERSECUTION OF JEWS OR MALTREATMENT OF FOREIGN WORKERS IN HIS DISTRICT.

WHILE FORMER LABOR CZAR FRITZ SAUCKEL BEAMED IN THE PRISONERS' BOX, VON SCHIRACH CREDITED HIM WITH "FLOODING OUR OFFICES WITH DIRECTIVES FOR HUMANE, HONEST, DECENT TREATMENT OF FOREIGN WORKERS."

VON SCHIRACH, THE 14TH DEFENDANT TO PRESENT HIS DEFENSE, DENIED ANY RESPONSIBILITY FOR MISDEEDS OF THE NAZI REGIME.

HE SAID THAT A BOOK, "THE INTERNATIONAL JEW," WHICH HE SAID WAS WRITTEN BY HENRY FORD, WAS INFLUENTIAL IN CONVERTING HIM TO ANTI-SEMITISM BECAUSE "WE REGARDED HENRY FORD AS A SYMBOL, AS A SUCCESSFUL MAN AND A PERSON WHOSE VIEWS SHOULD BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY."

(THE NON-SECTARIAN ANTI-NAZI LEAGUE TO CHAMPION HUMAN RIGHTS ANNOUNCED IN NEW YORK JAN.6, 1937, THAT IT HAD RECEIVED A LETTER FROM FORD'S GENERAL SECRETARY DECLARING STEPS WOULD BE TAKEN "TO PREVENT THE CONTINUED MISUSE OF MR.FORD'S NAME" ON THE BOOK.

(SAMUEL UNTERMYER, LEAGUE PRESIDENT, SAID THE BOOK WAS PRINTED IN GERMANY AND THAT FORD'S NAME WAS CARRIED AS ITS AUTHOR BECAUSE IT WAS LARGELY A COLLECTION OF ARTICLES ONCE PRINTED IN FORD'S "DEARBORN INDEPENDENT.")

PRESIDING JUSTICE SIR GEOFFREY LAWRENCE CUT OFF VON SCHIRACH'S COMMENTS, SAYING THE TRIBUNAL WAS NOT INTERESTED IN HOW HE BECAME AN ANTI-SEMITIC, AND HALTED HIM AGAIN WHEN THE DEFENDANT SAID HERBERT HOOVER, "AS A GREAT BENEFACTOR," WAS ANOTHER AMERICAN INFLUENCE UPON HIS YOUNGER YEARS.

VON SCHIRACH SAID HE BORROWED IDEAS ON EDUCATING GERMAN YOUTH FROM GOETHE, FRENCH HUMANITARIANS AND THE BRITISH-SPONSORED BOY SCOUTS.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 23-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S FAMINE COMMITTEE APPEALED TO RESTAURANTS AND OTHER PUBLIC EATING PLACES TODAY TO SERVE BREAD AND OTHER WHEAT FOODS ONLY WHEN A CUSTOMER SPECIFICALLY ASKS FOR THEM.

IN MAKING THE REQUEST--DESIGNED TO PROVIDE MORE WHEAT FOR FOREIGN RELIEF--THE COMMITTEE SAID THAT CONSERVATION MEASURES TAKEN THUS FAR BY RESTAURANTS HAVE "NOT BEEN AS SUCCESSFUL AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED."

THE COMMITTEE'S ACTION COINCIDED WITH THESE OTHER DEVELOPMENTS ON THE FOOD FRONT:

1. DISCLOSURE THAT THE GOVERNMENT MAY HIKE PRICES HOUSEWIVES PAY FOR BUTTER, MILK AND CHEESE.

2. OPA AUTHORIZED HIGHER PRICES FOR FRESH PEACES.

3. THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT GAVE SOME FARMERS ADDITIONAL TIME TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFER OF A 30 CENT-A-BUSHEL BONUS ON WHEAT SOLD FOR EXPORT.

4. A REPORT BY THE DEPARTMENT THAT BIG MEAT PACKERS ARE HAVING TROUBLE GETTING LIVESTOCK DESPITE THE GOVERNMENT'S NEW SLAUGHTER PROGRAM DESIGNED TO THROTTLE BLACK MARKETS.

THE POSSIBILITY OF A BOOST IN DAIRY PRODUCT PRICES STEMS FROM INCREASE EARLIER THIS MONTH IN PRICE CEILINGS FOR GRAIN AND DAIRY FEEDS.

OFFICIALS WHO WITHHELD USE OF THEIR NAMES SAID OPA, THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT AND THE OFFICE OF ECONOMIC STABILIZATION PROBABLY WILL DECIDE IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS WHETHER TO PERMIT THE PRICE INCREASE.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE, ONE OFFICIAL SAID, "SEEMS TO BE ANOTHER INCREASE IN DAIRY SUBSIDIES."

30. 24-2971

OPA INCREASED SHIPPING POINT CEILINGS FOR PEACHES BY FOUR-TENTHS OF A CENT A POUND TO OFFSET HIGHER LABOR AND MATERIAL COSTS. SINCE PRICES ARE ROUNDED TO THE NEAREST CENT, THIS WILL INCREASE RETAIL CEILINGS IN SOME STORES BY ONE CENT A POUND WHILE IN OTHER STORES PRICES WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED.

UNDER THE CHANGE IN THE WHEAT BONUS OFFER, FARMERS IN AREAS WHERE COUNTRY ELEVATORS ARE FILLED MAY SIGN CONTRACTS THROUGH MAY 25 FOR SALE OF WHEAT TO THE GOVERNMENT. DELIVERY WOULD BE DEFERRED UNTIL ELEVATORS ARE OPEN AGAIN.

HERETOFORE, WHEAT HAD TO BE DELIVERED BY MAY 25, THE EXPIRATION DATE OF THE BONUS OFFER. THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT SAID A HEAVY FLOW OF WHEAT FROM FARMS HAS OVERTAXED ELEVATORS AND SHIPPING FACILITIES IN SOME AREAS.

THE DEPARTMENT REPORTED TYAT THE THIRD WEEK'S OPERATION OF THE NEW SLAUGHTER PROGRAM FOUND THE LARGE MEAT PACKING PLANTS VIRTUALLY SQUEEZED OUT OF LIVESTOCK MARKETS BECAUSE PRICES AGAIN HAVE ADVANCED ABOVE THE STABILIZATION RANGES OF THE PRICE CONTROL PROGRAM.

SOME LARGE PACKING PLANTS, THE DEPARTMENT SAID, WERE HELD TO "MEAGRE PURCHASES OF A FEW HUNDRED CATTLE A DAY" WHILE OTHERS FIND IT "IMPOSSIBLE TO COMPETE" WITH OTHER BUYERS. FROM 60 TO 75 PER CENT OF CATTLE RECEIVED AT LEADING MARKETS LAST WEEK WERE TAKEN BY BUYERS OTHER THAN THE MAJOR PACKING CONCERNS.

OPTIMISM NOTED ON IRANIAN ISSUE

Council Delegates Anticipate Positive Word From Ala

New York, May 24 (AP)—Delegates to the United Nations Security Council took a more optimistic view of the Iranian question today, but generally adopted a wait-and-see attitude in the face of unofficial reports from Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam that all Soviet troops were out of his country.

The Tehran radio quoted the Premier as saying he had advised Ambassador Hussein Ala in Washington to report the complete evacuation officially to the Council.

The delegates, who made it clear earlier this week in voting to retain the case that they wanted positive, official assurances of the evacuation, preferred to await Iran's statement and study it before commenting.

Also before the Council members was word of a Moscow broadcast that Russian troops completed their evacuation May 9.

NIGHT

Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Minister of Propaganda, said Premier Qavam had instructed Ala to "refrain" in the future from writing notes or making statements unless instructed first from Tehran.

It appeared the Council could take one of two steps in the event of an unqualified report from Iran. They could:

Finally drop the case.

Decide to retain it on the agenda on the basis of the possibility of continued Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran.

In Tabriz, Azerbaijan Premier Jafar Pishevari said he and the "democratic people of Iran" looked on the Security Council's retention of the case as "foreign meddling in strictly internal affairs."

Economic Council To Open

"There is a very minimum of difference now between us and the central Government," he told newsmen.

Meanwhile, the United Nations other big Council—the Economic and Social Council—prepared to open its first New York meeting at 10.30 A.M. tomorrow.

Scheduled for the first session were addresses by Secretary general Trygve Lie and Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, of India, President of the Council, and a message of greeting from President Truman.

After formalities and speeches, the eighteen-member Council was expected to adjourn until next week when it will tackle a crowded agenda that may split Russia and the west on two important social issues.

Representation Problem

The firs problem concerns governmental representation on the various commissions set up to study the world's social and economic ills. Russia has maintained that Government representatives, empowered to act for their states, should be named, while other countries generally have contended that members should be selected as individual experts in their fields and not as governmental envoys.

The other issue has to do with refugees, with Russia insisting that all refugees be sent back to their own countries immediately. It was said in United States circles that the western view was that refugees who are not war criminals should not be compelled to return home unless they wanted to.

Effect On U.N. Of Russ Iran Word Is Uncertain

New York, May 24 (AP)—Russia's announcement that Soviet troops completed their evacuation of Iran May 9 brought no clear indication today what effect, if any, the statement would have on the United Nations Security Council.

The brief announcement of the evacuation by the Moscow radio last night left up in the air the reiterated charge by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala that Russia was still interfering in the affairs of Iran.

DAY

The Security Council—now in recess subject to the call of the chairman—still has the Iranian case on its agenda as a result of a decision taken Wednesday. Under that decision the Iranian matter may be called up at any time by a council member.

Not Addressed To U.N.

The Moscow broadcast was not addressed specifically to the Council. However, since Soviet custom is to use the radio for important announcements and let the matter rest there, it was considered probable the broadcast would constitute the only word Russia would have on the evacuation.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko has consistently boycotted all Iranian matters in the Council since the Council refused a month ago to drop the entire matter on Gromyko's claim that an agreement had been reached between Iran and Russia.

The Council had requested a report by May 6 on whether the Red Army withdrawal had been completed. The Moscow broadcast last night constituted the first word from Russia on the subject since the Council's deadline was passed.

Three Days After Deadline

The May 9 date mentioned in the broadcast, as recorded by both the Associated Press and the official Soviet monitor in London, was three days after the deadline.

On April 5, the Iranian Government announced that under the Russian-Iranian agreement Red Army troops would evacuate all Iranian territory within one and one-half months from March 24.

In calculating the time for its requested report, the Security Council apparently noted that six weeks from March 24 would be up on the week end of May 5. However, it was noted that a month and a half, counting a 31-day month and fifteen days for a half month, would make the period expire May 9—the date the Russions say they cleared all of Iran.

Meanwhile, a United Nations subcommittee investigating Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime in Spain was scheduled to hear further testimony from José Giral, premier of the exiled Spanish republican government Monday.

Qavam Orders Ala to Act Only On Instructions

Firouz Says Envoy Is Told to 'Refrain' From Issuing Notes Without Authority

TEHRAN, May 24 (AP).—Propaganda Minister Mozaffar Firouz said tonight that Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam had instructed Hussein Ala., Iran's Ambassador to the United States, to "refrain" in the future from writing notes or making statements without first obtaining instructions from Tehran.

(Ambassador Ala told the United Nations Security Council on Monday that Soviet interference in Iranian affairs was continuing; then on Tuesday he said he had received a message from Qavam declaring that Soviet troops had evacuated Iran.)

The Soviet Ambassador in Tehran gave official notification to the Iranian government that the Red Army had withdrawn completely from the country by May 9, as announced last night in Moscow, and Firouz declared:

"The Iranian government now considers its territory completely and officially evacuated by all the Allied troops—Soviet, British and American."

In Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan province, Premier Jafar Pishevari declared yesterday he and the "democratic people of Iran" looked upon the Security Council's retention of the Iranian question on its agenda as "foreign meddling in strictly internal affairs."

A Minimum of Difference

He added that there was "a very minimum of difference now between us and the central government. Already we plan resumption of negotiations and I'm confident of a peaceful settlement."

Pishevari said there was not "one chance in a hundred" of the Iranians' resorting to violence to settle their differences.

"If such a thing should happen," he added, "the war would not be between Azerbaijan and the central government. It would be between democrats and reactionaries all over Persia."

He said that in the event of an outbreak, Azierbaijan would not accept material aid from any government, because "by so doing we would stand to lose too much in the eyes of the rest of the world."

Pishevari reiterated that Azerbaijan was receiving "only moral support from Russia," and as a result said the friendship of the Iranian people had "turned toward the Soviet, as is happening throughout the Middle East."

He denied that the Russians were interfering in Iranian affairs, and commmented that American diplomatic policy "during the last few months" had lost the United States many friends in Iran.

Firouz denied reports from Tabriz that he and two others had been appointed to a commission for renewing negotiations with the autonomous province of Azerbaijan for its return to central government rule, but said a commission undoubtedly would be named. He said that differences were slight between the central government and Tabriz, but declined to elaborate.

"There remains only the task of finding a formula to resolve these differences without impairing the unity of the state," Firouz said. "I am confident the formula will be found."

He said that General Razmara, inspector general of the army for western Iran, was heading a joint commission of the Tehran and Tabriz governments to investigate recent border clashes near Sain Qaleh, 100 miles south of Tabriz. He said the commission would passs some weeks on the border "to prevent the recurrence of untoward incidents."

Azerbaijan Evacuation Report

LONDON, May 24 (AP).—The Tehran radio quoted Iranian Prime Minister Qavam. today as saying that an Iranian investigating mission had confirmed that "Azerbaijan has been evacuated by Soviet troops."

The broadcast, heard in London by The Associated Press, said "the Iranian Ambassador in Washington has been informed of the entire evacuation of Iran and has been instructed to report this to the Security Council" of the United Nations.

Moscow Announces Evacuation

MOSCOW, May 24 (AP).—The government organ "Izvestia" reported today without editorial comment the evacuation of Soviet troops from Iran.

A Tass dispatch dated May 22 from Tiflis, Georgian republic, said "according to reports from the staff of the Transcaucasian military area, the full evacuation of Soviet troops from Iran was completed on May 9. The completion of evacuation on this date corresponds with the plan of the Transcaucasian military district on the evacuation, announced at the end of March."

TABRIZ SCORES ACTION BY U. N.

Says It Meddles in Keeping Iran on Agenda.

Tabriz, May 24 (A. P.).—Azerbaijan "Premier" Jafar Pishevari said today that he and the "democratic people of Iran" looked on the United Nations Security Council's retention of the Iranian question on its agenda as "foreign meddling in strictly internal affairs."

"There is a very minimum of difference now between us and the central government," the Azerbaijan leader told newsmen. "Already we plan resumption of negotiations and I'm confident of a peaceful settlement."

Pishevari said the central government advised him that a commission was coming to Tabriz to resume negotiations. He declined to name its members, but a source close to the Government said Muzafar Firouz, Under-Secretary of State and Director of Propaganda, was included.

SPAIN CALLS U. S. REPORT INSIDIOUS

Madrid, May 24 (A. P.).—The Spanish Foreign Office declared today that a United States report to a United Nations Security Council committee on alleged pro-Axis activities of Spanish diplomats was "inexact and insidious."

Referring to the charge that the Spanish Radio was used for Axis propaganda in South America, a spokesman declared that Spain did not have any station "of great radius of action" until the end of the war.

He also denied the existence of any agreement between the Spanish official news agency, Efe, and the Germans.

Churchill Hits Plan To Quit Egypt

London, May 24 (AP)—Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today that he feared the British plan to withdraw from Egypt would seriously prejudice "the hope of gaining the aid of America in the Palestine question."

Churchill said if the Government continued to pursue ts present course "it would ruin our interests in the Middle East, destroy our communications in the Indian and Pacific Oceans and sever the lifeline of the British Empire."

Efforts to find other bases to substitute for Egypt, he declared, would bring complaints of imperialism and "Russia would renew and reinforce her demands for a base or bases in the Eastern Mediterranean."

DAY

"Difficult Task"

The former Prime Minister said that depending on the use of Palestine "as a jumping off ground for reoccupation of the Suez Canal Zone in an emergency would leave ourselves without American aid and would leave us with the most profitless task that can be imagined."

"It is impossible to keep the canal open unless Britsh personnel are permanently stationed in the canal zone," he continued.

"The Government has no right to claim the approval of the chiefs of staff for any policy without informing the House o the precise questions from which that advice was obtained."

He declared that bases either in Palestine or Cyrenaica or both would not be effective for protection of the canal in an emergency.

Hope For U.N.

s an alternative to the Labor Government's plans to evacuate Egypt, Churchill proposed: "We should rest for the next five or six years on t he1936 treaty in the hope that the United Nations will grow up ad become an organization which would put so many of these strategic dangers and nightmares back into the limbo of a vanished past."

The plan to withdraw British troops from Egypt was advanced by the British as a basis for the opening of negotiations in Cairo on revison of the 1936 Brtish-Egyptian Treaty of Alliance. The negotiations have been suspended temporarily because, the Egyptians said, the two delegations were far apart on conditions that Britain was demanding for defense of the canal. The British delegation is asking fresh instructions from Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Bevin told the House the Government would keep its pledge to withdraw troops from Egypt and the Suez Canal zone.

"I came to this decision with my eyes open and with deliberation and I stand by it," Bevin declared. "I make no apology for it."

Bevin said it was better "to begin the (Egyptian) negotiations with a proposal (for evacuation) ourselves and not be forced to it by disorders in the streets and have this thing dragged out of us."

Dominions Reject Empire-Policy Proposal

London, May 24 (AP)—British Commonwealth leaders have decided to maintain "decentralized" ties instead of molding an empire foreign policy.

The decision, announced yesterday at the end of a five-week empire conference, emphasized the autonomy of the dominions and formally marked the end of acknowledged United Kingdom predominance.

Conservatives in Britain had demanded an empire foreign policy, especially since the Labor Government has decided to withdraw troops from Egypt, but British officials said all the dominions—Canada and Australia in particular—opposed any move toward requiring joint commonwealth action in foreign affairs.

Versailles Signatures Are Lost Or Destroyed

Paris, May 24 (AP)—The originals of signatures to the Treaty of Versailles and all documents regarding the 1919 treaty of peace were destroyed or lost by the Germans, the French Foreign Office has disclosed.

Numerous other French historical documents were taken by the Germans. American troops in their advance recaptured many French archives and returned them to Paris, where they now are being recatalogued.

"Bluebeard" To Die

CLAY REBUFFS GERMANS

Rejects Churchmen's Request to Ease Denazification

BERLIN, May 24 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy United States Military Governor, rejected today a request by the Supreme Council of the Evangelical Church in Germany for moderation of denazification laws in the United States occupation zone.

The churchmen said the measure was too severe.

General Clay replied that he regarded the law just. He said the military government "expected the cooperation of church authorities in removing from places of prominence in Germany those who associated themselves with a party organization which displayed utter contempt for the laws of God and trampled ruthlessly on the rights of man."

Russia Condemns Nazi Books

BERLIN, May 24 (AP). — The Soviet military government for Germany announced today it has compiled a list of 13,000 books and 1,500 periodicals to be confiscated in the Russian zone, under the recent Allied Control Council directive to destroy all German literature of a Fascist, militarist or anti-democratic nature.

274 Arrested in Day

BERLIN, May 24 (AP).—Patrols have picked up 274 American soldiers in a single day on Berlin streets for violating Major General Walter A. Keating's May 1 prohibition against "undignified public fraternization." All were confined to their quarters for twenty-four hours.

"We will continue these periodic roundups until we have enforced good taste and etiquette in the public deportment of our men," Keating said today.

55 MEN TELL OF MASSACRE

Deaths Of More Than 100 Yanks, Prisoners, Described

Dachau, Germany, May 24 (AP)—A massacre of more than 100 American war prisoners at La Gideize, Belgium, was revealed today by two Nazi SS men on trial for the slaying of American soldiers at Malmedy, Belgium.

In statements [illegible] of a United States [illegible] trying 74 SS officers and men on charges of killing hundreds of unarmed war prisoners and torturing Belgian civilians during the Battle of the bulge in December, 1944, the two Germans told of a wholesale massacre during a three-day reign of terror in which 80 to 100 Americans were slain in a small school yard in Le Gleize.

Speed Boats, Seaplanes Used

Gustave Sprenger, 20, and Joachim Hofman signed the statements. Hofman said that when he and three other German soldiers went to a church in Le Gleize to aid a wounded German, he saw 100 guarded Americans standing in the school yard.

"A Good Deal Of Shooting"

He had been in the church a short time, Hofman said, when he "heard machine pistol and rifle fire from the direction of the school."

There was "a good deal of shooting," he added.

Twenty minutes later he left the church and passed the school yard, where, he said, "the American soldiers were lying on the ground, and as far as I was able to observe, they were not moving and showed no signs of life."

The next day, Hofman said, "more Americans were bumped off."

Sprenger's statement said that dozens of other Americans in Le Gleize were shot in sheds, against cemetery walls and wherever else they were captured.

Order Was "No Prisoners"

The order to the German soldiers was "No prisoners," he asserted.

Earlier, the court heard another statement of Sprenger's which said that he himself killed a wounded American soldier lying on a stretcher after one of Sprenger's comrades shot two Americans who had been carrying the wounded man.

Rain Falls In Ukraine

Moscow, May 24 (AP)—Rain fell today over a wide area in the northern Ukraine—wheat and sugar-beet growing [illegible].

There was no report, however, of rains in the southerly areas where the bulk of the wheat crop is raised.

UNRRA officials said last week that drought was threatening disaster to Ukraine wheat.

A Pravda dispatch reported that heavy rains during the last two days had greatly helped wheat and other grain crops in Moldavia.

Move 300,000 DP's, Austria Asks Allies

Vienna, May 24 (AP)—The Austrian Government has asked the Allied Council to remove 300,000 displaced persons now in Austrian territory, stating the displaced persons were not required to work and that many engaged in black-market and other criminal activities.

An Austrian spokesman said his Government had no objection to the quartering in Austria of Jewish refugees who were in transit to Palestine.

Austria Assured of June Food

VIENNA, May 24 (AP). The American and Russian members of the Allied Council for Austria promised the country today 25,000 tons of food next month. The unexpected action will spare the Viennese a diet reduction from 1,000 calories daily to a near-starvation level of 700.

VATICAN-ROMANIA BREAK POSSIBLE

Vatican City, May 24 (A. P.).—A Vatican informant said today that nothing was known officially of a report of an imminent rupture of diplomatic relations with Romania, but added "such a possibility is not excluded."

The Rome [illegible] American, English-language newspaper, quoted a "well informed observer" as declaring that a diplomatic rupture might follow accusations by the Romanian Government that the Holy See's representative in Romania "abused his diplomatic immunity to aid the former Nazi Fascist regime in that country."

The Vatican informant said the possibility was "excluded at the Vatican that the Holy See representative had compromised himself."

The Daily American said strained relations developed after a series of documents concerning the Nuncio were allegedly discovered by the Romanian officials during the recent trial of Ion Antonescu, who last week was sentenced to death.

SPANISH GOVERNOR FINES BUTCHERS

Valencia, Spain, May 24 (A. P.).—Gov. Ramon La Porta tackled the growing meat shortage today by arresting twenty-seven suppliers and telling them they would be fined 10,000 pesetas ($913) a day until they guaranteed daily delivery of 15,000 kilos (33,069 pounds) of meat.

The Governor ordered the price of beef cattle reduced 9 cents a pound last week. Deliveries started dwindling and yesterday only five calves and twenty sheep reached the city slaughter houses. The $913 fines were imposed for Wednesday and for Thursday.

RUSSIANS OUST U. S. REPORTER

Bucharest, May 24 (A. P.).—Reuben Markham, correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, has been ordered by the Soviet military command to leave Romania not later than 4 P. M. Sunday.

The United States member of the Allied Control Commission, Brig.-Gen. Courtland V. R. Schuyler, tried unsuccessfully to have the decision revoked or delayed. Markham apparently will not be permitted to work anywhere in the Russian-controlled Balkans, an area upon which he has long specialized.

Red Army and Leftist Romanian publications asserted that Markham had been hostile to the Red Army, meddled in Romanian politics and had declared in a political speech that war between the United States and Russia was inevitable. He made this statement in reply:

"I never made any speech of any kind at any political meeting anywhere in Romania. I've visited Government meetings as well as opposition meetings, in fact repeatedly made my own requests to visit Government meetings.

"My report on the action of Russian soldiers was made after the most careful investigation on the spot and was based largely on reports by local Government authorities and conformed to reports from other American sources.

ARMY SPLITS AFRICAN UNIT

Headquarters in Cairo Will Be Deactivated on May 31

CAIRO, Egypt, May 24 (AP)—United States Army headquarters announced today that the United States African Theatre headquarters would be deactivated at midnight, May 31.

The area will be divided by a line from Tripoli to Accra, Gold Coast, into a West African district under the jurisdiction of the Army's European theatre and an eastern area, known as the detachment of the United States Army in the Middle East, under control of the War Department.

Both Army and diplomatic sources indicated that agreement was near on disposition to the Egyptian Government of Payne Field and Camp Huckstep, large military installations near Cairo.

Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, theatre commander, left last night to inspect the West African district. He will then leave for Washington to await reassignment.

Arabs Demand Troops Leave

Jerusalem, May 24 (AP)—The powerful Arab Higher Committee today demanded establishment of an "Arab independent State of Palestine," withdrawal of all foreign troops and an immediate end to Jewish immigration.

Rejecting the recommendations of the British-American Committee on Inquiry, the committee asserted Arabs in Palestine "will defend their country with all the means at their disposal."

Jamal el Husseini, committee chairman, declared earlier that Arabs in Syria and Lebanon were "openly training" to aid Arabs in Palestine and that Governments of Arab States were voting money toward a fund to build a defense against Zionism in Palestine.

Three Arab Demands

In a reply to the requests of the United States and British Governments for comment on the Palestine report, the Arab Higher Committee made these three demands:

"Abrogation of the (British) mandate and immediate cessation of Jewish immigration and land sales.

"Establishment of an Arab independent democratic state in Palestine which will be a member of the Arab National League.

"Withdrawal of all foreign troops from Palestine."

The statement, delivered to the American consul-general and to the high commissioner of Palestine for transmission to Washington and London, declared:

"The Arabs in Palestine fully realize that the recommendations of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry are a violation of their natural rights and a breach of all promises and principles proclaimed by the Allies for the freedom of nations.

First Request On Troops

"Therefore, Arabs in Palestine refuse to accept these recommendations in their entirety and will defend their country with all the means at their disposal."

The statement was the first time that Arabs in Palestine have demanded withdrawal of foreign troops.

Dr. Izzat Tannous, secretary general of the committee, said:

"Occupation by foreign troops according to treaty between two equal nations is an entirely different thing, and could possibly be accepted here. But occupation as it is now is a different thing and we are demanding the withdrawal of foreign troops."

The British-American Committee recommended, among other things, that 100,000 European Jews be permitted to enter Palestine this year, and that neither the Jews nor Arabs should govern the country alone.

New Arab Offices Planned

Husseini asserted that in both Syria and Lebanon "there is now a great deal of excitiment and every Arab organization—sports associations, literary associations, the Young Men's Moslem Association, the Moslem Brotherhood—is onenly training to give military aid to the Arabs in Palestine.

"I saw them drilling. I did not see any weapons, but I suppose when the need arises they will find them."

Hussini said also that the governments of the Arab states were voting large sums of money to help build a defense against Zionism in Palestine, and that some of the funds would be used to extend Arab propaganda in America. He said new Arab offices would be opened in New York and Chicago to supplement work now being done by the Washington Arab office.

Arabs See Vital U.S. Interests Jeopardized

Jerusalem, May 24 (AP) — A spokesman for the Arab Office declared today that if the United States continues to support the immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews to Palestine—as recommended by the British-American Inquiry Committee—vital American interests in the Middle East would be "gravely jeopardized."

The statement was issued shortly after the return to Palestine of Jamal Husseini, chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, who has been in Syria. Husseini called a session of the committee for today.

According to word from Trans-Jordan, Prince Emir Abdullah, the king-designate of that neighboring country, has received a cable from President Truman in which the President said it was the view of the United States Government that no fundamental change in the status of Palestine would take place without Arab and Jewish leaders being consulted.

CHIANGS TRAVEL TO MUKDEN BY AIR

Hints Rise That China's Peace May Depend On Trip

Nanking, May 24 (AP)—General-

issimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek flew to Mukden today in General Marshall's personal plane amid hints that peace for warring China might depend on the outcome of their trip.

Government and Communist spokesmen could not agree on whether the Government's recapture of Changchun yesterday had improved or weakened prospects for a peace settlement, but there was a new flurry of negotiations looking toward compromise between the rival factions.

Seizure Called "Regrettable"

"Now we can begin to talk with the Communists," said one high official of the Kuomintang (Government party), who declined to permit use of his name.

The Communists had just notified General Marshall, special mediator, that they were willing to accept in principle a peace plan proposed by the third-party Democratic League on April 29.

This proposal, however, was predicated on both sides staying out of Changchun, and a Communist spokesman said the government's seizure of the Manchurian capital was "regrettable" and had "complicated" the situation.

"The key is not now in our hands," said this spokesman, Tung Pi-wu. "We shall see what Chiang Kai-shek will do."

Might Presage Peace

Tung added that everything hinged on Chiang's return from Mukden. This lent support to speculation that the sudden flight of the Chiangs to Manchuria might presage peace.. It gained significance throught the unusual use of Marshall's plane, and the generalissimo's private conferences at the scene with his top commenders.

The Government had insisted on the return of Changchun before contiuing peace negotiations with the Communists. That condition now has been met, albeit by force, and observers here felt that much history of the future depended on whether the Government armies elected to push on north or await a settlement.

Capture Of Tungfeng Reported

Latest word from the aMnchurian front was announcement that Government troops captured Tungfeng, 130 miles south of Changchun, on Thursday. There was no news that they had advanced north toward Harbin or east in pursuit of the Communists who quit Changchun.

Asked by correspondents whether the Communist retreat after only token resistance in Changchun might have been designed to pave the way for peace, Spokesman Tung replied:

"I have no comment on this point except to say that we do not want to enlarge the civil war to any other part of the country nor do we want to continue civil war in Manchuria endlessly."

Tung added that Chi Yien-ming, secretary-general of Communist headquarters in Nanking, had gone to Shanghai to discuss all phases of the peace proposal with the democratic league, and "we are still looking forward to a settlement of the Manchurian problem.

Basis For Peace Seen; Doubted In Manchuria

Nanking, May 24 (AP)—A high Kuomintang official said today the Government's recapture of Changchun opened the way for resumption of peace negotiations but a Communist spokesman countered, "That complicates the situation."

"Now we can begin to talk with the Communists" regarding peace in Manchuria, said the Kuomintang (National party) official, who demanded anonymity.

Acceptance "In Principle"

Tung Pi-wu, a Nanking Communist leader, said the party's peace negotiation, Gen. Chou En-lai, had delivered to General Marshall Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung's acceptance "in principle" of the minority Democratic League's three-point truce proposal, but added significantly:

"The key is not now in our hands. We shall see what President Chiang Kai-shek will do."

Tung's statement came in the midst of otherwise optimistic developments as the troubled Manchurian situation reached a climax.

Chiang Flies To Mukden

Chiang made a surprise flight to Mukden, possibly on a peace mission, and Secretary-General Chi Yien-ming, of the Communist party in Nanking, flew to Shanghai to discuss the Democratic League's truce plan with league and Youth party officials.

The Communists' withdrawal beyond Changchun without offering more than a taken resistance may satisfy the Government's demands that the city be returned before an armistice in Manchuria could be considered.

The generalissimo's trip, on which he was accompanied by Mme. Chiang and Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, new Minister of National Defense, was made, significantly, in the personal plane of General Marshall, who is trying to effect a truce. Although the official Central News Agency reported Chiang was on an inspection trip, there was speculation that his trip was a prelude to peace.

Confers With Generals

Chiang conferred in Mukden with Gen. Hsung Hsih-hui, director of his Manchurian headquarters; Gen. Tu Li-ming, commander in-chief of the Manchurian garrison, and Hsu-chen, Governor of Liaoning province.

[In Mukden, meantime, Government sources reported that national troops captured Tungfeng, 70 miles east of Szepingkai, yesterday, and also seized Liaoyuan (Chengchiatun), a strategic point 45 miles northwest of Szepingkai.]

Gen. Liao Yueh-hsiang, commander of the Government's new 1st Army, was appointed garrison commander at Changchun while the Government prepared to set up its own government there. The Central News Agency said troops "are restoring order" in that city today.

Mission Not Described

There was no indication what the Communist secretary-general, Chi was prepared to tell the minor-party chiefs in Shanghai in reply to the Democratic League's truce bid.

However, a Communist spokesman here said, "We shall do our best to solve the (whole Manchurian) problem and then we shall do our best to carry out the peace."

Whether Government forces would push beyond Changchun now that that condition for peace talks has been realized may decide the future course of history in the northeast territory.

Food Scarce In Szepingkai

[In Mukden, Government sources said that Szepingkai faces a serious food shortage soon unless supplies are rushed in. They reported that only 20 days' supply is in sight for the city's 110,000 population.

[The Liaopeh provincial government moved back to Szepingkai, the capital, after its recapture by National forces Sunday.]

Approved In Principle"

Only a few hours earlier, Chairman Chang Chun-mai of the Democratic League had announced Communist approval "in principle" of the league's three-point peace proposal. It called for Communist evacuation of Changchun, with Government troops staying out and the Northeastern Political Administrative Council administering affairs of the city until all other questions at issue were settled by negotiation.

Chang quoted this letter from Chairman Mao of the Chinese Communist party:

"Your message has been received. It is the consistent attitude of our party that the Manchurian problem should be peacefully solved. It is most unfortunate that your proposal dated April 29, which Comrade Chou En-lai had promised to take into consideration on behalf of our party, met with the refusal of the opponent party (Government), so that no agreement could be reached."

MORE FOOD FOR INDIA

New Delhi, May 24 (A. P.).—Two top-ranking members of India's food department conceded today that the country's grain situation was somewhat better, due to imports either sighted or en route, but declined to say whether the danger of a breakdown in the Government's rationing program had been averted.

"The critical point will be reached toward the end of July," Sir Jwala Prasad Srivastava, food member of the Viceroy's Cabinet, told a press conference. "We have a little bit more supplies on hand, which will carry us to the end of July."

Sir Robert Hutchings, Food Secretary, said that if no impediments were placed by the Dutch on Indonesian shipping, the first of 500,000 tons of rice should arrive in India beginning in July.

Cellmate Of Tokyo Rose Tried To Kiss M'Arthur

Tokyo, May 24 (AP)—Mary Akiya, the Viennese blond who tried to kiss General MacArthur in "gratitude for the liberation of Japan"—but failed—has wound up in a Sugamo prison cell with Tokyo Rose.

Her six-month sentence had nothing to do with wanting to buss the Allied commander, or with the war. She was convicted, Deputy Provost Marshal Marc Logie explained, of using United States mails, a privilege denied foreigners in military zones.

Mary came to Japan as Mary Dedouch, a dancer and singer, thirteen years ago. She broke into print when she invaded MacArthur's office recently and wanted to kiss him.

Argentina Lifts 'Siege,' Restoring Civil Liberties

By The Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, May 24—The Argentine Government today lifted the nation's 3-year-old state of siege.

The decree lifting the state of siege restores to Argentines their civil liberties, which have been suspended continuously—except for a brief period during the recent Presidential campaign and election—since the military Government seized power June 4, 1943.

With the exception of its occasional lifting for brief periods, the state of siege has been in full effect since a few days after the attack on Pearl Harbor in late 1941.

Brazilian Police Fire On Red Demonstrators

Rio de Janeiro, May 24 (AP)—One person was reported dead and at least 29 others were being treated for wounds today after mounted police fired yesterday into a crowd of several thousand persons gathered for a Communist massmeeting in Largo Carioca plaza.

The meeting had been called, despite a police order forbidding it, to celebrate the first year of legality of the Communist party.

Weapon Worse Than A-Bomb Revealed As Germ Spray

Washington, May 24 (AP)—A germ spray reportedly capable of wiping out large cities and entire crops at a single blow is this country's newest secret weapon "far more deadly than the atomic bomb."

This disclosure leaked out of Congress today after the first bare hint was dropped on the floor of the House yesterday.

Sketchy details of the frightening germ weapons were provided by members of the House Appropriations Committee, who learned of their development behind guarded doors.

Committee Has Details

These members said full details were given the committee during hearings on the Navy's $4,639,718,000 appropriation bill, which the House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate.

There are several of the germ weapons, one member said, adding that they have been developed to the point where they could be used whenever necessary. Also, he said, the United States is the sole possessor of the secrets involved.

"They have developed a weapon that can wipe out all forms of life in a large city," this member declared. "It is a germ proposition and is sprayed from airplanes that can fly high enough while doing it to be reasonably safe from ground fire. It is quick and certain death."

While not familiar with minute details, he said the germs are highly contagious and presumably could be spread by bombs.

Need Not Hit Every Person

"You would not have to drop a germ on every person in a city," he asserted. "One operation would be sufficient, for the effects would spread rapidly."

Another development, this committee member related, would make it possible for planes to fly over the Dakotas, for example, and destroy the entire wheat crop with a single operation, even the seeds in the ground.

"These are frightening things to think of," he commented, "and it is hoped they will never have to be used. Perhaps man will now realize that there can be no winner in a future war and that civilization itself is lost unless we can stop war forever."

Disclosed By Texan

First disclosure that the Navy had developed the new and terrifying weapon came from Representative Albert Thomas (D., Texas), also an Appropriations Committee member, who told the House yesterday during debate on the navy supply bill:

"We have something far more deadly than the atomic bomb today—not tomorrow—and, furthermore, it's in usable shape."

Later Thomas refused to amplify his remark to newsmen, asserting: "I guess I've said too much already."

But he did indicate that Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, head of the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, had provided the details to the committee.

The Navy itself some weeks ago disclosed that it has been conducting germ-warfare research at the University of California. The only official disclosure was that the disease under study is "centuries old and one of the greatest of killers."

Possible Bubonic Plague

There was speculation at the time that this was a reference to bubonic plague.

The secret weapon disclosure far overshadowed interest in the controversy between the House Naval and Appripriations Committees over the size of the Navy.

The naval committee finally withdrew its opposition to reductions in the Navy budget upon assurance from Appropriations Committee members that the postwar fleet will not be 114 ships short of the 1,079-ship goal set by the House last year.

While the bill approved by the House provides funds for a fleet of 965 ships, 80 additional vessels may be retained by the Navy if its Board of Review believes them necessary. Of the remaining 34 in question, 28 still are under construction and six are to be used as targets in the atomic-bomb test.

WORLD GRAIN CROP WILL RISE IN '46-'47

But Some Decline in Meats, Milk, Fats for That Season Predicted in Wide Survey

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A considerable increase in world production of cereal and food crops is being forecast by American and international food agencies for the 1946-47 season, but some decline in over-all output of meats, milk and fats is expected.

Some recovery in agricultural production appears likely in areas of Europe which last year produced sub-normal amounts because of difficulties growing out of the war.

All in all, the total world production of food is expected to be far short of the quantity needed to provide satisfactory dietary levels for millions of persons.

This early-season forecast of production and possible shortages is based upon the rather scanty amount of information the Agriculture Department's office of Foreign Agricultural Relations has been able to obtain from foreign sources, and the data the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization has obtained from member Governments.

Meager information is available on planting plans in many countries because they have not developed systems of periodical forecasting such as exist in the United States and Canada. For information on crops in many countries, the OFAR is dependent upon whatever estimates American Agricultural attachés are able to make in countries to which they have been assigned.

The outlook by commodities for which any appreciable amount of information is available follows:

Wheat

Production is expected to exceed last season's 5,200,000,000 bushels, but not to reach the 5,630,000,000 total harvested in 1944. It may be several years before production reaches the pre-war (1935-39) average of 6,000,000,000 bushels.

Production in the "Big Four" surplus countries—the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia—now is indicated to total about the same as last season, but aggregate production elsewhere is expected to be somewhat larger.

The Food and Agriculture Organization now expects production in Continental Europe (exclusive of Soviet Russia for which little official information is available) to be about 1,200,000,000 bushels, compared with an estimated 1,035,000,000 harvested last year and with the pre-war average of 1,626,000,000.

The United States crop, on the basis of latest official forecasts, is expected to total about 1,000,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,123,000,000 last year and 716,000,000 for the pre-war average. The FAO forecasts the Canadian crop at 428,000,000 bushels compared with 306,000,000 last year and with the pre-war average of 263,000,000.

Feed Grains

No forecasts on production of these grains are available yet, except that some increases are expected in countries where output has been seriously impaired in recent years by war conditions.

The FAO states that indigenous supplies of coarse grain likely to be available for livestock feed in Europe will be less than 60 per cent of the total supplies, including imports, utilized under pre-war conditions.

In the United States, another 3,000,000,000-bushel corn crop is being forecast. Likewise, total production of feed grains is expected to be as large, if not larger, than last year. However, little if any will be available for export because of feed shortages in this country.

The FAO says that, assuming normal weather, the indicated acreages for the 1946-47 season should result in a part recovery in Far Eastern crops from the low levels of 1945-46, but that total production in this whole area will remain much below pre-war.

The FAO now predicts a world production of rice for the 1946-47 season at 135,000,000 tons compared with 126,000,000 last season and with the pre-war average of 150,000,000.

Meats

The world production and supply outlook for the 1946-47 season remains "bleak," the FAO reports, in view of the fact that North American production is headed downward and a world shortage of grains prevents expansion in most other areas. It states that any slight increase which might result in Southern Hemisphere exports—and that assumes continued rationing in that area—will be more than offset by the decline in North American production.

The FAO now estimates world production of meats—beef, pork, lamb, mutton, offal, poultry, rabbits, etc.—at 23,200,000 metric tons, or about 51,000,000,000 pounds, for the 1946-47 season. Production in the 1945-46 season was estimated at 24,100,000 tons, or about 52,800,000,000 pounds, while production in the pre-war period averaged about 24,900,000 tons, or about 55,780,000,000 pounds.

Hogs

World hog numbers at the beginning of 1946 totaled about 249,000,000 head, compared with about 254,000,000 in 1945, the record of 297,000,000 in 1940, and the pre-war average of 286,000,000. Because of the critical shortage of grain, a further decline in hog numbers is forecast by both the FAO and the OFAR this year.

Cattle

Preliminary reports indicate that cattle numbers decreased last year in North America and Europe, exclusive of Soviet Russia, where there was said to have been an increase.

World cattle numbers at the beginning of 1946 are estimated at 705,700,000 head, compared with 710,000,000 in 1945, and 723,000,000 for the pre-war average.

The OFAR says some increase in cattle numbers is expected this year in countries where declines occurred during the war. Decreases are likely, however, in North America and Germany.

Milk and Milk Products

Milk production for all countries for which comprehensive data are available is expected by the FAO to total between 142,000,000 and 147,000,000 metric tons, or between 312,000,000,000 and 323,000,000,000 pounds, in the 1946-47 season. Production in these countries, which does not include Soviet Russia, India, China and some other countries, averaged 169,000,000 tons, or 372,000,000,000 pounds, in the pre-war period. Production in the 1945-46 season was estimated at 145,000,000 tons, or 139,000,000,000 pounds.

Fats and Oils (Including Butter and Inedible Fats)

The FAO says that it expects production of fats and oils in the 1946-47 season to total between 9,700,000 and 9,800,000 metric tons, or between 21,340,000,000 and 21,780,000,000 pounds.

Production in the 1945-46 season was estimated at about 9,050,000 tons, or 19,910,000,000 pounds. Production in the pre-war period averaged 12,750,000 tons, or 28,050,000,000 pounds.

The FAO says the world fats shortage, which developed after Pearl Harbor and became even more acute after the liberation of Europe arises from (1) a heavy decline (1,600,000 tons, or 40 per cent) in European production, as compared with pre-war and (2) the fact that only a trickle of supplies is as yet coming from the Pacific and North China areas, which formerly provided nearly 40 per cent of world exports.

Sugar

The FAO forecasts production in the 1946-47 season to total 18,100,000 short tons of 2,000 pounds, compared with an estimated production of 14,650,000 in the 1945-46 season, and 21,000,000 in the pre-war period. It says there is little chance of any new production of sugar cane commencing in the Far Eastern exporting countries until the season of 1948-49.

"The world outlook therefore remains uncertain," the FAO says, "largely because of the Far Eastern position, but there are grounds for believing that, assuming favorable weather, conditions will improve when the new beet and cane crops are available from 1947 onwards."

Eggs

Total production in North America, Continental Europe and Australia last year has been estimated at about 66,922,000,000 eggs, compared with an average of 57,584,000,000 in the pre-war period. No forecasts on 1946 production are available, but the world-wide shortage of grains may adversely affect output.

Citrus Fruits

Production in the thirty-six major producing countries of the world has been estimated at 335,000,000 boxes for the 1945-46 season, compared with 320,000,000 in the previous season and the pre-war average of 266,000,000. While no forecasts are available, the food agencies expect production during the coming season to be a little larger, providing weather conditions are favorable.

Potatoes

World production in the 1945-46 season has been tentatively estimated at 6,459,000,000 bushels, compared with 7,298,000,000 in 1944-45 and the pre-war average of 8,127,000,000. Because of more favorable production conditions in Europe, world production in the 1946-47 season is expected to be somewhat larger, providing weather conditions are normal.

Peanuts

World production in the 1945-46 season has been estimated at 19,081,000,000 pounds, a decrease of 6 per cent from the 1944-45 output, but an increase of 6 per cent over the pre-war level of production.

The OFAR says that prospects are uncertain for production in the 1946-47 season. It adds, however, that in view of the urgent demand for vegetable fats, world-wide production will probably be stimulated for the next year or two.

Raisins

World production for the 1946-46 season has been estimated at 449,800 shorts tons, compared with 527,400 in the 1944-45 season and a pre-war average of 459,000 tons.

The OFAR says the world outlook for the 1946-47 season is more encouraging in some respects than during the past six seasons.

Co-Operation As Condition Of Russ Loan Is Urged

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Russia's renewed overtures for a $1,000,000,000 loan from the United States stirred congressional demands today that Moscow first guarantee Soviet co-operation in world economic affairs.

Chairman Spence (D., Ky.) of the House Banking Committee said: "We should certainly insist upon Russia joining the Bretton Woods world bank and fund."

The U.S.S.R. has failed thus far to join in the Bretton Woods organization for economic collaboration, and has held aloof from all kindred postwar endeavors.

Acceptable If She Co-Operates

Representative Crawford, of Michigan, a Republican member of the Banking Committee, likewise said "there should be no loan unless Russia agrees to co-operate." He added, however, there would be no ground to refuse the credit if Moscow joined with this country and Britain in international co-operation.

Charles S. Dewey, assistant treasury secretary in the Coolidge administration, who appeared before the committee to support the $3,750,000,000 British loan, said a Russian loan "is all right if they will raise the iron curtain and do business on a basis of world competitive trade practices and permit the same freedom of travel and investigation that the United States accords to members of the Soviet Government, private citizens and the Soviet press."

State Dept. View

At the State Department, meanwhile, the apparent tendency was to regard any Soviet loan as a remote proposition. It was pointed out that no understanding has even been sighted as to what the credit negotiations might include.

Moscow made its first inquiries about a loan late last summer, but the note got mislaid in the files of the Foreign Economic Administration until last December. A reply was dispatched as soon as the note was found, and it was in belated answer to this that the Soviets sent their current note, expressing renewed interest in American financial aid.

U.S. Suggestions Not Met

An American official said this Government will reply "promptly" to the latest Russian note. But he made it plain that the note had not met American suggestions as to what subjects should be included in any loan discussions.

In addition to American desires for U.S.S.R. participation in Bretton Woods, there was no indication that this Government would modify previous insistence that economic conditions in eastern Europe be examined thoroughly as part of the loan talks—for example, the exclusive "treaties of collaboration" Russia has concluded with Hungary and Romania.

Senators Vote Amendment to Bill on O. P. A.

Special Board Would Lift Controls and Anderson Would Rule Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—A fifteen-page amendment setting out the manner in which price controls shall be lifted from commodities as supply begins to balance demand was approved 12 to 5 by the Senate Banking Committee late today.

The amendment hooks onto legislation extending the price-control law until June 30, 1947.

With only minor changes, it follows the general decontrol principles agreed upon by the committee Tuesday. A subcommittee worked three days drafting the legal language.

The amendment gives the Secretary of Agriculture overriding authority over the Price Administrator with regard to price controls on agricultural products. The administrator could maintain price ceilings only on items which the secretary certified to be in short supply, and the secretary could recommend adjustments when he considered the ceiling so low as to impede necessary production.

The administrator would be instructed to lift controls by next Dec. 31 from all non-agricultural products "not important in relation to business costs or living costs."

The amendment also proposes establishment of a price decontrol board, composed of three members, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, each of whom would be paid $12,000 a year. The board would make the final decision on appeals filed by industry advisory committees against adverse rulings, by the Price Administrator or Secretary of Agriculture, on petitions to lift controls on specific items.

One section of the bill forbids imposition of price ceilings on any commodity not under control May 1, 1946. Senator Ernest McFarland, Democrat, of Arizona, said this would prevent cotton from being brought under price control.

The amendment sets forth a declaration of policy on decontrol, which says the O. P. A. and other governmental agencies shall use their price, subsidy and other powers to promote the earliest practicable balance between supply and demand.

On or before April 1, 1947, the President would be asked to recommend to Congress what commodities, if any, should be retained under control and what agencies should be given power over them upon the expiration of the O. P. A. June 30, 1947.

The start today of Government requisitioning to obtain 250,000,000 bushels of wheat from the 1946 crop for shipment to shortage areas abroad.

The granting to some farmers of additional time to get the 30-cent-a-bushel bonus on wheat for export. Those who can't sell by the May 25 deadline because of crammed country elevators may sign sales contracts by that date, deliver the wheat later, and still get the bonus.

Restaurant Provision

A request by President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee that all public eating places serve bread and all other wheat foods only when customers specifically ask for them.

Beyond the immediate emergency, the food conference is confronted with an estimate that the world will be 10,000,000 tons short of wheat next year. Definite recommendations for making up the shortage and leaving some wheat over for safety are being discussed in committee.

In addition to the proposal to restrict alcoholic beverage making—which produced no immediate estimate of the actual grain saving, the committee has heard that the world could save:

Six to seven million tons of wheat by shifting to human consumption grain ordinarily fed to livestock.

20 P.C. Consumption Drop

Four and a half million tons by persuading the United States, Britain, Canada, Australia and Argentina to lower wheat consumption twenty per cent below 1945 levels.

Three million tons by "stretching" grain supplies—by using more of the wheat kernel for flour, for instance.

A million tons by reducing losses in storage from disease and pests.

Whatever recommendations are adopted, conference officials said it was unlikely that they would be accompanied by any proposals for strong-arm enforcement measures.

But there might be some warning that a nation's failure to make the best use of its resources for combating famine would be taken into account when its food allocation is set.

World-Wide Beer-Grain Slash May Be Asked

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The International Food Conference appeared headed today toward a formal recommendation that all countries cut out or sharply reduce the use of grain in beer and whisky making to save cereals for hungry people.

The step—patterned after action already taken in this country—has been discussed in committee. A French delegate declared that "every time you drink a glass of beer you shorten someone's life an hour."

U.S. Measures Overlapped

The forecast by a high conference official of action to restrict production of alcoholic beverages still further overlapped these American measures to get more grain for lands plagued by famine:

Chiang Buys Surplus C-54

Four-Engined Transport Goes for $90,000 Cash

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—The War Assets Administration announced today the sale of a surplus four-engined transport airplane to the Chinese government for use by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

A spokesman for the agency said the sale price was $90,000 "cash on the barrelhead." The plane is a Douglas C-54-D, with a capacity of about fifty-five persons.

The W. A. A. said delivery to representatives of the Chinese government was arranged for today in Baltimore.

Inquiry Asked in W.S.A. $5,000,000,000 Outlay

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—A Congressional investigation of accounting practices of the War Shipping Administration has been suggested by two House Republicans.

Representative Walter C. Ploeser, Republican, of Missouri, told the House the agency spent $5,000,000,000 and "simply did not keep books" on its operations. Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth, Republican, of Massachusetts, said an investigation should be undertaken immediately, and predicted it would disclose a scandal.

Representative Schuyler Otis Bland, Democrat, of Virginia, chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, defended Vice-Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the W. S. A., asserting that he was unable to obtain sufficient accountants.

No More Paper Controls

Small Says War-Time Curbs on Industry Are Off For Good

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small announced today that war-time controls over the paper industry will not be reinstated.

Reporting increased paper production this year, Mr. Small said that "if this production rate is maintained . . . we can expect the supply and demand relationship to become normal.

He made his statement in reply to a request by James F. Newcomb, president of the Printing Industry of America, Inc., that controls be reinstated "to assure equitable distribution" among various groups of paper users.

'REPRIMAND' FOR ADMIRAL

Giffen and Others Are Named in San Juan Supplies Loss

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating Committee released today a report on the theft or loss of some $30,000 worth of clocks, pressure cookers and other articles from Navy patrol bomber planes, stating that "administrative disciplinary action" had been taken against Vice Admiral Robert C. Giffen and four other officers in charge of the air station at San Juan, Puerto Rico, between May and October last year.

The report said that Admiral Giffen received "a severe reprimand." George Meader, committee counsel, said the "reprimand" for Admiral Giffen was the first of its kind in naval history against so high ranking an officer.

Secretary Forrestal thanked the Senate committee for apprising the Navy of the San Juan case and also reported that he had sent "a severe reprimand" to Capt Frank E. Weld, former commanding officer of the San Juan Naval Air Station; letters of reprimand to Lieut. Comdr. E. W. Paynter and Lieut. Clinton W. Kneessi, former supply officers there, and a letter of admonition to Comdr Nicholas M. Rovinski.

Family Budget Over 50% Above Pre-War Mark

Bureau of Labor Statistics Finds 3% Rise in Year

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—Most of the things that make up the average family budget now cost more than 50 per cent more than they did the day war started in Europe, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

"Food, clothing and house furnishings costs, which represent 57 per cent of the budget for wage earners and moderate income workers, in large cities, are now a little over 50 per cent higher than in August, 1939," the bureau declared in a report reviewing the steady climb in retail costs.

The consumers price index now stands at 130.9 per cent of the 1935-'39 average and 3 per cent above the average a year ago.

Food prices increased 1.1 per cent from mid-March to mid-April, with higher prices in all major groups.

A reduction in size of bread loaves, requested by the famine committee, caused an increase of 4.8 per cent in the average price for a pound of bread, the report noted.

SURPLUS SALES UNDER INQUIRY

House Committee Promises Thorough Airing.

Washington, May 24 (A. P.).—The new five-member House special committee to investigate war surplus property disposal today promised a thorough airing of present policies.

After an organizational meeting yesterday the three Democratic members joined in issuing one statement on committee plans while the two Republican members issued another.

Chairman Slaughter (D.-Mo.), Representative Davis (D.-Tenn.) and Representative Rooney (D.-N. Y.) said they proposed to inquire into accounting records of the War Assets Administration, study how priorities are used in getting surplus property, and review the general policy under which surplus plants are sold or leased.

Representative Rizley (R.-Okla.) and Representative Robertson (R.-N. D.) said in another statement:

"If WAA is synonymous with 'Wasted American Assets,' as has been strongly indicated by various charges made by members of the Congress and reports in the press as well as hundreds of complaints from veterans and others we personally have received, then the persons responsible for such a scandalous situation should be made known and dealt with in accordance with their guilt."

They said they will "do all in our power to uncover the facts" and asserted "favoritism and politics have no rightful place in the administration of war surplus property, which was paid for and actually belongs to all the American people."

Both statements estimated the value of war surplus property at more than $100,000,000,000.

Atomic Researchers Exposed, Suffer Radiation Effects

Los Alamos, N.M., May 24 (AP)—Eight members of the Los Alamos atomic bomb laboratory staff were exposed to radiation, one with possibly serious effects, in an accident during work with fissionable material last Tuesday, Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, project director, announced today.

Details had been withheld pending notification of next of kin by the men involved.

Dr. Bradbury said the accident was not accompanied by an explosion.

Exposure May Be Serious

Possibly seriously exposed to radiation was Dr. Louis Slotin, 35, scientist. The laboratory said he "dispersed the fissionable material at the moment of the accident, to prevent greater inojury to fellow-scientists participating in the operation. Dr. Slotin's quick action averted serious consequences to other members of the group."

Dr. Slotin, a native of Winnipeg, Canada, came here from Oak Ridge, Tenn., in December, 1944. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Slotin, live in Winnipeg.

Others were exposed in varying degrees. All are being treated and are expected to be released from the United States Engineer Hospital here after observation.

A full investigation is being carried out to determine the cause of the accident, Dr. Bradbury said.

Others Injured

Others injured were:

Marion Edward Cieslicki, 23, scientist, Pittsburgh, son of Mrs. Peter Cieslicki, Pittsburgh.

Pfc. Patrick J. Cleary, 20, of the United States Army's Special Engineer Detachment, New York city.

Dr. Alvin Cushman Graves, 37, scientist, Washington, son of Mrs. Clara E. Graves, Washington. Dr. Graves's wife and child live here.

S. Allan Kline, 26, scientist, Chicago, Ill., son of Mrs. June K. Kline of California.

Theodore Perlman, 23, engineer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Perlman, New Orleans.

Indiana Scientist In Group

Dr. Raemer E. Schreiber, 36, scientist, La Fayette, Ind., son of Mrs. Michael Schreiber, McMinnville, Ore.

Dwight Smith Young, 54, scientist, Oswego, Ill., whose wife, Mrs. Esther S. Young and mother, Mrs. Lou Cyrus Young, live in Oswego.

Bradbury identified three of the men, Drs. Slotin, Graves and Schreiber, as key scientists of the laboratory.

Dr. Bradbury said the laboratory accident would not affect the projected Bikini tests.

Some Injured In Bomb Lab

Los Alamos, N.M., May 24 (AP)—The Los Alamos atomic-bomb laboratory last night announced that "a small number of persons were injured, one of them possibly seriously" in an accident at the laboratory Tuesday.

The project security officer said he could give no details, but that the accident was neither an explosion nor a fire.

Dr. M. E. Bradbury, project director, and Maj. Gen. Leslie B. Groves, head of the Manhattan Engineers, made this announcement:

"A laboratory accident occurred Tuesday afternoon in which a small number of persons were injured, one of them possibly seriously. The seriousness of the injury to these persons varies considerably, but is not yet determined. All next of kin of those seriously injured have been notified. A thorough investigation of the causes of the accident is under way."

Fight On Browder Pushed By Reds

New York, May 24 (AP)—The Daily Worker published a statement today by William Z. Foster in behalf of the National Committee of the Communist party saying the visit to Moscow of former party national Chairman Earl Browder could not "in any way affect the policies of the Communist party of the United States."

"The Communist party will continue to intensify the struggle against Browderism," the statement said.

To Combat Spread

"Any attempt to spread Browderism in the party will be ruthlessly combatted. The fight to carry out this policy requires a strong and united Communist party . . . that can and must be built on the basis of a continuing and relentless struggle against Browderism in accordance wtih the present political line of the Communist party."

The National Committee of the party announced last February 13 that Browder had been expelled from the party because he had "deserted Communist duties and responsibilities" and "for betraying the principles of Marxism—Leninism and deserting to the side of the class enemy—American monopoly capital."

U.N. MILITARY STAFF (350)
BY TAYLOR HENRY

NEW YORK, MAY 24-(AP)-GEN MARTIAL VALIN OF THE FRENCH AIRFORCE, PRESIDENT OFNTHE UNITED NATIONS MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE, SAID TODAY THE MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE DESIGNED TO BECOME A GENERAL STAFF OF THE WORLD, WERE IN UNANIMOUS AGREEMENT ON ALL PROBLEMS OF ENFORCING WORLD SECURITY WHICH THEY HAD DISCUSSED.

GEN. VALIN, WHO PRESIDES OVER THE SESSIONS OF THE MILITARY DELEGATES FROM RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN, THE UNITED STATES, CHINA AND FRANCE, DECLARED THE CLOSEST HARMONY PREVAILED IN THEIR EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH AN INTERNATIONAL DEFENSE FORCE WHICH WOULD BE SO STRONG NO NATION WOULD DARE TO GO TO WAR.

UNTIL NOW, HE EXPLAINED, DISCUSSIONS HAVE CENTERED ON THE COMMITTEE'S RELATIONS WITH THE U.N. SECRETARIAT IN CASE IT BECOMES NECESSARY TO TAKE ACTION TO PREVENT OR STOP WAR.

"PRELIMINARY DISCUSSIONS ARE ALREADY UNDERWAY, HOWEVER," HE SAID, "ON THE TECHNICAL MEANS OF ORGANIZING A WORLD ARMY. OBVIOUSLY THESE ARE KEPT CLOSELY SECRET AND THUS FAR HAVE TAKEN PLACE ONLY BETWEEN INDIVIDUAL DELEGATIONS."

GEN. VALIN SAID THE MILITARY EXPERTS VOTED ONLY ON QUESTIONS OF PROCEDURE.

EMPHASIZING WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS THE "EXTRAORDINARY" ATMOSPHERE OF HARMONY AROUND THE OVAL COUNCIL TABLE, GEN. VALIN SAID:

"THE MILITARY STAFF MEMBERS ARE MORE THAN ALLIES; THEY ARE SINCERE FRIENDS DETERMINED TO SUCCEED IN THE GREAT TASK OF MAINTAINING THE PEACE."

GEN. GEORGE KENNEY IS HEAD OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION, ADM. SIR HENRY MOORE OF THE UNITED KINGDOM, LT. GEN. A. F. VASILIEV OF THE RUSSIAN, AND GEN. SHANG CHEN OF THE CHINESE.

THE MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE WAS SET UP TO ACT FOR THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN MILITARY MATTERS WHERE THE COUNCIL IS EMPOWERED TO TAKE MEASURES INVOLVING THE USE OF ARMED FORCE TO GIVE EFFECT TO ITS DECISIONS BY "DEMONSTRATIONS, BLOCKADE AND OTHER OPERATIONS BY AIR, SEA OR LAND FORCES OF MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

LT. GEN. PIERRE BILLOTTE, THE FRENCH GROUND FORCES DELEGATE, EMPHASIZED THAT "THE AIM OF THE MILITARY COMMITTEE IS TO ESTABLISH A SYSTEM OF COLLECTIVE SECURITY SO STRONG THAT IT WILL ELIMINATE ALL DANGER OF WAR."

GEN. BILLOTTE, OUTLINED THREE STAGES THROUGH WHICH THE STAFF COMMITTEE HOPED TO DEVELOP.

1. THE POLICE STAGE DURING WHICH A PUNITIVE FORCE WOULD BE MAINTAINED STRONG ENOUGH TO PREVENT AGGRESSION OR TO PUT IT DOWN IF ANY POWER SHOULD RESORT TO ARMS.

2. THE STAGE OF DIMINISHING ARMAMENTS DURING WHICH THE FORCE OF THE UNITED NATIONS WOULD HAVE BECOME SO EVIDENT THE POWERS WOULD BE WILLING TO REDUCE THEIR ARMS.

3. THE TOTAL DISARMAMENT STAGE WHEN IDEA OF RECIPROCAL CONTROL HAD BECOME SO WIDELY ACCEPTED THE POWERS WOULD BE WILLING TO ENTRUST THEIR DEFENSE TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

NIGHT LEAD EGYPTIAN
BY TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, MAY 24-(AP)-WINSTON CHURCHILL TODAY ASSAILED THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S DECISION TO WITHDRAW BRITISH TROOPS FROM EGYPT AS CUTTING THE EMPIRE'S LIFELINE, BUT FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN DECLARED THE DECISION WAS BASED ON THE "GREAT HOPE" THAT A REGIONAL DEFENSE GROUP UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS WOULD TAKE THEIR PLACE.

IN A STORMY DEBATE WITH CHURCHILL IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS BEVIN ASSERTED "I AM PREPARED TO TRUST RATHER THAN TO SHOOT. I DO NOT THINK A FUEHRER MENTALITY SUITS TODAY."

CHURCHILL DECLARED THAT BRITISH EFFORTS TO FIND OTHER BASES TO SUBSTITUTE FOR EGYPT WOULD BRING COMPLAINTS OF IMPERIALISM "AND RUSSIA WOULD RENEW AND REINFORCE HER DEMANDS FOR A BASE OR BASES IN THE MEDITERRANEAN."

SUCH A POLICY, HE ADDED, WOULD SERIOUSLY PREJUDICE "THE HOPE OF GAINING THE AID OF AMERICA IN THE PALESTINE QUESTION."

HE SAID ESTABLISHMENT OF BASES IN PALESTINE OR CIRENAICA OR BOTH WOULD NOT BE EFFECTIVE IN PROTECTING THE SUEZ CANAL, AND THAT USE OF PALESTINE "AS A JUMPING OFF GROUNDS FOR REOCCUPATION OF THE SUEZ CANAL ZONE IN AN EMERGENCY WOULD LEAVE OURSELVES WITHOUT AMERICAN AID, AND WOULD LEAVE US WITH THE MOST PROFITLESS TASK THAT CAN BE IMAGINED."

BEVIN WOUND UP THE DEBATE WITH THE STATEMENT THAT ARGUMENTS AGAINST THE EVACUATION "WERE WEIGHED AGAINST THE GREAT HOPE I HAVE GOT OF SEEING THE MIDDLE EAST WORKING X X X IN A GREAT COMRADESHIP WITH THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE REST OF THE COMMONWEALTH."

ULTIMATELY, HE SAID, HE HOPED THIS COMRADESHIP WOULD EMBRACE "REGIONAL DEFENSE, AS PROVIDED WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS."

CHURCHILL PROPOSED DELAYING ANY MOVES IN EGYPT FOR FIVE OR SIX YEARS "IN THE HOPE THAT THE UNITED NATIONS WILL GROW UP AND BECOME AN ORGANIZATION WHICH WOULD PUT SO MANY OF THESE STRATEGIC DANGERS AND NIGHTMARES BACK INTO THE LIMBO OF THE VANISHED PAST."

BUT BEVIN, DECLINING TO ACCEPT ANY PROPOSAL FROM THE LEADER OF THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION, REPLIED:

"I CAME TO THIS DECISION WITH MY EYES OPEN AND WITH DELIBERATION AND I STAND BY IT. I MAKE NO APOLOGY FOR IT."

BEVIN SAID IT WAS BETTER TO BEGIN THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH EGYPT FOR REVISION OF THE 1936 ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY WITH A PROPOSAL OF EVACUATION "FROM OURSELVES, AND NOT BE FORCED TO IT BY DISORDERS IN THE STREET AND HAVE THIS THING DRAGGED OUT OF US.

HE ADDED THAT "I THINK THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY TO HOLD THE ASSOCIATION OF THE ARAB COUNTRIES WITH US, AND THAT IS ON THE BASIS OF FRIENDSHIP. I DO NOT THINK THAT MERE FORCE CAN DO IT. OUR PRESTIGE IS HIGHER IN THE MOSLEM WORLD TODAY THAN IT HAS BEEN FOR MANY YEARS."

"the government of Yugoslavia maintains its first position, which is the only correct one, that the defendant is competent to name witnesses for his defense and that only the court is competent to decide which of the witnesses to call for hearing. The demand in this last American note 'to make possible evidence by those who so wish' is completely out of place and never heard of in any court in the world.' "

Batavia, Java, May 24---(AP)---Sutan Sjahrir, premier of the unrecognized Indonesian government, declared today that the latest Dutch proposals presented by Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook for solution of the Indonesian problem were "a definite step backward."

MAY 25 1946

Sjahrir held a press conference upon his return from Jogjakarta in Central Java where he conferred with the Indonesian cabinet, President Soekarno and vice-president Mohammed Hatta.

Van Mook's proposals, presented as the "final" Dutch offer after the acting governor general's return from The Hague, were a retrogression as compared to "what was discussed during the presence in Batavia of Clark Kerr when the republic's de facto authority over Sumatra was acknowledged," Sjahrir declared.

Sir Archibald clark Kerr (now Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador to Washington) was then a special envoy to the Indies.

Shairir Sjahrir also disclosed that a shakeup in his cabinet is imminent.

(Van Mook arrived in Singapore today to confer with Lord Killearn, British special commissioner for Southeast Asia, Singapore dispatches said. Lord Killearn shortly will take over many of the duties of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten who is returning to England. It was believed Van Mook wished to discuss complete withdrawal of British troops from Java, many thousands of whom already have left.)

TWO HOURS LATER, YOSHIDA ECHOED HIS EMPEROR'S WORDS THAT JAPAN MUST ADOPT A "SELF HELP" POLICY. YOSHIDA ADDED, IN AN 18-MINUTE PRESS CONFERENCE, THAT HE HAD PICKED THE BEST MAN AVAILABLE FOR THE FOOD JOB, HIRO WADA, AS MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE.

WADA PREPARED TO PRESENT TO THE NEW CABINET TOMORROW A PLAN--DETAILS UNANNOUNCED--TO EASE THE SITUATION. PREVIOUSLY, WADA TOLD THE JAPANESE PRESS HE THOUGHT THE PEOPLE SHOULD HAVE MORE CONTROL OVER PRESENTLY INADEQUATE RATIONING MACHINERY.

ALONG WITH THEIR SELF HELP ADMONITIONS, HOWEVER, BOTH THE EMPEROR AND THE PREMIER EXPRESSED HOPE THE ALLIES WOULD HAVE "A GOOD UNDERSTANDING" OF JAPAN'S FOOD PROBLEMS. YOSHIDA INDICATED HE EXPECTED AN ALLIED FOOD ALLOCATION AND POINTED OUT THAT JAPAN NORMALLY IMPORTED FOODSTUFFS, SO THERE WERE CERTAIN TO BE SHORTAGES IN HOME PRODUCTION NOW.

IN A BRIEF RECORDED MESSAGE, BROADCAST THREE TIMES BETWEEN NOON AND 9 P.M. TO GIVE EVERY JAPANESE AN OPPORTUNITY TO HEAR IT, HIROHITO SAID THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE IMMEDIATE STEPS TO COPE WITH THE INCREASINGLY CRITICAL FOOD PROBLEM.

"BUT AT THE SAME TIME," HE ADDED, "THE ENTIRE NATION, I BELIEVE, SHOULD BE PREPARED TO SHARE PRIVATIONS AND HARDSHIPS AND PRACTICE MUTUAL AID SO AS TO PULL THROUGH THE PRESENT STRAIT."

THE EMPEROR OFFERED NO EXPLICIT PROGRAM, OR HOPE FOR EARLY ALLEVIATION OF CONDITIONS.

YOSHIDA, WHEN ASKED WHY ARRANGEMENTS HAD BEEN MADE FOR DISTRIBUTION OF ONLY 300,000 TONS OF RICE WHEREAS A HARVEST OF 2,000,000 TONS WAS FORECAST, REPLIED THAT DISTRIBUTION IS WADA'S JOB.

OF JAPAN'S OTHER PROBLEMS, HE SAID:

INFLATION--THE GOVERNMENT PROBABLY WILL HAVE TO ISSUE FURTHER REGULATIONS TO CONTROL CURRENCY.

BLACK MARKETS--THE GOVERNMENT HOPES TO CURTAIL THEM BY INCREASING PRODUCTION, IMPROVING DISTRIBUTION AND "SPONTANEOUS COOPERATION OF THE PEOPLE."

STRIKES--THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE "APPROPRIATE STEPS" TO CURB THEM.

WAR INDEMNITIES--"TO A CERTAIN EXTENT, WAR INDEMNITIES HAVE TO BE PAID." HE DID NOT ELABORATE.

WITH VIRTUALLY ALL COUNTRIES RUNNING SHORT ON NEWSPRINT, THERE IS A GENERAL SCRAMBLE FOR THE CANADIAN SUPPLY, LARGEST IN THE WORLD. THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT OF PREMIER MAURICE DUPLESSIS IS KNOWN TO HAVE ENTERED INTO NEGOTIATIONS WHICH HAVE BEEN UNDER WAY FOR SEVERAL MONTHS BETWEEN THE FRENCH SUPPLY COUNCIL AND THE NEWSPRINT MANUFACTURERS, WHO ARE NOW SELLING ABROAD DIRECTLY WITHOUT THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT ALLOCATION CONTROLS WHICH WERE ENFORCED DURING THE WAR.

FRANCE BEFORE THE WAR OBTAINED MOST OF HER NEWSPRINT FROM HER OWN INDUSTRY AND FROM SCANDINAVIA, BUT SINCE THE OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES HAS HAD TO TURN TO CANADA. IN 1945 FRANCE RECEIVED PERHAPS THE MAJOR PART OF AN ALLOCATION OF 59,000 TONS SENT BY THE ALLIES FROM CANADA TO THE LIBERATED AREAS.

AT THE OPENING OF NEGOTIATIONS EARLY THIS YEAR FOR THE 1946 SUPPLY THE FRENCH ASKED FOR 150,000 TONS, THEN CUT THEIR REQUEST TO 40,000. DISCUSSIONS ARE STILL GOING ON, WITH THE CANADIAN INDUSTRY WONDERING WHETHER IT CAN SCRAPE UP MORE THAN 20,000 TONS FOR FRANCE.

AN INDIAN MISSION HEADED BY PUBLISHERS DEVADAS GANDHI, SON OF MOHANDAS K. GANDHI, AND RAMNATH GOENKA LEFT MONTREAL TODAY AFTER NEGOTIATIONS IN WHICH THEY ARE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE BEEN PROMISED 20,300 SHORT TONS.

MAY 25 1946

B101 (Q) (CP AND AGENCIES OUT)

GANDHI, ON HIS WAY HOME VIA NEW YORK, SAID THAT NEGOTIATIONS WERE STILL IN PROGRESS. THE INDUSTRY IS UNDERSTOOD TO FEEL THAT THE 20,300 SHORT TONS--AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO THAT SUPPLIED LAST YEAR--IS ALL THAT CAN BE SHARED FOR 1946 AS WELL. INDIA, LIKE FRANCE, RECEIVED VIRTUALLY NO NEWSPRINT FROM CANADA BEFORE THE WAR.

THE CANADIAN NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY, IN THE FACE OF THE GRAVE WORLD WIDE SHORTAGE HAS TO DECIDE HOWMUCH OF ITS PRODUCT WILL GO TO TRADITIONAL CUSTOMERS, OF WHICH THE UNITED STATES BY FAR THE GREATEST, AND NEW CUSTOMERS WHO MAY OR MAY NOT REMAIN BUYERS AFTER THE SHORTAGE IS ENDED.

1945

CHINA, THE NETHERLANDS AND GREECE ARE ALSO ACTIVELY NEGOTIATING FOR CANADIAN NEWSPRINT, AND NEARLY EVERY OTHER COUNTRY COULD USE ALL IT COULD GET HERE.

U.N. ECONOMIC COUNCIL OPENS

Truman Pledges Full Support Of U.S., Outlines Task

New York, May 25 (AP)—President Truman today pledged the full support of the United States to the United Nations Economic and Social Council in its struggle to "make peace a reality" and "advance fundamental rights of man through the world."

The President's declaration was made in a message of welcome read to the Council by John G. Winant, United States delegate, as the economic and social agency opened its first New York meeting to tackle the long-range problem of removing the causes of war.

Mr. Truman pointed out that the Council had the heavy task of mobilizing "the constructive forces of mankind for the victories of peace" just as the Security Council had the responsibility for removing new threats to peace.

Truman Outlines Task

"Your task," his message said, "is to achieve freedom from want, to encourage production, help to open up transport and clear communications, and to assure higher standards of living.

"It is for you to promote a fuller recognition of the dignity and worth of the human person, and to advance fundamental rights of man through the world.

"To this great task the United States pledges its full support."

Today's session was confined largely to opening formalities, including addresses by Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, of India, president of the Council, and Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations.

"Thousand And One Troubles"

Lie told the eighteen delegates that the world looked to the Council and to the United Nations "for effective leadership in solving a thousand and one social and economic troubles which mankind has never been able to solve by individual, community or national effort."

He said the nations of the world, by creating the Economic and Social Council, have "shown their determination to make human welfare one of the first objectives of their collaboration."

"They have recognized the fact," he declared, "that misery is one of the fundamental causes of war and that their ultimate success in preventing war will depend upon their ability to spread material and social well-being wherever people live."

Brooke Claxton, Canada's representative, told the Council that in the face of atomic bombs and new weapons of war "we must work together or perish together."

Nikolai Feonov, Russian delegate, took issue with the inclusion of an agenda item having to do with the question of the United Nations' assuming functions and powers connected with public loans issued with the assistance of the League of Nations.

Feonov declared that such action contradicted earlier action by the U.N. General Assembly. The chairman merely ruled that the item would remain on the agenda and the Soviet delegate could present his arguments for having it removed when it came up.

The council is expected to remain in session for a month or more, working primarily on reports of the numerous commissions which have been drafting plans of organization and studying other problems for some weeks.

The next meeting will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m.

People's Peace Is Up To U.N. Unit: Truman reports from several commissions and preparatory committees outlinig a staggering amount of work.

First On The Agenda

First on the agenda after the amenities was a report of the technical preparatory committee for a health conference to be held here June 19. Then the Council will take up consultation with nongovernmental agencies and after that reports of commissions at work here and in London for weeks.

This will occupy the full time of the Council, sitting either as the full Council or in committees, for a month or more. This gathering of the Council was expected to be the last before the General Assembly meets in New York on September 3.

It was generally agreed some working arrangement must be found with nongovernmental and specialized agencies. The Council also must decide whether the commissions and committees it will establish should be made up of representatives of governments or of experts in the particular fields.

Lacking In Power

The Economic and Social Council has no power to enforce a decision beyond the weight of public opinion which might line up behind it. It is purely an advisory and recommendatory body. However, great weight would be put behind Council decisions whenever the General Assembly should approve them.

Another problem is that of the disposition of refugees—whether to make them return to their homelands or whether to allow them to stay where they are now if they so prefer because of differences with the present regimes of their countries.

Provision has been made already for the return of persons sought as war criminals and quislings hiding as refugees.

The Refugee Question

The question of refugees will come up when the council hears the report of a special Committee on Refugees and Displaced Persons which has been meeting in London for more than two months.

The Council President is Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, of India. The United States is represented by John G. Winant, former United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

The other nations on the Council are: Britain, Belgium, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechslovakia, France, Greece, Lebanon, Norway, Peru, Ukraine, Russia and Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, the Security Council was in recess, expecting to take up next week the report it has ordered a subcommittee investigating Spain to make by May 31. The subcommitte will meet Monday for its second open session since it began its investigation a month ago.

New York, May 25 (AP)—President Truman told the United Nations Economic and Social Council today it could make the peace a reality for the common people all over the world.

In a message to the Council at its first meeting in the United States, Mr. Truman said the Council's task "is to achieve freedom from want, to encourage production, help to open up transport and clear communications and to assure higher standards of living."

Winant Reads Message

The President's message was read by John G. Winant, United States delegate to the Council, shortly after the eighteen-nation body convened in the chamber used by the United Nations Security Council at United Nations interim headquarters at Hunter College.

The delegates found a globe-full of problems awaiting them. The council first met in London last winter.

"The opening of this second session of the Economic and Social Council stirs the hearts of the common people all over the world," Mr. Truman's message said. "You can make the peace a reality for them."

Welcoming the council for the American people, Mr. Truman said its task was to "advance fundamental rights of man through the world," and he pledged United States support.

Text Of Message

President Truman's text follows:

"The opening of this second session of the Economic and Social Council stirs the hearts of the common people all over the world. You can make the peace a reality for them.

"As you begin your deliberations, I extend to you the heartfelt welcome of this country and the sincere wishes of all the American people for your success.

"While the Security Council stands guard against new threats to peace, the Economic and Social Council mobilizes the constructive forces of mankind for the victories of peace.

"We did not struggle to prevent the domination of the world by the Axis powers only to accept hunger, disease, poverty and insecurity in a world made free by brave men.

Task Is Defined

"Your task is to achieve freedom from want, to encourage production, help to open up transport and clear communications, and to assure higher standards of living.

"It is for you to promote a fuller recognition of the dignity and worth of the human person, and to advance fundamental rights of man through the world.

"To this great task the United States pledges its full support."

Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, welcomed the Council with the statement that "you carry on your shoulders the hope of all humanity."

First Such Organization

"For the first time in the history of international relations," Lie said, "the nations of the world have set up one common body to consider and, when possible, to rectify the economic and social problems that beset mankind."

Lie said the world looked to the Council and to the United Nations "for effective leadership in solving a thousand and one social and economic troubles which mankind has never been able to solve by individual, community or national effort."

Lie drew attention to the world food shortage and said the effort to relieve famine had been tremendous.

Lie praised the proposed establishment of a subcommission on the freedom of information and the press.

Awaiting the Council were reports from several commissions and preparatory committees outlinig a staggering amount of work.

SEES BOR FIGHTING REGIME IN POLAND

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish Ambassador to the United States and delegate to the United Nations Security Council, charged today that the visit to this country of Lieut.-Gen. Tadeuz Kormorowski, who as Gen. Bor led the unsuccessful Warsaw uprising against the Germans in 1944, is part of a hostile campaign against the present Polish Government.

This charge was contained in a letter to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, protesting an "official greeting to Bor extended in the name of the United Nations."

Bor was officially welcomed to the city at a luncheon yesterday and was greeted "on behalf of the United Nations" by John B. Hutson, U. N. assistant secretary general.

Lange in his protest said that Bor was the spearhead of a campaign which "openly advocates a third world war."

BRITAIN STIRRED BY U.S. COMMENT ON FOOD REPORT

LONDON, May 25. — (AP) Britain tonight sought an explanation from Washington of the published view of a State department official that Herbert Morrison erred in his report to the House of Commons on new American food commitments.

A flurry in official circles here over the interpretation placed in Washington upon Morrison's report indicated the United States and Britain might be at variance over the distribution of food supplies to needy countries. Surprise and resentment were expressed here.

Embassy Presses Inquiry

The British embassy in Washington was instructed to discuss with the State department what the British feel is a misunderstanding over Morrison's report.

(British embassy officials in Washington said today representations were made to the State department in the matter. They said Roger Makin, economic minister of the embassy, phoned State department officials, but his conversations "were not an official protest but more in the form of an inquiry." No reply was expected until early next week.)

Reported to Commons

Morrison, reporting Thursday to the House of Commons on results of his conference with food officials in W[illegible]n, said:

"The United States government have now felt able to associate themselves unreservedly with the task of supplying India and the British zone of Germany to the full extent that available resources allow, and they have instructed their officials on the Combined Food Board accordingly."

Morrison said the United States agreed to keep rations in the British zone in Germany up to the same standard as in the U. S. zone and that the United States guaranteed exports to India at "a very much higher rate than in any previous year."

Commenting on this yesterday, Michael McDermott, special assistant to U. S. Secretary of State, James F. Byrnes, asserted that "the United States has made no commitment to keep rations in the British zone up to the level of those in the U. S. zone." In India, likewise, he added, "we have made no commitments. We'll do the best we can."

ATTLEE ASKS END OF MATERIALISM

Edinburgh, May 25 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee told the annual assembly of the Church of Scotland today that materialism must give way to idealism before the high aims of the United Nations can be achieved.

"The charter of the United Nations . . . sets out fine and lofty ideals," he said, "but we have a very long way to go before we can turn this idealism into reality. . . . No social system in any country will bring us happiness, health and prosperity, unless it is inspired by something greater than materialism."

Reporting "what seems to me to be a great deterioration over a wide field of human activity," Attlee said that "in the course of the last thirty years we have supped so full of horrors that our sensibilities have become blunted.

"The world is, I believe, longing for peace," Attlee declared, "but it will only come if men and women the world over are filled with a positive conception of what human life ought to be and with a devotion to the common service of mankind as great as that which inspired so many sacrifices in war."

Bit Of English Land Brought To America

London, May 25 (AP)—The war took a hillside in Britain across the Atlantic.

A million tons of sandy soil from a hill at Gresford near Wrexham was dug away to provide ballast for ships returning light from Birkenhead, Liverpool and Manchester after bringing supplies and troops to Britain. Some of this soil of England is now part of jetties and piers in America.

'Part-Time Day-Relief' For Housewives Urged

London, May 25 (AP)—Ellen Wilkinson, Education Minister and exponent of women's rights, told a Morley College audience today that she favored "part-time day-relief" for housewives.

"We are constantly emphasizing the importance of the part-time day-relief of men from industry," she said. "I want to see part-time day-relief of married women when they can study such things as languages, literature and the arts."

Bournemouth, England, May 25 (A. P.).—H. V. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, took off today for the United States, where he expects to confer with Secretary of State Byrnes.

U.S. Zone Voting Tests Reich Left

Frankfurt, Germany, May 25 (AP). Political observers will watch elections in 38 American-occupied industrial cities tomorrow for an indication of the postwar strength of the German Communist party.

The balloting—for joint city-country councils in Frankfurt, Munich and other war-ravaged centers—is the first free election for the city populations in 13 years. The American military government considers the voting a significant test of whether Germans under American rule are turning toward the left or right.

See 80 P.C. Turnout

German political leaders said today they expected an 80 per cent turnout of the 2,278,422 registered voters. Campaigning of the four major parties has included sound-trucks cruising the streets and slogans emblazoning billboards, but there is no visible excitement.

In two previous rural elections, in villages and small towns, the church-supported Christian Social Union was swept to power by conservative country workers. The left-of-center parties were defeated heavily but their leaders say their greatest strength lies in populous industrial centers.

Mild-Party Gain Expected

American observers said they gave the mildly leftist Social Democrat party the biggest odds on gaining support from hungry industrial and white-color workers in the cities, which include Stuttgart, Nuernberg, Mannheim, Kassel, Karlsruhe and Regensburg.

The German Communist party already has officials in the American-appointed state governments of Greater Hesse, Bavaria and Wuerttemberg-Baden and is making a big play for city support.

American quarters said it was considered almost certain the Communists would get more than their rural five per cent of the total votes, but they would not hazard any estimates.

Defers Final Judgment

In Stuttgart, Dr. Reinhold Maier, minister-president of Wuerttemberg-Baden, stressed that a final judgment of Germany's recent political trends would be impossible before elections for constitutional assemblies in the zone's three states.

In the previous elections the Social Democrat party ran second to the Christian Social Union, with the Communists third and the Liberal Democrat party, supported by progressive tradesmen and business men, fourth.

TELLS OF KILLING OF U. S. CAPTIVES

Dachau, Germany, May 25 (A. P.).—An SS private on trial for the Malmedy massacre declared in a statement read to the military court today that he had seen and heard about the shooting of so many American prisoners of war during the Ardennes offensive that he could not remember any details. The statement came from Siegfried Jaekel, one of seventy-four SS defendants at a trial at which the killing of more than 700 unarmed American captives has thus far been disclosed.

Jaekel's statement told of a German soldier who found two Americans lying in a roadside ditch, kicked them to their feet and then shot them.

Another defendant, Marcel Boltz, said that when he arrived at Malmedy, Belgium, where the massacre occurred, he saw about 100 American soldiers lying on the ground. "I was ordered to shoot all those still alive," he said.

Boltz also admitted participating in the shooting of seven or eight Americans who were lined up against a wall after surrendering unarmed at nearby Buellingen.

BERLIN, May 25 (AP)—The American Military Government today announced the purchase of 42,000 tons of fresh and salted fish from Denmark and Norway at a cost of $8,500,000 to help relieve the food crisis in the United States occupation zone of Germany.

U. S. REDUCES DP RATION

Zone Cut of 300 Calories a Day Is Effective From June 1

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, May 25 (AP)—Food rations for displaced persons in the American occupation zone of Germany will be reduced 300 calories a day beginning June 1, United States Army headquarters announced today.

It will be the first food reduction applied to the displaced persons, whose basic ration has been maintained at 2,300 calories daily while German civilian rations have been cut twice to a current allotment of 1,180.

More than 400,000 displaced persons remain in the United States zone.

Dr. Petiot Dies On Guillotine For 27 Paris Slayings

Paris, May 25 (AP)—Dr. Marcel Petiot, convicted of slaying 27 persons in the sensational "murders of the Rue La Sueur" during the German occupation, was beheaded by guillotine at La Sante Prison early today.

The slight, 55-year-old physician, who allegedly collected money from his victims by promising to help them escape from Nazi-occupied Paris, said, before mounting the block: "Gentlemen, I am yours."

His lawyer, Rene Floriot, said Petiot was half-smiling as he approached the guillotine.

At the foot of the block, he received religious rites: "To please my wife."

Only Official Witnesses

Floriot said Petiot was awakened shortly after 4.15 A.M. by his jailer and said: "I know what this is."

He smoked a cigarette, scribbled letters to his wife and son, and then went cooly to the prison courtyard.

Only a small group of official witnesses saw the guillotining, since public executions were banned in France in 1939. Cordons of police blocked every entrance to the prison.

At 5 A.M., a lorry backed into the main gate, and emerged ten minutes later bearing Petiot's casket. An official notice then was posted saying that he was executed at 5.05.

Thus ended one of the strangest criminal cases in France's history. Petiot had maintained at his trial that he was a leader of a mysterious resistance movement known as the "Fly Tox Gang," which executed collaborators. He denied that he murdered for profit or that his victims were Jews and others seeking to flee from the Germans.

The physician's house in the Rue La Sueur contained a lime pit and a furnace, in both of which police found parts of human bodies. Police also charged that several bundles of expertly dismembered human limbs, which were found in the Seine and in various public parks, were left there by Petiot.

PETIOT BEHEADED IN PARIS PRISON

PARIS, May 25.—(AP) A headsman wrote the final chapter today in one of the weirdest murder stories in Paris criminal history, as slight, 55-year-old Dr. Marcel Petiot, a faint smile on his lips, paid with his life for the cold-blooded murder for profit of 27 desperate people.

Public executions have been banned in France since 1939, and only a few witnesses, among them his lawyer, Rene Floriot, saw the mass murderer of the Rue la Sueur go to his death on the guillotine. President Felix Gouin two days ago rejected a plea for a reprieve.

The lawyer thus described the swarthy little doctor's last moments:

Petiot was awakened shortly after 4:15 a. m., and told his jailer, "I know what this is." He smoked one cigaret calmly, hastily scribbled a letter to his wife and another to his son, and then told the waiting guards:

"Gentlemen, I am yours."

At the foot of the guillotine block he received the last religious rites from a priest "to please my wife." Then, manacled to his guards, he mounted the block, smiling faintly as he approached the knife.

At 5 a. m. a lorry backed into the main gate of La Sante prison. Ten minutes later it came out, carrying a casket with Petiot's body, and lumbered away to tiny Ivry cemetery.

Shortly afterward an official notice was posted on the prison gate, announcing that at 5:05 a. m. The law had exacted the full price from the man convicted of collecting money from his victims on pretense of helping them to escape Nazi occupied France.

The Macabre case dated back to early in 1944, when black smoke pouring from a chimney of Petiot's Rue la Sueur mansion aroused the suspicion of neighbors, who summoned police. In the mansion were found a furnace with the burned bones of the victims and a limepit with human remains. Months later Petiot was arrested.

Petiot denied that he killed for profit. He boasted he was a member of a resistance group which executed collaborationists and Gestapo agents. But the court maintained his victims were Jews and other refugees attempting to escape the Gestapo and Vichy authorities, who were lured to the mansion with promises of help.

G. I. GETS 35 YEARS

Paris, May 25 (A. P.).—A court-martial this week sentenced two American privates to thirty-five and thirty years in prison on charges of armed robbery and assault. They were James E. Baker of Brewster and White Plains, N. Y., and James W. Dukes of Caney, Okla.

Baker was sentenced to thirty-five years on six counts of armed robbery and one count of assault after he was convicted of shooting a Criminal Investigation Department agent who tried to arrest him. Dukes was sentenced to thirty years on four charges of armed robbery. The men were described in court as part of a robbery band which roamed Paris for weeks.

Baker's record showed that he was sentenced last August to ten years in prison at Le Mans, France, for being absent without leave for eight months, after the charge was reduced from desertion. He later broke out of prison.

WAC CAPTAIN BRIDE

Paris, May 25 (A. P.).—Wac Capt. Dorothy A. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of 202 Prospect avenue, West New Brighton, S. I., was married today in the Church of St. Joseph to Pierre Hentic of Paris, former leader of the French Resistance. The United States Army headquarters here said that it was the first marriage of a Wac officer to a Frenchman.

Capt. Smith, who was educated in France and at Barnard College, met her husband shortly after his release from Dachau concentration camp. She first had heard of him in 1943 as the Resistance leader "Maho," who aided many United States flyers to escape from Brittany. The bride wore a white brocade gown with a four-foot train. She was given away by her commanding officer, Major John F. White.

Prophets Mum On Eve Of Czech Election

Prague, May 25 (AP)—Czechoslovaks will name a new National Assembly tomorrow in the country's first general election since the war.

With no rightist or even faintly conservative parties in the field, voters are faced with choices ranging from the center to the far left.

The chief contest appears to be between the Communist and moderate National Socialists, but other parties are making determined bids and few observers are venturing predictions.

Split tickets will not be permitted, so the emphasis has been more on parties than on individual candidates.

Leaders Speak Their Minds

The principal development of the campaign was an announcement on Tuesday that Russian troops would move through Czechoslovakia this week en route to Germany. This movement later was postponed after it was interpreted in some quarters as an attempt to intimidate voters.

Otherwise, the campaign has proceeded without the slightest sign of intimidation and with leaders of various parties speaking their minds about the opposition.

The Communist press has charged that the National Socialists have harbored reactionaries and collaborators, while the National Socialist newspaper has contended that a Communist victory would mean a totalitarian regime.

All parties have agreed to continue a united-front Government, regardless of the outcome of the election.

Moscow Says Vatican Interferes in Italy Vote

Broadcast Cites Threat of "Eternal Torments"

LONDON, May 25 (AP).—A Moscow radio commentator, K. Hoffman, said tonight in a broadcast heard here that the Vatican had been interfering "quite openly" in Italy's election campaign. The Vatican, he contended, was "threatening Catholic voters with eternal torments in the next world if they cast their ballots for the Left-wing candidates" in the June 2 elections.

"On two Sundays in succession —last Sunday and the one before," Hoffman declared, "the Pope on various religious pretexts held huge election meetings, mostly of women at the Vatican, preaching sermons of an openly anti-Democratic and anti-Republican nature.

"Such outright Vatican interference in the election campaign is altogether without precedent. It is another sign of the reactionaries' frantic efforts to get unenlightened voters on their side at the eleventh hour."

[Pope Pius XII told a Catholic women's audience at St. Peter's on May 12 he hoped the voters would elect candidates who would guarantee "respect for God." Last Sunday he urged an audience of Sisters of the Order of the Assumption to assist in "educating a vanguard of women who will constitute in political and social life living cells of religious feeling."]

Pravda Questions U. S.-Polish Motives

Moscow, May 25 (A. P.).—Pravda said today that "well known circles in the United States and England" were seeking to preserve the Polish Army of Gen. Wladyslaw Anders for "suitable use."

The Pravda article, written by Ya Viktorov, quoted the New York Times as saying Lieut.-Gen. John C. H. Lee, Deputy Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean theater, had recommended that the United States War Department give refuge to an appreciable number of Anders's troops. Pravda also said the American press had published information about secret negotiations for receiving Anders's troops into Canada, Brazil and other countries on the American continents.

Soviet Scientist Claims Credit for Russia on Atom

Predicts the Replacement of Uranium as Energy Source

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP).—A member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, writing in "Red Star," Red Army newspaper, said today that the discovery of the use of atomic energy resulted from "half a century's stubborn work by physicists and chemists in different countries," with a "big share" of the credit due to Soviet scientists.

A. I. Brodsky, a corresponding member of the academy and author of the article, said that uranium might be replaced as a principal source of atomic energy by "other cheaper and more widely distributed elements of nature." He said: "Not long ago there were discovered two new elements heavier than plutonium, which may be found still more adaptable for the chain (reaction) process."

He added that many technical difficulties would have to be overcome before atomic energy could be used for peaceful purposes. "But one may be assured," he added, "that this problem will be decided in the not distant future."

Brodsky concluded by saying that "there is no doubt the Soviet state will at an early period achieve outstanding successes" in the atomic field.

Germans Saved Statue Of Lenin

Eisleben, Germany, May 25 (AP)—A giant statue of Nikolai Lenin, who founded a new-type state, now stands in Eisleben not far from a similar figure of Martin Luther, a home-town boy who founded a new-type church.

The Lenin statue is distinctly not "Made in Germany." No less a person than Adolf Hitler had it brought to Eisleben in 1944 to be melted for gun material.

Valentine Shesakov, a Leningrad medical student here for forced labor, heard about the arrival through German Communist workers at the foundry. Shesakov persuaded the engineer in charge and some "German underground leaders to "kidnap" the statue and hide it in a scrap-iron dump. Whenever the workers were ordered to fetch material from the dump, they picked everywhere except where the statue lay covered.

When the Red Army arrived the statue was carried to its present place of honor and the new Communist burgomaster, just out of a concentration camp, conducted the unveiling.

Premier Says Walkouts Pave Way for 'Trotskyists'

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 25 (AP)—Premier Achille van Acker, declaring that "strikes are more than criminal at this moment," said today he was prepared to take all necessary steps against a threat "by some people" to call a general strike against his policy of pegging wages and prices.

The Premier, a Socialist, said that all parties, "by their demagogism," shared the blame for preparing the way for action "by a Trotskyist organization."

Strikes have been spreading among coal miners and Antwerp dock workers. Electrical power plant workers have scheduled a walkout for Monday unless they get higher pay.

Tito Refuses Reply To Second U. S. Note

Belgrade, May 25 (A. P.).—Foreign Minister Stanoje Simic told the Yugoslav Parliament yesterday that a second United States note asking that American soldiers be permitted to testify for Gen. Draja Mikhailovich had gone unanswered.

MOSLEMS GET REPLY FROM BRITISH MISSION

NEW DELHI, May 25—(AP) The British cabinet's delegation replied today to the Moslem League and Congress party criticisms of their plan for Indian independence by declaring that the "scheme stands as a whole and can only succeed if it is accepted and worked in a spirit of cooperation."

The statement was issued after Mahomed Ali Jimmah, president of the Moslem League, and the Congress party's working committee had found many flaws with the proposal advanced by the British after the failure of recent negotiations in Simla.

Indonesians Scorn 'Final' Dutch Offer

Batavia, Java, May 25 (AP)—Sutan Sjahrir, Premier of the unrecognized Indonesian Government, describes the latest Dutch proposals for solution of Indonesian independence demands as "a definite step backward."

Sjahrir said at a press conference yesterday on his return from central Java, where he conferred with the Indonesian Cabinet, that Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook's "final" Dutch offer was even less satisfactory than "what was discussed during the presence in Batavia of Clark Kerr —when the republic's de facto authority over Sumatra was acknowledged."

Sir Archibald Clark Kerr (now Lord Inverchapel, new British Ambassador to Washington) was then as Egypt's first diplomatic representative to the U.S.S.R.

Egypt's Envoy In Moscow

Moscow, May 25 (AP)—Mohamad Kamel el-Bendari Pasha, Egypt's new envoy to the Soviet Union, arrived here by plane yesterday. He replaced Kamil Abdel Rahim Bey, who served almost two years a special envoy to the Indies.

Dock Strike in Singapore

SINGAPORE, May 25 (AP)—Activities in this ship-packed harbor were stalled today when 2,000 dock workers struck in sympathy with a Chinese laborer who was reportedly shot in the leg during a disturbance this morning. A spokesman for the Harbor Board declined to comment on the progress of efforts to end the work stoppage.

Siam Rice Price Pegged

BANGKOK, Siam, May 25 (AP).—In a new move to release Siam's rice export stocks, the British-American Rice Commission today pegged the price o. 35 per cent grade rice at $50.80 a long ton, or double the pre-war level, effective July 1.

U.S. Plane Wreckage Is Found In Burma

Rangoon, May 25 [Reuter] —Searchers today located wreckage of an American Army plane, missing since Friday, May 17, on a river bank in the mountainous Arakan district of Burma.

There was no trace of the crew of three of the eight passengers. Search parties have now left for the scene.

The plane, bound for Rangoon from Calcutta, caried four members of the United States War Graves Commission, returning from examination of the graves of American pilots shot down over Burma during the war.

M'Arthur Asks Council Advice First Time

Tokyo, May 25 (AP) — General MacArthur who, in effect, had bluntly told the Allied Council for Japan that he was running the occupation show, today was pictured as sincerely asking its advice.

For the first time, the American member submitted questions—for Wednesday's meeting.

One council source said he viewed the questions as a cautious MacArthur venture into council members' opinions on these matters: Rural land reforms, resumption of relations between labor organizations in Japan and other countries, and disposition of Japanese Government property.

"Sincere" Bid For Views

A highly authoritative American source said the queries were "a sincere attempt" by MacArthur to find out what the Allies think of these problems.

'MacArthur would like advice," he added, and said the Council members have been in Japan long enough to have formed opinions on occupation problems.

Previously, the Russian member submitted most of the questions, and drew sharp replies from MacArthur's representative.

Another source said the American agenda entries might be MacArthur's answer to a suggestion by Lieut. Gen. Chu Shi-Ming, the Chinese member, that something be done to improve the work of the organization.

Two Russian Queries

There are two other agenda entries for Wednesday, both Russian. One, a carryover, asked in effect if MacArthur had investigated allegations made in a Japanese May Day statement that certain MacArthur directives were being flouted and that certain rights of free speech were being curtailed.

George Atcheson, Jr., the American member and MacArthur's political adviser, replied sharply that the unsigned statement was an attempt to spread Communist propaangda and that the United States didn't want that ideology in either America or Japan.

The other Russian question asks for information on the reform of the Japanese police system.

Dyke Leaving Army Post In Japan

Tokyo, May 25 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Ken R. Dyke, of New York city, will resign today as chief of Allied Headquarters information and education section and leave Monday for the United States to become a civilian.

Dyke's department was charged with revamping Japan's educational system and removing ultranationalism from it.

Dyke served as an enlisted man in World War I in France and Germany. He returned to the Army as a major and served in the Pacific since October, 1943. He was formerly director of sales promotion and research for the National Broadcasting Company.

Japs Told to Guard Foreign Property

Tokyo, May 25 (A. P.).—Gen. MacArthur today charged the Japanese Government with failure to protect property owned by foreign nationals and ordered it to correct the situation immediately. A statement by Lieut.-Col. F. R. Sibert, deputy custodian of civil property, said a recent inspection indicated "serious failure on the part of the Japanese to protect" foreign oil companies' holdings.

CHINESE LEADERS SEEK TERMS FOR

MANCHURIA PEACE

NANKING, May 25—(AP) Government and Communist leaders met for two hours tonight seeking a peace formula in Manchuria amid general optimism that a truce might be near.

While no final agreement was reached between the high-ranking negotiators, one conferee said there was over all satisfaction with the progress made.

Earlier the Communists had announced officially their withdrawal from Changchun, Manchurian capital, and a new mayor was appointed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to move in behind the conquering Government troops.

Meanwhile, the departure of General Marshall's special plane, which had carried Chiang and Madame Chiang to Mukden, gave rise to belief there that the American emissary himself would soon arrive, to continue in Manchuria his efforts to end China's internal conflict.

China Simmering; Russ 'All Gone'

Nanking, May 25 (AP)—Completion of Russian evacuation of Manchuria was announced officially today amid new attempts to end China's internal struggle.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs said it had received official notification from the Soviet embassy, in answer to a query sent May 4. There had been an earlier unofficial announcement of the withdrawal of Russia's occupation troops.

Pauley's Plans

Edwin W. Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, announced here he soon would establish a base in Mukden to survey Manchurian industry, reported stripped by the Russians of much of its vital machinery.

Pauley expressed belief there was not "much chance" China would recover the machinery.

The speculation about new prospects for internal peace was spurred by the visit of Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek to Mukden in the personal plane of General Marshall, special United States envoy to China.

2 Opinions On Changchun

But there was disagreement between Government and Communist spokesmen as to the effect of the Government's recapture of Changchun, Manchurian capital.

"Now we can begin to talk with the Communists," said one high Government party official.

"The key is not now in our hands," countered Tung Pi-wu, a Communist spokesman. "We shall see what Chiang Kai-shek will do."

Tung termed the Government's seizure of Changchun Thursday "regrettable" and said it had complicated the situation. A peace plan proposed by the third-party Democratic League and accepted in principle by the Communists, was based on both sides staying out of Changchun.

Reds Admit City's Fall

The Communists today officially acknowledged Changchun's fall, saying their withdrawal from the city was completed May 22 on orders from Yenan party headquarters.

In a dispatch from Changchun, the Government Central News Agency said Government troops under Gen. Cheng Tung-kuo "completely mopped up remnant Communist troops" there by 6 P.M. Thursday.

Another column of Government troops entered Hwaite, 27 miles north of Kungchuling and about the same distance west of Changchun, the agency said.

Truce Team In Action

A field team from executive (truce) headquarters conferred meanwhile with Communists at Lins, in southern Shantung province, in an effort to bring about an immediate cease-fire order in central Shantung.

Central News Agency reported that Chiang named Shang Chuan-tao as acting mayor of Changchun, replacing the Communist mayor. Shang also was designated secretary general of the Kirin Provincial Government.

Chinese Puppet Official's Death Sentence Upheld

Nanking, May 25 (AP)—The Chinese Central News Agency said that today the Supreme Court had upheld the death sentence imposed on Chu Min-yi, puppet Minister of Foreign Affairs. He will be executed within a few days.

PHILIPPINE SENATE SPLITS OVER ROXAS

Minority Walks Out on Issue of Rules, but Collaboration Is Underlying Dispute

MANILA, May 25 (AP)—Minority members of the Philippines Senate walked out on the opening session today, delaying the formal proclamation of the election of Manuel A. Roxas as President of the Commonwealth.

A joint session of the House and Senate is required to certify the results of the April election, but it could not be held because the Senate became involved in a dispute over the number of votes needed to organize the upper chamber.

Jose Avelino, who was designated Senate President at a caucus of Roxas' majority party on Friday, contended that a simple majority was sufficient for organization because the body did not yet have any rules of procedure.

The minority, led by Tomas Confesor, former Philippines Delegate of the Far Eastern Commission and popular guerrilla leader during the war, contended that the rules of the pre-war Senate should apply, and his group left the meeting.

Mr. Roxas is scheduled to be inaugurated on Tuesday, and must be officially proclaimed the election winner before then. The next session of the Philippines Legislature is scheduled for Monday.

The House of Representatives easily elected Majority Leader Eugenio Perez as its Speaker, but both House and Senate quarreled over the seating of various members.

Mr. Confesor challenged the seating of three Roxas Senators on the ground that they were under indictment on charges of collaborating with the Japanese. There was no decision because of the minority walkout.

Three Roxas supporters in the House, also under indictment, were seated after a hot debate.

Luis Taruc, leader of the militant Hukbalahap guerrilla organization, was prevented from taking the oath by a majority resolution introduced by the Roxas majority.

Mr. Roxas, meanwhile, expressed skepticism of reports that the Hukbalahaps were planning an uprising on Inauguration Day. The President-elect told reporters he considered the reports "provocative and irresponsible," but admitted that there were "serious implications" of unrest in Central Luzon.

Mr. Roxas said he could do nothing until he became President but that as soon as he took office he would "take whatever steps are necessary to insure law and order."

Roxas Skeptical Of Uprising Threat

Manila, May 25 (A. P.).—President-elect Manuel A. Roxas today expressed skepticism at reports that Hukbalahaps planned an uprising in central Luzon on his inauguration day, Tuesday.

Asked what steps he had taken or contemplated, Roxas said: "I, of course, am extremely skeptical of the reports, which I consider in themselves provocative and irresponsible. I have every faith in the good sense of my countrymen."

Brig.-Gen. Federico Oboza, provost marshal general, asked for an additional 2,500 to 3,750 Filipino soldiers to patrol trouble areas. Filipino Army headquarters said it would consider the request.

Steps Taken In Case First A-Test Is Dud

Aboard Flagship Mount McKinley, May 25 (AP)—If the first atomic bomb dropped in the Bikini Lagoon test proves a dud, the task force will determine what was wrong before dropping another, Capt. C. H. Lyman, operators chief, said at a news conference.

The conference was held aboard ship, en route to the Marshall Islands, Lyman said all but a few key personnel will be evacuated from Eniwetok at least two or three days before each test. Some 200 natives will be taken to Kwajalein, he said, and will probably never return to their Eniwetok homes.

Argentina Restores Civil Liberties

Buenos Aires, May 25 (AP)—The Argentine Government lifted the nation's three-year-old state of seige yesterday and issued a series of decrees modifying the charters of the Central Bank and three national banks.

The action restores civil liberties, while the new rulings on banks followed the recent nationalization of the Central Bank and a decree forbidding banks to make loans without Government approval.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR MISSING MEN

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP) The Army and Navy today abandoned virtually all hope of finding more than 12,000 missing men for whom intensive search has been made in many parts of the world, particularly since the war's end.

The search will continue but the War and Navy departments said in a joint statement that reports from overseas commanders indicated that "there remains little or no possibility of finding any except a few who have been missing less than 60 days or were deliberately absent without authority."

Virtually all recorded as missing will continue to be so listed until a year from the date they disappeared. Then they will be officially declared dead or a review board may authorize a renewal of the search.

The statement reported that the Russian government had agreed to relay information on graves of American personnel found within the Soviet-occupied zones.

The Army in its most recent reports listed 7,814 as missing along with 3,083 "unrecovered from captivity."

The Navy carries 1,103 as missing, the Marines 86, and the Coast Guard 97.

MERGER FIGHT NEARS CLIMAX

Army, Navy Told To Reach Agreement

Washington, May 25 (AP)—The Army-Navy game of the century is reaching its climax.

The admirals and generals have been slugging it out over the issue of merger of the armed forces since last October. Now they have been told by President Truman, their Commander in Chief, that he wants them to reach some agreement before the end of this month.

The Issue

The issue is the security of the nation—whether the United States will be stronger or weaker by unifying the armed forces.

Witnesses in army uniform told the Senate Military and Naval Affairs committees they were absolutely certain that unification was wise and necessary. The men in navy blue said they could see nothing but disaster resulting from a single department of common defense.

Eisenhower, Marshall, Doolittle, Arnold, Somervell, Spaatz and Bradley were all for it. Nimitz, King, Leahy, Vandegrift, Halsey, Geiger and Sherman opposed it.

Often Sarcastic

They had fought shoulder to shoulder during the war and displayed the utmost military correctness in their references to one another, but their decorous language often dripped with acid sarcasm and sometimes the main issue seemed to be "who won the war—army ground forces, army air forces, battleships, naval aviation or the Marine Corps?"

Among navy backers, one often heard that the whole thing was an army grab for power. Many army rooters said the admirals were just trying to preserve their own jobs and obsolete battleships.

Some said that most of the congressional opposition to one executive department was because only two congressional committees would be needed where before there had been four. This would mean abolishing highly desired committee posts both in the Senate and House.

Army Proposal

When President Truman on December 19, 1945, recommended to Congress that it "adopt legislation combining the War and Navy departments into one single department of national defense," antimergerites commented that Mr. Truman was an old army man himself.

Both the Army and Navy have presented their own reform proposals, for all admit there is need for closer co-ordination of the armed services.

The army plan is to abolish the War and Navy departments and set up a department of common defense under a single Cabinet officer. He would have subordinate secretaries for air, Navy and Army. There would be a single chief of staff, a joint staff of the armed forces, a council for common defense and a national security resources board.

The Navy's Plan

The Navy would retain the two departments as they now stand, leaving it up to Congress to decide whether or not to form a separate department for the Army's strategic air forces. It would establish a national security council, a national resources board, and a joint chiefs of staff. Interdepartmental boards and agencies would co-ordinate the work of the departments where desirable.

The Army says its program will provide the benefits of unity of command throughout the armed forces, which proved so advantageous in the various theaters of war, and that it will promote economy and efficiency.

The Navy claims its plan will produce all the good effects of the army plan, would prove more efficient and economical and would preserve the Navy, naval aviation and the Marine Corps. All of these, it says, would be endangered in a consolidated defense setup in which the Army and the Army Air Forces would outvote the Navy two to one.

Controversy Is Old

The controversy is almost as old as the republic. The founding fathers in 1789 provided a single Department of War, in which both Navy and Army were included. In 1798 the Navy was given independent status with the creation of the Navy Department. This was done, according to the admirals, because practically nothing had been achieved in the way of building up a navy.

Proposals for reunification of the Army and Navy have been presented off and on for years. Scores of them have been brought out since World War I. In 1934 Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, was chairman of a board which investigated the matter and advised against unification.

In the Spring of 1944 the Woodrum Committee of the House held hearings and recommended continued study. In the Fall of 1944, the joint chiefs of staff appointed a special committee of two admirals and two generals to make an investigation. That committee recommended unification, with one admiral filing a minority report against it.

Nimitz And Halsey

When the joint chiefs' special committee interviewed Admirals Nimitz, Halsey and some others at their headquarters in the Pacific, they were reported to approve the principle of a unified department as long as the continued existence of naval aviation and the Marine Corps was assured.

But in the months that followed Admiral Nimitz, now chief of naval operations, and the others, commented differently. Nimitz said that at Leyte and in the Langayen landings he "became more and more impressed with the fact that officers of the Army often lacked adequate appreciation of the capabilities and limitations of the naval forces."

Finally, in April, 1945, Nimitz told Admiral King, his predecessor as chief, that amalgamation of all the armed forces in Washington as well as in the field would be a mistake.

GREETS ARGENTINA

Washington, May 25 (A. P.).—President Truman today sent anniversary greetings to President Farrell of Argentina, declaring in a message that appeared likely to be closely scanned by diplomats for possible political significance: "The people of the United States join me in sending you and to the people of Argentina greetings and best wishes on this national anniversary of Argentina."

Farrell has been frequently criticized by American officials for running a government which is alleged by the United States to have protected Nazi-Fascist groups and individuals, and to have failed to live up to its inter-American commitments.

FOOD PRODUCTION CLIMB IS HINTED IN WORLD SURVEY

MAY 26 1946

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP) The Agriculture department reported tonight that a spring survey indicates the famine-plagued world will produce more food this year than last but that total supplies will be below pre-war levels and short of requirements.

Hence, it said, effective conservation and distribution of supplies, internationally and within deficit producing countries, will be necessary throughout the 1946-47 season if another critical food shortage is to be avoided next spring.

Crop Conditions Favorable

Reports from this country's agricultural attaches abroad show that, as of mid-May, crop conditions in nearly all parts of the northern hemisphere thus far have been more favorable than a year earlier. A significant increase in acreage is expected and yields should be better than in 1945.

The department said, however, that acreages in most of the war-torn areas are considerably below normal and improvement of yields is limited by shortage of fertilizers and the shortage and poor quality of seed, work stock and equipment.

While the production season in the southern hemisphere is six months later than that of the northern hemisphere, some expansion in food output was reported likely.

Nears Pre-War Level

The department said the prospective total food output in continental Europe for the consumption year of 1946-47 may now be estimated at between 88 and 90 percent of pre-war. Output in 1945-46 was said to have been probably only 80 percent, or even somewhat less, compared with the 1933-37 average.

Europe's prospective increases will be confined, the department said, largely to grains and sugar, with possibly a slight increase in fats.

Over-all prospects in the Far East also favor some expansion in acreage, the department said, but production of food crops will be considerably below pre-war, especially if increases in the population are taken into account.

HOOVER BEGINS TRIP

DALLAS, Tex., May 25. — (AP) Former President Herbert Hoover, the United States "food ambassador" to the world, arrived here from Washington tonight aboard an Army transport command C-54, en route to South America.

Hoover will remain here overnight before leaving for Mexico City.

SCIENTISTS SEE LITTLE VALUE IN TESTS AT BIKINI

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP) The Federation of American Scientists declared today that "scientists expect nothing of scientific value, and little of technical value to peacetime uses of atomic energy," from this summer's A-bomb tests at Bikini.

The federation, which says its membership includes many of the men who worked on the atomic bomb, asserted in a statement:

"Scientists are cooperating in these tests at the request of their country's armed forces, although they do so with heavy hearts, and with enthusiasm x x x.

Favor Education

"Scientists seek by education to teach men that they must abandon atomic weapons to preserve civilization, but we must recognize that it may take an atomic war to teach them a lesson."

The federation said the people should keep in mind certain conclusions reached by "the men who developed the bomb and made the first test at Alamogordo, New Mexico, and who are working on the current tests."

The statement said that the Association of Los Alamos Scientists had concluded:

1. "The number of ships destroyed will not be the best standard for judging the effect of the bomb."

"(There will be one hundred assorted target ships spread over a radius of miles, and the majority will probably not be damaged to any extent)."

Want to Know Strength

2. "Actual strength of Bikini bomb blasts should be announced."

"(It is possible for an atomic bomb to be a dud or a semi-dud," the statement continued.

3. "The deep underwater test of next year will be far more important than the two tests planned this year)."

(The statement said "a deep sea bombing might have extreme and unpredicted results)."

Suggesting that in the event of atomic war the bombing of battleships might not prove worthwhile no matter what the Bikini results, the statement said:

"One square mile of city destroyed atomically would be a loss, in the average American city, representing $500,000,000, or five times the cost of one battleship."

FRENCH LOAN SNAGGED, BLUM DELAYS TRIP

WASHINGTON, May 25. — (AP) Former French Premier Leon Blum unexpectedly cancelled his scheduled departure for Paris this afternoon because of what was believed to be a last-minute snag in the American-French financial discussions.

A French embassy official said that Blum, principal French negotiator, would not leave by plane for New York as planned. The date of his departure has not been determined, he said, because Blum's schedule "is all upset."

Previously, government officials had indicated that an agreement disclosing the United States' decision to lend France about $1,150,000,000 would be announced today.

NHA's Allocation Plans Readied

Washington, May 25 (AP)—The national housing agency disclosed today that it is conferring with representatives of six building supply industries on how best to use $400,000,000 in Federal subsidies for accelerating the flow of materials.

Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt said the funds, provided under the Emergency New Homes Act which became law last week, will be applied to these general purposes:

1. To cover extra costs involved in expanding a building supply plant's production beyond the output ordinarily considered most favorable to the operator.

To Reopen Plants

2. To help defray costs of reopening building supply plants closed during the war.

3. To enlist the production of some high-cost building materials plants which were subsidized during the war but which have since shut down.

The consultants represent the producers of brick, roofing, pig iron, cast-iron soil pipe, peeler logs for plywood, and gypsum paper liner. Officials of several agencies have been conferring with them.

Working In Secrecy

The NHA is giving no hint as to which individual plants may be granted subsidy payments, lest knowledge of forthcoming help encourage some producers to take it easy.

Many Homes Called Too Costly For Vets

Washington, May 25 (AP)—Hundreds of homes are being built throughout the nation, including a project in Washington, which are too expensive for veterans to purchase, Representative Rees (R., Kan.) told the House.

Rees said he understood it was the policy of the Government to see that veterans are given preference in moderately priced homes. Yet, he said yesterday, one project of 125 homes is being constructed in Washington with prices ranging from 25,000 to $35,000 for each home.

He suggested that building materials and equipment not be used in construction of expensive dwellings when they are needed for smaller homes. In his section of the country, he said, many lumber building dealers are unable to obtain any sizable quantity of material.

END OF CEILINGS ON MEAT FAVORED

Senate Banking Group Votes to Lift Curbs Next Month.

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP) The Senate Banking committee voted today to lift price controls from meat and dairy products June 30, 1946.

The action came only a few hours before President Truman personally urged a joint session of Congress to continue the price control law "in an effective form."

Approves Amendments

The committee, which is drafting a one-year price control extension bill, adopted two amendments, both introduced by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz). The one covering livestock and poultry, and food and feed products manufactured from those items, carried 10 to 8. A 9 to 8 vote put over the other, affecting milk and foods and feeds made from it.

The committee wrote in a safeguard against the possibility of runaway prices. A de-control board, which is to be set up under the Senate bill, would be given additional authority to reinstitute price controls on meat and dairy products upon application of the Secretary of Agriculture.

McFarland said he assumed the current meat subsidies will be removed when the controls are lifted.

Price Rise Expected

If the usual trend is followed, he told a reporter, the price of meat is likely to rise for awhile and then level off.

"If it doesn't level off, it would be the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture and the board to put the controls back on," he said.

President Truman, in the course of his extraordinary appearance before Congress this afternoon, observed that price levels are under "great pressure" as a result of work stoppages.

"Delay by Congress is daily increasing these pressures," he said, "and I urge immediate action."

Paul V. McNutt Proves Diplomat—Climatically

Seattle (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, Philippines high commissioner, proved himself a diplomat as he stepped from his plane here after a flight from the Orient, via Adak in the Aleutians.

"After Manila, this cool climate is wonderful," he exclaimd.

Then he smiled and added quickly: "After Adak, this warm weather is wonderful."

Douglas Urges Fight On Injustice

New York, May 25 (AP)—Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas says that America must overcome social injustices to individuals and groups at home if it is to maintan nternatonal leaderships and the confidence of the peoples of the world.

He told the fourth annual Conference on the Scientific Spirit and the Democratic Faith last night that unless the growth of the democratic tradition was quickened "we will enter new crises equipped with prejudice and fear rather than with maturity."

Douglas added that without that maturity the nation "will not have the political competence necessary either at the domestic or the foreign level."

Wallace Opposes A Third Party

New York, May 25 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Wallace last night opposed the formation of a national third party on the ground that because of the election laws in many states such a movement would guarantee a "reactionary" victory by splitting the votes of the progressives.

Addressing the tenth anniversary dinner of the American Labor party, Wallace, frequently mentioned as a possible presidential candidate of a third party, declared:

"I believe in the two-party system. I want the party I belong to—the Democratic party—to be the progressive party.

Lauds Party's Stand

"Any progressive third party which attempts to operate on a national scale will find, because of the laws in most states, that it will guarantee a reactionary victory by dividing the votes of the progressives."

He lauded the Labor party for helping elect former Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York and Senator Robert Wagner (D., N.Y.) and supporting the policies of the late President Roosevelt, and added:

"So long as we fail to have real party responsibility, you will continue as a most significant part of the conscience of the Democratic party in New York."

He predicted that the Republican party would nominate for President only a "reactionary" and that he would be defeated in 1948.

9th Service Unit Head To Retire From Army

Salt Lake City, May 25 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William E. Shedd, until recently commanding general of the 9th Service Command with headquarters at Fort Douglas, Utah, last night announced his retirement after 39 years of army service.

Shedd came to the service command post in September, 1944, and served there until shortly before the functions of the command were taken over by the 6th Army. Last month he entered Bushnell General Hospital, Brigham, Utah, for observation of an unidentified ailment.

The General said he and Mrs. Shedd and their son, George, would leave today for Key West, Fla.

Shedd's career with the Army began in 1907. Before assuming the Service Command post he was commanding general of the Antilles Department, with headquarters at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
NEW YORK, MAY 25—(AP)—A GLOBE-FULL OF PROBLEMS BESETTING THE PEOPLES OF THE WORLD CONFRONTED THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL TODAY AS IT ASSEMBLED FOR ITS FIRST MEETING IN THE UNITED STATES.

THE COUNCIL WAS SCHEDULED TO MEET AT 10:30 A.M. EASTERN DAYLIGHT TIME.

TRYGVE LIE, UNITED NATIONS SECRETARY-GENERAL, WELCOMED THE COUNCIL WITH THE STATEMENT THAT "YOU CARRY ON YOUR SHOULDERS THE HOPE OF ALL HUMANITY."

"FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS," LIE SAID, "THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD HAVE SET UP ONE COMMON BODY TO CONSIDER, AND, WHEN POSSIBLE, TO RECTIFY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS THAT BESET MANKIND.

"BY SO DOING THEY HAVE SHOWN THEIR DETERMINATION TO MAKE HUMAN WELFARE ONE OF THE FIRST OBJECTIVES OF THEIR COLLABORATION. THEY HAVE RECOGNIZED THE FACT THAT MISERY IS ONE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL CAUSES OF WAR AND THAT THEIR ULTIMATE SUCCESS IN PREVENTING WAR WILL DEPEND UPON THEIR ABILITY TO SPREAD MATERIAL AND SOCIAL WELL-BEING WHEREVER PEOPLE LIVE."

30.24-2991

LIE SAID THE WORLD LOOKED TO THE COUNCIL AND TO THE UNITED NATIONS "FOR EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP IN SOLVING A THOUSAND AND ONE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC TROUBLES WHICH MANKIND HAS NEVER BEEN ABLE TO SOLVE BY INDIVIDUAL, COMMUNITY OR NATIONAL EFFORT."

LIE, SPEAKING OF THE ECONOMIC AND EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION REPORT DRAWING ATTENTION TO THE WORLD FOOD SHORTAGE, SAID THE EFFORT TO RELIEVE FAMINE HAS BEEN TREMENDOUS.

"WE MUST MAKE ABSOLUTELY SURE THAT THIS EFFORT IS MAINTAINED AND INCREASED UNTIL THE PRESENT CRISIS HAS PASSED," HE SAID. "LATE REPORTS FROM SOUTHEASTERN EUROPE AND OTHER AREAS INDICATE THAT DROUGHT IS AGGRAVATING THE CRISIS WHICH ALREADY EXISTS. WE CAN SEE NO END TO THIS CRISIS AND WE MUST FACE IT SQUARELY."

REFERRING TO THE REPORT MADE BY THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, LIE SAID THAT IN PROPOSING ESTABLISHMENT OF A SUB-COMMISSION ON THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND THE PRESS, THE COMMISSION "HAS RECOGNIZED AND ATTEMPTED TO TRANSFORM INTO CONCRETE ACTION THE FACT THAT 'FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS ONE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS OF HUMAN BEINGS."

AWAITING THE COUNCIL WERE REPORTS FROM SEVERAL COMMISSIONS AND PREPARATORY COMMITTEES OUTLINING A STAGGERING AMOUNT OF WORK.

FIRST ON THE AGENDA AFTER THE AMENITIES WAS A REPORT OF THE TECHNICAL PREPARATORY COMMITTEE FOR A HEALTH CONFERENCE TO BE HELD HERE JUNE 19. THEN THE COUNCIL WILL TAKE UP CONSULTATION WITH NON-GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES AND AFTER THAT WILL SWING INTO REPORTS OF COMMISSIONS WHICH HAVE BEEN WORKING HERE AND IN LONDON FOR WEEKS.

ALL OF THIS WORK WILL OCCUPY THE FULL TIME OF THE COUNCIL, WORKING EITHER AS THE FULL COUNCIL OR IN COMMITTEES, FOR PERHAPS A MONTH OR SO. IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THIS GATHERING OF THE COUNCIL WOULD BE THE LAST BEFORE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETS IN NEW YORK SEPT. 3.

IT WAS GENERALLY AGREED AMONG THE INCOMING DELEGATES AND EXPERTS THAT THE COUNCIL MUST FIND SOME WORKING ARRANGEMENT WITH NON-GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES AND SPECIALIZED AGENCIES WHICH ALREADY HAVE BEEN SET UP.

THE COUNCIL ALSO MUST DECIDE WHETHER THE VARIOUS COMMISSIONS AND COMMITTEES IT WILL ESTABLISH SHOULD BE MADE UP OF REPRESENTATIVES OF GOVERNMENTS OR OF EXPERTS IN THE PARTICULAR FIELDS THE COMMITTEES WILL COVER.

THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL HAS NO POWE TO ENFORCE A DECISION BEYOND THE WEIGHT OF PUBLIC OPINION WHICH MIGHT LINE UP BEHIND IT. IT IS PURELY AN ADVISORY AND RECOMMENDATORY BODY. OBSERVERS HAVE ASSERTED, HOWEVER, THAT TREMENDOUS WEIGHT WOULD BE PUT BEHIND COUNCIL DECISIONS WHENEVER THE WHOLE BODY OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF 51 NATIONS APPROVES THEM.

A6

ANOTHER PROBLEM WHICH THE COUNCIL MUST FACE IS THAT OF THE DISPOSITION OF REFUGEES---WHETHER ALL REFUGEES SHOULD BE MADE TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMELANDS OR WHETHER THEY MAY BE ALLOWED TO STAY WHERE THEY ARE NOW IF THEY DO NOT CHOOSE TO RETURN BECAUSE OF DIFFERENCES WITH THE PRESENT REGIMES OF THEIR COUNTRIES.

PROVISION HAS BEEN MADE ALREADY FOR THE RETURN OF PERSONS SOUGHT AS WAR CRIMINALS AND QUISLINGS WHO MIGHT BE HIDING AS REFUGEES.

THE QUESTION OF REFUGEES WILL COME UP WHEN THE COUNCIL HEARS, PERHAPS EARLY IN JUNE, THE REPORT OF A SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS WHICH HAS MET IN LONDON FOR MORE THAN TWO MONTHS.

THE COUNCIL PRESIDENT IS SIR RAMASWAMI MUDALIAR, OF INDIA. THE UNITED STATES IS REPRESENTED BY JOHN G.WINANT, FORMER UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO GREAT BRITAIN.

THE OTHER NATIONS ON THE COUNCIL ARE: BRITAIN, BELGIUM, CANADA, CHILE, CHINA, COLOMBIA, CUBA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, FRANCE, GREECE, LEBANON, NORWAY, PERU, UKRAINE, RUSSIA, AND YUGOSLAVIA.

NEW YORK, MAY 25-(AP)-SOVIET RUSSIA JOINED POLAND TODAY IN A SHARP PROTEST AGAINST THE ACTION OF J.B.HUTSON, ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, IN WELCOMING LT.-GEN.TADEUSZ (BOR) KOMOROWSKI TO NEW YORK CITY ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, ISSUED THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT TODAY ON YESTERDAY'S LUNCHEON GIVEN KOMOROWSKI AT WHICH HUTSON GREETED THE GENERAL BY SAYING: "ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED NATIONS I WANT TO WELCOME YOU TO THIS CITY."

MAY 26 1945

GROMYKO'S STATEMENT FOLLOWS:

"THE REMARK OF WELCOME DELIVERED BY MR.J.B.HUTSON, ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, YESTERDAY AT THE WALDORF ASTORIA FOR THE NOTORIOUS FUGITIVE POLE, ENEMY OF THE POLISH PEOPLE, CANNOT BE REGARDED BUT AS AN INADMISSIBLE ONE.

"MR.HUTSON, AS IT WAS FOUND OUT, DID NOT HAVE ANY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL TO WELCOME A FUGITIVE GUEST ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED NATIONS. SUCH ACTIONS OF MEMBERS OF THE STAFF OF THE UNITED NATIONS COMPROMISE NOT ONLY THE MEMBERS OF THE STAFF OF THE ORGANIZATION BUT THE NAME OF THE ORGANIZATION ITSELF."

DR.OSCAR LANGE, POLISH DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, EARLIER PROTESTED AGAINST THE REMARK OF WELCOME IN A LETTER TO SECRETARY GENERAL TRYGVE LIE.

LIE'S DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INFORMATION SAID THAT THE SECRETARY

GENERAL HAD SAID THAT WHATEVER HUTSON "MAY HAVE SAID WAS SAID WITHOUT ANY AUTHORITY TO SPEAK FOR THE UNITED NATIONS." IT WAS ADDED THAT LIE HAD NO PRIOR KNOWLEDGE OF THE MATTER.

IN WASHINGTON, HUTSON SAID "THERE APPARENTLY IS SOME MISUNDERSTANDING ABOUT THIS."

HE SAID THAT HE HAD ATTENDED THE GROVER WHALEN LUNCHEON FOR BOR AND WAS CALLED ON FOR SOME REMARKS.

"I SPOKE EXTEMPORANEOUSLY AND AS I RECALL IT, I THANKED THE MAYOR'S RECEPTION COMMITTEE FOR THEIR COURTESIES TO THE UNITED NATIONS AND ADDED THAT I WAS SURE HE (GENERAL BOR) WOULD FIND THE HOSPITALITY AS REFRESHING AS HAD THE U.N." HUTSON SAID.

NEW YORK, MAY 25-(AP)-EDDY GILMORE, CHIEF OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BUREAU IN MOSCWO, DECLARED TODAY ON HIS ARRIVAL HERE FOR A VACATION THAT RUSSIA DOES NOT "WANT TO GO TO WAR WITH ANYBODY."

THE SOVIET UNION WISHES TO CONCENTRATE SOLELY ON PEACETIME PRODUCTION IN AN EFFORT TO TOP AMERICAN RECORDS, GILMORE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW, ADDING THAT HE DID NOT BELIEVE THIS WOULD BE ACHIEVED EVEN AFTER COMPLETION OF SEVERAL FIVE-YEAR PLANS.

RUSSIAN WAR PLANTS HAVE BEEN CONVERTED TO MANUFACTURE OF AMERICAN-TYE AUTOMOBILES, REFRIGERATORS, RADIOS AND TYPEWRITERS, THE NEWSMAN SAID, AND FOOD AND CLOTHING ARE BECOMING AVAILABLE IN MORE ABUNDANT QUANTITIES UNDER GOVERNMENT-CONTROLLED PRICES.

GILMORE, WHO ARRIVED ON THE LINER ARGENTINA, SAID THE RUSSIANS WERE DEVOTING GREAT EFFORT TO DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY, ADDING:

"IN ITS VAST SPACE, RUSSIA, WHICH OCCUPIES ONE-SIXTH OF THE WORLD'S SURFACE, HAS THE ANSWER TO THE ATOMIC BOMB. THEY LEARNED TO DECENTRALIZE THEIR INDUSTRIES DURING THE WAR AND THEY ARE PROCEEDING WITH THE DECENTRALIZATION WITH THE ATOMIC BOMB IN MIND."

THE CORRESPONDENT ASSERTED THAT THE SOVIET UNION DID NOT CONSIDER THAT IT WAS PURSUING EXPANSIONIST POLICIES.

"EXPANSION IS THE LAST THING IN THE WORLD ANY RUSSIAN WOULD CALL IT," HE SAID. "THEY DESCRIBE THEIR POLICIES AS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE SECURITY, JUST AS THEY WOULD ARGUE THAT THEY ARE THE ONLY NATION WHICH HAS FREEDOM OF THE PRESS."

COMMENTING ON GENERALISSIMO STALIN'S APPEARANCE AT THE MAY DAY PARADE THIS YEAR, GILMORE SAID "HE LOOKED TO BE SLOWING DOWN SOMEWHAT."

OF THE BILLION-DOLLAR LOAN RUSSIA IS SEEKING FROM THE UNITED STATES, GILMORE SAID:

"IT WOULD HELP THEM A GOOD DEAL WITH THEIR RECONSTRUCTION. BUT IF WE PUT ANY STRINGS ONTO THE LOAN, SUCH AS A PROVISO THAT IN ORDER TO OBTAIN IT AMERICAN NEWSPAPERMEN MUST BE ADMITTED TO RUSSIA FREELY AND CONGRESSMEN BE PERMITTED TO MAKE INSPECTION TOURS, THEY WOULD PROBABLY THUMB THEIR NOSES AT US. YOU KNOW, EVER SINCE THE INTERVENTION IN 1919, THEY FEEL AS THOUGH WE HAD TREATED THEM LIKE SECOND-CLASS CITIZENS."

GILMORE, WHO HAS BEEN IN RUSSIA FIVE YEARS, WAS ACCOMPANIED BY HIS WIFE, TAMARA, A FORMER STUDENT IN THE BOLSHOI BALLET THEATER, AND THEIR ONE AND A HALF YEAR OLD DAUGHTER, VICKI. HE SAID HE PLANNED TO SPEND SEVERAL MONTHS IN THIS COUNTRY AND WOULD VISIT HIS MOTHER, MRS. EVELYN GILMORE, IN SELMA, ALA., BEFORE RETURNING TO MOSCOW.

LONDON, MAY 25-(AP)-NO. 10 DOWNING STREET ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT A GOVERRNMENT STATEMENT ON CONSCRIPTION, SETTING FORTH THE TERMS OF SERVICE FOR PERSONS DRAFTED DURING "THE NEXT FEW YEARS," WILL BE MADE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THURSDAY.

UNDER BRITAIN'S PRESENT SYSTEM, CONSCRIPTION IS FOR AN INDEFINITE PERIOD.

THE NEW SYSTEM, WHICH A SPOKESMAN SAID IS "NOT FOR THE LONG TERM," IS INTENDED TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE PERSONNEL FOR FULFILLING BRITAIN'S OCCUPATION AND OTHER OVERSEAS COMMITMENTS DURING THE NEXT FEW YEARS.

A CAMPAIGN TO INCREASE VOLUNTARY ENLISTMENTS FOR BRITISH FIGHTING SERVICES WAS INAUGURATED LAST WEEK.

London - Morrison xxx con"

(THE BRITISH EMBASSY ATTACHES IN WASHINGTON SAID MORRISON DID NOT SAY AT ANY TIME THAT THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT HAD MADE AN ACTUAL COMMITMENT, BUT HE MERELY HAD MENTIONED STEPS AGREED UPON AND ANNOUNCED IN THE COMMUNIQUE ISSUED IN WASHINGTON. THEY SAID MAKIN'S TELEPHONE CONVERSATION WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS NOT XINTENDED TO QUESTION THE ACCURACY OF MCDERMOTT'S STATEMENT, BUT ADDED THAT IF THE EMBASSY HAD BEEN CONSULTED FIRST THE STATEMENT WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN ISSUED.)

MCDERMOTT'S STATEMENTS WERE THE SUBJECT OF A LONG DISCUSSION AT A FOREIGN OFFICE NEWS CONFERENCE.

MORRISON, LORD PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL AND MAJORITY LEADER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, WILL MAKE ANOTHER STATEMENT TO THE HOUSE EARLY NEXT WEEK IN REPLY TO MCDERMOTT.

MUCH OF THE FURORE HERE WAS CAUSED BY THE FACT THAT MCDERMOTT AIRED HIS VIEWS PUBLICLY. THE OFFICIAL BRITISH VIEW IS THAT THE MATTER SHOULD HAVE BEEN PURSUED THROUGH NORMAL DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS.

BY TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, MAY 25-(AP)-THE FOREIGN OFFICE TODAY SOUGHT AN EXPLANATION OF THE ACTION OF A U.S.STATE DEPARTMENT SPOKESMAN IN QUESTIONING PART OF THE REPORT ON FOOD MADE BY HERBERT MORRISON THIS WEEK AFTER CONFERENCES WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND OTHER OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THE WHOLE MATTER WAS BEING TAKEN UP THROUGH THE BRITISH EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON.

MORRISON IS MAJORITY LEADER IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. ON HIS RETURN FROM WASHINGTON HE TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THURSDAY, ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL TRANSCRIPT:

"SO FAR AS GERMANY IS CONCERNED, THEY (THE UNITED STATES) HAVE ACCEPTED THE PROPOSITION THAT THERE SHOULD NOT BE A STARVING OR A MORE UNDERFED BRITISH ZONE IN GERMANY SIDE BY SIDE WITH AN AMERICAN ZONE WHICH IS GETTING ASSURED FOOD SUPPLIES, BUT THAT BOTH ZONES SHALL WORK TO THE SAME STANDARD OF RATIONING."

AS FOR INDIA, HE SAID "THE ALLOTMENTS WHICH THE UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN GOVERNMENTS HAVE AGREED TO SUPPORT WILL SECURE TO INDIA SHIPMENTS IN 1946 AT A VERY MUCH HIGHER RATE THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS YEAR."

YESTERDAY MICHAEL MCDERMOTT OF THE U.S.STATE DEPARTMENT TOLD REPORTERS IN WASHINGTON:

"THE UNITED STATES HAS MADE NO COMMITMENT TO KEEP RATIONS IN THE BRITISH ZONE UP TO THE LEVEL OF THOSE OF THE U.S.ZONE. IN INDIA WE HAVE MADE NO COMMITMENTS, WE'LL DO THE BEST WE CAN."

BRITISH NEWSPAPERS TODAY SPLASHED REPORTS OF THE AMERICAN STATEMENT, AND THE QUESTION WAS THE SUBJECT OF PROLONGED DISCUSSION AT A FOREIGN OFFICE PRESS CONFERENCE.

DIPLOMATIC SOURCES REPORTED THEY UNDERSTOOD THAT BRITAIN REGARDED AS UNSATISFACTORY THE METHOD WITH WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAD ACTED.

THEY REPORTED THE OFFICIAL VIEW TO BE THAT, IF THERE WERE ANY STATE DEPARTMENT MISGIVINGS REGARDING MORRISON'S REPORT, THE CORRECT COURSE WOULD HAVE BEEN FOR WASHINGTON TO ASK AN EXPLANATION THROUGH OFFICIAL CHANNELS.

MORRISON PLANS TO MAKE ANOTHER REPORT TO THE COMMONS NEXT WEEK.

EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND, MAY 25-(AP)-THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND'S ANNUAL ASSEMBLY WAS TOLD TODAY THAT UNLESS A THREATENED ATOMIC ARMAMENTS RACE IS AVOIDED "THE WORLD WILL LIVE IN VAST FEAR AND APPREHENSION, AND UNDER CONDITIONS WHICH WOULD OFFER THE MOST DEADLY INCENTIVES TO AGGRESSION."

THE WARNING WAS DELIVERED BY ONE OF THE CHURCH'S COMMITTEES, SHORTLY AFTER PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE TOLD THE DELEGATES THE WORLD "HAS A VERY LONG WAY TO GO" BEFORE THE IDEALS OF THE UNITED NATIONS CAN BE TURNED INTO REALITY. THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND, WHICH IS PRESBYTERIAN BY CONSTITUTION, HAS A TOTAL MEMBERSHIP OF MORE THAN 1,250,000.

MAY 26 1946

SAID THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT, WHICH WILL BE DEBATED BY THE ASSEMBLY:

"THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN ARE NOT PREPARED TO SHARE THEIR KNOWLEDGE WITH RUSSIA UNTIL THEY HAVE ADEQUATE GUARANTEES [redacted] 10 YEARS, INDUSTRIALIZED COUNTRIES WILL BE EQUIPPED WITH THE ATOMIC BOMB.

"UNTIL THE ATOMIC PROBLEM IS SOLVED THE WORLD WILL LIVE IN VAST FEAR AND APPREHENSION AND UNDER CONDITIONS WHICH WOULD OFFER THE MOST DEADLY INCENTIVES TO AGGRESSION."

ATTLEE TOLD THE DELEGATES THAT "THE CHAGTER OF THE UNITED NATIONS SETS OUT FINE AND LOFTY IDEALS, BUT WE HAVE A VERY LONG WAY TO GO BEFORE WE CAN TURN THIS IDEALISM INTO REALITY."

HE EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT THE WORLD "IS LONGING FOR PEACE. BUT PEACE WILL NOT COME THROUGH FEAR OF WAR OR FROM A PACIFICISM WHICH IS ONLY A HEDONISTIC DISLIKE OF TAKING RESPONSIBILITY.

"IT WILL ONLY COME IF MEN AND WOMEN THE WORLD OVER ARE FILLED WITH A POSITIVE CONCEPTION OF WHAT HUMAN LIFE OUGHT TO BE AND WITH A DEVOTION TO THE COMMON SERVICE OF MANKIND AS GREAT AS THAT WHICH IMPLIED SO MANY SACRIFICES IN WAR."

TEHRAN, MAY 25-(AP)-TABRIZ IS A PLACE OF FEAR AND SUSPICION. ITS PEOPLE TALK IN WHISPERS AND HAVE FORGOTTEN HOW TO SMILE.

FOR EIGHT DAYS I WALKED AND RODE THROUGH THE NARROW, WINDING STREETS OF THIS ANCIENT CARAVAN CENTER OF AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE, WHERE POST-WAR OPPORENISTS HAVE

POST-WAR OPPORTUNISTS HAVE ESTABLISHED AUTONOMOUS RULE. I NEVER OONCE LOST THE FEELING THAT THE PEOPLE LIVED IN TERROR.

STERN, QUESTIONING LOOKS FOLLOW FOREIGNERS. EVERYONE IS SUSPECTED OF BEING A SPY. RESIDENTS RETIRE BEHIND CLAY WALLS, AND THE STREETS ARE SILENT AFTER DARK.

OFFICIALS, EXCEPT THOSE AT THE TOP, POINTEDLY AVOID SPEAKING TO ANGLO-SAXONS.

UNSEEN BY NEIGHBORS, SOME WHISPER THAT 90 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION OPPOSES THE "FOREIGN-SPONSORED NATIONAL GOVERNMENT--BUT THE OTHER 10 PER CENT ARE ARMED."

A TELEGRAPH OFFICE PORTER TO WHOM I OFFERED A SMALL TIP FOR CARRYING A MESSAGE TO ANOTHER PART OF THE BUILDING DROPPED THE BILL TO THE FLOOR. TO A TRUSTED FRIEND HE EXPLAINED HE WAS BEING WATCHED BY AN "OBSERVER" OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY. HE SAID HE WAS QUESTIONED FOR HOURS ABOUT THE INCIDENT AND ASKED WHERE HE HAD PREVIOUSLY KNOWN "THIS FOREIGNER."

A YOUNG IRAQI INTERPRETER WAS WARNED BY A "FRIEND" IN THE SECRET POLICE TO STAY AWAY FROM AMERICANS.

ONE EVENING I HEARD SHOTS UNDER MY HOTEL WINDOW. I SAW A GANG OF CIVILIAN RIFLEMEN AND SOLDIERS QUARRELING. AN ARMY OFFICER APPEARED AND ORDERED TWO UNARMED AZERBAIJANIANS TAKEN AWAY UNDER ARMED GUARD.

A GROUP OF AMERICAN AND ENGLISH CONSULAR REPRESENTATIVES IN A CAFE WERE THREATENED BY AN ARMED POLICE OFFICER, WHO ASKED, "WHY DO YOU LAUGH AT US?" DRAWING HIS PISTOL, HE SAID, "SOME DAY I SHALL USE THIS ON YOU ANGLO-SAXONS."

A COURIER OF THE BRITISH CONSUL WAS DENIED ADMISSION TO AN AIRFIELD TO TAKE A PLANE TO TEHRAN.

JAFAR PISHEVARI, PREMIER OF UNRECOGNIZED AZERBAIJAN, APOLOGIZED FOR WHAT HE TERMED "ISOLATED INCIDENTS" AND SAID PERSONS RESPONSIBLE WOULD BE PUNISHED.

AMMAN, TRANS-JORDAN, MAY 25-(AP)-IN A SETTING OF DAZZLING REGAL SPENDOR, BEARDED, 64-YEAR-OLD ABDULLAH IBN AL HUSSEIN FORMALLY ACCEPTED KINGSHIP TODAY OVER 300,000 SUBJECTS, AND CALLED UPON THE REST OF THE ARAB WORLD TO UNITE WITH HIM FOR A FEDERATION OF ARAB STATES.

SURROUNDED BY 300 DISTINGUISHED GUESTS IN RESPLENDENT UNIFORMS, THE REGALLY ROBED AND TURBANED MONARCH ASCENDED THE THRONE IN A CEREMONY WHICH LASTED 14 MINUTES, CLIMAXING ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT DAYS IN TRANS-JORDAN'S 5,000-YEAR HISTORY.

GREAT FEASTING FOLLOWED THE ENTHRONEMENT CEREMONY. FOR THE GUESTS AT THE LUNCHEON, 56 WHOLE ROASTED SHEEP WERE SERVED ON HAMMERED BRONZE PLATTERS. A BANQUET WAS ARRANGED FOR THE EVENING, AND MANY OTHER FEASTS AND FUNCTIONS WILL BE HELD DURING THE THREE-DAY HOLIDAY PROCLAIMED TO MARK TRANS-JORDAN'S EMERGENCE AS AN INDEPENDENT KINGDOM.

MAY 25 1946

THE NEW RULER OF THIS BRITISH-PROTECTED KINGDOM ASSUMED HIS THRONE BY VIRTUE OF A TREATY SIGNED LAST MONTH, ENDING BRITAIN'S LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATE GOVERNMENT.

THOUSANDS OF ABDULLAH'S SUBJECTS WHO GATHERED OUTSIDE THE CREAM-COLORED PALACE CHEERED WILDLY WHEN THE MONARCH'S FOREIGN MINISTER, MOHAMMED PASHA SHURAIKY, READ FROM THE PORCH OF THE COUNCIL BUILDING THE PROCLAMATION OF AMENDMENTS TO BASIC LAWS PROVIDING FOR THE MONARCHY.

WHEN THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS READ THE ARAB LEGION OF HONOR GUARD FIRED A RIFLE SALUTE, A BRITISH ARAB LEGION OFFICER ATOP A HOUSE WAVED A BANNER, AND FOUR CANNON PLACED ON A NEARBY MOUNTAIN--ON THE SITE OF AN ANCIENT FORT--FIRED A SALUTE OF 101 GUNS IN HONOR OF THE NEW KING.

THE KING ARRIVED AT THE PALACE ACCOMPANIED BY HIS TWO SONS, EMIR TALAL AND EMIR NAIF, AND THE REGENT ABDULLAH, HIS ROYAL REPRESENTATIVE.

THE NEW MONARCH WORE A TURBAN OF WHITE SILK WITH RED AND GOLD BROCADE, A GOLD-EMBROIDERED BLACK ROBE AND THE GOLD CHAIN OF ARABIC ROYALTY. HE SAT ON A RED PLUSH CHAIR, FLANKED BY MINISTERS AND DIPLOMATS.

AFTER THE BRIEF ENTHRONEMENT CEREMONY--IN THE MOSLEM WORLD KINGS ARE NOT CROWNED--THE NEW MONARCH IN A TWO MINUTE SPEECH EXPRESSED HIS GRATITUDE TO "GOD AND MY LOYAL SUBJECTS."

ABDULLAH WAS ACKNOWLEDGED OFFICIALLY AS KING WHEN HIS PREMIER, IBRAHIM PASHA HASHIN SHOUTED "LONG LIVE THE KING" THREE TIMES IN ARABIC.

FOREIGN MINISTER SHURAIKY PASHA MADE A BRIEF ADDRESS IN WHICH HE PRAISED ADDULLAH'S EFFORTS TO UNITE THE ARAB NATIONS AND CEMENT GOOD RELATIONS WITH BRITAIN AND AMERICA. THE FOREIGN MINISTER ADDED THAT "THE ARABS OF THE WORLD ARE UNITED BEHIND YOUR THRONE AS THEY NEVER BEFORE WERE UNITED."

THE STREETS OF AMMAN, DUSTY NEWCOMER AMONG WORLD CAPITALS, HAD TEEMED WITH ARAB CITIZENRY SINCE DAYBREAK. PREMIER IBRAHIM PASHA HASHAM READ BEFORE THE LEGISLATIVE COUUNCIL AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF COUNCIL ACTIONS AMENDING THE BASIC LAWS OF THE COUNTRY, DECLARING IT A SOVEREIGN STATE.

DIGNITARIES OF BRITISH AND ARAB COUNTRIES, IN GLITTERING, BE-MEDALLED UNIFORMS, ATTENDED THE ENTHRONEMENT IN OFFICIAL CAPACITIES.

THE UNITED STATES WAS REPRESENTED BY THE CONSUL AT JERUSALEM, GEN.LOWELL PINKERTON, BUT A CONSULATE SPOKESMAN SAID HIS PRESENCE WAS UNOFFICIAL, SUBJECT TO AMERICAN RECOGNITION OF TRANS-JORDAN WHICH IS UNDER STUDY IN WASHINGTON.

REPLYING TO SEVERAL COMPLAINTS, THE CABINET DELEGATION SAID BRITISH TROOPS WOULD BE WITHDRAWN FROM INDIA AS SOON AS THE CONSTITUTION WAS COMPLETED. THE DELEGATION ALSO SAID THAT "CESSION OF SOVEREIGNTY TO THE INDIAN PEOPLE" WOULD BE RECOMMENDED TO THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT AT THAT TIME.

SUCH A CESSION OF SOVEREIGNTY WOULD DEPEND UPON A CONSTITUTION MAKING "ADEQUATE PROVISION FOR THE PROTECTION OF MINORITIES" AND "UPON THE WILLINGNESS (OF INDIA) TO CONCLUDE A TREATY WITH HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT TO COVER MATTERS ARISING OUT OF THE TRANSFER OF POWER."

THE STATEMENT, ISSUED JOINTLY BY THE CABINET DELEGATION AND THE VICEROY, FIELD MARSHAL LORD WAVELL, WAS FIRM IN TONE AND INDICATED A BRITISH DISPOSITION TO GET INDIAN PARTY LEADERS INTO A CONSTITUTION-AMKING BODY AND THERE IRON OUT REMAINING DIFFERENCES.

"ONCE A CONSTITUTENT ASSEMBLY IS FORMED AND WORKING ON THE (OUTLINED) BASIS," THE STATEMENT SAID, "THERE IS NO INTENTION OF INTERFERING WITH ITS DECISIONS."

TO MEET THE CONGRESS PARTY'S OBJECTIONS, THE CABINET GROUP DECLARED:

"IT IS AGREED THAT THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE A NEW BASIS. THAT BASIS IS THAT ALL PORTFOLIOS, INCLUDING THAT OF THE WAR MEMBER, WILL BE HELD BY INDIANS, AND THAT THE MEMBERS WILL BE SELECTED IN CONSULTATION WITH INDIAN POLITICAL PARTIES."

TOKYO,MAY 25-(AP)-JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WORKERS, TRADITIONALLY UNDERPAID, TODAY WERE PROMISED PAY INCREASES OF 30 TO 100 PERCENT, EFFECTIVE JULY 1. LIVING COSTS HAVE RISEN 850 PERCENT DURING ALLIED OCCUPATION.

THE INCREASES, DESIGNED TO BRING GOVERNMENT WORKERS' PAY CLOSER TO THE EARNING LEVEL IN PRIVATE INDUSTRY, WILL GO TO MORE THAN 1,500,000. THEY WERE APPROVED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR.

THEODORE COHEN, CHIEF OF MACARTHUR'S LABOR DIVISION, SAID ONLY A FEW WORKERS WOULD RECEIVE THE 500 YEN ($33.33) MONTHLY JAPANESE ARE PERMITTED TO SPEND UNDER CURRENCY-FREEZING REGULATIONS. HE SAID THE GOVERNMENT WORKERS HAD RECEIVED A PREVIOUS BOOST OF 20 TO 40 PERCENT SINCE THE OCCUPATION.

EMPLOYES IN PRIVATE INDUSTRY HAVE RECEIVED RAISES OF 200 TO 400 PERCENT IN THE SAME PERIOD.

MEANTIME, SHARP CRITICISM OF EMPEROR HIROHITO'S FRIDAY BROADCAST ON JAPAN'S FOOD CRISIS CAME FROM SEVERAL QUARTERS.

BLUNTEST CRITICISM WAS VOICED BY AN ANONYMOUS COMMENTATOR IN JAPAN'S LARGEST NEWSPAPER, ASAHI SHIMBUN.

"HIS MAJESTY IS THE PERSONIFICATION OF ALL THE TRAGEDIES IN JAPAN'S HISTORY," THE COMMENTATOR ASSERTED. HE ADDED THAT HIROHITO "LAMENTABLY NEEDS GOOD ADVISERS."

MRS.SHIGUE KATO, THE FORMER BARONESS ISHIMOTO, A MEMBER OF THE DIET, SAID THE EMPEROR FAILED TO PROPOSE A SOLUTION TO THE FOOD PROBLEM.

"HIS APPEAL OS US TO ENDURE PRIVATIONS AND HARDSHIPS MAY BE TAKEN AS ADVICE TO SIT AND STARVE," SHE ADDED. "I FELT SORROWFUL WHEN I HEARD THIS PASSAGE."

THE EMPEROR'S WISH THAT HIS PEOPLE HELP EACH OTHER AND KEEP ALIVE "THE FINE TRADITION OF A FAMILY NATION" WAS VIEWED CRITICALLY BY THE PRESS, WHICH DECLARED IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO LIVE AS A BIG FAMILY BECAUSE STARVING PEOPLE HAVE NOTHING TO SHARE WITH EACH OTHER.

COMMUNIST LEADER SANNI NOSAKA CHARGED THAT "REACTIONARY ELEMENTS . . . SIMPLY GAVE A WRITTEN SPEECH TO THE EMPEROR AND HAD HIM BROADCAST IT."

THE HAILSTONES, REPORTED TO BE AS GREAT AS HALF AN INCH IN DIAMETER, BATTERED AN ESTIMATED 10 PERCENT OF THE KANTO AREA'S WHEAT INTO THE GROUND.

THE GOVERNOR OF KANAGAWA PREFECTURE WAS ASKED TO URGE THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT TO CHECK REPORTS THAT 300,000 BALES OF POLISHED RICE HAD BEEN ABANDONED BY THE JAPANESE ARMY IN CACHES ON CHICHI ISLAND, NEAR IWO JIMA. THAT QUANTITY WOULD ALLEVIATE THE FOOD SHORTAGE IN THE POPULOUS TOKYO-YOKOHAMA AREA.

THE NEWSPAPER NIPPON KEIZAI SAID FARMERS OPPOSED A PROPOSAL THAT THE GOVERNMENT ASSUME CONTROL OF ALL FARM PRODUCE. IT REPORTED SOME FARMERS BELIEVED SUCH A PLAN WOULD LEAD TO INCREASED HOARDING AND THAT MANY WOULD PLANT ONLY ENOUGH FOR THEIR OWN NEEDS.

MEANWHILE, PREMIER YOSHIDA'S NEW CABINET MET TO DISCUSS THE FOOD PROBLEM. MEAGER REPORTS INDICATED THAT THE MECHANICS OF RATIONING WERE TAKEN UP. THE DISCUSSION WILL BE RESUMED AT THE NEXT CABINET MEETING (PRESUMABLY MONDAY).

(THERE WAS NO INDICATION WHETHER AGRICULTURE MINISTER HIRO WADA GAVE HIS SCHEDULED PLAN FOR SOLVING THE FOOD PROBLEM.)

TOKYO, MAY 25-(AP)-AMERICAN REQUESTS FOR ADVICE ON LAND REFORMS, LABOR UNIONS AND DISPOSITION OF JAPANESE GOVERNMENT PROPERTY WERE PLACED ON THE ALLIED COUNCIL'S AGENDA TODAY, LEADING HIGH COUNCIL SOURCES TO EXPRESS BELIEF THAT GENERAL MACARTHUR HAD ADOPTED A MORE PROPITIATORY ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE COUNCIL.

HERETOFORE THE RUSSIAN, CHINESE AND BRITISH MEMBERS HAVE ASKED QUESTIONS AND THE AMERICAN MEMBER HAS SUPPLIED DISCURSIVE ANSWERS WHICH THE OTHERS ON OCCASION HAVE SAID AMOUNTED TO A "BRUSHOFF."

U.N. GROUP SPLIT ON SPAIN

Said To Differ On How Far To Go In Report

New York, May 26 (AP)—Members of the United Nations subcommittee investigating Franco Spain were reliably reported today to be split over how far they will go in setting forth their findings to the Security Council.

As they approached the deadline for their report, a delegate who refused to permit use of his name said they were divided over whether they should draft definite conclusions or merely summarize the material they have gathered.

Report Due Friday

The report is due Friday.

The delegate said the difficulties grew out of different interpretations of the instructions under which the subcommittee is operating. Poland and France were said to feel that the subcommittee should offer strong conclusions, with Brazil and China opposed to this stand and Australia's position still unknown.

The Council, on April 29, resolved "to make further studies in order to determine whether the situation in Spain has led to international friction and does endanger international peace and security, and if it so finds, then to determine what practical measures the United Nations may take."

Subcommittee Appointed

To assist it in making these studies and determining its action, the Council appointed the subcommittee of five members with instructions to examine statements made before the Council on Spain, "to receive further statements and documents, and to conduct such inquiries as it may deem necessary and to report to the Security Council before the end of May."

This same delegate said there were indications that Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish representative who introduced the original demand for a world-wide break of relations with Franco, now was ready to settle for a strong moral condemnation of the Falangist regime plus so far unstated stipulations which would fall short of a break.

Actually the committee has made public little new material despite its general world-wide call for information and a month of sessions. All the documents so far have condemned the present Spanish Government. But the Council itself already was on record with "unanimous moral condemnation of the Franco regime."

Public Hearing

How much of the material presented supports Poland's contention that Franco threatens world peace will be up to the Council to decide finally.

Jose Giral, Premier of the exiled Republican government, has offered hundreds of pages of documents and statements stressing such items as the size of the Spanish armed forces, its purported harboring of Nazi agents, activities of the Falange in the Western Hemisphere, and the country's war potential. He will appear again at 3 P.M. tomorrow at another public hearing by the committee.

On the other hand the lengthy memorandum from the United States Government expressed that Franco's forces were modern enough to wage a war and said it could find no evidence of atomic research within Spain.

Giral said upon his arrival here from Mexico City that he would present additional information on the report that scientists were engaged in such research inside the country and may put forth such documents tomorrow.

LONDON, May 27 (Monday).—Russia has agreed to supply Poland's armies with arms and munitions on the basis of long-term credits, the Moscow radio announced today. The agreement was reached at the conclusion of Russian-Polish talks at Moscow.

The Moscow broadcast said the Soviet-Polish talks also covered an exchange of nationals between the two countries, and added that the governments of Poland and Russia "are in full harmony."

Credits are being extended to Poland by the Soviet Union, the broadcast said, in view of the "difficulties encountered by the Polish government in getting Polish gold reserves which were placed in foreign banks before and during the war."

Stalin Host to Bierut

Polish President Boleslaw Bierut attended the talks at the Soviet capital. An earlier Moscow broadcast said Prime Minister Stalin gave a dinner at the Kremlin Saturday night for Bierut and seven members of the Polish Cabinet.

The dinner was held "in a most cordial atmosphere," and followed a reception by Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov for the visitors, the broadcast said.

The Soviet official news agency, Tass, quoted Stanislaw Szwalbe, vice-president of the Polish National Council (Parliament), as having said before he left Warsaw that closer co-operation with Russia "becomes the more important for us in connection with the difficulties in establishing economic relations with the Anglo-Saxon countries." Tass said Szwalbe referred especially to the question of the American loan to Poland which has been held up.

—Warsaw Debt to Britain Is Reported Cut to 40 Million

An official Polish source at London said yesterday that British Treasury officials had agreed to reduce Poland's debt to Britain from $600,000,000 to $40,000,000, with the proviso that $12,000,000 would be repaid immediately from Polish gold reserves now held in London.

British Treasury officials agreed to the reduction, the Polish sources said, provided that $12,000,000 would be repaid immediately from Polish gold reserves held here.

The balance, these sources said, would be paid in installments after a five-year moratorium. A newly arrived team of financial experts from Poland, headed by the director of the Polish National Bank, is discussing the settlement with British officials.

The original $600,000,000 debt included approximately $300,000,000 for equipment and maintenance of the Polish forces, which fought under British command.

The rest is made up mainly of British expenditures for the care of Polish refugees in the Middle East and expenses of the wartime Polish Government in London.

Bevin and Molotov Mark Fourth Anniversary of Treaty of Friendship

London, May 26 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that V. M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, had sent a message to Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, expressing the hope that the twenty-year British-Soviet treaty of alliance would continue to serve "as a basis for the co-ordinated and friendly activities of Great Britain and the U.S.S.R."

The message followed Bevin's greeting to Molotov on the fourth anniversary of the treaty. Bevin said it was his "deepest wish" that the treaty "should be entirely fulfilled."

Molotov's message said:

"On the fourth anniversary of the signing of the Anglo-Soviet treaty of alliance, I beg you and the Governmnt of Great Britain to accept from the Government of the U.S.S.R. and from myself personally greetings and best wishes.

War Benefits Cited

"In the years of war against our common foe, this treaty was the basis of beneficial military and political collaboration between our countries.

"Let us hope that also at present, when the Allies are occupied with solving the problems of the organization of postwar relations among the peoples, the Anglo-Soviet treaty, despite all difficulties in our road, will continue to serve just as effectively as a basis for the co-ordinated and friendly activities of Great Britain and the U.S.S.R., directed toward safeguarding the interests of our peoples and strengthening peace and security."

Bevin's Message To Molotov

Bevin had said in his message to Molotov that "we both realize that in the great difficulties that arise after such a great world war, patience, tolerance and understanding are necessary."

"In order to arrive at complete understanding it is a great help to be fortified by the knowledge that our alliance springs from the deep desires and interests of our peoples; and it is my deepest wish that it should be entirely fulfilled and realized in our mutual relation."

Moscow Commentator Attacks U.S. 'Attitude'

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—Moscow radio said today some people think the world is "a sort of big school, where the United states representative plays the hole of a teacher and the others are pupils."

"Such a conception is very far from reality," declared the commentator Analyzer in an English-language broadcast, asserting that "an essential requisite for durable peace is teamwork and mutual understanding among the three nations that bore the brunt of the war."

The commentator said Big Three unity was not to be achieved "by talking of being hard" or "by following suggestions made by people who combine ignorance in international affairs with a desire to dominate the world."

London Papers Assail U.S.

London, May 26 (AP)—London newspapers today attacked both Cabinet Minister Herbert Morrison and the United States for what they called "The Great Food Mystery," and there were indication the Conservatives were preparing to force a full scale food debate in the House of Commons.

Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express declared that the United States denial of Morrison's statement on British-American food agreements "has given Whitehall its biggest shock in years." The tabloid Sunday Pictorial carried this headline: "Food—U. S. Denial Angers London."

Morrison in reporting to the House of Commons last Thursday on his food talks in Washington said the United States had agreed to help "unreservedly" in supplying India and the British zone of occupied Germany, but added it would be "embarrassing" to report exact figures.

Sharp Criticism Follows

His report brought sharp criticism from the Conservative opposition leader, Winston Churchill, who described it as "a rigamarole," and "officialese, which is not meant to give any information at all."

On Friday Michael McDermott, special assistant in the United States State Department, said in Washington that "no commitments of the sort specified by Mr. Morrison have been made by this Government." Yesterday the British Embassy in Washington said special representations were made to the State Department in the matter.

The Conservative London Chronicle accused Morrison of "a lack of frankness" in declining to reveal to the House of Commons what definite commitments he may have obtained from the United States.

"Gave Up 200,000 Tons"

The Sunday Times, also a Conservative newspaper, said Morrison "gave up" 200,000 tons of British grain during the Washington talks "against compensation which is still vague and verbal."

Several other papers referred to what the Express called "simply a British gift of another 200,000 tons of wheat with nothing in return."

Morrison told the House of Commons that he had agreed only to reduce British claims between now and September by 200,000 tons of wheat, and emphasized he did not relinquish wheat which was either "here or on the way here."

Shaw To Bypass Victory 'Spree'

London, May 26 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw says he will have no part of Britain's victory celebration June 8 because "sprees are not in my line."

In a letter to the Sunday Pictorial, the 89-year-old playwright said:

"Victory is very far from being won yet, and I am deeply tired of the war. The atomic-bomb scare, which produced the second armistice, is nothing to be proud of.

"However, any excess is good enough for a spree, so let those rejoice who feel like it."

RED PARTY LEADS IN CZECH ELECTION

LONDON Monday, May 27—(AP) The Prague radio said today that the Communists and the left wing Social Democrats won 65 per cent of the votes cast in Czech provinces in yesterday's Czechoslovak national elections.

However, the radio said, the tables were reversed in Slovakia, where the "right wing Democratic party has gained about 60 per cent of the votes, leaving the Communists far behind with 32 percent."

Terming the election results in the Czech provinces a "great victory of the left," the radio said the Communists polled 40 per cent of the votes in those provinces and the Social Democrats 25 per cent, leaving the other parties far behind.

"Almost all the large towns in Bohemia and Moravia will probably be held by the Communists," the radio said.

COMMUNISTS LEAD IN CZECH ELECTION

Rightist Party In Slovakia, However, Shows Strength

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Monday, May 27 (AP)—The Communists carried the city of Prague and gained strong support in the populous Czech sections of Czechoslovakia, an unofficial tabulation of 25 per cent of the vote in yesterday's national election showed.

The final unofficial figures for Prague were:

Communists, 240,000; National Socialists, the former party of President Eduard Benes, 222,000; the People's (Catholic) Party, 105,000, and the left wing Social Democrats, 97,000.

Rightists Lead In Slovakia

In general the Communists were running ahead in the Czech areas of Bohemia-Moravia, but appeared unable, however, to overtake the lead established by the Right Wing Democratic party in Slovakia. With 500,000 votes counted in Slovakia, the Democrats—an approximate political counterpart of he People's Party in the Czech province—won 59 per cent of the ballots and the Communists 32 per cent.

Political party leaders speculated whether the Comunists and the Social Democrats would be able to muster a leftist majority in the national constituent assembly.

To Elect 300 To Assembly

The election will fill 300 seats in the National Constituent Assembly and local officers.

Voting is compulsory, and Czech citizens turned out early in large numbers under clear skies.

Correspondents taken on a tour of ballot places of their own choosing found the voting procedure similar to those of the United States and Great Britain.

Each voter, given slips of paper with the name of a different party on each one, went behind a screen, placed his choice in an envelope and deposited the envelope in a ballot box, discarding the other slips in a barrel.

pation zone of Germany.

The count showed that the Christian Social Union, backed by the Catholic church, had 326,028 votes, and the Social Democrats, slightly left of center, had 310,550.

Communists Poor Third

The Communists were running a poor third with 75,576 votes, despite the fact they were believed to have most of their strength in the cities.

The Christian Social Union took the lead in Munich, Heidelberg and 22 other cities, chiefly in Catholic Bavaria. Returns from the northern cities of the occupation zone, including the supposed Social Democratic strongholds of Frankfurt and Kassel, had not been tabulated.

The election was for joint city-county, councils.

Voters in Pforzheim gave the Social Democrat party 8,034 votes and nine council seats against 6,663 votes and eight seats for the Conservative Christian Social Union, Southern German's dominant rural party.

The Communists chalked up only 2,145 votes and two seats in Pforzheim, with the Liberal Democrats, a centerist party, tallying 4,668 votes and five seats.

Nazi Fraud Uncovered

In Frankfurt, the free balloting uncovered evidence of previous fraudulent Nazi elections. Voters going to the polls found marked ballots of the 1938 plebiscite for the incorporation of Austria into the Reich.

These old ballots were in envelopes which, in Germany, are used from one election to another. The marked ballots had been in the unsealed envelopes for eight years—they never had been taken out and counted.

Stand In Line In Rain

Party officials said today's elections had stimulated more interest than the free elections in pre-Hitler Germany. People stood in line to vote long before the polls opened, despite heavy rains. Discharged German soldiers and many young people turned out.

In some areas German police were called to enforce order as a result of disturbances deriving from poor organizations. In Frankfurt hundreds of voters went to the wrong polling centers. When the polls closed many people still had not voted as a result of confusion resulting from inaccurate registers.

BY OCCUPATION ZONE HALTED

U.S. Bars Reich Deliveries Until 4 Powers Agree To Keep Potsdam Pact

Berlin, May 26 (AP)—The United States has stopped reparations deliveries from its occupation zone in the Reich, except for factories which already have been allocated, until all four occuping powers agree to put the Potsdam decision to administer Germany as an economic whole into effect.

The new American policy was announced tonight by Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor.

Brig. Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., chief of the United States military government's economics division, outlined the American position as follows:

"If Germany is to be divided permanently, our denuding of industry in our zone would merely give us the dubious pleasure of always having to support Germany."

American Tax Burden

The American taxpayers' burden for occupation, mainly for food in the United States zone, has been running about $1,000,000,000 annually, and food imports must be increased to prevent famine in the west, military government authorities said.

Clay said the Americans had halted deliveries "to safeguard the economy of our zone" in the event—now considered a probability in some quarters—that the Potsdam protocol never would be implemented. In this case, Germany probably would remain divided for some time into two parts: a Russian-occupied eastern half and a western half occupied by the United States, Britain and France.

Clay said that the embargo on further shipments of industrial equipment applied to all reparations claimants.

Christian Social Union Wins Lead In German City Voting

Frankfurt, Germany, Monday, May 27 (AP)—The Christian Social Union took a slight lead over the Social Democrats today as officials completed their count of the first one third of an estimated 2,000,000 ballots cast yesterday in elections in 38 cities in the American occupation zone of Germany.

Army Forbids Talking About Lichfield Trial

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 26 (AP)—United States Army orders forbidding American military personnel connected with the Lichfield brutality trials to give information to correspondents were displayed officially tonight as preparations were completed to resume the controversial courts-martial.

The orders, signed by Brig. Gen. T. F. Bresnahan, were posted in the pressroom used by reporters covering the trials of six officers and eight enlisted men accused of mistreating American soldier-prisoners in a United States Army guardhouse at Lichfield, England.

Outside the courtrooms all information given to reporters must be through special press representatives named by the Army, the orders said, adding there would be restrictions on news which "tends to prejudice discipline" or "to involve superior officers in controversy."

Secret Radio Found In Rome

London, May 26 (AP)—The Rome radio, heard in London by the Associated Press, said today that a secret radio station which has been broadcasting Fascist propaganda has been discovered by the police.

Communism Attacks Sleeping, Franco Says

Cadiz, Spain, May 26 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco said today that "communism only attacks peoples who are not awake" and added that the people of Spain are intelligent and not vulnerable.

Franco, who traveled here during the past week from Gijon on the Bay of Biscay, told a crowd in this old southern Spanish port that Spain's future again faces the sea. He said he hoped to return to Cadiz next year to inaugurate port improvements now under construction.

Will Stay Pending Final Ruling

He said the reversal of the Russian order was transmitted to him by Brig. Gen. C. V. R. Schuyler, United States member of the Allied Control Commission. It said he would be allowed to remain in Romania until a "final decision" was reached.

Markham said he had decided to stay but would not work as a correspondent pending Russian disposal of the case.

Last Tuesday Markham was informed that the Russians had reimposed censorship on his copy, directing the Romanian cable office not to pass any of his dispatches without first submitting them to the Russian censors.

Say Bulgaria Expelled Him

This action was taken after Romanian newspapers had reprinted a story from Gratni Nou, Romanian-language newspaper of the Red Army, which attacked Markham and alleged he had addressed an opposition political meeting. The Red Army paper declared Markham "was expelled from Bulgaria for embittering United States-Bulgarian relations" and should be prevented from traveling through Romania.

Markham at the time declared the allegations were untrue and denied he had been expelled from Bulgaria, although the Bulgarian Government press waged a campaign against him last fall.

U. S. ARMY PAPER SCORED

Russian-Ruled Austrian Journal Calls Reporter a Warmonger

VIENNA, May 26 (AP)—The Russian-controlled Oesterreichische Zeitung attacked the United States Army's newspaper, The Stars and Stripes, today, saying that its Vienna correspondent, Arthur Noyes, was a "warmonger."

The Vienna newspaper quoted Mr. Noyes as reporting that Russian occupation forces lived off the land and that Russian troops were being withdrawn under American pressure. Mr. Noyes, a former Chicago newspaper man, said that he had been misquoted by the newspaper.

The editorial declared that the Russians were importing food into Austria for both their troops and the civilian population. Some troops were being withdrawn, the newspaper said, not because of outside pressure "but because of the need for manpower to carry out the five-year plan, to heal the wounds that the Hitler gang inflicted and to reconstruct for peace."

The newspaper said that The Stars and Stripes, "which takes such an interest in who lives off Austrian foods, should concern itself with Fascist foreigners in Austria." There are 300,000 Fascists in Austria and in the American zone "one can find them everywhere," the newspaper said.

Delegation To Discuss Nazi Assets In Sweden

Stockholm, May 26 (AP)—A Swedish official delegation of three men departed by air for New York today enroute to Washington to discuss with representatives of the United States, Britain and France the disposal of German assets frozen in Sweden.

Supreme Court Judge Emil Sandstroem, leader of the delegation, told the newspaper Aftonbladet before departure that German assets in Sweden total approximately 400,000,000 crowns ($94,000,000), while Swedish claims against Germany are estimated at 1,000,000,000 crowns ($212,000,000). More than half the Swedish claims are due on commercial deals. The rest are for Swedish property lost or destroyed in Germany.

TABRIZ FOUND CITY OF FEAR

Everyone Suspected Of Being A Spy, Newsman Reports

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
[Associated Press Correspondent]

Tehran, May 26—Tabriz is a place of fear and suspicion. Its people talk in whispers and have forgotten how to smile.

For eight days I walked and rode through the narrow, winding streets of this ancient caravan center of Azerbaijan province, where postwar opportunists have established autonomous rule. I never once lost the feeling that the people lived in terror.

Stern, questioning looks follow foreigners. Everyone is suspected of being a spy. Residents retire behind clay walls, and the streets are silent after dark.

Officials, except those at the top, pointedly avoid speaking to Anglo-Saxons.

"10 Per Cent Are Armed"

Unseen by neighbors, some whisper that 90 per cent of the population opposes the "foreign-sponsored national government—but the other 10 per cent are armed."

A telegraph office porter to whom I offered a small tip for carrying a message to another part of the building dropped the bill to the floor. To a trusted friend he explained he was being watched by an "observer" of the democratic party. He said he was questioned for hours about the incident and asked where he had previously known "this foreigner."

A young Iraqi interpreter was warned by a "friend" in the secret police to stay away from Americans.

Hears Shots Under Window

One evening I heard shots under my hotel window. I saw a gang of civilian riflemen and soldiers quarrelling. An army officer appeared and ordered two unarmed Azerbaijanis taken away under armed guard.

A group of American and English consular representatives in a cafe were threatened by an armed police officer, who asked, "Why do you laugh at us?"

Drawing his pistol, he said: "Some day I shall use this on you Anglo-Saxons."

A courier of the British consul was denied admission to an airfield to take a plane to Tehran.

Jafar Pishevari, Premier of unrecognized Azerbaijan, apologized for what he termed "isolated incidents" and said persons responsible would be punished.

British Troops And Iran

London, May 26 (AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast tonight what the announcer said was a report from the Tehran press urging the Iranian Government to send a commission to southern Iran "for the inspection of the evacuation of British troops from Iranian territory."

Pravda Assails Britain And U.S. On Iran Issue

Moscow, May 26 (AP)—Pravda said today that the American and British position favoring retention of the Iranian question on the agenda of the United Nations Security Council was "distinguished by complete disrespect for information sent by Iranian Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam."

"Not having any kind of possibility to deny the official statement of the Iranian Government, they began merely verbally to subject it to doubt," Pravda's international commentator "Reviewer" said.

He also accused "some members" of the Council of undermining the United Nations organization.

"The English representative found it even possible to place under doubt the work of the commission sent by the Iranian Government to Azerbaijan," the article said. The commission went to Azerbaijan to determine whether Soviet troops had been withdrawn.

The commentator accused the British and American representatives on the Council of employing filibustering tactics similar to those used in the United States Senate.

"It is especially necessary to notice that the conduct of some members of the Security Council seriously undermined the foundation of the United Nations Organization," the article said.

GANDHI BACKS BRITISH PLAN

Advises Indians To Accept Plan Without Perturbation

New Delhi, May 26 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi assured India today that the British Cabinet mission's plan for Indian independence was "the best document the British Government could have produced in the circumstances," and advised the Indian people to accept its terms without perturbation.

Gandhi's statement was published in his weekly paper Harijan, and was looked upon as charting the course for the Congress party, of which he is the dominant spirit.

Disagrees On Free Choice

Gandhi said he did not agree with a statement last night in which the Cabinet mission said it had not intended for the provinces of British India to have a free choice to enter whatever subdivision they desired in the constitution-making body.

He said that the phraseology of the independence proposal made it plain that the various provinces had such a right.

"If my interpretation is valid, there is not the slightest cause for perturbation," Gandhi said.

The Indian leader said that his compliment to the Cabinet mission was not intended to mean that "what is best from the British standpoint is also best or even good from the Indian standpoint. Their best may possibly be harmful.

"They have come to devise the easiest and quickest method of ending British rule," he wrote. "We must be brave enough to believe their declaration until the contrary is proved."

Stopford To Get Mountbatten Job

Batavia, May 26 (AP)—An Allied communiqué announced today that Lieut. Gen. Sir Montaque C. N. Stopford will succeed Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten as Southeast Asia commander when Mountbatten leaves for London soon. General Stopford has been commander of ground forces in the theater.

The communiqué was issued after a conference in Singapore attended by Hubertus J. Van Mook, Acting Governor General of the Netherlands Indies, Lord Mountbatten, Lord Killearn, British special commissioner for Southeast Asia, and other high Allied leaders.

The conference dealt with evacuation of Japanese, safeguarding of internees, relief of British troops by Dutch forces and the political situation in the Indies, the communiqué said.

Japanese Admiral to Die For Murder of Americans

Abe Will Hang, While Two Others Get Prison

GUAM, May 23 (Delayed) (AP).—Vice-Admiral Koso Abe was sentenced to hang and two other Japanese received prison terms today for the beheading of nine of the famous Carlson raiders on Kwajalein Island in 1942.

An American military commission sentenced Captain Yoshio Obara to ten years imprisonment, and Lieutenant Commander Hisakichi Naiki to five years for their part in the executions. Abe was Japanese commander on Kwajalein.

The victims were among fourteen Americans stranded on Makin Island during a raid on that island in August, 1942, fifteen months before the large-scale American invasion of the Gilberts.

JAPANESE RENEW CLAMOR FOR FOOD

Government Drafts Plans For Works Program

Tokyo, May 26 (AP)—Japanese renewed their clamor for more food today as the Government drafted plans for a 2,100,000,000 yen ($140,000,000) public works program designed to create jobs for 700,000 unemployed.

Kyodo news agency reported a mass demonstration of 20,000 workers at Nagoya demanding immediate delivery of delayed rice rations and removal of the prefectural governor and other officials. It was the first public demonstration since General MacArthur's recent warning against "mob violence." Kyodo said it was "quite orderly."

Fertilizers, First Step

Jiro Hoshijima, the new Minister of Commerce and Industry, said the Government was working on a program to provide fertilizers as a first step toward increasing the country's production. More fertilizer, he explained, will mean more food, and more food will enable more workers to mine more coal and process more steel.

Hoshijima also outlined a long-range plan for dispersal of Japan's highly centralized industries and the encouragement of small enterprises based on craftsmanship, rather than mass production. The labor-saving methods of mass production, he said, were unnecessary with a population of 73,000,000.

In an interview describing a proposed five-year plan for industrial recovery, Hoshijima advocated the breaking up of former Zaibatsu (family monopoly) plants into independent small enterprises.

Cushion The Shock

These new enterprises, he said, could absorb the unemployed and at the same time cushion the shock of Zaibatsu dissolution. Under the new system, he added, Japan still could produce commodities for the world market, though "it will take a long time to return to prewar normalcy."

As an example of possible decentralization the minister mentioned a bicycle plant at Nagoya which has been employing 10,000 workers. "These," he said, "can be dispersed to the countryside. One factory unit will make chains while others will make spokes and other parts."

Soviet Reverses Stand, Allows U.S. Writer To Stay In Romania

Bucharest, May 25 [Delayed—AP]—Reuben Markham, correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, said today a Soviet military command order directing him to leave Romania had been "reversed pending a decision from a high level following a (United States) State Department appeal."

Markham, who is in Constanta, has been ordered to leave the country by Sunday, after Red Army and Leftist Romanian publications asserted he meddled in Romanian politics and had declared in a political speech that war between the United States and Russia was inevitable.

The correspondent has denied making any political speech in Romania.

Saburo Kurusu To Be Witness Against Tojo

Tokyo, Monday, May 27 (AP)—Saburo Kurusu, who talked in Washington of peace while Japan's carrier fleet moved in to attack Pearl Harbor, will be a witness against Hideki Tojo, wartime Premier, and other top Japanese war-crimes defendants, Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan said today.

Keenan added, however, that "I am not aware of" any startling new evidence or documents that Kurusu might introduce in the trials, beginning June 3. Kurusu has denied repeatedly that he knew anything of the closely guarded plans for Japan's surprise attack.

'LOVE AND KISSES' FOR CONGRESSMEN

TOKYO, May 26—(AP) American congressmen were being deluged today with "love and kisses" messages from soldiers in Tokyo, to the bewilderment of Japanese radio clerks and operators.

All day long the clerks were busy collecting nine yen each (60 cents) from G.I.'s who specified "form 43" addressed to various senators and representatives in Washington.

Form 43 in the low-rate stock message system is translated at the receiving end as "love and kisses."

A checkup at three branch telegraph offices showed 879 such messages already filed and more pouring in steadily.

"I can't understand it," complained one harassed clerk. "We only sent 300 love and kisses on Mother's Day."

What he couldn't understand was that in a $20 regular radiogram Saturday, two G.I. office workers had sent congressional leaders a demand that the draft be continued so they could go home. The original message advised that in the interests of economy, subsequent endorsements by individual soldiers would be the "love and kisses" form.

The Army paper Stars and Stripes reported the campaign this morning, and the deceptively affectionate greetings began to clog the air.

Goodfellow Sees MacArthur

TOKYO, May 26 (AP)—Col. M. Preston Goodfellow, en route home to Washington after a five-month assignment as political adviser to the United States commander in Korea, said today the recent breakup of the United States-Soviet joint conference had solidified the people of the American-occupied southern zone. Colonel Goodfellow called on Gen. Douglas MacArthur and delivered an oral message from Dr. Syngman Rhee, veteran Korean political leader, expressing thanks for the way affairs were being conducted in the United States zone.

Russians Again Charge U.S. Fighting In China

Moscow, May 26 (AP)—Trud, Russian trade union organ, published today a Tass dispatch from Shanghai quoting the magazine China Weekly Review as saying that hundreds of peaceful citizens of Manchuria had been killed or wounded by American bombs.

This was the second article to appear in the Moscow press within less than a week asserting that Americans were giving military assistance to the Kuomintang (Chinese Central) Government.

Today's Trud article quoted a war correspondent for the Chinese magazine as saying both American tanks and bombers with American-trained crews were supporting the Central Government Army in Manchuria.

The article quoted a war correspondent for the Chinese magazine as saying that both American tanks and bombers with American-trained crews were supporting the Government's Army in Manchuria.

pushed on northeastward 60 miles to the vicinity of Tehhwei, 80 miles southwest of Communist-held Harbin.

These dispatches said the Communists were reconcentrating their forces around Tsitsihar (Lungkiang), 170 miles northwest of Harbin, and around Tunghwa, 155 miles south of Changchun and only 40 miles from the border of Russian-occupied Northern Korea.

The independent Peiping paper Hsin Min Pao quoted a Communist spokesman, however, as saying that there was no large-scale fighting anywhere in Manchuria and that the Communist retreat from the capital, Changchun, constituted a virtual cease-fire decision.

General Truce Predicted

This paper predicted a general truce by Tuesday.

Optimism also flowered in Nanking from an amicable meeting between Communist representatives and Kuomintang moderates seeking immediate peace.

The conference failed to reach a final agreement, but Lei Chen, secretary-general of the Political Consultative Council, to which all parties belong, said there was overall satisfaction with the progress made and both sides were striving to find a solution.

The meeting ended late last night at the home of Shao Li-Tze, Kuomintang liberal. Among those attending was the Government's foreign minister, Wang Shih-chieh; the Interior minister, Chang Li-sheng; and the top Communists, Gen. Chou En-lai, Tung Pi-wu and Lu Ting-yi.

Manchurian Truce Seen As Chinese Leaders Meet

NANKING, May 26. — (AP) Government troops were reported advancing rapidly on the big Manchurian city of Harbin today, but renewal of direct negotiations between government and Communist leaders in Nanking led to predictions of an imminent truce in all Manchuria.

Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek were still in Mukden, where they flew Friday to confer with the Government generals who were represented as being most anxious to continue pressing their advantage against the Communists before coming to terms.

Troops Push Ahead

Latest Manchurian dispatches to independent and pro-government papers said the Government troops, encouraged by their easy recapture of Changchun on Thursday, had ed at length with General Marshall shortly before attending the conference.

Marshall, the special American envoy whose job is to try to unify China, lent his personal plane to the Chiangs for their trip to Mukden to see the militant generals.

With Marshall working quietly behind the scenes, many Chinese in Nanking expressed feelings that the end of the civil warfare in Manchuria might truly be in sight. They voiced greater concern about the situation in North China, particularly Shangtung province.

The Government Ministry of Information reported that the Communists were continuing to tighten a ring as close as 12 miles around Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital. Communists quarters insisted the reports from Shantung were exaggerated if not false.

ELECTION OF ROXAS MAY GO TO COURTS

Philippine Minority Senators Charge That 'Steam Roller' Is Used in Upper House

MANILA, May 26 (AP)—Minority members of the Philippine Senate protested tonight the proclamation by majority Senators of Manuel A. Roxas' election to the Presidency and said they would test its validity in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Roxas is scheduled to be inaugurated on Tuesday. His election was to have been officially proclaimed on Saturday at a joint session of the House and Senate, but the minority Senators walked out in a dispute over organization of the upper chamber.

After the walkout, twelve majority Senators proclaimed Mr. Roxas elected and unanimously approved a resolution barring three Senate supporters of outgoing President Sergio Osmeña from taking the oath of office.

Under the rules of the pre-war Senate, sixteen members were required for a quorum. The Roxas group asserts that the old rules do not apply; the Osmeña faction contends that they do.

"Fascism now is on the march in the Philippines," asserted Minority Leader Thomas Confesor in a Sunday night statement. "The majority party Senators in the opening session, determined to curtail the rights of the minority, have taken pernicious anti-democratic steps.

"The majority Senators destroyed democratic practices that have served, until now, to uphold and maintain democratic institutions in America and the Philippines. They have laid the foundation of a totalitarian regime."

The dispute that led to the minority walkout hinged on the refusal of the Roxas groups to adopt previous Senate rules requiring a two-thirds majority for denial of the oath to an elected member.

This attitude Mr. Confesor branded as unconstitutional, pointing out that it could result in the barring of the entire minority at the whim of the majority.

The minority Senators were undecided up to a late hour Sunday whether to remain away from the scheduled Monday session of the Legislature and take the case direct to the Supreme Court, or to attend and walk out again if the majority should repeat its "steam-roller" tactics.

The liberal Congress of Labor Organizations adopted a resolution endorsing the minority stand, and the independent Manila Times editorially approved the walkout.

Swiss Agree To Give Allies Half Of Nazi Hoarded Assets

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Switzerland signed an agreement tonight formally giving to the Allies half the Nazi Germany assets in that country, estimated by Allied officials at $700,000,000.

In addition the Swiss give to the Allies $58,140,000 of a "looted gold" hoard the Nazis had in Switzerland.

Representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France signed the "accord and an annex," ending ten weeks of negotiations.

Switzerland's approval of the agreement is subject to ratification by the Swiss Parliament.

Russia Not Represented

Russia was not represented because it gave up claim to any German assets in Switzerland under the Paris reparations agreement with the other Allies.

Under the reparations agreement, the United States and Great Britain will get 28 per cent apiece of the funds realized in liquidating the former German properties.

The United States takes none of the $58,140,000 in gold, but will give up its share to France, Belgium and other countries which had gold stolen from them by the Germans during the war.

French officials last week expressed sharp dissatisfaction with the agreement on the gold, claiming the other Allies had not driven a hard enough bargain. During the conversations the negotiators had agreed that there was at least $130,000,000 of Nazi gold in Switzerland.

U.S. Point Of View

American officials maintained that they relaxed their previous demands for all the gold in an effort to reach an agreement on the liquidation of other German properties in Switzerland. They feel that since the Swiss have consented to let an Allied commission work with them in ferreting out and disposing of German properties, a much better job can be done of making certain these assets are not used by the Germans to start another war.

Randolph Paul, special assistant to President Truman for the task, signed the agreement for the United States and Paul Chargueraud and F. W. McCombe for France and Great Britain. Dr. Walther Stucki represented Switzerland at the ceremony.

Scheduled Division

The Swiss were permitted to retain the other half of the Nazi assets as an alternative to their suggestion that the question of division be submitted to an international tribunal.

The remaining 44 per cent of funds realized from liquidation of the Nazi assets will be divided among other European allies who signed the reparations agreement in Paris. France will get sixteen per cent and Yugoslavia is next with 6.6 per cent.

Like the United States, Britain made no claims to the looted gold.

AGREEMENT SEEN ON LOAN TO FRANCE

WASHINGTON, May 26 — (AP) Government officials expressed confidence today that the last-minute hitch in French-American financial talks would be cleared early this week.

These officials said announcement of the loan of more than $1,000,000,000 to France was being held up by a mass of detail involving the surplus property phase of the negotiations.

France is expected to get American credit, as part of the agreement, with which she can purchase surplus Army property ranging trucks to fixed installations.

French and American financial experts are scheduled to renew their talks Monday morning and it is "very possible" that the 11-weeks-old conversations can be wound up either Monday or Tuesday, said one official who preferred not to be named.

Although previous indications were that France would get a total credit of $1,150,000,000 to finance her reconstruction program, these

FOOD RELIEF TO SET RECORD

U.S. Sending 400,000,000 Bushels Of Wheat Abroad

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, said today that the United States will set a world record for food relief shipments in the next five weeks.

In a coast-to-coast broadcast, sponsored by the American Dairy Association, he said "the next five weeks will witness the greatest single movement of a food commodity in world history."

The nation is engaged, he said, in the final push "toward fulfillment of America's promise to export 400,000,000 bushels of wheat by the end of the current wheat marketing year, June 30

"Making Desperate Effort"

"We are making a desperate effort to get every last bushel of wheat that we can possibly ship right now in the most critical part of the famine period. . . . As a result of this record movement housewives temporarily may not be able to buy all the bread and flour they want in their stores during the next few weeks."

Anderson said two fifths of the world's total exports of all food grains for the marketing year 1945-46 will consist of wheat from American farms.

Exports for the 1945-46 crop year approximate one third of the nation's wheat crop, he said.

Other Results

The exports, in addition to causing temporary shortages of bread and flour now also will result next year in less pork, leaner beef and fewer poultry and eggs because of the feed shortage.

The Secretary mentioned the importance of the dairy industry's part in the famine relief program.

During the first three months of this year, he said, 300,000,000 pounds of canned milk and 100,000,000 pounds of powdered milk were sent abroad for relief purposes, mainly for women and children.

In the next twelve months, he stated, the famine relief program will require 100,000,000 pounds of cheese, 624,000,000 pounds of canned milk and 200,000,000 pounds of powdered milk.

Hoover In Mexico City To Get Food Relief Aid

Mexico City, May 26 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover arrived today o nthe first lap of a Latin-American tour to appeal for additional relief for the world's famine areas.

Hoover declined comment on the extent and kind of relief Mexico would be asked to contribute.

He will remain here Monday and Tuesday and is scheduled to arrive in Panama May 29.

OPA Lifts Rent Controls At Some Resort Areas

Washington, May 26 (AP)—OPA today provided for removal of rent control from some resort area dwellings rented on a year-around basis.

Beginning tomorrow, landlords may apply for elimination on controls if their places are vacant and if demand is no longer great enough to assure occupancy on a twelve-month basis.

OPA said this provision applies only where living accommodations essentially seasonal were rented on a year-round basis because of the war.

FLIGHT TRAINING AVAILABLE TO GI'S

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP) Veterans can learn to fly under the G.I. bill of rights provided the schools they attend can qualify them for Civil Aeronautics administration ratings.

The Veterans administration today announced the CAA yardstick would be used in approving flight training schools.

Five types of courses, ranging from elementary flight to multi-engine pilot rating are provided for but only one course may be taken at a time.

VA will pay $500 for tuition and fees if a course is less than a full school year of 30 weeks; anything over that the veteran himself will have to pay. Where the course runs longer than 30 weeks, VA may pay over the $500, but "charge off" the extra amount against the veteran's training eligibility.

ARMY TO REDUCE SEPARATION UNITS

WASHINGTON, May 26. — (AP) With more than 7,000,000 men released by the Army since V-E day, the War department announced today that more than half its separation centers have been closed or ordered to shut down.

Nine of 27 camps operated by the Army service forces have been closed, and six others will become inoperative by the end of July, a statement said. These are Camp Shelby, Miss.; Camp Atterbury, Ind.; Camp McCoy, Wis.; Fort Bliss, Tex.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; and Fort Douglas, Utah.

Eighteen separation centers are still in operation with facilities to reduce the Army's strength to the required figure of 1,550,000 by July 1, it was stated.

From a peak of 8,300,000 the Army has dwindled to approximately 1,700,000. By April 30, the total released was 7,074,000, it was announced.

ENLISTMENTS FALL

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP) A continued downward trend in Army enlistments was reported today. Maj. Gen. Harold N. Gilbert, who directs the recruiting campaign, said it reflected the men's uncertainty over future of the draft and proposed pay increases.

The week of May 8-14, the latest for which totals were available, produced 11,043 recruits, compared with a weekly average of around 20,000 during the winter, Army officials said.

TALBOT PREDICTS G. O. P. WILL NEED 'NEW TICKET'

HARTFORD, May 26—(AP) Representative Joseph E. Talbot left with the state convention of Young Republicans an assertion that the Republican party is "not going to have an easy time" in the November state election because it faces the necessity of building up" a complete ticket from top to bottom."

The convention sidetracked to a study committee a resolution calling for the payment of a state bonus to veterans of World War II, and unanimously went on record as favoring an increase in the State Soldiers,' Sailors' and Marines' fund "so that adequate funds will always be available for the continued operation and accomplishments of the purposes of this fund."

Mathew Anastasio of East Haven was unanimously elected president of the organization. Also elected without opposition were Agnes Carrier of Goodyear, Sidney P. Simons of Bridgeport and Ray Abeling, Jr., of Torrington, vice-presidents; Lucy d'Aquilla of Middletown, recording secretary; Robert Galbraith of Somers, treasurer; Harry R. Sund of New Britain, national committeeman, and Harriet Rogers of the New London, national committee-woman.

Liquor "Guzzling" By U.N. Deplored

Boston, May 26 (AP)—President Daniel L. Marsh, of Boston University, said today that "members of the United Nations Organization would think more clearly . . . if there were less guzzling of liquor by its members."

"A thoughtful person cannot help being distressed," he said in a baccalaureate address, "at the reports of drunkenness attending diplomatic and international gatherings."

"No wonder that so many of the international conferences turn out to be lost week ends!"

"News dispatches disclosed," Dr. Marsh said, "that members of the United Nations Organization, when sitting in London, protested because they were not allowed to have a private bar in the Methodist church where the meeting was being held.

"One of the first things that had to be done for the United Nations Council on the campus on Hunter College was to set up a private bar for the members. . . .

"I am not a fanatic on this subject, but it is time for somebody to call attention to the fact that the members of the United Nations Organization would think more clearly and act more patiently if there were less guzzling of liquor by its members—and by the same token the successful working of this last hope of the peace of the world would be made more sure."

EIGHT GI BABIES ILL AS TRANSPORT DOCKS

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP) Eight sick babies of G.I. brides arrived here today aboard the Army transport George Goethals and were taken at once to Fort Hamilton Station hospital in Brooklyn as a precautionary measure.

The ship brought 351 wives and 48 children of American soldiers and about a score of civilian passengers from Le Havre, France.

One of the ailing infants was "teething and running a high temperature," while the sickness of the other seven, all under six months of age, was diagnosed as "slight cases of malnutrition," an Army officer said.

About half of the wives and children were met by husbands. The rest were expected to be debarked and enroute to their new homes by Tusday.

Camden Girl, British Seaman Differ On Meaning Of 'Maybe'

Camden, N.J., May 26 (AP)—A story of international romance was spiked today by a 19-year-old Camden brunette who hopes she has convinced a former merchant seaman in London of the meaning of "maybe."

The girl—Betty Sonnenberg—said a statement cabled from England that she would be wed to Arthur Graham Hulbert, of Newport, Monmouthshire, England, left her "slightly flabbergasted."

Transocean Semantics

Hulbert, who met Betty when a ship he was aboard docked here, had declared in England that she "said yes" when he opened a transocean conversation with, "Will you marry me?"

According to Miss Sonnenberg, however, Hulbert "started off by saying, 'No means no. Maybe means yes.'

"Schooling Comes First"

"Then he said: 'Will you marry me?'" Miss Sonnenberg said in an interview. "And I said: 'Maybe,' but I didn't mean it that way. I really meant maybe."

She said Hulbert has asked her to come to England, but that her "schooling comes first."

"I plan to continue our correspondence," she declared. "Nothing more."

She is a laboratory technician student at the West Jersey Hospital. Hulbert, Miss Sonnenberg said, is now a student at the University of London.

"Betty said yes," Hulbert reported exultantly. He opened the trans-oceanic conversation with, "Will you marry me?"

Hulbert, a former merchant seaman who met his fiancee in America when she was 15, said the marriage would take place here next spring, with another ceremony to follow when they go together to the United States.

Anglo-U.S. Bloc Ganged Up On Russia, Molotov Charges

Moscow, May 27 (AP) — Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov asserted today that a United States and British "bloc" had waged an offensive against Russia at the four-power meeting of foreign ministers in Paris.

He declared that the proposals of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes for writing European peace treaties in the United Nations Assembly if there was no agreement this summer among the four leading nations was contrary to decisions made at the Potsdam conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain and Premier Stalin.

Russia, he said, would not be forced into acceptance of British and American proposals by "threats and intimidation."

Charges Intimidation

"The prestige of the Security Council (of the United Nations) has already been submited to grave trials," Molotov said in a full-page statement published in the official newspaper, Pravda, giving his view of the recent Paris meeting of Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and himself.

The suggestion that the United Nations consider the draft of peace treaties, Molotov said, "is one more attempt to break up the procedure of concerted work which was established in recent years and to utilize methods of pressure, threats and intimidation."

He declared that American and British capital was trying to "subdue" nations weakened by the war.

"Gave Conference No Chance"

He said that Britain and the United States, "grouping themselves in a bloc, gave the conference no chance of reaching an agreed decision" on the disposition of Italian colonies or on the matter of Italian reparations.

"On the question of former Italian colonies, it was particularly obvious that American and British delegations usually acted on previous agreement, although this ran counter to the lawful interests of other countries," he said.

"In the question of reparations, we encountered again an Anglo-American bloc which, here, too, did not wage an 'offensive for peace' but an offensive against the Soviet Union.

"Sought To Impose Its Will"

"It transpired that the so-called 'offensive for peace' proclaimed in certain American circles is sometimes merely expressed in a desire to impose the will of the two governments on the government of a third state. Certainly no self-respecting allied state will allow the will of another state to be imposed upon it.

"Efforts on the part of certain strong states to impose their will on other nations will occur in the future, too, but in regard to the Soviet Union, both in the past and in the future, they are doomed to failure."

Molotov declared that "they say" it sometimes is difficult to draw a line between the desire for security and the desire for expansion.

Cites U.S. Bid For Bases

"Indeed it is difficult at times," he said. "For instance, what interests of the security of the United States of America dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland? Evidently what matters here is by no means the security of the United States but entirely different aspirations."

Molotov said the world press was "replete with reports that certain circles in the United States, having formed a bloc with their friends in Great Britain, are seeking to establish naval and military bases in all parts of the globe—on Pacific and Atlantic islands, in territories of the states of the Western and Eastern hemispheres."

Molotov said Russia could not agree to calling a formal 21-nation peace conference until representatives of the "big four" had reached preliminary agreement on treaty questions.

Sees Strain On Friendship

For the United States to insist upon such a procedure, Molotov declared, "could have the most undesirable consequences for the further development of friendly relations among the nations seeking to establish a stable peace."

He referred to a proposal put forward by Byrnes, who suggested earlier this month that the Big Four foreign ministers reconvene on June 15 and that they set a date at that time for a general peace conference regardless of whether they can reach agreement on the questions on which they were deadlocked in Paris.

Hits "Inaccurate Statement"

Molotov said Byrnes's proposal would result in a confused situation under which several totally different treaty drafts might be submitted to the peace conference, with the result that the whole thing would end in a "fiasco."

At the same time Molotov asserted that Byrnes had made a "somewhat inaccurate statement" in saying that he had obtained Prime Minister Stalin's "consent in principle" last December to a proposed 25-year treaty among the United States, Britain, Russia and France for accomplishing the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany.

"In December Mr. Byrnes did not as yet have the draft of such a treaty and therefore Prime Minister Stalin's 'consent' to a non-existent treaty could not have been given," Molotov said, "the matter then being reduced to a brief exchange of views on the idea of a treaty of mutual assistance in case of a resumption of German or Japanese aggression."

"Important Point Ignored"

Actually, Molotov said, the draft of the treaty which Byrnes presented at Paris and which drew strong Russian opposition "excluded the question of mutual assistance against German and Japanese aggression."

"It deals only with disarmament and for some reason ignores the most important decision in regard to Germany adopted by the Allies at Tehran, Yalta and Berlin and may lead to a weakening of inter-Allied control aimed at preventing a recurrence of German aggression."

Molotov reviewed at length the situation that developed at the Paris conference, which he said had achieved "certain positive results" with respect to the drafting of peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland—"although they cannot be regarded as sufficient."

Quotes Russian Proverb

He dealt at considerable length with American and British opposition to Soviet demands for war reparations from Italy, which he said "serve only as another proof of the correctness of a Russian proverb that 'a full man does not understand a hungry one'."

Pointing to the devastation suffered by large areas of the Soviet Union during the war, Molotov said:

"This is not the first time that, in considering the question of reparations, we face a situation where representatives of countries which did not experience an enemy invasion of their own territories approach this question differently from the Soviet Union."

Seeking "Modest Sum"

Molotov added that he thought the $100,000,000 which Russia seeks in reparations from Italy was "a modest sum" under the circumstances and said that in fixing the figure his Government had taken into consideration the "importance of democratic Italy's participation on the Allies' side in the last years of the war."

The Russian Foreign Minister asserted that "even a small reduction" in the "tremendous occupation expenditure borne by Italy for the benefit of Britain and the U.S.A." would enable Italy to meet Soviet reparation demands.

"For some reason, however," Molotov said, "the chief objections of the American and British side are raised precisely against Italy covering the reparations by the delivery of goods to the Soviet Union.

"Could Agree With Italy"

"The allegation that such deliveries by Italian industry would be made at the cost of financing Italy by the United States and Great Britain has no ground whatsoever.

"On the other hand, one cannot regard it as correct that Italian industry should be considered as subordinated to the interests of American and British industrial circles. The national industry of Italy has a rich past, and new and important prospects of development should open before it.

"If we are not interfered with, the Soviet Union and Italy will reach agreement on reparations without special difficulties."

"Concessions Overlooked"

With respect to the disposition of Italian colonies, Molotov emphasized that at the Paris Foreign Ministers' conference Russia had not pressed her original demand that Tripolitania be placed under Soviet trusteeship, although this, he declared, would have been "of great importance to Soviet merchantmen in the Mediterranean and would fully secure the interest of establishing Tripolitania's national independence within a short time."

He asserted, however, that "the concessions made by the Soviet Union on this question did not receive due appraisal or fair recognition" and therefore the fate of the Italian colonies remained undecided.

Charges British Expansion

Meanwhile, Molotov added, "British troops still remain masters of the situation in these territories (Cirenaica, Tripolitania and Somaliland) as well as in certain territories of Ethiopia."

He attacked a proposal which he said Britain had introduced at Paris "to proclaim the 'independence' of Libya (comprising Cirenaica and Tripolitania) without, however, withdrawing British troops from those territories" and to form "a great Somaliland by including Italian Somaliland and two territories at the expense of Ethiopia"—all under British trusteeship.

"Thus, Great Britain's colonial empire would obtain new expansion of her rights in northern and eastern Africa," Molotov declared.

Previous Agreement "Obvious"

Molotov added that this British plan was not criticized by the American delegation, and said it was "obvious" that the British and American delegations were acting in accordance with a previous agreement.

"Every proposal which seemed undesirable to Great Britain from the point of view of preservation and further consolidation of her monopolistic position in the Mediterranean met with resolute resistance not only on the part of the British but also the American delegation," he declared.

Molotov said that Trieste should be given to Yugoslavia because, "despite the predominance of its Italian population, it cannot be separated from the Julian March (Venezia Giulia) without violating important national interests of Yugoslavia and without grave economic prejudice to Trieste itself."

He pointed out that the Paris conference had failed to agree on the Italian-Yugoslavian frontier and said the problem "demands immediate decision in a spirit that would satisfy the national interests of our common ally."

Small States "Enslaved"

Molotov said that while the ministers were discussing peace treaties "a tendency became apparent" on the part of British-American captial to "subdue to its influence the economy of big and small states and to convert so-called economic aid to these countries to an instrument for achieving those ends."

The Soviet Union, he said, cannot support the efforts of any country "to enslave economically other countries even thought they may have been on the enemy side in the early war years.

"One cannot indeed regard Italy or any other similar state as some sort of a colony where the occupying powers could lord it as they pleased without regard for the national interests of these states," he continued.

Text of Molotov's Statement on Paris Conference

MOSCOW, May 27 (AP)—The text of Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's statement on the recent conference of the Big Four Foreign Ministers in Paris, as published in Pravda:

The conference of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Paris was held in accordance with the decisions of the Moscow Conference of three Ministers held in December of last year.

30.24-3003

It is known that the Moscow Conference, guided by the directives of the Berlin conference of three powers, adopted a definite decision on the preparation of peace treaties for Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

The Soviet delegation at the Paris session maintained the position that it is obligatory to fulfill precisely the decision of the Moscow Conference, which provided for the convocation of a conference to discuss the above-mentioned peace treaties after the preparation of corresponding drafts had been completed.

According to the decision of the Moscow Conference, it is required that the necessary agreement in drawing up the above treaties be achieved among the Governments of the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States, and, in regard to Italy, also with France.

This means that before the peace conference of representatives of twenty-one States is convoked these Governments must draw up the agreed drafts of the treaties.

Two Pact Drafts Foreseen

A different interpretation could lead to a situation where, let us say, instead of one draft of a peace treaty with Italy, two drafts would be submitted to the conference.

In such a case one group of participants in the conference would be signing one peace treaty, while the other group of participants in the conference would sign another peace treaty —which would actually mean the fiasco of any idea of a unity at the peace conference.

Treading this road, we would have not one peace conference, but two peace conferences, and the aspiration of nations for a stable peace would therefore be frustrated. That such a situation is intolerable is perfectly obvious.

Therefore, the Soviet delegation could not agree with the proposal of the delegation of the United States on setting a date for the convocation of the peace conference, irrespective of the preliminary agreement in preparing the peace treaties.

It is also perfectly obvious that this proposal of the American delegation, which was supported by the British delegation as well, ran counter to the decisions of the Berlin and Moscow conferences and in general could have the most undesirable consequences for further development of friendly relations among the nations seeking to establish a stable peace.

Therefore, the efforts of the Soviet delegation at Paris were aimed precisely at reaching agreed decisions on the main questions of the draft of peace treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

"Positive Results" Mentioned

It should be recognized that certain positive results were reached in this respect, although they cannot be regarded as sufficient. As the result of the work of the Paris conference, the preparation of peace treaties for Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, with the exception of economic clauses, which remained unconsidered, may be regarded as completed in the main.

The Governments that were charged with preparing these treaties agreed on all the basic questions: territorial and military restrictions, reparations and other questions. This was illustrated by the fact that, on the Soviet Government's suggestion, the armistice terms, in which only basic obligations of satellite States had been included, were used as the basis of the above peace treaties, which fully insures the legitimate interests of the Allies without, however, leading to outside interference in the internal affairs of these States.

Questions which remained unagreed upon in regard to the peace treaties with Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland refer mainly to the economic section of the treaties, which thus far has not been discussed by the Council of Foreign Ministers, but has been discussed by special commissions where differences have been revealed.

Such a question as that of trade and shipping on the Danube, however, involving vital interests of Danubian countries, has already been discussed more than once by the Council of Foreign Ministers.

Russia's Position Is Stated

The Soviet view maintains that this question cannot be discussed and decided upon without participation of the Danubian countries, if one is guided by a desire to develop friendly relations with those countries. The question of the shipping regime on the Danube is, in the first place, the affair of the Danube States themselves, and it cannot be decided upon in peace treaties with the individual Danube States.

One cannot regard it as correct that certain non-Danubian States should assume the right to dictate their will to the Danubian States and impose a regime on the Danube that would take no heed of the interests of the Danubian States, particularly of the Danube Allied States (Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia).

In regard to the peace treaty with Italy, the situation is far more complicated. Here differences have been revealed on a number of basic questions, as, for instance, on reparations, on the fate of the former Italian colonies, on the Italo-Yugoslav frontier and the destiny of Trieste, and on several other questions.

Let us take the question of reparations. In 1941-42 several hundred thousand troops of Fascist Italy invaded the territory of the U.S.S.R. Jointly with the Hitlerites, they devastated the capital of Soviet White Russia, Minsk and Kharkov and many other cities and villages in the Ukraine, reached the Don River and inflicted tremendous damage on our country.

Soviet Reparations Request

By their invasion of Yugoslavia, Greece and Albania, Italian Fascist troops caused tremendous calamities there as well. Nevertheless, taking into account the fact that fascism in Italy was overthrown and realizing the importance of democratic Italy's participation on the Allies' side in the last years of the war, the Soviet Union restricted its reparations demand for the six-year period to the very modest sum of $100,000,000.

This should at least serve as a reminder that there can be no impunity for aggression and invasion of a foreign territory. At the same time the Soviet Union defends the justness of the reparation demands for Yugoslavia, Greece and Albania, amounting to $200,000,000.

These figures show that our reparation claims on Italy can compensate for only a small part of the damage she inflicted in the war years.

The reparation demands of the Soviet Union on Italy met support at the Paris conference only on the part of the French delegation. The American delegation and, together with it, the British delegation, did not support fully even these just demands of the Soviet Union. It will suffice to say that the delegation of the U. S. A. proposed to include in the sum of reparations for the U.S.S.R. the value of those warships that are allotted to the Soviet Union from Italian war booty, although as far back as at the Berlin conference, when the German problem was considered, the American, British and Soviet Governments found it just to regard the enemy navy as war booty not to be included in the reparations.

Different Approach is Cited

This is not the first time that, in considering the question of reparations, we face a situation where representatives of countries that did not experience an enemy invasion of their own territories approach this question differently from the Soviet Union. Indeed, one cannot reduce the whole thing to words of sympathy in regard to nations that suffered from a foreign invasion and at the same time issue appeals to "forget about reparations."

This would only serve as another proof of the correctness of the Russian proverb that "a full man does not understand a hungry one."

Meanwhile, it is known from the official statements in the Italian press that a tremendous occupation expenditure is borne by Italy for the benefit of Britain and the U. S. A. Even a small reduction of this sum of occupation expenditure, amounting to several thousand million dollars, would suffice for Italy to meet the reparation demands of the Soviet Union.

On the other hand, we are well aware that Italian industry is in need of orders. Fulfillment of reparation demands advanced by the Soviet Union would provide Italian industry with substantial orders for several years without forming a great burden on the Italian State budget.

Why, then, are the chief objections of the American and British side raised precisely against Italy's covering the reparations by deliveries of goods to the Soviet Union? The allegation that such deliveries by Italian industry would be made at the cost of financing Italy by the United States and Great Britain has no ground whatsoever.

Says Accord is Possible

On the other hand, one cannot regard it as correct that Italian industry should be considered as subordinated to the interests of American and British industrial circles. The national industry of Italy has a rich past, and new and important prospects of development should now open before it. If we are not interfered with, the Soviet Union and Italy will reach an agreement on reparations without special difficulties.

Because of difficulties in direct transmission from Moscow the remainder of the text was recorded in London from the Moscow radio by the Soviet monitor.

Much attention was given to the question of former Italian colonies, at both the London and Paris conferences of Foreign Ministers. We did not insist on Tripolitania's being placed for several years under the trusteeship of the Soviet Union alone or even jointly with Italy, although this would be of great importance to Soviet merchantmen on the Mediterranean Sea routes and would fully secure the interests of establishing Tripolitania's national independence within a short time.

The Soviet Union, as well as France, found it desirable that the former colonies be handed to the trusteeship of Italy herself, who, having now become a democratic state, could under the guidance of the United Nations accomplish the task of preparing these countries for national independence.

American Position Changed

This proposal was initially supported by the American delegation, which, however, soon abandoned its position, deferring to the objections of the British delegation.

In view of this, the fate of the Italian colonies remains undecided, and concessions made by the Soviet Union in this question did not receive the due appraisal of fair recognition.

In the question of former Italian colonies, it was particularly obvious that the American and British delegations usually acted on previous agreement, although this ran counter to the lawful interests of other countries.

A British draft was announced at Paris according to which almost all the Italian colonies were actually to fall under Britain's control. As one sees it, it was proposed to do this not only at the expense of vanquished Italy, but also of Ethiopia, which, as is well known, is a member of the United Nations.

The realization of such plans would lead to further consolidation of the practically monopolistic position of Great Britain in the entire tremendous area of the Mediterranean and Red Seas.

These British plans were not criticized by the American delegation; on the other hand, every proposal that seemed undesirable to Great Britain from the point of view of preservation and further consolidation of her monopolistic position in the Mediterranean met with resolute resistance on the part not only of the British but also the American delegation.

It was proposed to proclaim the "independence of Libya," comprising Tripolitania and Cyrenaica, without, however, withdrawing British troops from that territory.

Expansion Efforts Charged

It was also proposed to form "Greater Somaliland" by adding to Italian Somaliland two territories at the expense of Ethiopia (Ogaden and "reserved territories"), and then place "Greater Somaliland" in Great Britain's trusteeship. Thus Great Britain's colonial empire would obtain new expansion of its rights in northern and eastern Africa.

The question of Italian colonies remained undecided and British troops still remain the masters of the situation in these territories, as well as in certain territories in Ethiopia.

The question of the Italo-Yugoslav frontier and Trieste should also be regarded as one of the chief problems of the Paris conference.

The Soviet delegation supported Yugoslavia on this issue. Only the justice of Yugoslav claims to the Julian March (Venezia Giulia) was not disputed by anyone. No one defended the decision adopted after the first World War on the transfer of Julian March to Italy. It was clear to everyone that this is part of Yugoslavia's national territory and that Slovenes and Croats prevail in this territory.

Nevertheless, under the proposal of the American, British and French experts, the Julian March was to be split into two parts—an eastern and a western part. And together with the western part, which, according to the French draft, forms only a small part of the Julian March, Trieste —which constitutes the head of the entire Julian March—was to be wrested from Yugoslavia. Yet the city of Trieste, despite the predominance of the Italian population in it, cannot be separated from the Julian March without violating important national interests of Yugoslavia and without grave economic prejudice to Trieste itself.

Immediate Decision Urged

The problem of the Italo-Yugoslav frontier remained unsolved. Yet it is perfectly clear that it demands immediate decision in a spirit that would satisfy the national interests of our common ally—Yugoslavia.

Nor should one underestimate the importance of the economic problems of the treaty with Italy, the more so because in other peace treaties similar questions of an economic nature arise. In the process of preparation of the peace treaties, a tendency became apparent that endangers the countries that have been weakened by the war, since Anglo-American capital seeks to subdue to its influence the economy of big and small states and to convert so-called economic aid to these countries to an instrument for achieving these ends.

We encountered a desire to include in the treaties numerous economic, financial and other clauses that might be utilized by the strong States to impose their will upon economically weak States that have not yet recovered from the war. As grounds for such proposals, they usually advance arguments about the usefulness of the abolition of trade and other restrictions, about the granting of a free hand to foreign capital and so forth.

On the other hand, the Soviet delegation could not disregard the national interests of the former satellite States that have now taken the road of democratic development and economic revival, since the Soviet Union cannot support the efforts of any State to enslave economically other countries, even though they may have been on the enemy side in the early war years.

One cannot, indeed, regard Italy or any other similar State as some sort of colony where the occupying powers could lord it as they pleased without regard for the national interests of these States.

Commission Plan Discussed

Much attention was given to the question of setting up in Italy a "treaty commission" composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, the U.S.S.R. and France. According to the American draft, the "treaty commission" should in the course of eighteen months after the conclusion of peace fulfill such functions as would be prescribed to it by the peace treaty in regard to various military questions, reparations, restitutions, war criminals and so on.

It was also proposed that the commission should be invested with both executive and judiciary powers; that is, it should possess exceptionally wide powers in the territory of the foreign democratic State.

Its extraordinary wide powers would be in contradiction of the sovereignty of the Italian State, to which, after the signing of the peace treaty, the road should be opened to join the United Nations. The Soviet delegation believed that the setting up of a commission with both executive and judiciary powers would resemble some sort of regime of capitulation for Italy that is in no way compatible with the principle of Italy's State sovereignty.

On our part, it was pointed out that the institution of such a mission contradicted the proposal for the mitigation of the armistice terms that were signed in Paris. We failed to reach agreement on this question, too. It is to be believed, however, that further mediations will convince the authors of this proposal that it is inexpedient to insist on setting up a "treaty commission."

Ruhr Separation Demand

As is known, the question of Germany was also discussed at the conference, on the initiative of the French delegation. France once again insisted on separating the Ruhr, Rhine and Saar provinces from Germany. Discussion of this question, however, did not develop at the Paris session.

On the other hand, the American delegation proposed to discuss the draft of a treaty between the United States, Great Britain, the U. S. S. R. and France on the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany for a twenty-five-year term in the spirit of the notorious proposal of Senator Vandenberg. In this connection, Mr. Byrnes pointed out that as far back as December last, when he was in Moscow, he asked Stalin about his attitude toward the possibility of concluding such a treaty and obtained consent in principle from him.

One should bear in mind, however, that Mr. Byrnes makes here a somewhat inaccurate statement, for in December Mr. Byrnes did not as yet have the draft of such a treaty and therefore Stalin's "consent" to a non-existent treaty could not have been given, the matter then being reduced to a brief exchange of views on the idea of a treaty of mutual assistance in case of a resumption of German or Japanese aggression.

But the draft of the treaty later presented by Mr. Byrnes excluded the question of mutual assistance against German and Japanese aggression. It deals only with disarmament and for some reason ignores the most important decision in regard to Germany adopted by the Allies at Teheran, Yalta and Berlin, and may lead to weakening inter-Allied control aimed at preventing a recurrence of German aggression, while the weakening of such a control is, of course, absolutely unpermissible.

Preliminary Study Urged

The Soviet delegation suggested a preliminary study of the treaty draft by the Governments concerned and proposed that a decision on this treaty should not be taken in a hurry, the more so as Mr. Byrnes explained that this treaty can come into force only after the signing of the peace treaty with Germany, while, as is known, in Germany there does not yet exist even the embryo of a government with which a peace treaty could be concluded.

That is why the Soviet delegation advanced another proposal. It pointed out that before speaking of a new treaty concerning the disarming, and demilitarization of Germany, it was necessary to check the fulfillment of the previous decision of the Allies on Germany's disarmament. This proposal was finally accepted.

Now the Control Council in Germany is considering practical steps for setting up such a commission, which in all of Germany's zones of occupation would check exactly how the disarming of the German armed forces has been effected in practice within the year that elapsed since Germany surrendered.

It should be expected that this checking up will facilitate the exact fulfillment of Germany's surrender terms and the evolving of further measures for ensuring security in Europe.

Literally on the eve of the closing of the Paris session Mr. Byrnes submitted another project—this time it was the project for the convocation of a conference of the Allies in November to consider a peace treaty with Germany. This proposal was all the more unexpected because previously neither Mr. Byrnes nor anyone else had made any proposals concerning such a peace treaty, not to mention that there does not exist yet any German Government with which a peace treaty could be concluded.

In this connection one may recall that the head of the Soviet Government, Stalin, as far back as last July, at the Berlin conference, advanced a proposal on the formation of some central all-German administration. The other participants in the Berlin conference then objected to a discussion of this question. Since then no one has raised this question.

Naturally, in such a situation, Mr. Byrnes' proposal to convoke a conference to consider a peace treaty with Germany could not have been accepted at the Paris conference. This question naturally cannot be decided in a hurry, either.

What is the significance of the results of the Paris conference?

The results of the conference show that the discussion of the drafts of the first five peace treaties revealed certain differences among the Governments responsible for the preparation of these treaties. It was revealed that in regard to drafts of peace treaties with Rumania, Bulgaria and Finland, where the chief responsibility naturally rests with the Soviet Union, only a few differences remain, which need not be exaggerated.

As regards the peace treaty with Italy, where the chief responsibility rests with Great Britain and the United States of America, a number of questions of major importance remain unagreed. And, in further instances, the Soviet Union made several steps toward mutual agreement. Perhaps this will at last facilitate the attainment of such agreement on this draft.

The Paris conference has shown that there exist also entirely undesirable tendencies in the preparation of the peace treaties. It transpired that the so-called "offensive for peace" proclaimed in certain American circles is sometimes merely expressed in a desire to impose the will of the two Governments on the government of a third State. Such was the case, for instance, in the question of the fate of the former Italian colonies, where the Soviet Union completely renounced its claims. And yet the American and British delegations, grouping themselves in a bloc, gave no chance of reaching an agreed decision.

"Offensive" Against Russia

In the question of reparations from Italy we encountered again an Anglo-American bloc, which here, too, did not wage an "offensive for peace," but an offensive against the Soviet Union. Having formed a bloc in their desire to impose their will upon the Soviet Union, the American and British delegations did not wish to reckon with the most legitimate wishes of the Soviet Union and frustrated the possibility of an agreed decision on reparations as well.

The Paris conference showed at the same time that attempts of certain States to impose their will upon other States meet with a natural rebuff. Certainly no self-respecting Allied State will allow the will of another State to be imposed upon it. The Soviet Union is just one of such States, while it has sufficiently demonstrated its desire for coordinated actions with other countries, both in time of war, for the sake of Allied victory, and after the war, for the sake of ensuring lasting peace and the security of nations.

They say sometimes that it is difficult to draw a line between the desire for security and the desire for expansion. Indeed, it is difficult at times. For instance, what interests of the security of the United States of America dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland? Evidently what matters here is by no means the security of the United States but entirely different aspirations.

The world press is replete with reports that certain circles in the United States, having formed a bloc with their friends in Great Britain, are seeking to establish naval and military air bases in all parts of the globe—on Pacific and Atlantic islands, in territories of the States of the Western and Eastern Hemispheres.

Effort at Domination Charged

It is not for nothing that in certain countries the advocates of a new imperialist domination of the world by one of the strongest States have now acquired great weight. Without feeling inconvenienced by the special position of a senator or deputy, they are trumpeting about their expansionist plans and are instigating new aggressive wars, disregarding lightly the lessons of the inglorious collapse of imperialist Germany and of her plans for world domination. The future is not with these gentlemen but with those nations that, like the Soviet Union, desire lasting peace and link the interests of their security with the interests of the security of other peace-loving nations.

Efforts on the part of certain strong States to impose their will on other nations will occur in the future, too. But in regard to the Soviet Union, both in the past and in the future, they are doomed to failure. Only aspirations for friendly collaboration, in which there is no room for imposing the will of one State or two States upon another State, can serve as a reliable foundation for the development of relations between the Soviet State and other countries.

One need not doubt that these principles of international collaboration will enjoy ever-growing recognition in other democratic countries, as it is well known that a definite procedure of adopting decisions agreed among the Allies was evolved during the war. Agreed decisions on very important questions were unanimously adopted at the conferences of Teheran, Yalta and Berlin, as well as at the Moscow Conference of 1943.

These decisions were not adopted through imposing upon one Government the will of other Governments, but as a matter of friendly accord and understanding. This method of collaboration brought about positive results.

Rejected by Soviet Union

Certain circles now seek to break this accord. Ever-new attempts are made to act contrary to this true method of work. At the Paris conference it was suggested not to wait for drafts of the peace treaties to be agreed upon among the Governments which had undertaken to prepare these drafts. It was suggested that drafts not agreed upon should be referred directly for consideration to a peace conference of the representatives of twenty-one States, there to start disputes and struggle. The Soviet delegation declined these attempts to break the established principles of the joint work of the Allies.

After the Paris conference, Mr. Byrnes advanced a new still more far-reaching plan. It is proposed to refer to the United Nations organization the consideration of draft peace treaties on which agreement will not have been achieved, although it is known that this organization is not concerned with questions of peace treaties. This is one more attempt to break up the procedure of concerted work that was established in recent years and to utilize methods of pressure, threats and intimidation.

The inconsistency of such intimidation in regard to the Soviet Union is obvious and has been proved many times. Such attempts, however, testify to the strong desire of certain foreign circles to break up the principles of joint work with the Soviet Union and other democratic States that were established in recent years, and in relations with the U. S. S. R. and other countries to try to resort to methods alien to normal relations among States.

Termed Peril to Prestige

Attempts to draw the United Nations organization into such affairs are already universally known. Such things may be done if one does not consider the risk of undermining the prestige of the United Nations organization, being carried away by the tactics of utilizing ever-new combinations of votes in the international organization.

Now there are instances of this sort, and one cannot deny that the prestige of the Security Council has already been subjected to grave trials.

All this goes to show that the preparation of the first peace treaties has already encountered no small difficulties. These difficulties are not accidental. There is a desire in certain foreign circles to dislodge the Soviet Union from the honorable place in international affairs that it has rightfully occupied, to prejudice the international prestige of the U.S.S.R.

Yet only short-sighted reactionary circles doomed to fiasco can act in such a manner. They are unable to understand that the Soviet State, which bore the brunt of the struggle for the salvation of mankind from the tyranny of fascism, now rightfully occupies a position in international relations such as complies with the interests of the equality of big and small countries in their desire for peace and security.

In defending the legitimate interests of the Soviet Union and the principles of friendly collaboration with other democratic countries—while repelling imperialist reactionary attempts wherever they may originate—the Soviet Union is fully convinced of the correctness of its policy, which is aimed at defending the cause of peace and the progress of humanity.

No Comment by Washington.

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, said today that Secretary Byrnes has not yet seen reports of Molotov's statement that this country and Britain had acted as a bloc against Russia at Paris. The department therefore has no comment, he added.

BRITISH PRESS RAPS MOLOTOV

Challenges Russian Review Of Paris Peace Conference

London, Tuesday, May 28 (AP)—British morning newspapers challenged editorially today Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's review of the Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris.

One called his statement the "explosion of a diplomatic cocktail," and another said he had widened the "tragic breach" between Russia and her former allies.

On the other hand Molotov's outspokenness was welcomed. The London Daily Express said that "Molotov embarks on open diplomacy" and added that "we may not accept all, or any, of his arguments."

'Tragic Breach Widened'

The newspaper said that "out of such public exchange of views there will come in due course a unification of policy, as suspicions and misconceptions are one by one dissolved."

The independent London Daily Mail, under the heading "Realty at Last," said Molotov 'widened the tragic breach dividing Russia from her former Allies."

"When he spoke of 'imperialist domination' and 'certain powers attempting to impose their will on the rest' he must have done so with tongue in cheek," the paper said.

Declaring Russia's attitude "intransigent" the Daily Mail added, "this is the showdown and (United States Secretary of State James F.) Byrnes is facing it realistically."

'Cards Face Up On Table'

The liberal News Chronicle said some of Molotov's points were "open to direct challenge," adding:

"But Molotov has done what (British Foreign Secretary Ernest) Bevin once asked for: Placed cards face upward on the table. The most significant fact is that distrust has become the ruling motive of policy."

The conservative Yorkshire Post, referred to the "explosion of a diplomatic cocktail" and said the "bitterness of Molotov's attack upon Britain and the United States will give a shock to world opinion."

Fears For Next Meeting

The independent conservative London Daily Telegraph said Molotov's statement "augurs ill for the success of a resumed meeting of foreign secretaries in three weeks time," and added:

"If there is any change to be detected from the tone of the Russian's pronouncements . . . it is only in substitution of the United States for Britain as the chief target of criticism. But that is not a hopeful change."

The conservative Daily Sketch said:

"The dialectical tactic of charging other people with offenses committed by oneself is still apparently a fashion. Not one of these accusations which Molotov so amiably brings against 'certain' un-named but clearly indicated powers but could not fittingly and justly be brought against the power he himself represents."

Bevin and Molotov Exchange Greetings

London, May 27 (A. P.).—V. M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, exchanged messages yesterday on the fourth anniversary of the twenty-year Anglo-Russian treaty of alliance. The Moscow radio said that Molotov expressed the hope that the treaty would continue to serve "as a basis for the co-ordinated and friendly activities of Great Britain and the U. S. S. R."

Bevin expressed his deepest wish that the alliance would be entirely fulfilled, and said: "We both realize that in the great difficulties that arise after such a great world war, patience, toleration and understanding are necessary."

World Health Unit Backed By U.S.

New York, May 27 (AP)—John G. Winant, United States delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, declared today that the United States "firmly supports" the establishment of a world health organization.

Winant spoke as the Council began work looking toward the meeting in New York on June 19 of an international health conference which will consider forming a world health organization.

The health organization was the first matter to be taken up formally by the Economic and Social Council after its opening meeting in the United States last Saturday. The Council's calendar is crammed with economic and social problems of the world to be considered during the sessions here.

French Proposal

Alexandre Parodi, of France, President of the Security Council and delegate to the Economic and Social Council, proposed that nations excluded from the United Nations also be barred from the world health organization.

Parodi did not name any nation, merely saying that some have been barred from the United Nations for some special reasons, but it was recalled that France has joined other members of the United Nations in condemning Franco Spain and has closed the French border to Spain.

The French delegate disagreed with a preparatory committee's proposal that all states of the world be admitted to the health organization when it is formed.

Drop-Iran Move Grows

Meanwhile, sentiment for dropping the controversial Iranian case from the agenda of the United Nations Security Council was reported to be increasing today, but there was still no indication when the Council would meet.

Sources close to Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States delegate on the Security Council, said he would probably agree to close the Iranian case when the Council takes it up again, unless the situation changes in Iran before then.

Satisfied On Evacuation

He was represented as being satisfied that all Soviet troops are now out of Iran, although the council has still not received a categorical statement from either Russia or Iran.

Brazilian sources said Brazilian Delegate Pedro Leao Velloso was ready to go along with the United States. Poland, France and Mexico had already indicated they would be willing to drop the case.

Other delegates could not be reached for comment, but it was regarded as likely that at least two of them might support a move to drop the case.

No New Instructions

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala said in Washington that he had received no new instructions from his Government to make a further report to the Council. He disclosed, however, that he had received a telegram from Premier Ahmed Qavam confirming reports that Russia had assured the Iranian Government that the withdrawal of Soviet troops was completed May 9.

Under the resolution of May 22, postponing further discussion of the Iranian case, a meeting of the council must be called if a session is requested by any member. So far no such request has been received.

U. S. and Britain Get Note

MADRID, May 27 (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Ministry has delivered a note to the British and United States Embassies referring to current discussions of Spain by the United Nations, it was learned today. Contents of the note were not disclosed.

U.N. Guzzles —Orange Juice

New York, May 27 (AP)—One of the bartenders at United Nations headquarters at Hunter College said today that business was so bad in the delegates' bar that the concessionaires had considered closing it.

Mort Green, who alternates in the public and delegates' bars, said the diplomats generally drank orange juice, "cokes" or nothing at all.

"I was working there one day when we took in 70 cents," he said. "Once the other bartender said his total was 10 cents.

"The highest take for a single day was about $30 and you can quote me as saying that more than half of it was for orange juice.

"Those diplomats drive me crazy drinking all that orange stuff. We have to keep pitchers full ahead."

Green said orange juice sells for 25 cents and "cokes" for 10.

United Nations officials declined comment on contentions of excessive "guzzling of liquor" by United Nations members. The charge was made by Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, who said: "No wonder that so many of the international conferences turn out to be lost week ends."

London, May 27 (AP)—The British Foreign Office declined to go on record with any official comment today on the statement of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on the Paris Foreign Ministers conference. One highly-placed official, however, remarked that the Russian Minister's message sounded "like old stuff" and flatly denied that "there has been any ganging up against Russia by Britain and the United States."

ARGENTINA BACKS ITALY

Indicates Support for Rome's Bid to Join United Nations

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—In a confidential Foreign Office memorandum delivered today to the Italian Ambassador here, Alberto Tarchiani, Argentina indicated that she would support any move for Italian membership in the United Nations.

The Argentine charge d'affaires, Luis S. Luti, gave Signor Tarchiani the memorandum at an informal conference at the Italian Embassy. Señor Luti said that there was strong sentiment among the Latin-American republics favoring an Italian move to gain formal membership in the United Nations.

BIG FOUR DEPUTIES RESUME SESSIONS

Paris, May 27 (A. P.).—Deputy Foreign Ministers of the United States, France, Great Britain and Russia resumed their sessions today in preparation for the next Foreign Ministers' council meeting June 17.

The deputies met briefly to map out their agenda for the next three weeks. They were to hear Italian spokesmen on proposed changes in the Franco-Italian border. They will hear Austrian and Italian representatives on Austria's requests for minor frontier changes.

LEFT WINGERS HOLDING EDGE

51% Of Vote Seen Controlling Czechs' Assembly

Prague, May 27 (AP)—The Communists and other extreme Left Wing parties won 51 per cent of the total vote in yesterday's hotly contested Czechoslovak parliamentary elections, virtually complete returns showed tonight.

A Communist party spokesman predicted the slim plurality would be sufficient to assure extreme Left Wing control of the 300-member assembly, which will draw up a constitution.

Assembly Possibilities

Neutral observers foresaw this as the apportionment of the assembly:

Czech Communists, 93; Czech Social Democrats, 36; Slovak Communists, 21; Slovak Labor Party, 2, or a total of 152 for the extreme Left Wing groups.

Socialists, 58; Catholic People's, 46; Slovak Democrats, 42; Freedom Party, 2, or a total of 158 for the moderate Leftists.

Latest totals from Bohemia Moravia included: Communists, 3,205,648; National Socialists, 1,298,917; Catholic People's, 1,110,920; Social Democrats, 855,771.

Slovakia — Democrats, 988,275; Communists, 490,257; Freedom, 67,575; Labor, 49,983.

Prague Generally Quiet

There was immediate speculation as to whether the Communists would demand greater representation in the Cabinet, where they now hold the ministries of information, interior and education.

Although failure to vote means the possibility of a fine of a month in jail, unofficial tabulations disclosed that [illegible]ely ten per cent of the [illegible] registered voters failed t[illegible] at the polls.

In Prague, where the Communists won a plurality, the outcome of the election was taken in stride. After weeks of noisy campaigning the city was quiet, except for Communist party amplifiers playing gay tunes in the main square.

Striking gains were made by the comparatively conservative Catholic People's party, which obtained 105,000 votes in Prague compared with 31,000 in the last free election before the war.

The veering to the left led observers to believe that the policies of the Provisional Government have been popular. These include nationalization of industries, social experiments, and the expulsion of the Germans and Hungarians.

Because the election, in effect, represented a vote of confidence in the Government, there is expected to be few changes in the Cabinet.

The 300-member Assembly is expected to convene, re-elect Edward Benes as President, and begin the task of drafting a new constitution. Benes, incidentally, didn't vote. He was regarded as a neutral by virtue of his office.

REDS EMERGE AS STRONGEST CZECH PARTY

Substantial Returns In on Compulsory Voting for Assembly.

SOCIALISTS ALSO ARE STRONG

Results in Outlying Districts to Determine if Leftists Will Have Majority.

Prague, May 27 (A. P.).—The Communists emerged today as the strongest political party in Czecho-Slovakia on the basis of substantial returns from yesterday's parliamentary elections. They won a plurality in Prague.

Returns yet to come in from outlying districts held the answer of whether the vote of the Communists and other extreme leftists would be sufficient to gain a majority in the new Assembly of 300 members.

The moderate National Socialists—the party of Eduard Benes until he became president—polled a strong vote, though it was not as heavy as expected. The comparatively conservative People's (Catholic) party made striking gains. For instance, the People's party polled 105,000 votes in Prague compared to 31,000 in the last free election before the war.

[The Prague Radio gave this standing for the parties early today: Communists 2,217,711 votes, or 31.15 per cent of the votes counted; Czech Socialists, 1,303,463, 18.31 per cent; Catholic Peoples, 1,126,707, 15.82 per cent; Slovak Democratic, 982,924, 13.81 per cent; Social Democrats, 862,494, 12.11 per cent; Slovak Freedom, 59,651, 0.84 per cent; Slovak Labor, 49,760, 0.7 per cent, and blank ballots, 31,159, 0.45 per cent.]

With about half the nation's 7,500,000 votes counted, political writers made these observations:

Czecho-Slovakia, by giving more votes to the Communists than any other individual party, showed that it had veered farther left. This indicated that the provisional government's policies, such as nationalization of industries, social experiments, and expulsion of Germans and Hungarians are basically popular. In effect, the election represented a vote of confidence in the government.

Expect Few Changes.

Consequently, there probably will be few changes in the cabinet. The vote suggested that even Prime Minister Zdenek Fierlinger might retain his post, although his Social Democrats finished poorly. He is popular with the Communists, who may want help from his party in forming a powerful left wing in the assembly.

The striking feature of the election was that the National Socialists, ordinarily considered a strong party in the cities, trailed the Communists in Prague, Pilsen, Kladno and Moravska Ostrave, although they carried Brno by a slim margin. Another feature was the weakness of the Communists in Slovakia, where the Democratic party won a 60 per cent majority.

The Assembly is expected to convene, re-elect Benes as president and start drafting a new constitution. Benes is widely revered as one of the founders of the country, which was born after the first world war from the break-up of Austria-Hungary.

One oddity of the election was that voting was compulsory for all except Benes. A former National Socialist, he was regarded as neutral by virtue of his office. He did not vote.

SOVIET ANNOUNCES POLISH ARMS LOAN

London, May 27 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio said today that Russia will supply Poland with arms and munitions on a long-term credit basis in view of the difficulties encountered by the Polish Government in getting back Polish gold reserves which were placed in foreign banks before and during the war." The agreement was arrived at at the end of Russo-Polish talks in Mossow, which also covered an exchange of nationals between the two nations, Moscow added.

British Treasury officials, according to an official Polish spokesman in London, have agreed to reduce Poland's debt to Britain from $600,000,000 to $40,000,000 with the proviso that $12,000,000 be paid over immediately from Polish gold reserves now held in London.

BRITAIN HALTS WORK ON TWO NEW CARRIERS

LONDON, May 27 — (AP) Britain has halted the fitting out of the aircraft carriers Hercules and Leviathan, an authoritative source disclosed tonight.

The action was not explained. The Hercules was launched last June and the Leviathan was launched last September.

Last winter the Admiralty stopped construction of the aircraft carrier Eagle after her keel had been laid.

POLISH TOWNS RAIDED

Warsaw, May 26 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Ukrainian Nationalist bands raiding and burning along the San River in southeastern Poland have left 141,000 villagers and townsmen homeless in the last several months, the newspaper Gazeta Ludowa reported today.

Leftist Strength Is Noted

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, May 27 (AP)—In the zone-wide results of yesterday's elections observers noted that, combined, the Social Democrats and Communists polled 46.2 per cent of the vote, as compared with 39.6 for the Christian Social Union. Such a combination could swing control of the area for the leftists, and American observers predicted a new drive for a merger of the two leftist parties.

The victory of the Catholic-supported Christian Social Union, American observers stressed, does not indicate any rightist trend for all of Germany. The American zone, these observers noted, is strongly agricultural, Catholic and conservative.

C. S. U. Leads in U. S. Zone.

Frankfurt, May 27 (A. P.).—The Conservative Christian Social Union emerged today as the strongest political force in American-occupied Germany, with preliminary final returns showing it the victor in council elections in nearly all the thirty-eight cities voting yesterday.

Although closely contested by the mildly leftist Social Democrat party, the church-supported CSU—a post-war hodgepodge of liberals, moderates and reactionaries—repeated its performance of two previous elections when it won the overwhelming support of rural workers throughout the zone.

The Communist party, which had expected to make at least a fair showing in war-ravaged industrial centers, took a bad beating, winning only forty-seven of 1,025 seats in city councils.

The Social Democrat party—a relic of pre-Hitler days—won narrow margins in large cities of the industrial north, but these were offset by conservative-minded voters in predominantly conservative Bavaria, the returns showed.

Returns Almost Complete.

Frankfurt, for instance, gave the Social Democrats a victory margin of 10,000 votes, but on the other hand the Bavarian capital of Munich carried the CSU to power with a 22,000 leeway.

The almost complete returns—figures from Wuertemberg were not expected until later—revealed the turnout of voters, despite bad weather, was up to expectations. Of 2,022,821 registered voters, 1,684,456 went to the polls—or 83.2 per cent.

Tabulations showed these results: Christian Social Union—667,991 votes, 484 seats; Social Democrat party—635,017 votes, 421 seats; Communist party—147,693 votes, forty-seven seats; Liberal Democrat party—101,584 votes, thirty-four seats; other parties—74,060 votes, thirty-nine seats.

2 G. I.'s Outwit Army---Wed Germans

Marry Girls in Interval Between Quitting Armed Forces and Taking War Department Jobs.

Frankfurt, May 27 (A. P.).—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported today the marriages of two former United States soldiers to German girls who, by a technicality, circumvented the Army's prohibition of American-German weddings.

Charlees Quatt, 30 years old, of Paterson, N. J., and Philip Haeze, 24 years old, of Pittsburgh, married their German girls during the interval in which they were getting out of the Army and taking War Department jobs in Germany and when neither was in the employ of the United States, the newspaper said.

Quatt and Haeze now are living with their brides in apartments overlooking the Danube River in Regensburg. They were married recently by an official of the Regensburg oberburgermeister's office, the Army newspaper said.

Quatt was quoted as saying he had been told there was nothing in the regulations to prevent an American citizen outside of direct War Department jurisdiction from marrying a German girl.

Stars and Stripes said that Quatt, who was discharged from the Army in the United States, returned to Germany especially to marry Lotte Nippgen, 25. He traveled on a State Department passport to Luxembourg.

Haeze married Lucia Welter, 30, during forty-one days he spent in Germany as a civilian without a contract.

Schirach Denies Link To Moves Against Jews

Nuernberg, May 27 (AP)—Baldhr von Schirach told the International Military Tribunal today that he had joined in a plan to ship Jews from Vienna to the occupied East, but insisted he did not know they were to be exterminated.

During the crossexamination of the one-time Hitler youth leader and Gauleiter for Vienna, the prosecution produced records of a conference between Schirach and Adolf Hitler in 1940, during which the evacuation of 60,000 Jews from Austria were discussed.

Denies Participation

The defendant has contended that he never participated in any way in acts against Jews.

"You knew the Jews in Vienna were to be sent to Minsk and Riga," Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd declared, "and you knew what happened to the Jews there."

Schirach launched into a lengthy denial and Dodd interrupted to read a communication from Gestapo Chief Reinhard Heydrich informing Schirach's office that Riga's 29,000 Jews had been "reduced" to 2,500 and that 33,000 were shot in Minsk.

Schirach denied that his youth organization had been connected with a plan to sap Russian strength by "kidnapping" thousands of children for transport to the Reich, using them for forced labor and destroying their power to reproduce.

Thereupon Dodd introduced reports linking the defendant's office with the scheme.

"Do you know that the Allied authorities are still trying to find more than 10,000 of those youngsters?" Dodd shouted. Schirach said he did not.

WOUNDED GI KILLED IN PRAYER, NAZI SAYS

DACHAU, Germany, May 27 (AP)—A former Nazi Storm Trooper dropped to his knees today in the silent Dachau courtroom and clasped his hands in an attitude of prayer—to demonstrate to a United States court how a wounded American soldier had been mowed down in the massacre of Malmedy.

Walter Fransee, former S.S. radio operator, told the court trying seventy-four Nazis for the slaughter of unarmed prisoners of war that he saw 100 prisoners lying dead or wounded in a field after they had been sprayed with machine-gun fire. Sixty yards from the field a wounded American soldier knelt in prayer. He was cut down in that position, the witness testified.

A second German, a former member of the Nazi Elite Guard, told the court how American prisoners writhing in the agony of wounds inflicted in the massacre, had been shot to death methodically by a German soldier who walked from wounded soldier to soldier.

The witness, Sgt. Willi von Chamier, said the sergeant responsible was not among those now on trial.

Another German, Sgt. Max Rieder, admitted killing a defenseless 50-year-old Belgian woman under instructions from his superior, although "there was no cause to kill her."

NEW U. S. POLICY SEEN AS REALISTIC

BERLIN, May 27—(AP) Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, today described as a "policy of facing realities" the U. S. action in stopping further shipments of industrial reparations from the American-occupied zone of Germany.

Clay previously had said the reparations deliveries would be halted beyond those already allocated until the Allied decision taken at Potsdam for administering Germany as a whole is put into effect.

(In London a British Foreign Office spokesman said today Britain may follow the lead of the United States and ban further reparations deliveries from its zone.)

Discussing the American reparations embargo, Clay said there was no attempt to "pressure" any power which has been blocking central administration of Germany. The French have opposed consideration of a central administration for Germany until disposition has been made of the Ruhr and Rhineland.

New Jewish Adviser On Duty in U. S. Zone

Frankfurt, May 27 (A. P.).—Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, newly appointed advisor on Jewish affairs to Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, has arrived in Frankfurt to take up his post. Rabbi Bernstein of Temple B'rith Kodash, Rochester, N. Y., succeeds Judge Simon H. Rifkind of New York city.

OFFICER AT LICHFIELD LINKED TO BEATINGS

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, May 27 (AP)—Lieut. Granville Cubage was accused by the prosecution today of issuing orders to guards at the United States Army guardhouse at Lichfield, England, to beat imprisoned American soldiers "to the floor" if they refused to obey orders.

The court-martial of Lieutenant Cubage, Oklahoma City officer, on charges of cruelty to prisoners, was resumed today after a three-week delay. The prosecutor said it would be shown that Lieutenant Cubage told the guards that "if the prisoners did not comply with orders, the guards could beat the prisoners to the floor."

Testimony that the six-foot physique of the officer helped him win appointment as a prison officer was offered to the court. The testimony, introduced over the objections of attorneys for Lieutenant Cubage, was taken from the court record of the trial of another soldier similarly accused, at which Lieutenant Cubage was a witness.

"You're over six feet, aren't you?" the trial record quoted Lieutenant Cubage as saying he was asked by the assignment officer at Lichfield. When Lieutenant Cubage answered yes, the assignment officer replied that Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., former commander of the Lichfield Replacement Depot, "will want you as a prison officer."

The defense named Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, Deputy Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean, as among its requested witnesses. His command once included guard houses in England.

Russians Battle Russians In Mistake at Berlin

Train Guards and M. P.s Believe Each Other Looters

BERLIN, May 27 (AP). — The American Provost Marshal's office said today that one Russian was fatally shot and at least two were wounded early yesterday when Russia ntrain guards and Russian military police mistook each other for looters and fought a three-hour gun battle in darkness at the sprawling Tempelhof freight yards.

Shortly after midnight Saturday the Russian M. P.'s and German railway guards came upon a group of armed Russians whom they suspected of looting. Instead, they were part of the guard of a Russian train carrying repatriates which had halted in the yards.

The guards, suspicious of the M. P.'s, opened fire and disarmed them. When more Russians arrived to reinforce the M. P.'s, the guards opened fire on them also with submachine guns.

An American constabulary force arrived shortly after 3 a. m., clarified the situation and halted the battle. The Americans took no part in the shooting.

Lichfield Trial Hears Officer Set Beatings

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 28 (AP)—The prosecution opened its case today against Lieut. Granville Cubage with the assertion that evidence would show Cubage instructed guards to beat prisoners in the United States Army guardhouse at Lichfield, England, if they disobeyed orders.

While one army court was refusing to grant a further delay in the once-postponed trial of Cubage, another delay of 30 days was sought in the trial of Lieut. Leonard W. Ennis, which was resumed in an adjoining courtroom after one 26-day postponement.

Ennis is from Peekskill, N.Y., and Cubage is from Oklahoma City. Both are accused of brutality to prisoners at Lichfield. Twelve other soldiers still face similar charges.

Basis Of Request

Col. Edward Chayes, of Chicago, special counsel for Ennis, charged that records and witnesses needed for Ennis's defense still had not been furnished by the Army "despite repeated requests." He announced also that he was withdrawing from the case on May 31 to be redeployed to the United States and asked time for a new attorney to be obtained for Ennis.

The prosecution asserted "any further delay in this case will not serve the interests of justice."

The eight-officer court-martial did not rule immediately on the request.

One Of Counsel Ill

Cubage also sought another postponement because one of his lawyers is ill. The court denied the petition.

Outlining the prosecution's case against Cubage, Capt. David M. Proctor, Jr., of Kansas City, said: "The evidence will show that Cubage issued instructions that if prisoners did not comply with guards' orders, the guards could beat the prisoners to the floor."

Both Cubage and Ennis have pleaded innocent.

Dutch Catholic Chief To Form Government

The Hague, May 27 (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina today invited Dr. Louis Joseph Maria Beel, a leader of the Catholic People's party, to form a new Netherlands government.

Beel was Interior Minister in the resigning Cabinet of Prime Minister Willem Schermerhorn. He is expected to attempt to form a coalition combining the parliamentary influence of the Catholics and the second-place Labor party. The Catholics have 32 seats and Labor 29.

Dr. Beel Will Seek New Dutch Regime

The Hague, May 27 (AP)—Dr. Louis Maria Beel, Catholic party leader, will undertake formation of a new coalition Government for the Netherlands, made up mainly of Catholic and Labor party socialist Ministers, sources close to Beel said tonight.

Beel was invited today by Queen Wilhelmina to form a new Government succeeding that of Premier William Schermerhorn, whose Labor Socialist party ran second to the Catholics in the recent elections. Together the two parties control 61 out of 100 seats in the lower branch of Parliament.

Beel gave Queen Wilhelmina the traditional reply—that he wished to consider the Queen's request. Schermerhorn has submitted his resignation, but is continuing as Premier pending the forming of a new government. Beel is Interior Minister in the resigning Cabinet.

Beel first held political office as municipal secretary in Eindhoven, and subsequently served in various capacities, distinguishing himself in educational and social work.

He was a member of the Netherlands exile government in London, and Schermerhorn gave him the Minister of Interior post when he formed the Cabinet of national unity in 1945, after the liberation of the Netherlands.

U.S. And Britain Urge Romania To Elect Soon

London, May 27 (AP)—The Foreign Office today said that the United States and Great Britain had sent parallel notes to Romania urging an early election and fulfillment of the Moscow agreement on inclusion of opposition members in the Romanian Government.

The spokesman said the notes were sent after Russia failed to answer an American request that the United States, Great Britain and Russia send a joint protest to Romania.

It was agreed at the Moscow conference of the three foreign ministers that the Romanian Government should include two members of opposition parties and then should set a date for an election.

Sergt. John Mason, of Berkeley, Cal., former news editor of the Oakland (Cal.) Tribune, said he declared in an written statement to General Lee that "if I dropped the medal on the desk it would not ring true, therefore, I am asking you to save the embarrassment of accepting it."

Sergt. William Bradshaw, of Bowling Green, Ky., also declined the award but said he made no statement.

Staff Rows With Lee

Stars and Stripes, whose Mediterranean edition is closing June 2, was reorganized a few weeks ago after a dispute between Lee and the staff over the extent of editorial freedom it should be allowed.

It was understood that the recommendations for the medals was made in February by Maj. Hal C. Kestler, Stars and stripes publication officer.

A reliable source said Maior Kestler, who clashed with General Lee during the reorganization of the paper, advised the commander that he agreed with Mason and Bradshaw for turning down the awards because "the events of the last three months tend to rob them of their significance."

French Wife Killed, GI Wounded Badly

Paris, May 27 (AP)—The United States Army said today that Pfc. Charles H. Ewing shot and killed his French wife in a hotel room here Sunday and then critically wounded himself.

The couple's 4-month-old son, Danny Louis, was unharmed.

Ewing, formerly of Rapid City, S.D., suffered a bullet wound in the head and was taken to the 50th Army Field Hospital, where his condition was described as serious. Doctors said, however, he was expected to recover.

Criminal Investigation Division agents and French police said they had not discovered a motie for the shooting.

2 Stars And Stripes Men Turn Down Bronze Stars

Rome, May 27 (AP)—Two staff members of the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes have refused to accept Bronze Stars as a result of the smoldering controversy with Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, United States commander in Italy.

The delegation's statement said "the accused were originally arrested about a year ago in three separate batches on various pretexts." After they had submitted to beatings in which one was so badly injured he asked for the last rites, the statement said, the prosecutor demanded twenty-year sentences for three, and sentences of six to sixteen years for the others.

SAYS PALESTINE ADMITS 1760 JEWS

Jerusalem, May 27 (A. P.).—Dr. Bernard Joseph, executive of the Jewish Agency, said today that the Palestine Government had agreed to start releasing the 1,760 Jewish immigrants who entered Haifa illegally on May 14 aboard the steamship Smyrni. The passengers came from Constanza, Romania, and have since been held at a concentration camp at Athlit.

The ship on which they arrived has been confiscated and the crew still is interned.

Joseph said that the Jewish Agency is making plans to receive 100,000 Jews from Europe—the number recommended in the Anglo-American inquiry reports. He said the absorption of this number would cost $120,000,000.

A spokesman for the agency said a campaign was planned to get grants from Zionists all over the world. Joseph said at least 25,000 of the 100,000 immigrants would be children.

SIX JAPS ACCUSED OF KILLING YANKS

Tokyo, May 27 (A. P.).—Six Japanese, former Navy men, were today charged with complicity in the beheading of six American airmen in the East Indies. Their trials will be held in Manila.

Four defendants, Lieut. Sentaro Yamaguchi, Ensign Kiyoto Tasuki, Warrant Officer Koziro Tsuda and Superior Petty Officer Isaburo Suguwara, are charged with beheading Second Lieut. Leslie W. Jacobs, Sgt. James W. Haggerty and Cpl. Frank J. Molinari in February, 1945, near Samarinda, Borneo. Charged with beheading three other American fliers, unidentified, near Ambon on August 29, 1945, are Lieut. Harumichi Nogi and Warrant Officer Kiyosato Yoshizaki.

Saburo Kurusu, who talked in Washington of peace while Japan's carrier fleet moved in to attack Pearl Harbor, will be a witness against wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and other top Japanese war crimes defendants, Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan said today. He added, however, that he was not aware of any startling new evidence or documents that Kurusu might introduce at the trials, beginning on June 3. Kurusu has denied repeatedly that he knew anything of the closely-guarded plans of Japan's surprise attack.

G. I. Scores Senator's 'Geisha' Cable

Says Yanks in Japan Are Outraged by Johnson's Reply in Love and Kisses' Campaign.

Tokyo, May 27 (A. P.).—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Col.), and Representative Albert Engel (R.-Mich), drew the ire of G. I.'s today for their response to the "Love and Kisses" campaign for extension of the draft act.

"Soldiers here outraged by your geisha statement," radioed T/4 Alva Blythe of Martinez, Cal., to Johnson. "Is your 'few months' promise as unfounded as your geisha insinuation?"

Johnson had advised G. I.'s to use their love and kisses on Geisha girls because "they'd probably get more response." He added that "at the rate volunteers are enlisting, the problem of replacements is practically solved. Within a few months there will not be one man in the Army who does not want to be there."

To Engel, T/3 Lawrence Dengler of Davenport, Ia., radioed: "Who's kidding whom, Senator?"

Engel had called the campaign "too ridiculous to discuss and declared "legislation of that type is too serious to kid about."

To Senators Gurney (R.-S. D.), and Bridges (R.-N. H.), and Representative Thomason (D.-Tex.), whose comments sympathized with the soldiers, form messages were sent declaring "congratulations," "we are proud of you," "good luck, keep it up."

The "'love and kisses" messages were sent to Congressmen as a code advocating continuation of the draft. T/Sgt. Charles M. Swart of Philadelphia and T/4 John W. Krause of Laharpe, Ill., paid $20 Saturday to notify Congressmen that messages from G. I.'s in Japan saying "Love and kisses" would be sent as an economical means of expressing their sentiment.

The form greeting messages from Japan, designated by the number 43, cost 60 cents apiece.

Australian Court Shows British Justice To Japs

Kure, Japan, May 27 (AP)—Australian Wing Commander Edward A. Montague, of Deepene, Victoria, gave the Japanese their first taste of British justice today as he presided at the commonwealth air group's only provost court.

The heaviest sentence imposed was a 60-day jail sentence for theft from a canteen.

"The court has to demonstrate," Montague explained, "that our judicial system is fair and impartial. If we can bring the Japanese to realize this we will have a little toward accomplishing the object of the occupation."

3 French Raids Are Reported By Siam

Bangsok, Siam, May 27 (AP)—Three French raids on Siamese territory from Indo-China in as many days were reported by the Siamese Government today and tension still gripped the Mekong river border after a night of sporadic firing.

The Government communiqué said Franch troops attacked twice Sunday morning near Mi Chai, 325 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Government sources said as early as Friday that 200 French troops had invaded Northeastern Siam, crossing the Mekong river from French Indo-China.

Charge Planes Are Used

These sources said the French occupied Thabo and drove toward Nong Khai. The French were said to have used planes to support their advance.

The only resistance was reported to have come from Siamese police forces.

[A Reuter report said a Siamese communiqué had announced that the Government had informed the United Nations of the French action and had appealed to the British and United States delegations in Bangkok for intervention.

[During the Japanese occupation of Indo-China, the Japanese forced the cession of part of Cambodia to Siam. The French Government at Vichy accepted the settlement under duress, but French governments since the liberation have indicated a desire to reopen the question.]

New Attacks Claimed By Siam

Bangkok, Siam, May 27 (AP)—The Siamese Government charged today that French troops from Indo-China have made a series of raids on Siamese territory across the Mekong River. The border area was reported gripped by tension.

Desultory firing was reported throughout last night, following what a Siamese communiqué said were two Sunday raids by the French on Ban Maw, a village 325 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Another attack, the Government said, occurred last Friday, when 200 French troops invaded northeastern Siam in the same area, occupied the village of Thabo and drove on toward Mi Chai. The French were said to have used planes to support the advance and to have bombarded Siamese territory in their path.

Reports To United Nations

The Government said it was forwarding reports on the situation to the secretary general of the United Nations in New York.

"In Paris, a spokesman for the French Foreign Ministry said he could neither confirm nor deny the reports. He said no information had been received on the situation for two days.

French Government sources noted the clash was reported in an area of Cambodia where Vichy France, under Japanese pressure, ceded territory to Siam in 1940, after a long series of border incidents. France has demanded return of the ceded territory and indemnity for damage to French interests in the region. The French Press Agency said negotiations ended in deadlock and the Siamese mission which had been conferring with the French in Saigon returned to Bangkok.

Looting Of Village Reported

The Government said 800 French troops crossed the Mekong River Sunday and looted the entire village of Ban Maw, three hours after it had been evacuated as a result of a raid by a force of 80 men.

[In London, the Siamese legation reported in a communiqué new "unjustified attacks" by French soldiers on Siam from which "the Siamese nation has suffered loss of lives and damage to properties. The communiqué said that as long ago as May 7, the town of Mi Chai was bombarded by French troops from Indo-China and that the attacks were recurring. It said American and diplomatic officials were asked to communicate with the French Government "with a view to putting an end to such action."]

Appeal to U. S. and Britain.

London, May 27 (A. P.).—The Siamese legation declared in a communique today that French troops from Indo-China have made two "unjustified attacks" on Siam, bombarding a town with artillery, machine-gunning villages and invading Siamese territory. The Siamese declared they had no troops along the border and that the inhabitants had been ordered not to resist.

American and British diplomatic officials have been asked to communicate with the French Government "with a view to putting an end to such an action," said the communique.

The Siamese communique said that on May 7 the Siamese border town of Nakhon Phanom, on the Mekoing River, was bombarded for nearly two hours and Siamese villages along the border were machine-gunned, that local residents were killed and public and private property was damaged. The British Minister and the American Charge d'Affaires in Bangkok were thereupon requested to communicate with the French Government, it was further stated, but on May 24, French troops crossed the Mekong River border into Siamese territory at Tha Bau, in Mi Chai province, and moved further inland toward the town of Mi Chai.

Nakhon Phanom is 375 miles northeast of Bangkok. Mi Chai is 135 miles northwest of Nakhon Phanom and a short distance southeast of Vientiane. Both places are on the Mekong river which describes a large loop between the two towns.

Paris Tells of Deadlock.

Paris, May 27 (A. P.).—The French Press Agency today reported from Saigon, Indo-China, that a Siamese mission which had conferred with the French military leaders in Saigon since April, had returned to Bangkok after a deadlock in negotiations over Cambodian territory. The agency said it had no information of the reported movements of French troops across the Siamese border.

American Observer Sent To Siam Border

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The State Department reported today an American observer has been sent from Bangkok to the border of Siam and Indo-China to get the facts on reported French troop movements into Siamese territory.

Thus far, Press Officer Michael McDermott said, information received here indicates that "only a border incident" has occurred.

NEW BATTLE SEEN AS CHIANG'S ARMY DRIVES FOR HARBIN

NANKING, May 27—(AP) Indications of an impending battle for Harbin clouded negotiations for a Manchurian settlement today, but hopes of an early truce persisted.

A Communist spokesman warned "this is a turning point," the Government must decide whether it wishes to solve the Manchurian question peacefully or through continued civil war."

Observers agreed much would depend on the next move of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. He was expected hourly from Mukden, where he conferred over the weekend with his generals and other officials.

General Marshall, special U. S. envoy to China, meanwhile resumed talks with Gen. Hau Yung-Chang, Government member of the Committee of Three. They had not met since their discussions were broken off 10 days ago at the start of the government's drive to recapture Changchun. Their meeting was believed preliminary to a full-dress resumption of committee conferences on the pacification and unification of China.

On Sunday Marshall conferred for more than two hours with Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief negotiator for the Communists. He also talked with Premier T. V. Soong, presumably about a projected $500,000,000 American loan to China.

Manchurian dispatches to independent and pro-Government newspapers reported that Government troops pressing northward after the recapture of Changchun were in the vicinity of Tehhwei, 90 miles southwest of Hardin.

There were no new reports of fighting in that or other Manchurian areas, however. Communist forces were said to be concentrating around Taitsihar, 170 miles northwest of Harbin, and around Tunghwa, near the Korean border.

Wang Ping-man, Communist leader just arrived from Shanghai, said that if the Government forces persisted in their drive toward Harbin it would be interpreted as a desire to extend the civil strife, "in which case it is inevitable that we should resist."

The Nanking newspaper Ta Kung Pao carried a Mukden dispatch

quoting Lieut. Gen. Sun Li-jen, commander of the Nationalist new 1st Army, as saying the battle of Changchung may have been the last of China's civil war. The general added that he personally hated civil war and the country was war-weary.

In a similarly conciliatry vein the Communists' Yenan radio declared that the "feeling for nation-wide peace and democracy by Chinese at home and overseas mounted with the growing civil war hostilities of the last month."

A high Kuomintank (government party) official here voiced the belief that peace is in sight, but said the Communists must give up Harbin and Tsitihar.

Most optimistic was the Peiping newspaper "Hsin Min Pao," which flatly predicted a general truce by tomorrow.

A partial agreement for cessation of hostilities in central Shantung Province, in North China, was reported by a field truce team which returned from a conference with General Chen Yi, commander of the Communist New 4th Army. The Communists agreed to quit fighting, but balked at withdrawing troops from several cities near Tsinan.

Gen. Teng Tai-yuan, deputy chief of staff of the Coummunist 8th Route Army, arrived in Nanking to report on Communist demobilization. The Nationalists have charged the Communists failed to carry out their part in the demobilization agreement.

Announcement of a truce in the propaganda war was expected today. This would boost the prestige of Marshall, who attacked such propaganda last week.

Fate Of Mayor, Commander

The Government's Central News Agency reported today that the Nationalist Mayor of Changchun, Chao Chun-mai, and Garrison Commander Chen Chia-chen—both captured when the Communists took the city more than a month ago—were removed to Harbin two days before Government forces returned. The agency said Changchun was returning to normal, although Communists allegedly had taken important industrial equipment.

with the Chinese Communists at Harbin, Manchuria, while Gen. Marshall, the American special envoy to China, prepared the groundwork for Chiang's reopening of peace negotiations.

Dispatches to independent and pro-Government newspapers placed the Government troops in the vicinity of Tehhwei, ninety miles southwest of Communist-held Harbin. Tehhwei is sixty miles northeast of Changchun, the Manchurian capital, which was easily recaptured by Chiang's forces on Thursday as the Communists withdrew.

Changchun's recapture and the renewal of direct negotiations between the opposing factions brought from the Peiping newspaper Hsin Min Pao the optimistic prediction that a general truce would be arranged by tomorrow. All observers agreed, however, that much will depend upon Chiang's next move. He and Mme. Chiang were expected to return today from conferences with Chiang's generals at Mukden.

Sees Turning Point.

"This is the turning point for the Government," Wang Ping-nan, Communist leader told the Associated Press. "It must now decide whether it wishes to solve the Manchurian question peacefully or through continued civil war."

If the Government troops push beyond Changchun, he added, the Communists will interpret this as a sign the Government wishes to enlarge the civil strife, "in which case it is inevitable we should resist."

Wang returned today from a two-day conference in Shanghai with members of the third-party Democratic League. He said a delegation from the league would arrive in Nanking tomorrow to arrange a meeting with Government representatives to discuss the league's program for peace in Manchuria. Wang said the delegates will suggest that the Government forces evacuate newly won Changchun and leave it in the hands of the Northeast Political Administrative Council, a coalition group.

Gen. Hsu Yung-chang, Government member of the committee of three, today resumed the talks with Marshall which had been broken off ten days ago at the start of the Szepingkai-Changchun drive. The meeting was interpreted here as preliminary to full-dress resumption of the committee conference which were halted a month ago.

A high Kuomintang party official here declared his belief that peace now is in sight but that the Communists must give up Harbin and Tsitihar.

A truce in the propaganda war waged by both factions was expected to be announced today. This would provide further evidence of the influence of Marshall, who last week criticized such propaganda as fostering hatred.

Jap Machines To Go To Manchuria: Pauley

Shanghai, May 27 (AP)—United States Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley said today deliveries of Japanese industrial equipment to rebuild Manchurian production should begin immediately. Japanese - manned repatriation ships could bring the machinery on return trips to China.

Pauley said transfer of 75 per cent of Japanese "industrial war potential" was planned, with the bulk of it going to Manchuria and Korea because necessary raw materials are available there.

Koo Silent On Report He Will Come To U.S.

Peiping, May 27 (AP)—Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Ambassador to London, today declined to confirm a semi-official Nanking report that he had been appointed Ambassador to the United States.

"I think this is premature," he remarked.

He served as Minister to the United States from 1915 to 1920.

ROXAS SWORN AS PRESIDENT OF PHILIPPINES

Pledges Close Relations With United States, End Of Lawlessness

Manila, Tuesday, May 28 (AP)—Heavily guarded, Manuel A. Roxas today took the oath of office as third President of the Philippines Commonwealth—and first President of the Republic-to-be—on a sunny rostrum fringed by the wreckage of war.

He pledged immediately that the republic, to be born officially July 4, would continue closest relations with the United States.

Dotted through the crowd of 50,000 at the open-air inaugural were military police with submachine guns, lining all approaches and standing elbow to elbow around the platform, guarding the President-elect against threatened assassination.

There was no untoward incident, however.

Suspects Rounded Up

Metropolitan military police staged a series of raids last night, seeking to round up all suspected extremists.

Roxas arrived ahead of schedule, reaching the rostrum before Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner, who was supposed to precede him. Retiring President Sergio Osmena was absent, although it previously had been reported that he would escort his successor to the ceremony.

In his innaugural address, the dynamic little leader, who fought by the side of General MacArthur early in the war, then remained in public life through the Japanese occupation, pledged an end to civil unrest and promised close Philippine-United States relations.

Elpidio Quirino, veteran legislator, stepped forward next, taking the oath as Vice President.

Roxas then read his thirteen-page inaugural address, in which he demanded the immediate surrender of all unlicensed firearms in order to end lawlessness "without a moment's delay."

"Leaders of violence must recognize leaders duly chosen by a free vote of the people," he declared.

"Our people are starting on a career of nationhood and cannot permit our national effort to be influenced by fear. This proud nation will not grant economic concessions at gunpoint."

Roxas did not mention by name the Hukbalahaps, organization of peasant guerrillas which opposed his election and clashed frequently with Filipino police in Central Luzon.

"Fabric Of Public Faith"

His inference was unmistakable, however, when he continued:

"In some few provinces . . . the rule of law and order has yielded to the rule of force and terror. Using economic injustice as a rallying cry, demagogues have destroyed the precious fabric of public faith in the democratic procedure.

"The faith of the people in Government must be restored. This Government is pledged to maintain the rights of the underprivileged with all its strength and all its vigor. . . . It will not sanction, not permit, but oppose with every force at its command if necessary the imposition of extralegal rule over any section of the country by any group of self-appointed leaders or individuals."

Thanks Americans

On the subject of independence, Roxas said:

"Philipinos discharged their debt of alliance to the United States with a payment of loyalty which has never been surpassed. We are to be a free nation largely because we have been aided in that direction by the love, liberty and good will of the American people.

"If we succeed as a nation—and of course we will succeed—we will have the Americans to thank."

But Roxas painted a dark picture of the islands today, fraught with unemployment, disease and the ruins of war, and warned that "disaster awaits us tomorrow if we do not reuse ourselves and get back to work, productive work."

Other high points in the new administration's program were:

A new farm tenancy law, with lands to be purchased by the government and resold to the people.

Labor to receive the "full fruits of its toil," with the right to organize protected and the worker's equity in the product of his labor "assured by the government."

Speedy correction of the ills besetting the landless, tenants, the hungry and the unemployed.

after independence is gained, and advanced a program to encourage new industry and higher living standards.

The brief ceremony in its historic setting of the sprawled ruins of buildings of state was a preview of that to be staged July 4 when the archipelago becomes independent.

It began with the arrival of Roxas, escorted by outgoing President Sergio Osmena and High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt. Osmena then retired to his home, in accordance with custom.

Senate President Jose Avelino read the election proclamation and Chief Justice Manuel A. Moran administered the oath to Roxas and Vice President Elpidio Quirino.

Roxas then read his 13-page inaugural address, in which he demanded the immediate surrender of all unlicensed firearms in order to end lawlessness "without a moment's delay."

"Leaders of violence must recognize leaders duly chosen by a free vote of the people," he declared.

Starting Career as Nation

"Our people are starting on a career of nationhood and cannot permit our national effort to be influenced by fear. This proud nation will not grant economic concessions at gunpoint."

Roxas did not mention by name the Hukbalahaps, organization of peasant guerrillas which opposed his election and clashed frequently with Filipino police in central Luzon. His inference was unmistakable, however.

Roxas Inaugurated at Manila Pledges Close Ties with U. S.

MANILA, Tuesday, May 28—(AP) Manuel A. Roxas, who was inaugurated president of the Philippines today, pledged that a free and law abiding nation, closely associated with the United States, would arise July 4 from the rubble of war.

On a high rostrum amid the debris of a conflict that tested the country's desire for freedom, Roxas took the oath to guide the islands through their first years of independence.

Will End Lawlessness

In his prepared inaugural address, the 54-year-old president pledged an end to lawlessness that has plagued the archipelago, promised closet relations would be maintained with the United States

REPORTS ASSASSINS ON TRAIL OF ROXAS

Manila, May 27 (A. P.).—A qualified and usually reliable informant told the Associated Press today that a plot had been developed in the turbulent Central Luzon provinces to asassinate President-elect Manuel Roxas. The informant said that seventy-five picked men from Neuva Ecija, Tarlac and Pampanga provinces had already entered Manila to carry out the plot.

He said he did not know whether the attempt would be made at tomorrow's inauguration or not, but: "They are hellbent to try."

The informant said the plot was hatched by men outside the control of the Hukbalahap and other guerrilla leaders, although from the same provinces where guerrilla organizations have been stormily engaged with the Filipino military police.

U. S. TALKS WITH REDS TO AID CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, May 27 — (AP) The State department said today the United States has intervened with Russia in an attempt to prevent expulsion from Romania of Ruben Markham, Christian Science Monitor correspondent.

Michael J. McDermott, department press officer, told reporters the government has instructed its representatives in Bucharest and Moscow to "do everything they can" to get the expulsion decree reversed.

Bucharest dispatches today said Markham was still in Constanta, and that his departure has been delayed pending a decision "from a high level."

The Soviet military command in Romania issued the expulsion order, claiming Markham had stated in a political speech" that war between Russia and the United States was inevitable. Markham denied making any political speeches.

SEA TOO MUCH FOR G. I. BRIDE

Australian Girl Walks Off Ship for Second Time.

Sydney, May 27 (A. P.).—Mrs. Josephine Hatton, the homesick G. I. bride who ran off the transport David C. Shanks just before it sailed for the United States in April, balked again today at a trip to America in the S. S. Monterey, to join her husband. She said the sea terrified her.

Four others quit the liner before it sailed for San Francisco with 688 war brides and children from Australia and New Zealand.

In contrast to her previous dramatic dash from the Shanks half an hour before sailing time, Mrs. Hatton left the Monterey quietly. Her husband, former Seaman William Hatton, is wait-

Later in tears, Mrs. Hatton told a reporter:

"If I never see my husband again, I couldn't travel there on a ship. I love Bill and I want to get across more than anything else in the world. I was all right until I went aboard. If I could only get across some other way!"

Loses Her Nerve.

Mrs. Ethel Wolf, with her 11-weeks-old son, whose husband recently was graduated as a doctor of philosophy from Boston University, told reporters that her nerves had stopped her from going but that she hoped to try again when the Monterey returned. Her trunk full of baby clothes was on the Monterey addressed to her husband.

The others who did not sail were:

Mrs. Elizabeth Maddox, wife of K. Maddox of Terrell, Tex., whose year-old son was taken to a hospital yesterday suffering from a rupture.

Mrs. Yvonne Van Cheri, whose husband is a former Army lieutenant residing in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Doris G. Bailey of Auckland, N. Z., who was homesick and seasick on the passage from New Zealand to Australia. She said her husband still is in the Army and that she didn't know where he lived in the United States.

food prduction this year will fall at least 10,000,000 tons, in terms of wheat equivalent, short of requirements until 1947 harvest.

"This gap," said the conference, "can be closed only if economies in the consumption of grains are enforced throughout the whole crop year.

"Nothing could be more disastrous than for countries to assume that, once the 1946 harvest has been gathered, there is no longer any necessity for further economy, and the grain from the 1946 harvest can be used without restriction for consumption by human beings and animals."

Direction of international food production and allocation programs, under the plan proposed, would be placed in the hands of an international emergency food council. It would replace the wartime British-American-Canadian Combined Food Board. Membership would be open to producers and consumer nations alike.

First Session Next Week

The first meeting of the new council may be held later this week. The conference recommended specifically that all countries adopt a flour extraction rate of 85 per cent. The rate in this country has been 80 percent since March. It normally is about 72 percent.

The conference urged also that wheat flour be padded out, to the extent of not less than five percent, by other grain products and potato flour.

dustrial uses be kept at "existing low levels" and where possible be still further reduced.

It urged that dairy cattle be given top priority in the use of the proposed limited supplies of grains for feed.

In order to make this year's production supply as many people as possible, the conference recommended that all countries reduce their current stocks to a minimum necessary to maintain regular distribution.

It said that in order to help meet a "grave shortage" of food fats and oils, governments should divert as much vegetable oil and fats as is feasible from the production of soaps, paints, varnishes and other non-food products.

85 P.C. World Wheat-Milling Rate Urged

Washington, May 27 (AP)—A committee of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization conference on famine problems recommended today that the world adopt an 85 per cent extraction rate for flour to save grain for the hungry.

This rate compares with the "dark loaf" 80 per cent in effect since March in this country, which normally extracts about 72 per cent of the grain in making flour. Some countries require an extraction as high as 90 per cent.

Supplementing Proposal

The committee also recommended that wheat flour be supplemented at least five per cent by other grain products and potato flour.

These and other recommendations will be submitted today to the final session of the conference, in which nineteen countries are making plans to meet world hunger problems during the next two years.

Other Recommendations

Other recommendations included:

1. That industrial uses of grain for alcohol and the like be kept "at least as low as they are now, and should be further reduced if possible."

2. A vigorous world-wide campaign against waste.

3. Greater efforts to divert grain from livestock.

4. That in the limited use of grain for feed, dairy cattle be given proper priority, and that production of heavy hogs, quality-fed beef and commercial broilers be discouraged.

5. That fewer potatoes be fed to hogs, that a larger proportion of the world's oil-seed crops be diverted to food fats, that less vegetable oil be used in toilet soaps, paints and varnishes, and that less herring as fish meal and less milk be fed to hogs.

The committee urged that larger acreages be plowed and a greater proportion be used for "essential food crops."

The committee emphasized the importance of "creating a feeling of confidence in regard to price stability."

SLASH IN WEIGHT OF BREAD ORDERED

Ruling Effective June 1 Aims At Saving Grain for Shipment Abroad.

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP) The Agriculture department announced tonight that bakers will be required to reduce the weight of their bread and rolls 10 per cent, effective at 12:01 a. m. June 1.

The purpose is to save cereals for famine areas abroad and to make domestic supplies go farther.

With flour supplies limited to 75 per cent of a year ago, many bakers have reported that they are unable to meet consumer demands for bread.

Bakers previously had been given Federal government permission to make such a reduction in size of loaves and rolls without reducing prices, but few had done so because of competitive reasons.

The reduction must be made from the weight of such bread and rolls produced on March 15, or on the last prior date when the bread and rolls were made.

The order provides exemptions for bakers who, because of equipment difficulties, cannot reasonably comply. Such bakers must apply for exemption by June 10.

The department meanwhile reported that 3,493,000 tons—or about 130,405,000 bushels—of wheat and wheat flour equivalent were exported to shortage areas between January 1 and May 20.

This compares with a goal of 4,666,000 tons or about 174,000,000 bushels set for the period.

World Food Session Seeks To Reduce Use of Wheat

WASHINGTON, May 27 — (AP) An international food conference today called upon the world to eat dark flour, using more of the wheat grain than at present and diluting it with other grains and potatoes, as a means of combatting hunger in the next 12 months.

It urged additional curbs on the feeding of grain to livestock.

Anticipating continuance of food shortages into 1948, the conference urged that a larger acreage be planted to cereal crops in 1947 than will be seeded this year.

Favors New Agency

The conference, conducted by the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization and attended by representatives of 20 countries and several international food agencies, also unanimously recommended that a new agency be created to direct the fight against famine.

Concluding work started a week ago, the conference forecast that

No recommendation with regard to bread and flour rationing was made, although a conference committee report suggested rationing as a possible way of effecting cereal economies.

Asks Cut in Grain Feeding

The conference declared that of all the measures which can contribute toward greatest savings of grain for human food, the most important is the "further curtailment of the use of wheat and other grains for feeding of animals."

Looking beyond this year's crop, the conference said it recognized that farmer fears of surpluses and depressed prices might hamper full production.

It expressed belief that "ultimately the problem of surpluses can only be resolved within the framework of an expanding world economy."

To meet famine problems in the months ahead, the conference recommended further that use of grains for beverages and other in-

BOARD URGES DEMOCRATIC ARMY SET-UP

Would Abolish the Very Terms of 'Officer' and 'Enlisted Man.'

ALL WOULD BE 'SOLDIERS'

G. I. 'Gripe' Reviewers Also Call for Leveling of Gaps in Pay and Promotions.

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—The Army's G. I. gripe board recommended today that the very terms "officer" and "enlisted man" be abolished as one step to narrow the official and social gap between them.

Reporting to Secretary of War Patterson on its sifting of post-war complaints, the inquiry group headed by Lieut.-Gen. James H. Doolittle proposed a thorough revision of existing differences in pay, promotion, furloughs, decorations and food. It called, too, for new measures aimed at raising the standard of leadership in the Army.

But the big break with tradition came in the proposal that all military personnel be referred to merely as "soldiers."

Abolition of the hand salute except on Army posts and in overseas occupied areas, and wiping out any rules or customs which make rank a barrier to social associations were among other recommendations made by the board composed exclusively of veterans.

Distinctions Disliked.

"Americans look with disfavor upon any system which grants unearned privileges to a particular class of individuals and find distasteful any tendency to make arbitrary social distinctions between two parts of the Army," the group concluded in its fifty-three-page report. There were irregularities, injustices in handling of enlisted personnel, and abuses of privileges in the recent war to such an extent as to cause widespread and deep-seated criticisms."

On the other side of the picture was the conclusion that "in the strict sense, the phrase, 'caste system,' is inappropriately applied to our Army at the present time, since the selection of individuals for commissioned rank is based on democratic principles."

The six-man board was named by Patterson in March following demonstrations overseas by men impatient to return to civilian life. It heard forty-two witnesses and examined more than 1,000 letters, mostly critical of the Army.

Nobody Seems Upset.

The board's own criticisms were tempered with the assertion that the Army, in meeting problems of a forty-fold wartime expansion, "did a truly magnificent job," and there were guarded indications that the War Department was not upset by the findings.

Patterson announced that some steps already have been taken to remedy problems set out in the report, but he noted that congressional approval and appropriations would be required to carry out some of the suggestions.

The board ascribed poor relationships between commissioned and enlisted personnel to two main factors:

1. "Undeniably poor leadership on the part of a small percentage of those in positions of responsibility."

2. "A system that permits and encourages a wide official and social gap" between officers and men.

To improve officer leadership, the board recommended specifically that previous military training—preferably one year in the ranks—be required of all appointees, except technicians not placed in command positions.

Proposing a complete review of the Army's system of promoting officers, the board urged that it be on a merit basis rather than on seniority and be coupled with provision for demotions.

Uniform Retirement Plan.

Other specific recommendations included:

Retirement—A system to permit retirement upon completion of ten, twenty, or thirty years, for enlisted men as well as officers, or after physical disability.

Pay—The present system of base pay should be reviewed from top to bottom and take into consideration the increased rates of pay in industry and business. (A number of pay increase bills are pending in Congress.)

Allowances—Fixing allowances on a sliding scale base, with Government-purchased food distributed equitably to all grades and ranks, and all ranks equally privileged to make private purchases. Clothing and uniforms should be issued to all ranks, in contrast to the existing arrangement whereby officers buy their own.

Terminal leave—Enlisted men as well as officers should be given terminal leave pay for unused furlough time, as provided in a proposal already before Congress; elimination of mustering out pay now given enlisted men and officers below the rank of major.

Democratic Social Relations.

Social relations—Off duty, all military personnel should be permitted "normal social patterns comparable to our democratic way of life." Use of discriminatory references such as "officers and their ladies; enlisted men and their wives" be eliminated.

Justice—Equality for all ranks, "the higher the rank the more severe the punishment," and provision for enlisted men to serve on courts.

Decorations—A system of awards to provide more equitable distribution based on merit and more difficult to obtain as rank increases.

In general, the board observed that much of the present structure of the Army harks back to the feudal systems of Prussia and Britain where only landed gentry were permitted in the officer corps.

"There is need for a new philosophy in the military order, a policy of treatment of men, especially in the ranks, in terms of advanced concepts in social thinking," the group advised Patterson.

Recognition of Dignity.

"The present system does not permit full recognition of the dignity of man. More definite protection from the arbitrary acts of superiors is essential."

The board said it took into account possible danger of undermining authority and discipline in abolishing some officers' privileges. The report noted that in the Red Army, after rank and privileges were abolished, "the pendulum swung in the other direction and the Russian officer corps now has greater prestige and privilege than before the reorganization was attempted and far more than accorded officers in our Army."

Aside from Doolittle, members of the board included former Lieut.-Gen. T. H. Middleton who is now comptroller of Louisiana State University; Robert Neville who served on Yank and the Stars and Stripes both as an enlisted man and officer; Adna H. Underhill, wartime paratrooper captain; Jake W. Lindsey, wartime technical sergeant who won the Congressional Medal of Honor, and Meryll H. Frost, who recovered from serious wounds to become Dartmouth football captain.

No Super-seniority for Vets

Supreme Court Rules Against Welder in Brooklyn Shipyard Case.

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court today decided that veterans do not have super-seniority rights to their pre-war jobs. The decision came on a suit by Abraham Fishgold, a Brooklyn welder and war veteran.

He contended that under the selective service act, he was entitled to regular work for one year on his old job with the Sullivan Drydock & Repair Corporation—even though that would require laying off a non-veteran worker with greater seniority.

Justice Douglas delivered the court's 6-1 decision. Justice Black wrote a dissent. Justice Jackson took no part.

The Department of Justice appealed on behalf of Fishgold, contending that Congress intended a veteran to have unlimited right to one year's re-employment at his old job, regardless of seniority or greater skill of other workers who did not go into the service.

The C. I. O. Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union said such a view of the act would cause conflict with union bargaining contracts based on seniority and would upset the whole fabric of industrial relations.

Fishgold worked at the Sullivan plant four and one-half months before he was inducted in May, 1943. He was discharged from the Army in July, 1944, and went back to his old job. Work slackened and he was laid off for nine days. Non-veterans continued at work.

Fishgold sued the company in United States District Court and won $86—nine days' pay. The union appealed to the Federal Circuit Court in New York city and won reversal of the District Court decision.

The Circuit Court said that Congress intended that a veteran was to be assured of his job for a year, but that the place to which he was restored was to be subject to the same conditions as those affecting his prewar job.

Gets Old Place Back.

Douglas for the majority said that the veteran in returning to his old job steps back on "the seniority escalator" at "the precise point he would have occupied had he kept his position continuously during the war."

Douglas took note of a rule by selective service that the act "required reinstatement of a veteran to his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay even though such reinstatement necessitates the discharge of a non-veteran with a greater seniority."

He added:

"In view of the language of the act and the nature of the administrative findings we would want explicit indication by Congress that it chose the director's interpretation before we concluded that Congress had adopted it."

Black Is Dissenter.

Douglas summed up this way:

"These provisions (of the selective service act) guarantee the veteran against loss of position or loss of seniority by reason of his absence.

"He acquires not only the same seniority he had; his service in the armed services is counted as service in the plant so that he does not lose ground by reason of his absence.

"But we would distort the language of these provisions if we read it as granting the veteran an increase in seniority over what he would have had if he had never entered the armed service."

Black in his dissent said the case should be sent back to the Circuit Court with directions to dismiss the litigation because the union was not a proper party to appeal the case in the first instance.

Counsel Looks at Intent.

Fishgold's attorney, Knowlton Durham, of 70 Pine street, when asked for comment on the Supreme Court decision, said:

"I feel that the question of seniority has obscured the intent of Congress to give to the veteran assurance of a year's steady employment at his old job when he returns from the war. The unions naturally dislike to have seniority systems interfered with, but in spite of the decision of the Supreme Court I still believe Congress intended to give to the veteran a promise that he would get his old job back and hold it for a full year."

Fishgold, 29 years old, who lives at 2925 West 28th street, Brooklyn, is operating a trinket stall in the public market beneath the railroad tracks at Park avenue and 114th street.

SAYS COURT CAN BAR EVICTIONS

Supreme Bench Rules on Tenants' Appeal.

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court ruled today that Federal courts can prevent eviction of tenants pending appeals based on OPA rules.

The Department of Justice appealed from the Sixth Federal Circuit Court at Cincinnati which said it had no jurisdiction to enjoin eviction proceedings in State courts.

In one case the Government contended that Robert C. Beever was evicted improperly from his apartment after the landlord began proceedings before a Covington, Ky., justice of the peace to regain possession. The United States Circuit Court said it could do nothing because at the time it considered the case the tenant had left the apartment.

Disputes Circuit Court.

In the other case OPA had sought to restrain eviction of a tenant from a Columbus, Ohio, house owned by the estate of Emma Gang. The Circuit Court denied OPA's request for an injunction pending the tenant's appeal.

Justice Black said the Circuit Court was wrong in its finding that the Beever case was moot.

"The bare fact that the Beevers in order to comply with the writ of possession vacated their apartment was not enough to end the controversy," Black said.

Agrees to Rule on Law.

In the Columbus case, Black contended the OPA was not barred by a section of the Federal judicial code from going into Federal court to request an injunction halting an unlawful eviction."

The Supreme Court today agreed to rule on constitutionality of the renegotiation act.

The act gives the Government authority to recover asserted "excessive profits" from war goods contractors.

The Supreme Court ruling was asked by the Aircraft and Diesel Equipment Corporation, Chicago manufacturers of Diesel fuel injection equipment and precision parts for aircraft.

The firm contested Government claims for $479,000. A special three-judge United States District Court here dismissed a suit by the company against the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board and the Secretary of War by which it sought to prevent Government efforts to collect the money.

Eisenhower Calls for Strong U. S.

Tells Gettysburg Graduates It Should Stand as Tireless Supporter of Justice and Right.

Gettsyburg, Pa., May 27 (A. P.).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Army Chief of Staff, called today for a "strong, virile America" to stand before the world "a tireless supporter of justice, right and understanding."

Addressing the graduating class at Gettysburg College's 114th commencement, Eisenhower recalled "the irresistible march of our people" from the Atlantic to the Pacific and added:

"What has been won for the peoples of this continent, you can preserve here and help win for all the world."

The wartime commander in chief of Allied forces in Europe received a doctor of laws degree from the college.

After reviewing the early history of Gettysburg and the decisive battle fought there in the War Between the States, Eisenhower said, "Never again will a Gettysburg be required to decide differences among ourselves."

The eternal light that flames on Oak Hill summit on the battlefield, he continued, symbolizes "permanent accord among ourselves" and "can be the prototype of another symbolizing eternal peace."

"Internationally, we are now embarked on a great enterprise whose aim is to free the world from the threat of another suiyou and millions of other Americidal war," he stated. "It offers cans an inspiring challenge."

WOULD RETAIN WAR POWERS

Snyder Against Declaring Hostilities at an End.

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—John W. Snyder, Director of Reconversion, told Congress today that he opposes at this time any action which would declare an official end to the war. He told the House Judiciary Committee that "the time has not arrived when we can safely proclaim that either hostilities, the emergency, or the war have, in fact, ended" because of "the effect that such a declaration would have upon important war powers."

Snyder said the "most significant" effect of any such declaration would pertain to the emergency labor bill which President Truman called for on Saturday and which the House almost immediately passed.

The bill, which awaits Senate action, would empower the President to draft strikers in an industry which has been seized by the Government.

Snyder said an official end to the war also would put an end to the selective service act, whose continuance Congress now is considering, and would disrupt Government atomic bomb research and development at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

"The Army is using a large amount of Government-owned silver in the atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge," Snyder said in a statement. "The act of June 12, 1943, which permits such use provides that the silver must be returned to the Treasury within six months after the cessation of hostilities.

"I am informed that removal of this silver in the near future would completely disrupt the complex machinery at Oak Ridge."

Snyder recommended that instead of declaring an official end to hostilities, thus killing all legislation dependent upon such declarations, the Congress repeal from time to time those emergency laws which are found to be no longer necessary.

WALLACE HOLDS LOANS ARE VITAL

Washington, May 27 (A. P.).—Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace declared today that loans to many other nations besides the proposed $3,750,000,000 for Britain, "are equally necessary if the world is not to be divided against itself."

Without mentioning Russia, France or any nation seekking loans, Wallace told the House Banking Committee:

"I am just as much opposed to an Anglo-American bloc as to a British bloc which excludes us. I am just as much opposed to an eastern (world trade) bloc as to a western bloc. It must be our foreign economic policy to promote economic recovery in the east of Europe as well as in the United Kingdom."

Russia recently has sent the United States a new note relative to a bbillion-dollar loan, and negotiations now are under way with France.

Wallace said that specifically of the British loan that "it will make important contributions to the solution of our two most pressing problems—the maintenance of lasting peace and the achievement of full employment."

Atomic Bomb Has Two Deadly Rivals

Scientist Lists Biological Warfare, Atomic Gas

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP).—W. A. Higinbotham, chairman of the Federation of Atomic Scientists, said tonight that "there are at least two major secret weapons in existence which scientists believe are potentially as dangerous to mankind" as the atomic bomb. He named "biological warfare" and "fission-product warfare, sometimes referred to as 'atomic poison gas.'"

Mr. Higinbotham gave no details in his address prepared for an organzation meeting of the National Committee on Atomic Information, but declared that Congress should ask the War Department to release the full story in the interests of peace.

"There is a passive defense for the atomic bomb," he said. "Cities and industry might be dispersed at a cost of $300,000,000,000.

"But bacteriological warfare could be used to cut off the food supply, radioactive materials could be used to trap people in bomb shelters and caves.

"Scientists say the public has a righ tto know more about these weapons because they are not mere inventoins, they are actually a threat to the whole world—a revolution in human knowledge."

The federation is composed of scientists who worked on the atomic bomb. Since December it has been taking into membership scientists who worked on radar, rockets, yet propulsion, biological warfare and other war-time projects.

9th GI Baby Dies; Probe Is Indicated

New York, May 27 (AP)—As the number of GI babies to die in the past week rose to nine, a United States representative called on the War Department today for "full information" on conditions aboard the bride ships where the infants became ill.

In Washington, Representative Jackson (D., Wash.) said he would ask the department about the deaths, and "if I am not satisfied, I will ask the House Military Affairs Committee to call War Department officials before it and make a complete investigation."

He said he had been asked by Clarence Lervick, father of one of the dead infants, for an investigation into responsibility.

The Latest Victims

Latest fatalities were 2-month-old Alvin Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Harris, of Fulton, N.Y., and 10-month-old Vinita Carter, daughter of Captain and Mrs. H. S. Carter, of Wallington, Texas.

The Harris boy died in a hospital in Fulton Saturday and the Carter girl in Fort Hamilton Station Hospital, Brooklyn, last night.

An army medical board diagnosed the illness of four of the victims at Fort Hamilton Hospital as "summer diarrhea."

"Precautionary Measure"

Meanwhile, eight other babies were admitted to the Fort Hamilton Hospital yesterday as "a precautionary measure," suffering from what army authorities said was "mild malnutrition." They arrived aboard the George Goethals.

On Saturday one adult and 26 babies from the President Tyler were admitted, suffering from diarrhea and possible respiratory infections.

NEW YORK, MAY 27-(AP)-JOSE GIRAL, PREMIER OF THE EXILED SPANISH REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT CALLED ON THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY TO ELIMINATE GENERALISSIMO FRANCO'S REGIME AND INDICATED A BELIEF THAT SPAIN MIGHT AGAIN BE PLUNGED INTO CIVIL WAR IF THE U.N. REFUSED TO ACT.

London, May 27--(AP)--
British official said today that British-Egyptian talks in Cairo on revision of the 1936 treaty would be resumed in a few days with a better chance of success.

This gave rise to speculation that London would revise its stand to meet Egyptian demands.

The same source said Britain requested Egypt to lease certain military bases as a condition for withdrawal of british troops but dropped the request before formal negotiations on revision of the treaty opened.

MAY 28 1946

At the time the talks were halted [redacted]2, an Egyptian source said that the new military clauses proposed by Britain were "too onerous for the Egyptian delegation to accept." At that time, two main points were reportedly at issue:

1. Evacuation--Britain wanted to accomplish it in gradual stages over about five years, while the Egyptians wanted complete withdrawal within 12 to 18 months.

2. Defense--Britain wanted the right to send troops back into Egypt when there was a "threat of war." The Egyptians wanted to restrict that right to the actual time of war.

cairo, may 27-(ap)- premier ismail sidky pasha today urged britain to "hasten evacuation" of british troops from egypt without waiting for resumption of discussions on revision of the 1936 anglo-egyptian treaty.

referring to a debate in the british house of commons last friday, in which winston churchill assailed the labor government's decision to withdraw troops from egypt, the premier said:

Spain Defends Right to Study Atomic Energy

But Denies She Is Doing So and Asserts U. N. Is Not Competent to Judge Her

MADRID, May 28 (AP).—The Foreign Ministry challenged today the competence of the United Nations in matters affecting Spain's internal affairs, and asserted that although Spain had a "perfect right" to investigate atomic energy she was not doing so now.

Challenging Polish charges before the United Nations Security Council that the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco was a menace to world peace, the Foreign Ministry statement declared, "The whole world knows, although no one dares to pronounce, the name of the country which constitutes the true 'danger to peace.'"

"Although the Spanish government, like all other countries, has a perfect right to provide itself with adequate means of national defense, including the investigation of atomic energy, diplomatic missions accredited in Madrid have proof of the falsity of statements that such investigations are being made," the statement said.

"Indifferent" to Report

The statement said charges by the Polish representatives on the Security Council were not treated in accord with proper United Nations procedure, and assailed the presence on the subcommittee to investigate Franco Spain of "governments who are in open and public opposition to Spain."

One of the charges by Poland was that German scientists were working in Spain on atomic energy.

[In New York the Spanish statement was received without immediate comment by members of the Security Council subcommittee.]

The announcement accused the Poles of seeking "to provoke a Security Council pronunciamento on Spain's internal regime," and added that Spain could not recognize the competence of an international organization whose agreements it had not signed.

It said Spain would receive with "entire indifference" any pronouncement "of an organism which has no jurisdiction to judge it."

"Interference" Is Rejected

The statement said that "the non-intervention policy recently has been ratified in almost unanimous fashion by the American countries," and added that the Spanish government "rejects all public or hidden interference in matters referring to its sovereignty" while reaffirming "its desires of peace and friendly relations with all peoples."

The Polish charges, the statement said, were not based on direct observations but on the statement of exiled Spaniards, "many of whom were responsible for common crimes."

The Foreign Ministry charged that the "alleged Spanish military movements in the Pyrenees zone" were purely defensive and "fully justified after the bloody agression of October, 1944."

This referred to an invasion of Spanish Maquis from France. They subsequently were driven back across the Spanish border

Defending Spain's neutrality during the war, the statement said it was shown by "the protection and defense of Israelites . . . when they were persecuted."

Madrid, May 28 (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Ministry said today that Spain had a "perfect right" to investigate atomic energy and "cannot recognize the competence" of the United Nations in matters affecting Spain.

The Ministry distributed a 700-word statement described as a "report of statements made this morning by a Foreign Ministry spokesman."

The statement said the Spanish position was made clear in notes distributed to foreign missions here May 23. It continued:

"Although the Spanish Government, like all other countries, has a perfect right to provide itself with adequate means for national defense, including investigations of atomic energy, diplomatic missions accredited in Madrid have proof of the falsity of statements that such investigations are being made."

Reference To Charges

Referring to Polish charges (before the Security Council), the statement said Spain could not recognize the competence of an international organization whose agreements it had not signed.

It also argued the charges were not treated in accordance with proper United Nations procedure, and attacked the presence on the subcommittee of "governments which are in open and public opposition to Spain."

The statement declared that the Polish allegation was not directly observed, but based on statements of exiled Spaniards, "many of whom were responsible for common crimes."

The statement added that the note indicated that "alleged Spanish military movements in the Pyrenees zone" were purely defensive and "fully justified after the bloody aggression of October, 1944." That was when Spanish Maquis invaded Spanish territory from France but were soon driven out.

Charging that the Poles were seeking "to provoke a Security Council pronunciamento on Spain's internal regime," the statement recalled that the "nonintervention" policy has recently been ratified in almost unanimous fashion by American countries."

It added that the Spanish Government "rejects all public or hidden interference in matters referring to its sovereignty" and "reaffirms its desires for peace and friendly relations with all peoples."

The statement said Spanish neutrality in the war was shown among other evidences by the "protection and defense of Israelites where they were persecuted."

It said Spain would receive "with entire indifference" any pronunciamento "of an organism which has no jurisdiction to judge it" and concluded:

"The whole world knows, although no one dares to pronounce the name of the country which constitutes the true 'danger to peace.'"

U.N. Reaction

New York, May 28 (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Office's announcement that Spain had a perfect right to investigate atomic energy and could not recognize the "competence of the United Nations" in matters affecting her was acknowledged without comment today by members of the United Nations subcommittee on Spain.

Dr. Jose Giral, Premier of the exiled Spanish Republican Government, said yesterday during his appearance before the subcommittee that he did not expect Spain to feel bound by international agreements on atomic energy. He charged that Spain was an outlaw nation.

The exiled premier said that in May, 1945, upon orders of Martin Bormann, a group of scientists from the Kaiser Welhelm Institute in Berlin had entered Spain and some of them were specialists in "heavy-water" bombs.

He said they had experimented in the province of Almeria, on the Mediterranean side of Spain.

Mrs. Roosevelt Backs News Freedom

New York, May 28 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, told the United Nations Economic and Social Council today that freedom of information was "absolutely necessary."

Presenting the report of her commission's work this month, Mrs. Roosevelt said that "only free information of what happens to people forms true public opinion."

"And only public opinion can enforce a bill of rights," she added. "No bill of rights is any good that can't be enforced."

Her commission has proposed a world bill of rights.

All Types Of Communication

Mrs. Roosevelt said that the Commission on Human Rights felt that freedom of information included all types of communication—radio, books, movies, magazines and the press.

The report of the subcommittee on the Status of Women was given by Mrs. Bodil Begtrup, of Denmark, chairman. She proposed that a United Nations conference on the status of women be called and that governments not now granting full suffrage to women do so.

While the Economic and Social Council Received reports of committees, the Security Council's subcommittee investigating Spain met in secret session.

Civil War Threat

The subcommittee weighed a challenging suggestion from Spanish Republicans that they and unspecified Allies might seek to overthrow the Franco regime by force unless the United Nations took action against Franco as a threat to world peace.

Premier Jose Giral of the exiled Spanish Republican leadership indicated that the Republicans inside and outside Spain were ready to start the fight with ample support in the event the United Nations refused to intervene.

"The Spanish people and the Government I represent feel we are sufficiently assisted to consider ourselves capable of overthrowing the tyranny," Giral told the subcommittee last evening. "We will not be lacking in friendly countries nor aids of every sort.

"Roads Of Violence"

"If this supreme hope for peace which we deposit in the international society should disappear, only the roads of violence, to our regret, would remain open to us."

The subcommittee—newly headed by Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt—speeded up its schedule in an effort to meet the Friday deadline for a report on which the Security Council hopes to determine whether, as charged by Poland, France is a menace to peace.

Economic Sanctions Urged

"The United Nations can make the Franco regime disappear by applying certain articles of the Charter, especially economic sanctions," Giral said. The Polish demand which launched the investigation calls for a collective break in diplomatic relations with Madrid.

On the score of atomic research, Giral emphasized that uranium deposits exist in Spain, but added:

"I have no precise information on the manufacture of atomic bombs or the utilization of this material."

Iranian Situation

The Security Council remained in recess but was expected to meet late this week to receive the latest official word from Iran as to whether Soviet influence lingers in Azerbaijan province, as charged by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala, and to receive official corroboration of reports that all Red Army troops had evacuated Iran.

Russia dissented and abstained from voting on seven occasions in the deliberations of the Commission on Human Rights.

The subsidiary report of the subcommission on the status of women generally proposed equality of rights with men, including freedom of choice in marriage, and the rights of monogamy and divorce.

Mrs. Roosevelt added that "it is public opinion which will really make it possible to enforce any bill of human right."

She stressed that her commission felt that freedom of information included radio, movies, books, magazines and the press and that it felt "this was the one absolute necessity" to really drafting such a bill.

After hearing this report and others from the commission on the Status of Women, the temporary Social commission and the Economic and Employment commission, the council adjourned until Friday. It hopes to complete work by June 18 or 20.

Meanwhile, the Security council's sub-committee investigating Franco Spain reported it would complete its report on Friday, the deadline set by the council. It announced it would cease receiving evidence Thursday.

Dr. Pedro Leao Velloso, Brazilian member on the sub-committee, submitted communications advising the group that none of the diplomats accredited to Madrid had any evidence of war criminals being harbored in that country. Such charges had been laid before the sub-committee by Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, and Jose Giral, premier of the exiled Spanish Republican government.

Dr. Velloso also set the present strength of Franco's armed forces at 450,000. This contrasted with the 840,000 figure advanced by Giral.

The Security council was expected to meet next week to receive the Spanish report.

FREEDOM OF PRESS IS HELD ESSENTIAL IN REPORT TO U.N.

NEW YORK, May 28 — (AP) Freedom of information is an absolute necessity to enforce human rights, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the United Nations Economic and Social council today.

"It is only the free information of what happens to people throughout the world which can form a basis for public opinion," she said in presenting the report of her commission on human rights recommending a 12-man group to study the information question.

SIAM'S COMPLAINT RECEIVED BY U.N.

New York, May 28 (AP)—Siam complained to the United Nations tonight that French colonial troops from Indo-China crossed the Mekong river May 24, 25 and 26 and "forcibly seized Siamese territory which they continue to hold."

A cablegram from Pride Panymyong, president of the Siamese Council of Ministers, to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, said the incidents "must be considered concerted action against Siamese sovereignty and the preservation of peace."

People Leaving Homes

"Against this unjustified aggression Siam is steadfastly and patiently adhering to its policy of non-resistance.

"The population in the attacked and adjacent areas are abandoning their homes and rice fields at a time when my Government are striving to the utmost to fulfill their obligation to produce and deliver the maximum quantity of rice to the famine stricken areas.

"The dislocation and the disturbance of my people for which French aggression is solely responsible compromises in the most serious manner the efforts of my country to assist in feeding the famine-stricken areas.

"In Behalf of Starving Peoples"

"In the interests of peace and on behalf of the starving peoples of this area I appeal for your sympathy, your assistance and co-operation in establishing a peaceful basis for the achievement of the humanitarian objects which you of excellency as well as I have so close at heart.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to express to you the assurance of my highest consideration."

The complaint was made by Siam despite British and American efforts to settle the border-country dispute locally, although earlier today a British Foreign Office informant said Britain would support Siam in bringing the case before the Security Council.

Procedure Considered

Procedure for handling the complaint is under consideration. Customarily, if a dispute or situation is reported the matter is put on the agenda immediately and action is begun after three days. Siam, however, asks sympathy, assistance and co-operation without formalizing any charge.

British Back Siam In Plea To U.N.

London, May 28 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Great Britain would support Siam in placing the issue of border disputes with French Indo-China before the United Nations Security Council.

He said the United States and Britain early this month made what they had thought a successful appeal to France to prevent fighting on the Siamese-Indo-Chinese border.

The spokesman said the two governments, acting on a Siamese request, appealed separately to France after a border incident May 7. He said French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault agreed that France would take steps to end the disturbances.

Plebiscite Plan Rejected

The Siamese Government said yesterday that French troops invaded Siamese territory May 24.

The agency said the Siamese proposed a temporary return of the disputed regions, with a plebiscite to determine their ultimate disposition. The French declined this, the agency said, and the Siamese emissaries returned to Bangkok.

In Bangkok, the Siamese Government said it was forwarding full reports on the border situation to the secretary general of the United Nations in New York.

French Deny Troop Activity In Siam

Paris, May 28 (AP)—The French press agency distributed a Saigon dispatch today which said that reports of pretended activity of French troops in Siamese territory were "in the domain of highest fantasy."

The denial was in a communiqué from "headquarters of the expeditionary corps." The statement said it was not clear why "this false news" had been distributed.

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman, however, said he was unable, in the absence of official information, to confirm or deny the Siamese reports that French troops had made a series of raids across the border.

The French press agency said Siamese emissaries arrived secretly in Saigon after the liberation of Indo-China, and France demanded the return of territory ceded to Siam under Japanese pressure—including the region south of Luang Prabang in Laos and west of Lake Tonle Sap in Cambodia.

The agency said the Siamese proposed a temporary return of the disputed regions, with a plebiscite to determine their ultimate disposition. The French declined this, the agency said, and the Siamese emissaries returned to Bangkok.

The Siamese Government reported officially yesterday that the French had conducted three raids in the last days across the Mekong River to French Indo-China near Mi Chai, 25 miles northeast of Bangkok.

French Government sources said the Mekong River area was territory ceded to Siam by the Vichy French Government under Marshal Pétain. France now is demanding return of the area.

Scots To Petition U.N. On Home Rule

Edinburgh, May 28 (AP)—The Scottish National party, small in numbers but vociferous in demands for home rule, voted today to petition the United Nations for self-government for Scotland.

The action was taken at the party's annual conference and sponsors said efforts would be made to get the support of the British Dominions and the United States for the petition.

Byrnes Denies Charge Of Bloc Against Soviet Issues Firm Reply to Molotov's Moscow Blast.

WASHINGTON, May 28 — (AP) Secretary of State Byrnes today denied that the United States and Britain have formed a bloc to intimidate Russia, as charged by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov.

Byrnes also insisted that Premier Stalin once agreed to support a treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 years. Molotov challenged yesterday a previous assertion that the Russian leader had endorsed such a proposal.

Hopes for Agreement

Byrnes emphasized a hope that the Big Four foreign ministers could iron out their many disagreements and complete peace treaty drafts for six former enemy countries when they meet again in Paris June 15.

He made his statements on Russia in an extraordinary news conference in reply to a host of questions concerning the lengthy blast Molotov delivered yesterday against the secretary and the United States.

To refresh his memory of events on which Molotov based his charges, Byrnes said he would read from the actual minutes of three inter-national conferences: The Allied Council of Foreign Ministers in London last September; the Moscow Big Three meeting in December, and the Paris Conference of Foreign Ministers which ended with only slight success 11 days ago.

Recites Chronology

Byrnes today recited the chronology of the treaty idea in this way:

September 20, 1945—Byrnes first proposed the idea in London. Molotov called it interesting; said he could not give Byrnes an immediate official Soviet view on it, but would consult his government.

December 24, 1945—Byrnes suggested the idea to Stalin in Moscow. Stalin said he would "wholeheartedly support" such a treaty if Byrnes proposed it.

February 14, 1946—Byrnes forwarded a draft of the projected treaty to Molotov with the reminder that Stalin had approved the idea in principle.

Agreed to Discuss Treaty

April 20, 1946—Replying to a Byrnes proposal, Molotov agreed to discuss a treaty at the Paris conference, but declared the proposed draft aroused serious objections.

May 26, 1946 — According to Byrnes, Molotov in referring to the treaty acknowledged that Stalin had agreed in principle to the idea, said there would be plenty of time to discuss it later because it could not go into effect until the Allies had concluded a peace treaty with Germany.

pression they can impose their will on us."

Molotov declared: "Certainly, no self-respecting allied state will allow the will of another state to be imposed on it."

Other Parallel Phraseology

Byrnes cited the need of an "offensive for peace" and said the United States had started such an "offensive" at Paris.

Molotov said the "so-called offensive for peace . . . is sometimes merely expressed in a desire to impose the will of the two governments (United States and Britain) on the government of a third state."

Byrnes, with Soviet tactics in eastern Europe obviously in mind, said it is difficult to know when the action of a nation could be "ascribed to its quest for security or to its desire to expand."

Molotov acknowledged that it is "difficult to draw a line between the desire for security and the desire for expansion," but said the hope of the United States for bases in Iceland is not dictated by security.

Bluntness Discounted

Officials with years of experience in dealing with Russia said they do not believe the Molotov statement necessarily constitutes a bad omen for resumption of the Foreign Ministers meeting in Paris June 15.

They said Molotov had only reaffirmed Russia's position on several major issues in the usual blunt Soviet manner and noted that it would be unusual for any of the four ministers to talk of concessions or compromise this far in advance.

In fact, the State Department appeared more concerned with new developments in two old Russo-American trouble spots—Poland and Romania—than with the Molotov statement.

Romania Moves Confirmed

The department yesterday confirmed that the United States, acting with Britain, had sent a note to Romania, protesting the failure of the Soviet-sponsored Groza Government to hold national elections, as provided in the Moscow big three agreement last December.

Simultaneously, the department said it had instructed its representatives in Bucharest and Moscow to do everything they could to obtain cancellation of a Soviet military command order expelling Reuben Markham, Christian Science Monitor correspondent, from Romania.

Department officials also are awaiting details of the new trade agreement between Russia and Poland. A $50,000,000 American surplus property credit for Poland has been suspended on grounds the Polish Government has not given the United States sufficient details about its trade treaties.

The White House withheld comment on Molotov's contentions.

Simultaneously, the department said it had instructed its representatives in Bucharest and Moscow to do everything they could to obtain cancellation of a Soviet military command order expelling Reuben Markham, Christian Science Monitor correspondent, from Romania.

Anglo-U.S. Agreement Before Parley Denied

Washington, May 28 (AP)—American officials today belittled Foreign Minister Molotov's contention that a British-American bloc waged "an offensive against the Soviet Union" at Paris.

Secretary of State Byrnes maintained silence for the moment, but others declared privately that the United States delegation to the Foreign Ministers Conference never had acted "on previous agreement" with Britain as Molotov contended in a full-page statement in Pravda yesterday.

In fact, they said the conference record shows frequent differences between the Americans and British on important issues.

Viewed As Kremlin's Answer

There was no doubt in Government and diplomatic circles here that the Molotov charges represented the official Kremlin answer to Byrnes's radio report on the Paris conference last week.

Officials noted that Molotov lifted bits of Byrnes's phraseology in giving his own side of the Foreign Ministers failure to agree on peace treaties for Germany's former European Allies.

Byrnes said in his radio talk: "We must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the im-

Molotov Right In Treaty Stand, Says London Times

London, May 28 (AP)—The Times said today that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was right in opposing the suggestion that the whole peace-making problem be referred to the United Nations Assembly and suggested that the uncompromising attitudes among the big three might end in an "unbreakable deadlock."

The United Nations Assembly, the Times said in an editorial commenting on Molotov's review yesterday of the recent Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris, "clearly is not designed for the arduous and delicate work of peace-making."

Sees Deadlock Ahead

Referring to United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes's "criticizing" the Soviet bloc in Eastern Europe and Molotov's retort denouncing "the supposed Anglo-American bloc," the Times said:

"It would appear on all sides that events are moving, with a force which is likely to become irresistible unless quickly stayed, toward a consummation which all deprecate."

The paper said, however, it did not suggest that the final deadlock "has already been reached."

Other British papers challenged Britain and the United States will give a shock to world opinion."

The London Daily Express welcomed the review as the beginning of "open diplomacy," though adding: "We may not accept all, or any, of his arguments."

The Daily Telegraph said Molotov's review "augurs ill for the success of a resumed meeting of Foreign Secretaries. The Daily Sketch commented: "The dialectical tactic of charging other people with offenses committed by oneself is still apparently in fashion."

Agrees With Molotov.

London, May 28 (A. P.).—The Times said today that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was right in opposing the suggestion that the whole peace-making problem be referred to the United Nations Assembly and suggested that the uncompromising attitudes among the Big Three might end in an "unbreakable deadlock."

The United Nations Assembly, the Times said in an editorial commenting on Molotov's review yesterday of the recent Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris, "clearly is not designed for the arduous and delicate work of peace-making."

Other British papers challenged Molotov's statements while welcoming his outspokenness.

The independent London Daily Mail declared that Molotov had "widened the tragic breach dividing Russia from her former Allies." The conservative Yorkshire Post called Molotov's review the "explosion of a diplomatic Molotov cocktail" and said the "bitterness of Molotov's attack upon

Churchill Says Labor Brings British Decline

London, May 28 (AP)—Winston Churchill tonight said Britain's influence on world affairs had "grievously declined" since the Labor Government came into power.

In a letter supporting a Unionist byelection candidate in Northern Ireland, the former Prime Minister added:

"This Government of timid yet dangerous zealots, not content with making wild experiments with the future of British industry, has now begun to liquidate our interests and our prestige all over the world."

British Call Off Orders For 3 Aircraft Carriers

London, May 28 (AP)—The Admiralty today reported cancellation or suspension of orders for three 40,000-ton aircraft carriers which, a spokesman said, would be redundant, "now that the war is over."

The action, he added, was decided upon several months ago. An announcement last night disclosed work on two other carriers launched last summer, the Hercules and Leviathian, had been halted.

The three projected ships, to be named Gibraltar, Malta, and Africa, were to have cost at least £8,000,000 ($32,000,000) each.

Informed sources said improved types of light fleet aircraft carriers still were being built in addition to the new big Ark Royal class.

More Fruit Imports Promised British

London, May 28 (AP)—Britain's new Food Minister, John Strachey, began his administration today with a promise of more fruit "to improve our diet" and a pledge to tell both good and bad news frankly.

Holding his first press conference since his appointment last night to succeed Sir Ben Smith, Strachey said 215,000 boxes of Australian and New Zealand apples would arrive tomorrow for distribution to London and the surrounding counties.

He expressed a hope to import a "substantial qunatity of oranges from South Africa and Brazil this summer. Strachey added that California oranges, frequently imported before the war, "are at a price which puts them out of range of our purchase."

Strachey told newsmen that "I shall try always to explain as fully as we possibly can why we are taking any particular step at any particular time, and I shall rely on you to explain that to the public."

Irish People Urged To Eat Less, Give More

Rosslare Harbour, Eire, May 28 (AP)—The Irish Farmers' Gazette urges Eire to eat less eggs, have two meatless days weekly and plant a fourth bigger acreage than last year to help feed the world's starving.

Pointing out Ireland was not invaded, it adds:

"If we think of what God has spared us, we must out of gratitude make many sacrifices for those in want."

4 POWERS DROP REICH INQUIRY ON DISARMING

Allies Fail to Agree on Investigation Into All Zones in Germany.

PLAN PROPOSED BY U. S.

Britain Considers Embargo on Reparations as Put Into Effect by Americans.

Berlin, May 28 (A. P.).—An American press relations officer announced today that the Allied Control Council's co-ordinating committee had failed to agree on a United States proposal for a four-Power investigation of German disarmament and had taken the question off its agenda. This means, he said, that there will be no commission as proposed to investigate the progress of German disarmament in each of the four zones.

It was not immediately known which power had blocked the inquiry, which was recommended by the American member of the co-ordinating committee, Lieut.-Gen. Lucius Clay, upon instructions from Secretary of State Byrnes.

The press relations officer said Clay had proposed an investigation into all fields of disarmament, including economic, and the implication was that the latter was the point of the stalemate. He said the committee would formulate a communique after its next meeting and then disclose the stand taken by each Power.

The proposal stemmed from the recurrent quarrel between Britain and the Soviet Union over the progress of disarmament in their respective zones. The Russians repeatedly have accused the British of maintaining intact full units of the German Army in their zone. The British countered with a proposal that a four-Power commission could investigate the British zone, provided it also would be permitted to enter the Russian, French and American zones. Britain also asked that other matters besides disarmament be investigated.

Study Reparations.

Meanwhile a high British Military Government official said today that the British were now dismantling for reparations shipment from their German zone only twelve factories named on the first list of advance allocations. He added that the question of imposing an embargo on further shipments, similar to that announced by the Americans, was now under consideration in London.

The Americans imposed their embargo to speed a four-Power decision on recognizing and administering Germany as an economic whole, as provided by Potsdam, the British official told a news conference. He said the British agreed with the Americans that such four-Power action should be taken speedily. He asserted that Russia as well as France was opposing it at present.

The official said that the British had made reparations allocations of forty plants in two lists. The first list of twelve includes three assigned to Russia. There is no dismantling going on with the second list of twenty-eight.

PLEA FOR PROBE OF DISARMAMENT IN GERMANY FAILS

BERLIN, May 28 — (AP) The American proposal for a four-power commission to investigate disarmament in all four occupation zones of Germany was abandoned today when discussion in the Allied control authority's coordinating committee ended in a deadlock.

An American press relations officer said that the American member, Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who advanced the proposal on instructions from U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, suggested an investigation into all fields of disarmament, including economic. The implication was that the discussion was deadlocked on this point.

There was no indication which nation had blocked the commission. The press relations officer said tersely that the committee failed to reach agreement and the question was taken from the agenda. So that there would be no investigating commission.

He added that the committee would draw up a communique after its next meeting, and disclose the stand taken by each power.

The proposal was advanced in Paris to the four-power conference of foreign ministers by Byrnes, and was referred to the coordinating committee in Berlin.

ENMITY CITED TO HITLER AIDE

Counsel Terms All Witnesses Antagonistic To Bormann

Nuernberg, May 28 (AP)—Counsel for the missing Martin Bormann told the International Military Tribunal today he was unable to find any witnesses who would admit friendship with Hitler's last deputy Führer.

"All the witnesses are antagonistic to Bormann and want to put all the guilt on him," said Dr. Friedrich Bergold, attorney for Bormann, who is being tried in absentia. The attorney presented several documents to be considered when Bormann's case comes up in a few weeks.

Bergold's dilemma was explained to the tribunal shortly before it began hearing the defense of the fifteenth Nazi ringleader to face the four-power court — Gen. Fritz Sauckel, boss of Nazi slave labor.

Thinks Bormann Dead

Bergold said Bormann probably was dead, or, barring that, was "being held by the Russian occupation authorities."

He asked permission to summon Else Krueger, Bormann's secretary who is now living in Hamburg, commenting that she was "with him to the last" and might be able to clear up the mystery surrounding his disappearance.

Sauckel, taking the stand in his own defense, blamed the German high command for the mass recruitment of slave labor from the occupied East, and contended that the workers were well treated under his administration.

The pudgy little labor boss said the idea of conscripting labor from Russia and Poland was handed down by the high command when Hitler, needing 2,000,000 more soldiers in the Spring of 1942, decided to replace German civilian workers with foreigners. Sauckel was appointed Gauleiter of Thuringia and instructed to take over the job.

Sauckel admitted he was aware the Buchenwald concentration camp was in his political district, but said:

"I never had anything to do with that camp. I visited it and found no atrocities."

Nazi 'Slave' Policy Blamed On Army

Nuernberg, May 28 (AP)—Fritz Sauckel blamed the German military command today for the mass recruiting of slave labor in the Nazi-occupied east.

The pudgy little labor leader, one of 22 ranking Germans on trial on war-crime charges before the international military tribunal, sought to defend his position in the recruiting campaign by contending that the workers were treated well under his administration.

He said the idea for conscripting labor in Poland and Russia came after the Army demanded 2,000,000 more men in the spring of 1942. He said Hitler decided to replace the German civilians in war jobs with foreigners and placed him in charge.

No Witness For Bormann

Earlier, counsel for the missing Martin Bormann complained wryly that he was unable to find a single friendly witness to defend Adolf Hitler's last deputy.

The attorney, Dr. Friedrich Bergold, presented to the tribunal several documents to be considered when the defense of the absent Bormann comes up in a few weeks and remarked:

"I am in an extremely difficult position. All the witnesses are antagonistic to Bormann and want to put all the guilt on him."

Dead Or Russian Captive

Bergold said Bormann is "probably dead or being held by Russian occupation authorities."

Bormann was said to have been wounded in the last hours of the siege of Berlin and has not been seen since, although rumors of his capture crop up every few weeks. Indicted with other Nazi leaders, Bormann is the only one of the 22 defendants being tried in absentia.

Schirach Closes Case

Baldur von Schirach, former Hitler youth leader, concluded his defense with the testimony of his former adjutant, SS Lieut. Fritz Wieshofer, who said Schirach "intervened many times" to prevent evacuation of Jews.

On one occasion, the witness said, Schirach sent men to rescue an American flyer from an angry crowd in the streets of Vienna. He said this was done in defiance of an order from Berlin that aviators who had crashed were to be denied protection.

14 Nazis Die For 300,000 Dachau Deaths

Dr. Schilling, Who Used Inmates for Serum Tests, Trembles Before Gallows

LANDSBERG, Germany, May 28 (AP).—Fourteen Nazis walked up thirteen steps to the gallows today to pay for the deaths of more than 300,000 men, women and children in the Dachau concentration camp. Tomorrow another fourteen will follow, in the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States Army. All twenty-eight were convicted last December by a war crimes court of killing thousands of innocent victims by medical experiments; unleashing of hungry dogs, sadistic tortures and malnutrition.

One of those executed today was Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, seventy-four, a physician and a scientist world-renowned in the pre-Nazi days. He shuffled broken and trembling to the foot of the gallows. He gained composure as the hangman bound his feet.

Asked if he had a last statement, Schilling tossed his spade-bearded chin in defiance and straightened his aged body, and said: "Nein. Schnell, Bitte, schnell." ("No! Hurry. Please, hurry." The trap door dropped seconds later.

Schilling was not trembling when he was in charge of Dachau's malaria experiment station and used 1,200 unwilling inmates to test his theories of immunization. Only thirty died of malaria, but 400 others died of complications or inoculations. Most of the victims were Polish priests.

There also was Simon Kiern, who walked to the rope carrying a bouquet of pink and white flowers He was the man who kicked prisoners when they collapsed and had, with one blow, killed a man. It was he who used Dachau inmates for pistol practice.

Another was Fredrich Ruppert, who once beat the inmates with a riding crop and arranged the execution of ninety Russian officers.

"Tell my wife I was thinking of her and I died bravely," Ruppert said as the black hood was slipped over his head.

Josef Seuss, who strung up prisoners by their arms tied behind their heads and then kicked and beat them, cried: "I only hope Germany will be strong—No! No! I mean I hope Germany will be beautiful again."

Not a single man lost his nerve before he died. Each Nazi walked unaided up the steps. On the scaffold each one stood gray-faced but unflinching, waiting for the hood to sheath his face.

Throughout the three-hour period the men were hanged at intervals of almost exactly fifteen minutes. One body was being cut down as another was led to a second gallows.

The two professional hangmen worked quietly and gently. One of them, Master Sergeant John C. Wood, of San Antonio, Tex., was formerly official executioner of Texas and Oklahoma. His German colleague came from a Landsberg family that has killed men legally for 200 years.

"This would get me," one American soldier witness said, "but I keep thinking about those thousands that these ——— got first."

U.S. Troops Kill Fugitive Soldier

Heidelberg, Germany, May 28 (AP)—United States troops killed a fugitive American soldier, wounded another and captured two more in a one-sided gun battle in a Bavarian village Sunday, 3d Army headquarters said today.

The four Americans had escaped from a 1st Division stockade at Regensburg May 22, armed with sub-machine guns and pistols, and driving a stolen jeep. They were tracked at the end of four days to a rural hotel at Thalkirchdorf.

Surrounding the house, the troops called on the fugitives upstairs to surrender. Two attempted to escape through the back door, the army statement said, and one of these was slain by three shots in the chest as he raised a pistol.

Authorities did not identify the dead man pending notification of next of kin. But they said Eugene McMasters, home address not given, was wounded in the left shoulder, while Raymond Riley and William Pearce surrendered without resistance.

Prisoner-Beating Order Quoted By U.S. Guard

Bad Nauheim, May 28 (AP)—A former guard in the United States Army guardhouse at Lichfield, England, testified today that Lieut. Granville Cubage authorized guards to "beat prisoners to the floor with billy clubs" and had told them they had "backing from the post commander on down."

The guard, Pfc. Julius H. Smith, of Cumberland, Ky., is serving a three-year sentence for cruelty to American soldiers imprisoned at Lichfield. He testified at the trial of Cubage on similar charges. Cubage, from Oklahoma City, was in command of Lichfield guards.

Smith said Cubage also authorized such punishments as forcing prisoners to stand with nose and toes against a wall, double-timing for long periods, and solitary confinement in a dark cell.

"I wouldn't be serving three years if I hadn't obeyed those orders," Smith asserted during cross-examination.

He said he had knocked a prisoner "semi-conscious and bleeding" with a club at the door of Cubage's office, and said Cubage had the prisoner placed in solitary confinement without medical attention.

On two occasions, he testified, Cubage ordered guards to conceal mistreatment of prisoners from army investigators.

Once, Smith said, Cubage warned the Swiss inspector was coming and instructed them that "there would be a general denial of any mistreatment" and that the inspection would be "just a whitewash."

Before another inspection, Smith added, Cubage ordered all prisoners "with marks on them" removed from view and "fifteen to nineteen prisoners were taken out of the guardhouse on that order."

Tito Praises Soviet Friendship

Moscow, May 28 (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, arriving for a visit, said in an address at Moscow airport yesterday that his people "have become convinced during the past year that they have in the great Soviet Union a sincere friend, which helps us in peaceful reconstruction as it did in war."

He said that Russian aid given under the treaty of friendship and collaboration signed a year ago between the two countries "has had an enormous meaning in the development and strengthening of the Federated People's Republic of Yugoslavia."

SAYS SS GOUGED EYES OF WOUNDED

Dachau, May 28 (A. P.).—An American Army report disclosed today that German SS troops gouged out the eyes of some wounded American soldiers as they lay on the Malmedy field of massacre during the battle of the Germes Bulge.

The Army Inspector General's report, read at the trial of seventy-four German Elite Guards accused of slaying disarmed American prisoners, said that, in at least three cases, the eyes of wounded Americans had been ripped from their sockets with sharp instruments.

American investigators discovered the atrocity after thawing out the bodies of seventy-one defenseless Americans who were killed a month before the slaughter was uncovered on January 14, 1945.

LINK STOLEN PLANE TO DUCE MYSTERY

Rome, May 28 (A. P.).—A Savoia-Marchetti transport was stolen from Forlanini airport, near Milan, yesterday and a dispatch to the Rome Espresso suggested that the big plane may have been used to carry away Benito Mussolini's body—possibly to Spain.

Mussolini's body was stolen from its unmarked grave in the Milan potter's field on the night of April 22 and so far has not been traced.

Five men in flying suits, arriving half an hour ahead of the regular crew, calmly warmed up the three-engined plane and took off. Airdrome officials said the transport had enough fuel for a trip to Spain.

Russia And Iceland Sign Trade Agreement

Reykjavik, May 28 (AP)—An official trade agreement was signed in Moscow yesterday between Soviet Russia and Iceland.

The Russians will buy a considerable quantity of salted herring, frozen fish, herring oil and cod liver oil. Icelanders will buy timber and coal from the Russians.

This is the first trade agreement between Russia and Iceland. The biggest buyers of the above-mentioned products have hitherto been Britain and the United States.

War's Book Losses

Warsaw, May 28 (AP)—Officials of the Ministry of Education estimated that the Germans destroyed school textbooks valued at 15,000,000,000 zlotys during occupation of Poland.

New Relief Agency Set Up In Hungary

Budapest, May 27 [AP—Delayed] Stanley I. Sommer, chief of the UNRRA mission to Hungary, said today that a new relief-distribution agency had been formed for Hungary to handle donations by private groups.

Sommers heads the agency, which was formed to meet Russian objections to church-sponsored distribution of relief.

A 250-ton shipment from the Catholic Welfare Society in the United States recently was delayed in Austria because the Russians could not grant clearance if it was to be distributed by Josef Cardinal Mindszenthy or any Catholic agency.

Tourist Group Asks Freedom Of Travel

Geneva, Switzerland, May 28 (AP). The International Alliance of Tourism (AIT), which embraces 116 automobile touring clubs in the world, declared at its recent first postwar general assembly that the right of free travel should be recognized as one of the fundamental human rights outlined in the Charter of the United Nations.

The delegates from twenty nations voted to resume relations with touring clubs in former Axis satellite states.

Arab Chiefs Confer

Cairo, May 28 (AP)—Kings, presidents and princes of seven Arab states gathered tonight in the first modern meeting of the rulers of the Arab millions, determined to organize a united front against Jewish immigration into Palestine.

The two-day conference will concentrate on Arab opposition to the British-American inquiry committee's report on Palestine, which recommended the entrance this year of 100,000 additional Jews. The talks will be informal.

Convened at the royal estate of Inchas at the invitation of Egypt's 27-year-old King Farouk were:

KING ABDULLAH of Trans-Jordan.

AMIR SAUD, Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia.

AMIR ABDULLAH, Crown Prince and Regent of Iraq.

SHEIK BECHARA EL KHOURY, President of Lebanon.

AL SAYED SHUKRI AL KUWATLY, President of Syria.

SIEF EL ISLAM (Sword of Islam), representing Yemen.

A high Arab official, adviser to one of the rulers, said there was "some feeling the United States is being duped by Britain in the handling of the Palestine question."

"American prestige was extremely high in the Middle East before the Palestine report," this official, who declined to be quoted by name, said. "But now much of that prestige is gone. Many officials I have talked to feel Britain has maneuvered the United States into a position of doing its unpleasant work on the question."

Egypt to Buy U. S. Airdrome

Cairo, May 28 (A. P.).—A Government spokesman said today that Payne Field, big American airdrome near Cairo, would be acquired by Egypt for 2,000,000 Egyptian pounds (approximately $8,300,000) under terms of a general agreement for disposal of American installations in Egypt.

Arabs Ask End Of Jewish Agency

Jerusalem, May 28 (AP)—The Arab Higher Committee, accusing Jews of violence and smuggling arms, has asked Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner of Palestine, to abolish the Jewish agency, official organization of Jewish nationalism.

The committee sent two letters to Cunningham asserting that the "Jewish agency and Jewish leaders are backing an armed Jewish movement and there is evidence of their compliance with the movement of illegal immigration and acts of violence."

One of the letters added that members of the agency were "known to have indulged in the smuggling of arms themselves."

Dr. Izzat Tannous, secretary of the committee, said the Jewish agency could be banished in the same way that the committee was banished by the British in 1937 "on grounds of violation of peace."

Zionist Parley Postponed

Jerusalem, May 28 (AP)—The inner action committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine announced a decision today to postpone the meeting of the World Zionist Congress, originally scheduled for August, to December. It was decided that the Congress would meet in Palestine.

Baghdad, May 27 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Five Iraqi political parties issued a joint statement today calling upon Arabs to boycott British-American victory celebrations in Baghdad and demanding an Arab boycott on further discussions of the Palestine problem.

Dutch Indies Tin Mines Plan Full Work In 1948

Batavia, May 28 (AP)—It will be 1948 before the rich tin mines in the Netherlands East Indies can return to prewar capacity operation, a Dutch Government survey revealed today.

The survey showed that four mines on Billiton Island, off the east coast of Sumatra, were being worked on a 24-hour schedule, with the restoration of the Mangga power plant, now producing about 6,000 horsepower daily.

Some 5,000 long tons of tin, valued at 18,000,000 guilders ($6,800,000), which the Japanese had melted down and hidden because they lacked ships for transportation, were found on Bangka Island near by. Tin-ore yield on Bangka is about twice as rich as on Billiton, but full-time operation awaits new dredges.

The Government survey found the Klappakampit mine, the only deep tin mine in the Indies, flooded and its machinery removed by the Japanese. Manpower and machinery for its restoration was declared unavailable at present.

New Hiroshima Rises From Ruins

5,000 a Month Move to Atom-bombed Area—Take Courage as Grass Sprouts.

Hiroshima, May 28 (A. P.).—Grass and houses are sprouting again in this atom-bombed town which has begun a five-year plan for the construction of a city dedicated to international amity.

Spurred by the advice of a young American—Lieut. John D. Montgomery of Kalamazoo, Mich.—Hiroshima municipal and prefectural authorities already have drawn up plans for a 70,000,000 yen ($4,666,667) new city. It would be one of the most scientifically planned in the Orient.

The new Hiroshima will cluster around the skeleton dome of the former Museum of Industrial Art. The wrecked building, almost in the exact center of the first atomic blast, will be preserved as a ghostly monument to the explosion.

Hiroshima today is a teeming community, neater and more alert and better fed than Tokyo. Grass poking through the ruins has given former residents confidence to return.

"People don't fear radioactivity or other bad effects," one explained, "so long as they can see the grass growing."

Mayor Hichiro Kihara said the present population is around 172,000 and is increasing approximately 5,000 a month. The city housed a half a million persons when the bomb fell.

Hundreds of small wooden houses have been erected. Some businesses have begun returning to concrete buildings which were wrecked by fire but are still standing. They include the former Chamber of Commerce headquarters, 300 yards from the blast's center.

M'ARTHUR AIDE FIRM AGAINST SOVIET MOVE

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 29 (AP)—The Allied Council for Japan today dropped, with Russia's tacit consent, a Soviet request to investigate a May Day message that charged that Allied directives had been flouted.

Russia's delegate, Lieut. Gen. Kusma N. Derevyanko, had asked at an earlier session that charges made in the unsigned May Day message be investigated.

At the last meeting George Atcheson Jr., American chairman of the council, termed the message "an attempt to spread Communist propaganda." Today he said there was no new evidence to sustain the charges made, but that the council could request a further inquiry.

General Derevyanko then suggested formation of an investigation group composed of Allied Headquarters officers and council representatives. Mr. Atcheson replied that the formation of such a group would place the council in an administrative capacity in connection with the occupation.

The Russian member then said he had "no further questions."

In discussing the message Mr. Atcheson took occasion to express strong opposition to the tactics of Japan's "aggressive minority" and declared:

"The United States does not wish to see the people of this country . . . organized by a minority which seeks to undermine democracy."

The message, addressed separately to the four council members and to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, called the Japanese Government "enemies of democratic revolution" and asked the Allies for cooperation and assistance to achieve freedom.

As he opened today's meeting Mr. Atcheson said the council now should be familiar with Japan and in a position to make "helpful and constructive contributions for the solution of occupation objectives."

Trial Delay Sought

Tokyo, May 28 (A. P.).—Counsel for former Premier Tojo and twenty-five other major Japanese war crime suspects asked today for more time to prepare their cases. Their motion for a delay of the trial beyond its scheduled starting date of June 3 asked also that counsel for each defendant be permitted to make an opening statement on behalf of that defendant after the prosecution concludes the presentation of evidence, and that the tribunal "make specific findings of fact against each of the said defendants" instead of permitting charges against individuals to be lumped "under various incidents."

The defendants had available until May 5 only their Japanese attorneys, most of whom speak no English. The first two American defense attorneys arrived May 5, six more on May 6, fourteen others on May 17, and two since then.

Four civilian attorneys recently arrived from the United States have meanwhile been assigned to the Prosecution Division of Allied Headquarters to assist with war crimes trials in Yokohama.

Tokyo GI's Like Gripe Plan, But Doubt Action

Tokyo, May 28 (AP)—Recommendations of the Army's GI gripe board for narrowing the gap between officers and enlisted men were applauded by GI's here today but many said the plan never would be put into effect—the brass would kill it.

Most soldiers agreed that revision of army customs and regulations as recommended would solve the army manpower problem, enlistments would soar and the Army would have to turn men away.

Officers Admit Abuses

Officers interviewed agreed there had been many abuses by officers of privileges accorded their rank and the abuses should be eliminated.

One major remarked that he certainly believed there was need for changes, but added the Army should not go too far, remembering that the Russians tried to remove the entire barrier between officers and enlisted men and failed.

"If you think that American officers' uniforms are too much better than the enlisted men's, look at the Russian officers on the streets of Tokyo and then at the enlisted men and watch the barriers between them. They make ours look small."

"Horsewhipped Every Day"

Another officer remarked there was a too-widespread idea that "the poor, down-trodden GI is being horse-whipped every day."

The officers refused to use their names.

A typical GI comment came from Corporal Carl Schlesinger, of New York:

"If adopted it would be the greatest improvement in any army in the history of the world. It would provide a truly democratic army for a democratic country."

He Drinks His Lunch

Tokyo, May 28 (AP)—The Japanese Cabinet—either uninformed about Yasubei Kanda's queer stomach, or figuring he is an exception—today ordered breweries to surrender 1,200,000 bushels of wheat for food consumption. The wheat will be distributed by the Government.

The Japanese press, alert to the food crisis, discovered Kanda, a schoolteacher. It reported he does not eat—just drinks beer—four bottles a day.

"Doctor's orders," said Kanda, adding that he's been doing that fifteen years as the result of a serious stomach ailment.

Instead of a lunch box, Kanda carriers beer to school. When beer was rationed, he obtained special permission to buy four bottles daily on condition he give up his rice ration.

Predicts Rapid Fall In Jap Population

Tokyo, May 28 (A. P.).—Asahi predicted today that Japan's population of 73,000,000 may fall to 50,000,000 in ten or twenty years. The newspaper said it based its estimate on analysis by the Cabinet's Bureau of Statistics.

A gradual decrease in population began in the spring of 1944, Asahi declared, adding that the death rate has continued to rise while the birth date has declined steadily.

'TOO MUCH KISSING' IN JAP FILMS

Tokyo, May 28 (A. P.).—"Unnecessary and indiscriminate" kissing must be barred from Japanese movies, the Free Film Workers group asserted in a statement quoted by Jiji News Agency today.

Producers of recent box office hits—climaxed by kissing scenes—were scratching their heads over a definition of "unnecessary."

The F. F. W. statement urged workers to refuse to make any more pictures with "too many" such scenes.

Anglican Primus Back in Japan

Tokyo, May 28 (A. P.).—The Most Rev. Samuel Heaslett, former Bishop of South Tokyo and Presiding Bishop of the Anglican Church in Japan, who recently returned to this country from England, will conduct, next Sunday, his first service in Japan since the war.

JAP GETS 30 YEARS FOR BEATING YANKS

Yokohama, May 28 (A. P.).—Shoichiro Akoki, former guard at the Umeda Bunsho prison camp, today was convicted of beating American prisoners and sentenced by an Eighth Army tribunal to thirty years' imprisonment.

Black-Market Sentence Is Approved

Yokohama, May 28 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, 8th Army commander, today approved the four-year prison term imposed on Marino Bocca, Italian, for black-market activities.

Bocca, former secretary at the Italian Embassy, was found guilty of buying army food and clothing from three United States soldiers, all of whom were court-martialed for their part in the transactions.

Hope for Peace In Manchuria Given Impetus

Third-Party Truce Unit in Nanking for Talks, Calls Fighting Almost Stopped

NANKING, May 28 (AP).—Hopes of early peace in Manchuria mounted today as a truce-promoting delegation of the third-party Democratic League arrived in this Chinese capital for talks with government and Communist leaders.

"We are very hopeful of a peaceful settlement," Dr. Carson Chang, league leader, said. He added that hostilities in the vast northeastern territory already had "virtually stopped" and that the Communists seemed willing to conclude peace.

There was as yet no Communist reaction, however, to terms reported to have been laid down by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as a prerequisite to a truce agreement. Nor had the Communists replied to a government news agency statement of three conditions for resumption of peace talks.

Chiang was reported to have notified General George C. Marshall, American special envoy, that the Communists must recognize government sovereignty in Manchuria and help restore its communications as a condition to new peace talks.

The Right-wing pro-government newspaper "Ta Kang Pao" said Chiang's message was flown to Marshall from Mukden Saturday and was delivered by Premier T. V. Soong. A conference with the chief Communist negotiator, General Chou En-lai, followed, the newspaper said.

Marshall met Sunday with both Soong and Chou, and today he conferred again with Soong.

Chiang had been expected to return yesterday from Mukden, where he went last week with Madam Chiang for conferences with government generals. "Ta Kang Pao," however, said he had intimated he would remain in Manchuria for another week.

The Central News Agency, in an editorial circulated by the Ministry of Information, "warmly welcomed" resumption of peace talks, and announced these conditions: Communist forces should evacuate the Harbin-Lungkiang (Tsitsihap) - Changchun railway and "launch no more attacks" in Manchuria; armed conflicts elsewhere should be mediated by truce teams; Communist troops should be reorganized according to the Chinese Army nationalization plan (agreed on in the January truce).

The editorial added that the government could not recognize the "democratic" local regimes established by the Communists in Manchuria.

Still another truce formula was advocated by the Peiping newspaper "Hsin Min Pao." It proposed a temporary halt to military transportation to Manchuria, evacuation of Harbin and Lunkiang by the Communists, with the government promising not to increase its forces in the territory, and a Communist pledge to help restore communications.

A Democratic League statement deplored the Manchurian hostilities as "the shame of the Chinese people, made worse by the existence of famine and near economic collapse."

North Korea Door Opened To Pauley

Seoul, Wednesday, May 29 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley's "knock at the door" of Russian-occupied northern Korea has been heard, and the American Reparations Commissioner and party of technicians will leave today to inspect Japanese industry, resources and equipment in that area.

When Pauley arrived in Korea a fortnight ago he was asked at a press conference if he expected to visit the Russian zone—something no other civilian and but few United States Army officers have done.

Pauley replied that he would "knock at the door" and did not expect to be turned back.

11-Car Special Train

With the commissioner when he leaves on an eleven-car special train will be nine technical experts and a staff of clerks and service personnel guards.

It will be the first time American civilians have entered northern Korea since 1938. The length of the stay will be indefinite.

The mission's program will be co-ordinated at a conference at Heijo, capital of the Russian zone, with Col. Gen. I. Chistiakov, Russian commander. He has promised to supply billeting facilities, guides and supplemental guards.

American newsmen will be dependent upon progress reports issued in Seoul for news of the Pauley mission. They were not given permission to accompany the party.

Other members of Pauley's group leave Friday for Mukden to set up a base from which will be made a survey of industry in Manchuria and an investigation of reports that Russians stripped it of much important machinery during their occupation.

Pauley To Begin Tour Of Korea Tomorrow

Seoul, May 28 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, and his party will leave Seoul tomorrow night on a special train for an inspection trip of Russian-occupied northern Korea.

They will inspect former Japanese industries, resources and equipment. With Pauley will be nine principals of his reparations commission, clerks, service personnel and guards.

They will be the first United States civilians to enter northern Korea since 1938. The Russians have permitted only a few United States Army officers in their occupation zone and the Japanese barred visitors before that.

Length Of Stay Indefinite

Pauley told a press conference the length of his stay was indefinite. He said Col. Gen. I. Christiakov, Russian commander of northern Korea, sent word that he was arranging to furnish the party with supplemental guards, billeting facilities and competent guides. He suggested the mission's program would be co-ordinated at a conference with Christiakov at Heijo, capital of the Russian-occupied sector.

Pauley said other members of the mission would fly to Mukden Friday to begin their reparations investigation in Manchuria. The North Korea group will fly to Mukden after it returns to Seoul and reports to Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, United States occupation commander of southern Korea.

The American press was not granted permission to accompany Pauley to north Korea, but he said progress reports would be made available to the press in Seoul.

Cruiser To Leave Japan

Korea Trains Policewomen

Seoul, Korea, May 28 (AP)—The first thirteen of 500 prospective Korean policewomen are in training at the National Police Academy. They will handle cases involving juvenile and moral delinquency and domestic relations.

Guns Ring Roxas Inauguration

Osmena Is Absent From Manila Ceremonies at Which New President Takes Office.

Manila, May 28 (A. P.).—Ringed about by sub-machine guns against a reported assassination plot, Manuel A. Roxas today became President of the Philippines. The guns were silent, however, and no untoward incident marred the ceremonies.

The outdoor inauguration was held on a sun-warmed rostrum from which the 54-year-old soldier-politician pledged a quick end to lawlessness now prevalent "in some few provinces," prompt remedies for the economic ills of the needy, the jobless and the tenant-farmers, and close relations with the United States for the new Philippine Republic to be born on July 4.

Some 50,000 Filipinos cheered his arrival at the scene, the center of a metropolitan area still littered with the wreckage of war. Retiring President Sergio Osmena, who had been expected to escort Roxas to the platform, did not arrive. There was no explanation of his absence. A guard of honor of the American Eighty-sixth Division escorted High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt to the rostrum a few minutes after the arrival of Roxas and the Consular and Diplomatic Corps turned out en masse for the ceremony.

In Sharkskin Suit

Roxas, beaming in a white sharkskin suit, shook eagerly with friends and relatives on the platform; then, as the crowd grew silent, drew himself up, squared his shoulders and stepped forward to take the oath of office. Vice-President Elpidio Quirino also was sworn in by Chief Justice Manuel Moran.

Military policemen who lined all approaches and stood elbow to elbow around the rostrum had staged a series of raids in Manila last night, rounding up suspected extremists to forestall possible violence.

In his inaugural address, Roxas demanded the immediate surrender of all unlicensed fire-arms in order to end lawlessness "without a moment's delay." Although he promised social legislation, he declared that his administration "will oppose with every force at its command . . . extra-legal rule over any section, by any group of self-appointed leaders or individuals." He did not name the Hukbalahaps, armed guerrillas in central Luzon who had supported Osmena for President—and who, according to Manila press reports, have set up a virtual government of their own.

Discussing the war-wrought economic collapse, he warned: "Disaster awaits us . . . if we do not rouse ourselves and get back to work. . . ." In speaking of coming independence of the islands, he praised the United States, adding: "If we succeed as a nation—and, of course, we will—we will have the Americans to thank."

CANADA SPY TRIAL GETS UNDERWAY

MONTREAL, May 28.—(AP) The prosecutor charged today that Fred Rose, Communist member of the Canadian Parliament, was the contact man between Soviet agents and potential spies in war-time Russian espionage activities in Canada.

F. Philippe Brais, special Crown prosecutor, opened the Government's case in Rose's trial on a charge of conspiracy by sketching the espionage operations as they already have been related by a two-man Royal commission and in other court cases arising from the commission's probe.

Brais told the jury he would show that Rose was the man through whom Soviet agents first worked for the purpose of finding others who would be amenable to undertaking spy work in behalf of the Soviet Union "for purposes prejudicial to the safety and interests of Canada."

Four minor witnesses were presented in this first day of the Government's case in order to lay the groundwork for the scheduled appearance tomorrow of Igor Gouzenko, young former code clerk of the Soviet embassy in Ottawa whose story of the alleged spy network operations has provided the backbone of the government charges.

95 BRIDES STAY HOME

Sydney, May 28 (A. P.).—Mrs. Marjorie Yvonne Van Cheri returned with her baby to her home in Melbourne today without making any public explanation of why she walked off the bride ship Monterey just before the vessel sailed yesterday for the United States.

A Red Cross official said that Mrs. Van Cheri, wife of former United States Army Lieut. Michael Van Cheri of Pittsburgh, had personal reasons for not wanting to travel. The Sydney Daily Telegraph reported she was homesick.

An Army Transportation Corps spokesman said Mrs. Van Cheri and ninety-four other brides, who canceled passage on the Monterey for a variety of reasons—including ill health, homesickness and nervousness—also would have an opportunity to obtain passage on the next ship.

U. S. WOULD GUARD GREENLAND RADAR

Washington, May 28 (A. P.).—Government officials said today that negotiations are under way with Denmark to insure the continued operation of radar and weather stations on Greenland and in the Faroe Islands. Because these stations are considered essential to North Atlantic commercial airlines, officials said the United States has offered to train Danish personnel to take over their operation when American forces withdraw from Greenland.

Similar arrangements are being sought for stations in the Faroe Island, north of Scotland, which were operated during the war by Great Britain's Royal Air Force.

American officials are seeking Danish permission to maintain the stations to prevent their deterioration pending the time when sufficient Danish operators have been trained. Beyond this, State Department officials said, no negotiations are under way for any American bases in Greenland.

FRANCE GETS U.S. CREDIT

$1,370,000,000 Loan Intended To Aid Reconstruction

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The United States extended a $1,370,000,000 credit to France tonight to help her begin a four-year reconstruction program.

Leon Blum, chief French negotiator, signed a comprehensive economic and financial agreement with Fred Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, and James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State. The ceremony at the State Department followed eleven weeks of negotiations.

President Truman and President Félix Gouin of France announced conclusion of the financial conversations in a joint statement released simultaneously in Washington and Paris.

In Two Portions

The American credit was divided in two portions:

1. A direct loan of $650,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank.

2. A line of credit totaling $720,000,000 which would permit the French to settle their lend-lease account and to purchase United States Army and Navy surplus matériel now in France and in French overseas territories.

In addition, the United States promised to grant France "additional credit" with which she could purchase approximately 750,000 tons of American-owned merchant shipping.

The United States and France hailed the results of their negotiations as a "substantial step toward the achievement of the international economic co-operation which is the prerequisite of a peaceful and prosperous world."

Commercial Co-Operation

During the conversations, France also pledged to work with the United States in "commercial policy and related matters" in an effort "to achieve liberation and expansion of international trade. . . ."

The French credit was handled through the Government's Export-Import Bank and thus does not have to be approved by Congress, although the proposed loan to Great Britain must be.

The $650,000,000 Export-Import Bank loan carries three per cent interest and is to be repaid in 2 years.

The $720,000,000 credit for lend lease settlements is to bear two per cent interest starting July 1, 1946. France is to start making payments on the interest July 1, 1947, and payments on both interest and principal July 1, 1951, with the payments to be completed by 1981.

To Get Real Estate

Part of these payments will consist of $15,000,000 worth of real estate and $10,000,000 worth of francs which the United States will use to buy and improve real estate or to carry out "educational programs."

In connection with the settlement, the United States agreed to pay $17,500,000 to cover all claims arising from the operation, disposal or loss of French vessels under American control. This apparently would include the loss of the huge liner Normandie which burned at New York.

A commercial agreement concluded at the same time provides that France will not increase its tariffs over prewar levels and will abandon its prewar policy of import quotas to protect French producers and price equalization procedure to facilitate exports.

Regulations Discussed

The French Government also agreed to compensate Americans for war damage to their property in France on the same basis as it treats its own people.

In the interest of increasing French exports to the United States, the agreement says, the two governments "have discussed certain United States laws and regulations which, in the opinion of the French Government, tend to hamper unduly the importation of French products into the United States." It adds that American Government agencies have agreed "to study the possibility of altering their administrative procedures or recommending to the Congress the revision of existing legislation."

A separate agreement was signed removing some of the French restrictions against American movies. All import and other restrictions will be removed July 1, but a new "screen quota" system will be instituted. It requires French theaters to show French films for four weeks out of three months and leaves them free the rest of the time to show French or imported films as they wish. Provision is made for reduction and eventual elimination of this quota if the French film industry becomes able to compete on its own feet.

Agreements on American Financial Assistance to France

WASHINGTON, May 28 (U.P.)—The texts of documents released by the State Department in connection with the signing of the French credit agreement follow:

The representatives of the Government of the United States of America and the Provisional Government of the French Republic today concluded their discussions of the economic and financial problems of interest to their respective countries.

Texts of the agreements reached follow:

Declaration made in Washington by the President of the United States and in Paris by the President of the Provisional Government of the French Republic on ay 28, 1946:

Representatives of the Government of the United States and the Provisional Government of the French Republic have met together in Washington and have discussed important economic and financial problems of common interest. These problems have included the need for foreign credits for reconstructing and modernizing the French economy, the settlement of lend-lease, reciprocal aid and other war accounts, the purchase of United States surplus property situated in France and certain French overseas territories, the purchase of ships owned by the United States, and international commercial policy.

The discussions have brought out clearly the full agreement of the two Governments on cooperation in the fulfillment of the economic objectives which both Governments recognize as essential to world peace and prosperity. The well-being of the people of all nations can be advanced through a full flow of trade which enables each country to maintain higher levels of production and better standards of living. These benefits of world trade can be realized only as the markets of the world are opened to all countries on fair and equal terms. The two Governments are determined to work together in securing general international acceptance of the world trade proposals of the United States to be considered by a conference of the United Nations.

The reconstruction and modernization of the French economy will facilitate the integration of Europe in the world economy and enable France to resume her place as a great producing and trading nation. The French delegation has presented a program for reconstructing and modernizing the economy of France. The immediate objective is to restore French production to the pre-war level; the ultimate objective is to expand French production to higher levels commensurate with the technical progress of the past two decades. One requisite for the fulfillment of this program is an adequate and assured supply of coal, not only from increased French production but also from imports of German coal. The United States Government will continue to assist France in securing an adequate supply of coal from Germany.

Furthers French Efforts

In the opinion of the American representatives, attainment of the objectives of increased production and trade presented by the French delegation is necessary to the full and effective participation of France in the world economy. In furtherance of the efforts of the French people to this end, the United States has agreed to the extension of additional credits to France.

At the end of 1945 the Export-Import Bank made a loan of $550,000,000 to France. The board of directors of the Export-Import Bank have now approved a new line of credit of $650,000,000. This action has been taken pending the time when the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development will be in full operation.

The two Governments have reached complete agreement for the final settlement of all lend-lease and reciprocal aid, including military and civilian supplies furnished by each Government to the other. They have also agreed on the acquisition of United States Army and Navy surplus property located in France and certain French overseas territories. Under this agreement, credits of $720,000,000 have been provided for the purchase of surplus property and for goods supplied to France since the end of the war.

Additional Credit Studied

Discussions are taking place for an additional credit, subject to the provisions of the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946, whereby France will acquire approximately 750,000 tons of merchant shipping owned by the Government of the United States.

The two Governments believe that the results of the discussions which have now been concluded will help France in reconstructing and modernizing the French economy and are a substantial step toward the achievement of the international economic cooperation which is the prerequisite of a peaceful and prosperous world. They welcome the support of all of the United Nations in establishing a world trading and monetary system which will assure a full flow of commerce to the benefit of the peoples of all countries.

Declaration by the Government of the United States of America and the Provisional Government of the French Republic on Commercial Policy and Related Matters.

The Government of the United States and the Provisional Government of the French Republic, having concluded comprehensive discussions on commercial policy and related matters, find themselves in full agreement on the general principles which they desire to see established to achieve the liberation and expansion of international trade, which they deem to be essential to the realization of world-wide prosperity and lasting peace.

The French Government has made known to the United States Government the measures which it has taken and intends to take to make possible the attainment of this common objective. The French Government has also made known to the United States Government its plan for the reconstruction and modernization of the French economy. In accordance with the letters exchanged on Nov. 8, 1945, the two Governments have examined this plan and have agreed that the attainment of its objectives should make possible full participation by France in the cooperative achievement of an expanding world economy.

The two Governments have studied the problems involved in the construction of a general framework for world trade and have also examined a number of specific questions relating to commercial policy and other matters which are of interest to themselves and to other countries. The following joint statement by the two Governments summarizes the understandings reached in these discussions.

I

The two Governments are in complete agreement, at all important points, on the principles expressed in the "proposals for consideration by an international conference on trade and employment" submitted to the French Government by the Government of the United States. They have therefore resolved to continue discussions between themselves and with other like-minded countries in order to give effect to these principles in the charter of the proposed international trade organization. The two Governments are of the opinion that the prior conclusion of agreements among the major trading nations of the world for the substantial reduction of tariffs and other barriers to trade and for the removal of discriminatory arrangements would contribute greatly to the success of the world conferences.

II

The French Government has advised the United States Government of the following policies:

(A) A new French tariff is being prepared which will contain ad valorem duties only and which will not increase the degree of protection over the level which existed prior to the war. This new tariff will serve as the level from which reciprocal reductions will be negotiated in the forthcoming multilateral conference.

(B) France has definitely abandoned its pre-war policy of protecting French producers with import quotas.

(C) The French Government has reiterated that it has abandoned the price equalization (perequation) procedure which it was compelled to use provisionally during the period prior to the revaluation of the franc in order to facilitate exports.

III

The French Government has made clear that it must maintain import controls within the framework of an import program but that it will maintain such controls only so long as they are necessary to safeguard the equilibrium of its balance of payments and to achieve in an orderly way its plan of reconstruction and modernization. The French Government will administer the issuance of import licenses under the French import program without discrimination as among foreign sources of supply as soon as France possesses, or is able to earn, sufficient free foreign exchange so that it is no longer necessary for her to make her purchases within the limits of bilateral trade and financial arrangements.

IV

The two Governments have reached a mutually satisfactory understanding on the return to private channels of trade between France and the United States. The French Government has already restored to private channels a large part of the import trade of France and its colonies, and will continue to curtail the foreign procurement activities of the Government.

French Government procurement in the United States will be limited to equipment for public corporations and agencies. For the time being, Government procurement will also be continued for a restricted list of items, such as short-supply foodstuffs, steel, lumber, tires and certain medical supplies.

Temporarily, a part of French imports will be handled by associations of private traders (groupements) until the difficulties of loading, shipment, and transport of essential supplies, and their distribution in France are overcome.

The French Supply Council in the United States will continue to operate on a reduced scale, engaging principally in the liquidation of outstanding contracts and Governmental procurement as indicated above. It will limit its purchases to the satisfaction of essential civilian requirements; it will make the maximum practicable use of normal trade channels; it will pursue methods consistent with commercial practices and it will cease operations as soon as possible.

V

The two Governments have agreed that important benefits would accrue to both countries from a substantial expansion of French exports to the United States. They have discussed certain United States laws and regulations, which, in the opinion of the French Government, tend to hamper unduly the importation of French products into the United States. Special attention has been given to trade-mark and copyright legislation, the use of geographic names related to particular products, price control of imported goods, and valuation of imported goods for the assessment of customs duties. The various agencies of the United States Government which are concerned with these matters have agreed to give careful and sympathetic consideration to the views of the French Government, and to study the possibility of altering their administrative procedures or recommending to the Congress the revision of existing legislation.

VI

The two Governments have agreed, subject to participation in the program by other important industrial nations, each to license freely and without royalty to the nationals of the other, on conditions of reciprocity, all former German-owned patents which have come into the full possession of either Government, reserving only those rights which have already been granted with respect to such patents. The two Governments believe that the general adoption of this policy will contribute substantially to the achievement of expanding world economy. In accordance with these objectives, they have agreed, at some future time, jointly to consider other questions relating to German patents.

30.24-3023

VII

The French Government will accord to American nationals who have suffered damage to their properties in France, through causes originating in the war, compensation equal to that payable to French nationals having the same types and extent of losses. The United States Government has informed the French Government that equality of treatment is accorded to French and American nationals with reference to war damages to property in the United States.

VIII

In order to provide a sound framework for the expansion of mutually beneficial economic relations between their two countries, the Governments of France and the United States have agreed to begin negotiations as soon as possible looking toward the conclusion of a modern and comprehensive treaty of establishment, commerce and navigation.

For the Government of the United States of America:

JAMES F. BYRNES,
Secretary of State of the United States of America.

For the Provisional Government of the French Republic:

LEON BLUM,
Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of France.

Memorandum of Understanding Between the Government of the United States of America and the Provisional Government of the French Republic Regarding Settlement for Lend-Lease, Reciprocal Aid, Surplus War Property, and Claims.

(1) The Government of the United States of America and the Provisional Government of the French Republic have reached an understanding for the final settlement of lend-lease and reciprocal aid, and of the French obligation to the United States Government under the military supply program (Plan A); the acquisition by the French Government of certain United States Army and Navy surplus property, including installations, located in France and certain French overseas territories, and for the final settlement of other financial claims of each Government against the other arising out of the conduct of the war. In arriving at this understanding both Governments have recognized the considerations expressed in Article VII of their preliminary agreement of Feb. 28, 1945, on the principles applying to mutual aid, as well as the benefits accruing to each from the contributions of both to the defeat of their common enemies. In the light of the foregoing, both Governments agree that no further benefits will be sought as consideration for lend-lease and reciprocal aid.

(2) The net amount due from the French Government to the United States Government for the foregoing, including all indebtedness arising from provisions of the lend-lease and reciprocal-aid agreements of Feb. 28, 1945, is $720,000,000, made up in part of amounts now agreed upon and in part of estimated amounts subject to revision. The latter, for which the best available figures have been used pending their final determination by agreed accounting procedures, represent in the main transfers after Sept. 1, 1945.

(3) The French Government will pay interest on the net amount due to the United States Government from July 1, 1946, at the rate of 2 per cent per annum. Such interest payments will be made annually on the first day of July of each of the years 1947 to 1950, inclusive. Beginning on July 1, 1951, interest and principal will be paid in thirty (30) equal annual installments. Each installment shall consist of the full amount of the interest due for the year preceding the July 1 on which the payment is made, and the remainder of the installment shall be the principal due in that year. Nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the French Government from anticipating the payment of any of such installments, or of any part thereof. If, by agreement of both Governments, it is determined that, because of extraordinary and adverse economic conditions arising during the course of payment, the payment of any installment would not be in the joint interest of both Governments, payment may be postponed for an agreed upon period.

To the extent that the terms of payment provided in this Paragraph 3 are inconsistent with those contained in previous agreements, the provisions of this paragraph shall prevail.

(4) The two Governments have agreed upon arrangements and procedures for the settlement of past and future troop pay and procurement of United States armed forces in France and French overseas territories.

Property Transfers Set

(5) As and when requested by the United States Government from time to time prior to Jan. 1, 1950, the French Government will transfer to the United States Government real property to be mutually agreed upon and not to exceed a total dollar value of $15,000,000. In addition, the French Government will provide, at the request of the United States Government, francs representing an aggregate dollar value not in excess of $10,000,000. Any francs so transferred will be furnished at the exchange rate established in conformity with procedures of the international monetary fund, or if no such rate exists, at the rate used in official French Government transactions at the time of such transfer. The United States Government will use francs so transferred exclusively to acquire or improve real property for United States Government use or to carry out educational programs agreed between the two Governments.

Transfers made in accordance with this Paragraph 5 will be credited first to interest then due and then to installments of principal in direct order of maturity.

(6) The two Governments have also agreed upon the following:

(A) All claims and financial obligations between the two Governments arising out of the acquisition, operation, disposition or loss of French vessels and cargoes of such vessels while under United States control will be settled by the United States for $17,500,000 in accordance with the provisions of an agreement relating to the purchase by France of up to seventy-five Liberty ships.

(B) Both Governments express their intention of entering into a maritime claims agreement providing for the mutual waiver of intergovernmental claims arising from maritime accidents and for the handling by each Government of claims asserted in its courts by its nationals against the other Government and based on maritime accidents occurring prior to Nov. 1, 1945.

Civilian Claims Provided For

(C) As part of the general settlement, the French Government has agreed to process and pay all unpaid claims of French residents against the United States Government arising out of the use or infringement in war production of patent rights held by them, out of the requisitioning by the United States Government for use in the war program of any property interest owned by French residents, and out of acts or omissions prior to July 1, 1946, in France or French overseas territories of members of the United States armed forces or civilian personnel attached to such forces.

(D) During the course of the negotiations, both Governments have reached agreement on the disposition of certain specific claims of one Government against the other. All other financial claims of either Government against the other, except where liability has heretofore been acknowledged and the method of computation agreed, which (1) arose out of lend-lease or reciprocal aid, or (2) otherwise arose on or after Sept. 3, 1939, and prior to Sept. 2, 1945, out of or incidental to the conduct of the war, not otherwise dealt with in this memorandum of understanding, are hereby waived.

(E) Appropriate nondiscriminatory treatment will be extended by the French Government to United States nationals in the use and disposition of installations in the building of which there has been a United States Government contribution and which are transferred under this settlement.

Recapture Right Reserved

(F) The United States Government reserves its right of recapture of any lend-lease articles held by the French armed forces, except petroleum products and an agreed list of noncombat aircraft. The United States Government has indicated that it does not intend to exercise generally this right of recapture, except that vessels of the United States Navy and lend-lease merchant vessels are to be returned to the United States Government unless otherwise agreed.

(G) Disposals for military use to forces other than the French armed forces of lend-lease articles held on Sept. 2, 1945, or received thereafter by the French armed forces, and disposals for civilian use other than in France and French overseas territories of such lend-lease articles, will be made only with the consent of the United States Government and any net proceeds will be paid to the United States Government. The French Government will not, except to a very limited extent, release for civilian use in, or export from, France and French overseas territories lend-lease articles held by the French armed forces.

(H) Except as otherwise provided in this memorandum of understanding, the French Government and the United States Government receive full title to lend-lease and reciprocal-aid articles respectively held as of Sept. 2, 1945, or transferred thereafter. If any United States surplus installation not transferred under this memorandum of understanding contains a lend-lease interest, such lend-lease interest is retained by the United States.

(I) The United States Government will undertake to make available to the French Government part of the United States Government's share of captured German and Japanese surface naval vessels when such vessels become excess to United States needs and are no longer needed for any task connected with the implementation of the German and Japanese surrenders.

(7) The two Governments agree to conclude such specific agreements as may be necessary to implement this general understanding.

(8) This memorandum of understanding will be effective upon signature, and instruments of ratification will be exchanged as soon as possible.

War Secretary Warns Against Science Lag

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson testified today that America "cannot lag in the laboratory and hope to have any chance of victory in the event of a future war."

He appeared before the House Interstate Commerce Committee in support of a bill by Representative Mills (D., Ark.) to establish a national science foundation.

"It is our sincere hope that weapons developed through such research will never have to be used," Patterson said. "It is my considered opinion that the very fact that we do have them, and are prepared to use against any aggressor who challenges the peace of the world, represents the best insurance against the necessity for actually employing them in combat."

Urges Secrecy

The Secretary urged that whatever type of organization is eventually established by Congress, provision be made to guard military secrets.

House Appropriations Committee members are opposed to the public being told more about major new secret weapons.

Referring particularly to the reported development of biological or germ warfare and "atomic poison gas" weapons, several members also disclosed today that they are considering increasing Army funds for further scientific research.

W. A. Higinbotham, chairman of the Federation of Atomic Scientists, in a speech here last night, suggested that the public be given more information about the new weapons.

Higinbotham asserted that there are "at least two major secret weapons in existence . . . potentially as dangerous to mankind" as the atomic bomb, and that scientists believe "the public has a right" to know more about them.

U.S. Has Bought Enough Grain For Commitments

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, announced tonight that the Government has bought enough wheat and corn to meet export commitments to hungry areas for the marketing year ending June 30.

Department officials say these promises totaled about 400,000,000 bushels of cereals—roughly 380,000,000 of wheat and the remainder corn and oats.

Latest reports showed 81,280,016 bushels of wheat were bought under the wheat bonus plan which expired May 25 and 33,496,122 bushels of corn under a similar bonus offer withdrawn May 11.

BREAD SLASH OF 10 P.C. BEGINS NEXT SATURDAY

U. S. Order to Aid Famine Areas Provides No Price Change.

DARKER FLOUR IS URGED

Food Board Calls on Whole World to Adopt Wheat Extraction Rate of 85 Per Cent.

Washington, May 28 (A. P.).—Smaller loaves of bread become a must Saturday. Beginning that day bakers must turn out bread and rolls weighing 10 per cent less under a reinforced government drive to aid famine areas abroad and to spread short supplies at home.

The Department of Agriculture issued its order as the International Food Conference urged the whole world to turn to darker bread than Americans now are eating and to stretch wheat flour by diluting it with other grain products and potato flour.

The conference, concluding a week's study of world food problems, asked specifically last night that all countries adopt a wheat extraction rate of at least 85 per cent. Under the conservation order inaugurated in this country last March, the rate was increased from the normal 72 per cent to 80 per cent. Some European countries require as high as 90 per cent extraction. This results in much darker flour.

The cut in the weight of bread and rolls will not involve any price changes. In March the Government gave bakers permission to trim the sizes of their bread and rolls by 10 per cent without reducing their ceiling prices. But few bakers did this because they waited to see what their competitors planned to do.

Further, some State laws and local ordinances require specified weight minimums, although Agriculture Department officials expressed belief today that the Federal order supercedes these local regulations under present emergency conditions.

Meanwhile, the department reported that it exported 3,493,000 tons—or 130,405,000 bushels—of wheat and wheat flour equivalent between January 1 and May 20. The goal for this period was 4,666,000 tons or about 174,000,000 bushels.

The department said that the forty-eight-hour railroad strike had interrupted the flow of cereals from farms to ports, and that as a result its hopes of exporting 840,000 tons during May had been shattered.

On the other hand, exports of food fats and oils were said to be in line with goals. The department asserted that it had turned over 131,000 tons of fats and oils to UNRRA and other shortage areas between January 1 and May 17. The export allocation for the January-June period is 174,000 tons.

Among its other actions yesterday the food conference adopted a resolution calling upon the twenty governments represented to form an emergency council to replace the British-American-Canadian Combined Food Board. The broadened agency will be organized at a meeting to be held either late this week or early next.

The domestic bread order, which becomes effective at 12:01 A. M., June 7, provides for exemptions for bakers who, because of equipment difficulties, cannot comply.

Eisenhower Reports To Truman On Pacific

Washington, May 28 (A. P.)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said after a conference with President Truman today that "morale among troops in the Pacific is on the upswing."

The army chief of staff said he reported to Mr. Truman on his recent inspection of Pacific bases. The labor situation, he said, was not discussed. He attributed the improved troop morale to expansion of facilities for recreation and entertainment.

"I didn't find a single man in the Pacific who didn't realize he was doing a necessary job," Eisenhower added.

ASK TRANSFER OF U. S. ARMS

Nimitz and Eisenhower Would Aid Others.

Washington, May 28 (A. P.).—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower urged Congress today to authorize transfer of arms and war goods to other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

Nimitz said that, should there be another war, the transfer legislation would permit "organization of the western republics as one hemispheric force."

The operating heads of the Navy and Army testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on a bill providing for a broad program of military cooperation with other American countries.

It would authorize the President to make agreements with the other American States to provide:

1. For the transfer to such countries of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

2. For the maintenance, repair and rehabilitation of military or naval equipment in possession of such countries.

3. For the instruction and training of military or naval personnel of such countries.

Nimitz emphasized that no attempt would be made to accomplish any overall increase in armament strength of the Western Hemisphere. He also said the United States plans no greater relative strength for any American nation than it has had previously.

Will Assist Others.

"We propose to assist the other American countries to give each of them a small balanced Navy sufficient to protect its own waters.

"We also plan to train their men, so that, in the event of a future war, the United States will be relieved of sole responsibility for defense of the western hemisphere.

"If we don't supply this equipment these countries will go elsewhere to get it. Missions would come in from other nations to show them how to use the equipment and this would tend to withdraw them from our camp."

Eisenhower made similar comments. He also said:

"I should like to impress on this committee there is no intention on the part of the War Department to start or support an armament race among the other American countries.

LEGION ASKS NEW SENIORITY RULING

Washington, May 28 (A. P.).—Legislative Director John Thomas Taylor said for the American Legion today that it is "very dissatisfied" with the Supreme Court's decision that a veteran does not have "super-seniority" rights to his pre-war job.

"We do not believe this ruling is in harmony with the intent of Congress when it enacted the Selective Service act," said Taylor in a statement.

"We will immediately seek legislation which will explicitly indicate to all the original will of Congress, which was to assure a veteran the right to his old job when he returned from service," he stated.

The Supreme Court decision was given yesterday on an appeal by Abraham Fishgold, a Brooklyn welder. After discharge from the Army he went back to his old job with a drydock company. Because of lack of work, employees were laid off on the basis of their seniority. Fishgold was laid off for nine days, while non-veterans with greater seniority remained at work.

The Supreme Court ruled against Fishgold, 6 to 1. The majority said the veteran goes back to his job on the "seniority escalator" at the same point "he would have occupied had he kept his position continuously during the war."

Gift-Parcel Mail For American Zone

Only Berlin Is Excepted; Service Opens Saturday

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP).—The Post Office Department announced today that gift parcels will be accepted for delivery to the American zone of Germany, except the American sector of Berlin, effective June 1.

Parcels may not exceed eleven pounds nor seventy-two inches in length and girth combined. Only one each week may be sent by one person to the same addressee, the statement said.

Contents are limited to essential relief items such as non-perishable foods, clothing, soap and medicines. No writing or printed matter may be included. The rate is 14 cents a pound.

Parcels and customs declarations must be marked "gift parcel" and the value and contents stated on the customs declarations.

B-29 Occupation Force For Europe

Washington, May 28 (AP)—An American occupational air force of 2,700 planes, including 200 B-29 Superfortresses, is planned for Europe, the Army Air Forces reported today.

Air Force, official journal of the AAF, said 750 fighter-bombers, about 100 medium bombers, 650 transports and a variety of specialized planes also would be included.

From last summer's peak of 450,000 men, army air strength in Europe dwindled to 39,000 on February 1, but has been building up toward a strength of 70,000 projected for the occupation force, the journal said.

Most of the 9,000 planes which were in the theater at the first of the year have been either destroyed or parked in open fields or hangars.

CONNALLY OPPOSES U. S. BROADCASTS

Washington, May 28 (A. P.).—The administration put top-level pressure today behind a drive to restore funds for foreign short-wave broadcasts. But it ran into opposition from Senator Connally (D.-Tex.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Connally reportedly told Secretary of State Byrnes at a closed session of the Senate Appropriations sub-committee yesterday that he thought the program involved "a waste of money."

The House cut a proposed $19,000,000 appropriations for the State Department's information and cultural division to $10,000,000—a slash that Assistant Secretary Benton said would lop off the broadcast activities. Byrnes asked for its restoration, reportedly contending that it offered one of the few methods by which American ideas could be beamed to European countries under the domination of Russia.

As an offshoot to his testimony, Byrnes was said by Senators present to have offered to provide the committee with reports of an FBI investigation into the alleged communist leanings of three middle-rank State Department officials.

The Secretary emphasized, these Senators said, that only purely American doctrines would be broadcast if the shortwave system is continued.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, said his party colleagues have not yet made up their minds about the radio fund.

VIRUS BLAMED IN BABY DEATHS

Cases Said To Be First To Occur Among U.S. Humans

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Representative Jackson (D., Wash.) said today the War Department had informed him that the deaths of eight service men's babies on the brideship Zebulon B. Vance had been traced to a virus disease known as "pneumo enteritis" which had never occurred among humans in this country before.

The representative, saying his army sources did not wish to be quoted, added that the disease had been traced to "one woman, with her baby, who boarded the ship in an undernourished condition."

No Known Cure

The disease, Jackson said, was very deadly, and there was no known cure for it. He said it had been found in cattle in this country, especially in calves, but never among humans. It is highly communicable, he added.

It affects both the lungs and the intestinal tract, he said.

Yesterday Jackson asked for a War Department inquiry into the deaths aboard the army transport, bringing war brides and their children to this country from Le Havre. An Army board of inquiry has absolved the ship's medical staff of "negligence or misconduct" in connection with the deaths.

Carbone Accuses British Bride

Reno, Nev., May 28 (AP)—Mrs. Jeanne Pauline Carbone, titian-haired English girl who married an American Army lieutenant and bore a son to a captain, is accused of adultery in an answer to a divorce suit filed by her husband.

The answer was filed here yesterday by Harold Carbone, now a student at the University of Rochester. In her suit filed April 16, Mrs. Carbone charged the former lieutenant with mental cruelty.

Carbone and the 19-year-old girl, the former Jean Gloor, of London, were married in London, November 8, 1944. He returned to the United States in January, 1945.

Went To Iowa

A year later she followed but instead of joining him went to the home of Captain Darrell Beschen at Dubuque, Iowa.

"I came to the States to see Darrell," said Mrs. Carbone.

"I'm the father of her unborn child," Beschen said. "I'm desperately in love with Jean."

She gave birth to a son at Dubuque a few months later. Beschen first met her in London while on duty as an air forces officer.

1. FRENCH AUTHORITIES IN INDOCHINA, LONG DISTURBED OVER SIAMESE FAILURE TO RETURN CAMBODIAN AND LAOTIAN TERRITORIES CEDED IN 1941 UNDER JAPANESE PRESSURE, ARE GIVING MILITARY WARNING THAT SIAM MUST SPEED UP SETTLEMENT OF THE BORDER QUESTION OR FACE THE CONSEQUENCES.

2. THE FRENCH MILITARY CROSSED THE BORDER IN AN EFFORT FINALLY TO CRUSH THE LAOTIAN REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT. IT IS KNOWN THAT LAOTIAN REBELS HAVE BEEN TAKING REFUGE IN SIAM WHEN THREATENED AND RETURNING TO LAOS WHEN FRENCH OPERATIONS SLACKENED.

RELIABLE SOURCES SAY THE SECOND POSSIBILITY IS THE MOST LIKELY. EVEN BEFORE THE SURRENDER, BRITISH-TRAINED FRENCH PARACHUTE TROOPS OPERATED AGAINST THE JAPANESE IN LAOS, WHICH IS A BACKWARD FRENCH PROTECTORATE PARALLELING SIAM'S EASTERN BORDER FOR 700 MILES.

AFTER THE SURRENDER, A PRETENDER, PRINCE PETHSARATH, SEIZED THE THRONE AS LEADER OF A "FREE LAOS" MOVEMENT WHIC WAS SWORN TO PREVENT THE RETURN OF FRENCH CONTROL.

RECOGNITION OF THE SOCIAL UNITY PARTY BY THE WESTERN POWERS APPLIES ONLY TO BERLIN AND NOT TO OTHER OCCUPATION ZONES.

THE STATESMAN, WHO MUST REMAIN ANONYMOUS, IS REGARDED BY ALL FACTIONS AS CERTAIN OF REELECTION TO PARLIAMENT.

"SOVIET POWER IN OUR VERY MIDST IS A TANGIBLE THING AGAINST WHICH WE CAN OFFER ONLY PASSIVE RESISTANCE. AND EVEN THAT, WE MUST CAMOUFLAGE BEHIND FRIENDLY SMILES AND PROTESTS OF IGNORANCE OF INSTRUCTIONS."

"UNITED NATIONS SANCTIONS," HE SAID, "ARE NOT THINGS WE CAN TAKE HOLD OF IN OUR HANDS. THEY ARE FAR AWAY AND HAVE NO ARMS TO COPE WITH RUSSIAN MIGHT. WE HOPE THEY CAN HELP US RETAIN OUR NATIONAL INTEGRITY, BUT OUR PROBLEM IS HERE NOW AND WE ARE MEETING IT IN WHAT APPEARS THE ONLY WAY TO AVERT IMMEDIATE DISASTER BY PLAYING A TWO-HANDED GAME."

THE DEPUTY SAID HE WAS CONVINCED THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT WOULD "CONTROL" COMING ELECTIONS THAT THAT THE TUDEH PARTY, WHICH HE SAID "CERTAINLY RECEIVES RUSSIAN SUBSIDY," WILL CERTAINLY SWEEP INTO CONTROL OF PARLIAMENT.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 28-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF A U.S.-FRENCH UNDERSTANDING WITH RESPECT TO EXHIBITING AMERICAN MOTION PICTURES IN FRANCE: (ABOUT 700)

BLANK

30.24-3033

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC, IN THE LIGHT OF THEIR BROAD AGREEMENT OF THIS DATE ON COMMERCIAL POLICY OBJECTIVES, AND WITH SPECIAL REGARD TO CHANGES BROUGHT ABOUT BY THE WAR, HAVE REEXAMINED CERTAIN PROBLEMS RELATING TO THE EXHIBITION IN FRANCE OF DUBBED AMERICAN MOTION PICTURE FILMS. AS A RESULT OF THESE CONVERSATIONS, THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT HAS INFORMED THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT THAT IT WILL TAKE THE FOLLOWING MEASURES WHICH WILL BE APPLIED IN THE CUSTOMS TERRITORY OF FRANCE:

MAY 30 1946

EFFECTIVE JULY 1, 1946, ALL PREVIOUS PROVISIONS CONCERNING THE NUMBER OF DUBBED FILMS PERMITTED TO BE SHOWN IN FRANCE WILL BE ABANDONED. ON THE SAME DATE, A "SCREEN QUOTA" SYSTEM WILL BE INSTITUTED, AS A TEMPORARY PROTECTIVE MEASURE, TO ASSIST THE FRENCH MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY TO RECOVER FROM THE DISORGANIZATION CAUSED BY ENEMY OCCUPATION OF FRANCE. UNDER THIS SYSTEM, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS IN FRANCE WILL BE REQUIRED TO EXHIBIT FRENCH FILMS FOR A CERTAIN NUMBER OF WEEKS PER QUARTER. DURING THE REMAINING WEEKS, FRENCH EXHIBITORS WILL BE ALLOWED FREE CHOICE OF FILMS, FOREIGN OR DOMESTIC.

BEGINNING JULY 1, 1946, THE SCREEN QUOTA RESERVED FOR FRENCH FILMS WILL BE NOT MORE THAN FOUR (4) WEEKS PER QUARTER.

THE SCREEN QUOTA SHALL CONTINUE AT THE LEVEL OF FOUR (4) WEEKS PER QUARTER UNLESS REDUCED TO THREE (3) WEEKS PER QUARTER BY THE OPERATION OF THE FOLLOWING AUTOMATIC FORMULA:

IF, IN ANY TWO-YEAR PERIOD ENDING ON JUNE 30, 1948, OR ON JUNE 30 OF ANY SUBSEQUENT YEAR, FEATURE FILMS PRODUCED IN FRANCE SHOULD OBTAIN TOTAL PLAYING TIME IN FRENCH THEATRES EQUAL TO OR GREATER THAN AN AVERAGE OF FIVE (5) WEEKS PER QUARTER, THE SCREEN QUOTA SHALL AUTOMATICALLY BE REDUCED TO THREE (3) WEEKS PER QUARTER EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 1 FOLLOWING THE EXPIRATION OF SUCH TWO-YEAR PERIOD.

IF, THROUGH THE OPERATION OF THE ABOVE FORMULA, THE SCREEN QUOTA SHOULD BE REDUCED TO THREE (3) WEEKS PER QUARTER, IT SHALL CONTINUE AT THAT LEVEL UNLESS TERMINATED ENTIRELY BY THE OPERATION OF THE FOLLOWING AUTOMATIC FORMULA:

MAY 30 1946

IF, IN ANY TWO-YEAR PERIOD ENDING ON SEPTEMBER 30, DURING THE WHOLE OF WHICH PERIOD A SCREEN QUOTA OF THREE (3) WEEKS PER QUARTER IS IN EFFECT, FEATURE FILMS PRODUCED IN FRANCE SHOULD OBTAIN TOTAL PLAYING TIME IN FRENCH THEATRES EQUAL TO OR GREATER THAN AVERAGE OF FIVE (5) WEEKS PER QUARTER, THE SCREEN QUOTA SHALL BE ENTIRELY ABOLISHED EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1 FOLLOWING THE EXPIRATION OF SUCH TWO-YEAR PERIOD.

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT HAS AGREED THAT, IN THE PERIOD FOLLOWING DURING WHICH THE SCREEN QUOTA REMAINS IN FORCE, IT WILL IMPOSE NO RESTRICTIONS WHATEVER ON THE IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN FILMS INTO FRANCE, AND NO RESTRICTIONS OTHER THAN THE SCREEN QUOTA ON THE EXHIBITION OF AMERICAN FILMS IN FRANCE, EXCEPT SUCH RESTRICTIONS AS ARE ALSO APPLIED TO FRENCH FILMS. IF, THROUGH THE OPERATION OF THIS PLAN, THE SCREEN QUOTA SHOULD BE ENTIRELY ABOLISHED, THERE WILL BE, ON AND AFTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF SUCH ABOLITION, NO RESTRICTIONS ON THE IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN FILMS INTO FRANCE, AND NO RESTRICTIONS ON THE EXHIBITION OF AMERICAN FILMS IN FRANCE, EXCEPT SUCH RESTRICTIONS AS ARE ALSO APPLIED TO FRENCH FILMS,

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS NOTED WITH SATISFACTION THAT THE NEW MEASURES TO BE TAKEN BY THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT CONTEMPLATE THE COMPLETE ELIMINATION OF PROTECTION WHEN THE FRENCH PRODUCING INDUSTRY HAS REGAINED ITS COMPETITIVE STRENGTH.

IF, IN THE OPINION OF EITHER GOVERNMENT, THIS PLAN SHOULD, AT SOME FUTURE TIME, BE INAPPROPRIATE TO THE CONDITIONS THEN PREVAILING IN

THE FRENCH MOTION PICTURE PRODUCING INDUSTRY OR IN THE FRENCH MOTION PICTURE MARKET, EACH GOVERNMENT HAS RESERVED THE RIGHT TO REQUEST THE OTHER TO UNDERTAKE NEGOTIATIONS LOOKING TOWARD ITS MODIFICATION OR TERMINATION. IF, UPON THE EXPIRATION OF SIX MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF SUCH A REQUEST, THESE NEGOTIATIONS SHALL NOT HAVE REACHED A CONCLUSION SATISFACTORY TO BOTH GOVERNMENTS, THE TERMS OF THE RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENT WHICH IS THEN IN EFFECT BETWEEN THEM SHALL APPLY.

DONE AT WASHINGTON, IN DUPLICATE, IN THE ENGLISH AND FRENCH LANGUAGE, THIS 28TH DAY OF MAY, 1946.

Lie Won't Put Siam Plea Before Council

MAY 30 1946

Way Remains Open For Any Of United Nations To Call For Action—Detailed Information Awaited.

By Francis W. Carpenter

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, has decided not to lay before the U. N. Security Council a Siamese plea for help against France but the way still is open for any of the 51 United Nations to call for council action.

Position Made Known

A United Nations spokesman made Lie's position known as copies of a Siamese telegram to Lie were circulated to Council delegates.

The spokesman said Lie regarded the telegram asking "assistance" against "unjustified aggression" by France as a request for sympathy and not as an official complaint invoking the United Nations charter.

Siam is not a member of the United Nations. In fact, she is former enemy of some United Nations members. But the U. N. charter provides that any nonmember nation may bring any dispute or situation threatening peace to the attention of the United Nations Security Council or general assembly.

As the Council members studied what action they desired to take, it was generally agreed among the delegations that much more information would have to be produced before a decision could be made.

British Support Reported

A British foreign office spokesman in London said yesterday that Britain would support Siam in placing the issue before the Council but a member of the staff of Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, said today that no instructions had been received by Sir Alexander.

United States experts were reported studying the case. So far the United States has not made known its position on the matter.

The United Nations last night made public the telegram sent to Lie and signed by Pride Panymyong, president of the Council of Minister of Siam.

New York, May 29 (AP)—A spokesman for Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, said today that Lie would not put before the United Nations Security Council a Siamese allegation that French soldiers have seized Siamese territory in "unjustified aggression."

The spokesman pointed out that the case could be brought up by any member of the Security Council who desired to do so, but there had been no word from any Council member that such action would be taken.

It was recalled, however, that a British Foreign Office spokesman said in London yesterday that Britain would support Siam in placing the border dispute before the Security Council.

Charter Not invoked

The United Nations spokesman explained that the Siamese telegram called attention to French "attacks" and asked Lie's "sympathy, your assistance and cooperation," but did not invoke the United Nations Charter. Therefore, he went on, Lie did not regard the letter as officially asking the Council to take action.

Comment from delegates to the Council was reserved, but their staffs were studying the matter to determine what action would be taken.

It was the first time that a nonmember of the United Nations had appealed to the world peace-keeping agency, and the complaint thus presented the organization with a question on procedure. The issue was given an odd twist by the fact that Siam is a former enemy nation as well as a nonmember, while France is not only a member but was an ally in the war against the Axis.

Siam's complaint, made public late last night, was received in the form of a cablegram addressed to Lie by Pride Panymyong, president of the Siamese Council of Ministers.

Lie's Authority

The Secretary General has the authority to call the Security Council's attention to any situation which appears to merit action to preserve peace.

The Siamese complaint accused French troops of crossing the Mekong River on May 24, 25 and 26 and "forcibly seizing Siamese territory, which they continue to hold." The territory in question was apparently part of the area ceded to Siam in 1941 by the old French Vichyite regime in Indo-China.

Rice Output Periled

The Siamese cablegram said no resistance had been offered to the French and that the incidents seriously affected rice production for famine-stricken areas.

The reported attacks were apparently located more than 300 miles northeast of Bangkok along the border ol Laos colony, on the Mekong, where press dispatches have reported hostilities under way.

The Security Council is now in indefinite recess awaiting further reports on the Soviet-Iranian case. If they are not forthcoming over the week end, the Council is expected to assemble early next week for a possible final disposal of the case.

The United Nations subcommittee inquiry into Spain neared its deadline today without apparent prospect of hearing directly from the Franco regime.

U.S. To Back Hearing Of Siamese Charge.

Washington, May 29 (AP)—The State Department said today this country will support United Nations consideration of any charges filed by Siam on alleged French aggression.

A department press officer, Michael J. McDermott, said he had no details other than Siamese reports made to American representatives at Bangkok regarding Indo-China border incidents.

French Force Reported Camped Along Mekong

Bangkok, Siam, May 29 (AP)—A small French force was officially reported encamped on Siamese territory along the Mekong River north of Nongkhai today while Government sources said Siam already had appealed to the United Nations for sympathy and assistance.

The Siamese Foreign Ministry said it had received no reply to its protests lodged with the British and American legations against alleged French aggression from Indo-China into Northeast Siam and added that no explanaton had come from the French.

U. S. to Support Siam's Request

MAY 30 1946

Spokesman Says, However, Details of Reported Clashes With French Are Lacking.

Washington, May 29 (A. P.).—The United States announced today that it will support Siam's request that the United Nations Security Council take up the question of the recent border clashes with the French, southeast of the town of Vientiane.

A State Department spokesman said that the department, however, had received no detailed information on the situation, other than statements made by Siamese officials to the American representative in Bangkok.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday that Britain would support Siam's request.

The State Department announcement was not taken to mean that the United States sided with either party in the dispute.

Washington, May 29 (AP)—An Iranian Embassy spokesman said tonight that Ambassador Hussein Ala had received orders from his Government "not to make any further statements before the Security Council."

The spokesman said Ala received the instructions by telegram this morning. He declined further comment.

FRANCE TO USE U. S. LOAN FOR REHABILITATION

$1,370,000,000 Credit by Export-Import Bank Is Authorized.

MAY 30 1946

LEND - LEASE BILL SETTLED

New Fund to Buy American Ships Pledged—Gouin Sees Deal Putting Nation on Feet.

Washington, May 29 (A. P.).—France turned with renewed vigor today to the job of getting back on her feet, backed by a loan of $1,370,000,000 from the United States. The two countries made a number of agreements in connection with the credit arrangement which President Truman and French President Felix Gouin announced jointly last night. The loan talks began here twelve weeks ago.

French officials estimated that the money would finance at least one year of their country's four-year rehabilitation plan.

In addition to the credit the United States promises:

1. To help France sell her goods here. This might mean an ultimate reduction in American tariffs on French goods.

2. An additional credit of perhaps $25,000,000 to buy about 750,000 tons of American shipping.

No Rise in French Tariff.

France, in turn, pledged itself not to raise its tariffs on American products and joined with the United States and Britain in their campaign to expand world trade through lowered tariffs everywhere.

Of the $1,370,000,000 total, France will get:

1. A direct loan of $650,000,000. The interest is 3 per cent, it must be repaid in twenty-five years.

2. Credit for $720,000,000 more. The interest is 2 per cent. This must be repaid in thirty-five years.

Repayment of the principal won't begin for the first five years.

If France has a year of "extraordinary and adverse economic conditions" — the United States will decide on this—France in that year can defer repayment completely.

As a result of the agreement, the United States wrote off $266,000,000 in lend-lease supplied to France during the war. France's reverse lend-lease to the United States was about $800,000,000.

To Buy Surplus Items.

France will use about $300,000,000 of the American credit to buy American surplus equipment in France and French territories. For example: Trucks, rolling stock, communications equipment and airfields which the United States built on French territory.

The two countries agreed to settle all war claims against each other, including payment for the giant French liner Normandy, which burned at her New York pier while being reconverted to an American troopship.

France agreed to turn over $15,000,000 in real estate to the United States and about $10,000,000 in francs with which the United States could improve these properties and carry out educational programs.

One of the unusual features of the agreement was a provision permitting the showing of American movies in France. Officials said that the French had agreed to permit annual importation of 188 American movies, now barred, as soon as France's motion picture industry recaptured its pre-war market.

Unlike the proposed $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain which Congress must approve, the French loan was made from the United States Export-Import Bank set up for lending purposes. Its loans do not require congressional approval. The French loan, however, reduces the bank's capital to $812,000,000, making it impossible for the bank to grant Russia it's request for $1,000,000,000 until Congress gives it more funds.

Signing Ceremony.

Before the Truman-Gouin announcement Secretary of State Byrnes and Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson signed the documents at a State Department ceremony.

Byrnes shouted "Vive la France" and shook hands with Leon Blum, France's 72-year-old Socialist leader and principal French negotiator, who signed for his country.

Blum was to fly back to Paris today from New York to lead his Socialist party during the last five days of the French political campaign to elect members of the new Constituent Assembly.

France 'Put On Her Feet'

Paris, May 29 (AP)—President Felix Gouin, in his first press conference since he took office, predicted today that the United States-French loan agreement would put French economy back on its feet.

With the new American credits behind it—the Washington agreement calls for a loan of $1,370,000,000 in cash and credits—the country's recovery drive now could attain its objectives by concentrating on obtaining coal, raw materials and machinery, Gouin said.

Gouin declared emphatically that the agreement was reached "in full freedom" and that "no political conditions were imposed on France" as a loan requirement.

Approval Held Certain

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—M. Gouin said that the loan would be submitted to the next Cabinet meeting and then to the Constituent Assembly for approval, which he said was "certain."

Briton Assails U.S. Official On Food

London, May 29 (AP)—Herbert Morrison today stood by his statement that the United States had agreed to help feed India and the British zone of Germany and said that Will Clayton, United States Assistant Secretary of State, would bear him out.

He told the House of Commons that a clear understanding existed between the American and British governments on the question of United States supplies for Germany and India.

Cites "Subordinate Official"

The Deputy Prime Minister said it was "a pity that a subordinate official—a United States public relations officer, I think it was, should have entered into the matter."

Michael McDermott, United States State Department public relations chief, last week denied statements attributed to Morrison that the United States had more commitments to India and would ship food from the American to the British zone of Germany.

Morrison was heckled by Winston Churchill, whom he accused of being "utterly incapable" of understanding the plain English of the situation.

Quotes Clayton

"I have been in touch with Mr. (Will) Clayton, United States Assistant Secretary of State," Morrison said, "and I am glad to say on his authority that there is not and never has been any misunderstanding between us on what we agreed.

"After receiving the official text of my statement and ascertaining that the first versions of it had been misinterpreted . . . Mr. Clayton confirms that my statement—I quote his words—correctly represents the understanding reached in our discussions."

After referring to McDermott, Morrison said:

"We have made representations on that point and Mr. Clayton has expressed regret on behalf of the United States Government."

Mountbatten Expected To Get New Command

London, May 29 (AP)—A British Government spokesman who asked not to be quoted by name said tonight that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, supreme allied commander in southeast Asia, would not return to that post after he comes to London for the June 8 victory celebration.

MONTY LAUDS PRESS

London, May 29 (A. P.).—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery said tonight that democracy needs a free and truthful press for providing the public with news in the shortest possible time.

"I am sure that none of us would wish to see either a controlled press or the elimination of free journalistic enterprise," the ranking British soldier said at a Newspaper Press Fund Dinner. "It is responsible for the reporting of facts and for commenting on these facts without fear or favor. No truly democratic nation can function without a free press and an enlightened public opinion."

U.S., British Assail Slav 'Obstruction'

London, May 29 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today that the United States and Great Britain had protested formally to Yugoslavia over "obstruction" to the Allied Military Government in Trieste and Venezia Giulia and the general attitude of Premier Marshal Tito's Government toward the western nations.

The notes were sent May 20. They were not made public.

"Isolation" Is Sought

The Foreign Office said the British Government concluded that "Yugoslavia is trying to isolate herself from the west," and charged the Yugoslav Government with inciting a "lack of co-operation and obstruction" to Allied authorities.

The British also complained about difficulties in their embassy and about communications from Yugoslavia and the Yugoslav refusal to allow British business men to inspect their property in that country.

Note To Albania

The Foreign Office spokesman said the Government also had dispatched a note to Albania expressing dissatisfaction with Albanian explanations for shots fired at British cruisers passing near the Albanian coast recently. The spokesman said that Albania explained the cruisers were not recognized as British, and that this was no explanation at all.

Greek officials said the Albanians fired because they believed the ships were Greek.

They ignored the court's assurances their complaints would be investigated and defied its warning that such complaints did not excuse them from testifying. A fourteenth witness, although he did not refuse directly to testify, answered every question with "I don't remember."

"This situation has become so difficult the prosecution feels it should be reported to the appointing authority," said Capt. David M. Proctor Jr. of Kansas City, Mo., the prosecutor.

Captain Proctor said he would confer with officers of the Judge Advocate's office who are supervising the trial. Meanwhile, two other trials of soldiers accused of Lichfield brutality were postponed until June 3. One of the postponed trials was that of Lieut. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., who is seeking a new attorney to replace one being redeployed soon.

All the witnesses now are confined to the guardhouse. Some of them are serving court-martial sentences. Others are awaiting court-martial on charges brought against them for offenses allegedly committed since they came to Bad Nauheim to testify.

Sgt. Saul L. Russ of Brooklyn, one of the first to refuse to testify, told correspondents outside the court room that six of the men were accused of having made an unauthorized trip to London while waiting to testify. An Army announcement said the trip had been made by the use of travel orders that had been forged.

"We witnesses," Sergeant Russ told the court, "are being held in the guardhouse and treated as dangerous criminals while these accused officers are running around free."

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, May 29 (U.P.)—General Prisoner William F. Pond of 2840 Zulette Avenue, the Bronx, who refused to testify today, also had refused to talk while the trials were being held in London.

Pvt. Anthony R. Calegaro of Brooklyn was another who refused to talk.

13 U. S. Soldiers Refuse to Testify at Trial Of Officer Accused of Abusing Prisoners

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, May 29 (AP)—Thirteen key prosecution witnesses, claiming they had been badly treated by the Army, defied threats of military discipline and refused to testify today before a court-martial trying an officer accused of having mistreated American prisoners in the United States Army detention camp at Lichfield, England.

The prosecution halted the proceedings and the court-martial was adjourned until Friday. The eight-man officer court ordered all thirteen of the witnesses cited for disciplinary action.

The witnesses had been named in the indictment of Lieut. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City, Okla., as victims of his allegedly cruel treatment at Lichfield where they once were imprisoned.

Lichfield Trial Halts As GI's Won't Talk

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 29 (AP)—A mass refusal of prosecution witnesses to testify forced a two-day adjournment today in the trial of Lieut. Granville Cubage, of Oklahoma City, on a charge of mistreating prisoners at the United States Army guardhouse in Lichfield, England.

Thirteen successive witnesses called to the stand by the prosecution refused to answer any question, even when threatened with military punishment. They complained that they were being treated unfairly by the Army.

Witness Can't Remember

The fourteenth witness, although not refusing to testify, answered every question with "I don't remember."

The prosecution then halted the proceedings.

"This situation has become so difficult the prosecution feels it should be reported to the appointing authority (the judge advocate's office)," said the prosecutor, Capt. David M. Proctor, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo.

He obtained an adjournment until Friday afternoon.

All the witnesses who balked were named in Cubage's indictment as victims of his alleged cruelties at the Lichfield detention camp.

All Now Confined

All are now confined to an army guardhouse, some serving court-martial sentences and others recently imprisoned on charges brought against them for offenses alleged committed since they came to Bad Nauheim to testify.

Asked by reporters if the witnesses in the guardhouse had agreed among themselves not to testify, several of them insisted they did not discuss the case among themselves.

"We are all acting independently for our own reason," one said.

Officers "Run Around Free"

Their complaints varied. Some protested they were being confined while the accused officers against whom they are to testify are "running around free."

One charged that the Army had issued general instructions in Bad Nauheim to consider them "bad characters," and that they were treated as "dangerous criminals" and held "always under suspicion."

The court, after its warnings met continued refusal to testify, ordered disciplinary action against the witnesses, saying their stand was "unjustified" and "unlawful." The witnesses were assured by the court, however, that their complaints would be investigated.

Objects to Treatment.

Sgt. Saul I. Russ of Brooklyn, one of the witnesses refusing to testify, asserted:

"We witnesses are being held in the guardhouse and treated as dangerous criminals while these accused officers are running around free."

Russ told the court-martial that when the witnesses were brought here from London they found a "TWX" (Army teletype message) had been received from London "saying we were bad characters."

HEAD OF DACHAU PAYS WITH LIFE FOR NAZI CRIMES

13 Associates Also Hanged Today, Completing Mass Execution by U. S.

Landsberg, May 29 (A. P.).—Grimly methodical, the United States Army completed today the hanging of twenty-eight Germans responsible for the deaths of 300,000 tortured inmates of the Dachau concentration camp.

The grisly drama of the gallows went on today for four hours, during which fourteen men dropped to quick death. Fourteen others were hanged yesterday.

The seventh man to climb the thirteen steps to one of the twin black scaffolds in old Landsberg prison courtyard today was Martin Gottsfried Weiss, 43 years old, who until the last minute hoped for a reprieve from the war crimes branch of the Army. Weiss was commandant of the camp. A former prisoner at Dachau had volunteered a statement that Weiss had done everything he could for the inmates. The Army considered the case several times and refused to intervene.

The last man to go was one-legged Leonard Eichberger, who was carried to the gallows in the arms of two military policemen. He was held upright while the charge against him was read and he was prepared for the noose. The policemen stepped back a moment before the trap was sprung.

Gives Life for Germany.

The twenty-eight will be buried side by side in unmarked graves in the prison cemetery.

Weiss was cool and phlegmatic as the hangman bound his feet and prepared to slip the black hood and noose over his head. He spoke his last words with his eyes fixed on the green Bavarian hillside beyond the prison wall.

"I am giving my life for Germany," he shouted.

His body was cut down fifteen minutes later and placed in a pine coffin.

Accused of 300,000 Murders.

All twenty-eight were convicted by a United States military war crimes court last December for murdering more than 300,000 men, women and children at Dachau—once a synonym in Germany for terror. The court heard testimony that men were burned alive at Dachau, that others were immersed in ice water for experimentation and that thousands were beaten.

Army Executes 14 More Nazis

LANDSBERG, Germany, May 29. (AP)—Fourteen more Nazis were hanged by the U. S. Army today in a grim four-hour drama, completing the execution of 28 men found responsible for the sadistic torture killing of 300,000 inmates at the infamous Dachau concentration camp. The first 14 were hanged yesterday.

In the shadow of the cellblock at old Landsberg prison where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf," his followers walked one by one up the 13 steps to one of the twin scaffolds and oblivion. Most died in silence. Some made final melodramatic gestures.

All 28 will lie in unmarked graves in the prison cemetery.

They came from all walks of life. Among them were scientists; artists who played Bach and Brahms; ham-fisted brutes who delighted in sadism; men like Anton Endres, who aided in experiments in the effect of freezing on the human body—experiments which ended with the death of unnumbered inmates.

There were men like Christoph inal, a pre-war Dachau prisoner Knoll, 50-year old habitual crimwho, because of his specialty of brutality, was made a trusty and give nauthority to beat inmates into unconsciousness.

The seventh to die today was Martin Gottfried Weiss, 40, commandant of Dachau in 1942-43. Until the last minute he had hoped for a reprieve, after a former Dachau inmate volunteered a statement that Weiss had done all he could for the prisoners.

GERMAN OFFICIALS IN AMERICAN ZONE GET NEW POWERS

Clay Asserts U. S. Is Doing Everything Possible to End Zonal Lines.

Berlin, May 29 (A. P.).—The American Military Government granted German officials in the United States occupation zone greater responsibility over economic affairs today, and Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay assured them the Americans were "doing everything possible" to erase zonal boundaries in order to treat Germany as an economic unit.

Clay, Deputy American Military Governor, addressed a conference of German officials with military Government economic experts.

The conference decided to hand over to the Germans extensive economic responsibilities including the drafting of production programs and allocation and distribution of such vital materials as coal, petroleum products, steel, and fertilizers.

The Germans also were given authority to distribute food imported from the United States in the same manner as they have been allocating indigenous foodstuffs. The military government reserved the right, however, of review and alteration of all programs and ordered strict adherence to ration schedules in the distribution of food.

British Plan New Step

In Hamburg today, the British military governor, Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, told the German Economic Advisory Board in that zone that he hoped to give it the responsibility of allocating Ruhr coal before next winter, and said it would be asked soon to consider questions of land reform and political structure.

Clay declared at the meeting here that the United States was keeping faith with the Potsdam agreement by seeking to implement its provision that Germany be administered as an economic entity. He said the United States was doing its best to wipe out zonal boundaries and to facilitate the free movement of goods throughout Germany.

Such movement, the Americans and British contend, is necessary to bring recovery to the western zones and to give Germans there an even break with the more self-sufficient and more prosperous Soviet zone. The Russians have been opposing this with the argument that "Germany is not yet ready for economic unity."

To Distribute Ruhr Coal

HAMBURG, Germany, May 29 (AP)—Germans will assume responsibility for the allocation of Ruhr Valley coal and will take over other responsibilities under a new phase of British occupation policy, Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, new zone commander in chief and military governor, announced today.

Sir Sholto said he hoped to hand over the allocation of coal to the German Economic Advisory Board in the British zone before next winter.

The German Economic Advisory Board, composed of representatives of German provincial administrations and professional organizations, soon will be asked to consider questions of land reform and political structure, Sir Sholto told the group, adding that "I shall look to you for advice on all domestic matters."

WOMEN'S KILLERS TRIED

Nine Germans Accused of War's Worst Barbarity at Camp

WUPPERTAL, Germany, May 29 (AP)—The killing of four British and French service women by drugging and burning them alive in the Struhof-Natzweiler concentration camp was described at a war crimes trial today as "barbarity without parallel in history."

Nine members of the camp staff are accused of having done away with the women, all British Waaf and nursing yeomanry officers, who had parachuted into France to assist British liaison officers with the French resistance movement.

According to evidence the women were captured and taken to the camp, where they were told they would be inoculated against typhus. The injection put them in a stupor, after which they were thrown alive into a crematorium.

Top Nazi Arrested After Year's Search

Herford, Germany, May 29 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Oswald Pohl, second in command of the SS and chief administrator of all Nazi concentration camps, has been arrested by British special investigation agents after a one-year search.

British authorities said that Pohl, who served as Heinrich Himmler's chief of staff, had been found working as a farm laborer under an assumed name. It is expected that he will be brought to trial to answer for the deaths of hundreds of thousands of the concentration camp inmates who were under his jurisdiction.

Nazi Says Slave Labor Was Legalized by Hitler

Sauckel Asserts Occupied Lands Backed It Too

NUERNBERG, May 29 (AP).—Fritz Sauckel, who was Nazi chief of man-power conscription, testified blandly at the war crimes trials today that it was "legal" to draft 5,000,000 foreigners to work for Germany's war effort. He told the International Military Tribunal that Adolf Hitler issued laws validating forced labor, and the governments of occupied territories followed suit.

He insisted that several millions came voluntarily to Germany to work, and said the tie-up of the S. S. (Elite Guard) and police with labor recruitment was only a "protective" measure. Punishments against entire villages for failure to meet labor quotas were inflicted "locally" and without his knowledge or consent, he said.

He also insisted that the French people accepted the exchange of French prisoners of war for forced laborers as "an act of comradeship," and that "we had the feeling it was received very favorably among the (French) population."

Sauckel Calls Slave Labor Policy 'Legal'

Nuernberg, May 29 (AP)—Fritz Sauckel, Adolf Hitler's labor boss, testified blandly today that it was "legal" to draft 5,000,000 foreigners to work for Germany's war effort.

Sauckel told the International Military Tribunal that the Führer issued "laws" validating forced labor and the governments of occupied territories followed suit.

He insisted that several millions came voluntarily to Germany to work and said the tieup of the SS and police with labor recruitment was only a "protective" measure. Punishments against entire villages for failure to meet labor quotas were inflicted "locally" and without his knowledge or consent, he said.

1942 Change Of Policy

In 1942, Sauckel asserted, it became apparent that voluntary recruitment was failing to fill the bill, and after the battle of Stalingrad Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels proclaimed a "total war effort" and laid down a work-or-starve dictum for foreign labor.

"The Army said it was senseless to bring these people to Germany to work," said Sauckel, the fifteenth of the 22 defendants to take the stand in his own defense. "The Army wanted to make soldiers out of them and I resisted that."

He said he also had controversies with other ministries and drew a picture of the Reich Government beset with squabbles as the knowledge of impending defeat dawned.

SOVIET ENVOY STRUCK BY MP

Diplomatic Courier Is Thrown Off Plane Near Rome

Rome, May 29 (AP)—United States military authorities at Ciampino airport, outside Rome, said tonight an American military policeman struck with his first a Russian diplomatic courier carrying mail to Paris who failed to identify himself aboard a plane and refused to heed orders to leave it.

The announcement said the MP also struck a Russian diplomat outside the plane whose actions the American interpreted as defiance of his orders.

The announcement was issued by a public relations officer on behalf of Lieut. Col. R. M. Crow, commanding officer. It failed to give the names of the MP, the courier, or the diplomat. Crow said the prepared statement would be "all he would have to say."

Discipline Considered

Crow, the statement added, was considering "whether disciplinary action should be taken against the MP," the statement said:

"A misunderstanding arose because the courier boarded the plane several minutes before the scheduled departure time.

"On being questioned by the officer in charge of loading the plane he failed to identify himself as a courier and was told he would have to remain in the passenger terminal until passengers were loaded.

"When the courier refused to leave the airplane the officer called an MP and ordered him to have the Russian removed.

Forced To Leave

"When the courier resisted he was struck and forcibly required to leave the plane.

"As the courier was being led from the loading ramp, the MP interpreted the action of a civilian bystander as defiance of his orders and struck this man also.

"The civilian later was identified as a Russian Embassy official who was believed to have accompanied the courier to the airfield."

Crow said the MP struck the two Russians with his fist. Neither was injured, he said.

The courier continued to Paris. Efforts to reach attachés at the Russian Embassy for comment were not immediately successful.

The American officer making the call said that two officers who objected had been covered by guns and told to shut up.

U. S. AGAIN BARS RED EFFORT TO ORGANIZE JAPS

Atcheson Lays Down Law Against Any Minority's Seeking to Rule.

CITES AGGRESSIVE TACTICS

Says 7000 Communists Have Sought to Seize Control Along Totalitarian Lines.

Tokyo, May 29 (A. P.).—The United States today bluntly warned minority groups which seek to undermine democracy against attempting to organize the Japanese. Just two weeks ago it said just as bluntly that it does not want Communism in Japan. Both warnings came from George Atcheson Jr., American chairman of the Allied Council for Japan.

"We do not want to see the Japanese people once more lined up in columns, clothed in uniforms and regimented in any kind of totalitarianism thought," he told the council today. "The Potsdam Declaration calls for democracy in Japan. No matter how you spell democracy, you cannot make the word 'totalitarianism' out of its nine letters."

His statement came as Atcheson told the council that he was unable to substantiate the allegations contained in an unsigned Japanese May Day message that "reactionary elements" had interfered in the April elections and that some of Gen. MacArthur's directives had been flouted. He said he had since received a second message declaring that the allegations were "stern facts." The second message was signed, Atcheson continued, by known Communists or persons known to be under Communist influence.

Both the British and Chinese delegates agreed with Atcheson's statement.

The Russian delegate, Lieut. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, fourth member of the Council, said it wasn't his intention either to defend or reject the May Day statement; he was asking the Council to investigate it. He indicated he was not satisfied with Atcheson's reply that Atcheson could not substantiate the charges.

Warned on Free Press

Also today the Japanese were warned by Allied headquarters that freedom of the press is not to be tampered with. This followed the expulsion two days ago of two Yomiuri reporters from the Cabinet Press Club and the indefinite suspension of that paper's right to cover sessions of the Diet.

The suspension drew attention to the unchallenged power wielded by Japanese press clubs—holdovers from the days of strictly controlled news reporting. The clubs are composed of reporters covering various beats, and membership is mandatory to cover an assignment. The Kyodo News Agency said that the two Yomiuri men "falsely used the name of the Cabinet Press Club and demanded food from the Cabinet."

The agency asked Gen. MacArthur's section for comment on this and in reply the press section declared that no matter what the reason may have been, Allied headquarters cannot but be concerned about the suspension by the club of the newspaper's right to cover Diet proceedings. "Any action by anybody, official or non-official, which denies access to any legitimate newspaper to Government news sources cannot be reconciled with democratic conception of a free press," the press section added.

The Cabinet Press Club still periodically attempts to prevent Japanese reporters for American news services from covering Cabinet press conferences conducted in the Japanese language.

Noting that the Communist party claims a membership of only 7,000 persons in all Japan, Atcheson declared: "Accordingly, it seems clear that we have seen in process something of the organization or attempted organization of the masses by an aggressive minority through customary tactics employed in other countries with a view to expanding their power along totalitarian lines. The United States does not wish to see the Japanese people organized by a minority which seeks to undermine democracy."

Both the British and Chinese delegates agreed with Atcheson's statement. The Russian delegate, Lieut.-Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, fourth member of the council, said it wasn't his intention either to defend or reject the May Day statement; he was asking the council to investigate it. He indicated that he was not satisfied with Atcheson's reply that he could not substantiate the charges.

Yoshida Creates Labor Ministry

Tokyo, May 29 (AP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida's Government gave Japan's new labor movement the green light today by deciding upon creation of a Labor Ministry.

Well-informed sources said that Yoshida will also name a foreign minister rather than attempt to carry the dual role of premier-foreign minister himself.

Unionization, restricted by Japan's wartime militarists, has flourished under occupation. The Government estimated union membership at more than 2,000,000 workers.

The Allied policy toward labor brought an imperial ordinance giving the unions legal status for the first time in history, effective April 1.

Creation of a Labor Ministry implemented that decree. The Cabinet took two further steps:

It approved creation of management councils, to give workers a voice in affairs affecting their jobs, meanwhile frowning officially upon recent seizures of plants by workers to strengthen their bargaining position.

It completed the reinstatement of legal protective standards which haven't been enforced in Japan since 1937. Nullified were all wartime exceptions to prewar safety regulations in mines, for example.

Informed Japanese said that Yoshida had several names under consideration, including Hitoshi Ashida, Liberal party official and former Welfare Minister; Ken Harada, recently repatriated Minister to the Vatican, and Taro Tetazaki former director of the American Bureau of the Foreign Office.

SAW JAP BEATING YANK TO DEATH

Yokohama, May 29 (A. P.).—Cpl. Albert M. Ennis of Mobile, Ala., testified by affidavit at a war crimes trial today that he had seen Chief Petty Officer Virgil E. Byrd of Mt. Carmel, Ill., beaten to death in the Osaka prison camp.

Ennis's statement was read into the record at the trial of Toranoshin Akamatsu, former Osaka guard, who is accused among other things of complicity in Byrd's death. Byrd died the morning after he was beaten and tied up, Ennis said.

The Japanese tied Byrd's hands behind him and pulled them up with a rope until Byrd was forced to stand on his toes, Ennis wrote.

"They would release this rope when they wanted to beat him," he continued. "He would become unconscious and they would revive him with water. These beating continued until 10 o'clock one night. Byrd died the next day."

Other affidavits describing the beating Byrd received were filed from S/Sgt. William P. Duckworth of Waycross, Ga., and Pfc. Paul Jirkovic of Cicero, Ill.

Akamatsu pleaded not guilty. Besides complicity in Byrd's death, he is charged with the death of Pvt. Robert H. Hill of Norris City, Ill., and with cruelties against other prisoners.

CHIANG SEEKING ALL MANCHURIA

Intent Announced By Nanking Information Minister

Nanking, May 29 (AP)—Peng Hsueh-pei, Minister of Information, reaffirmed today the Central Government's intention of taking over all Manchuria. At the same time he expressed hope the Chinese Communists would withdraw their troops peacefully from Harbin and Tsitsihar.

"The duty of the Government to take over the whole of Manchuria cannot be shunned," he said, "but we always prefer a peaceful settlement."

Calls Prospects Bright

Peng said he thought prospects of such a settlement were bright. The Government's demands, he explained, were that the Communists respect the cease-fire agreement reached last January specifically permitting Nationalist military movements in Manchuria for the purpose of restoring sovereignty.

Peng said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's absence in Mukden did not necessarily mean that a peace agreement could not be reached "at this stage of highly developed telecommunications."

He declined to make a flat denial of reports that Chiang was personally directing military operations from Mukden. Earlier in the day, Chou En-lai, Communist leader, asserted that the Generalissimo himself was in charge of the Government's Manchurian campaign and that the situation there had taken "a critical turn."

League Urges Return

The Democratic League sent a telegram urging the Generalissimo to return to Nanking at once to clear the way for peace negotiations.

Simultaneously, Dr. Carson Chang, league leader, arranged an immediate meeting with Gen. George C. Marshall, United States special envoy, to go over the whole situation."

The news of widened military activity included reports from Mukden that seven regiments of Communists had been routed at Yungki (Kirin) and were retreating toward the Korean border, and that vanguards of National troops were within 30 miles of Harbin.

The Government Central News Agency also reported National troops driving to the vicinity of Panshih, a major source of electric power.

Action In North China

[The Peiping newspaper Shih Chieh Jih Pao reported capture of Liaoyuan, northwest of Szepingkai, by Government troops.

[In Peiping, Chinese press dispatches also reported heightened military activity in North China, notably the recapture by Government troops of Tunming in southern Hopei province.

[Communists in Peiping accused the Government of action against their party press. The Communist newspaper Hsin Hua Pao announced that it had been ordered to cease publication, while the Communist New China News Agency was notified it was operating illegally without proper license.]

Peng intimated the Government would reject Communist proposals for a propaganda truce, preferring to rely instead on new appeals to the press to avoid abusive attacks and unreliable reports.

Chiang Himself Directs Attack, Red Charges

Nanking, May 29 (AP)—Gen. Chou En-lai, China's No. 2 Communist, today asserted that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek personally had taken over direction of the Government's Manchurian campaign.

He asserted the situation in civil-war-ravaged Manchuria had taken a "critical turn."

Chou made his statement a few hours after the Government's Central News Agency reported that National troops had captured the important city of Kirin (Yungki) from Communists.

30 Miles From Harbin

Government sources in Mukden meanwhile said seven regiments of Communist troops were routed at Kirin and retreating toward Yenchi, near the Korean border. Government reports from the north said vanguards of National troops were within 30 miles of Harbin.

In Peiping, the independent newspaper Shih Chieh Jih Pao reported that Government troops had captured Liaoyuan, a railroad junction northwest of Szepingkai. It said the troops then pushed northward along the Szepingkai-Tsitsihar rail line to Wolungtun.

A Jarring Note

Chou's assertion was the first note to jar the hopeful atmosphere pervading China the past few days. The Communist leader is his party's negotiator in peace discussions with Government officials and General Marshall, United States envoy.

Members of the third-party Democratic League were, meantime, arranging to resume peace talks with the Kuomintang (Chiang's Government party), although handicapped by the continued absence of the generalissimo, still in Mukden.

Communist leaders say that without Chiang present, any discussions would have little validity.

The Democratic League sent a telegram to Chiang urging him to return to Nanking at once.

To Meet With Marshall

Dr. Carson Chang, prominent league member, arranged an immediate meeting with Marshall to "go over the whole situation." Chang said he thought the Government's insistence upon taking Tsitsihar and Harbin, as well as Changchun, should not complicate negotiations. He was thought to be referring to recent Communist indications of willingness to withdraw from these Manchurian cities.

Members of the league delegation conferred with Kuomintang leaders, including Wang Shih-chieh, Minister of Foreign Affairs. They reported Wang "very optimistic."

Three "Stages" Traced

A Mukden dispatch quoting Gen. Chao Chia-hsiang, chief of staff of the Government's Manchurian Corps, said capture of Kirin completed the second stage of the Government's taking-over program in Manchuria. He said the third stage would be capture of Harbin.

The independent Peiping newspaper Hsin Ming Pao said three columns of Government troops halted their advance northward from Changchun after seizing Wanpaoshan, Hsiachiutai and Tehhwei, 80 miles north of Changchun on the Mukden-Harbin railroad.

U.S. Warships Damaged In Crashes Off Shanghai

Shanghai, May 29 (AP) — The U.S.S. Estes, flagship of the 7th Fleet, and the heavy cruiser Los Angeles were lightly damaged in a double collision off Shanghai today.

The two warships, anchored in the Whangpoo River fronting the Shanghai bund, were struck by the liberty ship Percy E. Foxworth and the LST 1040, which were wrenched from their moorings by the tide and swept downstream.

The crash smashed a catapult plane and scattered aviation gasoline on the deck of the Los Angeles. Several crewmen on the runaway ships were injured.

Army Paper's Staff in Manila Quits in Protest

G. I.s Say They Had to 'Twist, Omit, Bury' News in 'The Daily Pacifican'

MANILA, May 29 (AP).—The entire staff of "The Daily Pacifican," an Army newspaper published here, requested today transfer to other duties, charging they were required by their superiors to "twist, omit, bury and deceptively present news" so that "The Pacifican" no longer was a "free and honest" newspaper.

A statement signed by the staff said there had been increasing pressure to suppress all criticism of government officials or agencies, and that articles which tended to satirize officer-enlisted man relationships had been suppressed.

[The United Press said that twenty-two staff members, including Lieutenant George W. Cornell, officer in charge of the publication, signed the statement, which was printed in Wednesday's issue of the paper.]

The editors also charged that the "Mail Bag" column had been censored when the letters were critical of Army policy. They asserted that letters which requested that the writers' names be held in confidence had been removed from "The Pacifican" office by officers.

News stories pertaining to Philippine affairs have been stricken out by orders from "the top," they alleged, even when General Douglas MacArthur himself was discussing Philippine affairs.

Other charges were that the censorship has extended to American Press Association stories which "The Pacifican" received; that stories pertaining to demobilization were killed regularly; that cartoonists likewise were subjected to censorship, and that gags and cartoons were deleted by a colonel because he asserted they depicted officers as "puny looking."

"To aid in this mishandling of news is to participate in an injustice to every soldier who depends on this publication to bring him news," the staff statement said. "Therefore, we request that, unless the War Department regulations are enforced as regards this newspaper and unless it is freed from unwarranted censorship, we be relieved of our duties on 'The Pacifican.'"

The statement also charged that directives of the War Department relating to Army newspapers have consistently been violated by the Army Forces, Western Pacific, the command which controls this area, but Brigadier General E. J. McGaw, an assistant chief of staff of the Western Pacific Command, commented in a statement:

"Obviously such control is necessary, as 'The Pacifican' is considered and often is quoted as an official Army publication. In publishing 'The Daily Pacifican' War Department Circular 103 is our guide. The circular states in part:

". . . 'The War Department acts in a manner analogous to that of publisher of any responsible newspaper in a democracy, subject to special considerations arising from the Army's position as a government agency.'"

Supplementing the staff's statement, "The Pacifican's" managing editor, Corporal Don Lawder, of Jersey City, formerly an editor of "The Hudson County C. I. O. News," published at Jersey City, said that officers at Western Pacific headquarters were "clamping down" on editorial criticism or news tending to show Army inefficiency and that the paper was in danger of becoming "a house organ."

Their charge that requirements from superiors to "twist, omit, bury and deceptively present news" prevented the Pacifican from being a "free and honest newspaper," brought from Brig. Gen. E. J. McGaw, assistant chief of staff of the Western Pacific Command, the comment:

"Obviously, such control is necessary as the Pacifician is considered and often is quoted as an official army publication.

yesterday on the Pampangas River, about 70 miles north of Manila.

Two policemen were killed and several were wounded, an undetermined number of Hukbalahaps were killed and six USAFFE men are missing.

Col. Jose Lingad, of the USAFFE, said a group of his men were ambushed en route to Manila to attend Roxas's inauguration. Additional USAFFE men and Filipino MP's joined in the battle, which was terminated in time to permit the party to attend the inauguration.

No Hukbalahap sources were available for comment.

In another inauguration-day encounter, Jesus de los Santos, Huk leader in Bulacan province, was killed by Filipino MP's.

Recently Escaped

The police zone headquarters said Santos had recently escaped while being held on a murder charge involving the killing of an MP.

Nueva Ecija province, where both MP's and USAFFE leaders had predicted that Hukbalahap uprisings would take place yesterday, was reported to have been unusually quiet during the inauguration.

A Roxas spokesman did not elaborate on the "pressing situations" in announcing the Cabinet discussion. Several investigations, he said, may be ordered in the near future.

Harriman Calls Ingersoll a Foe Of Good Taste

Criticizes Journalist, Later Identified, at a Dinner Attended by Montgomery

LONDON, May 29 (AP).—American Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said tonight that an "American journalist"—named by another speaker as Ralph Ingersoll—had "offended every sense of good taste" in a recently published book.

Harriman made the comment in giving a toast to journalism during a Newspaper Press Fund dinner at which Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was the speaker.

Guerrillas Fight MP's 12 Hours Near Manila

Manila, May 29 (AP)—A twelve-hour battle involving 2,000 guerrillas and military police was reported today as President Roxas discussed at his first Cabinet meeting "pressing situations on which we intend to have immediate action."

Casualties Listed

Military police reported that Hukbalahaps battled USAFFE guerrilla bands and Filipino MP's

Montgomery was sharply criticized in Ingersoll's book "Top Secret."

"The people of both our countries," Harriman said, "can take care of those journalists who do not stick to the truth and who do not express opinions that are in good taste.

"There has been a recent journalist who has offended every sense of good taste, and, I am sorry to say, he is an American journalist who has recently published a book."

"His name is Mr. Ralph Napoleon Ingersoll," said Sir Alan Herbert (A. P. Herbert), author and Member of Parliament. "His rank I forget but it must be at least something like air field marshal of the fleet. And his work is called 'Top Secret' or 'Burn Before Reading'—the subtitle is my own."

Harriman did not name Ingersoll, but he did not question Sir Alan's identification of Ingersoll as the writer in question.

Ingersoll, who has resumed his duties as editor of the New York newspaper PM after military service that included duty on General Omar N. Bradley's staff, criticized Montgomery chiefly for delay in attacking and for erratic personal behavior. British newspapers have objected sharply to these criticisms, and to Ingersoll's assertion that Winston Churchill and other high British leaders delayed the invasion of France by holding out for a southern European campaign.

In his speech at the dinner Montgomery said democracy needs a free and truthful press for "providing the public with the news in the shortest possible time." He declared that "no truly democratic nation can function without a free press and an enlightened public opinion."

Comment by Ingersoll

In New York, Ingersoll, commenting on the reference to "Top Secret," said:

"If I am as bad a reporter as Sir Alan Herbert seems to suggest, I don't know where that leaves the scores of professional officers who have beaten a path to my door to tell me how accurate they found the story—and to add details and confirmation. These officers, of course, cannot make speeches at public banquets so they come and tell me—by mail, by telephone and in person.

"As to Mr. Harriman, it is an ambassador's job to say things which he thinks will please his hosts—and I note in the dispatch that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was sitting a few feet from him.

"On the question of taste, there is so little good taste in the business of killing, and I don't myself see how any honest book about war can avoid hurting some one's sensibilities. War itself is an extremely offensive institution."

Rift Develops Among Allies Over Hirohito

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—An inted-Allied dispute over Emperor Hirohito apparently was developing today following a reported Russian protest over the freedom with which he traveled about Japan during the recent election campaign.

Informed persons said the Soviet complaint, asserting that Hirohito's travels constituted "electioneering" for retention of the Japanese monarchy, was placed before the Far Eastern Commission by Nikolai V. Novikov, Russian Ambassador-designate in Washington. Members of the Commission—11-nation policy-making body for Japan—agreed to discuss the issue June 6.

The commission's press release following the meeting made no mention of Novikov's protest and Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, United States member, declined to discuss it with reporters, saying he would do so only after the commission had acted.

Diplomatic sources, who asked anonymity, said, however, that Novikov proposed the commission inquire of General Douglas MacArthur his opinion of the political effect of Hirohito's travels.

Support Foreseen

These persons predicted that the proposal probably would be supported by Australia and New Zealand, and possibly other commission members when it is taken up next week.

Novikov had previously proposed, it was said, that the commission issue Supreme Commander MacArthur a directive ordering him to forbid Hirohito to make such trips in the future.

Also at today's meeting, the commission was told by McCoy that MacArthur had turned down its request to send an officer from his command to Washington to confer with the commission on the subject of Japanese constitutional reform.

It was the latest in a series of blunt exchanges between MacArthur and the commission over the projected new Japanese constitution which the Supreme Commander has endorsed.

On April 12, the commission asked MacArthur to send a liaison officer and listed a number of matters related to the constitution on which it desired more information from Tokyo.

In today's reply, MacArthur said he agreed with the commission on the need for closer working arrangements and understandings between it and his command and would do everything he could to bring that about.

U.S. Sends Ship To Take Nazis From Spain

Washington, May 29 (AP)—The United States is challenging Spain to make good on its promised export of Nazis to Germany by sending a ship to Bilbao to remove the Germans from the country.

The State Department announced this assignment of the ship, the Marine Perch, today. It has a capacity of 947 passengers. Information in Washington is that so far the Spaniards have arranged for only 100 or 200 passengers for the ship.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department information officer, said the Spaniards had claimed in the past they could not expel the Nazis, because of lack of transportation, and that sending the ship is obviously intended to remove that argument. The Marine Perch will put in at Bilbao June 6.

German Assets

State Department officials indicate that American experts on former German property will soon be sent to Spain to help Embassy officials there negotiate for control of at least $55,000,000 in assets that had belonged to German citizens.

The United States and Britain, as joint trustees for the Allies, have already taken over $45,000,000 of German state property such as embassy and consular establishments and semi-government property such as mines and transportation concerns owned by a German state corporation.

2,205 Nazis

In announcing the assignment of the ship to transport Germans from Spain to Germany, the State Department said that there remain in the country 2,205 Nazi individuals "whose repatriation the United States Government wishes to effect as soon as possible."

The department said that the Embassy at Madrid had "made available to the Spanish Government" information on the ship's June 6 arrival time so that the United States is in effect "giving that Government one month advance notice in which to concentrate an adequate number of Germans for removal."

U.S. WILL SEEK CURB ON ARMS

Byrnes Reveals Plan For Limitation On Forces

Washington, May 29 (AP)—James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, disclosed today that the United States will throw its weight into a movement to curb the world's armaments in the interests of peace.

He told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that this country wants "to see the world freed from both the fears and economic burdens . . . of unnecessarily large armed forces."

"There has not yet been time" since the war's end to establish a "system of arms regulation," he said, but he expressed confidence this objective will be reached.

International Security Cited

"It is a purpose of our foreign policy to work for a limitation of armaments in the light of requirements for the maintenance of internal order and of international peace and security," he said.

Byrnes did not say specifically whether he favored reducing present armed might or merely limiting its buildup in the future.

He enunciated his peace-offensive policy while supporting a bill for a broad program of "military co-operation" between the United States and other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

The measure, proposed May 6 by President Truman, would authorize the Chief Executive to transfer war goods to other American countries, to train their military personnel and help them repair equipment.

Standardization The Goal

Byrnes said such legislation would not promote increased armament, because transfers of material would be limited. He said the main idea was to standardize all equipment of the Americas, permitting joint use in any future war.

"I should like to express very strongly," he said, "the opinion that it would not be in the interests of the United States to enter upon an extensive program of adding to the armaments of other countries.

"It would be in conflict with our peaceful aims to stimulate an arms race, with all the disastrous consequences which such a development might bring about."

Arms Limitation Sought By U.S., Says Byrnes

Washington, May 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes told Congress today that the United States is going to work for "limitation of arms" among the nations of the world.

Byrnes enunciated this policy in testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said details have not been worked out, but the Government is going "to work for limitation of arms."

"We desire to see the world free from the fears and burdens which unnecessarily large armed forces would impose on the peoples of the world," Byrnes declared.

Urges Pan-American Aid

He made the statement, without further elaboration, after urging congressional approval of legislation providing for a broad program of "military co-operation" with other American nations.

As he went before the committee, American officials looked to Moscow for Russian reaction to Byrnes's denial yesterday of Foreign Minister Molotov's charges against him and the United States growing out of the Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris.

Byrnes's denial raised the question: What will be its effect on Russo-American relations, already strained, and on chances for early peace in Europe?

Proposed By Truman

The "military co-operation" program, which Byrnes indorsed before the House committee, was contained in a bill proposed to Congress May 6 by President Truman. It would permit transfer of arms to the other American republics.

It also would authorize the United States to help train military and naval personnel in those countries and to help repair their equipment.

Byrnes declared that the program "would not stimulate an arms race."

He said that the other republics merely would be given adequate war goods to allow them to defend themselves in event of attack.

For Standard Equipment

The idea also is, Byrnes said, to make their equipment standard with ours, so the nations of the Western Hemisphere can work together in event of a future war.

Byrnes later released copies of his statement to the committee, and in the prepared text he used the words "regulation of arms" rather than "limitation of arms." Those present agreed, however, that in his verbal statement he used the latter phrase.

Molotov had contended Monday that, at the recent Paris meeting of Foreign Ministers, a British-American bloc waged an "offensive against the Soviet Union."

Reads From The Record

Reading from the stenographic record of international conferences at London, Moscow and Paris, Byrnes made these points:

There is no British-American "bloc" against Russia.

Generalissimo Stalin agreed at Moscow last December to support the American plan for a Big-Four treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 years.

Molotov at Paris May 16 acknowledged that Stalin had agreed to the treaty idea. (Molotov denied this Monday.)

Russia backed out of a plan to which Molotov had agreed earlier for a thorough investigation of the disarmament of the German army and the dismantling of war plants.

Looks To Session June 15

Instead of saying that Molotov was mistaken about Stalin and the 25-year treaty, Byrnes said only that he was satisfied Molotov was misquoted or that there had been a misunderstanding.

Byrnes ended his news conference by emphasizing his hope that the Big Four foreign ministers will be able to iron out their differences when they meet again in Paris June 15, and get on with the business of writing peace treaties alumnus of this great institution on the same night she becomes a graduate.

I appreciate that honor. It is a great one. And I appreciate the honest work which my daughter did to get it for me.

You know, we are in the presence tonight of a most distinguished audience, not only the distinguished audience in front of me, but I am sure there is an audience looking down upon us tonight with approval.

One-hundred and twenty-five years ago, James Monroe, President of the United States, and John Quincy Adams, Secretary of State, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, Gen. le Marquis Lafayette, the Congress—the House and Senate—the Supreme Court of the United States, witnessed the first graduating exercises of this great university, a university which was founded—so I am told by Dr. Marvin—by two good Baptists in conjunction with the President and the Secretary of State.

Those were wonderful times, also. My good friend, Hugo Black, Justice of the Supreme Court, called to my attention the other day, a statement by Henry Clay in 1833, and if you will bear with me for a minute, I will read it to you. It's most interesting.

Quotations From Clay

Mr. Clay, speaking in the Senate of the United States on the action of Andrew Jackson in the United States Bank case—Mr. Clay says, and I have two quotations from him here—this is the first one:

"By the third of March, 1837, if the progress of innovation continues, there will be scarcely a vestige remaining of the Government and its policy as they existed prior to the third of March, 1829. In a term of eight years, little more than equal to that which was required to establish our liberties, the Government will have been transformed into an

Text of Talk by Truman

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29—The text of President Truman's extemporaneous remarks at George Washington University tonight is as follows:

This is a very great and memorable day for me and my family. It is a very high honor to have a daughter who is a graduate of this wonderful institution—this great institution. It is a most unusual thing, also, for that daughter to create a situation which will make her old daddy an elective monarchy, the worst of all forms of government."

Can't you hear old Clay saying that?

"Such is the melancholy but faithful picture of the present condition of our public affairs."

Haven't you heard that right lately?

Now this other quotation from Mr. Clay:

"Many of our best citizens entertain the serious apprehension that our Union and our institutions are destined to a speedy overthrow."

You see, wonderful things happen in history. And I don't think there's anything ever been more truly said than that history repeats itself.

One of the British Prime Ministers, Lord Russell, who retired some time in the Forties, made the statement that he was exceedingly happy that he was getting out of the Premiership of Great Britain because he saw the end of the British Empire in a year or two. That was in 1848. It isn't quite dead yet—if I can believe Winston Churchill.

When Inventions Came to End

And then, along in 1845, the Commissioner of Patents of the United States went down before the Appropriations Committee of the United States Senate and made a recommendation to the Senate Committee on Appropriations—and you can see that document, if you want to look, in the Library of Congress—this gentleman's recommendation was that the Patent Office be abolished, that there was nothing more that could be patented in 1845.

Now we have just been through the greatest struggle in the history of the world, a struggle for liberty, a struggle for individual liberty. We fought for the fight of the individual. We are still fighting for the right of the individual, and we are going to continue that fight.

You graduates now have the welfare and the safety of the republic of the United States in your hands. You have before you the greatest age in the history of the world. It is yours. I think this Government of ours is the greatest form of government ever dreamed of in the history of the world, or in the brain of man.

The reason for that is that this Government is organized for the rights of the individual, and its powers are diffused. We have an executive, who is supposed to carry out the policy laid down by the Congress of the United States, and we have a court, which decides, according to the Constitution, whether that policy is in the interests of the individual.

Predicts New Emergencies

Sometimes we have difficulties—sometimes we have emergencies. We usually meet them in a way that is for the best welfare of the country. I know that you are going to see emergencies. I know that you are not going to listen to people like Henry Clay and Lord Russell, who will tell you that the end of things has come.

Now I am going to pose as a prophet right here for a moment. The end of things has not come—for this great nation, or for the world. It is only the beginning. It is only the beginning.

When the President of the United States, by one speech, can succeed in getting Claude Pepper, and Taft, and the Communist Daily Worker, and the Wall Street Journal all in accord, the country is perfectly safe.

I want to tell you again how much I appreciate and how much my family appreciates the honor wihch has come to our family tonight—both to my daughter and myself.

It is one that is highly appreciated—one of the greatest honors thta can ever come to a man in any walk of life.

Thank you very much.

War-Dead Burial Fund Proposed

Washington, May 29 (AP)—A $92,500,000 fund to help the War Department begin returning to this country the bodies of 275,000 war dead was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

It was part of a $661,520,810 deficiency supply bill sent to the House floor by the committee—$418,656,000 of the total being earmarked for expanded activities of the Veterans Administration.

In addition to the cash sum allotted to the Veterans Administration, the bill grants $441,250,000 in contract authority to complete 76 new hospitals and other buildings.

That, plus the actual cash, boosted the measure's total to above $1,000,000.

275,000 Dead Involved

The $92,500,000 for the War Department is the initial allotment toward an estimated total cost of $200,000,000 for recovering and reintering the bodies of America's war dead abroad, both military and civilian.

The estimated 275,000 dead, Army officials told the committee, will be buried in either national or private cemeteries in this country or in national or private cemeteries abroad, the decision to be made by the next of kin.

In cases where relatives request the return of bodies for private burial in this country, the War Department will pay $50 toward actual burial costs in addition to furnishing a grave marker, a flag, a military escort and a firing squad for the burial services.

Pilgrimage For Mothers

Present plans call for bodies to be brought to New York or San Francisco and transferred from those points to the cemeteries designated.

Army spokesmen estimated that most of the bodies would be returned to this country. They indicated that funds might be sought later to pay the cost of pilgrimages of mothers abroad to visit the graves of men buried overseas.

Regardless of rank, all bodies will be buried in identical caskets.

"We are operating on the theory that they are all absolutely equal," Brig. Gen. G. A. Horkan told the committee. "In other words, they were created equal and we feel they should be treated equal in death."

$356,000,000 For Insurance

General Horkan said a poll of the wishes of next of kin to determine which bodies shall be returned to this country would be undertaken within the next few months.

Of the Veterans Administration's cash allotment, $356,000,000 was set aside for payment of service life insurance awards.

The new contractual authority, permitting the administration to contract for construction work up to $441,250,000, was made necessary, the committee explained, by increasing costs of building since the original estimates for the 76 new hospitals were submitted. It increases to $772,702,814 the obligational availability for the hospital construction program.

Metal Aid Is Written In OPA Bill

Washington, May 29 (AP)—A group of senators from Western mining states wrote a $100,000,000 noncancellable subsidy for copper, lead and zinc into the price-control extension bill today.

In the only other vote taken by the Senate Banking Committee, a previously approved section lifting price controls from live stock, poultry and dairy products was amended to make certain that eggs also would come out from under price control June 30.

Senators McFarland (D., Ariz.), Murdock (D., Utah) and Millikin (R., col.) backed the copper-lead-zinc subsidy clause, which applies only to high-cost mines.

Cites Net Effect

McFarland said the net effect would be to carry on the current subsidy program without change but make it certain that the subsidies could not be canceled before June 30, 1947.

Originally, the western group had proposed writing statutory price increases for the three metals into the legislation but abandoned that effort this morning.

Meanwhile, Senator Mitchell (D., Wash.) indicated that he would move to strike the word "wages" from the Stabilization Act. He said he sees no use in attempting to control wages if the price of commodities is to be virtually unrestricted.

More Ceilings Taken Off

Washington, May 29 (AP)—Ever wonder what those "large outdoor vases with sand for disposing of cigarette butts" are called?

They're ollas, and beginning today price ceilings no longer apply to them.

The OPA provided both pieces of information, along with an announcement that it also is stripping price controls from electric curling irons, hair-straightening combs, perfume atomizers, cocktail mixers and these other items:

Metal articles sold for household decoration only; ironing board pads and covers; door mats; rubber, composition and fabric stair treads; hand looms; baby swings; baby seats and beds designed for use in automobiles, sun dials; absorbent cases for protection of fragile liquid containers during transportation, and laundry and dry cleaning identification tags.

Oh, yes—and bases for ollas.

OPA also announced today removal of price ceilings on a number of other comparatively minor commodities, mostly food items.

Items Are Listed

These include grated cheese, canned and frozen pumpkin and squash, canned broccoli, brussel sprouts and cauliflower, imported and domestic citron, canned celery and celery juice.

Frozen carrots, imported canned carrots, frozen okra, frozen peppers and tampal, artificially colored seedless grapes sold as food garnishes, pepper sauce and chilisauce made from dried Chile peppers, frozen pies, pastries and other frozen baked goods, calcium carbonate for feeding purposes, fur cleaner processed from corn oil meal and canned vegetable greens other than spinach.

B-29's To Collect Weather Information At North Pole

Washington, May 29 (AP)—Converted B-29's will soon be sent into North Polar regions on periodic weather-observation flights.

Disclosing this today, officials familiar with Army Air Forces plans said probably twelve planes had been assigned to an Alaskan base.

The operations will be carried out in the strategic military area where the American and Canadian armies co-operated this spring in testing cold-weather tactics. The polar regions lie athwart the shortest route between America and Europe.

Global Forecasts Aim

The flights from Alaska were described as part of current efforts to put weather forecasting on a global basis. Other squadrons will cover Pacific areas.

Air Forces officials acknowledged only that it is proposed to deploy the squadron to Alaska in the "near future."

Shuttle Setup

The AAF has remained silent about operations of three B-29's which were assigned in March to fly to the magnetic North Pole to obtain "technical data" for Arctic flying.

The Superfortresses will shuttle between Anchorage or Fairbanks, Alaska, and army airbases in Greenland and Iceland, as well as fly to the Pole and return.

The Air Force, official service journal of the AAF, said that for weather flights they are stripped of all armor and armament.

Routes have been organized into a pattern of zigzag legs over important weather areas not covered by shipping lanes, fixed weather ships or land stations.

Squadrons' Areas

The 53d Air Weather Squadron is already operating from Grenier Field, Manchester, N.H., and when equipped with B-29's will cover the North Atlantic areas from New Hampshire to Iceland, the Azores and Bermuda.

One flight of this squadron is to be shifted to Morrison Field, Fla., to keep watch on hurricanes.

Operating from Castle Field, Merced, Cal., the 59th Squadron is scheduled to use B-29's to cover the North Pacific weather area.

The 54th and 55th squadrons will be based in the South Pacific.

14 More GI Babies Taken Sick On U.S. Bride Ship

New York, May 29 (AP)—Fourteen more GI babies, suffering from a "mild form of diarrhea," were rushed from the brideship Santa Paula to Fort Hamilton Army Hospital today.

Lieut. Sheldon Kaften, of the port surgeon's office, issued the diagnosis of diarrhea and said the infants were taken to Port Hamilton as a "precautionary action." The Santa Paula arrived this morning.

Forty-six additional babies from various brideships were under treatment yesterday at the army hospital. Six babies died there during the past week; one died at Fulton, N.Y., one at Paris, Ill., and a ninth at Pittsburgh.

A tenth infant death, apparently from suffocation, was reported by radiogram from the transport John Ericcson, due here tomorrow.

Six adults aboard the Santa Paula were reported ill in addition to the babies.

Doctors Cleared

Eight of the babies who died had been passengers aboard the brideship Zebulon B. Vance, which arrived here May 19 from Le Havre. An army board of inquiry Tuesday night absolved the ship's medical staff from "negligence or misconduct" in the deaths.

The illness of four of the victims at Fort Hamilton was diagnosed as "summer diarrhea."

Sailings To Continue

Washington, May 29 (AP) — Despite fatal shipboard illnesses among some babies, the Army Transportation Corps said today there will be no interruption in the transfer of war brides and their babies from England to this country.

The schedule already set up will be adhered to, officers said.

South America Tour Begun By Hoover

Mexico City, May 29 (AP)—Herbert Hoover leaves here by plane today en route to Panama and South America to continue his talks with governmental officials on the world food situation.

Hoover, acting as President Truman's personal representative, already has visited more than a score of countries in an effort to determine the needs of famine areas and the volume of supplies available from surplus food-producing nations.

Major To Accompany Wife To Leprosarium

San Francisco, May 29 (AP)—The United States Public Health Service said today that Mrs. Hans Hornbostel and seven other leprosy patients would depart by train tomorrow night for the Federal leprosarium at Carville, La.

Major Hans Hornbostel, Bataan and Corregidor veteran who recently attempted to obtain permission to spend the rest of his life, if necessary, with his wife at the leprosarium, will accompany her as a special escort in a private car. Mrs. Hornbostel contracted the disease while in a Japanese prison camp.

Home Living Is VA Plan In Mental Cases

Chicago, May 29 (AP)—A plan whereby certain mentally ill veterans would be transferred from neuropsychiatric hospitals to "foster homes" in the custody of private families is being studied by the Veterans Administration.

This was related today by Col. John H. Baird, of the VA's neuropsychiatric service, during the one hundred and second meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

Baird said the VA hopes to inaugurate such a plan to speed the rehabilitation of certain men who are close to recovery "but who have no homes of their own, or whose families do not want them."

Plan Still "Formative"

Asserting that the plan "is still in the formative stage and we have turned it over to our solicitor to determine its legality," Baird continued:

"Such a program would be an extension of a system which VA has employed for many years—a 'trial visit' program under which certain neuropsychiatric patients have been allowed to go to their own homes for a trial period of about three months. Their condition is checked regularly by social workers."

Already Tried Out

Baird said the "foster-home" idea has already been employed by civilian hospitals for the mentally ill in some states, including Massachusetts and New York, and it has been "very successful."

He added:

"If the VA inaugurates such a system, the patients would go to carefully selected homes where they would be furnished board and room by private families, at the expense of the VA.

30.24-3041

"The men would still be the responsibility of the VA, and physicians and social workers would visit the homes regularly to check on the condition of the patients."

"Quiet Cases" Only

He declared that patients would be selected from service-connected psychotic cases—men who had been hospitalized for a serious mental ailment—but he added:

"Only the quiet cases would be selected—those not acutely ill and who have good contacts with reality."

Admiral Smith Heads Maritime Board

Washington, May 29 (A. P.).—President Truman today designated Vice-Admiral William Ward Smith as chairman of the Maritime Commission.

Smith, whose appointment to the commission was recently confirmed by the Senate, succeeds to the post formerly held by Emory S. Land.

Army To Release 3,000 Doctors

Washington, May 29 (AP)—The Army and Navy today revamped service requirements for medical and dental officers to release approximately 3,000 army physicians and provide the Veterans Administration with 1,500 "badly needed" doctors.

Factory To Probe Germ War Is Idle

Washington, May 29 (AP)—The Government's security curtain around germ-warfare studies was parted sufficiently today to disclose the existence of an industrial plant "somewhere in central Indiana" to investigate large-scale production of bacterial agents.

An Army Chemical Warfare spokesman said that the plant, which had been acquired two years ago in wartime, was currently on a standby basis and had "never produced anything."

The War Department at the same time asserted that there was no basis for a report published in London, which quoted unnamed British scientists as saying the American chemical-warfare service had prepared a deadly disease germ in powder form for a new weapon. The report said it was "believed to be the virus that causes infantile paralysis."

Studied Defense Measures

The Indiana plant and other installations were mentioned in January in a report to Secretary Patterson by George W. Merck, a War Department special consultant, which recounted in general terms the wartime studies of defensive measures against any possible enemy use of germ warfare.

A special projects division of the Chemical Warfare Service, the report said, developed "methods and facilities for the mass production of micro-organisms and their products" which were never used. The War Department has refused hitherto to elaborate on the Merck report.

Aside from the Indiana plant, a parent research and pilot plant center was established in April, 1943, in Maryland, and field-testing facilities were set up at the same time in Mississippi. Further field-testing facilities were established in 1944 in Utah, the report said.

Merck explained that "the problems of offense and defense were closely interlinked in all the investigations."

THE SIAMESE COMPLAINT ACCUSED FRENCH TROOPS OF CROSSING THE MEKONG RIVER ON MAY 24, 25 AND 26 AND "FORCIBLY SEIZING SIAMESE TERRITORY WHICH THEY CONTINUE TO HOLD." THE TERRITORY IN QUESTION APPARENTLY WAS PART OF THE AREA CEDED TO SIAM IN 1941 BY THE OLD FRENCH VICHYITE REGIME IN INDOCHINA.

PANYMYONG SAID THE FRENCH ATTACK "MUST BE CONSIDERED CONCERTED ACTION AGAINST SIAMESE SOVEREIGNTY AND THE PRESERVATION OF PEACE", AND ASKED THE U.N. FOR "YOUR SYMPATHY, ASSISTANCE AND COOPERATION."

THE SIAMESE CABLEGRAM SAID NO RESISTANCE HAD BEEN OFFERED TO THE FRENCH AND THAT THE INCIDENTS SERIOUSLY AFFECTED RICE-PRODUCTION FOR FAMINE-STRICKEN AREAS.

ALTHOUGH THE REPORTED ATTACKS WERE NOT PIN-POINTED IN THE SIAMESE COMPLAINT, THEY APPARENTLY WERE LOCATED MORE THAN 300 MILES NORTHEAST OF BANGKOK ALONG THE BORDER OF LAOS COLONY, ON THE MEKONG, WHERE PRESS DISPATCHES HAVE REPORTED HOSTILITIES UNDER WAY.

WASHINGTON--FIRST ADD IRANIAN. X X FURTHER COMMENT.

TEHRAN DISPATCHES ALREADY HAD QUOTED THE IRANIAN PROPAGANDA MINISTER AS SAYING ALA HAD INSTRUCTIONS NOT TO MAKE STATEMENTS TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL WITHOUT DEFINITE INSTRUCTIONS FROM THE HOME GOVERNMENT.

ALA'S ASSERTIONS OF CONTINUING SOVIET INTERFERENCE IN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE WHICH HE EMPHASIZED LAST WEEK BEFORE THE COUNCIL WERE AMPLIFIED, UNDER QUESTIONING OF THE DELEGATES, BEYOND THE STATEMENTS OF THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT.

A TEHRAN DISPATCH YESTERDAY QUOTED AN IRANIAN POLITICIAN, WHOSE IDENTITY WAS WITHHELD, AS SAYING IRAN "UNDER STRONG RUSSIAN PRESSURE" WAS PLAYING A "TWO-HANDED DIPLOMATIC GAME TO PREVENT EVERYTHING WE OWN FROM FALLING INTO SOVIET HANDS."

HE ADDED THAT "ALA'S COURSE AT THE SECURITY COUNCIL MARKS OUR ONLY HOPE FOR ESCAPE FROM A FRIGHTENING DILEMMA."

NEW YORK, MAY 29-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION WAS CONFRONTED WITH A NEW PROBLEM TODAY IN THE FORM OF A SIAMESE COMPLAINT CHARGING FRENCH TROOPS IN INDO-CHINA WITH "UNJUSTIFIED AGGRESSION."

IT WAS THE FIRST TIME THAT A NON-MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS HAD APPEALED TO THE WORLD PEACE KEEPING AGENCY, AND THE COMPLAINT THUS PRESENTED THE ORGANIZATION WITH A QUESTION ON PROCEDURE. THE ISSUE WAS GIVEN AN ODD TWIST BY THE FACT THAT SIAM IS A FORMER ENEMY NATION AS WELL AS A NON-MEMBER, WHILE FRANCE IS NOT ONLY A MEMBER BUT WAS AN ALLY IN THE WAR AGAINST THE AXIS.

SIAM'S COMPLAINT, MADE PUBLIC LATE LAST NIGHT, WAS RECEIVED IN THE FORM OF A CABLEGRAM ADDRESSED TO U.N. SECRETARY GENERAL TRYGVE LIE BY PRIDE PANYMYONG, PRESIDENT OF THE SIAMESE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

LIE DID NOT COMMENT ON THE COMPLAINT OR THE POSSIBLE PROCEDURE, BUT THE SECRETARY-GENERAL HAS THE AUTHORITY TO CALL THE SECURITY COUNCIL'S ATTENTION TO ANY SITUATION WHICH APPEARS TO MERIT ACTION TO PRESERVE PEACE.

DISPATCHES FROM LONDON YESTERDAY QUOTED A BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN AS SAYING THAT BRITAIN WOULD SUPPORT ANY SIAMESE MOVE TO BRING BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL HER CURRENT BORDER DISPUTE WITH INDOCHINA.

A SMALL PART OF LAOS AND 25,000 SQUARE KILOMETERS OF THE KINGDOM OF CAMBODIA--BOTH IN THE FRENCH INDO-CHINA UNION--WERE SIGNED AWAY TO SIAM IN 1941 BY THE VICHYITE COLONIAL REGIME OF ADMIRAL JEAN DECOUX.

THE POST-WAR FRENCH COLONIAL REGIME OF HIGH COMMISSIONER ADMIRAL GEORGES THIERRY D'ARGENLIEU IN SAIGON HAS NEGOTIATED UNSUCCESSFULLY WITH THE SIAMESE SINCE LAST AUTUMN FOR THE RETURN OF THE PARTS OF CAMBODIA AND LAOS WHICH VICHY GAVE AWAY AS A SOP TO THE JAPANESE WITH WHOM SIAM THEN WAS ALLIED. SIAM HAS CONTENDED THE TERRITORY WAS RIGHTFULLY HERES, -- A POSITION COMPLICATED BY THE FACT THE AREA HAS CHANGED HANDS MANY TIMES OVER THE YEARS.

IN HIS MESSAGE TO LIE, PANYMYONG COMPLAINED THAT "THE DISLOCATION AND THE DISTURBANCE OF MY PEOPLE, FOR WHICH FRENCH AGGRESSION IS SOLELY RESPONSIBLE, COMPROMISES IN THE MOST SERIOUS MANNER THE EFFORTS OF MY COUNTRY TO ASSIST IN FEEDING THE FAMINE-STRICKEN AREA." UNDER THE TERMS OF PEACE WITH BRITAIN, SIAM MUST PAY 1,500,000 TONS OF RICE IN REPARATIONS.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL IS NOW IN INDEFINITE RECESS AWAITING FURTHER REPORTS ON THE SOVIET-IRANIAN CASE. IF THEY ARE NOT FORTHCOMING OVER THE WEEKEND, THE COUNCIL IS EXPECTED TO ASSEMBLE EARLY NEXT

MAY 31 1946

WEEK FOR A POSSIBLE FINAL DISPOSAL OF THE CASE.

THE U.N. SUBCOMMITTEE INQUIRY INTO SPAIN NEARED ITS DEADLINE TODAY WITHOUT APPARENT PROSPECT OF HEARING DIRECTLY FROM THE FRANCO REGIME.

IN ORDER TO ASSIMILATE ALL ITS DATA ON SPAIN BY FRIDAY, AS ORDERED BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL APRIL 29, THE SUBCOMMITTEE SAID IT WOULD RECEIVE VOLUNTEERED INFORMATION NOT LATER THAN TOMORROW.

AUSTRALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER HERBERT V. EVATT, CHAIRMAN, SAID THE SUBCOMMITTEE HAD NOT BEEN APPROACHED BY THE MADRID REGIME. HE REITERATED THE WIDE-OPEN INVITATION TO ALL [illegible] TO OFFER EVIDENCE.

MAY 30 1946

CHAIRMAN EVATT SAID HE EXPECTED THE COUNCIL WOULD DISCUSS THE SUBCOMMITTEE REPORT LATE NEXT WEEK, PROBABLY THURSDAY. HE ADDED THERE WOULD BE NO AGREEMENT UNTIL THIS FRIDAY AS TO WHETHER THE REPORT WOULD BE PRESENTED WITH OR WITHOUT RECOMMENDATION.

"IF THERE IS ANY DISSENT IN THE MAJORITY REPORT -- IF THERE IS A MAJORITY REPORT -- IT WILL BE THERE FOR ALL THE WORLD TO SEE," DR. EVATT SAID. HE WILL SIT AS A COUNCIL MEMBER WHEN THE REPORT IS HANDED UP AND WILL REMAIN FOR THE U.N. ATOMIC HEARINGS IN JUNE BEFORE RETURNING TO AUSTRALIA.

NEW YORK, MAY 29-(AP)-ANDREI GROMYKO, RUSSIAN DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, SAID TONIGHT THAT "NOT EVERYTHING IS WELL WITHIN" THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, AND THAT "THE ATTEMPTS TO USE THE ORGANIZATION AS A TOOL IN THE HANDS OF ONE COUNTRY OR A SMALL GROUP OF COUNTRIES CAN LEAD TO FAR REACHING, UNDESIRABLE, NEGATIVE CONSEQUENCES."

HE SAID IF WHAT HE TERMED THE POLICY OF DOMINATION IS NOT ABANDONED IT MAY CAUSE "SERIOUS AND POSSIBLY IRREPARABLE HARM" TO UN AND "TO THE WHOLE CAUSE OF MAINTAINING PEACE AND SECURITY."

GROMYKO ADDRESSED A RALLY IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF AMERICAN-SOVIET FRIENDSHIP, IN HONOR OF THREE VISITING SOVIET WRITERS: ILYA OHRENBURG, KONSTANTIN SIMONOV AND MAJOR GENERAL MIKHAIL GALAKTIONOV.

THE SOVIET UN DELEGATE ALSO SAID HE NOTED SYMPTOMS IN UN OF "REVERSION TO THE OLD METHODS OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS WHICH PROVED A FAILURE" AND SAID "ADOPTION OF SUCH METHODS CAN HARDLY FOSTER FRIENDLY RELATIONS BETWEEN THE MEMBER GOVERNMENTS OF THE ORGANIZATION."

HE SAID RENEWAL OF "OLD DISCREDITED METHODS" IN THE ACTIVITIES OF THE U.N. "IS FRAUGHT WITH DANGER NOT ONLY IN THE SENSE THAT THESE ACTIVITIES MAY DISAPPOINT THE HOPES OF THE PEACE-LOVING NATIONS AND CONVERT THE ORGANIZATION INTO A TOOL OF ONE COUNTRY OR SMALL GROUP OF COUNTRIES, BUT ALSO IN THE SENSE OF HOLDING A THREAT TO THE EXISTENCE OF THE ORGANIZATION ITSELF."

GROMYKO SAID THAT SUCCESSFUL SOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM OF SECURING ENDURING PEACE "IS IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT INCESSANT STRUGGLE AGAINST THE VOCIFEROUS AS WELL AS THE DISSEMBLING WAR MONGERS SEEKING A NEW WAR, PEOPLE WHO BRING DISCORD INTO THE MIDST OF THE UNITED NATIONS, SOWING UNCERTAINTY AS TO THE FUTURE."

NEW YORK, MAY 30-(AP)-ANDREI A. GROMYKO, SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE ON THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, SAID LAST NIGHT THAT THERE IS "A TENDENCY ON THE PART OF CERTAIN COUNTRIES TO PLAY A DOMINATING PART" IN THE U.N. "TO THE DETRIMENT OF THE CAUSE OF PEACE AND SECURITY."

HE APPARENTLY REFERRED TO THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN ALTHOUGH NO NATION WAS NAMED.

GROMYKO DECLARED THIS "MAY CAUSE SERIOUS AND IRREPARABLE HARM TO ALL THE ACTIVITIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS," AND ADDED:

"IT MAY UNDERMINE SERIOUSLY THE AUTHORITY AND PRESTIGE OF THE ORGANS OF THE UNITED NATIONS, AND FIRST OF ALL SUCH AN ORGAN AS THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHICH IS CALLED UPON TO GUARD THE PEACE."

HIS REMARKS WERE MADE AT A RALLY IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF AMERICAN-SOVIET FRIENDSHIP IN HONOR OF SOVIET WRITERS ILYA EHRENBURG, KONSTANTIN SIMONOV AND MAJ. GEN. MIKHAIL GALAKTIONOV, WHO ARE VISITING AMERICA.

DECLARING THAT "NOT EVERYTHING IS WELL WITHIN" THE U.N., GROMYKO SAID:

"ONE CAN PERCEIVE IN THE ACTIVITIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS SYMPTOMS OF REVERSION TO THE OLD METHODS OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WHICH PROVED A FAILURE."

"THE REVIVAL OF THE OLD DISCREDITED METHODS IN THE ACTIVITIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS," HE CONTINUED, "IS FRAUGHT WITH DANGER, NOT ONLY IN THE SENSE THAT THESE ATTITUDES MAY DISAPPOINT THE HOPES OF THE [illegible]-LOVING NATIONS, AND CONVERT THE ORGANIZATION INTO THE TOOL OF [illegible] COUNTRY, BUT ALSO IN THE SENSE OF HOLDING A THREAT TO THE EXISTENCE OF THE ORGANIZATION ITSELF."

NIGHT LEAD LOAN (270)

BY ROBERT C.WILSON

MAY 30 1946

PARIS, MAY 29-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES LOAN TO FRANCE WAS HAILED TODAY BY PRESIDENT FELIX GOUIN AS SAVING FRANCE FROM "NEAR FAMINE, ECONOMIC ASPHYXIATION, AND DISORDERLY INFLATION."

ECONOMICALLY, GOUIN SAID, THE LOAN WOULD ENABLE FRANCE TO IMPLEMENT A FOUR-YEAR PLAN FOR MODERNIZING ITS WAR-RAVAGED INDUSTRIES AND AGRICULTURE.

GOUIN COMMENTED ON THE LOAN AT HIS FIRST NEWS CONFERENCE SINCE HE BECAME PRESIDENT. THE WASHINGTON AGREEMENT CALLING FOR A LOAN OF $1,370,000,000 IN CASH AND CREDITS WAS ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT.

POLITICAL OBSERVERS INTERPRETED THE LOAN AS A LAST-MINUTE BOOSTER FOR THE SOCIALISTS IN THEIR ASSEMBLY CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS WHICH WILL BE DECIDED BY THE ELECTORATE SUNDAY.

THE PARIS PRESS GENERALLY BROUGHT OUT LARGE TYPE TO ANNOUNCE THE SUCCESS OF THE MISSION TO WASHINGTON OF LOEN BLUM, 72-YEAR-OLD SOCIALIST LEADER AND PRINCIPAL FRENCH NEGOTIATOR.

HOWEVER, SOME OBSERVERS POINTED OUT THAT THE CREDITS OF $650,000,-

000 FELL FAR SHORT OF FRANCE'S ACTUAL NEEDS, ONCE ESTIMATED BY [illegible] AS $2,500,000,000.

THESE SOURCES SAID BLUM'S SUCCESS WAS "A LIMITED ONE."

GOUIN SAID "NO POLITICAL CONDITIONS WERE IMPOSED ON FRANCE" AS A REQUIREMENT FOR THE LOAN; HE SAID THE AGREEMENT WAS REACHED "IN FULL FREEDOM."

MAY 30 1946

THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT FRANCE APPLIED TODAY FOR $300,000,000 CREDITS FROM THE NEW INTERNATIONAL RECONSTRUCTION BANK TO SUPPLEMENT THE U.S. LOAN.

HE SAID THESE FUNDS WOULD BE USED TO RECONSTRUCT AND MODERNIZE FRENCH INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE AND TO FACILITATE THE REINTEGRATION OF FRANCE INTO WORLD COMMERCE.

GOUIN EMPHASIZED THE ROLE OF HIGHER COAL IMPORTS IN FRENCH REHABILITATION. HE ASSERTED GERMANY'S COAL RESOURCES MUST BE CONSIDERED AS THE "COMMON PROPERTY" OF NATIONS DEVASTATED BY NAZI AGGRESSION. THESE COUNTRIES SHOULD BE SUPPLIED FIRST BEFORE GERMANY, HE ADDED.

LONDON, MAY 29-(AP)-A FOUR AND A HALF YEAR EPOCH OF YANKEE STORE-KEEPING AND OPEN-HANDEDNESS WHICH RAISED AMERICAN GOODS TO AN UNPRECEDENTED POPULARITY AMONG BRITONS ENDED TONIGHT WITH THE CLOSING OF ALL BUT ONE OF THE U.S. ARMY POST EXCHANGES IN ENGLAND.

THE LONE SURVIVOR OF THE NETWORK THAT ONCE NUMBERED BETWEEN 700 AND 800 REMAINED AT SOUTHAMPTON, SERVING SOME 600 TROOPS OF THE 14TH MAJOR PORT COMMAND.

IN THE FIVE MONTHS BEFORE D-DAY, THE EXCHANGES IN ENGLAND DID $4,000,000 OF BUSINESS MONTHLY.

THE FEWER THAN 40 MEN NOW STATIONED IN LONDON WILL BE AUTHORIZED TO DRAW RATIONS FROM THE NAVY SHIP STORE. ALL TRANSIENTS MUST CARRY THEIR OWN OR GO WITHOUT.

LONDON, MAY 29-(AP)-THE DAILY EXPRESS SAID TODAY THAT A NEW "GERM WEAPON" REPORTED DEVELOPED IN THE UNITED STATES WAS AN INFANTILE PARALYSIS VIRUS SO DEADLY THAT ONE BILLIONTH OF AN OUNCE WOULD INFECT A PERSON.

THE NEWSPAPER QUOTED "BRITISH SCIENTISTS IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH THE U.S.CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE" AS SAYING THE VIRUS HAD BEEN DEVELOPED IN POWDERED FORM BY BACTERIOLOGISTS AT A CAMP IN MARYLAND AND WAS IN MASS PRODUCTION SOMEWHERE IN INDIANA.

(IN WASHINGTON AN ARMY CHEMICAL WARFARE SPOKESMAN SAID THE DAILY EXPRESS' STORY "ISN'T TRUE." OBVIOUSLY, THE SPOKESMAN STATED, IF A VIRUS HAD BEEN ISOLATED IT WOULD BE USED AS THE BASIS FOR A CURE. HE ADDED THAT A PLANT IN INDIANA, WHICH HE DECLINED TO IDENTIFY FURTHER, WAS ON A STAND-BY BASIS AND HAS NOT PRODUCED ANYTHING.)

Frankfurt, Germany, May 29-(AP)-A blonde 17-year old German girl and 13 young suspected members of the subversive "Edelweiss pirates" were among sentenced to prison terms today in an army drive against underground movements.

An American court warned the youths, aged 18 to 20, said U.S. agents knew the organization's "habits and hideouts" and that it would be smashed by "law and order that has come to Germany to stay." The group was sentence to terms varying from three to 18 months.

DACHAU, GERMANY, MAY 29-(AP)-A GERMAN TANK COMMANDER TOLD A U.S. MILITARY COURT TODAY THAT HE FRAUDULENTLY RECEIVED THE RITTERKREUZ AWARD, GERMANY'S HIGHEST MILITARY DECORATION, FOR HIS PART IN MURDERING AN AMERICAN FLIER.

GEORGE PREUSS, 25, FORMER COMPANY COMMANDER IN THE SECOND SS PANZER REGIMENT, TESTIFIED IN THE TRIAL OF 74 GERMANS FOR MURDER OF UNARMED AMERICAN PRISONERS OF WAR AT MALMEDY DURING THE BATTLE OF THE ARDENNE BULGE.

HE SAID HE STOLE THE FLIER'S WEDDING RING AND FLYING JACKET, SAYING AT THE TIME: "I'LL NEED THEM WHEN I GET MARRIED."

PREUSS SAID HIS TANK CREW FOUND THE AMERICAN IN A BELGIAN FOREST DEC.17, 1944.

"THE AMERICAN WAS UNARMED AND ABOUT 24 YEARS OLD," HE TESTIFIED.

PREUSS SAID AT NIGHTFALL A GERMAN SERGEANT ASKED HIM WHAT TO DO WITH THE AMERICAN AND THAT HE REPLIED: "WE WILL JUST BUMP HIM OFF."

THE WITNESS SAID THE SERGEANT AND OTHER MEMBERS OF HIS TANK CREW JOINED HIM A FEW MINUTES LATER AND THE SERGEANT REPORTED HE HAD KILLED THE AMERICAN AS HE LAY UNSUSPECTINGLY ON A BLANKET. THE NEXT DAY, PREUSS SAID HE REPORTED THE INCIDENT TO THE BATTALION COMMANDER, WHO TOLD HIM HE WOULD CITEHIM FOR GALLANTRY IN DEFENDING HIMSELF AGAINST ATTACK BY THE FLIER.

PREUSS WAS KNOWN TO HIS MENAS "GOODY, GOODY," BECAUSE HE MADE THAT REMARK EVERY TIME ONE OF HIS MEN WAS KILLED, ADDING:

"ANOTHER WOMAN FOR MU."

MADRID, MAY 29-(AP)-TWO OF SIX FOREIGN MILITARY ATTACHES WHO VISITED THE PYRENEES FRONTIER THE WEEK OF MAY 13 AGREED TODAY THAT SPAIN HAS APPROXIMATELY 150,000 TROOPS IN THAT AREA, ALL OF THEM DISPOSED DEFENSIVELY, AND THAT TOTAL SPANISH ARMY STRENGTH WAS ABOUT A HALF MILLION MEN.

MAY 31 1946

MILITARY ATTACHES OF THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN, CHILE, ARGENTINA, FRANCE AND ITALY MADE THE WEEK'S TRIP FROM THE BAY OF BISCAY TO THE MEDITERRANEAN IN A MOTOR CARAVAN ESCORTED BY SPANISH STAFF OFFICERS.

THE TWO ATTACHES, WHO ASKED THAT THEIR NATIONALITY BE UNSPECIFIED, ALSO AGREED THAT THE SPANISH ARMY HAD BETWEEN 500,000 AND 550,000 MEN, INCLUDING 140,000 TWENTY-ONE-YEAR-OLDS INDUCTED IN APRIL AND NOW TRAINING.

THEY ESTIMATED THE ARMY INCLUDES 280,000 TWENTY-TWO AND TWENTY-THREE-YEAR-OLDS, 70,000 OFFICERS AND PERMANENT CADRES AND 20,000 VAOLUNTEERS.

THE ATTACHES SAID FORCES NEAR THE FRONTIER WERE DISPOSED TO PREVENT INFILTRATIONS OF SMALL GROUPS FROM FRANCE. FRONTIER POSTS, THEY SAID, ARE WIDELY SPACED WITH FREQUENT PATROLS BETWEEN BUT THAT INFILTRATIONS WERE IMPOSSIBLE TO STOP DUE TO THE MOUNTAINOUS WOODED TERRAIN.

ONE ATTACHE ESTIMATED 40 PER CENT OF THE TROOPS NEAREST TO THE FRONTIER ARE INFANTRY AND ADDED THEY APPARENTLY HAVE STRICT ORDERS TO AVOID INCIDENTS, EVEN TO LIMITING TARGET PRACTICE TO AREAS AS FAR AS POSSIBLE FROM THE BORDER.

HE SAID SPANISH OFFICERS ADMITTED THEIR FORTIFICATIONS WERE IMPROVED SINCE THE SPANISH MAQUIS INVASION IN OCTOBER, 1944.

London, May 29-(AP)-The Moscow radio asserted tonight that the United States was attempting to establish a global network of bases to further "American domination of the world."

MINISTER

The commentator quoted Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov's recent statement, DENIED refused last night by Secretary of State Byrnes, that American circles had formed a bloc with their British friends to establish such bases.

"These circles make no secret of their plans of territorial aggrandizement at the expense of other countries and to the detriment of other countries," the Moscow speaker said.

moscow, may 29--(ap)--a tass dispatch in pravda said today in copenhagen that the arrival of an american military delegation from greenland had created the general opinion that negotiations would be forthcoming on american bases in greenland.

MAY 30 1946

the dispatch quoted the newspaper "land og folk" (a danish communist publication) as saying that the governor of greenland had stated the americans did not intend to leave their greenland bases.

another newspaper editor was quoted as saying that the american fleet already had maneuvered west of greenland and intended similar maneuvers northeast of that island and that therefore it was understandable why varied rumors were expressed regarding the u.s. military delegation's arrival in copenhagen.

30.24-3047

MOSCOW, MAY 29-(AP)-A TASS DISPATCH REPORTING ARRIVAL OF A U.S. MILITARY DELEGATION IN COPENHAGEN WAS CARRIED BY THE NEWSPAPER PRAVDA TODAY UNDER THE HEADLINE, "AMERICANS ENDEAVORING TO MAINTAIN MILITARY BASE IN GREENLAND."

ANOTHER TASS DISPATCH SAID BRITISH SOLDIERS STILL WERE REMAINING IN SYRIA DRESSED IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES.

TASS REPORTED FROM COPENHAGEN THAT ARRIVAL OF THE DELEGATION HAD CREATED THE GENERAL OPINION THAT NEGOTIATIONS WOULD BE FORTHCOMING ON U.S. BASES IN GREENLAND.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS YESTERDAY SAID NEGOTIATIONS WERE UNDER WAY WITH DENMARK FOR CONTINUED OPERATION OF RADAR AND WEATHER STATIONS IN GREENLAND AND THE FAROE ISLANDS. THEY SAID THE STATIONS WERE CONSIDERED ESSENTIAL AND THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD OFFERED TO TRAIN DANISH PERSONNEL TO TAKE OVER THE OPERATIONS WHEN U.S. FORCES WITHDREW.)

QUOTING THE NEWSPAPER "LAND OF FOLK," (A DANISH COMMUNIST PUBLICATION) TASS SAID THE GOVERNOR OF GREENLAND HAD DECLARED THAT THE AMERICANS DID NOT INTEND TO LEAVE THEIR GREENLAND BASES.

TASS QUOTED ANOTHER NEWSPAPER AS SAYING THAT THE U.S. FLEET HAD MANEUVERED WEST OF GREENLAND AND PLANNED SIMILAR MANEUVERS TO THE NORTHEAST, AND THAT IT THEREFORE WAS UNDERSTANDABLE WHY THERE WERE VARIOUS RUMORS OVER THE COMING OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION.

THE GREENLAND DISPATCH, UNDER A TWO-COLUMN HEADLINE, AND A SPEECH OF PREMIER JOSE GIRAL OF THE EXILED SPANISH REPUBLICAN REGIME AT A MEETING OF THE UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION ON SPAIN, WERE THE TWO BIGGE: SINGLE FOREIGN PAGE STORIES IN PRAVDA TODAY ASIDE FROM THE REGULAR NUERNBERG STORIES.

IN A DISPATCH FROM BEYROUTH, TASS QUOTED A DAMASCUS NEWSPAPER AS SAYING THAT MANY BRITISH SOLDIERS RECLOTHED IN CIVILIAN DRESS WERE LIVING IN SYRIA SINCE THE FORMALLY-ANNOUNCED EVACUATION OF BRITISH FORCES FROM THAT COUNTRY. IT SAID THESE SOLDIERS MENTIONED DID NOT INCLUDE DEMOBILIZED OFFICERS AND MEN WHO HAD TURNED TO COMMERCE AND WERE REPRESENTING VARIOUS TRADING FIRMS IN SYRIA.

CAIRO, MAY 29-(AP)-- REPRESENTATIVES OF SEVEN ARAB STATES,-- KINGS, PRESIDENTS AND PRINCES -- MET HERE TODAY TO ORGANIZE A UNITED FRONT AGAINST JEWISH IMMIGRATION TO PALESTINE.

THE IMMEDIATE CONCERN OF THE CONFERENCE, SCHEDULED TO CONTINUE FOR TWO DAYS, WAS THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S REPORT ON PALESTINE, WHICH RECOMMENDED THE ADMISSION OF 100,000
ADDITIONAL JEWS TO THE COUNTRY THIS YEAR.

ONE HIGH ARAB OFFICIAL SAID THE REPORT HAD HAD THE EFFECT OF SERIOUSLY LOWERING AMERICAN PRESTIGE IN THE MIDDLE EAST.

"AMERICAN PRESTIGE WAS EXTREMELY HIGH IN THE MIDDLE EAST BEFORE THE PALESTINE REPORT, BUT NOW MUCH OF THAT PRESTIGE IS GONE," SAID THIS SPOKESMAN, ADVISER TO ONE OF THE ARAB RULERS. "MANY OFFICIALS I HAVE TALKED TO FEEL BRITAIN
HAS MANEUVERED THE UNITED STATES INTO A POSITION OF DOING ITS UN-PLEASANT WORK ON THE QUESTION."

THE CONFERENCE WAS CONVENED AT THE INVITATION OF KING
FAROUK OF EGYPT. THOSE IN ATTENDANCE WERE KING ABDULLAH OF TRANSJORDAN;
AMIR SAUD, CROWN PRINCE OF SAUDI ARABIA; AMIR ABDULLAH, CROWN PRINCE AND REGENT OF IRAQ; SHEIK BECHARA KHOURY, PRESIDENT OF LEBANON; AL
SAYED SHUKRI AL KUWATLY, PRESIDENT OF SYRIA, AND SIEF EL ISLAM (SWORD OF ISLAM), REPRESENTING YEMEN.

(A JERUSALEM DISPATCH SAID THAT E.KAPLAN, TREASURER OF THE JEWISH AGENCY, HAD ANNOUNCED HIS INTENTION OF LEAVING FOR THE UNITED STATES SHORTLY TO NEGOTIATE LOANS FROM AMERICAN BANKS TO COVER PART OF THE COST OF THE PROPOSED EMIGRATION OF 100,000 JEWS FROM EUROPE TO PALESTINE. HE ESTIMATED THE COST OF THE EMIGRATION WOULD BE ABOUT $120,000,000.

(IN ENGLAND, THE ARCHBISHOP OF YORK , IN A LEAFLET REPORTING ON HIS VISIT TO THE MIDDLE EAST LAST MARCH, DESCRIBED PALESTINE AS
"AN ARMED CAMP" AND SAID BRITAIN "WOULD WELCOME HELP FROM THE UNITED STATES IN THE TASK OF RESTORING ORDER."

(THE ARCHBISHOP SAID THAT WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH TROOPS FROM PALESTINE AT THE PRESENT TIME"WOULD LEAD TO IMMEDIATE AND PROLONGED BLOODSHED." HE ADDED THAT "NO PLEDGE WAS EVER GIVEN BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT THAT PALESTINE WOULD BE HANDED OVER TO THE JEWS" AND DECLARED THAT "CHRISTENDOM WOULD BE DEEPLY STIRRED IF ITS SACRED PLACES WERE TRANSFERRED EITHER TO JEWS OR TO ARABS.")

MONTREAL, MAY 29-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT SUMMONED IGOR GOUZENKO TO COURT TODAY TO SUPPORT A PROSECUTION CHARGE THAT FRED ROSE, ONLY COMMUNIST MEMBER OF CANADA'S PARLIAMENT, WAS THE CONTACT MAN FOR A RUSSIAN SPY RING IN CANADA.

GOUZENKO, FORMER CODE CLERK IN THE SOVIET EMBASSY IN OTTAWA, TOLD THE STORY WHICH LED TO A GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION AND SUBSEQUENT CHARGES AGAINST A SCORE OF PERSONS FOR ALLEGED PARTICIPATION IN A WARTIME ESPIONAGE NETWORK IN CANADA.

ROSE, A 38-YEAR-OLD FORMER ELECTRICIAN, SAT APPARENTLY UNMOVED IN THE PRISONER'S BOX YESTERDAY AS F. PHILLIPE BRAIS, SPECIAL CROWN PROSECUTOR, TOLD THE JURY THAT ROSE WAS A KEY FIGURE IN THE SPY RING.

"THROUGH THE WEB OF THE SPY MOVEMENT, THE FIGURE OF THE ACCUSED WILL BE SEEN WEAVING IN AND OUT OF THE WHOLE PICTURE," BRAIS TOLD THE JURORS.

HE SAID THE PROSECUTION WOULD SHOW THAT ROSE WAS THE MAN THROUGH WHOM RUSSIAN AGENTS FIRST WORKED TO FIND OTHERS WILLING TO UNDERTAKE ESPIONAGE ON BEHALF OF THE SOVIET UNION "FOR PURPOSES PREJUDICIAL TO THE SAFETY AND INTERESTS OF CANADA."

FOUR PROSECUTION WITNESSES TESTIFIED YESTERDAY.

MONTREAL, MAY 29-(AP)-A DEFENSE MOTION TO BAR AS EVIDENCE DOCUMENTS STOLEN FROM THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY IN OTTAWA WAS DISMISSED TODAY AT THE TRIAL OF FRED ROSE, COMMUNIST MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY IN THE SOVIET ESPIONAGE CASE.

CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL JOSEPH COHEN PLEADED THAT THE DOCUMENTS WERE "INVIOLABLE" UNDER INTERNATIONAL LAW OF DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY AND ASSERTED THAT AS A MATTER OF UPHOLDING PUBLIC LAW THEY SHOULD NOT BE USED AGAINST ROSE.

JUSTICE WILFRID LAZURE, IN DISMISSING THE MOTION, RULED THAT THE PRIVILEGE OF DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY SHOULD BE INVOKED ONLY BY AN AMBASSADOR OR HIS REPRESENTATIVE AND THAT IT SHOULD BE INVOKED ONLY WHEN THE PERSON ON TRIAL IS AN ALIEN AND A CITIZEN OF THE COUNTRY AFFECTED.

MONTREAL, MAY 29-(AP)-THE COURT TRYING FRED ROSE, COMMUNIST MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY IN THE SOVIET ESPIONAGE CASE, WAS ASKED BY DEFENSE COUNSEL TODAY TO RULE INADMISSABLE DOCUMENTS STOLEN FROM THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY IN MOSCOW. THE DOCUMENTS PROVIDE THE BACKBONE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S CASE.

MAY 31 1945

CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL JOSEPH COHEN PLEADED THAT THE DOCUMENTS WERE "INVIOLABLE" UNDER INTERNATIONAL LAW OF DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY. HE ASSERTED THAT JUDGE WILFRID LAZURE SHOULD, AS A MATTER OF UPHOLDING PUBLIC LAW, REFUSE TO PERMIT THE DOCUMENTS TO BE USED AGAINST ROSE.

THE JUDGE SUGGESTED THAT IN THE PRESENT CASE IT WAS A CANADIAN CITIZEN ON TRIAL AND NOT RUSSIAN SUBJECTS WHOSE CASE MIGHT BE AF-

30.24 - 3051

FECTED BY DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY. COHEN REPLIED THAT IT WAS A MATTER OF PUBLIC LAW WHICH ANYONE COULD RAISE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

JUSTICE LAZURE, WHO DID NOT RULE IMMEDIATELY, OBSERVED THAT DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY WAS A PRIVILEGE GIVEN TO A FOREIGN POWER, THAT THE FOREIGN POWER SHOULD CLAIM THE IMMUNITY AND THAT AN ORDINARY CITIZEN COULD NOT CLAIM PROTECTION UNDER IT.

MAY 30 1946

COHEN REPLIED THAT IT WAS THE DUTY OF THE COURT TO PROTECT THAT PRIVILEGE AND ASSERTED THAT "NO ONE HAS TO CLAIM IT."

THE DOCUMENTS IN QUESTION WERE STOLEN FROM THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY IN OTTAWA BY IGOR GOUZENKO, 27-YEAR-OLD FORMER CODE CLERK WHO FLED THE EMBASSY LAST SEPTEMBER AND PLACED HIMSELF AND THE PAPERS AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE GOVERNMENT.

GOUZENKO AND THE DOCUMENTS PROVIDED THE BASIC FRAMEWORK UPON WHICH A TWO-MAN ROYAL COMMISSION CHARGED 14 PERSONS WITH CONSPIRACY AND VIOLATIONS OF THE OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT IN COOPERATING WITH A MOSCOW-DIRECTED ESPIONAGE "NETWORK" IN CANADA.

GOUZENKO, ON THE WITNESS STAND BRIEFLY THIS MORNING, GAVE TESTIMONY CONFINED TO A REPETITION OF THAT HE PRESENTED AT ROSE'S PRELIMINARY HEARING HERE IN MARCH AND ALSO LATER IN OTTAWA IN THE CASES OF OTHERS ACCUSED.

COHEN HAD JUST FINISHED HIS PLEA AT THE LUNCHEON RECESS. THE PROSECUTION WAS PREPARED TO REPLY IN THE AFTERNOON.

(ADVANCE) CHICAGO, MAY 29-(AP)-DR. ALBERT EINSTEIN SAID TONIGHT THAT "AN AGREEMENT ON A GRAND SCALE" WITH RUSSIA WAS NECESSARY FOR FUTURE WORLD PEACE BUT THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD BEEN TRAVELING IN THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION SINCE THE END OF THE WAR.

IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR BROADCAST FROM HIS HOME IN PRINCETON, N.J., TO A RALLY SPONSORED BY STUDENTS FOR FEDERAL WORLD GOVERNMENT, THE SCIENTIST SAID THE ONLY HOPE OF WORLD PROTECTION AGAINST FUTURE DESTRUCTION "LIES IN THE SECURING OF PEACE IN A SUPER-NATIONAL WAY."

"IT IS NO EXAGGERATION TO SAY THAT THE SOLUTION OF THE REAL PROBLEM IS LINKED SOLELY TO AN AGREEMENT ON A GRAND SCALE BETWEEN THIS COUNTRY AND RUSSIA, FOR IF SUCH AN AGREEMENT COULD BE ACHIEVED THEN THESE TWO POWERS ALONE WOULD BE ABLE TO CAUSE OTHER NATIONS TO GIVE UP THEIR SOVEREIGNTY TO THE DEGREE NECESSARY FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF MILITARY SECURITY FOR ALL."

THE UNITED STATES, HE CONTENDED, NOT ONLY HAD FAILED TO MAKE A "SERIOUS ATTEMPT" TO REACH AN AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA, BUT "THE OPPOSITE HAS HAPPENED."

Berlin, May 29--(ap)--An informed American source said today that objections by the Russians blocked a United States proposal for a quadripartite commission to enter the four occupation zones of Germany to inspect the progress of German disarmament.

Declaring the Russians objected to letting the other Allied powers inspect the factories in the Soviet zone, the informant said the blocking of the American proposal in the Allied Control Authority's coordinating committee yesterday "shows that the iron curtain isn't down yet."

He said the Russians—who repeatedly have accused the British of maintaining undisbanded former German Army units in the British zone—balked on that part of the American proposal which called for an inspection of the economic phases of [redacted] disarmament as well as military phases.

"Apparently they don't want us to see their factories and what goes on in them," [redacted] the informant said, "and this after we've let their representatives and the representatives of pretty nearly all our European Allied nations get into the [redacted] factories in our zone on inspection tours to evaluate and claim reparations."

U.N. FINISHES GATHERING OF SPANISH DATA

Mass Of Late Evidence May Delay Report By Subcommittee

New York, May 30 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigating Franco Spain closed its books on further evidence tonight and tackled a huge pile of documents which might force it to report after tomorrow's deadline set by the Council.

Supplementary reports submitted by the United States, Great Britain and France must be checked and considered before the subcommittee can complete its report. The latest United States material alone contains a great volume of information plus 25,000 microfilmed pages of documents captured from German archives and Italian documents bearing on Spain.

The British report was said not to be so long, but a French source declared its delegation's supplementary document was quite lengthy.

MIGHT

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister and chairman of the subcommittee, has been pushing hard for completion of the report by the "due date." But he apparently did not reckon on the flood of last-minute material, and United Nations sources said it would not be possible to complete the new material in time for the Council's deadline.

These sources considered it likely, however, that the report would be completed before the next Security Council meeting, which apparently is not in the cards until late next week.

Meanwhile, Siam's protest to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, against "unjustified aggression" by French forces from Indo-China was under consideration by the Council members, but there was no hint that it would be brought before the Council in the near future.

Message Sent To Truman

It was announced by the Siamese legation in London that the same message had been sent to President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee, Premier Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

A communique from the French High Commission in Saigon, published in Paris, said that French forces entered Siamese territory recently in pursuit of "Anamite and Laotien rebels" who raided French Indo-China.

The communiqué said these were the incidents "that seem to be the basis for the campaign carried out by the Siamese authorities to stir up world public opinion."

Possible U.N. Handling Of Siam Issue Analyzed

C. Burdick

New York, May 30 (AP)—Siam's complaint to the United Nations of "unjustified aggression" by French forces from Indo-China can obtain an early hearing before the Security Council, it was authoritatively stated today, in one of two ways:

1. Any member of the U.N. may bring the situation to the attention of the Council, or

2. Siam as a nonmember party to a dispute may force the matter before the Council by formalizing a charge against France and by accepting in advance "the obligations of Pacific settlement."

Thus far the Bangkok Government has asked only for United Nations assistance, sympathy and co-operation in a cablegram circulated among the membership by Secretary-General Trygve Lie without recommendation for Security Council action.

Willing To Mediate

However, a Bangkok dispatch last night quoted Siamese Government sources as declaring willingness to have the United Nations or some other international organization mediate Siam's border dispute with French Indo-China.

These sources said a small French force remained on Siamese territory along the Mekong north of Nongkhai after a river-crossing that began last Friday. They declared the Government had received no replies to protests lodged with the British and American legations in Bangkok and no explanation from the French.

Taken Back Under Japs?

The Siamese said the dispute goes back to 1893, when the early French empire builders sent a warship to Bangkok and demanded 90,000 square miles of borderland, which Siam ceded in a treaty in 1907.

Then, they said, when the Japanese gained control of Indo-China in 1940 the Siamese took back 20,000 square miles of the Kingdom of Cambodia and Laos colony, both parts of the Indo-China union.

This was formalized, after a

Both Britain and the United States indicated willingness to hear the Siamese case if a formal charge is brought. France, a permanent Big Five member of the Council, gave no indication of what course she would take.

Iranian Case

Meanwhile, the Iranian case was further complicated last night by the announcement in Washington that Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala had been instructed by his Government to make no further statements before the Council.

The United Nations Organizations, in recess today, will resume operations tomorrow in meetings of the Economic and Social Council and the Security Council's subcommittee on Spain, which had hoped to complete its report by the Friday deadline. However, the subcommittee has received from Britain and the United States a last-minute deluge of information, including 35,000 microfilmed pages of documents captured from German archives and additional captured Italian documents bearing on Spain.

By unanimous agreement yesterday between the International Labor Organization, an appendage of the old League of Nations, and United Nation conferees, the International Labor Organization becomes a specialized agency of the United Nations.

FRENCH EXPLAIN FORAYS INTO SIAM

PARIS, May 30.—(AP) A French communique said tonight French forces had entered Siamese territory on a number of occasions in the last few weeks in pursuit of "Anamite and Laotien rebels" who were marauding in Indo-China.

The high command in Saigon issued the communique—concerning incidents about which Siam has complained to the United Nations—and it was published here by the

Spain Agency Denies Propaganda Charge

Madrid, May 30 (AP)—The official Spanish news agency, Efe, denied today a United States charge that it secretly agreed during the war to distribute German propaganda.

Economic Council Signs Agreement With I.L.O.

New York, May 30 (AP)—A draft agreement between the United Nations Economic and Social Council and the International Labor Organization, the oldest intergovernmental organization in existence, was signed today.

Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, president, signed for the council and Guildhaume Myrddin-Evans, chairman of the I.L.O. governing board, signed for the I.L.O.

Sir Ramaswami said the agreement would be put before the Economic and Social Council next week. If approved there, it will go to the United Nations General Assembly in September for final United Nations approval. It also must be approved by the general conference of the I.L.O. next September in Montreal.

W[redacted] Policies

MIGHT

The agreement would make the I.L.O. a specialized agency of the United Nations. The I.L.O. and Economic and Social Council would coordinate "policies and activities" in the field of world trade and labor agreements.

The I.L.O. was founded in 1919 as a part of the League of Nations. It has 47 member nations and 67 international agreements on wages, working conditions and such matters.

Sir Ramaswami said the Economic and Social Council would meet at 10.30 A.M. tomorrow to consider reports and recommendations of various commissions.

STETTINIUS QUITS U. N., COMMENTATOR REPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 30—(AP) Ray Henle, news commentator, said

tonight in an MBS broadcast he was informed that Edward Stettinius has sent President Truman his resignation as U. S. representative on the United Nations Security council.

The White House declined to comment on the report. State department officials said they had no information concerning it. Stettinius could not be reached immediately.

Henle said Mr. Truman has been "sitting on" the reported resignation for two or three days, concerned that it might "upset the waters in the international kettle." He said that Stettinius was dissatisfied with his relations with the State department and felt he was being reated as "something of a messenger boy."

Churchill Favors U.S. Principles For India

London, May 30 (AP)—Winston Churchill cited the American Declaration of Independence tonight in promising that the Conservative party would do its utmost to "protect the future of the 60,000,000 untouchables" in India.

Replying to [illegible] group's protest against British Cabinet mission's proposals for an independent Indian government were "a shameful betrayal" of the untouchables' cause, the opposition leader told the organization in a message:

"We shall take our stand on the broad principles set forth in the American Declaration of Independence, that all men are born free and equal and entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Britain Continuing 18-Year-Old Draft

London, May 30 (AP)—George Isaacs, Minister of Labor and National Service, announced today a British policy of continued conscription of 18-year-old men to maintain a draftee armed force until mid-1950.

All men drafted during 1947 will serve two years. In 1948, conscripts' length of service will be progressively reduced each two months so that those called up in the last two months of 1948 will serve only a year and a half, Isaacs told the House of Commons.

Women's branches of the Army, Navy and Air Force will be continued on a voluntary basis, he said.

Men Now In Uniform

All men already in uniform by the end of this year will be mustered out on present age and service bases, Isaacs added, saying all now serving would be released by the end of 1948. All who were drafted before 1944 will be let out by the end of 1947, he said.

The Government "has endeavored to make the scheme as flexible as possible to enable adjustments to be made in either direction if unforeseen developments should arise," Isaacs said.

The 18-year-old draft was expected to yield 190,000 a year in both 1947 and 1948.

Drafting of university and prep school students would be delayed long enough after their eighteenth birthdays to allow them to complete the year's schooling.

After 1946, industrial deferments, except for building workers, miners and farm workers, will cease, Isaacs said. However, deferment will be granted to apprentices to allow them to finish their industrial training.

London, May 30 (AP)—A Reuter dispatch from Tehran today reported that Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam had asked for the resignations of all his ministers because Premier Jafar Pishevari, of the self-proclaimed Azerbaijan autonomous government, had refused to continue negotiations with the present regime. All the ministers complied, the dispatch said.

Vatican Radio Broadcasts Letter Banned by A.M.G.

German Bishops Assail Allied Occupation Policies

LONDON, May 30 (AP).—The Vatican radio broadcast without comment tonight a pastoral letter by Catholic bishops of western Germany criticizing Allied occupation policies. The letter was prepared for reading at Easter Sunday services, but was halted in the American zone at the request of military government officials.

[An official American source said on April 26 that the letter was "offensive and derogatory to the Allies" and "incited resentment, unrest and possibly riot." Released to American correspondents at that time, the letter assailed what it termed "revolting proceedings" in Soviet-occupied Germany, compared the denazification program to a "nightmare" and said "hundreds of thousands, if not millions," of German war prisoners were being forced to do slave labor.]

WILL SUPPLY FRANCE

LONDON, May 30 — (AP) Hector McNeil, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, told Commons today that Britain will supply aircraft and equipment for units of the French air force in France, French North Africa, French Equatorial Africa and Indo-China, including maintenance requirements for three years.

Prosecution Rests In Ex-Sailor's Trial

Greenock, Scotland, May 30 (AP). The prosecution closed its case today before a United States court-martial trying Joseph J. Hagins, 22, of Jacksonville, Fla., on charges of manslaughter in the slaying of two British Marines.

Hagins, formerly stationed at Greenock with the United States Navy, was convicted of murder eighteen months ago, but appealed and won a retrial.

Mailman Milton W. Oakes, the only prosecution witness, today testified that Hagins was on a "crying drunk" a half hour before the Marines were stabbed fatally in a fight in a Red Cross club.

"Hagins was complaining that he had not been receiving any mail from his mother," Oakes told the court. "He was leaning on my shoulder and I was giving him a bit of sympathy because he was in a very depressed state."

Britain's Homage To U.S. Dead

London, May 30 (AP)—On grassed slopes at Cambridge, in Plymouth's blitzed Church of St. Andrews and on the Castlereach Hills of Northern Ireland, Britons and Americans jointly honored the memory of American war dead today.

At Plymouth's St. Andrews a memorial service was held for two American seaman who died in the War of 1812 against Britain—William Henry Allen, commander of the United States brig Argus, and Richard Delphy, midshipman.

Lord Mayor's Address Read

"We are proud to remember those chivalrous acts which took place 133 years ago," said the Lord Mayor of Plymouth. "Their bodies were laid in the same place as Frobisher and Drake. May this door of unity, erected in their memory, never be barred by hatred, prejudice or evil."

In the cemetery on Madingly Hill, on the outskirts of Cambridge—where lie some 5,800 Americans who died during World War II, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was read by Henry E. Stebbins, first secretary of the United States Embassy.

Prayer Is Offered

Prayer was offered by Chaplain James R. O'Neill, United States Army, and wreaths were laid by Lieutenant General Sir Oliver Leese, British army; RAF Air Commodore A. Hesketh; Admiral W. Kent Hewitt, United States Navy, and Lady Alice Bragg, Mayor of Cambridge.

In the United States cemetery at Lisnebreeny, in the Castlereagh Hills overlooking Belfast, each of the graves were strewn with flowers, between miniature stars and stripes and Union Jacks.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO DEAD IN EUROPE

PARIS, May 30 — (AP) Reverent Americans and grateful Europeans paid tribute today to America's dead of two world wars.

In Memorial day ceremonies at military cemeteries in 10 countries of Europe, U. S. Army units and delegations of the local populations laid wreaths and offered thanks to the men who crossed the Atlantic to fight for the cause of freedom.

At the cemetery in Varois, France, on a hilltop overlooking the Rhone river, 100 peasants joined two American officers and an eight-man [illegible]

At Hamm, Luxembourg, the Royal family and nearly 20,000 others took part in the American Third army ceremonies at the final resting place of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.

The same simple pattern was followed at Munsingen, Switzerland, where 61 American dead are buried, and at Margraten, Holland, where there are 17,742 white crosses and Stars of David over American graves.

From the beaches of Normandy to the borders of Germany, from the Anzio beachhead in Italy to Lisnabreeny, Northern Ireland, from Cambridge cemetery in England to Belgrade and Vienna, the traditional three volleys were fired over American graves, the moment of silence was observed, and the strains of Taps echoed.

There were no cemetery services in Germany, for most of the Americans who fell there have been removed to graves in liberated countries, but U. S. troops in Germany attended church services.

The men who fought and died in the first World War were not forgotten. The American Legion, the Legion auxiliary, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Overseas Memorial Day association conducted services at six French cemeteries and laid wreaths at the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe in Paris.

America's Dead Are Honored In Europe

Paris, May 30 (AP)—America's soldier dead, sleeping in the foreign soil they helped to free, received the Memorial Day tributes of their brothers and their allies today.

In 36 cemeteries in seven countries services were held to honor the 135,926 dead and 18,418 missing of World War II in Europe. At each grave there was a small American flag. At each burying ground a small banner enumerated the dead.

Although Memorial Day is primarily an American custom, representatives of America's allies participated in many of the ceremonies.

Ambassador To Speak

Of major services scheduled, the largest was in France, at Solers, 30 miles south of Paris, where Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador, was to speak. Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, commander of the United States 3d Army, was to speak at Hamm, Luxembourg, where a predecessor of his, Gen. George S. Patton, is buried. Another is at Cambridge, England.

At Omaha Beach, on the Normandy shore, a white board with black lettering says simply:

"On this site was established the first American cemetery in France in World War II. Later moved to St. Laurent Cemetery No. 1."

Normandy Ceremonies

The nearest ceremony was scheduled at St. Laurent, on a hilltop overlooking a strip of sand ironically named "Easy Red Beach," where 3,797 Americans lie. Charles W Smith, of Rockland, Mass., a demobilized soldier, is in charge of the cemetery. He landed on a near by beach on D-day, June 6, 1944.

In eight other Normandy cemeteries nearly identical ceremonies were being held, with the traditional moments of silence, three volleys by a firing squad, the placing of wreaths by dignitaries, the melancholy sound of taps and the playing of the anthems of the United States and France. Most of the participants were French civilians.

Similar services were planned for six World War I cemeteries in France.

Three ceremonies are scheduled in London and others at Lisnabreeny, Northern Ireland, and Munsingen, Switzerland.

Neat, Orderly Rows

In each graveyard the Americans lie in neat and orderly rows. The Army has ignored rank, race and creed. Officers and enlisted men lie side by side and the rows of white crosses are broken only by Stars of David over the Jewish graves. Names and serial numbers are painted on one side; identification tags are nailed on the other.

But on many crosses there is only the tragic word: "Unknown."

French Village Honors 4 Dead U.S. Flyers

Rethondes, France, May 30 (AP). A monument to the memory of four American airmen, killed when their plane crashed into a house here while returning from a raid over Germany on October 5, 1944, was dedicated today in this little village near Compiegne.

The four men were Lieut. William Flinn, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lieut. Everett G. Johnson, of Idaho Falls, Idaho; Lieut. Wayne D. Hicks, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Sergt. Daniel J. Graff, of Chicago.

Praise For The Germans

Speaking of the Germans, the American General said:

"They fought hard to the very end. Many of their traditions are worthy of remembrance. We hope and expect that a new Germany will rise from the ruins of the old and, in due time, prove worthy of United Nations membership. Then and meanwhile the bones of these German dead may well be helping form the seeds of a widened United Nations organization.

He said that "throughout the Mediterranean theater and elsewhere in Europe the German graves and those of Hitler's elsewhere—recruited soldiers have been carefully marked and are being assembled as rapidly and as appropriately as we can do so with our present means."

"A Common Bond"

"The Germans have not been unfaithful in this regard, nor lacking in appreciation of those who have died for their land and for what they felt to be worthy of dying for," Lee continued. "In their faithful remembrance, there is a common bond."

Lee's address had been translated for distribution among German prisoners of war in Italy.

Throughout the Mediterranean theater, at each of the 60 American and British cemeteries, Allied soldiers and civilians paid their respects to the dead in Memorial Day services. Some 32,000 Americans are buried in the theater. Flowers and small flags were placed on their graves.

No Hate For Nazi Dead, Gen. Lee Says At Anzio

Nettuno, Italy, May 30 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee declared today in a memorial speech at the Anzio beachhead cemetery that "we hold no hatred for these German dead nor, indeed, for the wretchedly misguided country they fought for."

The American commander in Italy expressed the hope that the German soldiers buried there, together with the American and British dead, may "form the seeds of a widened United Nations organization."

The site was on one of the bloodiest battlefields on which American soldiers fought during the war. American troops established a beachhead there near Rome, nearly 200 miles north of the battle lines around Cassino.

U.S. Flyers' Graves Consecrated

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, May 30 (AP). Americans and Yugoslavs attended a simple consecration service today over the graves of 103 United States flyers who lost their lives over Yugoslavia during the war.

The service was in a neat, cross-dotted hillside cemetery overlooking this capital. The Rev. Donald Dailey of Rochester, N.Y., a member of the Diocese of St. Augustine, Fla., consecrated the ground.

Army Chaplain William R. Donaghy, of Lowell, Mass., read the service and offered prayer. He also read a message from Yugoslav women promising eternal care for "this humble, holy spot."

Harold Shantz, chargé d'affaires, laid a wreath for the Embassy and Col. Balz Jankovic placed one for the Yugoslav Army.

Dead in Switzerland Honored

BERNE, Switzerland, May 30 (AP)—United States Chargé d'Affaires Edward G. Plitt unveiled a memorial to sixty-one Americans who died in Switzerland during the war, in a ceremony today at the American cemetery in Muensingen, near Berne.

VIENNA, Austria, May 30 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Lewis, Vienna area commander, decorated the graves of 203 American fliers in the central cemetery of Vienna, where the composer Mozart is buried, in Memorial Day services today.

A salute was fired over the graves of the men, most of whom died in bombing Vienna.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 30 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William S. Key, commanding general of the United States military mission in Hungary, spoke today at Memorial Day services here.

British and Russian representatives attended the ceremonies at the cemetery where nearly 300 Americans, mostly airmen, are buried.

Few Large Ceremonies Held In Germany

Frankfurt, May 30 (AP)—The tens of thousands of soldiers of America's occupation army observed Memorial Day simply in the country their comrades died to conquer.

There were few large ceremonies in the enemy's land. During the past year, the bodies of most Americans who died in World War II have been disinterred from eight now-closed cemeteries in Germany and transferred to liberated countries.

Soldiers went to church as operations of the occupation came to a virtual standstill, and Germans also took a traditional holiday commemorating Ascension Day.

At various army headquarters in Germany 21-gun salutes were fired in memory of the dead. Individual units placed American flags on the isolated graves of several thousand men whose bodies have yet to be removed from Germany. At Wiesbaden and other points, wreaths were laid on plaques honoring the dead.

ORDERS TO VICHY REVEALED AT TRIAL

NUERNBERG, May 30—(AP)—Fritz Sauckel admitted to the International Military Tribunal today that he forced the Vichy government to impose the death penalty for any Frenchman who attempted to interfere with drafting slave labor for Germany.

The former Nazi labor chief said he made such "suggestions" and that Pierre Laval carried them through. He said he meant it to be applied, though, only to "serious" cases.

French witnesses also drew from Sauckel under cross examination statements that he organized a special force of terrorists to recruit workers for transport to the Reich, and that he had ordered recalcitrant laborers placed in shackles.

The prosecution also declared that Hitler had threatened to take over the rule of France himself unless more slave labor was forthcoming.

It introduced minutes of a meeting in January, 1943, by Sauckel with Vichy representatives in which, the document said, Sauckel complained that the Vichy government was "composed of specialists in postponement."

Blaming the defeat at Stalingrad upon French delay in delivering 250,000 workers, Sauckel said that "now the Fuehrer has decided to reign even without the French government."

Sauckel admitted he made the statement, but said he was only transmitting ideas of Hitler and was not exerting pressure.

Threat By Hitler To Vichy Told

Nuernberg, May 30 (AP) — The International Military Tribunal heard today that Adolf Hitler once threatened to throw out the Vichy French Government and rule France himself unless more slave labor was provided for Germany.

French prosecutors offered documents only recently discovered in Berlin containing minutes of meetings the German labor leader and SS General, Fritz Sauckel, held with Vichy representatives in an effort to force occupied France to ship hundreds of thousands more men to work in German war industries.

Sauckel is one of 22 ranking Germans on trial for war crimes.

Meeting In Paris

One document recorded a meeting in Paris on January 11, 1943, in which Sauckel complained to the Vichy regime that "this Government is composed of specialists in postponement."

He blamed the tardiness of France in providing 250,000 laborers for the German catastrophe at Stalingrad, one of the decisive battles of the war, and told the group:

"Now the Führer has decided to reign even without the French Government."

Sauckel admitted making that statement, but denied this was exerting "pressure." He said he merely was transmitting the ideas of Hitler.

THREE ARE DOOMED FOR SLAYING G. I.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, May 30—(AP) Three American Negro soldiers have been sentenced to be hanged and two other Negroes were given life imprisonment for killing a white American soldier and wounding three others, U. S. Third Army headquarters said today.

Those sentenced to die were named by a Third Army public relations official as Pfc. John Sessions, 24, Charleston, S. C.; Pvt. Chester Horne, Jr., 19, Baltimore, and Sgt. John H. Woods, 23, Darlington, S. C.

Those sentenced to life imprisonment were named as Pfc. Mathew S. Jones, 26, Des Arc, Ark., and Pvt. James C. H. Hatcher, Havana, Fla.

Four defendants were acquitted. The Army general court martial which heard the case handed down its decisions Tuesday. The sentences are subject to review by the Third Army commander and the War department.

The shooting followed a bottle throwing incident at an enlisted men's club in Asperg, Germany, Feb. 15. Army public relations officers gave this account of the fray:

One of the victims tossed a bottle into the club. One of the Negroes in the club then went to his barracks, got a gun, gathered reinforcements, boarded a truck and started after the bottle thrower and his three companions who had fled.

Overtaking them several blocks from the club, the Negroes opened fire. Three slugs from a 30-caliber carbine killed T-Sgt. Floyd D. Hudson, whose home town was not disclosed. Hudson's three companions were wounded.

ITALIANS WILL GO TO POLLS SUNDAY

ROME, May 30—(AP)—Political oratory booming for months through Italy's public squares subsided tonight at the start of a two-day cooling-off period before Sunday's national elections and referendum to choose a constituent assembly and determine the fate of the monarchy.

The government banned outdoor rallies on Friday and Saturday to calm passions aroused in the long, hard-fought battle between advocates of the monarchy and proponents of the republic. Indoor meetings will be permitted.

Some 28,000,000 Italians are eligible to vote.

Voters will decide whether to continue the rule of the House of Savoy under King Umberto II, who succeeded to the throne when his father, aged King Vittorio Emanuele III abdicated early this month, or to establish a republic.

They also will select a 556-man constituent assembly assigned the task of overhauling the Italian state politically, economically and socially.

Case Of MP Who Hit Russ Courier Studied

Rome, May 30 (AP)—United States military authorities at Ciampino airport had under advisement today the case of an American military policeman who, an army public-relations officer said, struck a Russian diplomatic courier who failed to identify himself and refused to leave a Paris-bound plane when ordered to do so.

An announcement was expected later as to whether any disciplinary action would be taken against the military policeman, who also struck a civilian bystander—later identified as a Russian Embassy official—whose actions the policeman interpreted as defiance of his orders.

The army statement said the "misunderstanding" had developed because the courier—carrying mail for Paris—boarded the plane several minutes before its scheduled departure and failed to identify himself when questioned by the officer in charge.

YUGOSLAVS RESTRICT ATC

U. S. Army Ground Crews Said to Be Barred at Belgrade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 30 (AP)—Yugoslav authorities have set a June 1 deadline for the withdrawal of American Army Transport Command ground personnel from the Belgrade airport, a reliable source said today.

It was added that the authorities also had ordered that crews of ATC planes arriving at the Belgrade airport be required after June 15 to have passport visas instead of the simple plane clearance previously required.

This regulation is likely to end scheduled flights into Yugoslavia. It also will make flights from Vienna to Bucharest difficult, because Belgrade has been the refueling point.

CATHOLICS HOLD GAIN IN NETHERLAND VOTE

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, May 30 (AP)—Unofficial returns from yesterday's provincial elections indicated today that the Catholic People's party had won a plurality of 17 in the fifty-seat upper house of the National Legislature, whose members are chosen by the Provincial Councils.

The Catholic People's party also won a plurality of 32 of the 100 seats in the lower house at the national elections May 17. Dr. L. M. Beel, Minister of the Interior in the present Government and a Catholic party leader, was invited earlier this week by Queen Wilhelmina to undertake the task of forming a new Cabinet.

The other seats in the upper house will be distributed as follows: Labor, 14; Anti-Revolutionary party, 7; Christian Historical party, 5; Communists, 4; Freedom party, 3.

23 'Terror Suspects' Back To Palestine

Jerusalem, May 30 (AP)—Official sources said today that 23 Jewish youths who were sent to an Eritrea detainment camp two years ago as "suspected terrorists" had been transferred back to Palestine and would be released shortly.

There are no charges against the youths, who were among about 200 sent to Eritrea in a campaign to stamp out terroristic activities in Palestine.

Officials declined to comment on whether this was the first of a series of groups to be released.

ARAB GROUP FIGHTS PALESTINE REPORT

League Opposes Proposed Entry of 100,000 Jews Into Holy Land

CAIRO, May 30—(AP)—The rulers of the seven states in the Arab League formally rejected today any proposals for admitting more Jews into Palestine, and one delegate to the meeting here said attempts to resettle 100,000 Jews in the Holy Land "will result in a hundred thousan

The delegate, who could not be quoted by name, said that any efforts to implement the recommendations of the British-American inquiry committee that 100,000 Jews be admitted into Palestine would result in guerrilla warfare.

Sees Danger to Peace

The Arab rulers warned the United States that such a step might endanger world peace, and the delegate said "The beaches of Palestine must be defended if necessary. If you want to use the atomic bomb against us, very well. We will die."

In a communique issued a day after adjournament of their meeting here the kings, princes and presidents of the Arab states pledged their support to the United Nations, but said new immigration into Palestine as recommended by the British-American inquiry committee report might create disturbances "having a very bad consequence on international peace."

It was not stated whether the Arab League would appeal the Palestine case to the United Nations Security council in the event an attempt is made to carry out the recommendations of the British-American report that 100,000 Jews be admitted into Palestine.

The communique, after pledging aid toward making the United Nations stronger, said the kings, princes or presidents of Egypt, Saud I Arabia, Iraq, Trans-Jordan, Syria Lebanon and Yemen "discussed the Palestine question from all angles and found that the Palestine question does not concern only the Arabs in Palestine but is a question for all Arabs."

U.S. And Britain Warned By 7 Arab Rulers

Cairo, May 30 (AP)—The leaders of seven Arab states today coupled a pledge of support to the United Nations with a warning to the United States and Britain that further Jewish immigration into Palestine might endanger world peace.

The pledge and the warning were combined in a statement issued at the close of a two-day meeting of the Arab leaders, who met here on invitation of King Farouk of Egypt.

It was not stated whether the Arab states would appeal the Palestine question to the Security Council in case Britain and the United States attempted to carry out the Anglo-American committee's recommendation that 100,000 Jewish immigrants be admitted to the Holy Land this year.

"Very Bad Consequences"

The rulers of the seven states said, however, that new immigration might create disturbances having "very bad consequences on international peace."

The communiqué, issued by the Arab League, said the delegates agreed the most important measure to help maintain world peace was sincere co-operation with the United Nations.

Kings, princes or presidents of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Yemen met at King Farouk's Inchass Palace near Cairo May 28 and 29.

"Concerns All Arabs"

The communiqué, after pledging aid toward making the United Nations stronger and increasing confidence in it, said:

"They discussed the Palestine question from all angles and found that the Palestine question does not concern only the Arabs in Palestine but is a question for all Arabs and that other Arab states should protect its arabism.

"These Arab states cannot agree by any means to any new immigration and consider it contradictory to the (1939) White Paper with which British honor is connected.

"They have great hope that good relations between the Arab states and nations on one side and the other two friendly democratic nations on the other side will not be disturbed."

Free Tripoli, Cirenaica

The Arab rulers declared also for the independence of Tripoli and Cirenaica as a "natural matter of justice."

The communiqué said the congress of rulers agreed as well that "achievement of Egypt's national demands, completion of her sovereignty and evacuation of British troops" were steps that must be taken.

The Egyptian case is a general case, the communiqué said, and the Arab rulers will support Egypt's demands in every way they can.

Attlee Stand Supported

The Congress expressed pleasure at a statement attributed to Prime Minister Attlee May 7, pledging the British Government to withdraw naval, military and air forces from Egyptian territory.

"Such a statement had a very good reaction in the Arab states, who wish the British Government would open a new page in their relations with Egypt," the communiqué added.

The delegates asked Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, to report results of the Palestine discussion to the council of the Arab League at a meeting June 8, at Bludan, Syria, a summer resort near Damascus, "in order to take the best measures to protect the future of a sister nation which is belived by all Arabs."

Want Independence for Sudan

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, May 30 (AP).—The Umma party ahnounced today it will seek to place a petition for complete independence for the Sudan before the United Nations. The party, small in number, is composed mostly of nationalist-minded students, and its memberbership includes none of the elder tribal heads who hold political leadership in the Sudan.

munists encircled Haicheng after capturing Anshan. They said the Communists were using three brigades totaling 20,000 troops and Government forces were resisting in hilly country north of the town.

In Mukden, China yesterday addressed a crowd of 100,000. He urged construction of a new, free Manchuria "in painful memory of past sufferings" under fourteen years of Japanese puppet rule. Before the mass meeting, he received 250 Kuomintang (People's party) underground workers and families of slain underground members.

the office of economic affairs was machine-gunned, but no Chinese were injured.

"Chinese authorities regard the incident as a gross violation of the Sino-French treaty," the Central News account said.

Chiang's Troops Fall Back

National troops have fallen back into the hills between Anshan and Mukden, these dispatches reported.

Other Government dispatches said that in North Manchuria Communist Gen. Chow Pao-chung was erecting a formidable defense barrier on the little Sungari River, 85 miles southwest of Harbin. Government forces have driven within 5 miles of the river at a number of points. (ADD)

FIGHTING RENEWED IN MANCHURIA AS REDS CAPTURE CITY

MUKDEN, Manchuria, May 30—(AP) Chinese Communists have recaptured the south Manchurian steel city of Anshan and are erecting a tough defense line in front of Harbin, government dispatches reported today as China's hopes for peace ebbed again. (upset)

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and two of his top government generals flew from Mukden to Changchun, Manchurian capital recently reoccupied by the government after five weeks in Communist hands.

Chiang's comment on a demand by the third-party Democratic League that he return immediately to Nanking to talk peace with the Communists. It was announced, however, that he intended to stay in Changchun only one day.

The generalissimo had been in Mukden for several days while inconclusive peace efforts continued in Nanking under the prod of General Marshall, special American envoy to China.

Marshall said in a Memorial day speech at Nanking that the United States was trying to "be of genuine, unselfish assistance, without price or promise," adding, "It seems an irony of fate that the people who endured the longest should see peace restored to the rest of the world while they themselves continue to suffer and starve in war-ridden surroundings and who now tremble on the verge of an even greater calamity."

Marshall called upon all Chinese to abandon "the suspicion, hate, bitterness and all the other evil passions of the situation."

Government accounts reaching Mukden said that more than 20,000 troops led by Communist Gen. Li Cheng-Hua recaptured Anshan, 52 miles south of Mukden, on May 28 and were besieging Haicheng, important railway center 20 miles farther south. The report included the now-familiar charges that Japanese-manned artillery was used by the Communists.

Bangka Moves To Revive Pepper, Rubber Industries

Batavia, May 30 (AP)—Efforts are being made to revive the pepper and rubber industries on Bangka Island, off Sumatra's east coast, which were hard hit by the Japanese occupation. These were subsidiary but important industries on the tin-mining island.

Bangka's pepper cultivation, which produced the famous white muntok pepper, was all but ruined. Ninety-five per cent of the plants were destroyed, and little can be expected in the near future of the remaining five per cent because of a lack of fertilizer. Large quantities of fertilizer have been ordered, but it is doubtful that the pepper growing can be restored to the prewar level.

Many Chinese, however, are planning to attempt restoration of the pepper plantations. The pepper trade on Bangka is largely in Chinese hands.

Prospects for rubber are more hopeful. Rubber tapping has been resumed and today the island is producing 500 tons monthly, which is approximately half of normal production. The owners of the trees are burdened with expenses for rubber knives, cups and rollers, and the plantations must be fenced in to prevent damage by boars.

In recent discussions between J. E. Van Hoogstraten, Netherlands Indies economic affairs director, and civil affairs officials on Bangka it was decided to establish a branch of the People's Credit Bank at Pankalpinang to assist small plantation owners.

Dr. Ernest L. Klein, special assistant to Pauley, said that Pauley had lodged protests against the restrictions and would continue to negotiate for their removal.

The mission's movements are taking place under heavy guard and only by prearrangement, headquarters reported.

Of five industrial areas singled out for inspections by Pauley and the nine members of the mission, two were barred to them by Col. Gen. I. M. Christiakov, Russian military commander for North Korea. (ADD)

Harbin Defenses Set Up; Nationals 30 Miles Away

Peiping, May 30 (AP)—Dispatches reported today that Communist Gen. Chow Pao-chung's army had thrown up a defense line south of Harbin but that another unit was withdrawing northward toward Tsitsihar.

Hsin Sheng Pao, semi-official military newspaper, said Chow's troops were established on the north bank of the Sungari River. Government troops were reported within 30 miles of that important railway center. The newspaper added that another Communist unit was moving from Harbin toward the Communist stronghold, Tsitsihar, to the northwest on the Harbin-Manchouli railroad.

Reds Enter Anshan

Meanwhile Communist forces in southern Manchuria entered Anshan, large steel-manufacturing city south of Mukden on the Mukden-Dairen railroad. The Government's Central News Agency charged the Communists used Japanese-manned cannon in the initial drive on Anshan.

The agency said regular train service would be resumed June 1 on the Mukden-Szepingkai railroad. The Government recaptured Szepingkai from the Communists last week.

Meanwhile, in Mukden, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek left by air this afternoon for Changchun, the Manchurian capital, without commenting on a Democratic League request that he return immediately to Nanking to negotiate for peace. He expected to stay in Changchun only one day. He was accompanied by Generals Pai Chung-hsi and Tu Li-ming. Madame Chiang meantime left by plane for Peiping.

General Denies Blame In Hong Kong Slaughter

Nanking, May 30 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Takashi Sakai, a Japanese described by the prosecution as "chief war criminal of the Sino-Japanese war," declared today at his one-day trial before a Chinese military tribunal that he was innocent of the mass killings at Hong Kong. The decision will be announced tomorrow.

He admitted he led the December 8, 1941, attack on Hong Kong but said he had no knowledge that mass slaying took place.

To the accusation that he was a key figure in the Marco Polo bridge incident of 1937—the spark which burst into the flame of World War II—he replied that he was a soldier who obeyed orders.

China Protests Attack On Hanoi Offices

Nanking, May 30 (AP)—The official Central News Agency said today the Chinese Government had lodged "strong protests" with French authorities against the machine-gunning of the Hanoi office of the Chinese Ministry of Economic Affairs Monday.

The agency gave this account:

The incident occurred when an unidentified Annamite threw a hand grenade at a French army car. A large force of French troops was called to blockade the area and a pitched battle took place between the French and Annamite militiamen.

Envoy Reports Japs In Siberia

Tokyo, Friday, May 31 (AP)—The former Japanese Minister to Moscow arrived today from Moscow and reported that he had seen many Japanese soldiers in Siberia—prisoners—at Irkutsk and other places.

"They were dressed well and seem to be working cheerfully," he said.

The Minister, Goro Morishima, was quoted in an interview in the Tokyo newspaper Asahi today. He was in Moscow when Russia entered the war against Japan. Morishima, Ambassador Naotake Sato and 93 other Japanese diplomatic personnel returned aboard the Russian vessel Khaborovsk.

Sato declined to discuss political questions, saying only that "it has been decided I will not tell you anything."

HIROHITO PAYS CALL ON GEN. M'ARTHUR

Food Situation May Have Been Discussed — Reds Deny Totalitarian Goal

TOKYO, Friday, May 31 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito called on General MacArthur about 10 A. M. accompanied by Viscount Yoshitami Matsudaira, Minister of the Imperial Household.

Conceivably the ruler could have come to discuss Japan's food situation, following his recent radio appeal to his people.

The Emperor and General MacArthur conferred for an hour and a half, during which the only other person in the room was an interpreter.

The surprise development occurred three days before formal opening of the international war crimes trial of such top flight Japanese as Hideki Tojo. The Emperor wore a plain business suit.

Army Paper Takes Protest To Patterson

Manila, May 30 (AP)—The staff of the Daily Pacifican, which yesterday requested transfer in protest against asserted censorship and dictatorial control by army higher-ups, carried its request to Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson today.

The staff of the army newspaper radioed the Secretary that "the War Department circular" regarding publications for soldiers "is being violated daily by the headquarters of army forces in the western Pacific and the Daily Pacifican is being censored and controlled according to arbitrary policies."

DUMMY A-BOMB DROPPED

Test Missile Falls 200 Feet From Bikini Target Center

KWAJALEIN, May 30 (AP)—The atomic bomb high command watched a B-29 crew put a dummy bomb within 200 feet of the center of its target in Bikini lagoon today and Maj. Gen. William Kepner, air chief, said the hit was "well within our limits" of accuracy.

He told reporters later that the weather today would have been good enough for a real atomic test. Aboard an observation plane with General Kepner were Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commanding the joint Army-Navy Atomic Task Force, and Brig. Gen. Roger Ramey, who will command the plane making the actual bomb drop on "A-Day," July 1, or later. (1945)

Russ File Admitted As Rose Evidence

Montreal, May 30 (AP)—Justice Wilfrid Lazure ruled late yesterday that documents stolen from the Russian Embassy in Ottawa could be admitted as evidence against Fred Rose, only Communist member of the Canadian Parliament, now on trial for conspiracy in connection with a wartime Soviet espionage ring in Canada.

Joseph Cohen, chief counsel for Rose, had argued that the documents were "inviolable" under international laws of diplomatic immunity, but Justice Lazure said diplomatic immunity could be invoked only by an alien or by an Ambassador or his representative.

Status Altered

He said also that he doubted whether the documents — which Igor Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Russian Embassy in Ottawa, has said he removed from the Embassy last September—actually were diplomatic papers and that in any event when the interests of Canada were involved the status of diplomatic immunity was altered.

Gouzenko, whose disclosures to the Canadian Government resulted in nearly a score of arrests in connection with the espionage case, testified briefly yesterday.

The trial, in recess today because of the Ascension Day holiday, resumes tomorrow.

Bolivia Is Placed In State of Siege

Government Says Aim Is to Safeguard 'Stability'

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 30 (AP)—A state of siege was decreed today by the government of President General Gualberto Villarroel with the announced aim of safeguarding "the stability of the nation" against the activities of opposition groups.

Informed sources said numerous persons have been arrested.

The Minister of the Interior said in a broadcast that a "subversive movement" was overcome Monday, and that the state of siege was established "in view of the gravity of the situation and in order to defeat sinister plans."

He said the opposition, "encouraged by a belief that the government was weakened," opened its campaign with violent attacks through the press, "which constituted a frank invitation to subversion."

The movement was attributed to "defeated elements of the oligarchy affected by the steps the revolution (the Villarroel regime) has taken in behalf of the people."

Memorial Services Held for Heroes 'Round the World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Solemn pledges to make firm the peace provided the dominant theme of reverent world-wide memorial services yesterday for America's soldier dead.

Small American flags fluttered at graves in the wide areas of the Pacific where a year ago America's military forces battled the Japanese and at each grave in the 36 U. S. military cemeteries in Europe.

Services in the new cemeteries of Europe and the Pacific honored the 296,367 dead and 12,744 missing of World War Two.

But the speakers, echoing the hope that America's sons—and daughters, too—shall not have died in vain, gave tribute to all who fought and died in the wars which have occurred since the birth of the United States of America.

In a solemn, almost silent ceremony that lasted no more than a minute, President Truman placed a wreath of white roses at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery. He did not speak. He acted for the entire nation in paying homage to the dead of all wars.

Later Gen. Omar Bradley, in an address at the tomb, declared that world peace could be lost "by timid world leadership and by the premature abandonment of our armed strength." Above all, he said, it could be lost easiest "by retreating behind our walls to live in dangerous isolation."

Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, American commander in Italy, speaking at the Anzio beachhead cemetery at Nettuno, Italy, expressed the hope that the German soldiers buried there, together with the American and British dead, may "form the seeds of a widened United Nations organization."

"We hold no hatred for these German dead, nor, indeed, for the wretchedly misguided country they fought for," he declared. "They fought hard to the very end. Many of their traditions are worthy of remembrance."

America's occupation army in Germany observed Memorial day simply. There were few large ceremonies, for during the past year the bodies of most Americans who died there in World War Two have been transferred from German soil to liberated countries.

At Margraten in the Netherlands, where thousands of Americans lie in a U. S. military cemetery, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe, said the United Nations must demonstrate all-out devotion to preserving peace.

The largest Memorial day service in France was held at the U. S. military cemetery at Solers, where U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery called on Americans to "sanctify this day by dedicating our hearts and thoughts to the construction of an enduring peace." Approximately 5,000 attended.

Navy planes winging over the Pacific from Hawaii flew poppy wreaths to Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, Wake, Midway, Kwajalein and Tarawa in tribute to the dead resting in those now quiet battlegrounds.

Services were held in American-occupied Japan. Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger at Yokohama in a Memorial day message to his Eighth army said that hope for world peace lies in a strong international peace organization.

Patriotic, civic and veterans organizations placed their own flowers beside the tomb. Throughout the cemetery, on a wooded hillside overlooking the Potomac and the National Capital, Boy Scouts had placed flags on 70,000 graves.

In an address later at the tomb, Gen. Omar N. Bradley said that not only has world peace yet to be won but "it can be lost by timid world leadership and by the premature abandonment of our armed strength."

"It can be lost when a nation's self-interest is permitted to smother its world role," the veterans administrator said.

Can Lose By Default

"It can be lost by surrender to doubt. It can be sold out by suspicion. Above all, the easiest way to lose the peace is to lose it by default, by retreating behind our walls to live in dangerous isolation."

The four-starred leader of infantry in the liberation of Europe added that it now is the time "for nations to remember that peace cannot endure in a world half gaunt, half fat."

Bradley was the principal speaker at ceremonies arranged by the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day Corporation.

Planes Drop Flowers

As part of the services, three Army bombers were to swoop low and drop flowers on the resting places of soldier dead. A Navy plane was sent out to sea to drop an anchor of buddy poppies on the waves.

The Marine Corps set its own observance in front of the monument on Constitution avenue, depicting the raising of the Stars and Stripes on Iwo Jima.

Truman Places Wreath On Tomb Of Soldier

Washington, May 30 (AP)—President Truman placed a wreath of white roses against the tomb of the Unknown Soldier today to pay a nation's homage to its dead from every war.

It was a solemn and almost silent ceremony in Arlington National Cemetery. Mr. Truman did not speak. There was no crowd of observers.

The whole tribute lasted no more than a minute.

The Chief Executive drove from the White House to the cemetery, left his car and stepped out onto the broad plaza in front of a white marble amphitheater. He paused a moment, then took the wreath, stepped forward a dozen paces with hat in hand and laid it against the tomb.

Bugler Sounds Taps

Mr. Truman stepped backward four paces, stopping just in front of his military naval aides. While an honor guard of soldiers, sailors and Marines stood at attention, a Marine bugler sounded taps, the requiem for the soldier dead.

That was all. Mr. Truman returned to his limousine to drive to the White House.

Accompanying him to Arlington were members of the family here on a visit from Missouri. They included Miss Mary Truman, the President's sister; the President's two brothers-in-law, George and Frank Wallace, and Mrs. George Wallace.

Boy Scouts Place Flags

Patriotic, civic and veterans organizations, placed their own flowers beside the tomb. Throughout the cemetery, on a wooded hillside overlooking the Potomac and the National Capital, Boy Scouts had placed flags on 70,000 graves.

In an address later at the tomb, Gen. Omar N. Bradley said that not only has world peace yet to be won but "it can be lost by timid world leadership and by the premature abandonment of our armed strength."

"It can be lost when a nation's self-interest is permitted to smother its world role," the veterans administrator said.

Wreaths Placed On Isles Fought For Just Year Ago

[By the Associated Press]

America's armed forces, fighting a year ago over wide areas of the great Pacific, paid their respects on this Memorial Day to those who did not live to see the peace.

Navy planes from Hawaii flew poppy wreaths to Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, Wake, Midway, Iwo, Kwajalein and Tarawa. Three huge floral bouquets, flown the 3,000 miles from Pearl Harbor, were placed in Marine cemeteries on Roi-Namur and Eniwetok in the Marshalls, and a fourth bouquet was laid in a cemetery on Oahu.

The Army held services in its cemeteries and flag-markers were placed at each grave.

Similar Services In Japan

Similar services were held in American-occupied Japan. In Yokohama, Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger presented a message to his 8th Army. In Tokyo Japanese placed a wreath of flowers at the base of a monument honoring Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, who visited Japan in 1879.

Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge addressed a message to his troops in southern Korea. Brig. Gen. Robert O. Shoe, commander of the 7th Division, spoke at a ceremony in the Seoul Central Cemetery, in which are buried 123 Americans who died since United States forces moved into Korea last September.

McNutt Speaks In Manila

Philippines Commissioner Paul V. McNutt gave the Memorial Day address at Santo Tomas University, amid the rubble of Manila. He said the war had forged unity between the Philippines and the United States, and called for an end to racial intolerance.

Eichelberger in Yokohama said "our great hope for a peaceful world lies in establishment of a strong, effective international peace organization." He declared that "our weakness invited aggression."

McNutt Bars Exploitation

McNutt also said that American investment and enterprise in the Philippines must be primarily for the benefit of the islands and warned "American carpetbaggers" to stay away.

He stressed that Americans should not attempt to take advantage of the equal-rights clause in the Philippines rehabilitation bill.

"I have assured the Filipino people that the equal-rights clause is not an open invitation to exploitation," McNutt declared. "In a sense it is a declaration of national policy, calling on individual Americans to join in discharging our great obligations to the Philippines."

Marshall Speaks In Nanking

In Nanking, General Marshall said the United States is trying in China "to be of genuine unselfish assistance without price or promise."

"It seems the irony of fate that the people who have endured the longest should see peace restored to the rest of the world while they themselves continue to suffer and starve in war-ridden surroundings," Marshall said in services at the tiny foreign cemetery.

"This must not be. Men must rise above such desperate remedies for their differences."

'A Country' Seen Balking Peace

Washington, May 30 (AP)—Rear Admiral Robert B. Carney declared today that America's efforts toward world peace "are being obstructed by a great nation . . . whose very concept" is based on "fomenting disorder and disunity."

And at home, the two-star admiral said in an address prepared for Memorial Day services of the Fleet Reserve Association, American efforts are being "sorely handicapped" by this country's "hasty and selfish demobilization."

Carney, assistant chief of naval operations for material and former chief of staff to Admiral William F. Halsey, did not name the "great nation" to which he referred.

Speaks "As A Citizen"

He emphasized that he was speaking not as a professional military man but as an American citizen.

As a citizen, he said, "I am not optimistic."

Carney said the rush to demobilize has stripped this country "of the only prestige which would have lent authority to its councils and to its principles—the prestige of military power able to resist aggression and . . . to influence peaceful and democratic procedures everywhere. . . .

"Our efforts to put the seal of peace on the end of hostilities are running into difficulties—in places they are being obstructed by a great nation that has emerged from this war powerful and determined—a nation whose very concept of government is written by a political party which works for the achievements of its purposes through the medium of fomenting disorder and disunity. . . .

"Aware Of Its Power"

"A great and determined and driving force, opposed to virtually every belief and ideal that we hold dear, is aware of its power and opposing our weakness at every turn," Carney declared.

"The unyielding forces which refused to let the world make peace," he continued, "and which blocked our honorable efforts to settle the peace, will . . . never respect an America that is not in a position to defend the ideals which we constantly broadcast to the world."

D.C. Hope For Russ About-Face Is Fading

Washington, May 30 (AP)—American hopes for an about-face in Russian foreign policy during the Paris Foreign Ministers Conference recess appear today to have suffered a rude jolt.

That is one contruction widely placed on Foreign Minister Molotov's statement concerning failure of the Foreign Ministers thus far to break their deadlocks on European peace settlements.

The Paris meeting, which was recessed two weeks ago today, is scheduled to reconvene June 15.

But unless brighter prospects develop in the last half of the intermission, chances for any real progress are extremely thin.

Snarl Seen Affecting U.N.

Moreover, American officials concede that the snarl in peacemaking—which is essentially a reflection of the bad relations among the United States, Russia and Britain—also shows up in the affairs of the United Nations.

And since the United Nations is charged with preserving peace, with preventing an atomic war and with limiting armaments, the problems now confronting Secretary of State Byrnes in his relations with Russia go far beyond even the major issues he faces in trying to make a European peace.

Barrier To Arms Pact

Byrnes told the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday that it is the purpose of the United States Government to seek limitation of arms. Officials do not consider this possible, however, until the world has been brought to a point in which the great powers are able to work out all their problems within the United Nations framework.

Byrnes and his advisers came back from Paris with very limited optimism about making progress when they return in mid-June for further meetings with Molotov, Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Bidault of France.

World Opinion In Mind

They pegged their hopes on two things primarily:

1. That Prime Minister Stalin would keep the promise which Byrnes said he made last December and overrule Molotov's opposition to Byrnes's proposed 25-year treaty to keep Germany disarmed.

2. That world public opinion, since it is essential to Russia's aspirations for international leadership, would persuade the Russians to take what the American said would be a more co-operative line at Paris.

By accusing a United States-British "bloc" of fighting Russia on every count, Moltov has made his own appeal to world public opinion.

CONGRESS MAY ACT ON LOAN

MAY 31 1946

Expected To Pass On Credit Of $1,000,000,000 To Soviet

Washington, May 30 (AP)—America's foreign-loan transactions moved today into a position where Congress will have a chance to ratify or veto a $1,000,000,000 loan to Russia, if the Administration approves such a credit.

The issue will develop on an impending Administration request that Congress increase the lending power of the Government's Export-Import Bank by $1,250,000,000.

A $650,000,000 loan from this bank to France, announced Tuesday, obligated all but $812,000,000 of the bank's $3,500,000,000 resources. Thus the bank is unable to make a billion-dollar loan to Russia without an increase in its resources by act of Congress.

Showdown Possible

Export-Import Bank loans, as was the case with France, are not subject to congressional ratification, and Congress would not have a voice in any transaction with Russia, were it not that the bank must have more funds if it handles a large Russian loan.

The proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan is not being handled by the bank.

The Administration chose to submit it directly to Congress for ratification, as a draft on the Treasury, because of its size and the agreements on removal of world trade barriers which were made a part of the loan transaction.

A debate in Congress on a loan for Russia probably would precipitate a showdown on Russia's position in world economic co-operation.

Russia Not In World Bank

Russia has not yet joined in the World Bank and currency stabilization fund under the Bretton Woods agreements. House leaders on world finance already have made statements insisting that Russia join these institutions before the United States enters any loan agreement with her.

Some of the leaders have indicated they would support a Russian loan, if that country does cooperate.

Congressional hearings on the British loan have developed discussions of a possibility, if Russia remains out of the bank and fund, that there may be two world economic blocs—Russia on the one hand and Britain and America on the other.

William M. Martin, president of the Export-Import Bank, told a House committee "it is entirely up to Russia" whether the world will be divided into blocs competing for world trade.

A-BOMB EXPLOSION TO BE BROADCAST

WASHINGTON, May 30 — (AP) If you are at your radio when the Bikini atom bomb goes off this July you may hear what it sounds like close up.

Then again maybe you won't.

It all depends on whether the bomb knocks the microphone out before the sound waves reach it.

Operation Crossroads announced tonight that a live microphone would be placed in the target battleship Pennsylvania, which will be in the bullseye area.

Because broadcasters are not sure which will hit the mike first —sound or fury — an electrical metronome will be placed in front of it, ticking continuously. First indication to listeners that the bomb has burst may come when the ticking stops.

Then will come the sound of the explosion from microphones on other ships, stationed progressively farther away.

A running account of the test explosion will be carried on all major networks.

LIGHTWEIGHT RADAR DEVELOPED FOR PLANES

WASHINGTON, May 30—(AP) Lightweight radar equipment has been successfully adapted to use by airliners, the Army Air forces reported today, predicting it would help make flights safe in all kinds of weather.

Developed during the war, the equipment was used for the first time on a scheduled transport flight by a C-54 plane of the Air Transport command from Westover field, Mass., to Paris by way of Washington.

Radar enabled the plane to keep in contact with the Patuxent river, Md., beacon for 135 miles after leaving the Atlantic coast, permitted bypassing of bad weather areas, and spotted surface vessels and the coasts of Newfoundland and France long in advance, the Army said.

Canadian Scientist Dies Of Exposure to Radiation

By The Associated Press.

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., May 30—Dr. Louis Slotin, 35-year-old scientist from Winnipeg, Canada, died today from the effects of exposure to radiation, the Army announced.

Dr. Slotin and seven other physicists and technicians of the Los Alamos atomic bomb laboratory were injured May 21 in an accident while working with fissionable material. All were exposed to radiation, but the seven others are reported to be recovering.

Dr. N. E. Bradbury, project director, credited Dr. Slotin with dispersing the material "at the moment of the accident to prevent greater injury to fellow-scientists."

A native of Winnipeg, Dr. Slotin was unmarried. He obtained his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of London, England. He came to the atomic bomb laboratory from Oak Ridge, Tenn., in December, 1944. He had been associated with the Manhattan Engineering District since 1943.

PRODUCTION SETBACK PUT AT 3 MONTHS

Administrator Calls Loss From Coal Strike Nearly $2,000,000,000

Washington, May 30 (AP)—John D. Small, Civilian Production Administrator, said tonight the soft-coal strike and other work stoppages had set back the output of automobiles and other consumer goods by at least three months.

Also, Paul Porter, Price Administrator, declared in a statement that the 59-day mine strike was "extremely costly to the stabilization program." He said it had "delayed the time in a number of cases at which price ceilings can safely be removed."

Wage Losses Not Included

Small estimated that the coal strike alone had cost the country close to $2,000,000,000 in lost production, "not counting the loss of wages to the million of workers" it made idle.

The American economy "will bear the scars of the coal strike for many months to come," the production chief predicted in his monthly report.

This gloomy note was in sharp contrast to the rest of the report, which told of record consumer goods production in April, before the full impact of the coal stoppage was felt.

Some Beat Peacetime Record

Small said for some products—among them tires, men's suits, electric irons and vacuum cleaners—American industry last month surpassed peactime records.

And postwar peaks were reached, he reported, in production of automobiles, trucks, women's hosiery, refrigerators, stoves, radios and sewing machines.

Why are consumer goods still so hard to find despite the fact they are, as Small said, "being produced in greater quantity now than ever before in peacetime?"

Laid To Purchasing Power

His answer:

"The reason for the shortage of goods lies in the fortunate fact that consumers are in possession of large amounts of purchasing power, and that they are determined to use that purchasing power for the immediate satisfaction of their pentup wants."

In terms of dollars, manufacturers' shipments in April were double the 1939 rate, Small said, while in terms of quantity they were at least 50 per cent greater.

Reporting that joblessness declined last month — again before the full impact of the coal strike—for the first time since Japan surrendered, Small said civilian employment rose to a record high of 54,600,000 persons early in April.

Looks For Labor Shortage

Noting that this is close to the 57,000,000 mark "defined in some quarters as full employment," Small predicted the country is likely to face a severe labor shortage in the closing months of this year.

He said that retail sales in April and since the start of the year had soared in various lines from 30 to 125 per cent over levels for the same period in 1945.

The Civilian Production Administrator added that while consumer expenditures were unprecedentedly high, this did not reflect an increase in incomes, "but (means) rather that Americans are dipping into their wartime savings for what goods they can buy." The saving rate at present, Small said, is fourteen per cent of total income, as compared with 29 per cent during the war.

Residence Building Up

As for housing, Small reported that residential construction increased 25 per cent from March to April. Building permits were being issued, he said, at a rate almost equal to the period of record home construction twenty years ago.

Surveying some of the effects of the coal strike, Small said industries which suffered most include steel, railroads, utilities, chemicals, nonferrous metals, automobiles, tires, farm machinery and building materials.

"Important programs, such as the food program and the veterans emergency program, received serious setbacks," Small declared.

"The production of critical building materials, such as brick, tile, gypsum board, heating equipment and items made from iron castings, was checked by the lack of fuel.

To Lose Perishable Crops

"Perishable crops will be lost due to a shortage of both glass containers and tin cans. The loss of zinc and lead production, because of the power shortage which resulted from the coal strike, will affect a wide range of items from galvanized sheets and brass fittings to high-test gasoline."

Steel production, Small reported, declined steadily to less than 50 per cent of capacity by the middle of May.

"Future production," Small said, "will be adversely affected for many, many months by the indirect effects of strikes as they reverberate throughout our complex, interrelated economy."

Summary By Industries

Here's a summary of the civilian production administration's report on output of consumer goods in April, when the full impact of the soft-coal strike had not yet been felt:

AUTOMOBLES — Production jumped 67 per cent over the March level to a new high of 150,000 passenger cars. March output totaled 90,000.

TIRES — Output for passenger cars rose to 5,600,000, a four per cent gain over March.

REFRIGERATORS—April shipments climbed to 143,000 units, a new high since V-J day, and 54 per cent above March shipments. Production still was only 46 per cent of the prewar rate.

Above Prewar Rate

WASHING MACHINES — Deliveries shot up to 177,000 units, a 51 per cent gain over March shipments. April shipments were about twelve per cent higher than the prewar rate.

VACUUM CLEANERS—April shipments reached 174,000 units, up eight per cent from March and twelve per cent greater than the prewar monthly rate.

SEWING MACHINES—28,000 were shipped in April, about the same as in March. Deliveries were 43 per cent of the prewar rate.

ELECTRIC STOVES — Shipments totaled 23,000, about the same as in March but up 40 per cent over February.

GAS STOVES—Deliveries were up nineteen per cent to 152,000 units, the largest number shipped in any month since the war ended and 22 per cent above average monthly production in 1939.

1,000,000 Radio Sets

RADIOS—Shipments remained approximately the same as in March —about 1,000,000 sets, 33 per cent above February deliveries. April shipments were 91 per cent of the prewar rate.

SHOES—April output remained at the March level of 42,000,000 pairs, five per cent above February production. The average output in each of the first three months was 42,000,000 pairs, about 13 per cent higher than the monthly average of 37,000,000 pairs for the five year period 1941-45.

MEN'S SUITS—Based on cuttings by manufacturers, production during March was about 11.5 per cent over February. In 1941, peak production year, the average weekly output of suits was 442,000. Output during March this year reached 463,000.

WOMEN'S HOSIERY—March production was up seven per cent over February to approximately 54,000,000 pairs, or about 90 per cent of the industry's prewar peak production.

Summary of Report on Drop in Production Caused by Strikes

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Following is a summary of the report on April production issued today by John D. Small, Administrator of Civilian Production:

No one can measure accurately either the immediate or the ultimate damage inflicted on American industry by the series of economy-shaking strikes through which the country has been passing.

The soft coal strike, coming on the heels of the steel strike, drove industrial production down in April just as it was beginning to make headway for the second time since the end of the war.

In May, the crippling two-day railroad strike coupled with only partial operation of the coal mines during the two-week truce, further checked industrial activity.

* * * Hardest hit by the soft coal strike were steel and railroads. Steel production has declined steadily from 1,600,000 tons a week at the end of March to 860,000 tons, or less than 50 per cent of capacity, by the middle of May.

Railroad car loadings slipped about 20 per cent from more than 800,000 per week in March to about 650,000 during April and Early May. Overall electric power output was unchanged from the previous month, but there were severe local shortages in areas dependent upon coal to produce power, notably the Chicago area.

The output of petroleum, on the other hand, expanded as manufacturers and railroads turned to this substitute for coal. Oil production rose from 4,400,000 barrels a day in March to 4,700,000 in the early part of May.

Finished Goods Must Wait

The consuming public must recognize the fact that the settlement of a strike in a basic industry, such as steel, coal, or transportation, does not result in an immediate increase in the flow of finished products.

When the break in the pipeline of goods-in-process occurs near the end of the pipeline, as in the case of the General Motors strike, the flow of finished goods to consumers is interrupted almost immediately. Likewise, the flow can be resumed very shortly after a settlement is reached—as may be seen from the sharp increase in automobile production in April.

On the other hand, when the break in the pipeline occurs near the beginning of the line—in soft coal, for example, which is used to make pig iron, used to make steel ingots, used to roll into steel sheets for manufacturers to make automobiles, refrigerators, etc.—the public is slow to feel the effect since the impact is cushioned by inventories of materials and work-in-process along the way.

But once that pipeline has been sucked dry clear back to the point of the break, it takes a long time to be refilled.

Thus, it will take much longer to recover after the coal strike is settled than in the case of the steel strike. For the pipeline of raw steel and even iron has been virtually exhausted, whereas during the steel strike the unfinished steel at the mills was not drawn out of the pipeline.

In the case of copper it will take from two to six months, after settlement of current strikes in mines and refineries, to refill the pipeline and re-establish the uninterrupted flow of materials, work-in-process and finished products.

Hoarding Is Discounted

Mr. Small exonerated industry of the frequently heard charge that manufacturers or dealers were hoarding goods. A review of industrial inventories, he said, shows that, except for occasional items of "insignificant" importance, "no large-scale hoarding is taking place.

"Finished goods are being distributed and sold almost as soon as they come off the assembly line," he said:

The report went on:

Early reports on the level of retail sales during April indicate that consumer expenditures during that month were at the highest rate ever attained. Department store sales were 51 per cent above April, 1945, and sales by other types of merchandisers showed similar gains.

A compilation of chain-store sales during April demonstrates that the largest chain of stores selling automotive accessories increased its sales by 125 per cent over a year ago. Sales of shoe store chains increased 120 per cent, men's wear chains 90 per cent, mail order houses 66 per cent, women's apparel chains 45 per cent, general merchandise and variety store chains 40 per cent and drug and grocery chains 30 per cent over last year.

Savings Rate Is Cut

However, the report made, expenditures are at the expense of savings to a greater extent than during the war. Americans who during the war were saving as much as 29 per cent of their total income are now saving only 14 per cent. This rate is still higher than the pre-war rate, when even in years of peak prosperity savings were only 10 to 12 per cent of total disposable income.

Pointing out that expenditures would be even higher if goods were available for purchase, Mr. Small warned against thinking that price increases alone would bring forth sufficient production to avoid inflation.

"If any lesson is to be learned from our experience in 1919-20," he repeated, "it is the risk of relying exclusively upon price increases to solve our problems. If we are to avoid a repetition of 1920, we must not price ourselves out of the market."

The report went on:

The Civilian Production Administration has taken the position that the extension of price control until June, 1947, will not deter but will encourage production if the controls continue to be administered with increasing realism and flexibility.

This agency feels that price controls are vital to prevent preemptive buying and hoarding of materials. CPA also believes that other measures, such as appropriate fiscal policy, must be used to supplement price control if it is to be effective in staving off inflation.

The rise of 1,600,000 in employment from early March to early April absorbed all the men released from the armed forces. The 600,000 others who re-entered the labor force in the month caused "the first decline in unemployment since V-J Day," Mr. Small said.

He went on:

Should employment rise another 2,500,000 this year—and such a rise seems certain in view of the large increases in construction activity and durable goods production scheduled for the months ahead—employment will hit the 57,000,000 mark, defined in some quarters as "full employment" for the post-war transition period.

The changes in the labor force and in employment in the past two months tend to confirm the conclusion advanced in earlier reports that the country is likely to face a severe labor shortage in the closing months of 1946.

The loss of man-days of working time as a result of strikes has been greater during the first four months of 1946 than ever before in the country's history.

Although records of man-days idle were not kept for the period following World War I, it is clear that the current losses are even greater than in that period, even after allowance for growth in population.

All Building on Rise

Despite the Government's efforts to channel the bulk of building materials into new housing, commercial construction was ten times that of last April, Mr. Small said, and all types of building shared in what he called the "sharp upward movement."

He reviewed the progress, previously reported in most cases, so far made in stimulating production of critically scarce building materials. The "judicious" use of premium-payment subsidies recently authorized by Congress should make further gains possible, he said.

The gains in consumer goods production were marked, in many cases. Output of washing machines, for instance, jumped 51 per cent in April over March, to a total of 177,000 units. This is 12 per cent higher than the pre-war rate.

Other all-time high marks were reached as follows:

Tires, passenger car and motorcycle, 5,600,000; a 4 per cent increase over March.

Men's suits, nearly 2,000,000 (March estimate).

Vacuum cleaners, 175,000; 8 per cent over March.

Electric irons, 382,000; a 24 per cent gain from March.

Post-war peaks were reached in production of the following:

Automobiles, 150,000.
Trucks, 81,000.
Women's hosiery, 54,000,000 pairs.
Sewing machines, 28,000.
Domestic mechanical refrigerators, 143,000.
Electric ranges, 23,000.
Gas ranges, 152,000.
Radio sets, nearly 1,000,000.

MORE SPEED IS SOUGHT IN SALE OF SURPLUSES

WASHINGTON, May 30—(AP) In a drive to speed up surplus disposal, the War Assets administration tonight announced plans to make sales centers of Army posts, Navy bases and war plants.

Prospective buyers will be invited to inspect and purchase at the military warehouses where the goods are now stored.

When complete selling staffs are installed, the sites will be operated as sub-regional offices of WAA, with authority to make disposals on the "come-and-get-it" basis without seeking decisions from Washington or regional headquarters.

FOUR DISCUSS U.S. CONTROL

Reuther Charges Government With Lack Of Leadership

Detroit, May 30 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, asserted tonight "much of the present unrest in our country stems from failure of Congress and the Administration to give leadership in the transition of our economy from war to peace."

Reuther participated in an "American Town Meeting of the Air" broadcast on the topic "Are We Moving Toward a Government-Controlled Economy?"

Other speakers included Senator Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.); A. A. Berle, Jr., former diplomat, and Herman W. Steinkraus, president of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Brass Company.

"As Convenient Smoke Screen"

Reuther charged "big business and monopoly industry continue to raise the scare of a Government-controlled economy as a convenient smoke screen behind which they can advance their own special interests at the expense of the people. . . .

"During the war emergency controls did not represent a movement toward a Government-controlled economy, but was more a partnership between big business and Government. . . .

"When the 'golden age' of private enterprise ended in the universal bankruptcy of our national economy it made it necessary for the Roosevelt Administration to establish Government controls over important sections of our economy. Since 1935 we have steadily lessened these Government controls," Reuther added.

Lists Four Road Signs

Steinkraus said the four "different road signs pointing to a Government-controlled economy" are apparent in the United States. He listed them as: (1) Government control of the nation's finances; (2) production and employment; (3) prices and (4) Government use of propaganda.

"The road signs indicate that we are going in the way of a Government-controlled ecenomy and it is high time that we turn back on the course our forefathers set 170 years ago," Steinkraus concluded.

Senator Ferguson said "my experience . . . leaves no doubt in my mind that we have been living in such a controlled economy for several years nof under a succession of so-called emergencies culminating in a genuine war emergency where we have had a completely Government-controlled economy."

Ferguson declared "emergency in control breeds emengency . . . and you know how controls of the national Government can disrupt and destroy normal living."

ARMY NEGRO 'SEGREGATION' IS CRITICIZED

Proved 'Emotional Cancer' To Men, Psychiatrist Declares

Louisville, May 30 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today drew a picket line around the Louisville Armory to protest against planned segregation of white and Negro patrons at this coming Sunday night's performance of Frank (Sugar Chile) Robinson, 7-year-old Negro pianist.

Chicago, May 30 (AP)—Major Rutherford Stevens, Jr., an army psychiatrist, said today "segregation" of Negro inductees into the Army "proved a constantly annoying emotional cancer" to them.

And he said, in a paper prepared for the closing session of the American Psychiatric Association's one hundred second meeting, that growth of this "emotional cancer" depended "to a great extent on the other important racial factor, discrimination."

Purpose Of Paper

Saying he was reporting on five years of military service in varied capacities with Negro troops, Dr. Stevens, a Negro, declared the purpose of his paper was:

"To aid the psychiatrist and others dealing with emotional problems and health of Negroes in obtaining a better understanding of the Negro patient through a discussion of the reactions of Negro soldiers to racial segregation and discrimination observed within the zone of the interior during the war."

Dr. Stevens said that the Negro soldier, shortly after beginning his military training "usually found that there was little for him to do during his off-duty hours because of inadequate facilities for recreation and entertainment."

"He (the Negro soldier) compared these with those present for white troops," he said, "and the comparison was most frequently unfavorable."

THREE GI BABIES ILL AS TRANSPORT ARRIVES

NEW YORK, May 30—(AP) The Army transport John Ericsson arrived today from Southampton with 552 war brides and 71 children—including three infants suffering from diarrhea.

The babies were moved to the Army hospital at Fort Hamilton where 60 others are under treatment for intestinal disorders blamed in nine recent infant deaths.

An autopsy was ordered in the death of 10-weeks-old Doris J. Dombeck whose body was removed from the John Ericsson on arrival.

The baby died at sea last Sunday. Capt. Kenneth Fletcher, Chicopee Falls, Mass., Army surgeon, said the death was believed due to suffocation but the baby was suffering from diarrhea when taken aboard the ship.

London, May 30-(AP)-An authoritative Yugoslav official said today that Russian Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov's insistence that Trieste be given to Yugoslavia marks a change in Russian policy resulting from Russian-Yugoslavian talks.

The official said that Russia originally was unconcerned with the fate of the disputed Italian Adriatic port city, which was a central issue at the Paris conference of the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France.

The official did not say whether any pledges were made to Russia in return for Moscow's support on the Yugoslav demand for Trieste, but said that Yugoslavia had to work very energetically to get soviet backing.

American experts at the Paris meeting had expressed views parallel with that of the Yugoslav official. They said Molotov had pledged Trieste to Yugoslavia and could not change position for fear of losing face.

At one time at Paris, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin openly charged Molotov with reversing the four power decision at London to set up an Italian-Yugoslav frontier along the ethnic line. Molotov denied he had changed his policy.

A British foreign office spokesman said yesterday that "Yugoslavia is isolating herself from the west."

The yugoslav informant denied this, saying "some people think we are just a tool of Russia, but they fail to see that we are only really following our own interests."

He said Yugoslavia cannot afford to have Trieste as a springboard for aggression" at the tip of the Adriatic. He said the Yugoslav government

Russia Sees U. N. Help Needed in Palestine Row

LONDON, May 31—(AP) The Moscow radio said tonight that United Nations participation would be needed to settle the "more acute than ever" problem of Palestine.

"Negotiations between Britain and America alone cannot possibly settle this very serious problem," said commentator Mikhail Mikhailov in an English-language broadcast.

Of the recommendation by the British-American Inquiry committee for admitting 100,000 Jews into Palestine, originally proposed by President Truman, the commentator said:

"Foreign observers discern a desire of the American rulers to satisfy Zionist circles in the United States, and also to win the sympathy of the Jews in Palestine and make them supporters of America."

Earlier broadcasts from Moscow had charged that the United States was seeking to infiltrate Arab countries and obtain permanent bases in Iceland. Another asked also whether Iran's "unbidden champions" in the United Nations were trying to fan conflict on Russia's southern borders.

Situation Tense

Quoting an Izvestia observer, one broadcast said the situation in Palestine was so tense that it was a "danger to peace and security."

"Certain observers in the American press oppose any attempt by the United States to intervene in Palestine affairs in such a tense situation and oppose participation in disarming Arab and Jewish detachments," it said.

"One should bear in mind," it continued, "that the United States is seeking to consolidate its positions in the Arab Orient. U.S.A. has already firmly set foot in Saudi Arabia and Lebanon and is carrying on negotiations with Yemen."

"The U.S.A. attaches special importance to Palestine with the view of its plan for further economic and political infiltration of Arab countries."

An article in the newspaper Red Fleet was quoted as saying that "American troops continue to stay" in Iceland and, "far from hurrying to liquidate its Icelandic bases, the U.S.A. is striving to make them permanent x x x."

Troop Withdrawal Fair

It declared the withdrawal of troops would have been "the more fair, since the Icelanders voluntarily placed their territory at the Allies' disposal and thus made their contribution to Germany's defeat."

In yet another broadcast, commentator Dr. Levin demanded to know whether the "unbidden champions" of Iran in the Security Council wanted peace and security in the Middle East or "artificially to create and fan trouble and conflict on the southern frontiers of the Soviet Union.

"Some people are going in for the futile business of playing their vote combinations in the new security organization. Actually they desire to make that organization the tool of some one power or group of powers—or, in other words, a tool for the isolation of some power or group of powers.

"Obviously this sort of thing may lead to a grave ordeal for the whole security organization. The unworthy plan bound up with the Iranian question has put those behind it into a very awkward position indeed."

Reds See Palestine Menace to Peace

London, May 31 (A. P.).—The Moscow Radio quoted an Izvestia correspondent today as saying that the situation in Palestine is so tense that it is a danger to the peace and security of the Near East.

"Arab newspapers see a desire on Great Britain's part to shift responsibility for developments in Palestine on to the United States," the observer was quoted as saying.

Moscow Heckles Iran's Backers

London, May 31 (AP)—The Moscow radio asked bluntly last night if Iran's "unbidden champions" want peace and security in the Middle East, or seek "artificially to create and fan trouble and conflict on the southern frontiers of the Soviet Union."

Protesting retention of the Russian-Iranian question on the agenda of the United Nations Security Council, Commentator Levin observed that "one cannot help wondering what it is that Iran's unbidden champions really want."

U.N. "Tool" Of Clique

"The way the Iranian question has been brought up in the Security Council and handled there smacks too much of the lamentable methods of the League of Nations," Levin said, adding:

"Some people are going in for the futile business of playing their vote combinations in the new international security organization. Actually they desire to make that organization the tool of some one power or group of powers—or, in other words, a tool for the isolation of some power or group of powers.

"Obviously this sort of thing may lead to a grave ordeal for the whole security organization. The unworthy plan bound up with the Iranian question has put those behind it into a very awkward position indeed."

British Delegation to Iran

3 Parliament Members to Study Oil Area Labor Conditions

LONDON, May 31 (AP).—Foreign Under Secretary Hector McNeil said today the British Foreign Office was arranging to send three members of Parliament to southern Iran soon "to consider labor conditions in the area of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company."

The Moscow radio has recently quoted Iranian press complaints about treatment of the company's workers. The company, in which the British government owns a majority of stock, holds concessions over 100,000 square miles. The Parliamentary delegation will be composed of Laborites F. Lee and J. H. Jones and Conservative W. N. Cuthberg.

Moscow Attacks U.S. Reactionaries

London, Saturday, June 1 (AP)—American "reactionaries" are trying to move the United States into an Anglo-American military bloc "in preparation for a third world war," the Moscow radio said today.

Quoting Commentator Peter Orlov, the broadcast said that "from this angle, progressive circles in the United States criticize (Secretary of State James F.) Byrnes's plan . . . for control over Germany."

"Such criticism is the more well-founded because since the publication of this plan, the sabotage of the Berlin conference decision has further intensified," the broadcast added.

"The actions of the Allied administration in Germany clearly reflect power politics, which cannot promote peace and universal security."

Smuts Suggests Federal System For Germany

LONDON, May 31 (AP).—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa and British elder statesman, urged tonight that Germany be decentralized to form a federal system which could not threaten world peace and which could join the United Nations some day.

He called for a "revision and reversal" of the Allied occupation policy in a Union Day broadcast.

Smuts declared that the United States "have come to dominate the East and West of this globe," and added: "It is a unique, almost frightening situation of a world lapsing into dualism."

Urging German decentralization, he said: "But do not attempt to destroy a great, historic people or their homeland or their means of livelihood. The attempt will not only be a crime but an error doomed to failure, and the failure may be as great as the original offense of Germany.

"As a vast depressed area—human and economic—she may become a center of infection which may poison much of the Continent."

All British Planes to Be Jet

Piston Engines Officially Declared Outmoded—600 M. P. H. Transport Ordered.

London, May 31 (A. P.).—British aviation—both military and commercial—will be converted entirely to jet-propelled craft, John Wilmot, Minister of Supply, said today at a news conference.

He said that piston engines had been listed officially as outmoded. He added that he believed Great Britain led the world in the development of jet propulsion engines.

He said an order had been placed for a 38-ton jet transport which would carry passengers across the Atlantic at a speed approaching 600 miles an hour. No delivery date has been set.

Wilmot disclosed also that British scientists had produced a new metal to make jet planes even faster. This he described as a special heat-resisting steel which would be used in the turbine blades of engines and explained that if the heat of the gases driving the turbine could be increased only a few degrees it would mean more horse power and increased speeds.

BRITISH SET UP MACHINERY TO RATION BREAD

Decision Will Be Made In Few Weeks, Food Minister Says

London, May 31 (AP)—Bread-rationing machinery is being set up in Britain, and the decision whether to ration bread will be made in a few weeks, John Strachey, Food Minister, declared today during a lengthy debate in the House of Commons on Britain's food situation.

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition, earlier had charged the Labor Government with shortsightedness in its food policies, and said that failure of Soviet-occupied Germany to supply food to the rest of the Reich contributed to the British food problem.

Lack [illegible] Charged

Strachey, newly appointed Food Minister, said he did not expect that voluntary schemes of economizing on bread would prove satisfactory and that rationing machinery was being set up for emergency use for the United Kingdom's 45,000,000 people "to give security for our daily bread."

Strachey declared, "The purpose of rationing is to insure that the people of Britain do not lack for bread. It is to insure that everyone actually will receive his full share of available supplies."

Bread was not rationed in Britain during the war.

Churchill said famine conditions in India and the British occupation zone of Germany "showed extraordinary lack of foresight on the part of the administration and conditions in the British zone of Germany should have been foreseen.

Herbert Morrison Gloomy

"The great feeding grounds which nourished Germany as a whole lie to the east of the iron curtain and food supplies have not been sent from there which belong to the population of Germany as a whole and should have been reserved for their nourishment.

"As a consequence we are burdened with a very large number of additional hungry people," he said.

Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, who conferred recently in Washington on world famine conditions, spoke gloomily of the food situation, which he likened to the black days of Dunkerque "when all the news was bad."

A Continuing Peril Seen

Morrison said "the very blackness of the situation is calling forth forces which might make this the turning point in human history. The threat of famine is no passing crisis—it is a continuing peril which will hang over us at the very least until the harvest of 1947 reaches the consumer."

He said that when he went to Washington British grain stocks were so low that by today "there would not have been a ton of bread grain left in the British zone in Germany," but that as a result of the Washington talks "this threat to the prestige and the security of the British occupation in Germany has now been averted."

Conservative Accuses UNRRA

He said since his Washington conversations "the United States Government has found it possible to make available for India and the British zone in Germany appreciable quantities of wheat and coarse grain for early shipment."

Major E. G. R. Lloyd, a Conservative, charged that two thirds of the food delivered to UNRRA was being delivered to the black market and that the distribution was accompanied by "political prejudice and malice."

He demanded to know why "so many Communists and commissars have the sole distribution of food in countries which are not Communist," and said, "Let us get a Mr. Hoover to inquire into some of those countries."

Answer By LaGuardia

In Washington, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, UNRRA director general, declared that Lloyd "does not know what he is talking about."

"All of UNRRA's food is distributed through the regular commercial or government channels," his statement said.

"As to Communists and commissars in non-Communist countries, that is a lot of bosh. I take it with a couple of pounds of salt. You understand, I myself served fourteen years in the House."

Bread-Rationing Hint Is Given In Britain

London, May 31 (AP)—John Strachey, Britain's new Food Minister, hinted to the House of Commons today that bread rationing may be only a few weeks off for the 45,000,000 residents of the United Kingdom.

He does not expect that voluntary schemes of bread economy will prove satisfactory, Strachey said in announcing that rationing machinery was being prepared for possible emergency use.

Purpose Of Rationing

The purpose of rationing, he said, would be "to give security for our daily bread."

He said a final decision would be forthcoming in a few weeks. Earlier, Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, compared the world food situation to the black days of Dunkirk "when all the news was bad."

"The very blackness of the situation," he said during debate on Britain's food administration, "is calling forth which might make this the turning point in human history."

Churchill Chides Labor

Winston Churchill, British wartime Prime Minister and now leader of the Conservative opposition, chided the Labor Government for its food administration, which he called shortsighted, and asked for an explanation of the recent resignation of Food Minister Sir Ben Smith.

"The great feeding grounds which nourished Germany as a whole, lie to the east of the iron curtain and food supplies have not been sent from there which belong to the population of Germany as a whole and should have been reserved for their nourishment," Churchill said, opening a debate.

Morrison said bread rationing would be used only in case of necessity.

More Than A Year To Go

"The threat of famine is no passing crisis," Morrison said. "It is a continuing peril which will hang over us at the very least until the harvest of 1947 reaches the consumer."

He said that since last autumn Britain had diverted 900,000 tons of food grains to Germany and 104,000 tons to India.

"It is utterly impossible for the United Kingdom alone to shoulder the responsibility for feeding 20,000,000 in the British zone in Germany and 400,000,000 hungry Indians," he said.

Morrison reported that when he went to Washington for food discussions with the United States, official stocks of grain were so low that by today "there would not have been a ton of bread grain left in the British zone in Germany." He continued:

"As a result of the Washington talks, this threat to the prestige and the security of the British occupation in Germany has now been averted.

U.S. Is Aiding

"Since my discussions in Washington," he said, "the United States Government has found it possible to make available for India and the British zone of Germany appreciable quantities of wheat and coarse grain for early shipment."

Churchill said as a consequence of the Russian control of German granaries, "we are burdened with a very large number of additional hungry people."

Churchill declined to take issue with the Government on the British-American dispute which followed contradiction by a United States State Department spokesman of part of Morrison's report to the Commons on his discussions in Washington.

Morrison "Ill-Used"

"I think myself," he said, "that Mr. Morrison was somewhat ill-used as a result of the statement of the public relations officer in the United States."

"I am very glad that the matter has been agreeably cleared up by Mr. Clayton's expression of regret," he added.

Concerning Smith's resignation, Churchill remarked "he may have been dismissed for incompetence, but even in that case one would imagine that he would want to say some words in his defense."

"Lack Of Foresight"

Famine conditions in India and the British occupation zone of Germany, Churchill declared, "showed an extraordinary lack of foresight on the part of the administration, and conditions in the British zone of Germany should have been foreseen."

Churchill's assertion that Britain had given up 200,000 tons of wheat drew a denial from Morrison, majority leader and the first to reply for the Government.

"You cannot give away what you have not got," Morrison replied, "and we had not got this 200,000 tons. We never had it. We had no promise of it. It was not in the ships. There was no contract of any kind."

Says Black Market Gets UNRRA Food

London, May 31 (A. P.).—Major E. G. R. Lloyd, Conservative Member of Parliament, complained in the Commons today that two-thirds of the food delivered to UNRRA was going into the black market.

"It is not easy to get the truth behind the iron curtain," he said. "UNRRA officials are not allowed to poke their noses into what is not their concern." He asked "why so many communists and commissars have the sole distribution of food in countries which are not communist."

WORLD REFUGEE AGENCY PROPOSED

London, May 31 (A. P.).—The special United Nations Committee on Refugees recommended today that an international agency be established to resettle war refugees who cannot go home.

Hector McNeil, chairman of the committee and British Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, said however, that his group had been unable to agree on several points. He said these included who should be considered refugees, what were valid reasons for them not to go home and what kind of an international agency should be established. The committee has debated these questions here for seven weeks.

McNeil said he would ask the committee tomorrow to recommend that the United Nations Economic and Social Council take some interim measures, adding, "We cannot leave displaced persons on relief measures only throughout another winter."

He said there was "great disagreement" on how funds for the new agency should be obtained. Great Britain's view is that the agency's budget should be subject to approval by the United Nations, he said, while the United States and Russia want separate agreements on the cost of the large scale resettlement by the governments concerned.

The three Powers also have differed on whether the new agency should be a part of the United Nations.

Get Franco U. N. Protest

U. S. and British Officials Say It Merits Little Attention

LONDON, May 31 (AP).—American and British officials said today they had received Generalissimo Francisco Franco's protest about United Nations discussions on Spain, but are not paying much attention to it. One British official indicated it was unlikely that either government would reply.

Meanwhile, the British government announced it had renewed protests to Spanish authorities about "brutal maltreatment" of political prisoners at the time of their arrest and court-martialing of civilians. He said the Spaniards replied that they had issued instructions against maltreatment and invited the British to interview prisoners.

BRITAIN SAYS FRANCO IS NO PEACE THREAT

Report Submitted As U.N. Investigation Draws To A Close

New York, June 1 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council's subcommittee on Spain completed its deliberations just at the midnight deadline tonight and announced its report would be circulated among the Council delegations some time Saturday.

It will be made public at an unspecified time during the weekend after it has been received by all the Council members.

The report is contained in a summary running to twenty typewritten pages based on information contributed by Russia, the United Kingdom, the United States, Brazil, Belgium, France and the exiled Spanish Republican leadership.

The United States' contribution of 55,000 pages of captured German and Italian documents on microfilm arrived too late for processing but will be screened and translated by the secretariat and held in the archives for any future reference.

Britain Sees No Threat

Great Britain at the last minute submitted a document maintaining that the régime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco was not a threat to world peace.

The British document, coupled with a similar document submitted earlier by the United States, led to the belief in United Nations circles that the subcommittee's report would leave the Council approximately where it was before the inquiry.

At that time Russia, Poland, France and Mexico favored a world-wide break of diplomatic relations with Franco, but the majority of the Council members contended there was not sufficient evidence to warrant such action.

The British document said Britain had been unable to find any evidence that Spain was making undue military preparations, that Franco was engaged in atomic research or that the deployment of Spanish forces was a threat.

Equipment Called Obsolete

It declared the production of war materials in Spain "is negligible" and that existing equipment "is obsolescent or obsolete."

While pointing out that relations between the British and Spanish Governments have "steadily deteriorated" and that Britain considered her relations with Spain to be "highly unsatisfactory," the document said there existed no "friction" which could be described as endangering peace.

To sum up, it concluded, the British Government adheres "to the view expressed in the Security Council that the existence and activities of the Franco regime are not, as far as available evidence shows, such as to constitute a threat to international peace and security."

SIAM REPORTS TO U.N. ABOUT FRENCH ISSUE

Troops From Indo-China Said To Be Plundering Across Border

New York, May 31 (AP)—The Siamese Chargè d'Affairés in Washington submitted a nine-page memorandum to the United Nations tonight charging that French forces from Indo-China had made arbitrary arrests of Siamese nationals and engaged in "wanton fusilades," plunger and looting.

"Since the termination of the war in the Pacific, the relations between Siam and France have noticeably deteriorated," said the memorandum signed by L. D. Bhakdi.

It follows a protest filed with the United Nations three days ago by the President of the Siamese Council of Ministers asking the sympathy, assistance and co-operation of the United Nations against "unjustified aggression" by French troops.

No Specific Action Asked

Neither communication to Secretary General Tryge Lie, however, asked for any specific United Nations action to settle the border dispute between Siam and Indo-China. Lie circulated both to the United Nations without comment or recommendation.

Tonight's detailed accusation against French colonial troops was accompanied by a letter from Siam's Foreign Minister applying for membership in the United Nations.

It appealed for Lie's "precious assistance" so that "this legitimate aspiration of Siam will become a reality."

Siam's aspirations to membership has the indicated sponsorship of Great Britain and the United States. Siam made peace with Britain several months ago, after having been a wartime, Japanese sattelite. The United States never replied to iSam's declaration of war soon after Pearl Harbor.

Territory Reported Violated

Tonight's Siamese memorandum charged French troops had violated Siamese territory and established an "arbitrary control of Mekong River traffic, search of Siamese boats and confiscation of properties belonging to Siamese nationals."

"In bringing the above to the knowledge of the United Nations organizations," it said, "the Siamese Government hope that they will serve the general interests in making every effort for the maintenance of peaceful and friendly relations between the nations of the world."

U.N. Social Unit Studies Plan

New York, May 31 (AP)—A broad program affecting the lives and living conditions of millions of people over the globe was up for action today by the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, president of the Council, was hopeful that the eighteen-member body would be able to deal with much of the program in sessions today. The Council must consider recommendations made by five commissions and one subcommittee that reported to the Council earlier this week.

One of the most important reports is that of the Commission on Human Rights, of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is chairman. The commission is concerned with drafting a world bill of rights and has recommended creation of a subcommission on freedom of information and of the press.

Issue Of Experts

In working on these reports, the Council must decide the issue of putting representatives of nations or individual experts in particular fields on the commissions proposed by the preliminary groups meeting here.

Commission majorities have expressed preferences for the "expert" system but Russian representatives have insisted that the commissoin should be made up of government representatvies.

The United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigating Spain wrestled with pages and pages of information bearing on the Spanish case as the deadline set by the Council for a report arrived.

Evidence All In

The subcommittee closed its books to further evidence yesterday but just before that was done the United States, Great Britain and France submitted a large volume of additional information.

The French, meanwhile, indirectly answered a protest by Siam to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General.

The French High Commission in Saigon, Indo-China, declared officially that French forces entered Siamese territory recently in pursuit of "Annamite and Laotien rebels" who raided French Indo-China.

The commission said these were the incidents "that seem to be the basis for the campaign carried out by the Siamese authorities to stir up world public opinion."

Have Been Pleased With His Present Role.

Washington, May 31 (A. P.).—Edward R. Stettinius Jr. has submitted his resignation as this Government's representative on the United Nation Security Council, but President Truman said today he will refuse to accept it.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that both he and Secretary of State Byrnes want Stettinius to remain as the United States delegate and he believed that Stettinius would agree to do so. Stettinius, the President said, sent in a letter of resignation saying that he had completed the job he had agreed to do—that is, the task of helping to organize the United Nations.

The letter, Mr. Truman continued, was received two or three days ago in the midst of the President's difficulties over the strike situation and had not yet been answered. However, Mr. Truman said that it would be answered and that he would express the hope that Stettinius would not insist on leaving the United Nations post.

It was the third time Stettinius had advised Mr. Truman that he was ready to leave Government service and return to private life. This time, it is understood, he has informed the President that he considered his major work in the United Nations accomplished since the organization is now a going concern.

There have been persistent reports that Stettinius was not particularly pleased with the role of U. N. delegate, after Mr. Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes made it clear that policy was being shaped in Washington rather than by the U. N. delegate in New York. Byrnes also had twice moved in on United Nations meetings to handle the difficult Iranian and atomic control issues.

Those familiar with Stettinius's action in the present case—including those close to Byrnes and Mr. Truman as well as those who know Stettinius's own views—insist, however, that there are no personal difficulties or policy disagreements in the proposed resignation. Rather, Stettinius was said to have advised Mr. Truman that he felt he had finished his task during the period of initial United Nations organization and desired now to return to private life. Neither Stettinius nor the White House made any immediate comment.

ment early in the war emergency period and first achieved international note as wartime Lend-Lease Administrator. It was from that job that he went to the State Department, reportedly as President Roosevelt's personal choice, to be Under-Secretary. In that capacity he attended the Dumbarton Oaks conference, which wrote the first United Nations charter draft. He became Secretary of State when Cordell Hull retired.

STETTINIUS' LETTER

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Following is the text of the letter of resignation submitted to President Truman by Mr. Stettinius, as given out today at the White House:

Dear Mr. President:

The day after Mr. Roosevelt's funeral, a little more than a year ago, when I submitted my resignation as Secretary of State, you asked me to carry on for a time longer. The San Francisco Conference to write a charter for the United Nations was then less than two weeks away. President Roosevelt, under whom I had been privileged to serve, was gone. Secretary Hull, that great statesman, was ill. I felt that it was my obligation to do all within my power to carry the San Francisco Conference through to a successful conclusion. I accepted your assignment.

Nine weeks later I talked with you again at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. The Charter had been completed and agreed upon unanimously by all the fifty countries represented.

I had entered Government service at the beginning of the war emergency in May, 1940, at Mr. Roosevelt's request, with the purpose of remaining in the service of my Government only as long as I might be needed during the period of the war. At San Francisco I told you this.

You accepted my resignation as Secretary of State, but you asked me to accept appointment as United States representative to the United Nations. You asked me specifically to take charge of the Administration's case for ratification of the Charter by the United States Senate; to represent the United States in the Preparatory Commission at London; to be chairman of the United States delegation to the first Assembly; to serve on the Security Council and to organize the United States representation to the United Nations. You asked that I carry on with the United Nations until the institution was a going enterprise.

I have now completed what you asked me to do. The Charter was overwhelmingly approved by the United States Senate and ratified by every other country. The first Assembly has completed its organizational meeting and the various Councils and Commissions of the United Nations are at work. The organization is functioning at its interim headquarters and the permanent United States delegation is established.

The ship whose keel was laid at Dumbarton Oaks and launched at San Francisco has put to sea—fully equipped and manned.

Having now completed what you asked me to do, I believe that the time has arrived when I can rightfully ask you to accept my resignation as United States representative to the United Nations, to take effect as early as circumstances permit.

As I submit my resignation I want you to know how deeply I appreciate the opportunities you have given me for service in the cause of peace.

You may be sure that my faith in the United Nations and my devotion to the cause it represents will always remain uppermost in my heart and mind.

With kindest personal regards and best wishes, I am

Yours faithfully,

EDWARD R. STETTINIUS JR.

Slaying Of U.S. Private In Paris Is Described

Paris, May 31 (AP)—The slaying of a United States Army mail courier who was trying to defend the mail from theft by two other American soldiers was described today at the court-martial of Private Eddy Jones, Jr., of Cleveland, charged with the holdup killing.

A witness, Private Lee R. Barker, of Atcheson, Kan., said two soldiers, one of them Jones, held up the mail jeep which he and Private James C. Clendaniel, of Lincoln, Del., were operating last February and forced them to drive beyond the Paris city limits.

At one point where the jeep slowed down, Barker testified, he and Clendaniel put up a fight, during which Jones fired two shots, wounding Clendaniel fatally. Jones's companion, Private Edgar Jordan, of Chicago, was killed April 13 in an attempt to escape following his arrest.

Germany Control Unification Again Asked by McNarney

BERLIN, May 31.—(AP) Gen. Joseph T. McNarney renewed his demands today for administration of Germany as a single economic unit, and declared increasing attacks by German civilians on U. S. troops and hunger were resulting from the lack of unification.

McNarney's demand that the Potsdam agreement's provision for administering the Reich as an economic unit be fulfilled in whole and not in part was contained in his monthly report as American military governor on occupation affairs.

Document Is Gloomy

It was a gloomy document, which may herald the Americans' last big effort to achieve unification. Blame for the stalemate has been laid to Russia, a signatory of Potsdam and holder of an approximately self-sufficient zone of Germany, and to France, which was not represented at Potsdam but insists on fixing Germany's western boundaries before discussing economic unification.

In order to break the decision, the Americans have already announced an embargo on all industrial reparations shipments out of their zone until it is decided whether the zone will have to stand alone in a permanently divided Germany.

McNarney said the U. S. zone was beset with these five problems:

1. A food situation still critical after reduction of rations from 1,275 to 1,180 calories daily for the normal consumer.

2. Growing lawlessness, featuring increasing attacks by German civilians on U. S. troops, and a serious increase in food thefts by a hungry populace.

3. An export-import picture critically out of balance as the bill for food imports, chiefly from the United States, mounts.

4. A generally gloomy industrial situation sharpened by coal and steel shortages.

5. An overcrowding of the zone by an increase in the displaced persons population, compounded by an influx of hundreds of thousands of refugees expelled from the east and southeast of Europe.

Many Food Thefts

McNarney said that "aside from the attacks on military personnel, German crimes consist largely of food thefts, looting has reached serious proportions on trains and because of this fact German police now are stationed in yards and depots and U. S. military police ride the trains."

Discussing the four power stalemate, McNarney said:

"The U. S. delegation has taken the position that the Potsdam principles for treatment of Germany as an economic unit must be carried out in their entirety. It has insisted that reparations, the export-import policy and the establishment of a central German administrative machinery are interrelated questions which require integrated decisions and that, failing such decisions by the control council, they must be referred to the governments concerned."

Coal and steel shortages were blamed largely for lagging industrial production, estimated to be two-thirds below the minimum level envisaged at Potsdam, but McNarney added that "financial uncertainties and zonal barriers to free interchange of goods" were other factors retarding rehabilitation of economic life in the U. S. zone.

Imports Are High

McNarney said that still incomplete figures showed that from the beginning of the occupation to the end of April imports and import commitments in the U. S. zone were about $100,000,000, while exports and export commitments were only about $7,500,000.

McNarney declared also that although 37,000 displaced persons including 16,000 Poles were repatriated during April, so many persons infiltrated into the U. S. zone from eastern Europe and other occupation zones that the total rose by 25,000, reaching 532,000.

"The illegal influx of refugees and expellees into the U. S. zone is reaching serious proportions and the continued presence of some 600,000 refugees who were formerly domiciled in Germany east of the Oder and Neisse rivers further overcrowds it," McNarney said. "The solution of this latter problem will require further quadpartite action."

UNIFIED REICH IS DEMANDED BY M'NARNEY

He Says Country Must Be Administered as an Economic Whole.

BERLIN, May 31 (A. P.).—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney demanded today fulfillment of the Potsdam Agreement's provision to administer Germany as an economic unit as necessary to pul the country out of an economic crisis which has developed in the western zones.

Russia, a signatory of Potsdam and holder of an almost self-sufficient zone of Germany, has been blamed for this stalemate, along with France, which was not at Potsdam but insists on fixing of Germany's western boundaries before economic unification.

The demand of the American Military Governor was contained in his monthly report on occupation affairs.

The report is already out-dated in part by the fact that, in order to force a decision, the Americans have announced an embargo of shipments of industrial reparations out of their zone, beyond present allocations, until it is decided whether the zone will have to stand alone in a permanently divided Germany.

McNarney said the past month "must be regarded as one of virtually no progress on matters concerned with treatment of Germany as an economic unit."

Then he went on to picture the United States zone as one beset with:

1. A food situation still critical after reduction of rations from 1,275 to 7,180 calories daily for the normal consumer.

2. Growing lawlessness, featuring increasing attacks by German civilians on American troops and a serious increase in food thefts by a hungry populace.

3. An export-import picture critically out of balance as the bill for food imports, chiefly from the United States, mounts.

4. A generally gloomy industrial situation, sharpened by srortages of coal and steel.

5. An overcrowding of the zone by an increase of the displaced persons population compounded by influx of hundreds of thousands of German refugees from the east and southeast.

Discussing the four-power stalemate McNarney said:

"Recent disagreement with regard to the immediate creation of an Export-Import program for Germany as a whole threatens to delay implementation of the overall plan for postwar German economy and reparations. The United States delegation has taken the position that the Potsdam principles for treatment of Germany as an economic unit must be carried out in their entirety. It has insisted that reparations, the export-import policy and the establishment of a central administrative machinery are interrelated questions which require integrated decisions and that, failing such decisions by the Control Council, they must be referred to the Governments concerned."

Allied Command Cuts Berlin Rations

Berlin, May 31 (A. P.).—The Allied command decided today to cut Berlin rations slightly during the next three months to make up losses caused by thefts, negligence and faulty bookkeeping. Recent losses included 20,000 tons of potatoes and 6,000 tons of flour.

The Berlin ration presently is scaled from 1,500 to 2,200 calories daily.

SAUCKEL URGED ROUGH HANDLING OF SLAVE LABOR

NUERNBERG, May 31—(AP)—Fritz Sauckel, former German war labor boss, once urged that 1,000,000 Russian slave workers he was seeking be handled "so roughly in the east they will feel they would rather come to Germany to work," the International Military Tribunal was told today.

Russian prosecutors said that Sauckel made the statement in a conference with Heinrich Himmler, but Sauckel said he could not remember making that remark.

Used Pig Pictures

The prosecution also introduced copies of certificates of slave workers bearing a picture of a pig instead of the workers' own likeness.

Before Sauckel left the stand after three days of testimony, Justice Francis J. Biddle of the Tribunal questioned him sharply about connections of his office with police terrorization used by the Germans in recruiting labor.

Earlier Sauckel, one of 22 ranking German officials on trial as war criminals, had shouted angrily at the Russian prosecution that he had "always demanded considerate treatment of human beings."

Sauckel declared he sought for impressed foreign workers in Germany the same treatment as the Germans themselves received.

He blamed Himmler for insisting on the most stringent control of foreign workers inside Germany.

The Tribunal announced formally that it intends to complete the cases against organizations such as the SS, (Elite Guard), Gestapo, the general staff and Hitler youth before handing down any verdicts on individuals. Hearings in the nature of grand jury proceedings are now under way by a five-man commission questioning members of the organizations.

Herman Goering, the number one defendant at the trial, was reported to have fallen into a fit of despondency, refusing to discuss his case with his defense attorneys. He is slowly declining in weight and is now 190, compared with his 225 pounds when he was taken into custody.

German attorneys said a big factor behind his behavior was his worry over his wife, Emmy, now living in a tiny room with one dress and one pair of shoes. Once she had castles and scores of servants.

Sauckel, Soviet Prosecutor In Long Tussle

Nuernberg, May 31 (AP)—Fritz Sauckel, former German war labor boss, shouted angrily at a Russian questioner today that he "always demanded considerate treatment of human beings."

Sauckel, one of 22 ranking German officials on trial as war criminals, told the International Military Tribunal that he sought for impressed foreign workers in Germany the same treatment the Germans themselves received.

Slow, Futile Session

The trial experienced one of its slowest and most futile sessions in its more than six months; as the bald, chunky associate of Adolf Hitler, the Russian prosecution and the court president, Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, engaged in a triangular debate.

Members of the court appeared exasperated at the continuous wrangling between Sauckel and his questioner. Lawrence was compelled to intervene several times to remind the Russian that the defendant should be permitted to give a full explanation to his replies even though "they are intolerably long."

Blames Himmler

Sauckel blamed Heinrich Himmler, the self-destroyed German Gestapo chief and Minister of the Interior, for insisting on a stringent control of foreign workers inside Germany. He denied any knowledge of a German decree in Poland under which families of persons evading forced labor could be sent to concentration camps while their property was confiscated.

When confronted with his own orders for "ruthless" measures to mobilize more workers for war industries, Sauckel insisted that he meant "ruthless utilization of all technical and propaganda methods."

Aide Of Jackson Dies In Nuernberg

Nuernberg, Germany, May 31 (AP)—Charles T. Malcolmson, 39, director of public relations for Justice Robert H. Jackson's war-crime prosecution staff, was found dead at his quarters here early today.

United States Army physicians attributed death to a heart attack, but ordered an autopsy.

Malcolmson took up the post here only a few weeks ago. He was a native of St. Louis. He worked for the Philadelphia Record from 1933 to 1939, was Washington correspondent for the Nation in 1939 and 1940, assistant director of public relations of the Department of Justice from 1940 to 1943 and then director until 1945. His wife is living in Alexandria, Va.

3 G. I.s Agree To Tell Court of Camp's Torture

Describe Lichfield Beatings After 13 Witnesses Balk at Trial of Prison Officer

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, May 31 (AP).—Army prosecutors found three witnesses willing to talk today and drew from them vivid descriptions of how guards at the Lichfield detention camp in England, beat prisoners, kicked them and stood them in tortuous positions for hours. The three testified at the court martial of Lieutenant Granvile Cubage of Oklahoma City, one of fourteen officers and men being tried on charges of brutality to American soldiers at the camp.

Thirteen soldier witnesses had refused to testify on Wednesday on the ground that they had been ill-treated by the Army and had been at least temporarily confined in the guardhouse on various charges while defendants on trial were left free.

None of the three who testified today is a guardhouse prisoner. After their testimony, the prosecution was granted a recess until Monday "to reframe its case on the assumption" that the witnesses who had refused to testify would still not talk.

Private Caspar Furnari, of 1323 Second Avenue, New York City, testified he had been beaten to the ground by Lichfield guards and then "kicked for fifteen or twenty minutes." Sergeant Thomas P. Cappello, of Chicago, said he had been clubbed while standing for ten hours with his nose and toes pressed against a wall, and John L. Bernardo, of West Haven, Conn., testified he had been struck fifteen times with a leather strap for smoking.

The defense objected that their testimony did not link Cubage with with the mistreatment described, but the court admitted the testimony provisionally when the prosecution said that later testimony would demonstrate Cubage's connection with the guards' activities. Cubage, formerly prison officer at Litchfield, was said by earlier witnesses to have authorized guards to strike prisoners with clubs.

Witnesses who refused to testify Wednesday were reported for disciplinary measures, but their punishment has not been announced.

Court Acquits Gen. Von Behren

Hamburg, Germany, May 31 (A. P.).—Gen. Karl von Behren, a former German divisional commander, sank sobbing into his chair today upon hearing a British war crimes court acquit him of responsibility for the shooting of fourteen British Commando prisoners. The General's counsel had argued that Von Behren was unaware of the shootings.

Prosecution witnesses testified that the prisoners were shot and buried in a common grave after their capture during an unsuccessful attempt to smash a German-operated plant in Norway producing heavy water for possible use in atomic research.

REDS SUPPLY FACTORIES

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 31—(AP) The American-sponsored Dana news agency quoted a prominent Soviet editor today as saying Russia had decided to supply German factories in its occupation zone with raw materials and would demand 50 per cent of the finished products in payment. The agency attributed the assertion to Lt. Col. Nikitin, editor of the Russian army newspaper Red Star. He is touring the American zone with five other Russian newspapermen.

KING ASKS ITALIANS TO VOTE HONESTLY

Rome, May 31 (A. P.).—Italy's 28,000,000 voters had the advice of their sovereign today to let their consciences guide them in voting Sunday whether to continue the monarchy or adopt a republican form of government.

In a final campaign broadcast last night Falcone Lucifero, Minister of the Royal House and campaign manager for King Humbert II, said the monarch wanted the people to "go to the polls serenely, voting the institutional solution . . . they believe best for the reconstruction of the country."

Lucifero asserted, however, that the proletariat's "just conquests in the economic and social field" would be safe in the hands of the House of Savoy and praised Humbert's "energy, tenacity and anxiety to do the best for the common good."

On the other hand, Palmiro Togliatti, Communist secretary-general, speaking at an outdoor rally, declared that the peace treaty for Italy had been blocked and the Trieste question left unsettled, because the Allies were using "the monarchy to manipulate us."

As the nation entered a pre-election cooling off period, during which outdoor rallies are barred, Premier Alcide de Gasperi again stressed the importance of orderly behavior Sunday when the voters also will elect a 556-man Constituent Assembly to overhaul the Italian State politically, economically and socially.

Threatened, Say Romania Yanks

Bucharest, May 28 [AP—Delayed]—Three American officers and an enlisted man who intervened in the arrest of a confidential Romanian employé of the United States military mission Monday were threatened with violence by Romanian police, one of the Americans said today.

The incident occurred at the Romanian presidency.

Another confidential Romanian employé of the United States military mission and a woman working in the finance office of the United States Legation were under arrest and held incommunicado at Malmaison prison. The Communist-dominated Romanian regime has rebuffed efforts of United States officials to learn the reasons for their arrests, their condition and ways in which they can be assisted.

Officers Intervene

When the officers learned that a third employe was being held in a house, apparently in a prelude to another arrest, they intervened, and took the employé to the presidency for interrogation.

The director of Malmaison prison, who was called to the presidency, ordered the employé taken from the Americans when they said he could be interrogated in their presence.

A guard drew a blackjack and threatened the unarmed Americans when they started out of the building with the employé.

(The final disposition of the employé was not made clear in the dispatch).

Previously, Romanian Government informants asserted that employees of the American mission were arrested in a roundup of what they described as collaborators of Ion Antonescu, wartime Premier recently sentenced to death as a war criminal.

CZECHS WILL RECEIVE U. S. FILMS ONCE MORE

PRAGUE, May 31 (AP)—The Ministry of Information announced yesterday that new American films will be shown in Czechoslovakia for the first time since the German occupation of 1939 under a preliminary agreement reached here with the United States Motion Pictures Export Association.

Negotiations with Hollywood were deadlocked about a year ago when the Czechoslovak nationalized film industry, in a gesture of appreciation to the Red Army, exercised its monopoly by granting 60 per cent of the screen time to Russian pictures.

Czechoslovak moviegoers, who have been getting Russian, English, French and Swedish films, have pasted pamphlets on walls asking: "When will Czechoslovakia get American movies?"

FAVORS PRESS FREEDOM

THE HAGUE, May 31—(AP) Premier Willem Schermerhorn expressed today the wholehearted desire of the Netherlands government for full freedom of the press and gave personal assurance that all newspapers and news agencies would have equal and unhindered access to news.

Speaking with H. G. Kersting and Romney Wheeler of the Associated Press, Schermerhorn said the Netherlands government had not placed and would not place obstacles in the way of access to official or unofficial news.

Palestine Arms Law Jails 24

SAFAD, Palestine, May 31 (AP).—Twenty-four Jewish youths, arrested at the Birya settlement by British troops Feb. 28, were sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to four years by a military court today for illegal possession of arms. The youths, who pleaded guilty, were arrested during a search for weapons after an Arab sentry at a near-by police camp was found shot dead.

CHINESE FORCES REACH RED LINE ON SUNGARI RIVER

PEIPING, May 31—(AP) Government troops in Manchuria have advanced to the Chinese Communists' Sungari river defense line 76 miles south of Harbin and seized quantities of weapons and vehicles on the south bank, the government commander announced today.

While various leaders of both Chinese factions took dolorous views of the prospects for peace, the government commander, Gen. Tu Li-Ming, reported in Changchun that his men had scored successes in the field.

Pursuing the Communists northward from Changchun, Manchurian capital, Tu said, National forces reached the south bank of the little Sungari river six miles south of the town of Taolaichao, on the Changchun-Harbin railway.

18-Mile Advance

This represented an advance of 18 miles from Tehhwei, captured five days ago. (The slow advance indicated that the railway probably was not in operation.)

Tu said his forces found large numbers of heavy cannon, vehicles and other military equipment which the Communists apparently were forced to abandon in retreating. There were no fresh reports of actual combat.

Government dispatches from Mukden Thursday said the Communists were erecting a defense line along the north bank of the Sungari and intended to make a stand there to hold Harbin.

Tu's Changchun newspaper, Hsin Shen Pao, said Tu's troops also had captured Hsiaofengman, site of Mancuria's second largest power plant, in the Sungari basin east of Changchun. It was declared to be undamaged, and Tu promised it would resume operations within a few days.

Chiang in Peiping

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, government chief, flew into Peiping after six days of conferences with his generals in Changchun and Mukden.

Hopes for peace continued to sink after a week of optimism. Gen. Yeh Chieh-Ying, Communist at executive truce headquarters in Peiping, told a news conference that recent government suspension of the Communist newspaper and news agency in Peiping would directly affect peace negotiations.

In Shanghai, the moderate Dr. Sun Fo, president of the government's legislative Yuan and son of the late Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, declared that unless the government got complete control of Manchuria "incidents provoked there might start World War III."

Dispatches from Nanking also reflected deepening pessimism, quoting Lu Ting-Yi, Communist leader there, as declaring, "we have made concession after concession after concession . . . now I think we have conceded enough."

Nationals Claim Gains; Chiang In Peiping

Peiping, May 31 (AP)—Gen. Tu Li-ming reported from Changchun today that Chinese Government troops had gained the south bank of the Sungari River, near Taoliachao, 70 miles south of Harbin.

There was no indication whether they were near the point at which Communists yesterday were reported to have set up defensive positions on the north bank of the Sungari. Neither was there comment on a previous Government claim that some National forces were within 30 miles of Harbin, Important rail center in North Manchuria.

Supplies Abandoned

Tu, commander of the Government's central Manchuria force, said the Communists abandoned many vehicles and heavy cannon south of the Sungari. Tu's newspaper, Hsin Shen Pao, said he had captured Ungan, northwest of Changchun, and Manchuria's second largest power plant, and expected to have the plant in operation in a few days.

The Government's Central News Agency said Tu's troops had found documents at the Communists' Changchun haedquarters, ordering a military and political offensive throughout China to prevent settlement of the Manchurian war.

Reds Reported Set

The independent newspaper, Shih Chien Jih Pao, reported 50,000 Communist troops concentrated in North China, ready to enter Manchuria.

Meanwhile Generalissimo Chaing Kai-shek flew into Peiping last night after a brief visit in Changchun, following seven days of conferences with Government leaders in Mukden.

Chinese Reds Say They Won't Concede More

Assert They Want Peace, but Not at Any Price; Their Troops Fall Back

NANKING, May 31 (AP).—The Chinese Communists will make no further concessions despite their eagerness for peace, Lu Ting-yi, party spokesman, asserted today. He added that the Manchurian crisis is "very serious."

"We have made concession after concession to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government, he told newsmen. "Our last concession might be our lives. No, I think we have conceded enough."

The unity committee of General George C. Marshall, special American envoy, had been on the verge of "concrete results," he added, but government advances after the Communists yielded Chiangchung blocked the hoped-for peace.

The Communists, Lu continued, withdrew from Changchung, Manchurian capital, in order to allow resumption of peace negotiations, but the only reply from the government was "a fresh set of conditions" and further military advances.

Lieutenant General Teng Tai-yuan, assistant chief of staff of the Communist 18th Group Army, announced that his party already has demobilized thousands of its troops—in readiness for the proposed consolidation of Kuomintang (Nationalist party) and Communist forces into one nationalized army.

The government, meanwhile, announced the appointment of the heads of the new Ministry of National Defense, to be set up tomorrow to administer the reorganized army. General Pai Chung-hsi, now chief of staff of government forces, will head the ministry, and War Minister Chen Cheng will become chief of staff.

Generalissimo and Madam Chiang reached Peiping last night, after conferring for several days with nationalists generals at Mukden. There was no indication when Chiang plans to return to Nanking.

Neutral observers here say that with every additional day he remains away from his capital, the chances for peace in the north grow slimmer.

Verdict Delayed In Sakai War Trial

Nanking, May 31 (A. P.).—Chief Justice Shih Mei-yu of the military tribunal announced today that the verdict in the case of Japanese Lieut.-Gen. Takashi Sakai, charged with atrocities against Allied prisoners and civilians, would be delayed.

Testimony in Sakai's trial was completed yesterday and the verdict had been expected today. The judge said, however, that information in connection with the mass slaying of British and Chinese nationals at Hong Kong and additional evidence from Peiping still were to be received. The verdict was expected some time next month.

Rice Diverted To China Army, Communist Says

Nanking, May 31 (AP)—"Not one grain of rice coming down the Yangtze River from Szechwan province is finding its way to the starving millions of China," Lu Ting-yi, Communist party leader, complained in an interview last night. It is all being diverted to the Chinese National Army, he asserted.

By the same token, he said, while Americans tighten their own belts to help send food to China through the UNRRA, "it would be interesting to know where it is all going." Communist areas, he insisted, were getting "only a trickle" of relief supplies.

Another Jap Puppet Sentenced to Death

Nanking, May 31 (A. P.).—Lin Pei-sheng, Minister of Information in the puppet Japanese Manchurian Government, was sentenced to death today for collaborating with the enemy.

"I have no opinion to offer on the verdict, which I am sure represents the will of the nation," Lin said sarcastically.

Chinese Judges On Strike

Nanking, May 31 (AP)—Judges of the Chinese Supreme Court went on strike tooday, demanding a readjustment of salaries for civil servants.

Manchuria Held World Tinderbox

Shanghai, May 31 (AP)—Dr. Sun Fo, president of Chinas Legislative Council, today told the American University Club that unless the Government controls Manchuria completely 'incidents provoked there might start a world war there."

He said failure of the Chinese Government to establish compjlete sovereignty over Manchuria might permit Russia to control certain areas through her treaty right to joint operation with China of two Manchurian railroads.

Strongly supporting Chiang Kai-shek's Government, he asserted, "China canont tolerate an armed challenge by any political party."

Vast Quantities of Food Spoiling in Hawaiian Sun

Newspaper Tells of Piles of Goods From Australia

HONOLULU, May 31 (AP).—The Star-Bulletin said today thousands of tons of foodstuffs, sent here from Australia as "reverse lend-lease" in compensation for war time materials supplied by the United States, are spoiling in the sunshine.

The paper said it was reliably informed that there were "no definite orders to ship it out or dispose of it locally," and that Army Quartermaster Officers and men "are glumly watching the stuff deteriorate while other large cargoes are on their way."

The foods include 3,700 cases of corned beef, more than 4,000 cases of beef and pork loaf and more than 25,000 cases of roasted peanuts, the paper said. "These are just a few of the items in this accumulation."

After "considerable red tape," some spoiled food has been sold to hog raisers, but "much of it is so bad that it has to be dumped as useless garbage," "The Star-Bulletin" reported.

There was no immediate comment from Army Authorities.

CHINA BLACK MART RAID TRAPS MARINE

Tientsin, May 31 (A. P.).—A 19-year-old United States Marine who flashed large sums of money has been arrested, accused of black marketing, the Marine Third Amphibious Corps headquarters announced today. It did not name him.

The Corps Provost Marshal charged that the youth sold $10,000 worth of post exchange supplies, including soap, tooth paste, cigarettes, canned goods and beer, to civilians. A joint Marine-Chinese police raid on a Tientsin home recovered a large quantity of such goods. It was the first announced black market arrest here since the Marines came to North China last fall.

Army Halts Operations In India-Burma Theater

Calcutta, May 31 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Vernon Evans, commander of the India-Burma theater, today officially closed the American Army's wartime operations in this zone, which served mainly as a supply base for operations against the Japanese in China and Burma.

The Marine Jumper, last American troopship to leave the theater, pulled away early this morning from the King George docks, Calcutta's main port installation where most United States supplies were unloaded during the war. The ship carried about 700 officers and men, 32 war brides and 3 infants bound for San Francisco via Manila.

Evans was scheduled to fly to New Delhi today with his staff and then on to the United States.

Auchinleck Promoted

New Delhi, May 31 (AP)—General Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in chief in India since June, 1943, has been elevated to the rank of field marshal, his headquarters announced today.

Pauley Protests Soviet Curbs On Mission

Seoul, May 31 (AP)—The United States Reparations Commission, seeking to determine if the Russians removed machinery from Northern Korea, is operating under such tight restrictions in the Soviet occupation zone that Edwin W. Pauley, reparations chief, has protested.

Pauley's assistant, Dr. Ernst L. Klein, disclosed the protest today.

Col. Gen. I. M. Chistiakov, Russian military commander, Klein said, has barred the ten-member commission from two of five industrial areas the commission had selected for inspection.

A fiber plant has been closed to the mission, on grounds that it housed Soviet troops.

Official Pictures Banned

The mission photographer has been forbidden to take photographs on official trips, thus rendering difficult the substantiation of any evidence the mission finds.

The mission is closely guarded. It can move about only by prearrangement and consent of the Russians. It must keep together.

The reason given for forbidding the mission entry to one important industrial area was that a large demobilization of Soviet troops is under way there, Klein said.

The mission has been denied air travel to speed up its work, on grounds that Northern Korea lacks proper landing facilities.

Three Leave For Mukden

Chistiakov was quoted in a press release as saying he had been instructed by Moscow not to remove machinery from Northern Korea plants.

Three other members of the Pauley mission left today for Mukden by plane to establish a base for a Manchurian investigation. They are Earl L. Shaner, of Cleveland, editor in chief of the magazine Steel; Harold M. Thorne, Laramie, Wyo., oil-shale research engineer, and Norman Cleveland, of Los Angeles, metalurgical mining engineer. G. S. Carter, of Santa Fe, N.M., chief secretary of the mission, accompanied them.

Heijo Youths Learn 'Okay'

Seoul, May 31 (AP)—The Pauley reparations mission, first American civilian group to enter Heijo in almost ten years, quickly taught youngsters in that capital of Soviet-occupied northern Korea to say "hello" and "okay."

In a letter to Seoul headquarters, Edwin W. Pauley said he and others of the mission took a long walk down the main street.

Many residents "were seeing an American, or an English-speaking person, for the first time in their lives," he wrote. "We proved a rare and welcome curiosity." At times "hundreds of people" followed the party.

The children, given candy mints, "quickly learned the words hello and okay."

SIAMESE CLOSE PARTS OF BORDER

BANGKOK, Siam, May 31—(AP) Siam's premier announced today the closing of certain sections of the Siam-Indochina border to halt the passage of Annamite rebels, and a mission of American and Siamese observers reported the frontier was quiet and that all French troops had withdrawn across the Mekong river after recent incidents.

The French said they crossed the border from Indochina hunting Annamite guerrillas, who seek refuge in Siam and then return to Indochina to renew activities.

The report by the observers, Maj. James Thompson of the U. S. legation, and Boonyarak Charoenchai of the Siamese foreign ministry, calmed fears here that large scale Franco-Siamese border warfare might be imminent.

The observers said they had seen damage caused by French shelling, and reported that one Siamese, seven Annamites, and about a score of French Laos troops had been killed in the border clashes May 24 and May 26.

France is insisting upon the return of portions of Laos and Cambodia which were ceded to Siam in 1941 by the Vichy government.

Hirohito On 2d Secret Visit To MacArthur

R. Brines

Tokyo, May 31 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito, in a plain business suit, made his second secretly arranged call on General MacArthur at the United States Embassy today.

The two reportedly talked of food, of reconstruction and of the vast changes in Japan since Hirohito had come, hat in hand, to MacArthur's door for the first time last September 27.

Hidemasa Teasaki, of the imperial household ministry, acted as interpreter and was the only other person in the room. He told newsmen only that a variety of topics had been discussed.

Talk Hour And A Half

Other sources in the ministry divulged the general subjects covered in the hour-and-a-half meeting which came just three days before the scheduled opening of war-crime trails in Tokyo.

MacArthur declined to comment to the press; so did his staff.

Hirohito was accompanied to the embassy by Imperial Household Minister Yoshitami Matsudaira. There were no guards, and the group's two cars left the palace so quietly that even Premier Shigeru Yoshida's office said it was unaware of such a call.

Little Indignation Expected

The Emperor's power has waned so perceptibly since his September visit to MacArthur that today's meeting doubtless will cause little of the repressed indignation provoked by his first call.

Many Japanese in September were shocked that their Emperor would condescend to leave his palace for such a purpose.

Among other changes in the political backdrop is the recent swift response of the Japanese people to the words of a foreigner and their deafness to an appeal by their once-deified Emperor.

Halted Demonstrations

A single statement by MacArthur halted food and political demonstrations which had reached their zenith with mass parades before the palace gates and a demand that the imperial family's rice stocks be distributed to the people.

On the other hand, Hirohito's radio appeal to his people a few days ago for mutual co-operation to help ease the food crisis had no visible effect. Black markets continue to flourish; farmers still refuse to sell rice; and common people of the cities continue to steal food.

Some have even dared to criticize Hirohito's appeal. A few months ago they would have feared to speak.

6-Month Minimum Tojo Trial Seen

Tokyo, May 31 (AP)—An American lawyer who will help defend Hideki Tojo says the trial of the former Premier and 25 other Japanese will have to "go like greased lightning" to end by Christmas.

The attorney, John W. Guider, of Washington, D.C., a navy captain during the war, added:

"I think it will take the prosecution two or three months to present its case, and we will take as long, or even 50 per cent longer.

"I will be very much surprised if the evidence is concluded within six months. The translation difficulty is terrific. This trial could drag out for a year."

Trial Starts Monday

It is scheduled to being Monday.

Guider explained the situation was nothing like that at Nuernberg, where interpretation was made simultaneously with the testimony:

"In an argument on motions recently before the International Tribunal here, arguments were ordered to proceed with translation to come later, eleven days have passed and we still haven't got the translation. It's terrific."

Seeks Postponement

When the tribunal convenes Monday, the defense will again voice its protest that American counsel arrived too recently to prepare cases and will renew its motion for postponement.

"Here's an example of what we run into," Guider said. "Say that I ask a Japanese attorney some question about cross-examination.

"He asks me, 'What do cross-examination?' So, through an interpreter I spend a couple of hours explaining."

Former Jap Envoy To Russia Released

Tokyo, May 31 (AP)—Naotake Sato, former Japanese Ambassador to Russia, hopes for friendly relations between the two nations.

Sato arrived in Japan yesterday on a Russian ship from Vladivostok. He had been interned in Moscow and was released April 25.

He expressed his hopes for friendship between his country and the Soviet Union in an interview tonight and at the same time said he had no plans for returnng to public life.

Asked how Japan appeared, he replied:

"I couldn't imagine such devastation. It is horrible, beyond my expectations."

More Black Market Raids Due In Tokyo

Tokyo, May 31 (AP)—Japanese police, terming Tokyo black markets "hotbeds of crime," today promised more raids such as yesterday's daylight swoop by 500 pistol-waving police on a market in the Ueno district.

One merchant was wounded, scores were arrested and fifteen truckloads of goods were confiscated, to be turned over to Government agencies.

One merchant shouted "either we get the police or they kill us."

YANKS IN JAPAN WANT CANDY QUICK

Yokohama, May 31 (A. P.).—The Eighth Army today radioed an S O S to Hawaii for candy. It explained that "due to unavoidable circumstances" spoilage of quartermaster stocks stored in Manila created the shortage here.

Supplies already ordered from the United States are not expected before August 1.

GI's Back Editors Of Censored Paper

Manila, May 31 (AP)—The Manila chapter of the American Veterans Committee passed a resolution today censuring the command of army forces in the Western Pacific for officer censorship of the army newspaper, Daily Pacifican.

The resolution commended the editorial staff of the Pacifican, which asked for mass transfer to other duties rather than submit to the censorship.

Headquarters is investigating the transfer request.

Officer In Charge Backs Staff

Pacifican staff members called up for questioning said they had direct orders not to talk with the civilian press.

Lieut. George W. Cornell, Oklahoma City, a former member of the Daily Oklahoman staff and officer in charge of the Pacifican, joined the enlisted men in requesting assignment to new duties.

Corporal Joe Robers, of Belfast, Maine, Pacifican cartoonist, said Lieut. Col. Wayne Homan, of Reading, Pa., of the information and education section, which is in charge of the paper and other morale activities, repeatedly had pulled cartoons from the press forms for allegedly depicting officers in an undignified light.

FEARS SHIP STRIKE

BOGOTA, Columbia, May 31—(AP) Herbert Hoover said in a statement today that the projected U. S. maritime strike would have a "ghastly effect" if food shipments to famine areas were halted. The former U. S. President, on a food fact finding tour of South America for President Truman, left for Quito, Ecuador.

ROSE SOUGHT FOR NKVD

Accused Canadian Was Wanted as Aide, Witness Tells Court

MONTREAL, May 31 (AP)—Fred Rose, Communist Member of Parliament, was suggested for use in Soviet espionage in Canada by the NKVD, the Soviet secret police, it was testified today in Rose's trial for conspiracy on behalf of the Soviet Union.

Igor Gouzenko, 27-year-old former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa and star prosecution witness in the espionage trial, said Soviet Consul Michailov in New York, known under the code name of "Molier," had been sent to Ottawa in 1942 to organize the espionage network.

Mr. Gouzenko identified a letter which he said he had stolen from the Ottawa Embassy and which related that Mr. Michailov went to Ottawa to work on the network with Major Sokolov, Soviet assistant military attaché.

The letter said that "Fred," which Mr. Gouzenko said was a cover name for Rose, had "worked with" the NKVD previously and that he had been "checked up" by the NKVD in June, 1942.

BUCHAREST TOLD TO SET VOTING DATE

Russian-Dominated Rule Accused Of Political Violence

Washington, May 31 (AP)—The United States has sent a vigorous protest to the Moscow-dominated Romanian Government charging it with "circumventing commitments" to permit political freedoms.

The State Department released the text of the note tonight, disclosing that the American Government had demanded that Romania set a date for free elections and take steps to protect opposition parties.

The note said flatly that American officials in Bucharest have investigated or witnessed sufficient incidents "to establish beyond any doubt the fact that political violence is on the increase." The State Department said Burton Y. Berry, American representative in the Romanian capital, had delivered the note on Monday at about the same time the British Government sent a parallel protest.

Press Restrictions Assailed

In its stiffly worded note, the American Government also protested:

1. A "form of censorship" which prevented prompt and full distribution of Secretary of State Byrnes's remarks February 28. The Secretary in that speech to the Overseas Press Club in New York said that this country "cannot overlook unilateral gnawing away at the status quo." The note also complained of deletion of important parts of a speech by Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) the day before.

2. The monopoly by Government forces over state broadcasting facilities.

3. The action of the printers' union in denying newsprint to certain publications, presumably anti-Government.

"Circumventing Commitments"

4. "An increasing number of instances where organized bands of hoodlums" broke up meetings of the National Peasant and National Liberal parties, both of which opposed the Government.

5. Failure of the Government to call regular Cabinet meetings to discuss important pending legislation, thus making it impossible for opposition members to co-operate fully.

The note said the Government's course is creating the impression that while it is "trying to give the appearance of carrying out the assurances of the Moscow decisions, it is in reality circumventing commitments which it has made."

States Secretary of State on Feb. 28. Important passages were also deleted by censorship from the address of Senator [Arthur H.] Vandenberg on Feb. 27.

Printers' Censorship Alleged

In addition to such official impediments to the free dissemination of news, I have been informed of cases where the printers' union has exercised an effective censorship and of others where an unequal distribution of newsprint acts as a means of the censorship.

Access to the State broadcasting facilities, according to my information, remains a monopoly of certain parties within the Government contrary to the Government's commitments under the Moscow's decisions.

An increasing number of instances have been brought to the attention of this mission where organized bands of hooligans have broken up meetings called by the National Peasant and National Liberal parties or interfered with movements of members of those parties when going to attend such meetings. While there is little point in listing all such instances, I do desire to state that a sufficient number of them have been investigated or witnessed by American officers to establish beyond any doubt the fact that political violence is on the increase.

The legal proceedings against the National Peasant and National Liberal party members charged as being responsible for incidents on Nov. 8 are continuing, according to Bucharest newspapers dated April 15, in spite of the Prime Minister's assurance to Ambassador Harriman [W. Averell Harriman, former United States Ambassador to Moscow] and Sir Archibald Clark Kerr [now Lord Inverchapel and former British Ambassador to Moscow], that they would be dismissed.

Circumvention Suspected

The Ministers of State representing the National Peasant and National Liberal parties have not been given opportunity to cooperate fully with the Government. Full Cabinet meetings are rarely called and important pending legislation frequently is not discussed in them; in many instances Ministers are not given adequate time to study draft laws and in some other important cases decree laws are published without having been submitted to these Ministers for their study.

In bringing these matters to your attention, it is my purpose to point out that a definite impression is being created abroad concerning the present Rumanian Government. The impression is that through the Government's actions and inactions, while trying to give the appearance of carrying out the assurances of the Moscow decisions, it is in reality circumventing commitments which it has made. My Government, being a party to the Moscow agreement, has an interest in seeing that this impression is dispelled. I therefore urge you to take the necessary steps without delay to see that it be dispelled.

Accordingly, it is believed that a different impression will be attained through prompt action on the part of the Rumanian Government in implementing the assurances given the Allied commission in January by promulgating an electoral law and setting a date for elections, at the same time taking adequate measures during this period prior to elections that all democratic parties may put forward their candidates with the assurance that the freedoms set forth in the Moscow decisions apply equally to members of all such parties.

U. S. Protest to Rumania

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Following is the text of a note of protest delivered May 27 to the Rumanian Minister of Foreign Affairs by Burton Y. Berry, United States representative in Rumania, as made public today by the State Department:

Upon instructions from my Government, I wish to draw to your Government's attention two aspects of political life in Rumania that are giving concern to the Government of the United States. First, the fact that no election law has been promulgated or date set for the elections, and, secondly, the abuses of the freedoms, and particularly the increasing frequency of actions of violence which mock at the application of the freedoms guaranteed by the Rumanian Government through its acceptance of the Moscow decisions.

It is now more than four months since the reorganization of the Government and not only has no date been fixed for the elections but no electoral law for such elections has been promulgated. This situation, incompatible with the Moscow decisions, gives the impression that the Government is procrastinating in the fulfillment of its promise.

While a measure of free expression has been provided by the authorization of the National Peasant and National Liberal parties to publish newspapers, the exercise of censorship has in certain notable instances prevented the free dissemination of public announcements, and the suspension or suppression of papers has restricted the free expression of political views. Thus a form of censorship prevented the prompt and full distribution of the address of the United

Great Britain's Note Parallels U.S. Protest

London, May 31 (AP)—The Foreign Office disclosed tonight the British Government had sent a note to Bucharest complaining that the Romanian Government has "invariably found means to circumvent" assurances of early elections and freedom of speech.

The note was delivered four days ago and paralleled an American protest.

The British note said "the state of political violence has noticeably increased" in Romania, and that "constant cases of hooliganism, both in Bucharest and the provinces, are occurring for the apparent purpose of molesting members of the opposition parties and breaking up their meetings."

Objection was voiced also to press restrictions, including "the exercise of censorship, which is frequently usurped by printers' unions, thereby giving rise to injustice and abuse, and has in some notable instances prevented the proper dissemination of important declarations by Allied statesmen."

STALIN DECLINES BIDS TO VISIT U.S.

Truman's Invitations Twice Rejected on Grounds of Medical Advice.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP) Premier Stalin has turned down two invitations from President Truman to visit him in Washington, Mr. Truman unexpectedly disclosed today.

Diplomats scanned the revelation for signs that it was a move in the current diplomatic contest with Russia, but the White House said Mr. Truman had no such purpose in mind—that he merely reported the fact in response to news conference questions.

Long Trips Banned

In March Stalin had twice expressed his regrets and said his doctors would not allow him to make long journeys, Mr. Truman did not foreclose the possibility that he might some time go abroad himself again to meet the Soviet leader and presumably Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain. However, he said no plans were under way for such a meeting.

The strategy which some diplomats professed to see behind the President's disclosure of the Stalin invitation was two-fold—first, an attempt to put the responsibility for failure to hold a meeting of the chiefs of state on Stalin and, second, a willingness to make one more move tending to show that it is Russian objections rather than American reluctance to act which is stalling progress on world peace.

The chief executive recently has been under some political pressure here to meet Stalin.

Mr. Truman announced also that former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius had sent in his resignation two or three days ago as United States member of the United Nations Security Council. But the President said he would refuse to accept the resignation and believed that Stettinius would stay on because both the President and Secretary of State Byrnes want him to stay.

May Release Notes

The President told his news conference on another point that the State department might issue the exchange of notes in which he entreated and Stalin refused Soviet collaboration in meeting the famine crisis. Michael J. McDermott, State department press officer, said simply that it was decided not to release the letters. McDermott also announced that Byrnes, preparing to return to European peacemaking, which is essentially a question of Russian relations, at Paris June 15 will definitely have Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) as an advisor but that it is not certain yet whether Senator Connally (D-Tex.) will be able to go.

The question of the Paris peace conference came into the President's meeting with newsmen because demands for a "Big Three" meeting followed the deadlock of the great powers on basic world issues in that conference. Until today Mr. Truman has been quite emphatic in saying that he had no plans for such a meeting, and he had never sought to discourage the impression that he did not care for the idea of attacking world problems in that manner.

Mr. Truman's first and only session with the Russian and British leaders was held last summer at Potsdam, near Berlin. At that time, he said today, he told Marshal Stalin that he would like to have him come to Washington for a visit but Stalin said that his doctors did not want him to take a long journey.

Second Bid in April

The second invitation was extended on April 4 by the new ambassador to the Soviet Union, General Bedell Smith, in a letter dated March 19.

Stalin replied April 11, again giving doctors' orders as reason for a refusal.

McDermott questioned on State department information as to Stalin's health, said there was nothing in Washington to indicate that Stalin was not perfectly well or that he had not been able to carry on his work effectively.

When the subject of a meeting with Stalin was brought up at his news conference, the President was initially asked whether he had any plans to see Stalin and he replied that he had no immediate plans although he would be very glad to see him. In fact, he then explained, he had invited him to come over here for a visit.

At one or two other points the chief executive referred to his lack of immediate plans for a meeting with the Russian leader and finally he was asked whether that had any significance—whether there were long range plans for a meeting now being negotiated. He said that was not the case.

Actually, President Truman is understood to have received a variety of advice on the subject of a meeting with Stalin. His personal inclination is said to be against chiefs of state sessions.

Some diplomats here contend that a top level conference would very likely not break open any of the major problems dividing the powers and might harden some of them.

An opposing argument is that Stalin is generally considered somewhat more cooperative in his attitude than is his foreign minister, Molotov.

Stalin Is Invited To D.C., Unable To Accept

30.74-3071

President Questioned

Asked when the invitations were sent, Mr. Truman replied that one was sent about 30 days ago and the first one was extended during the Potsdam Big Three Conference.

Each time, Mr. Truman explained, Stalin had replied that his doctors did not want him to take a long journey.

A reporter then inquired whether he had any plans to meet Stalin elsewhere.

No plans in the immediate future, Mr. Truman replied.

Asked About Deadlock

Another newsman sought comment on the exchanges between Foreign Minister Molotox of Russia and Secretary Byrnes over efforts to write a European peace and how those exchanges might affect peace conference prospects.

Speculation has been that the deadlock between the Foreign Ministers is so tight that, as Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) has been insisting in the Senate, only a meeting of the chiefs of state could make progress.

Mr. Truman, however, declined to comment on the peace conference situation or the Byrnes-Molotov exchange.

Letters Up To Byrnes

Mr. Truman then was asked whether he was ready to make public his correspondence with Stalin concerning a request for Russian co-operation in a world food program. Stalin turned down the President's plea, explaining it came too late in view of other Soviet commitments.

If any such correspondence is given out, Mr. Truman said, it would be released by the State Department.

Then arose the question of possible long-range negotiations for a meeting with Stalin and Mr. Truman's reply that he had no plans for the immediate future.

"A Social Visit"

In extending the invitation to Stalin, a reported inquired, did the President indicate what topics might be discusesd at their meeting. Mr. Truman grinned. No, he said, he had asked the Soviet leader for a social visit.

What about Prime Minister Attlee of England, another newsman asked, had he been invited?

He was asked last fall, Mr. Truman said, and he came.

Washington, May 31 (AP)—President Truman announced today he had invited Marshal Stalin to visit Washington about 30 days ago, but Stalin declined because his doctors advised him against a long journey.

At a news conference, Mr. Truman said that he asked Stalin to make a social visit here while the Paris Conference of Foregin Ministers was in progress. The conference ended two weeks ago.

It was his second invitation to Stalin to visit Washington, the President said. The first was made the time of the Potsdam Conference last summer and refused by Stalin for the same reasons of health.

No Other Plans

Asked whether he had any plans for seeing Stalin elsewhere, Mr. Truman replied he had no immediate plans.

A newsman asked whether this was significant since the answer could mean that negotiations were under way for a Truman-Stalin conference sometime in the future.

Mr. Truman said, however, that his reference to no plans in the immediate future did not mean that there was a plan in the works.

The subject came up at Mr. Truman's meeting with reporters when he was asked whether he had any plans to see the Russian chief of state. He replied he had no immediate plans. He then added that he would be glad to see Stalin and had in fact invited him to visit Washington on two occasions.

STARK 'IN TOUCH' WITH FDR ON EVE OF PEARL HARBOR

WASHINGTON, May 31 — (AP) The Pearl Harbor committee learned today that Admiral Harold R. Stark was in touch with President Roosevelt after all on the eve of the Japanese attack, but whether the late President warned him that a newly intercepted message "means war" was not established.

As the hearing reopened for this detail, the Senate and House voted to extend the deadline for the committee's report from tomorrow until July 10.

Naval Operations Chief

Stark, who was chief of naval operations at the time, had testified previously he could not recall his actions on the night of Dec. 6, 1941.

Capt. Harold D. Krick, who was his flag lieutenant, related today, however, that Stark had a telephone talk with the White House after a theater party. He said the admiral related later that Mr. Roosevelt indicated "that conditions in the Pacific were serious—that connections with Japan were in a serious state."

Stark testified that he still "can only repeat I do not recall it."

Seth Richardson, committee counsel, remarked that he thought one of the issues on the basis of the previous testimony was "that the President sought to get in touch with Stark and failed."

"It stands on the record that the President made no further attempt to reach him," Richardson continued. "The fact that the President did get in touch with him, I thought, that fact was important."

President On Alert

"It shows," commented Senator Lucas (D-Ill), "that the President was more alert than anyone else."

In sequence, what led to today's session after the hearings previously had been closed was this:

Commander L. R. Schulz had testified in the regular hearings that he took some Japanese messages which the navy had intercepted and decoded to the White House the night of Dec. 6. He said he stood by with the late Harry Hopkins while the President read them. Schulz quoted the President as saying "this means war," or words to that effect.

Schulz added that Mr. Roosevelt tried to reach Stark by telephone, was told that he was at the theater, and said he would call him later.

Stark had testified he recalled no conversation with the President that night.

Last Saturday night Stark and Krick and their wives dined together. Krick had not followed the hearings closely but recalled a headline to the effect that Stark could not remember where he was the night of Dec. 6. Krick reminded Stark that they and their wives had gone to the National theater to see "The Student Prince," had returned to Stark's home afterwards, that a servant told Stark the White House had called, and that the admiral then went upstairs to his study and called the White House.

Seemed much 'Disturbed'

Krick testified that Stark seemed "very much disturbed" over last Saturday's conversation and "implied it should be laid before the committee."

Stark himself testified that he lay awake Saturday night, finally arose and wrote a letter to Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) about the matter, and had it delivered Monday.

Barkley called today's hearing, although Representative Keefe (R-Wis) was the only Republican able to attend. Barkley observed that if he had merely put Stark's letter in his pocket and "suppressed" it, he would have been "pilloried."

After Krick's testimony, Stark said it still did not fill in his lapse of memory. He explained that he talked frequently—"and I mean frequently"—with Mr. Roosevelt before Pearl Harbor and there would have been nothing unusual in a conversation that night.

If the chief executive mentioned the Japanese message, Stark said he could only assume that he had "thought it was nothing that required any action from me, and I took none."

"If he had said anything about the imminence of war," the admiral added, "or anything requiring action, it would have stirred me into action."

Says Roosevelt Warned Stark

Admiral's Aid Recalls Dec. 6, 1941, Phone Call—Pearl Harbor Inquiry Reopened.

Washington, May 31 (A. P.).—The Pearl Harbor committee heard testimony today that President Roosevelt telephoned Admiral Harold R. Stark the night of December 6, 1941, to say that Japanese-American relations were serious.

Stark himself couldn't remember anything about it, but requested the committee to hear testimony from Capt. Harold D. Krick. Krick said that he recalled Stark (who was then chief of naval operations) receiving a White House phone call after the two naval officers and their wives had spent the evening at a Washington theater. Stark previously had testified he did not recall where he was on the night preceding the attack on Pearl Harbor.

When the two couples dined together again last week, Stark stated, Krick informed him of the incident and he hastily wrote a letter to the investigating committee, which reopened its hearings today to add Krick's story to its voluminous record.

Heard at Open Session.

Both officers were heard at an open committee session. Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.), the only Republican member present, protested against reopening the sessions after they had formally been closed last week. Keefe said that he didn't think there was much significance in Stark's testimony, since he said he could not remember the phone call. He added, however:

"If the hearings are to be reopened for this purpose, it may be perfectly proper to reopen them for other purposes and have them go on and on." The hearings started last fall.

The Senate voted today to extend until July 10 the limit for the Senate-House committee to report on its investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster. The measure was sent to the House for action there. The deadline previously set by Congress would have expired tomorrow.

Chairman Barkley (D.-Ky.) said that he had called today's committee meeting on his own responsibilitl. He added that if he had stuck Stark's letter in his pocket and "suppressed" it, he would have been "pilloried." Present, in addition to Barkley and Keefe, were Senators George (D.-Ga.) and Lucas (D.-Ill.), and Representative Cooper (D.-Tenn.). Absent were Senators Fergusan (R.-Mich.) and Brewster (R.-Me.) and Representatives Clark (D.-N. C.), Murphy D.-Pa.) and Gearhart (R.-Cal.). Brewster and Ferguson have been very active in cross-examination of previous witnesses.

Recalls Details.

Krick, who was Stark's flag lieutenant, said he was certain he and his wife dined at the Starks on December 6, 1941, and later went to the National Theater to see "The Student Prince." Here is his testimony as to what followed:

The four returned to Stark's quarters to allow Krick to pick up his car. One of Stark's servants informed the Admiral that there had been a call from the White House during his absence. The Admiral went to his upstairs study, where he stayed five or ten minutes.

"What, if anything, did he say to you when he came down?" Seth Richardson, committee counsel, inquired.

"Only that conditions in the Pacific were serious—that connections with Japan were in a serious state—that was the substance of it," Krick replied. He added that while he did not recall Stark telling him directly that he had talked to Mr. Roosevelt, he had "a distinct impression" that the Admiral's conversation was with the President.

Quotes Roosevelt.

Earlier in the committee's hearings, Commander L. R. Schulz testified that Mr. Roosevelt exclaimed, "this means war," or words to that effect when he read on the night of December 6 Japanese messages which the Navy had intercepted and decoded.

Schulz said he took the messages to the Chief Executive's study at the White House and that he and the late Harry Hopkins, presidential adviser, were present when Mr. Rooseevelt real them. He related that Mr. Roosevelt tried then to get Stark on the telephone and was advised by the White House telephone operator that the admiral was at the theater. Schulz quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying that he would get in touch with the admiral later.

Stark's own earlier testimony had been that he recalled no telephone conversation with the President that night. But he told the committee today that he talked frequently—"and I mean frequently"—with the President over the telephone in the days of crisis. Accordingly, he said there would have been nothing unusual in a conversation with the President that night. He said he could only assume that if the President mentioned something to him that night about the Japanese note, "I thought it was nothing that required any action from me, and I took none."

Mihailovic Trial Plans Opposed By House Group

Washington, May 31 (AP)—Representative Mundt (R., S.D.) today said a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee next week would recommend that Gen. Draja Mihailovic, Yugoslav guerrilla leader, be tried by an international tribunal.

Mundt told the House the subcommittee would not express an opinion as to whether Mihailovic collaborated with the Axis powers during the war, but would voice opposition to his trial on such charges by the Yugoslav Government.

The Yugoslav Government, now headed by Marshal Tito, is scheduled to start the trial June 10 in Belgrade.

Rep. McCormack (Mass.), House Democratic leader, expressed approval of the view Mundt said the subcommittee would express.

$20,000,000 Credit For Czechoslovakia

Washington, May 31 (AP)—The Export-Import Bank today approved a credit of $20,000,000 to Czechoslovakia to finance purchase of raw cotton in the United States.

The credit, however, will not be effective until a prospective loan agreement actually has been signed, officials said in announcing approval. Prague asked the bank for a $200,000,000 reconstruction loan.

If the entire cotton credit is used, it will provide for shipment of about 130,000 bales of cotton, or more than half the volume Czechoslovakia imported annually from the United States in the immediate prewar period. Also, officials said, it would take care of about two thirds of Czechoslovakia's current annual cotton requirements.

EIGHT GENERALS REDUCED IN RANK

WASHINGTON, May 31—(AP) Demotion of eight generals was announced today by the War department which said the army's wartime peak total of 1,541 generals will be cut down to 549 in another month.

Seven who were reduced from major general to brigadier general included John E. Dahlquist, wartime commander of the 36th infantry division in Europe, and Frank D. Merrill, who led "Merrill's Marauders" in the Northern Burma campaign.

Others included Henry B. Sayler, former chief ordnance officer in Europe; Albert W. Kenner, chief medical officer in Europe; William E. Lynd, who commanded the fourth air force and fourth anti-aircraft artillery command, San Francisco; Sidney P. Spalding, who served with the military mission in Moscow; and Charles A. Willoughby, who was on General Douglas MacArthur's staff.

Brig. Gen. Early E. W. Duncan, who headed the wartime military aviation mission in Chile, was reduced from brigadier general to colonel.

Army-Navy Report On Junction Filed

Washington, May 31 (AP)—President Truman received from the War and Navy departments today the report he asked for on efforts of the two services to compose their differences over unification.

Indications were that Secretary of War Patterson and Navy Secretary Forrestal were able to report progress in some details, but there was no immediate hint whether the Navy had receded from its opposition to creation of a single department of national defense.

The report, which Mr. Truman directed the two secretaries and their principal advisers to prepare May 13, went to the White House after Patterson cut short an inspection trip at Fort Sill, Okla., and returned to the Capital by air to agree to the final draft.

The President told his news conference he would discuss the subject further with the two secretaries on Tuesday.

One indication that some of the differences may have been settled came from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, who said at the Governors' Conference at Oklahoma City this week that "we are getting closer together."

MEAD URGES SUPPORT FOR INFORMERS

Services Told To Protect Those Giving Tips On Irregularities

Washington, May 31 (AP)—Senator Mead (D., N.Y.), chairman of the Senate Defense Investigating Committee, demanded today that the armed forces protect rather than prosecute persons who tip off Congress o. irregularities in the armed forces.

His statement came as the committee dug into the case of John M. Curley, civil service employé. Curley had furnished the committee with the tip which led to an inquiry into the disappearance of nearly $30,000 in bomber equipment from the naval air station at San Juan.

"Singled Out," He Says

Mead maintained that a half dozen naval officers received only letters of r.primand after being found responsible for the loss. He said Curley was "singled out" for criminal prosecution on a charge of using $150 worth of Government wood and labor to build furniture for his house.

Rear Admiral Paul F. Foster, assistant naval inspector general, said the charge against Curley was brought by some of his fellow civilian workers against whom he lodged accusations of misappropriating naval property.

Tells Of Animosity

He said that a "long-standing animosity" had developed between Curley and other workers because of his refusal to chip in for cocktail parties given to officers on their discharge from duty at the station.

Part of this animosity resulted, he said, from Curley's practice of keeping a "book" in which he kept a record of "irregularities" of both civilians and naval officers.

Halsey Praises Enlisted Men

Says They Won the War and Asks "Medium-Sized" Navy

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP).—Admirals made "a couple of decisions" but the enlisted men won the war, Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey declared tonight.

In an address prepared for the Navy Club of the U. S. A., the tough, scrappy admiral put in a plea for a "medium-sized Navy" which would be "super-modern in every respect" and be "backed by an intelligent, patriotic Naval Reserve."

Speaking at "commissioning" ceremonies for "Capital Ship" the local chapter of the Navy Club, Admiral Halsey emphasized "it is you and your activities which made the nation strong and perpetuate the peace."

The Navy Club of U. S. A. is a national organization of men and women who have served or are serving in the Navy.

Names Vaughan Major General

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—President Truman nominated today his military aide, Harry H. Vaughan, for promotion to the rank of major general. His fellow-Missourian has been holding the rank of brigadier general in the Army since soon after he came to the White House. General Vaughan holds the permanent rank of lieutenant colonel in the Field Artillery Reserve. He was a temporary colonel at the time of Mr. Truman's succession to the Presidency.

British Ambassador Calls On Byrnes

Washington, May 31 (AP)—Lord Inverchapel, Britain's new Ambassador to the United States, paid his first formal visit today to Secretary of State Byrnes.

He described the conference afterwards as "mostly courtesy and social" but acknowledged that he and the Secretary had paid "cursory attention to matters of common interest."

Truman Hopes To Visit Manila

Washington, May 31 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that he still hopes to be able to visit Manila July 4 for the inauguration of Philippine independence.

He expressed this hope at his news conference at which he said, however, that it all depended on the legislative situation, about which he asserted he could not tell at this time.

Byrd Serves Notice On Federal Pay Roll

Says Civilian Agencies Are Still Adding Personnel

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP).—Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, served notice on government agencies and departments today that they must begin to reduce civilian personnel to get under the limit set by Congress in the pay-raise bill—1,611,000 by July 1, 1947.

Reporting for the special committee on reduction of non-essential Federal expenditures, he said reduction in armed service civilian personnel had been offset during April by increases in other agencies.

He reported an April total of 2,397,743 employees in home offices and an over-all total, including those overseas, of 2,873,971. This, he said, was a net increase of 462 despite a reduction of 15,160 in overseas personnel.

Declares O. P. A. Illegal

Florida Attorney General Says War-Time Power Is Ended

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP).—Florida's Attorney General, J. Tom Watson, today asked the Supreme Court to bar further enforcement of Office of Price Administration regulations and other war-time orders and rules on the ground that they are now unconstitutional.

Mr. Watson said all of these regulations and rules depend upon war powers of the government, and he contended such powers went out of existence after Japan surrendered.

"The fiction that the war emergency continues cannot be reconciled with many facts to the contrary," Mr. Watson said in his petition to the court.

Opposes Pensions Increase

Bradley Points to 15 P. C. Rise Given Two Years Ago

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP).—General Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administrator, voiced opposition today to a proposed 20 per cent increase in monthly pension or retirement benefits for veterans.

He told the House Veterans Committee that a 15 per cent increase was granted two years ago and that he did not think another boost is justified now.

Representative William G. Stigler, Democrat, of Oklahoma, commented that he favored the additional rise "because of great increases in cost of living."

To this, General Bradley replied that "the other rise took care of some of the increase." He added that most of the veterans receiving benefits have other income, which has been increased to meet living-costs boosts.

The veterans' chief contended that if the government raises benefits to meet rises in living costs, it ought to reduce them when prices drop. This, he said, would make "for a good deal of uncertainty."

1947 MEAT SUPPLY MAY FALL BILLION POUNDS UNDER '46

Grain Shortages, Ceiling Price Hike of Livestock Feeds Blamed.

ALL TYPES HIT

Butter Sales on Black Market Increase, Says Agriculture Department.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP) The nation's 1947 supply of meats may fall a billion pounds below this year's inadequate output as a result of feed grain shortages and recent increases in ceiling prices of livestock feeds.

This forecast was made today by the Agriculture department in a report which estimated that Americans if they could, would buy an average of 15 to 20 pounds more meat this year than will be available.

Next year's supply of all classes of meat—beef, pork, lamb and mutton—is expected to be below this year's level.

Packers Are Outbid

In other reports on the food situation, the department declared sales of butter at black market prices increased this month despite a modest spring season increase in production, and that large meat packers continue to be outbid on the bulk of beef cattle reaching principal markets.

In the case of butter, the department estimated May production will be 30 per cent below a year ago and 50 per cent below May, 1941. It said a principal cause of this decline has been the existence of a more profitable market for cream.

Officials expressed hope that a new dairy price program—announced Wednesday by the Office of Economic Stabilization—will encourage creameries to convert more cream into butter.

The price program will boost the price of butter about 11 cents a pound, will place ceilings on cream and will ban, after July 1, the sale of whipping cream.

Black Market Continues

Black market slaughter and sale of meats apparently is continuing despite a government slaughter control program designed to halt these illegal operations. The department said beef cattle prices at principal markets last week were regarded by most big packers as being from 75 cents to $1 per 100 pounds above government price control ranges. This has been the situation since the second week of the slaughter control program, which was put into effect in April.

Activity of other slaughterers was evidenced by a department statement that meat production in non-federally inspected plants has reached record proportions.

The department estimated that this year's production of meat will be about 22,900,000,000 pounds or about 2,000,000,000 less than the record output of 1944. Exports of meat this year are expected to exceed the 1,200,000,000 pounds in 1945, but be considerably below the 2,500,000,000 pounds shipped in 1943.

Looking ahead on production, the department said the tight feed supply situation and increases in ceiling prices of feed grains have sharply changed the livestock picture from what seemed probable a few months ago.

Less Pork Expected

"The hog-corn price ratio declined sharply in May. This came at a time when hog breeding for all farrowing was in full swing. As a result, the number of fall pigs saved this year will be materially less than the 35,000,000 saved in the fall of 1945."

The department said that if hog and corn prices continue at present ceilings during the summer and early fall, the hog-corn price ratio will be about 20 per cent below the 1925-44 average for that period. It added that such an unfavorable ratio would cause a sharp reduction in hog production, especially if returns to dairy producers are increased during the second half of 1946, as now seems likely.

Meanwhile, the department announced a tightening of regulations under which federally-inspected slaughterers are required to set aside specified portions of their output for government purchase for export and military services.

Under the new regulations, such slaughterers must certify that they have reserved for the government the required portion of meat. Heretofore, they were not required to make such certification. Some packers fell behind in their deliveries to the government.

The department announced also that mutton will be removed from the set-aside requirements June 2. Mutton production comprises a very small portion of the total meat output and government requirements for it are low.

DECLINE INDICATED IN BUILDING ITEMS

Widespread Decrease Laid To Coal Strikes

Washington, May 31 (AP)—The Commerce Department today said final April and May figures on output of construction materials probably would show widespread declines as a result of the coal strike.

Mixed trends were reported in March, with the coal shortage named as a factor in causing some declines.

Steel, paving brick, metal building materials, plumbing fixtures and heating equipment and accessories were key items in which output was reported down in March because of the coal shortage and shortages of labor and raw materials.

Increase In Other Items

On the other hand, production of six major construction materials—lumber, common and face brick, structural clay tile, cement, asphalt roofing and gypsum board—showed substantial increases for March and for 1946's first quarter over comparable periods a year ago.

Production of virtually all building materials must be increased in coming months if 1946 construction requirements are to be met, the department said.

Its summary of the current supply situation included:

STEEL—Production in April declined to 78 per cent of capacity from 84 per cent in March as a result of the coal shortage, first-quarter 1946 output was lower than in any three-month period since 1939's second quarter. Mills have not opened books for 1947, and most of them have obligations running well into that year.

SHEET AND STRIP—In some mills, order backlogs equal wartime demand.

LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS—March production of 2,000,000,000 board feet was 24 per cent over February, a slightly higher than seasonal increase.

Boost In Brick Output

BRICK (Common and Face)—March production of 331,151,000 brick was 18 per cent higher than February. Annual production at the March rate would be 3,973,000,000 brick, or 87 per cent of estimated 1946 consumption.

STRUCTURAL CLAY TILE—March production was 24 per cent above February and annual production at that rate would equal about 84 per cent of estimated 1946 consumption. The order backlog continued to increase, and at March's end was equal to four and a half months' production at the March rate.

CEMENT—March production was 11,300,000 barrels, up 22 per cent from February. The industry expects to be able to meet 1946 needs of 131,000,000 barrels, but "recent reports of numerous plant shutdowns as a result of the coal shortage indicate April and May output will be substantially below normal."

Asphalt Roofing

ASPHALT ROOFING, SIDING AND FELTS—March shipments totaled 5,829,000 squares, substantially above February. Monthly production rate of 6,000,000 squares is required for anticipated 1946 construction volume.

GYPSUM BOARD—March shipments totaled 237,045,000 square feet, 23 per cent higher than February. Unfilled orders decreased four per cent from the February backlog.

METAL BUILDING MATERIALS—Curtailed operations in steel mills resulting from the coal strike have caused a continued serious shortage of basic shapes. "Stocks are non-existent."

STEEL WINDOWS—Order backlogs have grown so large that many manufacturers are not accepting new orders.

PLUMBING AND HEATING—First quarter production lagged behind forecasts, largely reflecting reconversion difficulties in some plants, labor and raw materials shortages, and strikes.

ARMY VOLUNTEERS ARE DROPPING OFF SAYS PATTERSON

CHICAGO, May 31—(AP) Secretary of War Paterson reported tonight that the rate of volunteer enlistments in the army is dropping steadily.

Appealing anew for extension of the draft without exemption for teen-agers, he said in a speech for the Reserve Officers association that "we will be lucky if we get 40,000 volunteers this month compared with 60,000 in April and 185,000 last November.

An attempt to meet Army manpower needs without Selective Service, which now is due to expire July 1, would be "at best a gamble," Patterson asserted.

He added that "the exemption of all men under 20, if continued, will frustrate the purpose of providing assurance of adequate strength."

For the longer range future, the secretary contended that universal training is the only sure source of adequate trained manpower.

"It is far too early in the atomic age to sound taps for large armies," Patterson continued.

"The atomic bomb itself may compel us to use more men in defense of our cities than we have before. If an atomic bomb were dropped on one of our cities we would expect every effort to be made to save that community from the ravages and to restore its economy. In such a crisis, disciplined men would be invaluable."

THOMAS PREDICTS SOCIALIST BACKING OF FOOD RATIONING

CHICAGO, May 31—(AP) Norman Thomas predicted tonight that the Socialist party in the United States would get behind a program calling for rationing and price controls to "feed the hungry," a free flow of world news, the "liquidation of all forms of imperialism," and progressive national disarmament.

Thomas, chairman of the National Action committee of the party, which is holding its biennial convention here, discussed steps for "preventing a new war."

Proposes Three Steps

In a speech prepared for delivery over the Mutual Broadcasting system, he listed as the steps he is advocating:

"1. The hungry must be fed. That means emergency relief more generous and better organized than has yet been planned. It means a five year program for building up the food resources of mankind. America must meet this desperate emergency better than before not out of compassion but because our government by its negative program in Europe, its food policy in America and its false optimism over world conditions has done so much to create the crisis. x x x Unless there is rationing and unless effective price controls are continued, the cost of our help to other nations will be disproportionately borne by our poor who cannot meet the rising prices for diminished stocks of food.

"2. A condition of successful world organizations, in the long run as important as bread, is food for the mind. No cooperation of peoples is possible if censorship and propaganda of governments or powerful interests obstruct and poison the flow of news and the discussion of its meaning by the peoples of the world.

"3. The particular news that must be carried to all lands is the conviction that the minimum price for peace or even of a lengthy truce in which to work for peace is the liquidation of all forms of imperialism, the moribund imperialism of White European powers, American dollar diplomacy and the new Soviet manipulation of puppet states. Along with this must go progressive national disarmament."

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution opposing "federal prosecution of striking conscientious objectors in civilian public service camps."

Manila Wireless Service To Be Resumed

San Francisco, May 31 (AP)—Globe Wireless will resume radio communication with Manila tomorrow over its own facilities after a war-enforced silence of nearly four and a half years. Gov. Earl Warren will send the first message to President Manuel Roxas of the Philippines.

Globe's Manila manager, J. B. McPherson, destroyed the Manila station's equipment just before it fell into Japanese hands. McPherson was interned at the Santa Tomas camp along with his family.

New modern equipment has been installed for immediate service, to be augmented later with radiotype machines.

Three More GI Babies Taken Ill

New York May 31 (AP)—Three more GI babies were under treatment at the Fort Hamilton Army Hospital today for intestinal disorders which have been blamed in the recent deaths of nine infants who arrived here from Europe aboard brideships.

The three babies, suffering from diarrhea, and another, suffering from bronchitis, were rushed to the hospital yesterday after the Aarmy transport John Ericsson arrived from Southampton with 552 war brides and 71 children.

In all, 63 children are being treated at Fort Hamilton for intestinal disorders.

Army officers ordered an autopsy in the death of Doris J. Dombeck, 10 weeks old, whose body was removed from the John Ericsson. The baby died at sea last Sunday—the tenth victim among the infant arrivals in the last two weeks.

Capt. Kenneth Fletcher, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., army surgeon, said the death was believed caused by suffocation.

LONDON, MAY 31-(AP)-THE NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, A LIBERAL WEEKLY, SAID TODAY THE RECENT TREND IN GREAT BRITAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY HAD BEEN TO MOVE AWAY FROM THE GROWING DIPLOMATIC CONTROVERSY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

OBSERVERS SAID BRITISH AND FOREIGN OFFICIALS AGREED WITH THE NEW STATESMAN AND NATION THAT GREAT BRITAIN WAS LEAVING THE INTERNATIONAL STRUGGLE TO THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCES SAID THAT ALTHOUGH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN WILL REPLY TO RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV'S CHARGES CONCERNING AN ANGLO-AMERICAN BLOC, HE HAS LEFT THE CENTER OF THE ARENA TO SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES AND MOLOTOV.

THE CHIEF REASON FOR BRITAIN'S CURRENT FOREIGN POLICY, DIPLOMATS AND THE BRITISH PRESS AGREED, WAS UNCERTAINTY ABOUT THE UNITED STATES.

IN ADDITION TO UNEASINESS OVER THE SLOW PASSAGE OF THE BRITISH LOAN MEASURE THROUGH CONGRESS AND GROWING COMMERCIAL COMPETITION, THE UNCERTAINTY IS BASED ON AMERICAN POLITICS, OBSERVERS AGREED.

THE NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, IN AN ARTICLE ENTITLED "POLITICAL LONELINESS," SAID "NO ONE COULD DEFINE AMERICAN POLICY," AND PREDICTED AN AMERICAN TREND "AGAINST INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION."

THE AMERICAN RAILROAD STRIKE AND ENSUING "REACTIONARY" LEGISLATION PROPOSED BY A "WEAK" ADMINISTRATION SHOWED, THE PUBLICATION ASSERTED, THAT THE UNITED STATES IS FAR FROM HAVING A STABLE DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN POLICY.

"IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES," THE MAGAZINE SAID, "BRITAIN WOULD BE VERY ILL-ADVISED TO COMMIT HERSELF TO ANY COURSE OF ACTION WHICH DEMANDS CONSISTENT AMERICAN SUPPORT FOR ITS SUCCESS."

"CHAPLIN DOES EVERYTHING HIMSELF," SIMONOV SAID.

THE WRITER SAID HE VISITED THE "ACTORS' LABORATORY" IN HOLLYWOOD, WHERE "A GREAT INTEREST IN THE SOVIET UNION WAS DISPLAYED." AT THE WRITERS' ASSOCIATION, SIMONOV SAID, "THE AMERICAN WRITERS DISPLAYED A SINCERE, PROFOUND INTEREST IN SOVIET CULTURE."

"THE FRIENDLY ATTITUDE OF THE PROGRESSIVE AMERICAN INTELLECTUAL WORKER IS A GUARANTEE FOR BROAD CULTURAL RELATIONS BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES," HE ADDED.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD U.N.

BY MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, MAY 31-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS INVESTIGATION OF FRANCO SPAIN DREW TO A CLOSE TONIGHT AS GREAT BRITAIN AT THE LAST MINUTE SUBMITTED A DOCUMENT MAINTAINING THAT THE REGIME OF GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO WAS NOT A THREAT TO WORLD PEACE.

THE NEW DOCUMENT WAS MADE PUBLIC AS THE SECURITY COUNCIL'S SUB-COMMITTEE ON SPAIN WORKED ON IN PRIVATE TO FINISH ITS REPORT BY MIDNIGHT, THE DEADLINE SET BY THE COUNCIL APRIL 29 WHEN THE INQUIRY WAS LAUNCHED.

A SUB-COMMITTEE SPOKESMAN LATE TODAY SAID THE GROUP WOULD NOT ASK FOR AN EXTENSION OF TIME DESPITE A LATE DELUGE OF DOCUMENTS, INCLUDING EVIDENCE CAPTURED FROM THE GERMANS AND SUBMITTED BY THE UNITED STATES, ALONG WITH PILES OF EVIDENCE FROM FRANCE AND BRITAIN.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE WAS SCHEDULED TO MEET AGAIN AT 10 P.M. (EDT) TONIGHT TO WIND UP ITS WORK. THREE WORKING DAYS MUST ELAPSE AFTER THE REPORT'S CIRCULATION BEFORE THE COUNCIL TAKES IT UP.

THE BRITISH DOCUMENT, COUPLED WITH A SIMILAR DOCUMENT SUBMITTED EARLIER BY THE UNITED STATES, LED TO THE BELIEF IN U.N. CIRCLES THAT THE SUB-COMMITTEE'S REPORT WOULD LEAVE THE COUNCIL APPROXIMATELY WHERE IT WAS BEFORE THE INQUIRY.

AT THAT TIME RUSSIA, POLAND, FRANCE AND MEXICO FAVORED A WORLD-WIDE BREAK OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH FRANCO, BUT THE MAJORITY OF THE COUNCIL MEMBERS CONTENDED THERE WAS NOT SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO WARRANT SUCH ACTION.

THE BRITISH DOCUMENT SAID BRITAIN HAD BEEN UNABLE TO FIND ANY EVIDENCE THAT SPAIN WAS MAKING UNDUE MILITARY PREPARATIONS, THAT FRANCO WAS ENGAGED IN ATOMIC RESEARCH OR THAT THE DEPLOYMENT OF SPANISH FORCES WAS A THREAT.

IT DECLARED THE PRODUCTION OF WAR MATERIALS IN SPAIN "IS NEGLIGIBLE" AND THAT EXISTING EQUIPMENT "IS OBSOLESCENT OR OBSOLETE."

WHILE POINTING OUT THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND SPANISH GOVERNMENTS HAVE "STEADILY DETERIORATED" AND THAT BRITAIN CONSIDERED HER RELATIONS WITH SPAIN TO BE "HIGHLY UNSATISFACTORY," THE DOCUMENT SAID THERE EXISTED NO "FRICTION" WHICH COULD BE DESCRIBED AS ENDANGERING PEACE.

TO SUM UP, IT CONCLUDED, THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT ADHERES "TO THE VIEW EXPRESSED IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL THAT THE EXISTENCE AND ACTIVITIES OF THE FRANCO REGIME ARE NOT, AS FAR AS AVAILABLE EVIDENCE SHOWS, SUCH AS TO CONSTITUTE A THREAT TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY."

MEANWHILE, IN THE OTHER MAJOR U.N. AGENCY--THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL--JOHN G.WINANT, U.S. DELEGATE, TOOK ISSUE WITH A RUSSIAN ASSERTION THAT THE COUNCIL'S COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS HAD GIVEN TOO MUCH EMPHASIS TO THE QUESTION OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

SOVIET DELEGATE NIKOLAI J. FEONOV CRITICIZED THE REPORT OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, HEADED BY MRS. NRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, FOR PROPOSING THE IMMEDIATE CREATION OF A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION WHILE LEAVING CONCRETE ACTION ON OTHER QUESTIONS UNTIL A LATER DATE.

SS

HE SAID HE BELIEVED IT WOULD BE "QUITE INCORRECT" TO PUT FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AHEAD OF SUCH QUESTIONS AS THE DEFENSE OF MINORITY GROUPS AND THE ELIMINATION OF DISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF RACE, RELIGION, SEX AND LANGUAGE.

WINANT, ON THE OTHER HAND, CONGRATULATED THE COMMISSION ON ITS REPORT AND SAID:

JUN 1 1946

"MY GOVERNMENT CONSIDERS THAT MATERIAL PROGRESS TOWARD THE ULTIMATE ATTAINMENT OF UNIVERSAL FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE IF THE UNITED NATIONS IS TO ACHIEVE THE PURPOSE FOR WHICH IT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED. WE REGARD THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE SUB-COMMISSION AS ESSENTIAL TO THE ATTAINMENT OF THIS PURPOSE."

DURING A LENGTHY DEBATE ON THE REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS, SEVERAL DELEGATES, INCLUDING WINANT, ALSO DISAGREED WITH THE SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE ON THE MANNER IN WHICH THE PERMANENT COMMISSIONS OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL SHOULD BE FORMED.

FEONOV ARGUED THAT MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSIONS SHOULD REPRESENT THE VARIOUS GOVERNMENTS IN THE UNITED NATIONS, WHILE WINANT, BRITISH DELEGATE PHILIP J. NOEL-BAKER AND OTHERS CONTENDED THEY SHOULD BE NON-GOVERNMENTAL EXPERTS.

ANOTHER DISAGREEMENT DEVELOPED OVER A PROPOSAL OF BELGIAN DELEGATE FERNAND DEHOUSSE THAT THE COUNCIL SHOULD SPONSOR AN INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION UNDER WHICH THE PRESS OF ALL NATIONS WOULD BE COMPELLED TO PUBLISH VERBATIM ALL COMMUNIQUES ISSUED BY THE UNITED NATIONS.

DEHOUSSE DECLARED SOME SUCH MEASURE WAS NECESSARY TO RESTRICT IRRESPONSIBLE ELEMENTS OF THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS AND RADIO SO THAT THE AIMS AND PURPOSES OF THE UNITED NATIONS WOULD NOT BE DISTORTED.

GREEK DELEGATE ALEXANDER ARGYOPOULOS SAID MANY COUNTRIES, INCLUDING HIS OWN, COULD NOT SUBSCRIBE TO THE BELGIAN PROPOSAL WITHOUT AMENDING THEIR OWN CONSTITUTIONS AND THAT HE WAS OPPOSED TO IT ON THE GROUND THAT IT WOULD LIMIT THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

THE LEBANESE DELEGATE, DR. CHARLES MALIK, SUGGESTED THAT MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD BE MADE CONDITIONAL ON A NATION'S ADHERENCE TO THE ENVISAGED INTERNATIONAL BILL OF RIGHTS.

30.24-3075

"IT IS NOT ENOUGH FOR ANY COUNTRY TO GIVE LIP SERVICE TO FREEDOM," HE SAID, "BUT THAT FREEDOM MUST BE REAL AND MUST BE RECOGNIZED AS SUCH AFTER THOROUGH INVESTIGATION."

NEW YORK, MAY 31-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL TOOK UP THE REPORT OF MRS.FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT'S COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS TODAY AND THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE IMMEDIATELY OBJECTED TO EMPHASIS GIVEN FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

THE COMMISSION REPORT CALLED FOR SETTING UP A SUB-COMMISSION OF 12 MEMBERS TO STUDY THE FREE FLOW OF INFORMATION.

NIKOLAI J.FEONOV, SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE, SAID IT APPEARED THAT "DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINORITIES" AND OTHER QUESTIONS WERE CONSIDERED "LESS IMPORTANT THAN FREEDOM OF THE PRESS."

FEONOV THEN BROUGHT UP THE CONTROVERSIAL QUESTION OF PUTTING REPRESENTATIVES OF NATIONS OR INDIVIDUAL EXPERTS ON THE VARIOUS COMMISSIONS. HE REITERATED THE STAND TAKEN BY RUSSIANS THAT ALL THE MEMBERS SHOULD DIRECTLY REPRESENT THEIR OWN GOVERNMENTS.

HE CITED RIGHTS GRANTED TO CITIZENS OF RUSSIA UNDER THE SOVIET CONSTITUTION AND DECLARED:

"I AM HAPPY TO TELL THE COUNCIL THAT THE COUNTRY I REPRESENT HERE NOT ONLY MENTIONS HUMAN RIGHTS IN ITS CONSTITUTION, BUT IT ACTUALLY FOLLOWS THROUGH. HUMAN RIGHTS ARE GUARANTEED BY LAW."

HE ADDED THAT THE CITIZENS OF THE U.S.S.R. "HAVE ALL THE BASIC FREEDOM."

FERNAND DEHOUSSE, BELGIAN DELEGATE, SAID A CONVENTION SHOULD BE ADOPTED MAKING IT COMPULSORY FOR ALL MEMBER NATIONS TO PUBLISH NEWS SUPPLIED BY THE UNITED NATIONS.

HE DECLARED THE QUESTION OF THE PRESS WAS AN IMPORTANT ONE FOR THE U.N., AND SAID THAT THE PRESS IN SOME INSTANCES HAD DISTORTED NEWS OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

PEDRO LEAO VELLOSO, BRAZILIAN MEMBER OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL SUB-COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING FRANCO SPAIN, SAID THAT GROUP WOULD FINISH ITS REPORT TODAY. THIS WAS THE DEADLINE SET BY THE COUNCIL WHEN THE SUB-COMMITTEE WAS NAMED A MONTH AGO.

VELLOSO SAID THE REPORT WOULD INCLUDE A SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE COLLECTED AND A BRIEF ANALYSIS OF THE CASE WHICH WOULD SET FORTH OPINIONS OF THE FIVE MEMBERS. HE ADDED THAT NO SPECIFIC RECOMMENDATIONS WOULD BE MADE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

NEW YORK, MAY 31-(AP)-A CONTROVERSY OVER THE RELATIONSHIP OF TRYGVE LIE, SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, WITH THE SECURITY COUNCIL APPARENTLY WAS SETTLED TODAY IN A RULING WHICH GIVES LIE BROAD POWERS.

THE COUNCIL'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON RULES AND PROCEDURE ANNOUNCED IT HAD AGREED THAT THE SECRETARY-GENERAL MAY INTERVENE DURING THE DISCUSSION OF ANY QUESTION BEFORE THE PEACE AGENCY AND MAKE EITHER ORAL OR WRITTEN STATEMENTS.

THE QUESTION OF LIE'S AUTHORITY AROSE SHORTLY AFTER THE COUNCIL OPENED ITS NEW YORK MEETING, WHEN THE SECRETARY-GENERAL SUBMITTED AN UNSOLICITED OPINION ON THE IRANIAN CASE.

SOME OF THE DELEGATES CHARGED PRIVATELY THAT HE HAD OVERSTEPPED HIS AUTHORITY AND CONTENDED THAT HE WAS PURELY AN ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER. LIE, HOWEVER, ARGUED HE HAD THE POWER TO INTERVENE IN CASES BEFORE THE COUNCIL.

THE RULING STILL MUST BE APPROVED BY THE COUNCIL BEFORE IT BECOMES EFFECTIVE, BUT SINCE EACH OF THE 11 NATIONS ON THE COUNCIL IS REPRESENTED ON THE COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS THERE WAS LITTLE DOUBT THAT APPROVAL WOULD BE GIVEN.
